Third Burglary Here In 48-Hours

HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

Item in Sweetwater Reporter: The Sweetwater municipal band will appear in the first two public concerts scheduled for March Sunday afternoon at 3:30 at Cowan Park. A program of seven numbers has been arranged by George H. Winter, director.

"If bad weather prevents holding the concert in the open it will be presented at the city auditorium."

Think that over: what if Big Spring needed a good local band for a local program or celebration of some sort (and it does) how long would it take to get a band ready, what park would it play in, and if bad weather occurred, what auditorium would it use if a large crowd wished to hear the concert?

Just food for thought, that's all.

Which brings to mind the fact that the City Federation is in need of a good band and wants to use a local one. You fellows who play band instruments, meaning the old ones, young ones, new residents and pioneers—why not get together and organize one big city band and get ready to act as the chief attraction of the Fiesta of Progress, to be held in May?

We venture to say there are fifty men and boys, girls and women, in the city who could play in a band. Get fifty together, working diligently and before long we'll have one of the best bands in West Texas.

This column is anxious to do anything it can to promote organization of a band here.

The City Federation today opens a campaign to enroll several hundred more women in its membership. Five hundred women organized permanently for the purpose of aiding any forward move is one of the most useful things that we can conceive for any community.

Any time you get five hundred women working for any given thing you've got a pretty fair guarantee of success. The City Federation of Big Spring can rightfully cite a long record of useful community service as reason why more women should become members: It is an indispensable part of the community fabric; a potent force for organized effort toward things of true value to us all.

Join the City Federation!

The Herald of Sunday in 12 pages furnished you 20 columns of local news—Big Spring and Howard county news. The Abilene paper, in 26 pages carried 27 columns of local news. In ten pages the Sweetwater paper carried 16 columns of local news.

WRECKAGE IN SAN ANGELO TELEGRAPH OFFICE FOLLOWING EXPLOSION WHICH INJURED 7

Gas leaking from sewer or fuel gas pipes was assigned Monday as the cause of an explosion which wrecked the office of the Western Union Telegraph Company in San Angelo Saturday evening. The pictures above show the effect of the explosion, which injured seven persons, two seriously enough to be confined in hospitals. Fire Chief John Parker, in the center of the picture, wearing a white cap, at first advanced the theory dynamite might have caused the blast.

SAN ANGELO, Tex., March 3 (AP)—Leakage of gas from a sewer or gas main was blamed today for the explosion in a building occupied by the Western Union Telegraph Company here Saturday in which several persons were injured.

Fire Chief John Parker was of the opinion that gas accumulated under the floor of the building from a slow seepage and was ignited by a spark caused by a roller chair being pushed over a nail in the floor. The concussion of the explosion was believed to have blown out the floor.

TWO DEAD, 12 HURT IN FIRE

NEW ORLEANS, March 2 (AP)—Two dead, twelve persons injured, including five burned seriously, and an estimated $3,000,000 property damage was the toll today of a disastrous fire that swept the Charbonnet Docks below New Orleans and the Steamship Scantile of the United States Shipping Board.

Roland Kreher, 3-year-old son of Mrs. Charles Kreher of New Orleans, died from burns received while with friends of the ship's personnel at a dinner as the fire broke out on the adjacent dock last night and spread furiously to the ship. His mother was among those seriously hurt.

Joseph Ryan, 26, seaman on the steamship, was the other death victim. His charred body was found on the deck of the Scantile after the ship was torn from her moorings by tugs and towed into midstream, a blazing inferno.

The fire started in an undetermined manner among 15,000 bales of cotton on the dock leased to Anderson, Clayton warehouse and Compress company and spread to the ship, cutting off the gangway and igniting the upper dock of the Scantile, laden with bales of cotton for export to Italy.

While the flames crackled thru the great wooden wharf and leaped in the ship, pandemonium reigned. Several men aboard jumped into the river and swam to safety. One woman, Mrs. Harold Mann, wife of the second mate on the Scantile, leaped into the water and was rescued by a tug. Others were rescued over the side of the blazing craft by boats.

As the steamship was towed into mid-stream, water was poured into the port holes and upon the blazing cotton while the rescue work was going on. The ship suffered loss of $75,000. By heroic efforts, land and sea fighting apparatus halted the spectacular blaze within a hundred feet of at least 50,000 bales of cotton on grounds of the Compress company. The river was strewn for miles with a floating mass of burning bales of cotton lending a trail of the destruction to a wide area.

George Florine, boatman, was credited with saving four lives. He picked four persons up beside the burning steamer as they went overboard.

Harold Mann, second mate, said there were about fifteen persons aboard the ship at the time. All were believed accounted for.

Civic Workers Are Summoned

All chairman of committees named to work with the civic committee of the Chamber of Commerce, headed by H. F. Robbins, have been called to meet in the Federation Clubhouse at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday.

The high point of Mr. Robbins' statement, follow:
"It develops spirit. All classes of people learn to work and play together. Chronic knickers are led into the ranks of the loyal and useful boosters."

"Fire losses are reduced by removal of accumulated waste and rubbish. Fire traps are razed and often replaced by modern buildings."

"Vacant lots are improved, cleaned up and often converted into playgrounds or thrift gardens, thereby making a beauty spot out of an unsightly place."

"All public buildings should be renovated inside and painted on the outside where needed and surrounding grounds beautified."

"All homes and outbuildings should be painted where needed and both the front and back yards cleaned. Planting flowers, trees and shrubbery in barren yards will help the beauty and sale value of residential property."

"If we will all pull together in this clean up and paint up campaign, it will not only make our city more beautiful and healthy, but will help business conditions in general."

"If you want to sell your home or vacant lot, paint the house and clean the premises. Plant some trees and shrubbery and see how quick some one becomes interested. Clean up your vacant lot. Break down the weeds and level up the ground and level up the neighborhood will be interested."

"Let's all make a resolution to have our premises in clean and sanitary condition not later than April 1. The time interval between now and the deadline is sufficient to work wonders."

"The junk yard just east of the city on the Bankhead highway will be moved and the location cleaned within the next week or ten days. Three or four men are working on the job now. V. E. Smitham, city manager, is due credit for co-operating in this particular job."

"There is no getting something for nothing and if you expect to dance you must pay the fiddler, therefore improvements will cost us money."

Go down to the polls and vote for every bond issue.

City Federation, Seeking Larger Membership, Points Out Benefits To Be Derived From Enrollment

Members of the City Federation, inaugurating a membership campaign Monday morning for the purpose of obtaining the added strength and usefulness to be derived by enrolling several hundred more Big Spring women, called a meeting, through Mrs. Steve D. Ford, chairman of the campaign, to a few reasons why every woman should wish to be a member.

It was pointed out that, through the Fiesta of Progress, a four-day program planned for the month of May, the Federation seeks to clear the clubhouse, located at the southwest corner of the county court house block, from debt and to equip it for greater usefulness as a community center. A reading room that will be open to the public is one of the additional facilities planned.

Veteran members of the organization, which now seeks the membership of several hundred women who are comparatively new residents, also pointed out these reasons why Federation membership should be coveted.

1. The City Federation is in a manner to women of the community what the Chamber of Commerce is to the men; it is a democratic organization seeking the welfare of the entire community and its members work together for things calculated to help themselves and their families.

2. The City Federation has established and maintains the only city library Big Spring has ever had.

3. For years the Federation has maintained a rest room for benefit of local women but more especially for women of the rural communities of the Big Spring territory.

4. The Federation instigated and raised the initial sum that resulted in adding domestic economy to the regular curriculum of Big Spring high school.

5. By belonging to the City Federation women are able to keep close touch with things being attempted for benefit of the city. This contact is for benefit both to individual members and the community at large.

PIPE BILL IS SUBMITTED

AUSTIN, March 3 (AP)—The bill sponsored by members of the Independent Petroleum Association to safeguard interests of the so-called "little fellow" in the petroleum field was introduced in the legislature today after Governor Moody had submitted the general subject.

Governor Moody amended his message of last Thursday, sent after the two houses adjourned for the week-end, to include the regulation of pipe lines, a number of local bills, and a few of general application.

Miss Katherine Hadquist of Austin, state public health nurse, arrived Friday evening to confer with public health officials here and addressed members of the Howard County Health committee Saturday afternoon following the rural day health conference in the Federation clubhouse.

Miss Hadquist's talk dealt with the importance of vigilance concerning public health and the need of immunization against rapidly spreading diseases.

She also officiated at the health conference at 3 o'clock when rural children were given small pox vaccine and children given the second dose of diphtheria toxoid.

Miss Hadquist announced the meeting of the National Health association in Fort Worth in October and requested that all interested in health work attend the conference. The state health nurse left Sunday morning for Fort Stockton.

SEGAL DOOR PRIED OPEN BY ROBBERS

Merchandise Valued At $135 Stolen Early Monday Morning

Merchandise valued at approximately $125 was stolen from S. Segal and Company's department store at 104 East Third street early Monday morning marking the third business house burglary in Big Spring within 48 hours.

Entrance to the S. Segal building was made by prying the lock from the front door similar to the method burglars used in entering the Snowwhite Creameries' building early Saturday morning.

The burglary of S. Segal's store was discovered at 4:30 o'clock Monday morning by city police patrolmen. By checking time intervals city police patrolled Third street, Chief E. A. Long believes the robbery occurred around 4 o'clock Monday morning.

Articles of merchandise missed by A. B. Gardner, manager of S. Segal and Company's store here, include a handbag, two suits of clothes, shirts, furs and possibly several pairs of women's silk hose. The safe was unlooted so far as investigating officers and store employees could ascertain.

Sheriff Jess Slaughter, deputies A. J. Merrick and D. D. Dunn, who are investigating two robberies that occurred in Big Spring early Saturday morning, reported no new developments in the cases Monday morning. The Snowwhite Creameries lost approximately $200 in cash when burglars knocked the knob from a safe in the front office of the company's building at 40-06 East Third street. The E. O. Wooten Grocery Company was also burglarized early Saturday morning, but the loss consisted of only 10 cases of cigarettes.

With 1,000 feet of crude oil standing in the hole from the upper pay topped at 2,185 feet and drilled to a present total depth of 2,792 feet, Amerada Petroleum Company prepared to drill its No. 2 Coffee, latest well in the Coffee-Phillips pool of northern Glascock county, to indicate commercial production, deeper to the second pay.

No. 2 Coffee is located 1,600 feet from the north line and 2,310 feet from the west line of section 22, block 33, township 3 south, T&P Ry. Co. survey, and is a direct west offset to Simms' No. 4 Coffee.

By discovering commercial production in No. 2 Coffee, Amerada has given the field an extension of one location to the south and west. No. 2 is a direct south offset to No. 1 Coffee, which is a comparatively light producer.

SPORTS ON PARADE

By STANLEY NORMAN

HEAVY WORK

After sweeping to a one-sided victory at Stanton last Saturday, the Steer track squad settled down Monday to intensive work for the next five days preparing for the mammoth relay carnival to be held at Snyder next Saturday. Times checked in by some of the sprinters, and distances registered by some of the weight men, indicate Big Spring will be heard from in several events next Saturday.

REWARD PROMISED

Members of the Steer track squad have been promised a trip to Fort Worth this month as reward for a creditable showing at Snyder next Saturday. Coach Stevens has promised any track or field entrant from Big Spring a trip to the State Stock Show relay held at Fort Worth in return for a first place at Snyder. Three or four candidates have a chance to cop these respective events at Snyder. Buren Edwards has a chance to show the way in both hurdle races. He has a chance to cop the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Bill Flowers may do well in the 440 yard dash and the relay team may set a fast mark if bracketed in a speedy heat.

THANKS, JIMMY

In connection with a story concerning the meet at Snyder received this morning from our good friend Jimmy Smith, editor of the Scurry County Times-Signal, we find a note attached saying there will be no McLean stuff pulled at Snyder next Saturday. Just what Jimmy refers to we have some doubt, but we imagine it is the basketball eligibility question that arose in Big Spring several weeks ago. We had nearly forgotten the incident, but wish to publicly express our thanks to Jimmy for refreshing our memory. Jimmy, our athlete all at home grown and home owned. There would be no semblance of evidence against our simple pure athletes. They are all young fellows just trying to get along in the world and their dearest mothers are practically all living and working in Big Spring, Texas.

TOTAL LOSS

Sunday was a total flop for this humble scrivener. We were concerned. Immediately after washing the noon-day dishes, we answered Dr. C. W. Deane's kind invitation to visit the Big Spring Gun Club. When we reached the grounds west of Edwards Heights addition, the atmosphere grew very bad and had a bluish tinge. My wife and I, with a few other fellows, were in the line for an hour, fearing a fire had broken out or that some other grave catastrophe was near. When we arrived, we found a veritable horde of the gun club members in the section of the gun club property. Vandalism had been the important part of the trap operation and had attempted to break into the trap house.

ALL WORKED UP

Of course the boys were all worked up over the destruction, but there was nothing to do except repair the damage as well as possible. Will Knox Edwards, an inventor in his own name and J. A. Adams, the big shell and target man, set out for town in search of temporary repairs. We were unable to spend more time in the repair work as it didn't have a chance to open. The gun club is in full operation.

NEWER AGAIN

Our next venture during the afternoon was slightly more successful in that we finally found a partner for a round of golf. After half freezing to death tramping the wind swept course, we started home with slight rainings in our heart that all was not well. Determined to make the most of a bad situation, we entered the family domicile whistling a merry tune just to keep up our spirit. The ruse didn't work with the man and again for the second time during one short afternoon, the wind-swept course in the southern section of the city grew fazy. Mrs. S. O. On Parade was all dressed in a new place to go and no transportation. We are just wondering if other Big Spring men sometimes come home about one hour up the golf course and experience the same things that happened to us. If there are others, you know just how enjoyable yesterday's experience was to your humble scrivener.

Texas League Clubs Start Trek To Training Grounds

DALLAS, Texas, March 3 (AP)—

The smack of bat on horsehide has started in the 1930 spring training camps of the Texas League. Shreveport, only entry from out of the state, got the jump on the other seven teams in the way of actual playing. A corps of 22 batters, including four receivers, chose up, scattered themselves into unaccustomed positions and generated pre-season interest in a real game. The group has been boiling out creaky joints and lame wings since Feb. 24. The main contingent was to hit Sportville today and tomorrow.

Houston Celebrates

Houston celebrated the return of Carey Selph, brilliant infielder of the league topping Buffs of 1929, after a bad year in the big show. Joe Schultz, new manager, expected about 25 aspirants out today, for the first workouts. John Blackburn of San Antonio, former Georgetown University player, was among them, as was Selph.

Selph's return might be heralded in Wichita Falls with a grin and a whistle, for the northwest Texas entry today was in command of one Howard Fitzgerald, outfielder.

Fitz is the only one of the 125 Spudders regulars back this year, and coupled with Selph's return recalled an impromptu engagement in 1928. Selph and Fitz mixed during a game early in the season at Houston with the result the Spudders were shy the services of a star outfielder for many weeks because of injuries received.

Wiltse Returns

Hal Wiltse, hurler, is the only veteran now in the Spud camp besides Fitzgerald, who is in charge until Manager Carl Williams arrives Friday for the formal opening. Half a dozen rookies complete the party.

Frank Snyder, ruler of the roost at Cowtown this season, today was engaged in installing the main contingent of the Fort Worth Panthroes in Mineral Wells. The A-tless Cats comprise one of the few units which will train away from home this season.

Jakie Atz, the colorful, has moved from Catville to the Dallas Steerpit on the banks of the Trinity, replacing the successful, but colorless, Milton Stock, who has moved southward.

Liked the Cats, the Steers are suffering from holdouts. Pancho Snyder at Fort Worth isn't worrying, saying they soon will be in the fold. Atz likewise has purged himself of worry by the simple process of saying in effect: "That's the lookout of the business office. All but six of the 41 Steers have signed. Battersman alone will be working out this week at the Steer park."

Exporter Gossip

The Beaumont Exporters this year are under the leadership of Del Baker and today were headed for Orange, near Beaumont, for conditioning. Ten athletes were on hand with the prospects of the balance of the 28 ordered to report this week showing up quickly. Del Pratt's Waco Cubs trail the league in getting down to work the opening gun of the training camp being set to go off late this week.

The San Antonio Indians have a start in their new manager, George Burns, who is working out at the Santone lot with the New York Giants. Burns is an old time Giant, schooled in the McGraw way of baseball. Dick Moody, hurler obtained last season from the Pacific Coast league also is working out. Frank Myers, catcher, has wintered in San Antonio.

Ward Beats Delmar In Marathon Gallop

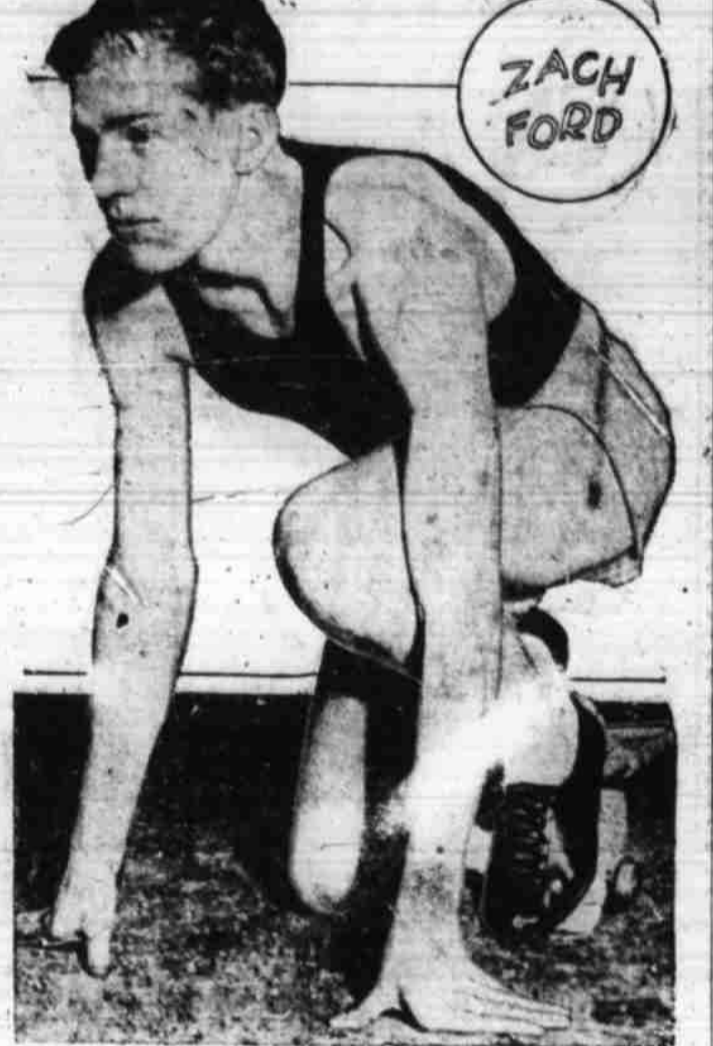

HOUSTON, Tex., March 3 (AP)—Fred Ward, Jr. of Dover, N. J., today was titleholder of the first annual A. A. U. 20-mile marathon, which he ran here yesterday for the Milrose A. C. of New York, setting a time of two hours, 12 seconds.

His best Clarence Demar, from the Melrose A. A. of Boston, by seven yards. Until the last eighth of a mile, there never was more than ten yards between Ward and Demar. The mile for mile timing ranged from ten to nine miles per hour all the way.

For Ward it was another triumph for one of the most promising of America's candidates in the Olympic marathon in 1922; for Demar it was a defeat that took little from his promise as a contender in the same event.

Three others finished the race in considerably longer time periods and the six others who started dropped out.

Zach Ford Beats Simpson In Debut

Zach Ford, Northwestern University sophomore, in his first college sprint defeated George Simpson, holder of the world's record for the 100 yard dash.

Major League Club Training Talk

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 3 (AP)—The first week of training for the New York Yankees has developed one important fact—the club made no mistake when it secured Americus Pelli, right handed pitcher, from the St. Paul club of the American Association.

Pelli has made a great impression on Manager Bob Shawkey and seems certain to make the major league grade. He is 26 years old and has a good fast ball, a good curve and a baffling change of pace.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 3 (AP)—Wilbert Robinson, manager of the Brooklyn Robins, is enjoying a new experience—so much good material for several positions that he hasn't decided what to do with it all.

Especially around second base and shortstop is Robby embarrassed by too many candidates. Glenn Wright, Gordon Stade and Jack Warner are avowed candidates for shortstop, and Jake Flowers, Mickey Finn and Eddie Moore would like to play second base. Wright, of course, has the inside track for shortstop, provided his arm holds up, and Flowers is getting the pace for the second baseman.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 3 (AP)—Eddie Roush, veteran outfielder, has opened negotiations with the New York Giants in an effort to iron out a salary dispute. The chances are Roush will be signed within a few days.

Making up for time lost because of recent rains, the Giants went through a long workout yesterday. The big surprise of the day was the assignment of Mel Ott, outfielder, to second base. Ott played second for a few days in spring training last year, but was in the outfield through the regular season.

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 3 (AP)—Coach Gleason of the Philadelphia Athletics, who has arrived with a squad of regulars after three weeks at Hot Springs, hinted today that Al Simmons did not accompany the others because he is disappointed with his physical condition. A mild attack of rheumatism in his ankles caused the Milwaukee mauler to stay at the springs.

Others said Simmons wasn't strong for the 21 exhibition games to be played in Florida, and that he blazed hard work on the diamonds in the orange belt for swollen ankles that prevented his starting the 1929 season. There were rumors that Simmons was dissatisfied with his 1929 contract.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 3 (AP)—Four youthful, but rugged catchers today began a battle to decide which would be selected first string backstop for the Philadelphia. The death of Peck Lerian just as he had developed into one of the best in the league left manager Shotton without a first class receiver and he has been shopping for one for months.

Major League Training Gossip

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 27 (AP)—The fate that all members of the first squad had reported was of more importance in the camp of the Chicago White Sox today than the information that Art (The Great) Shires had been in San Antonio without giving his mates a jumble.

Art stopped in San Antonio on his way to Harlingen, Tex., to attend a banquet, but even dodged newspapermen. Dutch Henry reported yesterday and participated in the drill.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—There's a high school youngster from Hingham, Mass., with the Braves whose control and confidence have already greatly impressed Manager Bill McKechnie. Bob Brown pitched for his hometown high school last spring and then moved to Westville, N. S., for the summer. He won 15 out of 29 games, several of them one hit affairs.

McKechnie thinks the boy has more chance of sticking with the Braves than many a rookie up from the minor leagues with a fine record.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—Dick Ferrell, rookie catcher last season, was told he is No. 1 backstop with the St. Louis Browns this year by Manager "Billy the Red" Killifer, as he stepped to the plate to dust the cobwebs from his batting eye on the second day of the spring training.

I told you last spring you were the best young catcher I'd seen come up in years," Killifer told the lad. "That still goes."

Fifteen players were in uniform. Eight were absent, but that was explained by the fact transportation had not reached some of the group.

Sarazen's Garrison Finish Wins Again

BELLEAIR, Fla., Mar. 3 (AP)—Another fast finish has won Gene Sarazen a Florida golf crown and a prize of $1,000. Sarazen scored a 69, one below par, yesterday to come from behind and capture the 15th 72 hole West Coast golf tournament here. He had rounds of 68-73-72 and 69 for 282.

Joe Turnesa, Elmsford, N. Y., who led the field by taking three strokes at the end of 54 holes, finished behind Sarazen by the same margin taking a 75 for the second money of $750.

Johnny Farrell, St. Augustine, Fla., wound up in third notch with $500 for his 287.

This Man Says Improvement Has Been Wonderful

"MY MONEY COULDN'T BUY THE GOOD ORGATONE, DID ME," SAYS LUBBOCK FARMER.

"I have not only gained in health and strength since taking Orgatone but my recovery has been remarkable," said J. W. Crouch, of Rural Route 3, Lubbock, Texas. "For eight long years I have suffered with my stomach and digestive troubles. My stomach was always full of gas and I was badly bloated and it was hard for me to breathe at times on account of the gas pressure and I thought I had heart trouble. I was also bothered with kidney trouble and severe pains in my back and shoulder. And at times I would have hard lumps in my stomach until I would nearly die."

"Sometimes I would have severe spells of indigestion and would be in misery for hours and would cramp until I could hardly stand it. I got to where I could only eat the light foods and even then it hurt at times. I tried all kinds of medicine but nothing seemed to do me any good. Orgatone was recommended to me and I decided to give it a trial. My improvement has been wonderful. I feel fine every day and eat anything I want without the least trouble afterwards. The gas and bloating spells have left me and the hard lumps have quit forming in my stomach and I haven't had the cramps since taking Orgatone. I sleep fine every night and get up every morning feeling fine. Money couldn't buy the good Orgatone, did me and I know any one who was suffering as I was will be benefited by it."

Genuine Orgatone may be bought in Big Spring at the Cunningham & Phillips Drug Store—adv.

THE BIG SHOT

by FRANK L. PACKARD

SYNOPSIS: Her lover hunting for a murderer; her father determined to kill the man who would curb his criminal activities; perhaps forever that is the situation that strikes terror to the heart of the Big Shot's daughter. So far she has been successful in thwarting him; she had kept the clue to the Big Shot's identity from Phil Marlow and rescued him from the hands of the Big Shot's gang, and their revenge. Now recovered from the slight wound she owed to her impetuous and daring action in saving the Big Shot from the clutches, she plans to continue her restless adventure and save the man from each other.

Chapter 23
THE BIG SHOT CALLS
Enid opened the door of Martha Pebbins' house, hurried along the hall, and entering her little living room turned on the lights.
Roy had brought her home. He had gone around the corner for some cigarettes before coming in. He was thankful for the few minutes this gave her alone. She ran now into the connecting bedroom, opened her trunk, took out the photograph of Roy, and returning with it, set it on the mantel.
And then she dumped into her chair. It had been a strange day, an anxious day. She was glad to be back in her own home, but peopled upon Roy's insistence that he visit her room. She was not sure what his purpose was.

Roy had asked her then if she had a telephone in her house; and had asked her, too, for Martha Pebbins' address in Maine. She was afraid he was not altogether willing to accept her at face value as he had been at first. But after all, she was on safe ground here. Why should it worry her?

He had told her not to leave her room until he came back in the evening for her—that Runty would attend to her wants. Whether he was intentionally keeping Mrs. Kane and herself apart she did not know, but she thought so. She was grateful for that. But there was something else that had made the day one of almost intolerable anxiety—an anxiety that had grown with the hours, and was still in no degree relieved. Phil was fully forewarned, and thoroughly on his guard, of course; but had they made another attack on him? If so, had it been successful? What had happened?

She knew nothing. There had been no newspaper on her bedside table that morning, and though he had asked for one, Runty had consistently "forgotten" about it all day.

What had taken place? What moves and countermoves had been made? What had Roy done? Had Phil and the police got anywhere? Were they any nearer to the Big Shot's identity than before? Had Kinny of Batty Rose been arrested? And Phil? Was he still safe? One thing afforded her a certain measure of relief. She felt he was still alive. They dare not kill him—it would defeat their own ends.

Those papers in Schnaffner's safe protected Phil in that respect now. Even if they killed him they must know that those papers would sooner or later come to light. They would try first to make him all where the papers were. Yes, but where was Phil?

She did not dare use the telephone. It was too risky. Roy had only gone a few steps away. He would be back at any minute now. Why hadn't she been allowed to him, and he was coming now. "I am in here," she called out quietly.

He came into the room, and tossing his hat on a chair, stood looking critically around him.
"So this is where you hang out, eh?" he observed. "Not so bad!" His eyes fixed on the mantelpiece. "That the photo you were talking about?"
"Yes," she said, and going to the mantelpiece, took it down and handed it to him.
He studied it for a moment; and then, with a nod of his head that might have meant anything, laid it on the desk.
Her heart sank as she watched him. He wasn't paying any more attention to the photograph. His eyes were roving over the paraphernalia on the desk—the typewriter, the pad of blank manuscript paper, the typed sheets of a story.

"Don't you recognize that photograph?" she asked anxiously. "Doesn't it bring back anything at all to you?"
He shook his head. "We'll get to that in a minute," he said easily. He picked up and examined one of the finished sheets of manuscript. "Is this part of the book you told me you were writing?"
"Yes," she said again.
He put the sheet of manuscript back on its pile without comment other than another nod of his head. "Got anything to show," he demanded, "that you were living in Winnipeg—in when did you say you left there?"

"Three months ago," she answered.
"Yes, well—anything to show that three months ago you were living in Winnipeg?"
"Any number of things," she responded quickly. "Letters from friends, papers connected with Father's death, and"—she pulled open the drawer of the desk—"here is my bank book. You'll see that it goes back a long way, and that I still have an account there."
"He took the book, glanced at a few of its pages, handed it back—and suddenly reaching out to her, patting her on the shoulder.
"Nuff said, kid!" he announced straight from the start. But I had to do sure. I'm satisfied. All there is to do now is to knock that brother stuff out of your pretty head."
His hand had closed a little over her shoulder, and he had drawn her nearer to him.
"I don't see how that is possible since you are Roy," she said simply. "Just look at that photograph again."

"Sure! I know," he said. "I guess it looks like me—that's why I'm sure for one thing that you're handing out the 'straight goods.' But no matter how much like me it looks, I'm telling you again it isn't me—and that's on the level, too."
"Nix!" he laughed. "And, say, kid, I'm tickled pink it isn't! He's the last guy on earth I'd want to be! You get that, don't you?"
He was closing his arms around her.
"Roy, what are you doing?" she cried in a startled way as she drew back from him. "What—what do you mean?"
"Aw, quit your kidding!" His voice was earnest now, the laughter gone out of it. "You know what I mean. I wouldn't want to be your brother. It isn't only what you did for me the other night—I fell for you from the start."
"I just had to make sure you weren't playing any game, because the whole thing was kind of queer. But that's the way it came—hard and quick. You're the only girl that ever got me all the way. And, listen, kid, it was the first look I did it, thought I was holding on tight till I knew I wasn't being played up."

Roy had seen it, too. He had muttered savagely under his breath. Her lips trembled a little. If he only knew! She was glad, glad with all her soul that that much misery had been averted; but, too, she faltered before the significance of it all. It was one of so many things that Roy was guilty of. He had gone so far! Even if he was not caught by the police, could she ever hope to save him from himself? What was the end? What was—
She rose suddenly to her feet. She had left the front door ajar for

WAITING FOR THE DRUNKEN DRIVER TO HURT SOMEBODY

Wichita Times: Under a law just passed by the New York legislature, an autoist twice convicted of causing accidents while drunk may be denied a driver's license.

The bill reflects the official state of mind with regard to the drunken driver unless and until he kills or injures someone, or figures in a smashup.

The time to deal with the drunken driver is before he causes a smashup. The mere fact that a man is operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor should be sufficient to cause the imposition of severe fines and jail sentences and to bring about denial of the right to drive.

OUT OUR WAY

W. BOB BROADWAY

NEW YORK, Mar. 3.—Curves are becoming fashionable again and Longacre 111, who for months has been developing "temperament" and "scrawny spots," may once again toy with the moody potato and munch the mutton glance to her heart's content.

If you doubt the reoccurrence of the female curve, harken to Old Doc Ziegfeld, arbiter elegantiarum of the winsome contour: "No woman," says The Glorifier, "is truly beautiful when she is half starved or angular and bony. The typical Ziegfeld girl has always been feminine, well-rounded and full of alluring curves."

All in favor signify by saying Aye. The Ayes have it. SACROSANCT HOUSE FIGURES: Residents of the Bradstreet Belt on the East Side become fussy after a while about their house numbers.

WASHINGTON—The "super-patriotic societies with headquarters in Washington, which haven't been very happy since President Hoover demanded an investigation of William B. OPINIONS OF OTHERS

MR. TERRELL RESIGNS

Dallas News: The resignation of Comptroller Terrell from his office pending impeachment preparations is not a circumstance which anybody can look upon with entire satisfaction.

On the other hand, the whole state ought to be ashamed that the position occupied by Mr. Terrell pays but $2,500 salary. That is a sum less than required to employ a man competent to hold the place and perform its duties efficiently and intelligently under present standards of salaries in commercial institutions.

It is obvious that the new Auditor has already saved the amount of his compensation in instituting bookkeeping reforms and restoring "lost" account to a status where they can be checked up.

Week's Building Totals $7,132.25

Building permits issued during the final week of February totaled $7,132.25, according to records of the city secretary. The year's total figure was boosted to $51,537.25.

The largest single project announced during the past seven days was a brick veneer residence in Washington place which will be constructed by J. O. Mock. The residence will cost approximately $5,000, building records show.

Other permits issued during the week were:

J. M. Morgan, wash house in rear of residence at Fifteenth and Security streets, $65.

John McCullar, frame building in Bailey Heights, $1,500.

J. O. Mock, brick veneer residence in Washington Place, $5,000.

H. G. Mardis, repair to building at 209 West First street, $15.

H. G. Mardis, repair to building at 205 West First street, $20.

H. G. Mardis, repair to building at 203 West First street, $65.

S. T. Enson, repairs to building at 310 Goliad, $250.

Jesus Traverio, frame building on lot 12, block 99, original addition, $150.

Geo. M. Hill, garage at 210 North Nolan street, $67.25.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Lees, whose home just south of town burned several weeks ago, were planning to move into their new home, erected on the same site, Monday. Last week insult was added to injury when the barn, containing about seven and other farm equipment, was destroyed by fire at the Lees farm. The new residence is one of the most modern farm homes in this section.

"JUST SUPPOSE"
This bait about no charge for a sewer tap may catch some suckers, but not many.

They don't tell you of the cost of building a sewer line from your house to a connecting line, or of the needed toilet and bath room fixtures.

They say only one-third of the homes in Big Spring are now connected with the sewer line.

Just suppose the bond issue is voted and every... ordered to have connections made or pay a penalty. This would no doubt work a hardship on the approximately 1,800 homes thus to be served.

If these people had to dig up the $100 to $250 necessary to build sewer lines on their property provide equipment, pay inspector fees, etc., it would certainly be hard on many of them.

Money may be plentiful with the big tax payers, but it certainly is not with the average citizen.

Installing 1800 sewer lines and needed fixtures would mean the expenditure of from $180,000 to $300,000. How many are able to dig up this $100 to $250 just at this time?

Why make no charge for a sewer tap?

Is one any more difficult to make than the other? Is this just another scheme to win votes?

Have you seen that beautiful new home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Koberg on Runnels street? They would be delighted to have you look through it and so would we. Notice the wood-box, wall papers and that kitchen cabinet, then you will realize why we are always talking "Homes and Decorations," ask them if they are satisfied with the way it is built and with the materials.

Those new wallpaper sample books are here, but the new spring stock has not arrived as yet. We'd be delighted to have you look over the books and also see the papers when they arrive, they ought to be here now any day.

It's "Down Hill" All the Way

REDWING Anti-Knock Gasoline

A snow-white fence and a smooth paved road converge on the horizon far below. A breath of pine-laden air... a pause... a sound... faster, faster, and without a sound you sweep into the valley that was so far below.

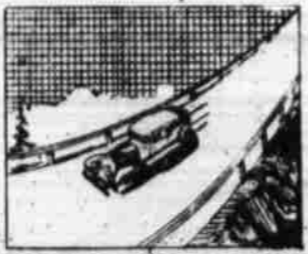

A thrill... sure, and for the Red Wing user, true... for the sensation was identical when he went up.

Simms Red Wing Anti-Knock Gasoline, with its tremendous power, its positive anti-knock performance, sweeps modern motor cars up over hills with apparently the same ease you experienced on your glide from the hill top to the valley.

It's down-hill all the way... with Red Wing.
