Mountaineer Tie 13-13 With Bangs; Rest This Week Before Last Game

The Santa Anna Mountaineers journeyed over to Bangs and battled the Dragons to a 13-13 tie in an Armistice Day homecoming game for the Dragons, Friday afternoon.

The Dragons scored early in the first period; after recovering a Mountaineer fumble on the 39 yard line. From this point they drove all the way to the Mountaineer goal line and ran across the extra point to take a 7-0 lead.

In the second period Craig Douglas broke loose on the Dragon 35 yard line to cross the goal line standing up. The strong wind blew Scott's try for the extra point away from the goal post and Bangs still had the lead by 7-6. Later in the second period R. D. Hartman carried the ball over for the last Mountaineer tally. R. L. Mackey passed to Scott for the extra point and the Mountaineers lead 13-7 at the half.

Bangs came back in the third period to tie the score 13-13 on a pass completion but failed to make the extra point.

The last period was a rough and tumble battle, with both teams trying desperately to break the tie. Each team was deep in the others' territory during the last quarter, but could not push the score across.

The Mountaineers are taking a much needed rest this week, before traveling to Gorman for the last game of the season.

The game at Gorman will be played at 2:00 p. m. November 24, Thanksgiving day.

Jr. Mountaineers Host To Blanket Juniors Thursday

The Santa Anna Ward School Junior Mountaineers will play host to the Junior squad from Blanket on Thursday night, November 17, at 7:30 p. m. This will be the fifth game for the young Mountaineers and it will be their last game for this season.

The Junior boys have played two games with the Junior boys from Bangs and Comanche, beaten the Bangs boys both times and being beaten by the Comanche boys both times.

According to Coach Bill Adams, he has had requests to match his boys with a team a little more in their class. So comes the game with the Blanket Juniors. Last week the Santa Anna boys were beaten by the Comanche boys 19-0. The Blanket boys were beaten by a score of 27-7 by the same team. Thus, the two teams should be fairly evenly matched. Both Bangs games have been heavily in favor of the Santa Anna Juniors.

The game will be played on the Mountaineers field and admission will be charged.

The program for the evening was in charge of Ben Wilson. Group singing was led by Miss Jo Garland and Mrs. Joe Taylor presented several songs by high school girls.

Luther Holder read the following resolution, which were all adopted by the Federation:

RURAL ROADS
We urge the Texas Farm Bureau to work for our rural program and that it be financed by our state government by an increased tax on natural resources, and especially on the gatherers of natural gas.

F. H. A.
We recommend additional Appropriations be made to take care of purchase demands in Farmers Home Administration.

DAIRY
We recommend that all milk that is imported into the state and bottled for distribution be required to meet Texas Grade A Standard.

OIL AND TAXES
We recommend that all royalties sold away from the land should be subjected to taxes and the purchases of such should be taxed. We also recommend a more rigid enforcement of the law pertaining to the plugging of oil and gas wells and the control of salt water from pits.

R. E. A.
We commend the R. E. A. for splendid work of serving rural people with electric power. We urge additional appropriation to further extend the R. E. A. program to our farmers.

WOOLS
As Texas is a leading state of wools and especially fine wools, we recommend if it becomes necessary to cut tariffs on wool that it be graded on wool rather than name of wool.

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE
We urge a continual forceful campaign to stamp out foot and mouth disease in Mexico by our Federal Government. We urge the Texas Farm Bureau Federation to work with the American Farm Bureau Federation to check with our federal men in Washington to see that the Texas border is all patrolled as we understand this is a part of it that isn't patrolled.

PUBLIC AUCTION
We urge that all state laws pertaining to sanitary commission laws, Brand inspection, bills of sale, and Bonded Commission Companies be more rigidly enforced. We also recommend that law that it be rigidly enforced to law that is rigidly enforced to protect buyers at public sale on defective or misrepresented livestock.

BAE
Due to the conflict the BAE is

S. S. Representative In Coleman Tuesday

Social security benefits to 65 year old workers and to the families of workers who die are not paid automatically. Ralph T. Fisher, manager of the Abilene social security office, cautioned.

In every case where payments are due, a claim must be filed with the social security office to start the ball rolling. The law places a limit on the number of back payments that can be made when a claim is not filed promptly: no more than three months back benefits can be paid.

When a 65 year old worker stops work, he should get in touch with the social security office without delay. When a worker dies, someone in the family should make it a point to inquire about possible benefits to the survivors. In either case, if action is delayed more than three months after death or retirement, one or more monthly payments might be lost.

To assist local residents in filing claims for social security benefits, Mr. Fisher of the Abilene social security office visits Coleman regularly. He will be in Coleman again on November 22, at 1:00 p. m. at the Department of Public Welfare.

Deer Hunters

With the opening of the deer season on Wednesday of this week a number of Santa Anna citizens are off on their annual hunt.

The only party that we know of at this time is composed of Neal Oakes, W. T. Stewardson, Lonnie and Roy Bledsoe, O. L. Cheaney, A. D. Pettit, J. W. Vance, of Santa Anna and Bill Thate and Vasco Lee of Comanche, who are at the Hardy Stewardson ranch, near San Saba.

We would like to have reports from all deer hunters and hope all of you get your limit of nice fat deer.

Mr. and Mrs. Garland Close of Austin, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Close.

Mrs. Jozack Miller of Leaday, visited in Austin last Saturday and attended the Texas-TCU football game.

Coleman Gas & Oil Company Announce Plans To Purchase Santa Anna Gas Co.

The Daddy Of Turnips—Again!

This writer thought the turnip that L. G. Bobo presented to him in June was the largest turnip that could be raised in this part of the world, but it has happened again and this time Ozro Eubank can claim he has produced the largest so far.

Monday afternoon Mr. Eubank left a turnip at the News office for inspection. The turnip weighed in at 5½ pounds and measured 19½ inches one way and 23½ inches the other.

Again we say that this is the largest turnip we have ever seen, and if you can produce a larger one, we would like to see it.

Mr. Eubank states that he or Mrs. Eubank did not know this turnip was growing in their turnip patch. They went out to get some for dinner and turned up this large turnip. It is now on display at the Santa Anna National Bank.

City Commissioners Meet On Monday For Complaints

An announcement was carried in last weeks paper stating that the City Commissioners of the City of Santa Anna would meet each Monday night for the purpose of hearing any complaints, suggestion or otherwise that citizens of the town might have to offer.

On the first meeting night, Monday, November 14, there was not one person showed up at the meeting.

The Mayor states that the commissioners were in session about two hours and they expected some answers to their call for suggestions. He also stated that they would meet each Monday night for several weeks and if no one had any complaints or suggestions to offer them, they would take it to mean that everyone is satisfied with the way they are taking care of the city.

This is your chance to go before the City Officials and present your ideas. These men are meeting for the purpose of hearing what you have to say. If there is something you don't understand, or if there is something you are not satisfied with, it is your chance to present it to them, and let them take action on it then. They are having these meetings to get you to come to the meeting and present your complaints or suggestions, rather than presenting them during their business hours. It is for your benefit, so if you have any complaints or suggestions, go to one of these meetings and present your ideas.

Bedspreads For Hospital

On the first anniversary of the Sealy Hospital Auxiliary, November 7, the ladies presented the Sealy Hospital with 12 bedspreads.

Rather than receiving gifts on their anniversary, the Auxiliary felt they should give a gift to the hospital.

Singing At Buffalo Methodist Church

Announcement was made this week of the regular Third Sunday singing to be held at the Buffalo Methodist Church Sunday, November 20 from 2:00 p. m. until 4:00 p. m.

A number of special quartets have been invited to attend and all singers from Santa Anna are invited to attend. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Mr. Scott Bower, Jr., president of the Coleman Gas & Oil Company made public plans for the purchase of the properties of the Santa Anna Gas Company. This purchase will be subject to an election by the qualified voters of the City of Santa Anna.

At the request of Coleman Gas & Oil Company, the City Commission at their last regular meeting, Thursday night, November 10, called the special election for December 13, to be held at the City Hall in Santa Anna. All qualified voters of the City of Santa Anna are eligible to vote on the question.

Roy D. Golston, president of the Santa Anna Gas Co., and Mr. Bower, have concluded negotiations whereby the Coleman Gas & Oil Company will provide natural gas services for all of Santa Anna if the approval is granted the transfer of properties and services will be made on or about December 31, at which time the more than adequate gas reserves of the Coleman Gas & Oil Co. will be made available to all the residents and businesses of Santa Anna.

The Coleman Gas & Oil was founded in May, 1919. Its operation as an independent producer and distributor of natural gas have been limited to Coleman county and it has been the goal of the company to provide satisfactory and economical natural gas services to the homes, businesses and industries of Santa Anna and Coleman. The company has extensive natural gas reserves in Santa Anna gas field and expects to serve its customers for many years to come.

Elsewhere in this issue of the News is the Notice of Election, as called by the City Commission. You are requested to read this notice and be prepared to vote when the election comes.

Mr. Bower also stated that if the approval is granted there would be no change in the management of the Santa Anna office and that Mrs. Theo. Kirkpatrick and Jay Briggs would be the Santa Anna representatives of the Coleman Gas & Oil.

Local Baptist Church News

There was a splendid attendance at all of the services this past Sunday at the First Baptist Church. Twelve of the members of the First Baptist Church were in attendance at the Coleman Associational workers' Conference which was held at the Double Gates Church, Shields, 22 out of 27 churches in Coleman Associational was represented at this meeting which was held Monday evening. The next meeting is scheduled to be at the Roseclaw Church in Coleman. Mrs. Ford Barnes and Mrs. Harry C. Wigger taught two of the books studied at the Mission Study Institute held at

There is an attendant in charge of the nursery where the parents may leave their babies while they are enjoying the services, if they so care to. This attendant is present for the Sunday School and Training Union as well as the worship services.

First Baptist Church are having a Fall Roundup for the next three Sundays. They have set as their goal for attendance the first Sunday in this Fall Roundup 45. They are urging the attendance of all members of their class.

Local Methodist Church News

A splendid attendance was noted the second Sunday, especially at the morning services. An unusual array of "fruits of the harvest" furnished the setting for the altar. "Can God Trust Us With his Goods?" "Or Faithfulness In Life's Assignments" was the subject of the pastor's sermon.

Twelve children, wearing their vestments, sang the processional hymn at the evening service and participated in the special feature, the theme of which was "Influence." The pastor's subject was "Emptied Handed, in the Emergencies of Life."

When this bit of news is read our District Conference at Comanche will be history, our church having submitted an enviable report, made possible by the whole-hearted cooperation of a large number of our members.

By this time all should be familiar with the program of work as scheduled for the fall and winter months. As far as possible all are urged and expected to be present for all services.

as possible. Cover your mouth and nose when you cough or sneeze. Use paper handkerchiefs or paper napkins that can be burned. Wash your hands frequently with soap and water.

Texas State Dept. Of Health Letter

Austin, Texas—Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, declares there's hardly anyone who hasn't caught cold at one time or another. The common cold is common indeed! Besides making you feel miserable, colds steal your time and your money. They fool you, too, because the early signs are often the same as those of more serious illnesses. And long-continued colds may pave the way for an attack of pneumonia, tuberculosis, or a chronic infection of the nose, throat, ears or sinuses. So, do your best to keep from catching cold. And if you do catch one, take proper care of yourself so you can get rid of it.

- When you have a cold:
1. Get as much rest as possible. Stay in bed or indoors for the first day or so if you can.
  2. Keep comfortable warm and dry. If you must go to work wear clothes that will protect you adequately when you go outdoors, and avoid drafts and sudden chilling when overheated.
  3. Drink plenty of citrus fruit juices, water and other liquids. Eat simple foods which agree with you.
  4. Protect other people as much

New Advances Told In Cancer Research

Fort Worth, November 11.—“We can save many lives today with the knowledge we now have, through prompt diagnosis and treatment,” cancer control workers were told as the Texas Division, American Cancer Society, concluded its fourth annual meeting here.

M. R. Runyon of New York, executive vice president of the national society, told representatives from throughout Texas about new advances in research, service to the cancer patient, and cancer education. “I want to tell you who is going to find the answer to cancer,” Runyon said. “It is you—the individual. No organization as an organization can solve a problem as varied and complex as cancer. In the problem of cancer control, individuals must accept full measure of responsibility. No matter how big our organization grows, cancer still will be a personal concern.”

Previously, Frank C. Smith, president of the Texas Division, described the division's major objective as “education of the public to insure earlier diagnosis and treatment of cancer.”

“We must serve, earn the support, of and improve the health conditions of, more than six and a half million Texans. This can be done through a good framework of organization, functioning to suit the needs of each county, utilizing trained volunteers who have at their disposal adequate specialized tools, and conducting a successful annual campaign for the public's support, including support for the national research program.”

Meetings included a teaching conference for medical representatives which demonstrated operation of cancer clinic sessions.

High School Driver Training On Increase

Detroit—A 50 per cent increase in high school driver training is indicated by records of the Chevrolet Motor Division which reveal 2,336 Chevrolet sedans on loan to schools by dealers.

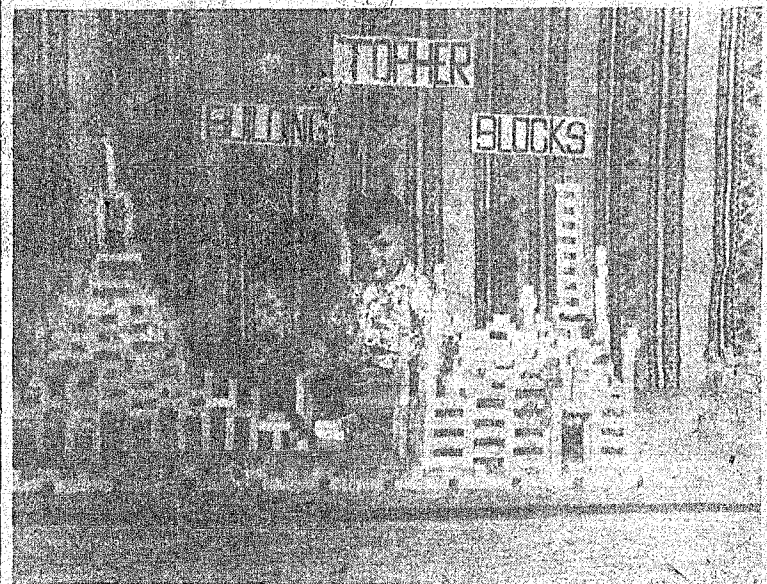

The total compares with 1,576 Chevrolets in use a year ago, which in turn represented a steady climb since the program was launched under sponsorship of the American Automobile Association at the end of the war.

"Chevrolet is glad to co-operate in this program because we believe driver instructions in schools is one of the most important contributions to the future safety of travel," commented W.

E. Fish, general sales manager. "The vast majority of present-day drivers have not had the benefit of expert counsel. Many of the bad driving habits encountered on highways can be directly traced to this lack of a sound basic training."

Under an arrangement with the American Automobile Association, Chevrolet dealers supply dual-equipped training cars to their local high schools. To qualify for an automobile the school must meet certain standards of instruction set by the association.

Mr. Kenneth Moredock and Mr. Orau Lewellen, who are attending school at A and M College, visited over the holiday week end with their parents.

MATH
 One night a boy went to see his girl, and was helping her with her math in which her grades were very poor.
 She couldn't tell the difference between addition, subtraction, multiplication, or long division.
 He kissed his girl four times and said, "Now that's addition."
 She blushed and kissed him twice, and said, "That's subtraction."
 He kissed her eight times and said, "That's multiplication."
 The father had heard all of this and came in. He kicked the boy to the corner and said, "Now that's Long Division."

OUR WORLD OF THE FUTURE
 Long ago men dreamed of a world like the one we live in today—men who never lived to see it, but who helped to make it as it is today. The knowledge they discovered has been passed on through generation after generation over a period of centuries.
 Today, we find ourselves on the crossroads of the highest civilization. We stand on the threshold of the highest civilization the world has ever seen.

Coyita Griffin of Santa Anna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Griffin, recently was elected secretary of the Indian Band at McMurry College in Abilene. Coyita, a 1948 graduate of Santa Anna High School, is now in her sophomore year at McMurry. Her major is mathematics.

 Recently, the condition of our civilization became critical. World War II brought scientific advances which normally would have required many years to achieve. On August 5, 1945, the most shocking incident of the entire war occurred over Hiroshima, Japan. In a tremendous cloud of dust and vapor, a large portion of a city disappeared from the earth. The civilized world was shocked.
 But this atomic bomb meant more than the destruction of a city or of the end of a bloody war. It ushered in a new age—the atomic age.
 Not only in the field of atomic fission, but also in other scientific fields was progress being made. Radar, jet-propelled planes, precision bombing instruments, and many other scientific marvels have been discovered and invented.
 Now, we must make our choice. With all of this power he used for good or for evil? We have, on hand, opportunity; on the other desolation and the destruction of civilization. We must make our decision.

TWO SANTA ANNA GIRLS WIN CONTEST
 The regional contest for this area was held in Coleman, November 7, 1949. The contest was the "Make it yourself with Wool" and "Make it yourself with Mohair."
 Julia Ann Bailey, a senior student in Santa Anna High School entered a brown suit in the "Make it yourself with Mohair" contest. Even though this was the only entry in this division, the judges judged it and declared it came up to first place prize.
 Rilda Stevenson, a freshman, entered a navy blue dress in the Junior "Make it yourself with Wool" contest. She won first place.

These girls will attend the State Meeting in San Antonio on November 28, 29 and 30. If they win this contest they will go to the national contest in Denver, Colorado. The states entering in this will be Texas, South Dakota, Idaho, Nevada, Colorado, Montana, Oregon, Utah, Washington, Wyoming and New Mexico.
 We all are backing these two girls and we know that they will go far.

 "Ain't goin' tomorrow," R. D. said.
 "Why, not dear?" asked his mother.

SCRIPTURE: Isaiah 55: 1-7
DEVOTIONAL READING: Romans 10: 1-13

God's Open House

Lesson for November 20, 1949

IT IS A WARM chapter, this 55th of Isaiah. Some false ideas about God melt away just when they are brought close to it. Let us take a look at some of these notions and see how they will hold up in the light of God's words. ...

Dr. Foreman

This is a terribly wrong notion. It confuses the true God with some sort of sultan in the sky who has a "social register" of persons he will admit to his palace. ...

No Waiting

THERE IS ANOTHER notion that keeps people away from God. It is a kind of shyness. It is the feeling that maybe it isn't any use hunting for God. ...

It is the feeling that God may be sensitive and doesn't want people coming bothering him. It is the notion that if God wants me, he will knock me down and drag me where he wants me to be. ...

He spends his life paying God no attention whatever, not even thinking about him, perhaps. He may even go as far as he can from the Father's house, believing that God's long arm, like the long arm of the F.B.I. or the Mounties, will reach after him and get him in case God ever wants him. ...

Now this is a ridiculous idea and a bad one too. Isaiah would not think it true for a minute. "Seek ye the Lord," he says. "Call on God ... return to the Lord." ...

No House, Of Horrors

ANOTHER WRONG NOTION, for which, alas, many a church member is partly responsible, is the notion that the nearer we get to God, the gloomier we shall be. ...

Now that is just another mistaken notion. The very persons who know the deeper meanings of sacrifice are just the persons who don't like to use that word about themselves. ...

In fact, it could be said that in general it is only Christians who have a right to be gay. Jesus himself, on the same night in which he was betrayed, spoke to his friends about sharing his joy to the full. ...

Isaiah 55 is certainly an invitation

First Harvest Festival Unlike Thanksgiving Now

NO RECORD OF WORSHIP IN OLD ACCOUNTS — INDIANS FEASTED WITH THEM YEARLY

The Pilgrim Fathers celebrated their first American harvest festival in October, 1621, the first autumn of the exiles in their new home in New England.

The occasion is thus described in a quaint old account:

"Our harvest being gotten in, our Governour sent foure men on fowling, so that we might after a more special manner rejoyce together after we had gathered the fruit of our labours. They foure in one day killed as much fowle as, with a little help beside, served the Companie almost a week."

Many of the Indians, among them Chief Massasoit, the Pilgrims' friend and ally, joined in the three days of feasting. There was plenty of roast turkey, for the fowlers found "great store" of the now famous Thanksgiving bird in the neighborhood of Plymouth.

But in this old account there is no record to show that this was a day set aside for giving thanks.

The year following the harvest festival was filled with misfortune and the colonists had held no autumn feast. With empty larders, they were counting the days until the spring sown crops should furnish them with supplies.

Then a terrible drought withered the corn in the fields and burned the gardens brown. A day of prayer was followed by a long, refreshing rain, and at the same time a ship loaded with friends and supplies was sighted.

So the governor appointed a day for "public thanksgiving." But this was also different from the present Thanksgiving Day, for we find no account that tells of feasting following the long church service.

Although we read of feasts, of fasts, and of "thanksgiving days" being observed during each year, it is not until ten years later, in 1636, that we find a record of a celebration such as we now keep.

Then we read that the Colonists of Scituate, in Plymouth Colony, gathered "in the meetinghouse beginning some halfe an hour before nine and continued until after twelve a'clock," with psalm-singing, prayer and sermon.

Then came "making merrye to the creatures, the poorer sort being invited of the richer."

In the course of the Revolutionary War, the Continental Congress appointed December 18, 1777, to be observed generally as a "thanksgiving day" in consequence of the surrender of Burgoyne.

In the first year of his office, President Washington issued a proclamation recommending that November 26, 1779, be kept as a day of "national thanksgiving" for the establishment of a form of government that made for safety and happiness.

For years the festival was almost exclusively a New England institution, celebrated by religious services in the churches, the sermon being often a political address, and by the gathering at the old home of the scattered members of the family.

The day gradually became a custom in the Western and some of the Southern States, each appointing its own day.

In 1864, President Lincoln issued a proclamation in which he "appointed and set aside" the last Thursday in November as a day of national thanksgiving "for the defense against unfriendly designs without and signal victories over the enemy who is of our own household."

Until 1939, each President followed Lincoln's example in proclaiming the last Thursday in November a national day of Thanksgiving. In that year, Franklin D. Roosevelt, desiring to lengthen the interval between Thanksgiving and Christmas (to give American business a longer Yuletide shopping season), named the next to the last Thursday as the date of celebration.

But in December, 1941, Congress passed a resolution making the fourth Thursday a legal holiday.

Governors in the various states usually issue proclamations to this effect.

The day is also celebrated in all the U. S. territories and possessions.

Although Thanksgiving Day is wholly an American institution, harvest festivals have been known since time immemorial.

It was long customary in England and elsewhere to hold special days of "fasting and prayer" in times of peril and disaster and equally to celebrate with "thanksgiving" and feasting Nature's annual bounty and other marks of God's favor.

EASY-TO-FIX STUFFING, GARNISH

You know how to cook your turkey, Mrs. Housewife, so we'll give you a couple of recipes—very simple—for stuffing and garnish for your Thanksgiving dinner:

TURKEY STUFFING

7 cups cubed stale bread	1 tablespoon poultry seasoning
2 medium onions, chopped	2 teaspoons powdered sage
2 tablespoons butter	1 teaspoon salt
1 cup melted butter	1 teaspoon celery salt
½ cup boiling water	½ teaspoon pepper

Fry onions slowly in 2 tablespoons butter, until tender and clear but not browned. Combine poultry seasoning, sage, salt, celery salt and pepper. Toss lightly with bread. Add onions and mix lightly. ### November Garden Tip—

High, Low-Growing Shrubs Need Added Winter Shield

Paul Hadley, writing in a new Popular Mechanics Book (GARDEN BOOK, Popular Mechanics Press, 96 pp., $1.25), gives home gardeners up-to-the-minute advice in an article titled "Overcoats for Tender Shrubs."

This book, by the way, is packed with information on dozens of subjects pertaining to care of the lawn, growing better flowers, year-around rose-growing, garden furniture and similar subjects.

On the subject of shrubs, Hadley says:

"Many valuable shrubs, plants and small ornamental trees require some protection from cold winds and drifting snows if they are to survive the winter without damage.

"Species which are hardy in protected locations during average winters will often winterkill when fully exposed to cold winds for long periods.

"Others suffer from freezing and thawing of the bark when exposed alternately to bright sunlight in daytime and the cold of long winter nights. Some plants, particularly evergreens, which are located close to white walls that reflect the sunlight on the foliage while the roots are still frozen in the ground, often suffer from 'winter-burn,' which dries and withers foliage and twigs.

"Single shrubs may be protected by driving stakes around the plant and covering these with burlap. Tender shrubs, such as English boxwood, need this protection in the colder climates.

"Sheets of cardboard cut from large packing cartons and arranged about the plants make a good wind-break or sunshade when necessary.

"Other materials suitable for making windbreaks are coarse straw, tall grass and dry cornstalks. Small trees may be wrapped with a thick covering of tough grass, or a long windbreak may be made by using posts and supporting strips to hold the material in place.

"Low ornamental trees can be wrapped with burlap and the top pruned back to such an extent that it also can be covered with a protective layer of the same material.

"Heavy paper may be used for this purpose, but it must be tied securely in place. When wrapping shrubs, be careful not to break the tender twigs or stems."

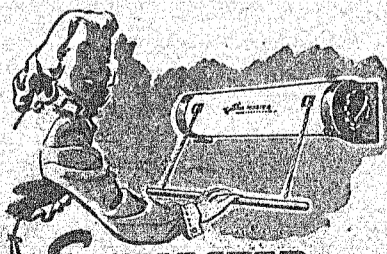

Hadley notes that evergreens of most varieties never become entirely dormant; some growth takes place the year 'round. After a dry fall, he advises watering evergreens before the ground freezes. If soil around the roots freezes "dry" the plant is very apt to suffer.

News and Comment About Farm and Ranch

Q. Why should dairy calves be kept off pasture until they are four to six months of age?

A. This practice is recommended for the prevention of parasite infection, and to keep young calves from eating so much soft, watery grass that they can not eat the proper amount of growing ration for satisfactory growth.

Q. Do rabbits require salt?

A. Yes. Rabbits require more salt than the quantity normally present in the grain and roughage part of their ration. Salt spoons should be available to them at all times.

Q. Is self-feeding of bred sows and gilts advised?

A. No. Self-feeding results in excessive consumption of feed, even when bulky rations are used. Long-term experiments at the Research Farm of the Ralston Purina Company indicate that hand-feeding makes it possible to control both condition and feed consumption of sows and gilts, resulting in stronger, healthier litters, and lower feed costs.

Q. What do buyers look for in top market broilers?

A. The broilers that bring top market prices are those with good fleshing quality, good feathering, low shipping and dressing shrinkage, and absence of breast blisters and deformities.

Q. What is a rex rabbit, and is it true that any breed of rabbits can be rexed?

A. Rex rabbits are any breed of rabbits that have under fur but no guard fur. A breeder who has one individual rex rabbit can, by proper matings, produce a rex breed in three generations, if a sufficient number of rabbits are produced. When the offspring of a normal-haired rabbit and a rex-appearing animal are bred together, 25% of the litter will be pure rex.

Q. Should special attention be given to feeding and handling the herd boar?

A. Yes. Records indicate that any improper feeding, mishandling, or neglect of the most important single individual in the hog herd, the herd boar will be reflected in smaller litters, lowered production, and less profit.

Q. Will range livestock take more salt if it is placed near water?

A. Research workers of the Soil Conservation Service in Texas report that cattle eat nearly twice as much salt when it is distributed at several places in a pasture as when all the salt is placed near the watering trough.

Q. How does the birth weight of pigs correlate with the health, vigor and livability of pigs farrowed?

A. Experience proves that the birth weight of pigs is an excellent indication of vigor and livability. Of pigs weighing one and one-half pounds at birth, only 13% were alive at weaning time. Of pigs weighing three pounds or more at birth 77%-85% were weaned.

Tougher Tomatoes Bred For Resistance to Wilt

Hybrid tomato strains that resist Fusarium wilt have been developed by the experiment station in Indiana. Wilt resistance was accomplished by crossing Red Currant, a wild variety from Peru, South America, with Baltimore and Rutgers, two important commercial varieties. Indiana scientists also are striving to introduce the higher Vitamin C and A content from the wild species into the commercial varieties. — CAPPER'S FARMER.

Bigger Weanlings Are Produced by Big Cows

The range cattleman who wants to increase the size of calves at weaning can best do it with big cows, it was learned at the Harney experiment station in Oregon. One hundred pounds of extra weight in a cow was found to mean 33 pounds more weaning weight.

Super-Phosphate Made Wheat Heads Double

An application of 20 per cent super-phosphate, 100 pounds to an acre, caused twice as many heads to set on winter wheat for John Steichen, Jr., of Noble County, Okla. The fertilized wheat filled out better and didn't fire as soon as untreated plots. Cost of the phosphate was $1.65 an acre.

Sleek Calves Result From Nipple Pails

Nipple pails make sleek calves, according to Jim Roskens, 4-H Clubber of Dickinson County, Iowa. Results were so good after he got one of the pails for his project calves that his father, Eite Roskens, shifted to that method of feeding. That has made a big improvement in thrift of young stock. "A calf can't gulp its feed through the rubber nipples," Jim said. "Gulping may cause a digestive upset." It is easier, he added, to get a calf to take milk from a nipple than to teach it to drink from a bucket.

Slowing Feed of High Analysis Fertilizer

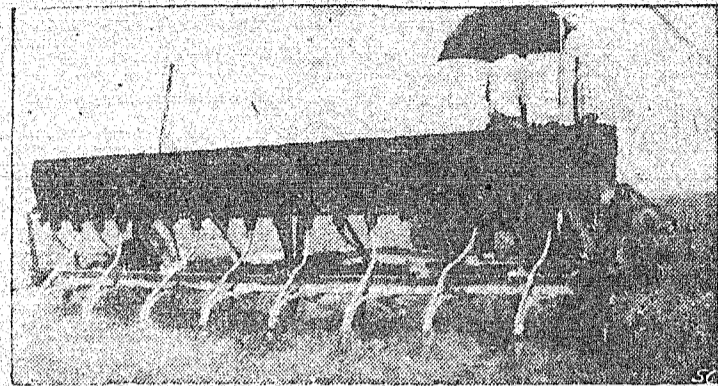

To reduce the fertilizer feed on a grain drill so you can sow small amounts of high analysis fertilizer, use a 1- by 6-inch board just long enough to fit into the box. One edge of the board is placed on the bottom so about a third of the drill feed is exposed. The other edge is slanted forward against the side of the box and nailed or bolted in place at the top, so fertilizer can't work down behind it. The regular feed is left wide open, and the board is adjusted to change the rate of application. Rates also can be varied by changing speed of feed mechanism. The method is more accurate for small amounts than the built-in regulator.

Old Cave Trough Used To Distribute Water

An old cave trough with nail holes in the bottom distributes irrigation water to 20 feet of row in Mrs. George J. Uebele's garden in Washington county, Wisconsin. It is filled by a hose from the well. When one row is soaked, the trough is moved to another and leveled. The extra water pays best when applied to tomatoes but is good dry weather protection on other vegetables.

Yokes on cattle indicate the cattle are not being supplied with enough good forage to make them contented and want to stay on their side of the fence. A fertilized winter legume or small grain pasture for winter grazing will remedy the situation.

Farmers Are Fighting Nature's Whims By Seeding Their Wheat 'Below Dust'

THOUSANDS of dry land wheat farmers this season will plant their seed "below the dust" by using deep-seeder boxes and attachments on chisel plows. Testing this method (above), Dannie B. Bitt, whose Guymon, Okla., plant produces such specialty farm equipment, deep-seeds an Oklahoma Panhandle farm. Reports from areas which had only normal moisture the past year show deep-seeding outproducing disc-seeding by sizeable amounts.

Our Farm Expert Writes--

Bees are worth 15 to 20 times more for their pollination service than for honey.

Good range grasses will produce from two to five-times as much forage as poor invader grasses; the more you grow means more meat to the acre.

Soils can be protected against winter erosion losses by providing them with a green blanket. The blanket can be made of adapted winter legumes or small grains.

Rough preparation of cotton at the gin is costly to both the ginner and farmer. Cotton picked green or wet and taken directly to a gin not equipped to handle such cotton may be reduced in value from $5 to $35 per bale.

Requirements for a U. S. Grade A turkey are: must be well fleshed, entire carcass covered with fat and practically free of pin feathers. These birds bring top prices.

Keep surface of silage in freezing weather shaped like an inverted pie plate. That is the best way to hold frozen silage to a minimum. Farmers who dig out silage around the wall first, keeping the middle flat and smooth, have the least trouble with frozen food.

One of World's Top Rice Mills Located At Beaumont, Texas

Did you know that one of the world's great rice mills is located at Beaumont, Tex.

The Comet Rice Mills, producers of America's most popular packaged rice, has a magnificent plant in the southeast Texas city, right in the heart of the section where so much of this tasty, nutritious grain is grown.

For 40 years, Comet has been known for purity, superb quality and uniform grain goodness—all of these have made it America's largest selling brand.

For the winter months ahead, the Comet recipe book offers an appropriate dish—rice tamale pie.

1 cup Comet Rice.
1 can tomato puree.
Salt, pepper.
2 teaspoons chili powder.
2 cups meat or chicken, minced.
2 cups meat gravy or broth.
Boil or steam rice and drain. Combine the ingredients, bake in buttered baking dish. Yield: 6 servings—1 cup. Temperature: 350 deg. F. Time: 1 hour.

Some Ideas On Handling Feed

Do you feed cattle and raise hogs? If so, chances are there's too much shoveling, hauling and general muscle-straining in hustling feed.

F. Z. Soukop of Harrison County, Iowa, can give you some ideas on handling feed.

Many years ago, Soukop began using his imagination on an old barn on his farm.

He operates 320 acres and feeds 400 cattle some years.

His 66- by 88-foot barn has a center driveway. In it are iron rails which extend between 2 concrete pit silos. A feed car with flanged wheels operates on this track.

Cattle are fed with a minimum of hand-shoveling. The feed car holds 50 bushels of corn which is put in by gravity from overhead bins.

Our Prayers on Thanksgiving Day

"THE FROST" is on the pumpkin and the fodder is in the shock," wrote James Whitcomb Riley, the great American poet.

Which reminds us that Thanksgiving Day is at hand once more.

November brings not only hoary frost, but the time for us to humbly bow our heads to thank God for manifold blessings.

No prayer should be said without thanking God for blessing America. He has given this Nation power, glory, honor, wealth and leadership wisely and well.

We need God's help as never before in our dealings with lustful nations that threaten war, that seek world domination and enslavement of all peoples.

Our prayers this Thanksgiving should be for tolerance, kindness and firmness.

Above all, that we have peace on earth and be spared the horrors of a Third World War.

Cold Weather and the Egg Room: Take Advantage Of Low Temperature, But Hold Room at 50 to 60

Cold Weather and the Egg Room Time, temperature and humidity are the three points of importance in maintaining egg quality. Holding eggs for a short time at a low temperature helps to maintain quality, and furnishing humidity has the effect of retarding air cell enlargement and tends to prevent egg shell mottling.

Although humidity is usually high from May to October, and therefore not too much of a problem, the main difficulty comes in maintaining low egg temperatures. During the winter, the problem in the egg room is somewhat different.

The Massachusetts State College points out that in many cases the egg room is too cold without additional heat; under these conditions the temperature is apt to be uneven, and the humidity very low. In fact, it may go as low as 30 degrees, which results in rapid drying within the room with resulting low egg quality in a few days.

To maintain the best conditions during the winter in the egg room, this College recommends taking advantage of the low temperature, but to make some provision to maintain the temperatures in the holding room at 50 to 60 degrees F. In addition, extra humidity should be provided by sprinkling the walls or floor. Then, too, the eggs should be allowed to cool 6 to 12 hours in the baskets before being packed, and empty cases should be stored in a cold room, since warm, dry cases lower egg quality. Lastly, ship often.

Watch Sanitation Labor income drops to the bottom, when there is excessive mortality in the laying flock. It would be easy enough to enumerate 50 diseases that attack poultry and cause varying losses. These listed might be an impressive warning—to prevent if possible.

Birds, grown and confined in the same area year after year, forced for heavy production, and exposed through occasional contact with outside flocks or other sources of exposure, must be protected with strict sanitation.

Disease germs thrive in filth, particularly in warm, moist, dark conditions. Thorough cleaning and disinfecting the laying house, maintaining clean feed and water supplies, using sunlight to the fullest, enclosing droppings boards and pits, liming and stirring the deep litter (particularly about the water container), and elimination of rats and wild birds from the pens are simple but effective sanitation precautions.

Equipment which can be taken apart for easy cleaning, and a disinfecting pan at the entrance to laying pens are further aids to sanitation. Watch for and repair unsanitary conditions developing in the laying house.

Use Lights for Egg Production The increased fall and winter egg production resulting from the proper use of lights will more than pay for lighting installations in a short time. The best distribution of light is obtained from the lighting units if the lights and reflectors are located 6 feet from the floor and 10 feet apart along a line midway between the front of the house and the front of the droppings boards or pits. A lighting unit which best fulfills all the requirements is a standard 40-watt Mazda lamp. A cone-shaped reflector 16 inches in diameter at the base by 4 inches high with a reflecting surface of aluminum bronze gives good results.

Fight Lice And Mites A bird that becomes infested with lice and mites cannot do justice to the quality of high production that she may have been born with. Comfortable birds are required for good egg production. Look for mites on droppings boards, roosts and nests and for lice on the layers. Commercial products for killing lice and mites are inexpensive. Always follow the manufacturer's directions for best results. Remember, a different material is needed to control mites from that used to control lice.

Avoid Overcrowding When taking pullets into the laying houses from the range, overcrowding can lead to many serious troubles. Cannibalism can develop, the more timid birds can be further retarded by not getting a chance at the crowded feed hoppers, and the danger of disease becomes greatly increased in crowded quarters. It's a good practice to allow 3½ square feet of floor space for the lighter breeds and 4 square feet for the heavier breeds.

Prevent Prolapsus Prolapsus of the oviduct or blow-out, as it is commonly called, can lead to the development of cannibalism. Treatments for prolapsus are not too satisfactory; however, a few simple steps for prevention can be effective. Be sure pullets are in top condition and as nearly full grown as possible before forcing them to top egg production. Keep them free from worms at all times. Avoid overcrowding and keep them from becoming constipated. If the condition continues in spite of proper preventive measures, inherited factors may be entering into the picture, and the introduction of new bloodlines into the flock may help eradicate this trouble.

Rough Handling Lowers Quality Rough handling of eggs is extremely detrimental to fine quality. Even though the Under a long-term contract drawn up by NBC, Fanny Brice has become a property of that network. She resumes her role as "Baby Snooks" this month.

Russ Morgan is back on the air for Mutual Friday evenings. His own emcee, Morgan introduces guest stars and top-flight entertainers for the show, which originates in San Francisco.

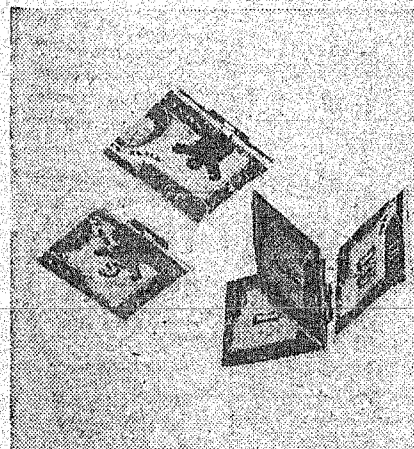

"You Are There," the CBS radio documentary series, has returned to the air as a once-a-month feature. For the first drama, "The Trial of Aaron Burr" was re-created.

In addition to his commendable writing for NBC's drama-documentaries on U. N. activities, Millard Lampell is currently enjoying critic acclaim for his first novel, "The Hero."

Musical Director Louis Silver for "Lux Radio Theater," heard Monday evenings over CBS, has composed 15,000 musical cues for the popular dramatic show.

Described as the "greatest of them all," Dialectician Peter Donald now is satirizing a French impresario. He's currently appearing on ABC's thrice-weekly "Talk Your Way Out of It." He is also heard on Mutual's "Can You Top This," besides playing sundry other roles in various radio dramas.

Chocolate nut drop cookies are "tops" with the two youngsters above who are about to take off on a hike with a home-made lunch tied on the end of a pole.

The boys love flavor and the cookies provide plenty of nourishment for building rugged bodies.

They're easy to make, too. Just take a package of white cake mix, one-third of a cup of milk, one-third of a cup of shortening, two squares of unsweetened chocolate (melted), and one cup of chopped nut meats. Turn the cake mix into a bowl.

Add milk, shortening, melted chocolate, and nuts and beat thoroughly. Drop from a teaspoon onto a greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees Fahrenheit) eight to 10 minutes. This recipe makes five dozen cookies.

Here's an extra goody for the holiday table:

HONEYED CRANBERRY RELISH

2 cups fresh cranberries 1 orange
1 cup honey 1 cup honey
Pick over and wash cranberries. Wash and quarter orange. Put orange and cranberries through food chopper. Add honey and mix well. Let stand overnight. Chill before serving.

How to Fix It

It is twice as important to insulate homes of brick or masonry as to insulate the walls of a frame house. Scientific tests have verified this contention.

A small room will appear larger and the ceiling will seem higher if there is no division between ceiling and walls by molding or similar horizontal lines.

In applying water-proof coating to walls, it is well to put it on the outside. Water is thus prevented from entering the wall and water pressure tends to force the coating into tighter contact.

Careful door arrangement surely will make the home safer. Often the rehanging of a door from the opposite side of its frame will eliminate a serious hazard.

Doors should never swing into the normal traffic lane and should not be located near stairways.

Amateurs can fit linoleum more easily around annoying projections or odd-shaped objects if a template is first bent to the shape, using a stiff wire such as a coat hanger. Then trace around the template on the linoleum.

Efflorescence (that white coating on bricks) can be removed with a wire brush. If the coating persists under this treatment, wash the surface with a diluted solution of ammonia (one pint to two gallons of water).

This dessert is easy to prepare with a package of lemon-flavored gelatin. And it's a party dish if ever there was one!

Take a package of lemon-flavored gelatin, one and one-half cups of hot water, a quarter-teaspoon of salt, a half cup of sugar, a quarter cup of lemon juice and a half cup of heavy cream.

Dissolve the gelatin in hot water; add salt, sugar and lemon juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Then fold in cream, whipped only until thick and shiny, but not stiff. Turn into large serving dish or individual molds. Chill until firm. This makes six to eight servings.

start from go with the removal of their various colors and dye them to match—perhaps a rich drapery shade.

Since this new color remover is also helpful in taking out stains, remember it for those unavoidable but unhappy accidents to your table linen. And if re-dyeing is necessary, consider the soft greens and pinks which make such a flattering background for china and silver.

Gay deceiver. Use a slip-cover to disguise the chair with upholstery so soiled it cannot be cleaned.

Household Hints

Year around convenience. If you have an ice-cream scoop you used all summer, don't put it away now that cooler weather is here. Use it for serving mashed potatoes, tuna fish or salmon salad, or cottage cheese.

Extra vitamins. Save the water left from cooking vegetables and use it in gravy or add it to soup.

Fool-proof system. To be certain that no ingredients are omitted in the cake you are about to bake, place all ingredients to the left of the bowl and, after using them, set each to the right of the bowl. It works every-time.

True economy. It pays to buy a good broom of fine straws.

Anxious cook. When cooking meat and root vegetables, don't continually jab with a fork to see whether they are done. Test as little as possible, as thrusting a fork into the food causes them to lose juice and flavor.

Could be! In hard-cooking eggs, stir them several times during the cooking process, since this is thought to be an aid in centering the yolks.

SHORT-SHORT STORY FOR OCTOBER

Lion's Share Greed Glowed in Eyes, But It Turned to Retribution!

By BERT FRIEND
(In New Orleans Times-Picayune Magazine Section.)

SLAGLE stood at the window and looked out across the snow-covered slope. The warmth of April had brought spring to the lower lands, but up here in the high Sierras snow still lay on the ground. More warm days would have to go by before the pass to the outside world would be open. Slagle walked to the table at which his partner sat drinking coffee. Big Mike Toulon, the man who owned a half interest in a gold mine, but who would be dead before he got the chance to spend his share.

Outside, the two lion dogs scratched at the door with their toe nails. Impatient to get on the hunt, Slagle thought, We'll be going soon. This time Toulon will go along, but he won't come back.

At sundown yesterday, the dogs had treed a big lion on the table rock, but it had escaped. That lion had given Slagle the idea of how he could best rid himself of his partner.

He picked up Toulon's Winchester from the corner and fed cartridges into the magazine. Then he loaded his own rifle. Toulon finished his coffee and got to his feet.

"Guess we'd better be on our way," Toulon said.

SHEEPSKIN COAT ONLY WEAK POINT IN PLAN

Slagle nodded and opened the cabin door, shoving the dogs down as they jumped against him. Toulon came out behind him, pulling on his heavy sheepskin coat. Slagle turned to watch him. That coat was the weak point in his plan.

They traveled several miles, then suddenly the dogs rushed ahead in full cry on a fresh track. Slagle grinned. Things were working out even better than he had hoped. He motioned to his partner and started to climb the slope.

A lion track had first led them to the gold strike the previous fall.

The strike had turned out richer than either had dreamed, and now after a winter of working with a sluice box, there was still a fortune left.

The dogs were above them now and going away fast. That could only mean the lion was heading for the rocks, just as he had hoped it would.

NO ONE COULD PROVE IT WASN'T ACCIDENT

No one would ever be able to prove it hadn't been an accident. After the investigation—when the gold claim belonged entirely to him—Slagle could sell out and retire to San Francisco to live in luxury.

He looked over his partner as they stopped to catch their breath. He saw Toulon look at his rifle.

But Toulon would never detect the weakness in the Winchester. Not until he tried to fire.

For Slagle had pried bullets out of live ammunition and had inserted them in empty shells. It was with those that Toulon's weapon was loaded.

The dogs had gone out of hearing, but now were coming back; Slagle could hear them faintly. The two men climbed higher, listening for the sharp change in key that would signal them the lion had treed or turned at bay.

They stopped to rest and Toulon shrugged out of his coat.

The dogs bayed at a steady pitch and seemed to stay in one spot. The lion was on the rocks. Slagle scrambled up the steep slope, sliding and shouting encouragement to his partner. A thin layer of snow had fallen during the night. It would blot out the marks at the table rock and make it impossible for Toulon to read any sign.

'LION'S IN THE ROCKS' HIS PARTNER YELLED

"The lion's in the rocks!" Slagle shouted.

Slagle pointed to the face of the low cliff. "Right there's where he'll come out," he said. "Keep close watch right at that little depression."

Toulon nodded and crept nearer. Slagle knew the dogs would drive the lion out on the flat top of the rock.

He moved away a few paces in the direction of the dogs and halted again. He would be safe here and when the lion jumped he had only to fire if the lion turned on him after Toulon was finished.

Toulon moved back and forth, peering upward. His rifle was held ready to fire at an instant's warning.

The heavy coat lay where it had been dropped. There would be no chance for it to protect its owner from the fierce onslaught.

Slagle saw his partner stiffen suddenly, an expression of terror crossing his face. The rifle flew to his shoulder and the hammer snapped with a dull click.

"Behind you! The lion!" Toulon choked out.

SLAGLE WHIRLS, BUT NO TIME TO FIRE NOW

Slagle whirled, but there was no time to throw up his rifle.

"The lion's jumped off in the wrong place!" he thought wildly in the split second before the big cat struck him and bowled him over in the snow.

Fiery pain racked through his body as the lion slashed at him. He felt the fangs tearing at his neck. "Shoot, Toulon!" he tried to yell, but the words choked on his torn lips.

"Behind you! The lion!" Toulon choked out.

Through the swirling wall of blackness, the last sounds Slagle ever heard was the clicking of Toulon's Winchester as his friend tried desperately to fire the defective cartridges.

Respect While On His Land

WHEN A SPORTSMAN asked Fisher Body officials how many hunting dogs could get comfortably into the expanded luggage compartment of a 1949 model, a quick experiment was made with the results seen above.

It's the hunting season, so a discussion of the relations between the farmer and sportsman seems appropriate.

The farmer, of course, is the chief source of the small game supply, the food and cover which sustains it and the land upon which the hunting is done.

Certainly no city dweller would approve of a farmer hunting on his ground without asking permission, endangering the lives of his family, trampling his shrubs or leaving behind a trail of debris and destruction.

The man from the city should act as a guest would—obeying the laws of common courtesy.

It is regrettable that too many hunters have failed in this practice.

Waterproof Your Matches, Hunters!

No hunter or camper should be without a supply of waterproof matches. They can readily be made by dipping small bundles of them into thin varnish or shellac. This not only protects them from moisture, but adds to their burning qualities.

Feed Your Dogs After the Hunt

Feed your dog after the hunt and not before. A dog which has eaten heavily prior to being taken into the field makes a poor hunter. He should be fed meat for energy and stamina.

Rabbits Should Be Dressed at Once

Most hunters prefer, and rightly so, to dress rabbits immediately after they are shot.

Removing the entrails and letting the blood drain at this time has a two-fold advantage.

The drawing gives the meat better quality. Discarding the entrails removes the chief cause of spoilage.

Hunting Dogs Are Listed in Two Groups

Henry Davis, author of the Modern Dog Encyclopedia, lists hunting dogs in two groups—sporting, which includes 22 species, and hounds, numbering 18.

WHEN Marilyn Trick (above) goes after contributions for the Christian Rural Overseas Program (CROP), she literally becomes a walking want ad. She wears this blouse made from CROP pamphlets and newspaper ads. She is one of 100,000 volunteers who will solicit farm commodities for shipment overseas in the harvest drive to be launched soon in 33 states.

NAMED FOR GOLD

The Altai Mountains, which help to form the northern boundary between China's Sinkiang Province and Outer Mongolia, derive their name from the rich gold deposits they hold. Altai is from a Mongol word for gold—thus the "Golden Mountains."

Take It Easy If You Have Cold,
Doctors Advise

Before the year is out, almost every man, woman and child in the United States will have had at least one cold. The cost (in doctors' fees, drugs and lost wages) will top $1 billion. In a progress report on man's fight against the common cold, the current Journal of the American Medical Association glumly reports: no progress.

Said a Journal consultant, ignoring recent enthusiastic claims for anti-histaminics: nothing has been found to prevent or cure colds. This goes for salves, nose drops, gargles, vaccines and every other nostrum. All that the victim can do is try to get some relief. For a stuffy nose, drops are helpful (though sometimes they boomerang and cause renewed stuffiness). Aspirin soothes headache, fever and muscle pains which go with a cold. Alcohol, the Journal concedes, "in reasonable doses," expands the blood vessels and restores circulation to chilled skin and mucous membrane. But the old standby, rest in bed, is still the treatment doctors like best.—Time Magazine.
