Tom Mix Says 'It's Different Country Now'

Tom Mix, who has provoked more enthusiastic cheers and enjoyed a larger following than a couple of Clark Gables, was back in familiar country when the Tom Mix Circus and Wild West show stopped here for two performances Friday.

Along about the turn of the century, Tom was punching cattle on the old Slaughter outfit with headquarters north of here. As a cowboy he also worked around Odeasa and Pecos.

It's a different country now, says Mix. "If we had ridden upon that refinery east of here, I guess we would have shot it up."

With a typical West Texas zephyr wafting plenty of sand through his private tent, the star of his show didn't seem to mind.

"If we hadn't had a storm when we were up in the Panhandle recently," he commented, "I would have thought the country was going sideways."

The other half of the famous Mix-Tony combination was up to his old tricks Friday afternoon. "Look at him," chuckled Mix. "He's got into an oat bag and is enjoying himself."

It took two starts before Tom Mix became reconciled to the movie business and went into it wholeheartedly, to be featured as king of all western actors for years upon years.

"I had won the so called championship at Cheyenne," he recalled. "When I went into a bank to cash a check for my prize money, they showed me a telegram from some movie company that wanted a man familiar with the pastimes and habits of a cowboy. I didn't know any past times but riding fences and punching but I took up the offer."

He stayed with the company for a year, he said. One day he quit about as quickly as he started. "It was all because 'they didn't know how to shoe a riding horse.'"

This caused a horse, heading onto the hitching post for a scene, to rear up unexpectedly, a heavily shod foot coming down on Mix's foot, cutting open his boot and mashing a toe.

"I don't know whether it was the boot or the toe," reflected Mix, "but it made me mad and I quit."

About a year later he was serving as United States marshal in Oklahoma, and as marshal of Dewey, Oklahoma, he decided to go back into the movies. He did and stuck with it until even this day.

He still makes an occasional picture. Since the talkies came into vogue, he has made nine. He doesn't care for the talkies like he did the silents.

"I don't believe any of those who worked in the old silents like the talkies as well," he declared. "In the silent pictures, more depended on real acting. You had to act to put it over."

"I believe we were training people to interpret actions and anticipate thoughts," he added. "We won't live to see it, but I believe in generations films will converse mentally, maybe using their mouths only to eat with."

He still maintains his ranch in California and has a string of 50 horses besides Tony. He may be an actor and a star circus performer, but he is still a cowboy at heart. Tom Mix gets a great kick out of telling stories of the range.

He took time off to tell of a cattle deal between Colonel Mulhall, Gabe Martin and Ollie Kirkley in Oklahoma. The colonel, it seems, had been buying cattle and giving checks for them. By the time the check was cashed and sent to a clearing house, the cattle had been sent to market and the colonel had sold them and deposited the necessary money.

A delay in shipping had occurred when Martin and Kirkley sold to the colonel. With the check in the bank, Ollie went about buying more cattle until they told him the check had been returned marked no funds.

"Well," said Mix, "Ollie took out his horse, changing whenever he stopped and riding through plenty rough country. He got to the station and saw the colonel getting on the train. He didn't stop until he rammed his gun in the middle of the colonel's red vest."

The colonel was startled, continued Mix, and attempted to explain. Ollie told him he didn't want any explanation.

"May I ask you one more," Mix related the colonel as saying, "acting out the conversation to perfection." Ollie told him who he was and the colonel says, "Well, I thought Ollie Kirkley was a man."

Miners Clash In Pennsylvania

WILKESBARRE, (AP)—More than a thousand miners—members of rival unions—fought a battle with stones and clubs at dawn Friday at Number Seven colliery of the Susquehanna Collieries company at Nanticoke.

Scores were cut and bruised, none seriously, the fight raged for two hours.

Efforts of the New United Anthracite miners of Pennsylvania to close the colliery in protest against alleged dismissal of several of their members precipitated the riot.

The crowd dispersed after scores of United Anthracite miners were routed. Special guards patrolling the region maintained peace.

DENVER POLICE CALL OUT RESERVES TO QUELL RIOT

It was necessary for Denver police to call out their reserves to quell a riot on a relief project when agitators tried to force workers to quit because of reduced federal relief funds and wages. In the melee that followed shots were fired wounding several and rocks and bottles were used for ammunition. Two rioters, clubbed down by police, are shown in the foreground and, just beyond them, is Patrolman C. V. Batt, one of four policemen injured, still firing his service pistol although too weak to stand. (Associated Press Photo)

NEW TRIAL IS ASKED FOR BURROWS

District Attorney R. W. Hamilton was here Friday and said that motion for a new trial in the case of Gus Burrows had been filed.

Judge Charles Klaybroth will pass on the motion Saturday, he said.

Burrows was convicted here and given a 2 year term on a cotton theft charge during the term of 70th district court just ended.

Court is in session this week in Midland. Hamilton said that two indictments had been returned. One was in the slaying of a negro by members of a negro lodge, a brother of which had evidently been threatened by the deceased. The other bill was for rape. A Mexican was charged with attacking a 12 year old girl of his same race.

Oiling

In case the industrialists should be wondering about the thumping cadence they've been hearing, it is organized labor marking time until after next Tuesday.

American Federation of Labor leaders agreed among themselves at their recent San Francisco convention that President Roosevelt came closer to being a member of their family than a blood relative of the employers. Words were necessarily not to do anything to embarrass the New Deal unduly until after election day.

But just wait until Nov. 8 has come and gone. If sub-surface conversations mean anything you may look for a large-scale resumption of the capital-labor war shortly thereafter.

CHICAGO (AP)—Thirteen salaries, paid Samuel Insull by his companies, gave him a pay check of roughly a half million dollars in 1930 and 1931, Insull admitted Friday under cross examination.

CHICAGO (AP)—Samuel Insull told a jury trying him for mail fraud Friday that when he left the United States in June, 1932, it was for "rest and quiet."

He gave this explanation for his two-year European stay a few minutes after he testified that in the crash of his public utility empire he turned over "everything I had" to creditors of the system.

Insull told a detailed story of the trip which prosecutors called "flight," and of his pursuit by American authorities across Europe. He knew he had been indicted, he admitted, when he left Paris.

A whispering campaign was directed at Insull's companies in 1931, he testified, in an effort to drive down the value of stocks and hurt Insull's credit.

Insull told of rumors against him in that period, including one that J. P. Morgan and Company, New York financiers, "were out to do me up."

The testimony came after he admitted Insull companies dealt in stocks of their Insull companies in 1929 to 1931, but defended it as a way of supporting security values for stockholders, and one practiced even by the federal government.

Insull claimed he fled across Europe "to avoid being prosecuted as part of a political campaign, purely."

Insull finished direct testimony.

City And Schools Report Encouraging Payments Through October 1

Two tax collecting agencies, the city and independent school district, reported encouraging collections through October 31, when special payment plans offered expired or partly expired.

City of Big Spring reported that 125 tax payers had taken advantage of the new quarterly payment plan, 23 of the half payment plan, and 89 had paid in full, bringing in $5,222.27 in current taxes.

The school tax office reported that $37,317.41 had been paid in during October, most of which was for current taxes.

The school figure represented a total in excess of January collections for 1933 taxes. The school tax office offered a 4 per cent discount on taxes paid on or before October 31. A 3 per cent discount goes to those paying during November.

The city quarterly payment plan, introduced here this year was accorded a popular reception. It was designed for and has enabled the working class to meet their tax obligations.

AA Plane Tries For New Record El Paso-Ft. Worth

An American Airlines Vultee ship roared over Big Spring at 3 p. m. with prospect of making the El Paso-Fort Worth run in record time.

When it passed over Big Spring it was one hour and twenty minutes out of El Paso.

Terminal Manager Glenn Freeland said that unless something unforeseen happened, the ship would probably establish a new record.

The ship, the new Vultee, is the same type in use between Fort Worth and Chicago. The ship was piloted by F. L. Duncan, sector manager at Los Angeles. He has averaged 231 miles per hour from El Paso to Big Spring. The old record is 2 hours and 59 minutes from El Paso to Fort Worth.

He was charged in connection with theft of a Nash sedan from Miss Ruby Bell October 7.

A story carried in the Thursday issue of the Herald told of a complaint against John Dillard, the suspect's middle name not then being known. There should be no confusing the name of the suspect with that of John T. Dillard, prominent citizen of this county.

PERFECT RECORD MUST FALL IN ARMY-ILLINOI TILT

When Army and Illinois clash at Champaign, Ill., November 3 in the windup of their six-year series, two of the best records in eastern and midwest football will be endangered. Coach Bob Zuppke, back on the field after a year's absence, has an unbeaten and untied crew of Illinois operating under the skillful direction of Quarterback Jack Eynon. The cadets, also in the select class, led by Joe Stancook, speedy back, and Norman Edwards, smashing end, among their stars. Army has a three-two edge in the five games these rivals have played. Now look at it from the other angle—the case where a real criminal is convicted and appeals. In his case, too, there is a long delay. The deterrent effect of his sentence is automatically lessened.

Rep. Sidney Latham of Longview who has taken part in house leadership on several major policy measures, told his colleagues that his speech against the original form of the Colorado Valley Authority bill was one of his first appearances on the negative side of policy measures.

YOUR GROCER HAS THIS SUNNY WAY TO BETTER HEALTH

Check Common Constipation with a Delicious Cereal

Food has a lot to do with how you feel and how you look. For instance, you need plenty of "bulk" with your meals to avoid the risk of common constipation.

This ailment frequently causes headaches, loss of appetite and energy. Yet, in most cases, it can be overcome pleasantly and safely by eating a delicious cereal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" in convenient and concentrated form. Laboratory tests show the "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is safe and effective. In fact, it is much like that found in leafy vegetables.

Within the body, the fiber of ALL-BRAN absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass. Gently, this clears out the intestinal wastes.

In addition, ALL-BRAN provides Vitamin B and iron.

Isn't this sunny way better than taking patent medicines—so often harmful? Two tablespoons of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases with each meal seriously ill, see your doctor. ALL-BRAN makes no claim to be a cure-all.

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or cook into appetizing recipes. Be sure you get Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, it contains more needed "bulk" than part-bran products. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Wild West-Circus Rolls Into Town For Two Performances And Parade

A new kind of a circus with a new kind of a thrill is in Big Spring today. It's the Tom Mix Wild West and circus combined, with the famous cowboy movie star and his famous pony, Tony, both in person appearing in the two main show performances.

A street parade was held at noon. The circus is on the show grounds on Third and Bell streets. Tonight's performance begins at 8 o'clock.

Tom Mix and Tony travel from town to town by motor vehicle, which mode of transportation makes this circus different. More than 100 cars and trucks carry it, with its personnel of 400 and tents and other equipment. It is said to be the largest circus in the world traveling by motor and claims to be the third largest show of its kind.

Unlike the old-time railroad circus, this one came to town with the quiet of rubber tires. Following trucks which transport heavier equipment, including animals for menagerie and the array of Tom Mix horses for his cowboys and cowgirls, passenger cars and living car trailers came to park around the tents.

In these trailers, which are equipped with sleeping quarters, dressing rooms and showers, the scores of acrobats, aerialists, clowns, cowboys, cowgirls and other performers make their home while in town. Mix drives his own specially built bus, with built-in kitchenette, sleeping quarters, living room and observation compartment.

Features of the show include Miss Texas Irma Ward, Miss Ines Arlene Ward and Miss Jessie Arbaugh, sisters of Mrs. Mix; John R. Ages, equestrian director; Capt. Walter Jenner and Buddy, his sea lion; Sahara, said to be the world's largest performing elephant; the Famous Hobson Family of bareback riders; the Flying Arbaughs; Charles Arley, who balances upon his head while swinging on a trapeze; Jack Knapp, movie cowboy clown; the Jordan troupe, the Bell family, the Arley troupe of acrobats and tumblers and Tom Mix, and Tony in riding roping, shooting performances and other big acts.

enough to attract the best talent in West Texas.

A cowboy ball will be a feature of the meet, and will be held in the Legion Pavilion near the arena.

A cowboy parade will be staged at noon.

Tom Mix's Press Agent To Bring Out Texas Novel

All Hill, formerly of Lubbock and Dallas and now press agent for Sam B. Hill's 3-ring circus and Tom Mix Round-up, is the author of a book called "Eyes of Texas" which Naylor Printing Co. of San Antonio, are to bring out next spring.

Mr. Hill starts his book with the story of an imaginary romance between Cabasa De Vasa, first white man to set foot on Texas soil and an Indian maiden, Lonesome Fowler. The descendants of these two take part in all the stirring events of Texas down to the present day. Through their eyes and by means of their experiences Mr. Hill gives the reader an outline of Texas history in an easy readable form.

Included in the book will be an account of the famous half-million dollar ride of Bob Slaughter, who covered 350 miles on horseback in 41 hours when he was a boy ten years old. The story has appeared in The Big Spring Herald.

"The Eyes of Texas" had its origin as a play in which Mr. Hill collaborated with Harley Sadler.

90th Division Reunion Nov. 10 In Fort Worth

Increasing interest is being manifested by veterans of the 90th Division from Texas and Oklahoma as well as other states in the coming Reunion to be held in Fort Worth on Nov. 10, 11 and 12. Many registrations and reservations are being received and present indications forecast the largest and most enthusiastic Reunion ever staged by the Division.

From the time registration starts early Saturday morning until the barbecue is over Monday afternoon, much entertainment has been arranged for the visiting Veterans and their families, yet sufficient time is left open for those individual and organization gatherings that are dear to the heart of every ex-service man. Buddies will meet comrades in Fort Worth at the reunion that they have not seen since the war.

Through the courtesy of W. T. Waggoner and sons, Paul and Guy one of the Races at Arlington Downs on Saturday, Nov. 10, will be known as the 90th Division Handicap and the winning jockey will be presented with a floral tribute by Miss Viola Gaston, the daughter of a 90th Division Veteran. On the same day will be run the famous Waggoner Handicap, one of the most colorful events of its kind in the nation, for an added purse of $10,000.

On Monday, Nov. 5, from 10:45 to 11 p. m. Station WBAP at Fort Worth will broadcast a program in honor of the coming Reunion. The speaker will be Capt. Buford Jester, of Corsicana, a former officer of the Division and a Past President of the 90th Division Association. On the program with Capt. Jester, who will tell about the coming Reunion, will be the Mosiah Shrine Chanters, a well-known musical organization which will furnish an interesting vocal program.

Further detailed information regarding the Reunion to be held in Fort Worth on Nov. 10, 11 and 12 can be obtained by addressing headquarters, 90th Division Reunion, Suite 418 Blackstone Hotel, Ft. Worth, Tex.

Hennig's Sweetwater Ponies Invade Badger Lair

By BILL COLLYNS

McCAMEY—Saturday night, for the third time this season, the Badgers of McCamey high school will defend their lair against conference invaders of district 3. This time the marauding football invaders being the Sweetwater Mustangs of Coach Ed Hennig. In the previous conference games played here this season, the Badgers defeated the Colorado Wolves 22 to 0 and were walloped 24 to 0 by the Bobcats of San Angelo high school. Saturday night's tilt is ticketed for Badger Field at 8 o'clock.

For the first time since the two teams have been playing each other, the Badgers are given a slight chance of winning the game even though the odds are greatly against them. If the Badgers get in there and scrap all the way as they did against San Angelo last week, they will have a very good chance of coming away victorious. On the three previous occasions when the two clubs have met, the Badgers have never scored on the Ponies while the Sweetwater teams have run up a total score of three figures. The Mustangs visited Badger field two years ago for the first time with Red Sheridan leading them to a 56 to 0 win over McCamey, but that was in the heyday of Sweetwater's football career. The Ponies are not what they used to be.

The Badgers came away from their 24 to 0 loss to San Angelo last Friday night in fair physical condition, and the entire first string will again take the field this week. The Ponies were thumped 43 to 2 by Lubbock last week but it is said they came out of the scrap in fair physical condition and are anxious to meet the McCamey club in an effort to win their first game of the season. The Big Spring Steers turned back the Mustangs 19 to 0 in their only conference tussle to date.

The probable McCamey starting lineup will be much the same as in previous games with Harding and H. Green at the end positions; Carlisle and Ray, tackles; Echols and Boster, guards; Garrison, center; Knight, quarterback; Trudgen and Sharrard, halfbacks, and Belcher fullback.

Take Revenge For Early Defeat

Card Not Very Snappy For Saturday

By HANK HART

The Big Spring Devils were in a revengeful frame of mind Thursday and displayed enough power to beat out the Snyder Kittens, 12-0.

The locals struck twice in lightening like thrusts during the game to score both their touchdowns and then slowed down to hold the visitors within bounds until the final whistle.

A delayed spinner, in which the halfback misunderstood the signals, set the scene for the initial score. Jimmy Ford took the snap directly behind center, spun to hand it to the circling back, and when the back did not show up, skirted end for some twenty yards, placing the ball a few feet from the goal. Gibson went over for the counter.

With Baker intercepting the enemy passes and Harris stopping everything that came through the line, the locals let their offense die until the third period when Baker took an enemy pass out of the sky and galloped to the enemy 20 yard line. After three unsuccessful tries at the line, Ford wrapped his fingers around the ball and looped it over the goal line where Yanez pulled it down for the second counter.

The lads from Snyder led in first downs with a margin of 8 to 6, but could not push through when in Devil territory.

Baker, Harris, and Ford shone for the locals while Rankin and Boren stood out for Snyder.

Eleven of the sixteen Class A Texas Interscholastic League football districts will stage championship games Saturday.

None of the Saturday games will have a very important bearing in the district races.

In the Panhandle, Plainview will journey to Pampa for a game with the touted Harvesters. However, Pampa will have several stars out of their line-up.

Abilene will journey to Brownwood for an Oil Belt game, and Sweetwater will play at McCamey in a district 3 contest.

District championship games for Saturday:

- 1—Plainview at Pampa.
- 2—Abilene at Brownwood.
- 3—Sweetwater at McCamey.
- 4—No district games scheduled.
- 5—Mineral Wells at Paly.
- 6—North Dallas vs. Oak Cliff.
- 7—No district games scheduled.
- 8—Texarkana at Tyler.
- 9—Nacogdoches at Palestine.
- 10—Milby vs. John Reagan.

Coach Farris Bass Has His Junior High Bronco Squad Working Out

—By Pap

Coach Farris Bass has his junior high Bronco squad working-out. The Bronco boys are putting in hours kicking and passing. Getting the feel of the ball in other words.

Spike Henninger has prospects this year of putting out one of the strongest semi-pro basketball contingents in West Texas. Mr. Henninger, as most of you know, is athletic director or something out at Codson Refinery. For several years Spike's cage squads have more or less monopolized play around these parts, and this year won't be any exception. The boys have been limbering up in the high school gym, and look mighty, mighty good.

Eddie O'Shea, who is to grapple with Corolla Fogl here next week, says his wife is also a fair hand at wrestling. Mrs. O'Shea is to meet Billy Morrison in the semi-final attraction.

Eddie says he positively will not wrestle here any more if Benny Wilson referees. The Irishman thinks Benny gave him a bad deal in his bout with Charlie Heard. Charlie is expected to return from Mexico City within three or four weeks, and O'Shea intends to hang around until he gets another chance to even the count. Their last brawl almost turned out to be a free-for-all.

Sweetwater Ponies On Way To McCamey

The Sweetwater Mustang football team passed through Big Spring today via bus for McCamey, where they will meet the Badgers under the lights Saturday night in their second district encounter.

The team and coaches expected to spend tonight in Midland and take a light work-out on the Bulldog gridiron there, going on to Odessa for lunch Saturday. They will arrive in McCamey early Saturday afternoon.

Coach Hennig optimistically declared his team to be in good shape and ready to go.

Ray Cantrell returned Friday morning from San Angelo, where he spent Thursday on business.

Carl Blomsheld and Ray Chambers spent Friday in Lamesa on business.

Marian Gordon

CHAPTER 24
RAVENSBOPE

During her days in criminal courts Marian had seen McSwain's faces in men on trial.

Marian had feared him during her girlhood, in an inexplicable way; now she feared him because she could read his character in his face, in his deep-set eyes, the cruel line of his mouth.

He greeted her in a jovial manner, tipped her chin up so he could look into her eyes, let his heavily lidded eyes drop to a casual survey of her aviate figure.

And then Silver reappeared. Marian saw with a start that the Silver of Reno had disappeared, a girlish, plaintive child had given way to a languorously sophisticated woman of the world. Pale hair was molded to her head in shining waves and pale silver frock was molded to her form, now filling to a hint of the voluptuous. She was twice as dangerous.

Marian looked at Blaine Kelly and knew he was Silver's if she would have him; wondered why she hadn't, then looked at Lon, at the bronze fineness of his face above the white jacket, the lithic frame and its swift firm carriage, the sump of clean living upon him, setting him apart from the other men in the room. Was Lon the reason?

McSwain, on her right, talked of the way the political world was going to the dogs; Wylie, on her left, talked of the Islands. Marian felt she said the proper things.

They would play bridge after dinner, McSwain told her; his wife, the Wylies and Blaine, all four of whom played for blood, at one table, and she and Silver and Mr. Casad how the game was played in the better circles.

Marian nodded, hoped she wouldn't play as stupidly as she felt.

Linner over they moved to the card room and just as they were seated a servant appeared with a note for McSwain. He excused himself hastily and Marian thought she saw a flash of fear cross his face.

"We'll have to wait," said Silver gravely. "Oh, Lon, you were talking of fishponds. Come on and let me show you ours. . . it might give you an idea." Without a glance at Marian she arose, extended a dimpled hand flashing with rings to Lon and led him away.

Marian intercepted the amused glance her husband gave her as he followed in the perfume wake of his hostess, but took no heart in it. Something . . . something intangible was in the air here . . . premonition . . . apprehension. Perhaps she was wrong . . . She must be wrong she mustn't let her jealousy face of Brown's trial? Well, he wouldn't . . . not while she had breath left in her body.

Lon, Silver, everyone forgotten she stepped out of the summer house, a slim lace-clad figure rigid with wrath.

McSwain, she said, "I overheard your conversation with William Brown. You are not going on with your plans. You are going to build that school house according to specifications, or you are going to the penitentiary!"

McSwain spun around in the path as though whirled on a pivot. "Eh?" he barked.

"I said I overheard your conversation with William Brown," repeated Marian.

"You what?" demanded McSwain now in control of his reason after the shock of finding someone in the summer house when he had thought he spoke in privacy.

"You understood me," retorted Marian. "You heard every word I said, but if you want me to repeat I will."

"Repeat," he grunted; "young lady you're daft. You didn't hear any . . . what name did you say . . . talking here."

"Oh, yes. I did. I sat in Superior Court for eight days, much of that time listening to William Brown's voice. It isn't a pleasing voice."

"Of course, that explains this. You didn't see the man to whom I was talking."

"You're sure they won't bring in any State inspectors? Gosh, McSwain, this is a school you know."

"That's all right, I'm making it safe. Besides, you haven't got any kids going there, have you?"

"Then trot along; I'm staying out here to finish this cigar."

Marian sat still until the footsteps on the gravel path had faded into the distance. Hot indignation was staining her cheeks and bare shoulders with a rush of blood. McSwain was going on with his plans to save his financial "hide" at the expense of hundreds of children and she held their fate in her hands.

She had a vision of her brother in his R. O. T. C. uniform, staggering down the street with his "Hi you, fellow"; of her sister Lucy in sports frock, books under her arm. Boys and girls like these in the auditorium, perhaps one of the small earth quivers that came stealing on waves, crumbling walls, shattered windows, crashing roof—and they lying crushed beneath the debris.

trained from wading into the Cleveland rumpus at the outset with both fists flying because of election days proximity. Under ordinary circumstances, leaders here say, the unions would have lost no time forcing a national issue from the difficulties the Atlantic & Pacific chain is having with its Cleveland employees. Labor men recognize the A & P as one of the most powerful corporations in the country, even though it is privately owned, a la Henry Ford. Some A. F. of L. spokesmen charge off the record that the A & P deliberately closed down in Cleveland to embarrass the administration on election eve. As the union men don't say what plans they originally had ready for after election, this charge must be taken with a certain amount of salt. It doesn't take an elaborate spy system to learn that a lot of guns are being oiled in the labor camp.

Evolution

Top men of the A. F. of L. found themselves in general agreement at their recent get-together that organized labor most definitely has reached the crossroads. Either it marches on to a bigger and tighter national organization in the next year with the help of sympathetic administration treatment under Section 7A of the Recovery Act, or it gets torn up and tossed back a number of years. This was why the issue of industrial vs. craft unions was settled at San Francisco without a bit of debate on the floor. One and all there present subordinated lifetime convictions to a realization that union organization at the moment was a matter of expediency. If a blanket union will solidify the workers in any industry quicker than the business of regimenting them by the crafts, the craftsmen are prepared to take their hands with white-collar men and unskilled labor. Great Britain went through this same evolution of organized labor some years ago and industrial unions are quite the British vogue.

Slated

S. Clay Williams, chairman of the new five-man administrative board of NRA, shortly is going to find out that dead cats still can fly regardless of General Hugh Johnson's retirement from the front. Organized labor is laying deep and devious plans to get Williams' scalp. Union leaders privately claim the credit for having forced Johnson out as boss of NRA and they hold Williams to be a thousand times more objectionable to their cause. The A. F. of L. convention unanimously adopted a resolution condemning Williams because of an alleged "biased attitude" to labor. As chairman of the board of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company and head of the cigarette and smoking tobacco code authority it was charged Williams persistently has blocked adoption of a code that would give cigarette workers a break.

Census

The U. S. Department of Labor is looking forward hopefully to adoption of some form of unemployment insurance by the coming congress for one reason that has no direct bearing on relief of the needy. Only an unemployment insurance system will give the government a constant and accurate check on the number of jobless. Foreign countries which already have adopted one know always exactly how many of their citizens are out of work. Uncle Sam would like to have similar statistics for a number of obvious reasons but they never have been available thus far in our history. The Labor Department makes no pretense of estimating the precise number of unemployed and neither does any other federal agency. The Federal Relief administration knows how many people it has on the dole and the Federal Employment Service knows how many it has registered but these figures fall far short of painting a complete picture. The American Federation of Labor and the National Industrial Conference board—the latter a private statistical agency for business—make monthly unemployment estimates. Using the same source material, the A. F. of L. reported 10,951,000 out of work in September while the Conference Board placed the jobless at 9,976,000. A nationwide census would not help those in charge of government to lay their plans with more precision. Such a count would be accurate only as of the day it was taken. A few weeks later the act-

Roosters

So far as Jim Farley is concerned, next Tuesday's election results are so completely wrapped up and tucked away on the Democratic shelf that he has made all arrangements for the torchlight and fireworks. Reservations already have been made for "Victory Headquarters" at the Baltimore hotel in New York. Telephone wires will connect the New Deal general staff with all parts of the country, while specially installed news printers and telegraph wires bring in results district by district. As a final touch the broadcast companies will have their apparatus set up so Farley and his aides can broadcast words of thanks to the radio audience from time to time.

Notes

Big banks are to have limited liability for deposit insurance in new law. Housing Administration and PWA are figuring on mass production of cheap houses to boost employment. There's a tendency now to loosen the throttle on production—except oil. Rapid conversion of railroad trains to fast streamline type is encouraged by Washington. Argentina wants trade reciprocity with U. S. A. and products compete with American farmers. National Labor Relations Board is the busiest agency in Washington, trying to head off strikes.

Reform

New Yorkers give Oil Administration Ickes credit for a miracle. The hot oil flood from East Texas has actually been choked off to a drip. But they shake their heads when you ask how long the boys will behave. The inside reasons for the sudden untangling of a seemingly hopeless snarl differ somewhat from the apparent explanation. Outwardly it looks as if Ickes' new Federal Tender Board—which waded into the scrap swamping earnestly with both fists—had wrought magic that Houdini might have envied. The board scared the pizzard out of railroads and pipe lines which had been handling the bootleg product with threats of dire penalties if they didn't quit. Hitherto the carriers have been getting affidavits from shippers certifying to the legitimacy of shipments—as required by law—but haven't bothered to look behind the affidavits. Illegal producers have gotten by easily on phoney documents. But now the carriers have been told they'll be held responsible they're scrutinizing every consignment with a microscope. Note the interstate commerce approach. Texas producers may get away with defying federal jurisdiction on the ground that their operations are intra-state but railroads and pipe lines know better than to try.

Hope

The real test will come in a few weeks when the large producers' resentment has faded and the cheaters think it's safe to step out again. Then you'll see them representing the stunt that has served them well before—getting injunctions from state courts to restrain the federal government from interfering with their business. Mr. Ickes can crack down on railroads and pipe lines all he likes. Trucks are plentiful and much harder to control. Experts say the Secretary's main hope of escaping a fresh handout lies in the time element. If the hot oilers stay put for six weeks or more in demand is due which should take up the slack for the big companies and keep them happy on the present price basis. If they don't, even an alert and active Tender Board will have a tough time warding off a smash.

Closed

The A & P's abandonment of its Cleveland stores gave Wall Street the-hards a thrill. It's the first important application of the sentiment they have expressed so often: "The government can tax us and regulate us and raise hob with our profits, but by gosh they can't make us stay in business." The informed say the A & P figured on a favorable public reaction on the premise that the chain was victimized by outside labor elements. Keen observers aren't so sure it will work that way. They don't think hundreds of innocent workers eat on the breadlines are such a good advertisement. There's no reason to fear an epidemic of closed stores and factories as an echo of A & P's method of handling labor problems. Very

Politics

Governor Lehman is gaining as the New York campaign draws to a close—despite Tammany defections and the hostility of racial groups—and should win by a tidy margin. Robert Moses' aggressiveness has been something of a boomerang. He has alienated many of his party's leaders by his refusal to head advice and his bitter personal attacks on Lehman have won sympathy for the governor. Lehman has an intense dislike for brawling tactics—which accounts for his refusal to meet Moses in open debate. That's all the latter's charge of "fear" amounts to. Lehman's friends say he has a high personal regard for his opponent and is more regretful than resentful that Moses has treated him so roughly.

Sidelights

Insiders take the recent advance of 50 cents a ton for steel scrap a sign that steel operations will pick up soon. It's the first advance in scrap prices for five months. But now the carriers are beginning to be interested in 3-year loans again. The government will be buying a million pounds of butter weekly from now to the end of the year. Mental Hygiene Society To Meet In Austin Nov. 19

AUSTIN—Physicians, psychiatrists, educators, social workers and others interested in public welfare from all parts of the state will be invited to attend the organization meeting of the proposed Texas Society for Mental Hygiene, to be held Monday, November 19, in the house of representatives at the state capitol, according to Dr. H. T. Manuel, professor of educational psychology at the University of Texas and a member of the steering committee. Organization of this society is a significant move on the part of Texas for a state program looking toward mental health, Dr. Manuel declared. Similar organizations have been established in other states with salutary results. The meeting to be held November 19 is the outgrowth of a previous session, called by Mrs. Violet Greenhill, chief of the child welfare division of the state board of control. At that meeting, the steering committee to plan the organization program was appointed, consisting of Dr. T. W. Buford of Pattonville, chairman, Dr. Titus Harris of Galveston, Dr. Guy F. Witt of Dallas, Dr. J. W. Cunningham of Houston, and Professor Manuel. The new organization will be addressed at its first session by Dr. George S. Stevenson of New York, a member of the National Committee of Mental Hygiene.

Gorilla Pogi To Meet Eddie O'Shea Tuesday Nite

Eddie O'Shea and Gorilla Pogi, two of the roughest grapplers in West Texas, will clash at each other in the main event of the Big Spring Athletic club's card next Tuesday night. Two lady wrestlers will swap holds in the semi-final when Mrs. Gladys O'Shea meets Billy Morrison. A fast prelim bout is promised between two local amateurs.

Railroading Not What It Used To Be In Big Spring Section When Pay Was Good, Promotion Fast

By SAM ASHBURN
Railroading and what it used to be in Big Spring, where the payroll, during the boom years of the 20's was as high as several hundred thousand a month. Everything was looking good and promotions were ready during that period of 1926 to 1928 when 100 men were raised to a conductor's rank. Today about 25 conductors live here and about 200 men receive railway pay checks each month. Those that are on the payroll get good wages for a conductor's check will run around $225 to $240 a month if he is working regularly, though they estimate their expenses away from home during their month's work from $50 to $60 a month. The pay is based on a scale of $6.50 for each 100 miles regardless of the size of the train and a maximum of 3,800 miles a month is allowed these workmen. They used to make 4,000 to 4,500 a month.

Passenger Conductor Job Best

As the freight conductors get older many go into the passenger brakeman service. It is less pay but not so hard, and they do not have to handle long trains. The first thing a conductor does when he mounts a train is to see just what its size is and if it is a long one, the casing begins. Some eight or ten freight conductors have voluntarily moved down to the passenger brakeman service. The passenger railway conductor is the best of the conductor jobs and is the plum of the trade. Seven such conductors live in Big Spring.

Big Is a Law Passed Now Making Compulsory Retirement of Railway Men at 65 and Some Six Conductors Here Will be Effected by That Order

The roads are to make their first payment in November. Mr. Watkins is proud of this law, says when he began his railway work that the men were fighting for this very sort of pension. He is proud of the administration and points out that Donal Rieberg, for many years counsel for the 21 railway labor organizations and now head of the NRA, wrote the bill that became the law at the last session of congress. Boosts Full Crew Law There are a number of retired railway men living here now. Among the engineers are L. F. McKay, E. Nelson and Uncle Johnny Price, believed to be about 95 years of age. He ran a switch engine in the yards here until just a few years ago. He made only one run on the line and asked for his switch job back. Among the retired trainmasters are Pete Johnson, retiring county commissioner; J. D. Stamper, while others in various other lines of railway employment include: A. C. Vaughan, a brakeman; W. F. Fahrkamp, a conductor; J. S. Benson, a conductor; W. A. Mathis, a conductor. The average retired pay today for the conductors is from $70 to $75 a month; for the brakemen, about $50. The T. and P. has cared for its own men and bases the rate of pay on the wages received during the last 10 years of employment. Mr. Watkins says the full crew law will give employment to many more men and will revive the payroll here in a measure to its old-time strength.

Deans Fly In Air Sleeper

NEW YORK—Diszy and Paul Dean, St. Louis' wonder pitching team, are among the latest converts to the aerial sleeper as the comfortable way to travel. The brothers were passengers on American Airlines' new sleeper plane on a recent trip here from Chicago for a series of exhibition games. A third member of the party was Mrs. Dean, wife of Diszy and "business manager" of the troupe.

In Minnesota Race

Employment Conditions In Texas In October Relatively Favorable

AUSTIN—Employment and payroll conditions in Texas for October were relatively favorable, judging from press reports of conditions in other sections of the United States, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Reports from 1691 Texas establishments covering the week ended October 13 showed practically no change in employment and payrolls from that of September, the bureau's report said. In comparison with the corresponding week in October, 1933, however, the number of employees increased 2 per cent and the total payrolls increased 6 per cent.

Old Distillery Flume Found

UTICA, Mich. (UP)—An old distillery flume, which had been underground for approximately a century, was uncovered here recently by workmen working on the streets near the Utica Flour Mill. The flume was made of pine boards two inches thick and was still in fair condition, despite the fact it was placed underground about 100 years ago. At that time it was employed to carry water to the distillery.

Mrs. H. C. Porter and Mrs. F. L. Danner spent Wednesday in Abilene.

"but hell, you're a boy!" Ollie told me afterwards that "damned if that old man didn't talk me out of killing him." Tom didn't mention it, but others around the circus said he roped an escaped lion recently. "A lion got loose near Brownwood not long ago," said Al Hill, circus publicity man. "Everybody climbed up on top of the trucks which was the worst place they could have got since a lion would naturally jump up on something. Tom started out with a rifle, a pistol and a lasso. He said he didn't know whether he ought to have put down his rope or the rifle, but he took a chance on keeping the rope since he still carried the pistol. "He roped the lion and about an hour later they got it back into the cage. Tom said he had roped both of things but it was the first time he had ever roped a lion." The Tom Mix Circus and Wild West is the largest motorized circus in the world, and the third largest circus, said Hill. More than 20 cars and trucks are required to transport the circus. The show played in Abilene Tuesday and will be in Pecos Saturday, going from there to El Paso.

The Search for VALUE

THE gold or silver miner does much work before his mine is on a paying basis. That's "development work." He carries on in the hope that soon he will come to the pay-streak and will have his reward.

Compare this miner to your reading of the advertisements. Not everything you read is of vital interest to you at the moment. But many thousands of others are reading. One finds a well-recommended suit or overcoat at an attractive price. That's a pay-streak for him. Another rejoices to find a sales announcement of coal, or coke, or furniture. Another wants the latest automobile or radio, and is mightily pleased to find the advertisement that tells all about it.

The advertisements carried in this newspaper are helpful in the business of living. They tell of equipment, appliances, things for personal and household needs. Take note of the things you now have in regular use. What first called them to your attention? It's likely that you first read about them in an advertisement. Other good values await your choosing in the advertisements in this issue.

Curious citizens milled around the funeral home in East Liverpool, O., where the body of Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd was taken after he was shot down by federal agents and local police in a farmyard near East Liverpool. Powell Martin Jr. Is Party Honoree

Powell Martin, junior, was very much surprised Wednesday afternoon, when he went with his mother to the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Talley and was greeted there by a group of voices singing "Happy Birthday to You."

It was a surprise birthday party. The guests and honoree were told they were going to make a trip. They went to the basement where their fortunes were told. They each fished, receiving hats, horns, balloons.

They were then called into the dining room where they were served waffles, brew and tea cakes decorated with Halloween faces. Powell was presented with a basket of lovely gifts.

Those present were: Rose Mary Darby, Lina V. A. A. U. Starts Annual Search

The Amateur Athletic union has begun its annual job of polling national opinion on the outstanding amateur performer of the year, with a view to reducing the list of contenders to 10 and then deciding by ballot the recipient of the James E. Sullivan Memorial Medal for 1934.

This award, one of the most prized in amateur sport, has gone in the past to Bobby Jones, Barney Berlinger, Jim Bausch and Glenn Cunningham, who beat Bill Bonthron by the margin of a single vote in the 1933 contest.

Most observers fail to realize that this award is based equally on two factors, only one of which is athletic performance and ability. The other, to use the A. A. U.'s definition, comprises the candidate's "character, manliness, leadership and general helpfulness to the community in general and the cause of amateur athletics in particular."

Naturally, the contenders hardly would come in for a great deal of scrutiny if they did not first attract attention on the strength of their achievements. Once in the spotlight, however, the A. A. U. delves more deeply into the individual's influence and personality, apart from the impression that the crowd gathers.

For instance, those who make up the so-called Sullivan Award Tribunal are asked to describe what their candidates have done to qualify for community leadership, specify acts of sportsmanship and give examples of helpfulness to the cause of amateur sport.

It isn't sufficient, in other words, to hang up a string of word records, so far as the A. A. U. is concerned. The matter of how an athlete conducts himself outside of the field of competition, whether he's liked or disliked by his rivals or associates in sport, all figures in the final reckoning for one of the most unusual honors that any American organization bestows upon an athlete.

Contest Open To All
The Sullivan contest this year is open to amateurs in all branches of sport and not, as was the case last year, confined solely to competitors in the sports over which the Amateur Athletic union claims jurisdiction.

It is thus back on its original basis, an open competition in which the candidates of such sports as golf, tennis and polo—all outside A. A. U. control—are as welcome as the performers in track and field, swimming, rowing, basketball, boxing, wrestling and gymnastics subject to A. A. U. regulation.

The scope of the award was limited last year because of a feeling that it was getting out of A. A. U. control but this narrower viewpoint was discarded at the last convention of the union in Pittsburgh. It is obvious that an open contest contributes more to the prestige of the A. A. U.

The original popularity of the contest, for instance, was due to the choice of Jones, first winner of the Sullivan medal, immediately after he had registered his celebrated "grand slam" in golf. Subsequently the award went for three straight years to athletes competing mostly under A. A. U. jurisdiction in track and field sports.

Little Is Candidate
This year William Lawson Little, Jr., the San Francisco youth who captured both the British and American amateur golf championships, is among the outstanding eligibles for the Sullivan medal. So is Helen Jacobs, another Californian and three-time winner of the women's national tennis title.

The bigger share of the balloting, however, is likely to go again to the track and field stars, including Big Ben Eastman, hero of a great comeback and holder of five world records; Jack Torrance, the man mountain from Louisiana, who has achieved amazingly results in the shotput since finishing a career of all-around activity; and those two great middle distance rivals, Glenn Cunningham and Bill Bonthron.

Cunningham's new mile record of 5:06.7 and Bonthron's 1500 meter world mark of 3:48.3 stand as climax achievements in their remarkable two-year period of foot racing activity.

Angelo Hotel In New Hands

National Hotels Company Takes Over Hilton; T. J. Settle New Manager

SAN ANGELO—San Angelo's 14-story, 288-room Hilton hotel, opened in June, 1929, passed Thursday from the management of C. C. McBurnett of San Angelo, under receivership, to that of the National Hotels Corporation, the new owners.

T. J. Settle, who has been connected with the Stephen F. Austin Hotel at Austin this fall and was at the Buccaneer Hotel in Galveston during the summer, is the new manager. A new name for the Hilton, to be chosen in a contest conducted through the Standard and Times and ending Oct. 23, has not been announced.

The National Hotels operate a chain of 26 hotels in six states, 17 in Texas, including the Stephen F. Austin at Austin, the Buccaneer and the Jenn LaFitte at Galveston, the Falls at Marlin, the Settles at Big Spring and the Brownwood and the Southern at Brownwood. W. L. Moody, Jr., and son, Sherin Moody, of Galveston, own the controlling interest in the National Hotels, John B. Mills of Galveston being general manager.

The San Angelo Hotel Corporation, for which the National Hotels will be the operator here, was formed recently by a majority of the holders of the bonds of the San Angelo-Hilton Hotel Corporation. C. C. McBurnett has operated the Hilton for the local corporation for 22 months under a state court receivership. Walter F. Duff being manager. Mr. Duff intends to retire from active business until his health improves. He owns a ranch in Schleicher county. He has been connected with the McBurnett hotels since March, 1926.

T. J. Settle, new manager, formerly was connected with the Baker hotels and later was manager of the Longview Hotel at Longview. He and Mrs. Settle arrived from Austin early in the week. R. A. Klaerner of Galveston, general auditor for the National Hotels, is in the city for several days. No radical changes in the operation of the Hilton Hotel here will be made and the staff will remain the same, Mr. Settle announced Wednesday.
