Santa Anna Baptist Church Cooperates With 18 Other County Churches In Simultaneous Baptist Revivals

Sunrise Easter Services On Santa Anna Mountain

6:00 a.m. Easter Sunday Morning April 9 is the hour set for the Sunrise Service on top of West Santa Anna Mountain. The Young People of Coleman County are sponsoring this service. They urge the attendance of all ages and groups.

Those in charge of making arrangements for this early morning service have been assured that a road will be open to the top of the mountain from the East end of the West mountain.

Last year over 200 people gathered on the mountain top to witness the sunrise and take part in the service. These people came from all over Coleman County and surrounding counties. Rev. Levi Price, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Coleman, brought the message last year and will again bring the message this year. The National Guard Unit of Santa Anna will set up a mobile kitchen and will serve hot coffee and doughnuts. Much interest has been manifested about this service and it is hoped that it will be made into an annual affair.

Revival services will start at the First Baptist Church in Santa Anna April 16 and will continue through April 23. Frank Gilliam, student in Howard Payne College, will have charge of the services.

Nineteen Baptist Churches in Coleman County are cooperating with the 8,000 Southern Baptist Churches west of the Mississippi in a simultaneous revival. These revivals will be held from April 9 through April 23.

The churches cooperating are: Bethel Buffalo, First Church at Coleman, North Church at Coleman, Cross Roads, Glen Cove, Gouldbusk, Harmon, Holiday, Novice, Santa Anna, Silver Valley, Shiloh, Immanuel Church at Tampa, Valera, Voss, Whon, Echo, and Calvary.

You are urged to attend services at one of these churches.

Home Again—

Mrs. A. L. Oder

After a five and one-half month stay in San Antonio, I arrived home Tuesday afternoon and very glad to be in Santa Anna again.

My feelings, as I approached our little town must have been like the Mariner, long absent from his loved ones. "When he sees the light of Home, Just beyond the billow foam"

A city is a great place to see interesting things, but it is rather inconvenient to get about when one has to depend on bus-

D. B. Hardeman Candidate For Re-election To Sen.

Sen. Dorsey B. Hardeman

Dorsey B. Hardeman of San Antonio has announced for re-election as Senator for the 27th District.

Hardeman was first elected Senator in 1946 following his return from some 3 1/2 years spent in military service.

Senator and Mrs. Hardeman reside in San Antonio with their two young sons, Mark and Bryan.

Hardeman is engaged in the practice of law with Judge Carl Rinde under the firm name of Rinde & Hardeman. The firm maintains offices in The Metropolitan Building, San Antonio.

Senator Hardeman served as Mayor of San Antonio for 2 years and was then elected State Representative without an opponent. He was re-elected in 1949 and again in 1942 to the House of Representatives. Hardeman resigned from the Legislature and enlisted as a private in the Army. After several months of listed service he was sent to Officers Candidate School and received a commission in the Judge Advocate General's Department. He was honorably discharged as a Captain in February, 1946.

In the Senate, Hardeman is considered a leader for constitutional government. He is a member of the powerful Finance & State Affairs Committee and is Chairman of the Constitutional Amendments Committee and Vice-Chairman of Civil Jurisprudence Committee. Hardeman also held membership in several other outstanding Senate committees.

In addition, Senator Hardeman is a member of the powerful Senate General Investigating Committee and also a member of the Legislative Budget Committee.

Mr. Hardeman said that he expected to make an active campaign in an effort to visit with as many citizens of the District as possible.

The 25th Senatorial District embraces 16 counties, namely, Brown, Coke, Coleman, Comanche, Concho, Gillespie, Irion, Kimble, Mason, McCullough, Menard, Mills, Runnels, Schleicher, Sterling and Tom Green.

In his formal announcement, Senator Hardeman said: "Four years have elapsed since I submitted my candidacy for the office"

Hardeman—
fice of State Senator, to which I was elected. For the help and support given me in that campaign and subsequently, I am grateful.
"Two regular sessions and one special session of the Legislature have come and gone. They are now history and the records thus made must stand.
"It has been my purpose to represent this district and the State within the terms of the Constitution and the principles of sound governmental practices. In so doing, I have not hesitated to oppose those measures and proposals which I believe were violative of either of these. Such course will be mine in the future.

"It is upon this basis that I offer for re-election as a candidate for the second term as Senator from the 25th Senatorial District.

"I have sponsored or supported such constructive legislation as establishing an adjunct of A & M College at Junction; the Legislative Budget Board; the soil conservation bill; the rural telephone bill; farm-to-market road program and numerous other measures designed to serve the general welfare.
"I have been conservative in expenditures of public funds and have opposed discriminatory and unconstitutional appropriations.
"Limited space suggests that I not discuss in detail my legislative record at this time. I expect to conduct an active campaign for re-election and will visit each of the 16 counties of the District in an effort to see as many of the citizens as is possible and to discuss the various issues with them.
"I earnestly solicit your active support and your vote in the forthcoming election on July 22, 1950."

Look how you save with Dynaflo

FIRST thing you notice, of course, is the bother and effort Dynaflo Drive* saves.

Next, that Dynaflo saves you physically—after long trips you're less tense and tired, more relaxed.

But then, as the miles pile up—and this comes from cold, recorded fact after Dynaflo's two years of public operation—you spot savings you hadn't expected . . .

You save on tires—because power application is steady, even. On clutch expense—the usual friction clutch is gone.

You save on transmission maintenance, and the rear-axle expenses likely to go with it. And the way your engine is oil-cushioned against normal shocks and strains shows up in less engine upkeep.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

You may well discover another pleasant surprise, too.

We are getting a steadily mounting number of well-satisfied letters about gasoline mileage with Dynaflo cars.

The SPECIAL has shown some records little short of phenomenal. The SUPER is delivering mileage that compares most favorably with gear-shift cars. And the ROADMASTER more than holds its own with cars of its size and bulk.

In short, there's a lot more to please your budget in the 1950 Dynaflo than its new lower price. Refinements over the past two years result in savings that are sizable over the life of the car.

Knowing that, don't you want us to demonstrate the big side of Dynaflo—the utter smoothness of America's first oil-does-it-all drive?

Only Buick has Dynaflo and with it goes: HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines (New F-263 engine in SUPER models.)

NEW-PATTERN STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD fender, taper-through fenders, "double bubble" fashions.
WIDE-ANGLE VISIBILITY, close-up road view both forward and back.
TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over-all length for easier parking and garaging, short turning radius.
EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the axles.
SOFT BUICK RIDE, from all-coil springing, Safety-Ride fims, low-pressure tires, ride-steadying torque-tube.
WIDE ARRAY OF MODELS with Body by Fisher.

Matchless Team — DYNAFLOW and F-263
 In the Buick beauty pictured here you can have both Dynaflo and Buick's very latest in power, for every 1950 SUPER has the F-263 engine, that lively high-compression stepper that's the big power thrill of the season. Dynaflo Drive is optional equipment at extra cost.

FOUR-WAY FOREFRONT

This rugged front end (1) sets the style note, (2) saves on repair costs—vertical bars are individually replaceable (3) avoids "locking horns," (4) makes parking and garaging easier.

Truth About Easter

Lesson for April 9, 1950

"UP THIS WAY," writes a friend in a great city, "the hats and the bunny rabbits have run away with Easter. The fact is, the world has stolen Easter and made something silly out of it. The world will not believe the truth about Easter, yet the world wants a holiday.

Dr. Foreman

The Man from Mars, visiting our planet at Easter time, would have a hard time guessing what the festival means. Rabbits? New clothes? A day off? The return of spring? Not at all, nothing of the sort. Bunnies and hats are gay, but the right word for Easter is not Gaiety, it is Glory.

God's Victory

EVEN IN churches you will not always hear the whole truth about Easter. You may hear that it is the festival of Returning Hope, or that it symbolizes new life, or that it stands for the triumph of faith over despair, or that it expresses our belief in immortality. In a way, all these ideas about Easter are true, but if that is all, then we have not yet got down to the truth about Easter.

The fact is—the fact which gives a solid ground for all these other facts—the first Easter was the day when God raised Jesus Christ from the dead. It was the day of God's victory over death, when the gates of death swung backward and the bars of death were broken.

The truth about Easter is that something happened on that day that never happened before and never will happen again. Because never before had the Son of God risen in personal triumph from the grave, and never will that have to be done over again.

If it were not for that fact, Jesus might have been remembered as a long-dead Jewish teacher, a helpful but mistaken and defeated teacher, a name to be found only in encyclopedias. But the truth about Easter is that Jesus is not dead, his hopes were not mistaken, he was not defeated, his Name is above every name. He is the Christ, the living Lord.

His Power in Us

THAT STRANGELY TWISTED man Kierkegaard called Christianity "God's attack on man." You could not get that idea from the New Testament.

Marvelous as it is, Christianity is God offering to man the power to rise out of our dead selves, to do for us what we could never have done for ourselves. What has this to do with Easter? Just this: That when the Apostle Paul wants to explain what the power is which God sets at our disposal, what it is like and what it will do, he tells us it is the same power with which God raised Christ from the dead. (See I Cor. 6:14; Eph. 1:19,20; 2:6; Phil. 3:10.)

You see the truth about Easter is that it is the day when the Christians celebrate the most tremendous act God ever performed on this planet, or rather that day when God brought to a climax the whole mighty action of the coming and the life and death of Christ. And that is the power which is available for the Christian.

A Christian Is Supernatural

IF ALL YOU WANT of God is to have him do something for you, then you are rather like a baby, who keeps crying for some one to bring him more toys . . . but he stays a baby. If your want of God is to have him do something with you, in you and through you, then you are like a child who really wants to grow up.

The Christian is a supernatural being. As C. S. Lewis puts it, we are not God's little toy soldiers, we are intended to be his sons and daughters.

But if the Christ is the "first-born among many brethren" then here in this life those who accept him have access to the same power that wrought in him. And at the end of life we shall not be afraid, know-

Two New Courses At U of T

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb.—Two new courses will expand University of Texas graduate work in sanitary engineering, a field vitally important to Texas communities. A study of "Municipal Sanitation" will be initiated next fall. City organization for sanitary work, refuse collection and disposal, milk and food sanitation, suburban water supplies, swimming pools, and air pollution will be discussed.

In the spring of 1951, a course will be started in mosquito, fly, and rat control, and the diseases those and other public health pests carry.

The courses will be taught by Ernest William Steel, internationally known civil engineer who came to the University this semester after serving as consultant to the Venezuelan government. Steel also will teach a senior-graduate course in "Industrial Hygiene," to be offered for the first time in the fall.

Local Methodist Church News

All were happy the first Sunday to note the record-breaking attendance of this Conference Year. It was indeed a beautiful sight to see the processional of more than thirty children wearing their vestments of white, and waving their leafy branches, as they sang, "Into The City I'd Follow . . . The Race That is Set Before Us" was the subject of the sermon for the morning. Jacob's return to Bethel furnished the basis for the pastor's message Sunday evening. Seeing men hastening to church has been actually true this week. People passing by at an early hour have marvelled at the large number of cars parked around the church. The breakfasts and worship together have been of untold value to our men. In fact they have proven so worth while that plans for their continuance are being considered.

Each evening following the regular song service and preceding the pastor's sermon, a special message in song is brought by some members of the choir and a chalk talk or Big-Lograph presentation given by Mrs. Smith.

An unique communion service has been planned for Maundy Thursday evening.

There are to be no services Saturday.

We anticipate a large attendance for all services on Easter. Visitors are always welcome. If you have not found a "Church-Home" we should be happy indeed to have you place your membership with us.

A splendid Cantata by our choir is to be rendered Sunday evening at 7:30.

CARD OF THANKS

Again I come to try to thank each and every one who in any way helped me during my last illness. I would try to name them, if I did, I would be sure to forget some. But especially do I thank those who took care of me at the Sealy Hospital for 12 days and then 5 days to Abilene.

I feel I am indebted to the school, Mrs. Kirkpatrick, all the children and Mary Catherine Fellers, who came every day to run errands for me. All money received has been used to pay doctors and drug bill. From outward appearance, all rash has healed up, but I must go back again, and as I told the Sunday school here this morning, I think I can now enjoy company, and not get so nervous, as I did for so long.

Gratefully yours,
Mrs. Beula Kingston.

When I decided to come to the hospital last week, I did not think anyone would care, but the little children who do not have time to go to town, so I employed an attractive young woman to care for their needs. But from the way the people, cards, flowers and messages kept coming in, I decided that someone else cares, and I am saying in this note that I shall thank, love and appreciate ever one of you as long as I live.

Blanche Boyd.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Dimbleby and daughters, Lynda and Mrs. Ell Rollins, of Corpus Christi, are spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Balley.

Band To Present Annual Concert Monday Night

The Santa Anna High School Band, under the direction of Mr. T. K. Martin, will present their annual concert at the High School auditorium Monday night, April 10, beginning at 8:00 p.m.

Some of the numbers to be played are: "Chattanooga Shoe Shine Boy," "Them Besses March," "William Tell Overture," "Lights Out March," "Pop Goes the Weasel" novelty, "Olympia Overture" and many others.

Admission will be charged, and the money raised will be used for soundproofing the Band Hall.

Support the band by attending this concert.

Trickham Cem. Assn. To Have Annual Meeting

In February, 1948, the people of the Trickham Community decided to do something about beautifying and keeping the cemetery clean. The Association was re-organized and Directors were elected and given authority to accept voluntary contributions to hire the work done. To date great improvement has been made. The fence has been repaired, some fifty trees have been planted, and all the cemetery has been worked regularly.

Since the Trickham Cemetery is one of the oldest in this part of the State, it is the resting place for many whose relatives live in other sections of the State. It is the desire of the Directors of the Association that all people who should be interested in the aims of the Association be informed as to what it is doing. Each year the Association has an all-day meeting at the Cemetery. At this time a report of the work done and a financial statement is given, basket lunch is spread, and old friends visit. This year the meeting will be on Tuesday, April 11, 1950. Business meeting begins at 11:00 a. m. Basket lunch follows. Everyone is welcome, and those who have relatives buried at Trickham are urged to come.

Baptist Youth Rally At Baptist Church Friday Nite

The Baptist Young People of Coleman County are having a Youth Rally this Friday, April 7, at 7:30 p. m. at the First Baptist Church, Santa Anna. Rev. Eugene McElfresh, a senior student at Howard Payne College, Brownwood, is to be the speaker. LaMoin Champ, Educational Director, Melwood Baptist Church, Brownwood, is to lead the music. Other personalities on the program are Bobbie Baucum, presiding; Harvey Joe Penny, bringing the Call to Worship; and the Girls' Chorus of Santa Anna, bringing a special number.

This meeting is the regular quarterly meeting and a Rally in preparation for the Simultaneous Revivals to be conducted in many Baptist Churches in Coleman County and Churches of the Southern Baptist Convention west of the Mississippi River. Note the ad displayed elsewhere in this paper.

The ones attending this meeting are asked to bring sandwiches for the supper hour at 6:30. The program will start at 7:30 p. m.

Doug Moore Acting As Sports Writer

Pfc. Douglas H. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Moore of Santa Anna, Texas, is stationed at Randolph Field, Texas. Pfc. Moore is working as a sports writer in the Public Information Office at The School of Aviation Medicine.

Pfc. Moore came to Randolph Field from Lackland Air Force Base, where he completed basic training February 3, 1950.

He stated that this is the fourth job he has held since he came into the Air Force. He worked as a basic trainee, a flight chief, a classification specialist, and now as a sports writer.

Pretty good for a person who has been in the Air Force only five months.

Pfc. Moore got to be a sports writer quite by accident. He was supposed to be an automotive mechanic here at the School of Aviation Medicine, but there already was a surplus of automotive mechanics. Pfc. Moore was offered a job of being a radar mechanic or a sports writer and he chose to be a sports writer.

He says that of all his jobs in the Air Force he likes this one the best of all, since he participated in sports of all kinds while in high school.

Applications Still Being Accepted In Vet L. Program

Austin, Texas—Although the entire $25,000,000 principal of the Veterans' Land Program was committed by March 18, Land Commissioner Bascom Giles stated today that additional applications are still being accepted "under certain conditions."

"Where both seller and veteran understand that we cannot guarantee there will be money available to complete the purchase, we are putting the application on file," Giles said.

The $25,000,000 fund is a revolving one and thus additional purchases can be made from time to time as veterans make their semi-annual payments. Giles pointed out. Some veterans are also retiring their indebtedness at a faster rate than their contract demands. One tract in Dickens County has already been paid for in full.

"Also," Giles explained, "every withdrawal enables us to process one of the applications accepted on this conditional basis. We will act upon these new applications, if and when money is available, in the order they are received."

The down payments accompanying a "conditional" application will be deposited in the State Treasury, Giles said, and will be returned if the transaction is not completed.

No application has been accepted since March 18 except this "conditional basis," Giles stated.

Arkansas A. & M. College

Dr. Charlie S. Wilkins, President

This month's cover and feature story unfold the drama of another great school of the Southwest — Arkansas A&M College, at Magnolia, Arkansas. There will be many more in the series. And every month, look for new editorial features for the farm, the businessman, the handyman, the housewife and the youngsters.

Arkansas A&M College In Midst of Expansion

MAGNOLIA, Ark. (Special).—State A&M College here is growing into a new $450,000 dormitory for women—one of the South's finest when it's complete next fall. But the real pride of the college goes farther than that.

The real pride of State A&M College can best be summed up briefly in the words of the progressive young president, Dr. Charlie S. Wilkins.

"Yes, it is still possible for a young student to work his way through college, regardless of what you may hear to the contrary."

A lot has been said about college "ideals," but Dr. Wilkins maintains for his college an ideal which can be measured in dollars and cents saved. It can be measured better perhaps in terms of youths being given an opportunity to go to college on limited funds.

Thirty dollars a semester covers registration fees at State A&M. That's lowest in the United States of all colleges surveyed last December by the National Beta Club.

That's not all the Beta survey reported. Total cost to students is third lowest at State A&M of all surveyed colleges. After the $30 registration fee is paid, students pay only $30 a month for board. Rooms are from $4 to $6 a month for men and $10 a month for girls. That means the basic cost of college falls within $40 a month after registration.

Do students go for these economies? In five years enrollment has increased about 400 per cent, from 165 to 642. New expansion will be possible when the 100-room women's dormitory is completed this fall.

State A&M College has been a junior college since 1925—fully accredited and sending outstanding students to America's leading universities. It is now stepping into the senior college arena, with third-year program starting in September. First degrees will be conferred in the spring of 1952. Four degrees are offered: the bachelor of arts, bachelor of science, bachelor of music and bachelor of music education. Thirty-three major fields of study are offered.

Fully accredited, the junior college division offers two-year courses in 42 vocational fields, studies which may be completed in America's leading universities.

The college is located in the heart of Arkansas' wealthiest section, the Columbia County oil region.

This new $450,000 dormitory for women is scheduled for completion at State A&M College this fall. One of the South's finest, it will provide comfortable living quarters for 200 co-eds. Unusual features are two modern laundry rooms and a fully equipped snack bar on each floor—places where students may fix an extra bite to eat. Miss Jane Greer, dean of women, describes the new dormitory as "the nearest thing yet developed to a home-away-from-home for co-eds." An adult counselor will live on each floor to aid the co-eds with their individual problems.

Campus proper at State A&M College covers the central 40 acres of the college's 400-acre expanse. Another 30 acres are occupied by faculty homes and student residences. More than 300 acres are taken up by experimental farming and dairying projects. The college was established as a vocational high school in 1909, has been a junior college since 1925, and now is a senior college offering four bachelor degrees. State A&M claims to provide the greatest student economies of any college west of the Mississippi.

Dr. Charlie S. Wilkins, president of State A&M, has set as the ideal of his college to keep the cost of higher education as low as possible. Response to this student economy has jumped enrollment by 400 per cent in five years.

Dr. Wilkins is a native of Texas and still hasn't shaken the Texan from his personality.

It's Time for Great Outdoors

Springtime is slipping up, and it's time to get ready for the great outdoors. This month Austell Small, well-known sports authority, gives readers some valuable tips on how to have a better and safer time in the wide open spaces.

Here they are:
Place a small bottle of clear nail polish in your tackle box. It's ideal for quick repairs on chipped plugs, loose rod windings, damaged windings of bass plugs, flies, etc. A drop of this polish on a mosquito bite will stop the itching almost instantly.

Aw, Thunder!
Navajo Indians in the vicinity of Wupatki National Monument in Arizona complain that airplanes on a route crossing their reservations have frightened away the Thunder Bird. It is this bird, according to Indian legend, that brings the rains which makes life possible in their semi-desert home. Hence the alleged interference by the airplane is a serious business to the Indians.

Dumb Fox
I've heard of the financier who lost heavily in wildcatting, for all and didn't know his money from a hole in the ground, but it stopped me when I learned of the fox that doesn't know whether he is a dog or a cat!

The J. D. Crumbleys of Tyler, Texas, have a young pet fox they call Pete. When Pete was a week old he started nursing the mother cat Blackie, fresh with kittens. It worked fine until Pete got bigger than the mother cat. When she objected to his nursing, Pete started cuffing Blackie around.

When he's with the kittens, he acts like a cat. They climb trees. Pete backs off, makes a terrific run and climbs up after them by sheer momentum.

When Pete's with a foursome of half-grown pups that come over to play with him—he acts like a dog.

Pete doesn't have any foxes to play with. He probably wouldn't know what they were if he did...

Keep It Up

Make a small planting of radishes every 10 days from late February to April or early May. Though they have little food value, they are tasty. Use them small, 18 to 30 days after planting seed. A very short row is enough for each planting. Scarlet Globe is one of the best varieties.

Trick Voice Reaps Profit

Too many young hopefuls who have tried year after year to find their place in the national spotlight have pinned their hopes on glamour. That's not true of the star of "The Judy Canova Show," heard over NBC Saturdays at 10 p. m., EST. Judy made up her mind the day of her professional debut on the stage of the Olympia Theater in Miami, Fla., that she'd let the rest of the gals struggle in the glamour sweepstakes; she'd be a comedienne and take the fame, popularity and fun.

Judy had considered a career as a classical artist, but she discovered that the tricks her voice could accomplish were especially adapted to hillbilly ballads. This discovery paid dividends from the very moment of her debut. Her first audience was responsive and pleased with her rendition of popular and standard favorites, but when, as her closing number, she roared into "I Wish I Wuz a Single Gal Again," the applause was thunderous and spontaneous. It was then that Judy decided to let the other gals have glamour, she'd play strictly for laughs.

With her sister, Annie, and her brother, Zeke, Judy set out to conquer New York. After a few successful night club engagements, the trio was spotted on the Rudy Vallee program. Then Judy really hit the big time. She was featured in one Broadway musical comedy after another, receiving rave notices especially for her appearance in "Yokel Boy." Then came the most interesting offer of her career—a trip to England.

Judy wowed the West End socialites and turned Piccadilly into a real circus with her clowning. After a madcap tour of the continent, she returned to the states to start her motion picture career, which has been equally successful.

Judy lives outside Hollywood in a half-ranch type of house. It is one that sort of dodges formality without actually being rural. As for furniture, Judy is a crank on the subject. She likes good wood. If there is to be any carving at all, it has to be done by hand and it had better be of the best quality. All the furnishings in the Canova home are very simple, from guest house to kitchen. Judy loves to cook and has a well-stocked library of cook books. Her pet hobby is her movie camera. She also writes poetry and songs. Her pet aversion is sham. She hates affected accents, peroxide blondes and people who let their success run away with them.

Judy has always found that acting naturally brings its own rewards. She obtained her favorite souvenir by doing just that. It's a cigar from the desk of Franklin D. Roosevelt. To the amusement of all, she accepted it when the late President's cigar box was passed around during one of her White House visits.

Digging Made Easy

The machine age has finally caught up with the grave-digging business. A device that will dig a grave in 30 minutes was displayed in Seattle, Wash. The same job by hand takes four to six hours.

He Hides Five Years

A Japanese who hid five years in a two-story building on Tinian Island, in the Pacific, was found by a U. S. Navy patrol. He said he had neither seen nor spoken to anyone in that time.

Here's Our Easter Recipe Complete

You will look no prettier parading in your Easter bonnet than this Easter Glory Cake will look on your dinner table!

The texture of the cake itself is fine and light; and it is covered all over with a fluffy frosting, tinted a soft, sunny yellow. On top are little nests made of green tinted coconut and filled with gay jelly bean eggs. If you prefer, you can toast the coconut lightly instead of tinting it—to give a more natural nest effect.

There are two ways to toast coconut—both simple and easy. (1) To toast in the oven: Spread coconut out thinly in shallow pan. Place in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) and toast until delicately browned. Stir coconut or shake pan often to toast evenly. (2) To saute: Melt 1 tablespoon butter in a skillet. Add 1 cup shredded coconut and saute until coconut is golden brown.

Easter Glory Cake

- 2 1/4 cups sifted cake flour
- 2 1/2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 2 eggs, upbeaten
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- *Milk (see below for amount)
- *With butter, margarine or lard, use 1 cup milk. With vegetable or any other shortening use 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons milk.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs one at a time, beating very thoroughly after each. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla.

Turn into two deep 9-inch layer pans which have been lined on bottoms with paper, then greased. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes.

Spread Seven-Minute Frosting, tinted a delicate yellow, between layers and on top and sides of cake. Tint shredded coconut, a delicate green. Arrange five small coconut nests around top of cake; fill centers with colored jelly beans.

Navy Blue Is the Color of the Year

Navy blue is the color of the year!

No woman need cry the blues when she wants to wear navy and yet is afraid it might not be becoming to her! Navy can be made to flatter every human color-type extant. All you have to do is to learn how to accessorize it with the other colors that flatter you more.

Here are general rules that will help:

1. Since navy is a neutral shade, any color you select to wear with it will be complimentary to it.
2. The contrast can best be made by selecting either, light, low-keyed shades such as pale, lemon yellow or medium, brilliant shades such as kelly green.

And Another Sign

This sign is in the window of a "jumbled-up" hardware store in Akron, Ohio: "Store of three wonders: (1) You wonder if I have it. (2) I wonder where it is. (3) Everybody wonders how I find it."

Delivers 7,000 Babies

In the last 43 years Dr. Grandison D. Royston of St. Louis has delivered 7,000 babies. Now the 54-year-old obstetrician has decided to retire. "I'd rather be out than slow down," he said.

She Rarely Gets Ill

When Mrs. G. E. Sadler of West Point, Ga., entered a hospital recently, it was the first time she had been seriously ill in 80 years. She is the head of a healthy family, too. There are 147 grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren.

It's That Time 'o Year Again, and Spring Housecleaning is Really Well Underway

Dust mops, brushes, brooms, waxes and polishes lined up in a row spell only one thing—spring cleaning. It happens at least once a year. Spring is the season when your home really gets the works from the attic to the cellar, nothing left unturned.

Brightly colored flowers, gillyflowers, and other signatures of spring. However, for many homemakers the new ensemble will consist of last year's theory, cleverly altered to give it this season's look. Perhaps a new collar is all that is necessary to do this trick.

You'll get a new spring outfit for your home, too. It is a simple matter to place a flower on a pattern that when you take advantage of framed pictures. Properly arranged, these color schemes really come and add up to give your room a wealth of color, design and variety.

Never Wear Out

The good never to be put to rest. Every family's account of how their furniture will last forever. But they expect their furniture to last a long time. It's not that they never wear out, but they never wear out. Your furniture is a part of your life. You want to be certain that your furniture accessories are top quality. Your furnishings should be as good as new. Buy the better what you buy. It will make an excellent choice.

The rooming with the brightness of spring, choose pictures that have a rich, vibrant color. With your favorite nature, color and landscape of the lazy country side with emerald tones will bring the outdoors into your home. Depending upon the choice of shades, this subject will be an out-putting addition to any period room. These scenes will always be in a small hallway, because they will push back the walls, giving a feeling of spaciousness.

Have Two Sets

Incidentally, many people enjoy having two sets of prints which they alternate with the changing seasons. At the first sign of spring, they take out their groupings for the spring of year, and put away the winter set in wardrobe. It's almost like switching from winter to summer clothes.

Another way to add a touch of spring is to place a framed mirror on the wall opposite a picture window. This reflection of the warm outdoors will perk up any room. By the same token, the frame will make it a handsome additional piece of furniture. Your choice of mirrors is no longer restricted to the traditional wood and gold frames. There is an exciting assortment with frames made of leather in all colors, plastic materials simulating tufting, pickling and iridescent shading, as well as baguette mirrored frames.

But the final choice of what goes on your walls rests with you. You can be confident of your selections as long as you remember the importance of scale—the art of making all things in a room in good proportion to each other. No matter how lovely the prints, if they are too small for a certain wall area, they will have no decorating value.

Be On Lookout

When turning the house literally upside down, be on the lookout for material hidden away in the attic, cellar, in books and family albums that will make outstanding picture groupings.

Don't overlook the potentialities of family photographs. An amusing wall decoration that will be a conversation stopper is to hang all those photographs of cousins and aunts on a family tree painted freehand in tones of green. Aided by identical gold frames and brightly tinted mats, these black and white photos will almost appear to be in color. This family study should be arranged over a low piece of furniture such as a desk or table.

You might even discover a stack of prints or engravings that you never got around to framing. They always seemed too small. Now is the time to put them to good use. You can't alter the size of these prints, but you can select mats in a tone to highlight your walls that will give these shy prints an air of importance. Made-to-order frames will make the most unusual scheme a reality.

Bananas Are Ideal For Tasty Menus

Bananas—glamor fruit from the tropics, were at one time a luxury item found only on the tables of those who could afford out-of-season foods. Improved transportation and ripening facilities have led to bananas becoming commonly used. Today the housewife no longer purchases bananas as a special treat for the family to snack on, but considers them almost a staple. Bananas are most popularly used as a fruit to serve with crisp breakfast cereal, but they also are important as an ingredient in muffins, cakes and cookie recipes.

Corn Flakes Banana Cookies
 4 cups corn flakes 2-3 cup shortening
 2 1/2 cups sifted flour 1 cup sugar
 2 teaspoons baking powder 2 eggs
 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
 1/2 teaspoon baking soda 1/2 cup mashed ripe bananas

Crush corn flakes into fine crumbs. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Beat shortening until creamy; add sugar gradually, beating until light and fluffy. Add eggs one at a time, beat well. Stir in vanilla. Stir in sifted dry ingredients alternately with bananas, beating until smooth after each addition. Roll teaspoonfuls of dough in corn flakes crumbs and place on greased baking sheet. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 10 minutes.

Yield: 5 dozen cookies, 2 inches in diameter.

Maple Furniture to Add Modern Touch

A small bedroom with maple furniture takes on new life with a powder blue and red floor. In a living room with blond or natural finish furniture in modern design, a green and ivory floor will be right.

In an Early American room with old pine furnishings, the effect of old wide plank random-length flooring can be created with beige and brown tiles. If the dining room area is a part of the living room, the two can be divided smartly either by using one asphalt tile pattern and color in the living room and a contrasting one in the dining area, or by using the same pattern and color in both, separating the two with a broad stripe.

The European Marshall Plan Council says even after the end of the Marshall Plan the dollar shortage will compel western Europe to limit its imports from North America, it is reported by Paul G. Hoffman, economic co-operation administrator.

Top Texas Disc Jockey Spins 'Em All The Week On Network

Many radio personalities enter our homes every day to entertain us, and we get to know a good many of their voices like those of good friends. Occasionally, we wonder what some of these people look like and what they do when they're off the air waves.

Zack Hurt, emcee of the popular Chesterfield ABC Roundup program, is one of these persons. Zack's friendly voice has been heard in many thousands of homes all over Texas for many years now. He spends most of his time these days working on his half-hour Chesterfield ABC Roundup show, an all request record program, heard six days a week, Monday through Saturday from 9:30 to 10 p. m. over 14 stations in the Texas State Network.

With the slogan "You name 'em and Zack'll play 'em," the requests come pouring in as fast as 8,000 pieces a month from 350 towns and cities all over the state. Zack recently answered over 8,000 requests from his listeners for copies of the poem "Why I Love You," which was set to music by Wayne King. The varied tastes of his listeners include all kinds of music, from hill-billy and spiritual songs to hymns and concert numbers, and as the top disc jockey in the Southwest, it's up to Zack to satisfy as many of these preferences as he can. Says Zack: "In most parts of Texas, listeners prefer the same artists. It's the tune itself, not the artist, that makes the difference." Latest reports indicate that Ella Fitzgerald's "My Happiness" holds the record thus far for the tune requested most often on Zack's Chesterfield ABC Roundup.

Zack began selling his favorite cigaret, Chesterfield, in 1946, and has been well satisfied ever since.

ZACK HURT

Prior to that he was known for years as one of the best sportscasters in the state. He was especially popular for his baseball announcing with the Texas League before the war. He started his broadcasting career as an announcer in Fort Worth back in 1926, and in 1930 went to Old Mexico as a program director for a station in Piedras Negras. Zack says after three years he gave the country back to the Mexicans. He returned to his native Texas in 1933 to resume his career as a sports announcer and has been sports editor of the Texas State Network ever since, except for the two and a half years when he served as a sergeant in the Army, during World War II.

Zack, who now tips the scales at two hundred and too many pounds, was born Feb. 28, 1902. He's married, has one child, little 10-month-old Zack Jr., and his favorite pastime, before he married, was hunting and fishing. Now, it's baby sitting. Zack claims selling Chesterfield cigarets is as simple as ABC, especially when you love to smoke 'em like he does.

That Oklahoma Leopard Story Could Have Had Final Ending of Tragedy, Death

WASHINGTON, D. C., (Special). Oklahoma City's ill-fated zoo leopard, recaptured with no injury to humans, carried on a three-day adventure that might easily have taken a different turn. For leopards, pound by pound, are the most destructive of predatory beasts.

This member of the big-cat family is greatly feared in its native haunts of Africa and the warmer regions of Asia. At home in trees as well as on the ground, it has been known to climb into houses and attack the inhabitants. In one Indian district a leopard killer was said to have slain more than 200 people within two years.

Also Feared Man

As recently as January, 1950, there were reports from the province of Orissa, India, that expert marksmen were being mobilized with the armed police there to meet the menace of leopards, tigers and other big felines which had killed 50 people in two months.

The leopard, however, like other members of the cat tribe, normally fears as well as detests man, and will avoid his company whenever possible. Mountain leopards are rare, found only occasionally with the perverted taste for with a liking for human flesh, which has been reported by accident or killing.

House cats are particularly favored, and hungry leopards will often overcome their distaste of people to prowl accessible settlements in search of such prey. Besides birds, monkeys and other wild mammals, they are fond of the flesh of dogs and domestic cattle, tastes that also bring them into conflict with man. On the other hand, the leopard serves some good purpose in remote areas by keeping down the numbers of animals, such as deer and wild pigs, which otherwise would destroy valuable crops.

Many Kids of Felines

The feline family to which the leopard belongs is a large one, including lions and tigers, the big and powerful jaguar, now the Western Hemisphere's only "leopard."

ard," the cougar (puma, or American mountain lion); the sharp-eyed lynx, the easily-tamed ocelot, and the sullen wildcat.

The common leopard is generally clearly spotted, but even the albino and the black one—the so-called "black panther"—have faint markings, in line with the old saying about leopards being unable to change their spots. A big male may weigh between 100 and 160 pounds.

The docile cheetah, or hunting leopard, is believed the fastest thing on feet, for short distances. The rare, heavily-furred snow leopard ranges up to 13,000 feet in the Himalayas.

The European wildcat, although not outstanding in itself, is significant as one of the ancestors of today's domesticated tabby. According to theory, the highly-developed African wildcat, revered by the ancient Egyptians, was brought to Europe, where it mingled with European wildcats. The resultant crossbreeds eventually yielded to man's home comforts and fireside.

4-H Forestry Champions of Broad U. S. Know Woodlot Powers Well

As an incentive to local farm boys and girls to turn their woodlots and small timber tracts into money-making properties, four college scholarships of $300 each are being offered again this year in the 4-H Club forestry project. All 4-H Club members, working under Extension Service supervision and enrolled during the current year in a 4-H Club forestry project, are eligible to compete for national awards.

As in previous years, top awards will be made on a sectional basis to the boy or girl having the best forestry record in each of the four Extension Service sections of the nation. In addition to the scholarships, national winners will be given all-expense-paid trips to the 29th National 4-H Club Congress to be held in Chicago, Nov. 26-30, inclusive. Medals will be awarded to each state winner.

This is the third consecutive year American Forest Products Industries, a national non-profit association of wood-dependent industries, has sponsored the 4-H Club forestry project. In the past two years' competition, eight of the college scholarships and free trips have been won by farm youths from the states of Arkansas, Georgia, Idaho, Montana, New York and Wisconsin, the latter two states having had national winners both years.

"It is most gratifying to see the upsurge of interest in forestry that is being shown by 4-H Club members everywhere," declared Charles A. Gillett, managing director of American Forest Products Industries, in announcing the association's continuing sponsorship of the scholarship awards for 1950. "These young people are learning the basic fundamentals of sound timber management and how to apply them to the farm woodlots of America. Certainly this assures an even greater progress in private forest management in the next half century and an ever increasing wood supply for this nation and the world."

The local county extension agent will supply detailed information about the 4-H forestry project and the 1950 awards awaiting those boys and girls who excel in forestry.

A Few Facts On The Corn Family

Roughly, it takes 100 stalks to produce a bushel of corn. So 4,000 stalks would be approximately correct for a 40-bushel yield, 7,000 stalks for a 70-bushel yield and 10,000 stalks per acre for a 100-bushel yield.

With rows 3 1/2 feet apart, stalks spaced about 3 feet will give a stand of 4,000 stalks; stalks spaced approximately 21 inches apart will give 7,000 stalks, and stalks spaced 18 inches in the row will give a stand of 10,000 stalks per acre. Some of the acres where top yields are made have stalks only 12 inches apart or even slightly closer.

The stand must be adapted to the soil and the fertility available, naturally or applied. Allowance must be made for failure to germinate and for accidents that can happen to seed and prevent it from producing stalks of corn. The very best yields can be made by planting an excess of corn and thinning it to a full stand while the plants are small. Generally, it will take a bushel of seed to each five or six acres if a thick stand is planned.

If the outside stalks of a head of cobs are bruised use them for soup or for a stew.

JACKSBORO (TEX.) GAZETTE: "The fat men of Jacksboro will meet the thin men in another exciting basketball game, and if you remember, the fats won last year's game. The teams (names) will remain unknown until tomorrow night."

Most of 'em will want to remain unknown indefinitely. But what greater loyalty to the home town than that displayed by the man with the heavy stomach and short breath? The love of Ruth and Naomi is nothing by comparison. A fat man labors enough en naturale. But when he agrees to expose himself to fellow citizens in shorts and jersey by trying to run across the basketball court, his laurels should be many. Hometowners should pay tribute to his risk, although his stomach guarantees him that should he fall, he will not fall flat. A big waist falls in haste.

He gave up as it pulled out, and was puffing and blowing when the ticket agent spat out of the side of his mouth: "Well, you just barely missed it, didn't you?" Uncle Thurston cut him off with, "Naw I didn't. I was jist chasin' it out of the station."

Brother Crutchfield no doubt inspired the group with such sound philosophy. However, it seems that more lives are in the nightmare category these days. Maybe that's not too bad. Nightmares don't last more than a few fleeting seconds, scientists say. And what ancient man once thought was a message from his gods, we know today is a direct by-product of eating too much cabbage, garlic or beefsteak. As Swift said about dreams, "But are all mere productions from the brain; and fools consult interpreters in vain." Sermons like Brother Crutchfield's help people and nightmares, too.

Moving at the rate of one acre per hour, this machine picks the nuts green from the vine, bags the nuts and throws the vines back on the land to be used as a cover crop or as hay. The peanuts are taken to the drying house, which may be an improvised tobacco barn, a lumber kiln refitted for the purpose or a lupine-type drying house. These peanuts are cured in 60 to 72 hours from the time they leave the ground. Their germination is unharmed, and the nuts have been bringing the top prices.

Healthy Hogs Is Answer To Swine Price Squeeze

See that bunch of healthy piggies going after their dinner? Thousands of pigs just like those under influence of chloroform have been smuggled across the Italian border until police stopped the illegal traffic this month. Reason they were chloroformed: To simulate death, because an Italian law prohibits the export of live pigs.

COLLEGE STATION (Special) Lower prices have put the squeeze on swine profits and it is now more important than ever to produce hogs at the lowest possible cost. There is no profit in feeding hogs that are infested with external parasites, says assistant extension entomologist James A. Deer of Texas A&M College.

He points out that the three most common external parasites of swine in Texas are sarcoptic and demodectic mange, and hog lice. All three can be controlled. Sarcoptic mange is caused by a small yellowish mite which is scarcely visible to the naked eye. The mite burrows into the skin, says Deer, and forms tunnels within which the eggs are laid.

The burrows usually are found first near the head, but if control measures are not used will spread over the entire body of the animal. The skin becomes thickened and is thrown into wrinkles or folds. It may become yellowish or pinkish in color and appear raw. The infested animals may lose their hair.

Mites Are Small

According to Deer, the demodectic or follicular mange is caused by a small worm-like mite about half the size of the sarcoptic mite. These mites penetrate the hair follicles and cause small, hard nodules or pimples to form. These nodules may grow to an inch in diameter and they first appear about the head and spread backward over the body.

The hog louse is bluish-gray in color and can be seen without difficulty. They feed mainly on the tender areas of the skin but may be found over the animal's entire body. They are blood suckers, says Deer, and severe infestations cause serious flesh losses, poor feed utilization and general unthriftiness.

Deer says sanitation is a most important factor in controlling hog mange. The mites can live in the litter of the house or pen for at least a month, so a control program must include a thorough clean-up job along with the use of an insecticide. The demodectic mange is not easily controlled, but Deer says it is not commonly found in Texas.

A good insecticide for sarcoptic mange control, he says, is benzene hexachloride wettable powder used at a strength of 12 per cent gamma Eridane, which is the pure gamma isomer of benzene hexachloride may be used at the rate of one-fourth pound of 25 per cent to each 25 gallons of water.

Chlordane Good

Chlordane will also give good results for treating mange. He says only the wettable powder should be used and the spray should contain 25 per cent actual chlordane or 14 pounds 40 per cent concentrate in 25 gallons of water. He says the same spray will control hog lice.

The entire animal must be completely covered with spray. Special attention, he points out, should be given to the underside of the body, flanks, armpits and ears. One square inch of skin may contain 100 or more mites and this is sufficient to re-infest the animal. One thorough treatment along with the clean up should control both mange and lice.

Do Not Crowd

There were too many poult lost last year. Some growers lost up to 70 per cent. The state average was probably between 20 and 30 per cent. This kind of death loss will take your profit. Visiting turkey growers last spring, we found the most common fault was overcrowding. Crowding will result in unevenly developed, unthriftly, poult that are highly susceptible to disease. It has been found best to allow at least one square foot of floor space per poult. Do not crowd poult under the brooder. Allow at least 14 square inches per poult. Use a brooder that will supply adequate heat and operate satisfactorily under variable weather conditions.

Families Warned It's Time For Schemers

Tell your family to be on guard against the "picture enlargement scheme" which inquiries and complaints indicate has again made its appearance. The method by which the scheme is perpetrated cannot be better illustrated than by quoting verbatim a letter received by a Texas Better Business Bureau under date of Feb. 28. It reads as follows:

"I would like to place a complaint with you.

"About two months ago a representative of a studio called at my home. He asked for old portraits to be refinished. The price, completed, was $4.95 each. I gave him three to be finished. I asked for reference and he said he had checked with the police and the Better Business Bureau.

"The three pictures were $14.95. I paid $7.50, the balance to be paid when the proofs were returned for my inspection. He did not mention that I had to buy the frames. The picture was to be complete.

"Last week another representative came back with the proofs, which were nice. My complaints are that my pictures are NOT good and I have lost everything, including my pictures that can never be replaced, unless I pay $29.95 for the frames. The total for the three picture frames is $89.70. We don't see how we can pay that.

"Is there any way we can get our original pictures back?"

Schemes preying on housewives are increasing. Tell your family to check before signing contracts or paying out money to unknown individuals and firms.

Good will, like a good name, is won by many acts, and lost by ONE.

Students Plan To Raise Food For Own Lunch

NEW YORK.—School children in low-income rural areas of the United States will raise their own school lunch vegetables this spring and summer in one of the largest school garden projects ever undertaken, the Save the Children Federation announced today.

The project is being made possible by a gift to the federation of more than 50,000 pounds of bean, beet, corn, parsnip, chard, pumpkin, onion, leek, okra, kale and mustard seed. It is estimated that normal production of vegetables from these seeds will be worth over one-half million dollars.

The seeds are now en route to the federation's area centers in the South and Midwest. Distribution will be through departments of public welfare, county agents and the more than 1,200 rural schools for which the federation has enlisted sponsors in a "help them to help themselves" program.

The seed will be raised both in school gardens and in private gardens and on farms, and part of the food sent to the schools for lunches as payment in kind. The federation has found that many rural school children are otherwise unable to participate in school lunch programs. Parent-teacher organizations and mothers will can much of the food.

Old Homes

A recent study disclosed some interesting facts about American homes—that 23,282,110 of the nation's 42,000,000 homes are 30 years or more old and that owners of many of these old homes are planning to remodel. In the State of Texas alone, for instance, there are 796,334 homes which are 30 or more years old.

Soil Stewardship Sunday

The fifth annual observance of Soil Stewardship Sunday will be held Sunday, May 21. Soil Stewardship is the day when pastors throughout the South preach sermons on our duties as stewards of the soil.

Our soil is a trust given us to supply our needs for food, clothing, and shelter. To the extent that we are faithful in the proper management of this trust, we increase the blessings of better food, clothing, and shelter. These blessings are taken from us when we fail as good stewards.

This year the Association of Soil Conservation District Supervisors join with Southwest Magazine in observing Soil Stewardship Sunday. During the week of May 15-21, they will sponsor tours of farms which have been improved by various soil conservation measures.

Millions of Acres of Texas Land On A Sit-Down Strike

From 10,000,000 to 11,000,000 acres of Texas land are on a sit-down strike.

Many millions more are on a slow-down strike, a soil authority recently testified.

"This land is on strike through loss of its 'soil,'" Carl Spencer of Houston, field representative of Friends of the Land, said.

History of Neglect

Spencer traced a history of neglect on farms of the state during a luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club at Hotel Texas in Fort Worth.

"Fifty per cent of the raw materials for industry come from the land," Spencer related, in emphasizing the importance of conservation.

"But at least 26,000,000 acres of Texas soil have lost as much as 60 per cent of their productivity," he continued.

"Despite this loss, only one-sixth of our farmers are now co-operating in complete programs with their soil conservation districts," Spencer warned.

For City People, Too

"It is a problem for city people, too, and at least a majority of the population must know the problem we face," he added.

Spencer's appearance was one of 19 meetings he will attend in Tarrant County during a six-day tour here.

He is being presented under DFW Soil Conservation District sponsorship and with co-operation of County Agent W. A. Ruhmann.

Food a Little Stale

Near Cuttack, India, in an old fort was discovered recently decomposed rice mixed with earth, said to date back to the Eleventh Century. Rice being the staple food, it was customary to store it within the fort to tide over in periods of emergencies.

You can prevent cold wintry breezes from seeping in around the windowpanes by applying strips of cellophane tape along the inside frame.

It's Past Time To Be Planting

Plant these now if not already planted anywhere in the Cotton Belt.

Cabbage plants, carrots, lettuce plants, brussels sprouts, cauliflower plants, radishes, onion plants, lettuce seed, onion seed, English peas, onion sets, Swiss chard, collards, Chinese cabbage, kale, Irish potatoes, spinach, tendergreen, sweet corn (late March), rape, beets, turnips.

Even above the Cotton Belt you can plant most of these by the end of April. They will stand much more cold than you think.

Creep Feeding

The weight and slaughter grade of beef calves can be increased considerably by creep feeding the calves while they nurse their dams. A creep is a small lot in the pasture or a stall in the barn where grain is fed in an open trough or, preferably, a covered self-feeder. The creep is made so as to admit the calves and exclude the cows.

Conservation Is Paying Dividends

Eleven hundred New Mexico farmers and ranchers with two and three-quarters million acres of land entered into new conservation plans during 1949 with the 57 soil conservation districts which are co-operating with the Soil Conservation Service, according to R. A. Young, assistant state conservationist for New Mexico, in a year-end progress report.

In addition to these new plans, Young said, conservation practices were applied on 1,828,242 acres. Land leveling and improved irrigation methods were the leading practices applied on 30,000 acres of irrigated land, while terracing and crop residue management were the principal practices placed on 7,000 acres of dry farm lands. Range improvement practices established on over 600,000 acres of range land included stock water development, fencing, reseeding and improved grass management.

The application of conservation practices in 1949 not only exceeded 1948 by 60 per cent but also topped by far the record of any previous year, Young said.

He attributes the large increase to present economic conditions with the realization on part of farmers and ranchers that conservation practices pay off in increased income.

Poultry

THE U. S. DEPARTMENT of Agriculture announced a support program for eggs in 1950 which will seek to maintain the national average annual farm price at 37 cents a dozen—approximately 75% of the modernized capacity. This compares with a 1949 national average farm price of about 45 cents a dozen which was approximately 90% of parity under the previous formula.

As in past years, the support level will be based on a U. S. annual average farm price. The specific areas in which egg prices will be supported, the period of support and the method employed, whether by purchase of dried, frozen or shell eggs, will be announced when such programs are needed.

THE HABIT OF head shaking is one that often develops from chickens getting water on their wattles while drinking and shaking their heads in an effort to get rid of it. Sometimes other chickens in the flock see this and pick up the habit. Sometimes it starts with some noise that seems to affect them, such as continued crowing of males, or possibly some noise outside of the poultry house. In any case it is not a serious habit because it does not affect egg production or health in any way. The only way to try to break it is to take the birds that seem to do it the most out of the pen and keep them out and hope that the habit will decrease.

THE WORD "BLOOM" which is often used in connection with dressed poultry as a term of only general meaning. Its presence has much to do with the appearance of the dressed bird. At the present time, emphasis is being placed upon the appearance of the final product of the poultry in the market. Anything that can be done to improve the sales appeal of poultry meat is of importance at the present time and will be more so in the future. Bloom is, therefore, of importance, and anything economically within reason that can be done to improve or at least to hold the bloom of the dressed product is worthy of consideration.

STUDIES IN recent years reveal there are numerous advantages in having a built-up litter. Besides the fact that layers always appreciate scratching around in a well-managed built-up litter, they also derive a certain disease-resistant quality from it and additional body-building properties from the vitamin B-12 that a well-managed built-up litter is found to contain.

A built-up litter can be had by adding two to three inches of fresh litter to the present litter every three weeks or so. Frequent stirring will help to keep the litter dry; once a week may do, oftener if necessary. It may be spread by land with a hay fork, or with one of the new litter stirring garden tractors. Lime may also be added.

RESULTS OF A study by the U. S. Department of Agriculture on the decline in egg quality during the first two steps of the marketing process in 13 midwestern states—from the producer to the country buyer, and from him to the cartload assembler—show that one out of every three eggs dropped below grade A in quality by the time the farmer sold his eggs to the country store and other first receivers. More than two out of five of these eggs were below grade A about two days later when they reached the cartload assembler.

Farm Income

AUSTIN, Texas.—Farm cash income in Texas totaled $84,441,000 in January, rising 40 per cent above January, 1949, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported.

January income of Texas farmers was down 49 per cent from December as a result of reduced marketings of cotton, rice, grain sorghum, wool, poultry, eggs and calves, however.

Cotton, bringing $27,666,000, was the greatest source of January farm income. Cattle brought $14,835,000 and milk products $9,924,000.

Marketings of cotton, wheat, rice, cattle, sheep, wool, mohair and fruits and vegetables were substantially above year-earlier levels, while other farm products were lower in January.

Farm income for January, 1950, surpassed a year earlier in only four crop-reporting districts. Farmers in the Southern High Plains received 209 per cent more in January than in January, 1949. Income rose 151 per cent in the Red Bed Plains, 68 per cent in the Northern High Plains and 27 per cent in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Farm income declined from 8 per cent in Coastal Prairies to 26 per cent for East Texas Timbered Plains.

Increased marketings of fruits and vegetables resulted in an 18 per cent increase from December for farmers in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. All other districts recorded December and January decreases in farm cash income.

After adjustment for seasonal variation, the bureau's index of farm cash income decreased from 598 per cent of the 1935-39 base period in December to 288 in January, 1950. A year ago the index was 211.

Henhouse Hints

Fill that brooder house now with chicks for next fall layers—the sooner the better, if they were not started in February.

In buying White Leghorns get the "sexed pullet chicks." Leghorn cockerels are often hard to sell as broilers.

"Straight run chicks" might be best, if you are getting Reds, Rocks or New Hampshires. The cockerels make good broilers and may be used at home or marketed at 9 to 12 weeks.

Oil, gas or electric brooder stoves are best for March brooding. They are much easier than coal or wood stoves to regulate in changeable weather.

Keep the chicks comfortable, but don't overheat them. More chicks are killed by overheating than by chilling.

NEVER MISSED HIM

A young man, after eight years absence abroad, alighted at his home station and, despite his expectations, there was no one there to meet him. He then caught sight of the station master, a friend since boyhood, and was about to extend a hearty greeting when the other spoke first. "Hello, George!" he said. "Goin' away?"

"GRAND OLE OPRY," the Big Top of American folk music, can point proudly to its stars as responsible for the most-played juke box record throughout the nation. Red Foley, baritone star of the Saturday NBC series, has made the Decca disk which is top in practically every classification of popularity. It's "Chattanooga Shoe Shine Boy," which Red introduced on the broadcast, and whose platter ranks first among records most played by disk jockeys, is the best-selling popular single record, most-played juke box country and western record and most-played by folk disk jockeys. Foley's wax version, according to Billboard Magazine's surveys, leads the field in six categories.

His film bosses, M-G-M, are considering the idea and, if the plan goes through, the famous team of Clayton, Jackson and Durante will strut their stuff again as they did when they were the kingpins of the lush 1920 era. Oddly enough, although Durante has been a top-notch these many years, he is still considered to be at his peak.

IF YOU OWN a radio—and who doesn't?—you must have heard of Country Boy Mel Allen, a 6-foot, 1-inch bachelor who owns a law degree but who has never hung out a shingle. This Mr. Allen turned to broadcasting as soon as he got out of Alabama U. They paid him $5 a week, but that was all right with Mel. It was some kind of a start, wasn't it?

MEL BELIEVES his success has been due to his country boy instincts which have given him a great love for sports. With him, broadcasting ball games and other things is not just a profession. He becomes just as excited as the listener. Allen wanted to be a ball player himself, but he couldn't even make his college team. "I wasn't good enough to win a baseball letter in the field at Alabama U," he said, "and I got one by being student manager of the team."

MEL ALWAYS refers to himself as a successful failure, a success because of his big salary ($150,000 a year) and a failure because of his inability to win a place on his college team. He went to New York City as a straight announcer some years ago, but someone recognized his voice as being the ideal type for sports work. It was then that Allen moved over into the field of sports broadcasting. In many books he is No. 1 in the country. His voice crackles.

THE ALABAMA U. graduate says Graham McNamee was the real pioneer in the broadcasting of athletic events, but he contends it was Ted Husing who made the listeners accuracy conscious. He thinks further that Husing set the modern pattern for the voicings that now come out of the various home loud-speakers.

ALLEN WILL tell you there still is tremendous room for improvement in his field, but he also insists sports broadcasting has come a long way since the days of McNamee. When you talk to Mel you get a good picture of a man who is so in love with his work he wouldn't drop it for the presidency of the United States.

1949. He suffered a fractured pelvis, broken collar bone, broken ankle bone, body bruises and internal injuries. Recently Ben went to the Los Angeles Open just to walk around the course. But his wife thought he might play. He did. He came to the end of the last day with a five-under-par 66 round and 280 strokes for the tourney. He was tied by Sammy Snead. Then in a playoff, delayed by rain, Snead beat him by four strokes. Ben's comeback was one of the thrills of the last decade, according to Grit's Roger Powers.

CANDY STRIPES on uniforms will tickle fans in the ball park of the Philadelphia Nationals this year. The Phils will have the "loudest" livery in baseball, with red vertical lines on white flannel. They will have red stockings with white circular bands, red undershirts, hats of the same hue and possibly scarlet cap visors. These flamboyant items will make up the most startling uniform in all professional baseball. Said Bob Carpenter, president of the club: "Football and basketball have been going in for flashy suits, so why not baseball?"

OLD BALL players make wry faces when they hear of the handsome bonuses being paid kid players today. Ty Cobb, for example, was purchased for $720, and he got no bonus. Rogers Hornsby got a measly $600, yet became the greatest right-handed hitter of all time. Honus Wagner, commenting on bonuses, said: "I suppose we were born 30 years too soon."

THE SUCCESS of Jackie Robinson, Don Newcombe and Larry Doby has started a new campaign for the discovery of more colored baseball players. At Greenville, Miss., right now there is in operation the first baseball school for colored boys. Major league scouts from many of the big league clubs will stop in to see if there is anyone they can use. They'll pay handsomely for another Robinson.

Wolf Offers Most Tender Care of All The Animals

Mating of wolves lasts a lifetime, and care shown the young by both parents is supposed to be of the most tender nature. When the pups are young and sportive, and their play overflows into the vicinity of the father, he does not send them sprawling with a blow. Instead, he patiently gets up and moves to a more quiet place.

This kind of paternal care and thoughtfulness, which extends into the areas of feeding and training the young to hunt, has been observed by most naturalists who study wildlife.

In great stretches of this country wolves have been almost wiped out. But they survive in considerable numbers in the heavily timbered lands of Canada and Alaska.

Nature Oddity

Snakes walk upon the ends of their ribs, assisted by the projected scales on the under surface of their bodies. These scales are useless, however, on smooth surfaces such as glass.

Winter in Camp

When returning to the old camp in winter after a long absence, test stove pipes before building a fire. All metal contracts when weather is cold. Also, the camp can be heated much faster if a door or window is opened and the old air replaced by clean, fresh air.

Crisp curls of bark hanging from old white birch trees will start a camp fire in the woods even if wet from rain or snow water. The dry and brittle sticks of pencil-size that sprout from the trunks of small fir trees also make excellent kindling.

Nature Notes

Bachelor seals—males too young or too weak to fight—live by themselves on a separate island of the Pribilof group, located in the Aleutians.

Eggs of the turtle and of the iguana, a large lizard, are eaten by many people in South America.

The colorful rosefish, once regarded as good only for display in markets, has become an important food species.

Siam derives much revenue from licensing fish fights. Small but pugnacious "climbing perch" are kept in glass globes for fighting, and betting on the outcome of a battle is a favorite sport.

Alaskan brown bears are the largest of all flesh-eating animals.

A sewell, also called a mountain beaver, is a little western rodent with a short tail.

A Mean Goose

The Philadelphia Zoo has acquired one of the meanest and rarest geese in captivity. Known as the Australian cereopsis, the goose is described as "very murderous." "He could knock the stuffing out of any other goose," keepers say. And in addition, he grunts like a pig.

Look up the blue whale in your school encyclopedia. You'll find it's the biggest animal in the world. At birth it weighs more than the largest elephant. That's the amazing truth about this creature!

4-H Girls Busy

It's generally known that 4-H Club girls learn a lot about sewing, and proof of their skill is the two million garments made by some 591,000 members last year. With one eye on spring and the other on their purse, teen-agers from practically every state are already launched in the 1950 National 4-H Clothing Achievement program.

Attention also is given to remodeling out-of-date clothes. Many 4-H daughters are able to stretch the family budget by making over suits and dresses for younger brothers and sisters.

Hidden Taxes Costly

Hidden taxes—those levies of all kinds that are added to the cost of things people buy—run into amazing totals and are so numerous that even a family with an income of only $960 a year has to pay out $121 in taxes. That's what the American Taxpayers' Association reports. It's trying to show the U. S. public that curtailment of taxation must come or everybody will be reduced to a state of poverty.
