SANTA ANNA, COLEMAN COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JUNE 16, 1950

NUMBER 24

Liberty Bell To Be Here Friday, June 23, At 3:15

The voice of American liberty and independence will ring out here on June 23, 1950, at 3:15 p. m. A bronze replica of the original Liberty Bell will visit Santa Anna on that date, to help promote the sale of United States Savings Bonds during the Independence Drive, May 15 through July 4, according to W. F. Barnes, Savings Bonds Chairman for Santa Anna.

The bell will arrive at 3:15 p. m. and depart at 3:45 p. m. While here it will be in charge of W. F. Barnes, Santa Anna Bonds Chairman and his committee, who are planning appropriate public ceremonies to mark the visit.

This county is one of 87 in Texas that will be visited by the bell, the chairman said. The bell will make its appearance in about 120 Texas cities and towns which represent 85 or 90 per cent of the state's population. The bell will start on its 5,000 mile tour following the state "kick-off" of the Independence Drive in Fort Worth on May 16. The state quota for the drive is $25,000,000 in Series E bonds. The slogan is "Save YOUR Independence—Buy U. S. Savings Bonds."

Father's Day

By Mrs. A. L. Oder
Do you know of much excitement, or hear much comment, on the fact that Sunday, June 18, has been set aside on which to honor Father?

Are Fathers something to be cherished, or just to be endured? It is important that Father's Day comes after a round of other anniversaries and observances, Easter, Mother's Day, and the many activities connected with the closing of school. When this is over people are worn to a frazzle, and it is hard to get up much enthusiasm over fathers.

It was not so intended. It was God's plan that the father should be the head of the house. They were also charged with the spiritual instruction of their children.

They, in some degree, have fallen down on this last point, but I still know a great many fathers worthy of the homage of their children.

There are some who think that "It is a bother to be a father." And so it is, but it is a bother that pays off in big dividends of happiness, as one sees the little ones growing up in the home, and making the hours cheerful, with their bright sayings, and cute ways.

I want especially to say my bit, on behalf of young fathers, many of which are very efficient in the care of their children. I know some young fathers who always prepare the formulas for their babies.

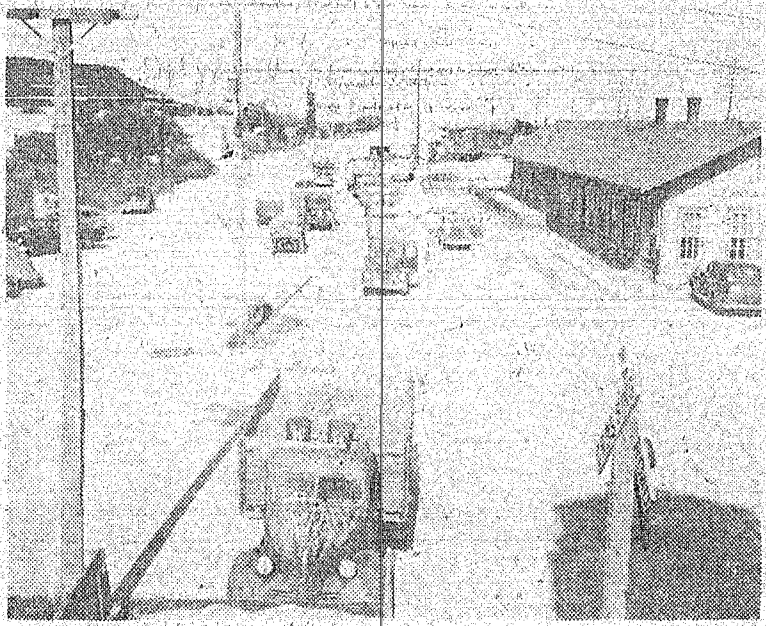

Many fathers, both old and young, show a love for their children, equal to that of mothers.

In a store last week I saw a father buying things for the home. Two small children were with him, and they wanted a number of things—first gum, then candy and then a story book apiece. The loving indulgent, father, let them have everything they asked for. I thought here is a man that loves his children.

The Bible is replete with examples of great love of fathers for their children. So if your father is living, and you appreciate him, let him know about it. He would appreciate a long newsy letter, if he doesn't live near you.

"Do not take one word from Mother
When you write her souls
sweet song;
But if there is a word for father
Now and then, it won't be wrong.
Poor old soul, he's bent and wrinkled,

The Grain Harvest In Full Swing

THE PEAK OF THE SEASON in the harvest of small grain was reached last week with the local elevators operating at capacity almost 24 hours a day. The grain this year is not making as many bushels per acre as it did last year, but it is a better grade of grain. Oats are making on the average about 30 bushels per acre and wheat about 10 to 12 bushels per acre. Over 65 cars of oats and wheat have been shipped from here by the Santa Fe Railroad and several loads have been carried out by truck.

Pictured above are 16 trucks and trailers waiting to be loaded Saturday afternoon. This picture was taken in front of the Guthrie & Wise Grain Company. Arrow Mills and Bob Garrett both have had long strings of trucks waiting to be unloaded. It is expected that by the end of the week the largest part of the harvest will be completed.

Editor Plans To Attend Press Convention Friday

Cowtown Here We Come! THERE'S ALWAYS ROOM for improvement in any man's field of endeavor—and this business of publishing a newspaper is no exception.

That's why, twice each year, Texas newspaper publishers get together for a meeting of the Texas Press Association, where they listen to experts in the field, exchange ideas among themselves and talk shop. The purpose being to return to the plant and pitch in to produce a BETTER newspaper for the hometown.

So it's that time of year again, and Friday, we'll be in Fort Worth for the 71st Annual Meeting of the TPA—bending an ear to pick up a lot of good ideas from the eight out-of-state and three-Texas speakers who will be there to tell us all about it.

Looking over the program, we'd say that we'll come home well fed in both mind and body.

On the mind side, we'll hear talks from men who are experts at making newspapers—easier to read and better to look at, experts on how to better serve our advertisers, an expert on column writing, and authorities on many other phases of newspaper production, from salesmanship to being useful to our communities, in general.

Friday noon we'll be guests of Swift and Company for luncheon and a tour of the packing plant. That evening we're going to tour Television Station WBAP-TV. Then we go to Shady Oaks, farm home of Publisher Amon Carter of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, for a barbecue supper.

Businessmen who don't belong to the organization, and attend its meetings regularly, don't

Kathleen Hibbetts Joins Staff Of News Office

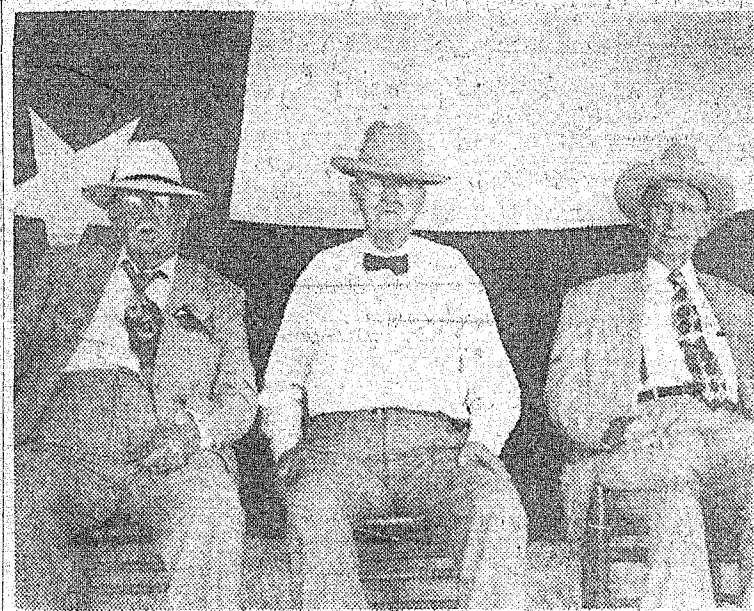

Miss Kathleen Hibbetts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hibbetts of Cleveland Community, this week took over the duties of the advertising solicitor for the Santa Anna News. Miss Hibbetts has not had much experience in this line of work and we at the News office will appreciate any courtesies extended Miss Hibbetts when she calls on you.

Joyce Peyton, who has been handling the advertising for the past 19 months is leaving this week for Nache, North Dakota, where she will become Mrs. Paul Tucker Saturday night of this week. She will make the trip from here with Mrs. J. Griffin of Odessa.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson, and Melba Earle, and David, of Odessa, spent the week-end at their home here.

Ralph Bartlett, who had been visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ed. Bartlett, returned, with his parents, to their home at Merkel, Sunday afternoon.

Former Guardians Of Texas

Ex-Texas Rangers in Santa Anna for the annual ex-Texas Rangers convention Friday and Saturday, June 9 and 10 are left, Noah Armstrong, 98, of Coleman, Texas, oldest living ex-Ranger; center, W. H. Roberts, 89, elected commander of the Ex-Ranger Association, of Llano, Texas; and S. H. Gilliland, 91, of Dallas, who served one day in the Ranger forces in 1876 when his grandfather requested his release because of his young age. Armstrong and Roberts are charter members of the organization. Two other charter members still living were unable to attend.

know what they're missing. We plan to have a swell time in Fort Worth visiting with our fellow newspaper publishers from all over Texas, gaining ideas, seeing a lot of interesting things we haven't seen before, and enjoying Cowtown hospitality. We also plan to come home with renewed inspiration and determination to give you a better than ever newspaper.

Rev. W. F. Smith Returned To Methodist Church

Rev. W. F. Smith has been returned as pastor of the local Methodist Church, and is beginning his second year of service, under auspicious conditions.

His appointment was read out among many others, at the closing session of the Central Texas Conference, in Fort Worth, Sunday afternoon.

It seems that the congregation and pastor are mutually pleased at the appointment, and are beginning their labors, in the new church year, in a spirit of optimism.

Other Santa Anna citizens are glad to have Bro. Smith and family with us for another year.

Ex-Rangers And Old Settlers Enjoy Two Day Convention

Noah Armstrong, 98, of Coleman and W. H. Roberts, 89, of Llano were the only charter members of the Ex-Texas Rangers Association who were present for the annual two-day meeting last Friday and Saturday. Mr. S. H. Gilliland of Dallas, who served one day as a Ranger in 1876, was also present for the two-day affair.

Mr. Armstrong, oldest of the remaining members of the Ex-Ranger Association, served at Fort Griffin, located at Double Mountain, on the Brazos River in 1873, under Capt. J. C. Sparks, commander of Co. C. Last year he was selected as the oldest living ex-Texas Ranger and was honored at Laredo in their celebration "The Street of Laredo."

Mr. Roberts entered the service at the age of 18, in 1880 and served the first year under Capt. C. L. Neville, at Fort Davis, Texas. His second year was served under Capt. L. P. Seiker in Kemble and Uvalde counties. Roberts was named commander of the association during the business meeting Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Gilliland entered the service at the age of 18 in 1876, under Capt. McNelly, in Washington County. Upon hearing that Gilliland had joined the Ranger force, his grandfather requested that he be released because of his age.

Both Armstrong and Roberts were featured speakers on the Friday afternoon program. Armstrong told how to shoot a buffalo and told of Sam Houston making a speech at Salado. Roberts gave a detailed story of the Packsaddle Mountain Indian Fight in 1873, the last notable Indian stand in Llano country.

Col. M. L. Crummins, president of the West Texas Historical Society and Historian for the Ex-Ranger Association was master of ceremonies during the convention. Col. Crummins told of fight between the Texas Rangers and the Indians at Fort Quitman.

Music was furnished by Misses Paula Holt, Martha Priddy and Sandra Shields. They sang "When You and I Were Young Maggie" and "Silver Threads Among The Gold," dedicated to the memory of the late C. M. Grady, commander emeritus of the association. Barbara Bruce accompanied the trio at the piano.

Others who appeared on the program were: Judge R. C. Crang of Sweetwater, who told of the first telegraph line in Coleman county; Geraldine Lewellen of Santa Anna, who gave the history of Santa Anna; Lillian Padgett of Coleman, told of the life of her great grandmother, Mrs. Albert Maverick, Sr., one of the early settlers of San Antonio; and Col. James Padgett of Coleman, told of the life of Col. J. C. Lea.

Officers elected for the coming year were: W. H. Roberts, commander; Col. Padgett, captain; Col. Crummins, historian; Mrs. R. C. Gay was re-elected secretary-treasurer; S. A. Millard, color bearer and sergeant; and Rev. M. L. Womack, chaplain.

C. M. Grady of Brownwood has died since the last meeting of the Ex-Texas Rangers Association. He was 94 years of age.

Glass-Norton No. 2 Dry; Others Drilling

The F. D. Glass, C. U. Norton No. 2, Copeland tested dry in the Breneke Sand last Saturday. This is somewhat a setback to the oil play in Santa Anna, but talk has it that this is not exactly unexpected in this part of the country. The rig has been moved to the next location north and will be known as the Glass-Norton No. 3, Copeland, offset to the Glass-Norton No. 1, the big producer. They spudded in Monday and expect to reach the Breneke by the end of the week.

The Lightfoot, Shield, Quinland well on the Brannon, Ball land was drilled in over the week-end and is expected to make a good well. The Railroad commission test has not been completed at this time. It is expected within the next few days. Lightfoot and Quinland have moved their rig to a location on the W. E. Vanderford place and Wednesday morning were drilling at 1100 feet.

Another rig has been set up on the Copeland land, an offset to the first well drilled, located between the No. 1 well and the Glass-Norton No. 1 well. They are scheduled to drill to the Breneke Sand and expect to reach it some time next week.

A well is also in operation on the W. B. Griffin place, an offset to the big producer on the Copeland land. They were drilling at about 400 feet Tuesday evening.

The Glass-Norton No. 2 being dry is not expected to have much effect on the leasing of land in this area, unless some of the others that are drilling now should be dry also.

New Billing Machine For Telephone Co.

The Santa Anna Telephone Co. is installing a new billing machine that will make your telephone statement each month more easy to understand just what each charge is made for. The machine is called the Addressograph and will make statements similar to the ones used by the West Texas Utilities Co.

This kind of machine is being used by all major utilities companies in the United States and is another step forward in the progress of the Santa Anna Telephone Co.

The first billing on this new machine will be on the July 1st billing.

H. D. Club Makes Trays

A pleasant day was spent on last Friday, when members of the H. D. Club and a few visitors met in the home of Mrs. Sam Rutherford to make aluminum trays. Mrs. Sam Grant was co-hostess. Not all present made trays but they learned how by seeing the others work.

Miss Beth Rawlings, Assistant H. D. Agent, was the demonstrator, and Mrs. Fred Rollins was the chairman of the materials committee.

The finished trays were beautiful, and will be very useful.

A covered dish luncheon, consisting of a wide variety of good food, was enjoyed at the noon

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Oh—My Aching Feet!

Other night just as I was settling down with a book and a mellow glass of beer, the wife calls down, "Joe—I almost forgot—you and I are going over to the High School and take dancing lessons!"

Now, I can waltz with the best of them, so I put up a quiet struggle against going but it was no use. Turns out it was the class in square dancing. And from the look on some of the other men I judged I wasn't the only one there who had been taken by surprise!

Miss Williams and Curly Lawson taught us what to do with our feet, and before it was over, darn if I wasn't actually enjoying myself. Going back next week, too!

From where I sit, we sometimes get an idea into our head for or against something and then hang onto it for dear life. Whether it's square dancing, or the right to enjoy temperate beer or ale now and then, we owe it to ourselves as Americans to take an open-minded attitude — that's even after we make up our minds about it!

FAMILY TREAT. They'll all have fun in this roomy 4-door Sedan with generous luggage space for trips. Shown here is the SPECIAL. Same body type available also in the SUPER series.

Look at the FUN you're missing!

SURE, we know—a car is a "necessity" these days. A modern family "couldn't get along without one." Or so you tell yourself.

Come, come, sir! We know, and so do you, the real reason you got the new-car fever—and the kind of car you are banking for.

You want a car with some fun in it, don't you?

A car you'll get a big bang out of every time you see it parked in front of your house—every time you slip into its front seat—every sweet and easy mile you travel in it.

Well, come see what this beauty does for you.

How the doors swing open in warm welcome at a thumb touch on a button. How the broad seats invite you to take it easy. How the big straight-eight under the bonnet slips into starting life at your touch.

And then more—

How smoothly you slip away from the curb—especially with Dynaflo—handling the power transmission.

How firm and steady the whole car feels. How it holds its curves, free of "heel-over" and sway. How each coil-sprung wheel quicksteps over bumps and rough spots that mean jounce and jiggle on most cars—how buoyantly road-free a Buick is.

* Dynaflo Drive is standard on ROADMASTER and optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

FOUR-WAY FOREFRONT

This rugged front end (1) sets the style note, (2) saves on repair costs—vertical bars are individually replaceable, (3) avoids "locking horns," (4) makes parking and garaging easier.

Fun? You bet it's fun—too much fun to miss.

And there's no reason to miss it, really, for this strapping traveler is priced under many sixes. Starts at figures just an easy step above the so-called Lowest Price cars.

What's keeping you from trying one, when the nearest Buick dealer is ready to demonstrate without obligation any time you want to call on him.

Only Buick has

Dynaflo
and with it goes:

- HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball Valve-in-head power in three engines. (New F-263 engine in SUPER models.)
- NEW-PATTERN STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD forefront, taper-through fenders, "double bubble" taillights.
- WIDE-ANGLE VISIBILITY, close-up road view both forward and back.
- TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over-all length for easier parking and garaging, short turning radius.
- EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the axles.
- SOFT BUICK RIDE, from all-coil springing, Safety-Ride rims, low-pressure tires, ride-steadying torque tube.
- WIDE ARRAY OF MODELS with Body by Fisher.

SCRIPTURE MEANS DEVOTIONAL LEADING

Help for Our Times
Lesson for June 18, 1959

FOR TIMES that are full of trouble, when the light of the prophet Malachi is needed, we find it in the story of the city of Jerusalem, which was destroyed and lived only a comparative handful of scattered people, dragging out a miserable existence. To these people, living in a desolate, gloomy time, Malachi had a message from God.

Dr. Foreman

His prophecies do not have the faintest of Amos or the melancholy of Hosea, the grandeur of Isaiah, the dramatic power of Jeremiah, or the eerie visions of Ezekiel. But with inspired common sense, he offers in the name of God a simple remedy with four ingredients:

Better Leaders.
SPEAKING DIRECTLY to the leaders of the people, namely the priests, Malachi condemns them for not really taking stock in the things they were doing. How we need that today! If the church today in any place is dead, you may be sure there are some dead leaders. Dead from the neck up, that is, and not necessarily the preachers. Many a good preacher breaks his heart for lack of support. How many men and women, in your church, can the minister count on to fill in where they are needed, without making up a dozen reasons why they "can't" do it? Why do Christians talk and pray as if their religion were all important, but act as if everything else came first?

Law Observance.
ANOTHER THING for which Malachi pleads is law observance (Eg. 2:9, 10). They did not need new laws for they had good ones. What they needed was to obey the laws they had. This again is what our times need. We have so many laws now that only an expert can keep up with them. No civilized nation could live, to be sure, under the unchanged statutes of a generation ago. Nevertheless, if all the legislatures in America were to resolve to pass no more laws for five years, and if for five years the cities, towns and money spent ordinarily in getting up new laws were put in on educating the people in the laws now in existence, and in fostering law observance and in preventing and punishing crimes, ours would be a better country.

The Unbroken Home
AGAIN, Malachi stands for the unbroken home. He knows that "no country can be strong when its homes are weak" (2:10-17). In the year 1948 there were about 420,000 divorces in the United States, and 1.80 million marriages. That is a divorce rate of about 23 per cent. In some states the percentage of divorce is even higher. Indeed, in one large midwestern city it was announced in the papers about two years ago that the marriages had "caught up with" the divorces, i.e., they were at last having more marriages than divorces! This was an extreme case. To say nothing else about it, 420,000 divorces, and 12,000 desertions means that in the United States alone there are at least 432,000 persons who have no regard for the most solemn promises.

Support The Church
FIRST AND LAST, Malachi asks for better support of the church. You need the church, of course; but then the church needs you. There is need for better leadership in the first place, and better support from the common man. Few persons want to live in a community without churches; yet a mere church building will not effect community life in the least. A beautiful building and a tall white spire are not a church. The only church which will help a neighborhood is one in which the neighborhood takes an active part, a church where neighbors together worship God and where they are inspired to plans and acts of service for

Self Culture Club Has Final Meeting

The Self Culture Club activities came to a close, with a morning office, Tuesday, June 13, in the home of Mrs. C. D. Bruce. The receiving rooms were decorated with pot plants, and cut flowers. Mrs. Norval Wyle presided at the register. Mrs. Ollie Weaver and Mrs. Hardy Blue served coffee and doughnuts, from a table laid with a crocheted cloth, which had been a central arrangement of a variety of spring flowers, in a blue pottery bowl. Mrs. Preston Bailey, the president, called the meeting to order and welcomed the guests. The new year books, were distributed. Mrs. J. L. Harris conducted an interesting, miscellaneous quiz. We were glad to have visitors from Coleman and Talpa. They were: Mrs. John Henderson, Mrs. Jesse Martin, Mrs. Walter Garland and Mrs. Ruth Williams, members of the Coleman Shakespeare Club. Also Mrs. A. V. Livingston, Mrs. Floyd Thompson, Mrs. J. C. Smith and Mrs. R. E. Smith, members of the Talpa Study Club. Others present besides those mentioned above, were Mesdames J. R. Banister, R. C. Gay, Kittie Walker, A. D. Donham Jr., J. Ed. Bartlett, W. Ford Barnes, C. L. Eeds, A. L. Oder, and Misses Dora, Kirkpatrick and Barbara Bruce.

Mrs. A. Williams Gives Tea
On Tuesday, June 13, between the hours of 2 and 4 p. m., Mrs. Alford Williams entertained Miss Clara Joyce Jenkins of Mart, bride-elect of Lee Roy Woodard, with a tea.
Gladiolas and phlox decorated the receiving rooms.
The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Marshall Wallace and Mrs. Buster Woodard in serving white cake with pink decorations, and punch from a table laid with lace and centered with an arrangement of pink phlox.
The honoree is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jenkins of Midland and has been teaching at Midland.
The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Woodard of Santa Anna, and is an employee of an oil company at Midland.
The wedding date has been set for June 30th, in the Church of Christ at Mart.

Mrs. A. Williams Gives Tea

The honoree's mother accompanied her to Santa Anna for the tea, which 38 ladies attended.
The Sealy Hospital Aux. met Tuesday afternoon at the hospital for a work session. They mended chairs.
They have taken as a project the porch on the third floor for next Tuesday afternoons work. Members are asked to bring tools.
Mrs. T. R. Sealy has recently had some extensive improvements made at the hospital and the auxiliary members are willing to help with their work along lines of things that still need to be done.
In the write-up of the auxiliary meeting and improvements last week two mistakes were made. The walls in the nursery are a very light green and the furniture in the rooms for patients are a light gray.
The use of color is a growing trend in hospitals.

Announcement Party Given

Mrs. Clyde Vance, of Coleman, honored her daughter, Verna, with an announcement party at her home Tuesday night, June 6. Miss Vance's engagement and approaching marriage to Julian Fred Cross, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cross, was announced.
The home was attractively decorated with white daisies and yellow gladioli, completing the bride's chosen colors of yellow and white.
Plate favors were small yellow daisies. The wedding date was revealed with "Fred and Verna, June 24, 1959," written in gold on white tea napkins.
Guests included Mesdames:

Local Methodist Church News

The second Sunday being Conference Sunday there were no preaching services, and Sunday school attendance was below average. We hope to have quite an increase at all services next Sunday, Father's Day.

The Vacation Church School got off to a good start Monday. Several were absent, whom we hope yet to see in regular attendance. It is not too late to enroll. Come and bring a friend with you.

Although a full schedule is not planned for the summer, no phases of the work are to be neglected.

At the evening service Sunday an allegory "And The Shingle Nail" is to be presented with Mrs. Smith as leader, assisted by about twenty persons from the various age groups and organizations. What did you do to make the year just closed as successful as it was? What do you plan to do during the new year already begun? Come to this service and find out just how important your place in the church is.

Travis Bohannon Makes Statement on His Candidacy

Travis Bohannon

Travis Bohannon, Coleman veteran, is seeking the office of County Treasurer in the forthcoming election. He states that if he is elected, he promises to devote full time to the job and assure courteous, efficient service. A native of Coleman County, he has lived here all his life with the exception of seven years spent in the armed forces. During the past war Bohannon lost his leg while in combat duty in Italy. A shrapnel wound was the cause of the loss of the limb. He spent three and one half years in an army hospital.

The veteran is married and has two children. At this time he is attending Texas State Business School, under the G. I. Bill, studying bookkeeping and typing. He feels that this training, combined with his past experience, will qualify him for the job.

Bohannon adds that he hopes to see every voter personally before election time, but should he fail to do so, he solicits the vote and influence of each and every one, assuring them that same will be sincerely appreciated, and if he is elected, he will fill the job to the best of his ability.

Local Baptist Church News

Fifty members of the First Baptist Church attended the Coleman County Baptist Workers' Conference held at Novice Baptist Church on Monday evening. There were 214 present for the meeting when Bro. L. L. Trott, Winters, spoke on the subject, "Conserving the Results of Soul-winning."

A number of the boys and girls are planning to attend the Youth Camp at Lake Brownwood June 26-30. Rev. Wigger will be Director for the boys camp, June 26-28. The program for the District 16 Baptist Encampment at Lake Brownwood has been received. Mr. Louis Newman, Santa Anna, is president of this First Encampment.

The First Baptist Church has announced their summer Revival for July 16-23, with Rev. Vernon Shaw, San Angelo, as the Evangelist.

The pastor will devote his message Sunday to the Father. At this service the Fathers will be the honored guests. Every Father should take the lead in him home in church attendance and church activities.

Outstanding Gardens And Gardeners

Mr. and Mrs. George Cobb, Route 1, Rockwood, and Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Johnson of Rockwood, have some outstanding gardens in Coleman County at this time. Many people report failures because of drought and freezes and then too much rain—not so with the Cobb's and Johnson's. They each are eating sweet corn, beets, snapped and shelled beans, squash and have very good prospective later production in peas, butter beans, tomatoes, okra, cucumbers and so on. In fact the Johnsons have already been eating okra, black-eyed peas, cucumbers and have half grown tomatoes and mature butterbean shells.

These gardens did not just happen to be better than most any other others in the community, the families took this as a major enterprise this year and are serving on the F. H. A. Garden Committee directed by Maude L. Hooten, Home Management Specialist, and Mr. John H. Curry, County FHA Supervisor.

These families have used good practices in insect controls, seed selection, use of hot-caps on tomatoes, fertilization and so on. They have a plan to put up all the family can use for a year and have a surplus to give away.

Mrs. Cobb, Chairman of the Committee, invites those having insect trouble to consult her garden committee. She says you can really get bugs if you use the right dusts.

TEXAS TECH

"Birthday In 1950"

25 YEARS

Texas Tech At Lubbock Shows Miracle Growth

By BOB RUTLAND

Texas Technological College will celebrate its 25th birthday during 1950. Yet, the spirit of the college is such that, rather than point to what has been done and rest on those laurels, the emphasis at Tech is on the future.

On the eve of these Silver Anniversary events, Tech's board of directors has moved ahead with a vast building program that will eventually place Tech in the forefront, insofar as the physical plant goes. Added to this is the Tech Research Foundation, now on the threshold of a new program of service for industry and agriculture in Texas.

At the moment, Tech students are making a daily check on progress made by construction workers at the two wings for the administration building. Soon they can add to their list the music, science, engineering, petroleum engineering, home economics, agricultural engineering and student union projects.

The prodigious amount of building has not slackened the desire at Tech to stress the academic side of college life. The latest honor roll figures show that 311 students out of 5,844 had grade averages of superior standing—a good portion of them in the straight-A category. These students represent a liberal sprinkling of agriculture, engineering, business administration, home economics and arts and science majors.

Students from Houston and Dimmitt, Texas, have rubbed elbows, played on the same athletic teams, attended the same classes and received about the same scholastic rating. Because Tech has no national fraternity or sorority groups, the campus atmosphere has been one of emphasized student democracy. The general impression is that Tech is "a pretty friendly place."

In his inaugural address in 1948, Pres. D. M. Wiggins said: "In its 24 years of existence, Texas Technological College has contributed in a very positive manner to the scientific advancement of this nation." Research studies at Tech have ranged from dust-storm projects to cosmic ray counts, and the horizon looks even brighter. Most of the research is done in the division of agriculture, which has 1,700 acres on the Lubbock campus and full use of the tremendous facilities at PanTech Farms, near Amarillo, for experimentation. Farmers from Texas, Arkansas to El Paso have received the benefit of hundreds of experiments in cattle feeding, grass planting and similar studies.

On the gridiron, under track and basketball court the Red Raider squads have usually come out on the long end of the score. Tech's perennial hope is someday to become a member of the Southwest Conference. Until that long-expected day, the Raiders can content themselves with semi-official status—for in the fall of 1950 the Tech football squad will take on Texas, Texas A&M, Rice, Baylor and TCU. Other grid opponents along the line or currently contracted are Tulsa, St. Mary's, Wake Forest, Loyola of Los Angeles, Hardin-Simmons, Miami (Ohio), Oklahoma A&M, Arizona, New Mexico and SMU.

As one of the stronger members of the Border Conference, Tech has consistently dominated the football scene and in 1949 went to the NAIB national cage tournament at Kansas City, only to lose to the finalists, Hamline, by a close margin. Tennis, golf and track round out the athletic slate, where red-and-black entrants carry on Tech's winning tradition.

For living quarters most Tech students choose the spacious dormitories on the eastern perimeter of the campus. These offer students adequate living space, large recreational rooms and cafeteria facilities at a low cost. Dormitory counselors are college-trained men and women specifically chosen for their ability in aiding young people put forth their best efforts. Pending construction of the Student Union building, Techsians use the recreational hall which accommodates 1,000, for dances and public lectures. The Museum was recently completed and offers a cultural haven for students and townspeople with a permanent collection of paintings, artifacts and other exhibits.

Special events in the Tech student's life include the Rodeo in May, Aggie barbecue, the April Varsity Show and the annual homecoming parade and football game in November. Prominent lecturers are brought to the campus each year and the 1949-50 offerings included Margaret Bourke-White, Clifton Fadiman and Ogden Nash.

Ordinarily, the students get together with these famous visitors either before or after the lectures and have valuable chin-fests with these notables.

No summary of Tech or its achievements would be adequate without mentioning the textile engineering department, the only one west of the Mississippi or the Tech Seismographic Observatory, only one between St. Louis and Phoenix.

But, as mentioned previously, the emphasis is on the future. Watch out for 1975!

Those Price Tags On Air Fighters Have Soared High

Weapons that caused Japan and Germany to cave in five years ago cost peanuts compared with those being built now.

The mighty Eighth Air Force made rubble of Germany with B-17 Flying Fortresses that cost $238,000 each. Today the Eighth is flying B-36 super-bombers at $7,757,584 a copy.

In 1944, the year of this country's greatest war production, 96,359 military airplanes were built at a cost of $16-billion. That amount would buy only 2,779 B-36's today.

The high cost of cold war bonibing is further revealed in a breakdown of fiscal 1950 Air Force purchases. Only 129, or 10.5 per cent, of all planes ordered have been bombers. But they take almost half of the Air Force's procurement funds. Forty-seven are B-36's and 82 are B-47 jets, at $3,702,439 each.

The Air Force and Navy are buying night fighters that cost more than the B-29's did during World War II. The average cost of a B-29 was $640,000. The Navy AJ shipboard attack bomber, which can deliver an atomic bomb, costs $1,105,599 a unit. Fifteen are on order.

For extremes in cost, consider the F-89 jet night fighter, which the Air Force is buying at $1,278,125 each,

The Crow Loses

TORONTO, Canada.—Police used a shotgun and a riot gun in a two-hour battle with a berserk crow in a Toronto cemetery.

The big black bird, whose mate had set up housekeeping in a tree overlooking the tombstones, caused trouble for a week. It made at least six dive-bombing attacks on funeral-goers.

Feathers flew as the riot gun was brought into play, but they turned out to belong to the nesting mate who had been minding her own business.

It took a blast from a .410 shotgun to get Daddy Crow where he sat cawing insolently from a tree top.

Scouts Ready For Jamboree

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The youth of the nation will keep rendezvous with some of its most historic dead on June 30, when 40,000 Boy Scouts of America pitch tents at Valley Forge for their National Jamboree that extends through Independence Day.

Joined by scouts from a score of neighbor and overseas nations, they will set up their camps on one-fourth of Valley Forge State Park's 2,000 acres. They will learn at first hand the full import of the literally cold war waged for independence on those snow-clad slopes 20 miles northwest of Philadelphia 172 winters ago.

Climbing toward a new record this year, the flow of visitors to the park is expected to increase while the scouts are encamped. Even without such special incentive, the total has exceeded 1,000,000 annually in recent years, notes the National Geographic Society.

In a certain neighborhood live three families whose names are Outlaw, Gamble and Steal.

Climbers Get Early Start

If you are ever near Bogata, Texas, don't be alarmed at the sight of "midget" linemen working on telephone poles. They probably will be Tommy and Teddy Smelser, whose father owns the Bogata Telephone Exchange.

Tommy, 11, and Teddy, 8, often don their work clothes and climbers whenever their dad needs help repairing lines. They can assemble telephones, string wire, test for trouble and dig holes.

"I can run the switchboard, too," bragged 59-pound Teddy.

"Don't say I can do that," declared 66-pound Tommy. "That's just for sissies."

Tommy and Teddy, in the sixth and second grades, respectively, have a pair of miniature climbers and a small-size safety belt. However, there is only one set, which makes them have to wear them turn about.

"I can't work them both together," said Mr. Smelser. "They always want to do the same thing."

Mrs. Smelser isn't sure she approves of the boys climbing the high poles, although she hasn't really objected yet.

"The other day I saw Tommy high in the air, with one leg over a cross arm, soldering with a small torch," she related. "I told him he had better come down, but he said, 'Aw shucks, I've done this lots of times,' and went right on working."

Keep Poultry Cool, Content

DURING THE summertime, it often becomes difficult to keep poultry houses comfortable. This is especially true in houses that are not insulated and well ventilated. Today, many poultrymen are installing fans in their laying houses, as well as in long brooder houses to help ventilate and keep the buildings comfortable.

In severe hot weather, all openings in the houses should be opened and kept open, especially those close to the floor, so any air that circulates will give the birds relief.

Birds on range can be made comfortable in real hot weather by housing them in shelters having only wire sides.

IF THE FLOCK has not been culled so far this season and there are a number of birds not laying, it will pay to give the flock a thorough culling, catching each bird and examining it to keep only those that are laying. After this thorough culling, continue to watch for any birds that show signs of not producing. By culling the non-producers from the flock, a poultryman lowers his feed costs, lessens his labor and increases his efficiency. This is especially important if one is to receive the maximum profit from his flock.

KEEPING CHICKENS in Cages, by Roland C. Hartmann, is the first book describing the methods being used successfully by California poultrymen who are following the practice of housing their layers in outdoor individual cages. It is a complete and detailed book on the management of laying chickens in individual outdoor cages as practiced in southern California and other areas having a mild climate.

Types of cage houses, selection of cages, growing pullets for replacement, lighting practices used by cage growers, successful feeding methods, protection from extreme heat and cold, one bird vs. two birds to a cage, are some of the topics covered in this book. Published by the author, price $3.25.

Habit Kills Him

The lifelong habit of "swallowing things" led to death for I. A. Northrup of Medina, Ohio.

Coroner Andrew Karson said the 39-year-old piano tuner died of peritonitis caused by injuries resulting from a six-inch machine shop punch, a large spike, a four-inch hat pin and two thermometers discovered in his stomach during an autopsy.

Milk Rebellion

Expectant mothers in Polykastron, Greece, have rebelled at drinking United Nations powdered milk. The first two who drank it gave birth to twins, the first born in the village in 190 years.

The entire water supply for the 25,000 people in Boulder, Colo., is obtained from a glacier which the city owns.

FIRST PLANTING MAKE SUCCESSIVE PLANTINGS ABOUT TEN DAYS APART SECOND PLANTING THIRD PLANTING

PLANT CORN IN SQUARES TO INSURE POLLINATION. IN CULTIVATING DO NOT HOE TOO DEEP, AS CORN IS SHALLOW ROOTED

Sweet Corn Makes Real Dish For The Family All Summer

There are two ways to obtain a long harvest of sweet corn. Make several plantings of an early variety, or plant at the same time three or four varieties which mature one after the other.

When hybrid sweet corn is used, the latter method is popular. Hybrid sweet corn varieties tend to mature more uniformly than the open-pollinated varieties, giving a shorter harvest season. By planting four varieties, maturing in 60, 70, 80 and 90 days, or thereabouts, a harvest of six weeks may be obtained.

Similar results might be had by making four sowings of an early variety, about 10 days apart. But for a fall crop it will usually be found best to sow a late variety, taking 80 to 90 days to mature, as the early types seldom do as well in the fall weather.

In sections where the European corn borer has become established, it is necessary to kill or outwit this pest in order to harvest a full crop. The moth which lays eggs of this insect emerges from winter quarters when the weather is warm and the early-planted corn is about three feet tall. Eggs are laid on the underside of the corn leaves, or the leaves of a plant having "grassy" leaves similar to corn. Oats, gladioli and many other plants may be chosen as egg-bearers.

When insects hatch out on corn plants they eat along the leaf, making their way toward the stalk, and enter the stalk where the leaf joins it or climb to the top and eat into the tassel. To protect the corn, after the eggs have been laid, it is necessary to kill the insects before they enter the stalk. The best treatment is to dust them with 5 per cent DDT. Repeat this in 10 days, as a minimum protection. It is better to dust four times, five days apart.

To outwit the corn borer, the first planting may be delayed 10 days to two weeks until other plants are tall enough to attract the egg layers. Those who plan to try this method should seek the advice of their county agricultural advisers as to the best dates for planting.

Sweet corn is usually planted in drills, with plants spaced 8 to 18 inches apart, and rows two to three feet apart, depending on the height of the variety. Fertilizer should be applied in shallow trenches on both sides of the row, as with other vegetables. Since the roots are close to the surface cultivation should always be shallow. Seed should be covered an inch deep in early planting, two inches when the soil is dry.

The Garden...

Vegetables need one inch of water each week during warm weather. If rain fails to supply it, the gardener must. Don't sprinkle, but soak the soil.

All cucumbers will climb if they are permitted to do so. In a small vegetable plot, cucumbers, tomatoes, peas, beans and melons can be grown on the fence.

Give big fruiting peppers plenty of room. Expert growers allow them two and a half feet in the row. Give them plenty of water. They are hot and thirsty.

Keep out of the bean patch when it is wet if you don't want rust.

Staked tomatoes which need pruning should be inspected every other day during the early summer, otherwise branches which should be pruned may grow too big.

Ashes of wood, soft coal and hard coal are all valuable to loosen heavy clay soil, but it is best to let soft coal ashes weather for a season to get rid of toxic substances.

Late May and early June are busy transplanting times in the well-organized vegetable garden. Celery, peppers, eggplants, tomatoes, onions and leeks all can be on the move then from frame and seedbed to the garden.

Thank-You Notes are Symbol of Character

No matter how small a gift you may have received for some occasion, if the giver is too far away to thank in person, an informal thank-you note should be sent to express your gratitude.

Don't worry about not being an accomplished author. Very few people are of professional caliber. Your little note will be greatly appreciated because it comes from you. Such kindnesses always are remembered. Keep your note short and sprightly and try to imagine yourself actually talking to the person. Don't think you have to write a long, formal letter.

Write with enthusiasm, and no matter how awkward the note might sound to you, it will be gratefully received. Just think of yourself as a giver and how disappointed and hurt you are when no notice is taken of your kind gesture.

Be careful not to follow a formal, stiff pattern every time you write a thank-you note. Express your personality and individuality and remember to be sincere. Add bits of news that you know will interest the person to whom you are writing. Make your thank-you expression comparable to the gift you received with such pleasure.

Remember it's not what you write, but just the fact that you've written that counts.

A Hint About Hats

Height and profile emphasis are stressed in hats for the matron. Older women, especially those inclined to be stout, look well in a hat with trimming arranged higher than the crown. A small, irregular brim also is becoming.

Gloss On Short Hair

Short hair may be kept glossy if brushed frequently. Start at the nape of the neck and brush upward. Wipe your brush often to remove dust and oil.

Hints for Household Make Work Pleasant

Occasional household hints save a lot of time and worry for the lady of the house. Here are a few you'll find handy.

Make cheese crumbs for au gratin dishes. For each cup of corn flakes melt 1 tablespoon of butter. Stir in corn flakes and from 1 to 4 tablespoonfuls grated cheese. Sprinkle the cheese flakes over the top of such mixtures as cabbage, fish or vegetables in a cream sauce; well-drained, cooked spinach, or similar dishes. Place in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F, for from 10 to 15 minutes to brown.

French toast is extra delicious if slices of bread are dipped as usual in an egg or milk mixture, then in fine corn flake crumbs before frying.

For getting dog hairs off a living room rug, there is no substitute for a corn broom.

To be sure that your new broom will sweep clean, check carefully to see that the broom corn is of uniform length.

USDA Award Is Made To Recipe Authority

First woman to be honored with a Distinguished Service Award from the U. S. Department of Agriculture was Lucy Maclay Alexander, whose varied researches on meat and poultry cookery have influenced many a cook-book writer and many a cook.

Miss Alexander's work in the department's bureau of human nutrition and home economics led to the modern method of cooking meats at temperatures best suited to each. Cooking meats at low to moderate, instead of high temperatures, keeps protein tender, lessens shrinkage, and holds in juices. In these experiments, she supervised the cooking and judging of some 2,900 cuts of beef, 3,800 cuts of lamb and 1,700 cuts of pork, 900 turkeys and 300 chickens.

Miss Alexander's conviction that a thermometer for meat cooking would be practical and useful for housewives interested manufacturers in making a special short thermometer of sturdy construction that could be inserted in roasts. In the past two years, she has started a new line of research on cooked yields of meat and poultry, which promises to serve as an aid in the market grading of these foods.

Shetland Ponies Sell For Small Fortune At Sales

The following excellent story by A. E. Kull in The Farmer-Stockman leaves no doubt about one thing: Shetlands will sell as long as children want ponies.

It's the custom for livestock breeders to reach for the top rung rather than rest serenely part way up. So far as I know, Harry Lookabaugh of Watonga was one of the first in Oklahoma to attract national attention with his reds-whites-and-rosans.

A few years later the boys down in Hereford Heaven had movie cowboys sharing top billing with Hereford bulls.

Then the Shetland ponies burst into the picture, establishing Oklahoma and the Southwest as the Pony Paradise of the world. A big statement, you say. Yes, but true.

At the dispersal sale of ponies owned by the late Lew Wentz, world records fell like ten-pins in a bowling alley. This was shortly after the Perry Carlile sale at Perry, Okla., and the National Breed Promotion sale at Gainesville, Texas, where new records were also established. These records were brushed aside by this, one of the most astounding pony sales of all time.

World Record

When the filly Alexis Smith sold for $1,450, topping the world's record by $200, established at Gainesville on Sept. 17, it was quite evident that the Larigos and Linwoods as blended by the skilled hand of Lew Wentz were on their way to new heights as well as homes. These ponies came into the sales ring unshod, unclipped and unpampered, but their quality could not be hidden by the fur coats ponies are wont to don as winter approaches.

W. P. (Bill) Atkinson, who bought one-third of all the ponies offered at the National Breed Promotion sale, was the big buyer, adding 14 top ponies to the 33 purchased at Gainesville. He had 100 to start with.

The Star of Linwood, the first of the two great Linwood stallions, brought $3,000 from the Corolanne Farms of Norfolk, Va.

A few more mares were sold and then the Star's younger full brother, the Earl of Linwood, was sold for an even $4,000, with Billy Atkinson as buyer.

There will be no attempt to name all who have contributed to the development of the breed, but two names stand out: Will Williams of Denton, Texas, and Perry Carlile of Perry, Okla.

For more than 45 years Williams has worked to produce better ponies, while Carlile started about 30 years ago.

Of those who have come into the picture during the past 15 years, Asa Hutchinson of Ada must be placed at near the head of the class. He has built up one of the finest pony farms in the country, and he is now a member of the board of directors of the American Shetland Pony Club. He was in charge of the 1949 National Breed Promotion sale.

Dr. Earl McBride of Oklahoma City, who has been campaigning thoroughbreds all the way from Cuba to Canada, has also fallen for the shaggy little Shetlands. At the Carlile sale he was the big buyer, acquiring 12 outstanding mares, winners of many blue ribbons.

At the Gainesville sale he was again a heavy buyer. At the Wentz sale, among other fine animals, he bought the beautiful young stallion Supreme's King Genius, paying $1,800, the third highest price paid at that sale.

They Want Ponies

Another prominent business man who is attracting attention by the type of ponies he is acquiring is John Lemon of Hobart, Okla. He has been a major buyer at all three of the big sales. At the Wentz sale he bought the famous brood mare Nancy Jane, whose four colts sold at the same sale for $3,190. He is also the owner of General Larigo, a great stallion once sold by the late Lew Wentz for $1,500.

One question seems to bother many onlookers who are amazed at the demand for and the prices paid for ponies, and often ask me, "How long will the demand last and where is the market going to be?"

Some five or six years ago I asked Will Williams of Denton, Texas, that same question. His answer was, "I don't know how long it will last, but the market has been good during the 40 years I have been raising ponies."

To me it seems that American boys and girls have the real answer: they all want ponies.

Hobo Sues Road

Joseph Knight, a hobo, filed a $50,000 damage suit at Pontiac, Mich., against the New York Central Railroad, charging he got rough treatment while "riding the rods." Knight charged that kitchen car employes poured scalding water on him through a trap door when he refused to get off the car.

City Detective Makes Leather Hobby Pay

The smell of leather was strong up and down the street along "saddle row" in North Fort Worth.

O. E. Ball always liked it. He liked to watch the saddlemakers tool the leather and produce their beautiful works of art in leathercraft. And so he would stop by and look in as he passed the various leather shops.

That was many years ago, when he was just a kid. But he grew up on the North Side and later went to work as a city detective. The yearning to make things of leather was still hanging on.

So three years ago, the 38-year-old Fort Worth officer started buying equipment to pursue his longed-for hobby—leathercraft. And he knew most everybody who started making things of leather always started off making belts or billfolds.

"I'll make holsters for guns," he mused to himself. "Maybe I can make my hobby profitable, too."

Garage Shop

He started his hobby, and today in his garage at 409 Hamilton, Fort Worth, a big pile of orders for holsters and "slap-jacks" is keeping him busy every hour he can spare.

"It's a lot of fun and pays a good profit, too," he says. "If I wanted to devote my full time to it, I could make a good living."

The "slap-jacks" he makes for a wholesale company are used as night sticks. They have a steel spring handle and a fourth of a pound of lead in the end. They are finely finished and custom made for balance and weight.

Another item which has been popular in the Ball leather hobby garage is holsters for rifles. He uses steer hide, regular eight-ounce leather, and it retails for about $15.

Bought at Tandy

Nearly all his holsters are lined and engraved. Fancy designs are always popular, and Mr. Ball says they are easy.

"I bought nearly all my equip-

Return of the Goober

Pres. Frank Gagan of the San Francisco Seals, tried to chase the peanuts out of his ball park, but the noise the movement made caused him to change his mind. Gagan's records showed it was costing $20,000 a year to clean up the hulls. So why have peanuts at all, he reasoned. But in 24 hours after he issued his edict he got complaints from the Peanut Venders' Union, the Peanut Pickers' Association, a peanut bag company, a flock of fans and some others.

ment at Tandy Leather in Fort Worth and started out," the city detective recalled. "And now I've got so many orders on hand that I could spend every day on the job." However, he says, it is better to keep leathercraft as a hobby. Especially in his case. Because he loves his detective work, too, and the leathercraft affords him diversion and at the same time profit.

He lives with his wife and 6-year-old son, Jerry, in their modest home at 3409 Hamilton.

Only a small investment in leather and tools is necessary to produce almost any hobby item in leather, Mr. Ball said.

Ramp Eaters' Convention; and Smelly

Ever hear of a ramp-eaters' convention? If you haven't, you are strictly normal and will wish to know what ramp is.

Ramp is short for "rampion," a wild vegetable vaguely related to the onion. It grows in North Carolina. Some folks say it is the only plant known to have developed from an animal—the polecat.

The nineteenth annual convention of ramp eaters convened in Black Camp Gag, high in the mountains of Western North Carolina, this month. The ramp eaters chose the isolation of the mountains for obvious reasons.

Rampion is a bulb about the size of an onion. It has two broad leaves about eight inches long. And its odor is enough to drive most persons wild.

The bulbs are gathered about 24 hours before the eager ramp eaters—numbered in the thousands—surge to the site of their convention to devour the "choice" vegetable.

Even the best friends of a rampion eater won't hesitate to tell him his breath is unpleasant, but they will envy him the good time—other than eating ramps—he has at the annual convention.

At the convention this year, the ramp eaters enjoyed square dancing and mountain music, watched clog dancing and watched or participated in other entertainment.

Only the most daring of the ramp-eaters friendly critics attend the conventions. Consequently, the ramp eaters are a close-knit group. They haven't any other choice.

The RANGE RIDER--and The EDITORS

By WELDON OWENS
LOUISE ALLEN in Gaines County (Seagraves, Texas.) News: "There are young women who'll make good wives whether Papa foots the bills or not, and young men who'll succeed despite a helpful father-in-law. But by and large, we think the couples who make their own way are more likely to be happy."

* * *
MISS ALLEN'S hope is well founded. Some of my relatives in East Texas, for instance, are the answer to her prayer. I've seen Aunt Merl out in the field plowing and it looked like she would have to give up right in the middle of a row while the hot sun was beaming down. But she wouldn't let Uncle Bib help her. She would keep right on pulling until she got out of the deep sand, while at the same time, maybe, in the next field, another woman was using a mule or tractor or horse to pull the plow. Uncle Bib was partly responsible for her sweet character, though. He was so good to her. When the East Texas Sand Farm Plow Union met to set up the laws, most of the men wanted the wives to push the plow. But Uncle Bib led a movement making that cruel to women, and the law was changed to read "and said wife shall be entitled to pull the plow down the field, and no man shall force, invite, request, hire or suggest that women shall push a plow."

* * *
 When a man is wrapped up in himself, he makes a small package. . . . A fellow with both feet on the ground won't fall far.

* * *
UNCLE ZEB in The Claude (Tex.) News: "I got a kick out of the little story Dr. W. H. Clark of Claude Baptist Church told about the woman who felt bad all the time. Even when she felt good she said she felt bad because she knew that it wouldn't last long, and she would feel bad again."

Aunt March was just like that. Come time to churn, and she always was nearly dead with a cold. But some kind of social function would perk her up to fine fettle, until the conversation turned to rheumatism, bad teeth or stiff joints. It was then that she stole the show. Her scar was always the biggest, her fever the highest or rheumatics the worst. But she had her fine points. She could dip a can of snuff every day and you'd never know it. She had a way of working her wrist up to her mouth without you noticing it, and she'd come down with it real quick and leave her lip perfectly dry again. She was always the most talented one when they all got together. And when she was talking she never had to stop to inhale. She could keep right on going and breathe inward at the same time. The snuff finally got her, though. She was 97.

 Teach your child to hold his tongue. He'll learn fast enough to talk. . . . It is better to remain silent and thought a fool than to open your mouth and remove all doubt.

* * *
E. F. STAHL in Melrose (N. M.) News: "There will be a meeting of all presidents of the civic clubs who donated money to the swimming pool, since they do not agree on disposal of the money."

No cause for alarm, though. Brother Stahl. Disposal of money is certain, but methods are not. And likewise disagreement. Was it not Disraeli who said, "I do not agree with a word the man says, but with my life I shall defend his right to say it." Oh well, regardless, when people get together and discuss spending money, they need a few bankers scattered in the crowd. You can always tell when there's one around. Even at a banquet. If you ask somebody to pass the rolls, you'll hear the banker ask: "Say, couldn't you get by on half a roll?"

* * *
 Folks in the Dust Bowl say the hardest thing to keep down on the farm is the farm. . . . The fellow who is always complaining that his wife can't cook like his mother should have married somebody as old as his mother. . . . Two kinds of people are living within their income: Stingy persons and those who can not get credit.

A. D. ESTLACK in Donley County (Tex.) Leader: "There have been a number of complaints coming in as regards to dog poisoning here the past two weeks, and this creates a very bad situation. If the guilty person is caught or proven guilty, he will be given the limit. If stray dogs are bothering you, just call City Marshal R. T. Brown. If your neighbor's dog is bothering you, call your neighbor up and give him a chance to do something with his dog. . . . Poisoning any animal is one of the meanest things any man could do."

Leading a dog's life nowadays has its blight. Time was when most dogs were geared to operate out in all kinds of weather and they knew what not to eat and drink. But fancy breeding and petting have made most dogs like a lot of people. They've got to have food out of the can and be in bed by dark. However, the plea for kindness is well spent. We hope the situation is eased in Mr. Estlack's territory and action is taken. For, after all is said and done, a lot more is usually said than done.

 Too many folks would rather pray for forgiveness than resist temptation. . . . When a man brags about

BEST OF THE MONTH

A high-pressure salesman was trying to sell a farmer some new kind of feed that had a special preparation in it.

"And another thing about this feed that you'll like. I'm sure you never heard of anything else like it," said the salesman to the farmer.

"What is it?" asked the farmer.

"Well, when you mix this stuff with the hog feed, they can digest their meals in about half the time they've been using," the salesman explained.

"Shucks, whadda fcare? What's time to the hogs?" the farmer answered.

RUBY CREE in The Hatch (N. M.) Reporter: "Burton Roach, speaking of the Hatch Valley Chamber of Commerce, said, 'Here, we have the youngest chamber of commerce in the state and look at what you have accomplished. The entire state should be proud of you.'"

* * *
 The fact that the Hatch Chamber of Commerce is so young is cause for pride. The birth of such a community baby is indicative of a healthy municipal family. The organization can do wonders for its people. And its people should give generously, so funds can go toward development of a better place in which to live. There are still too many citizens who dodge their individual responsibility. I'll never forget Uncle Ide's brother. He loved thick tobacco. He was flipping a quarter when the lady from the church came by for a contribution to rebuild a poor member's house. She asked him for the quarter. But he replied, "I'll go in here and buy a plug of tobacco with it and let the grocer get credit for givin' it." He had a vicious attitude. Just before he died, the doctor told him he had better make out his will since a mad dog had bitten him, and he may have hydrophobia. He started writing and the doctor told him it looked like it was a rather long will. "Will, nothing!" he retorted. "This is a list of the people I'm gonna bite." When he died, he left everything he had, though.

It's a Good Idea To Tag the Boxes

Of necessity, some of your belongings must be stored on the top-most shelf of your closet. And usually, the things that are kept up there are thrown together quite haphazardly.

First, tidy your closet and carefully box or package your "junk." Then, so you'll know what is in which box, attach a long string to each package. At the end of the string attach a tag that describes the contents of the box.

When you have your belongings carefully stored in this manner, it won't be necessary to upset them.

The person who habitually blows his own horn often comes out the small end of it.

The attractive miss, a veteran scene stealer, has a bright film future. But she isn't sure she'd like to go on playing "brat" roles.

* * *

LORA LEE MICHEL, the nine-year-old who ran away from her life as a $100 a day actress, is through with the movies—by a judge's order. Lora Lee has been made a ward of the court.

ACCORDING to Hollywood switchboard operators, Jane Wynn has the most polite voice; June Haver the most considerate; Virginia Mayo the most gracious; and Joan Crawford the most business-like voice among popular actresses.

Chronic Disease Is Man's Worst Enemy

State Health Officer of Texas, George W. Cox, believes chronic diseases represent the biggest problem facing health officials today.

Recent statistics compiled by the Bureau of Vital Statistics, Texas State Department of Health, show:

1. One-third of all deaths among 15-29 year old are due to chronic diseases with tuberculosis being the leader.

2. "Well over half" the mortality in the 30-40 age group is due to chronic disease with heart trouble, cancer and tuberculosis being the leaders.

3. "Almost 8 out of 10" deaths in the 45-59 bracket are caused by this disease classification with the proportion rising to 85 per cent for those 60 to 74 years old.

4. For those 75 and over, chronic diseases cause 82 per cent of the total mortality. The slight decrease in percentage over age 75 is because of the high susceptibility to accidents, pneumonia and influenza occurring among the aged.

The Top Alibi

LOS ANGELES, April 29—Clarence Williams, 51, pleaded guilty to failing to signal for a left-hand turn but gave the judge this alibi:

"The reason my window wasn't down and I didn't signal was that I had raindrops in my car," said Williams. "They'd have flown out or caught pneumonia."

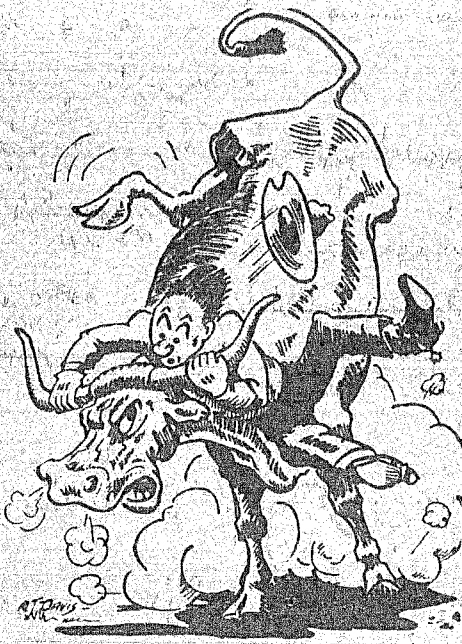

"Best excuse I've heard in two years," commented Judge Roger A. Pfaff when he heard the case yesterday. "Five dollar fine—suspended."

After ten full seconds of study we have evolved a mathematical equation rivaling Einstein's. Here it is: Love equals 0/2.

No man is born great. The only way to become great is to roll up your sleeves and battle your way to greatness.

Strange, but True—

The law has gone astray in Bloomville, Ohio. A motorist can park on the wrong side of the street next to a fire plug in front of the police station and still escape, technically, a parking ticket.

Bloomville's village ordinances have been lost, and town councilmen have not had time to enact replacements. Until they do, the only local law enforcement agent with any power is the sheriff. He is called from Tiffin, 12 miles away, when arrests or other criminal actions become necessary.

The mayor of Bloomville thinks the ordinances may have been thrown away when old papers were cleaned out of town records. One thing he knows for sure: Nobody can be arrested for violating a law when there is no law on the books.

Bloomville has a population of about 750 and, fortunately, a record for respect for law and order.

* * *

He tried, but Eugene Henderson couldn't chew fast enough before he was arrested in Columbus, Ohio, for possessing lottery slips.

In court, officers who arrested Henderson testified that he stuffed 14 lottery slips into his mouth. They were badly chewed, the patrolmen said, but still legible.

* * *

Hiccups plagued Al Gates of Miami for several days. He tried every known remedy, but the hiccups continued.

One day, while driving to another city, his car skidded into a dry canal. The accident scared him so much that the hiccups stopped. He thinks he is cured forever.

* * *

A witness was testifying against Elmer Owen Wilson on a charge of drunk and disorderly conduct, in Bristol, Va. Just then Wilson interrupted the testimony with:

"Aw, judge, why don't you just give me six months on the road." Judge Robert Davis obliged.

Helpful Hints

In buying a used car, it is wise to ascertain if the fenders have been undercoated, for here is the first point of deterioration, especially in cars that are permitted to stand out in the weather.

* * *

Tiny cracks around the window frames often can be filled by using thick paint.

* * *

Ordinary nail polish will remove paint spots from window panes, even after the paint has become very hard. Soak it up for about 10 minutes, then scrape it off with a razor blade.

* * *

The failure of paint to adhere properly to the side of a house often can be traced to excessive humidity inside the home. This condition will sometimes exist when the building has been improperly or sparsely insulated.

* * *

Don't worry about removing the wax from your car before having it repainted. The paint shop has a way of taking this off quickly and thoroughly.

* * *

Deck paint will provide a fine finish for basement floors. It comes in many colors and gives a very attractive appearance.

* * *

Usually a good piece of mahogany furniture does not require wax because the wood itself has been properly finished. But if the surface does become dull, it is better to use a fine brand of polish.

All Those Comforts of Home Got Under Way Back In 1790

Last month was the anniversary of the establishment of our United States Patent System. The bud that has flowered and ripened into a harvest of 2,500,000 patents in 1950 was a document signed by George Washington in 1790.

Many of the most important inventions in history have been the fruit of that harvest, from which humanity around the world benefits greatly. American machines have lifted the burden of back-breaking toil, and have multiplied job opportunities many times, National Patent Council observes.

Giant industries have grown up from inventions which have not only expanded job opportunities but have created wealth and prosperity. All Americans share this wealth, usually in proportion to their contributions to it. We have achieved the highest living standards in the world. In the shadow of the stacks and walls of our great factories may be seen spacious parking lots filled with automobiles, symbols of the wealth shared by workers.

Opportunity Is for All

Opportunity for invention is open to all of these workers. The Patent Office plays no favorites, National Patent Council declares. It offers the same opportunity, the same hope of reward to every individual. The American Patent System is as democratic as the Constitution wherein it is rooted.

Thomas Jefferson saw to it that the Patent System got off to this democratic start. As Secretary of State he was the first Patent Office administrator. He also was the first examiner and personally examined every application. Jefferson himself was an inventor. While he did not use his office to take out patents for his inventions, he is credited with having devised an improved moldboard for the plow and was the first to introduce the swivel chair.

On March 14, 1794, the Patent Office acknowledged the first great American invention. On that day Eli Whitney obtained his patent for the cotton gin. The word "gin" is a contraction of the word "engine." This invention boomed our cotton industry from a low place in the production scale to the highest in the world. It marked the birth of our textile industries.

Later came the distinguished list of inventors that includes Cyrus H. McCormick, inventor of the reaper; Samuel Colt and his revolver; Samuel F. B. Morse, the telegraph; Charles Goodyear, vulcanization of rubber; Elias Howe, the sewing machine; Robert Fulton, the first commercially practical steamboat; John W. Hyatt, celluloid and the plastics industry; George Westinghouse, the air brake; Eli H. Janney, the car coupler—this coupler and the air brake were vital to expansion of the railroad industry; Joseph F. Glidden, barbed wire; Alexander Graham Bell, telephone, and Ottmar Mergenthaler, the linotype.

Edison Tops the List

Thomas A. Edison invented so many great things and had an important hand in so many inventions credited to others that it is impossible to enumerate them here. He was the first to invent incandescent electric lighting, the phonograph, motion pictures, the stock ticker, fluoroscope for X-ray (which he did not patent, donating it for medical practice). And that is just the beginning.

It's the Song of A Lazy Farmer

There was a time when I was young I would have more than gladly wrung the neck of every dog-gone hen-out in Mirandy's chicken pen. Each bunch of birds she got, you see, meant lots of extra work for me: 'twas I who paid the bill for chicks and struggled with the brooder's tricks. 'twas I who left my bed at night to see that heat was still all right. 'twas I who furnished all the feed to satisfy each pullet's greed. 'twas I who weekly had to scoop a ton of litter from the coop, and if by chance some eggs were laid, Mirandy got what cash they made.

But nowadays the system's changed, the whole routine's rearranged. Electric brooders purr along, it's seldom anything goes wrong; the house gets cleaned just once a year, there's nothing 'bout the chores to fear 'cuz feeders hold a week's supply, the pipe-fed fountain can't run dry. Each high-producing pullet lays so well, Mirandy gladly pays for her own chicks, and for the feed, and there's no longer any need for me to sit up with the sow or struggle with a bunch of cow, now I can rest my back and legs and live off of Mirandy's eggs. — The Farmer, Springfield.

Our Farm Expert Writes--

Practically every disease has a significant chain of symptoms that help make a positive diagnosis. Livestock owners, however, usually lack the scientific training and experience that is necessary in making an accurate diagnosis. The advice and service of a veterinarian should be sought at all times in the diagnosis and treatment of livestock diseases. There are, nevertheless, many general symptoms that every livestock owner should recognize. A recognition of these symptoms and a knowledge of their significance will serve as a warning to the owner. Symptoms of disease or disorders should never be overlooked or disregarded. Prompt recognition of sick animals and the proper treatment of the disease in its early stages are highly important.

Loss of appetite, which may be either partial or complete, is a very common general symptom of various diseases. However, loss of appetite also may be caused by over-feeding, insufficient water, lack of salt or other faulty feeding practices. The caretaker, knowing the feeding practices that are being followed, should be able to differentiate between loss of appetite due to faulty feeding and loss of appetite that is actually an early symptom of disease. Loss of appetite should never be overlooked or disregarded.

Cessation of rumination in ruminants is often closely associated with a loss of appetite. The causes may be much the same. No ruminant is dangerously ill as long as it continues to regurgitate.

Perverted appetite or the craving for things not ordinarily classed as foods, such as bones, sticks, rags, leather and manure, are early symptoms of deficiency diseases, such as a lack of sufficient phosphorus in the ration of dairy cattle.

A roughened hair coat is also a common symptom of many diseases in the earliest stages. A livestock man often remarks that "the hair stands on end" in describing such a condition.

Loss of hair, that may sometimes result in bald, denuded areas, is a common symptom associated with skin diseases or parasitic infestation.

Member of 4-H Club Has Fine Record In Her Community

An 18-year-old girl can be an efficient farmer, homemaker and student. And at the same time she can be of service to other girls in her community. Caroline Cook is proof of this.

Since she was 10 years old, Caroline has been an active 4-H Club member. She has built up a record of service to others that's hard to beat.

Caroline is responsible for organizing the Future Home-Makers of America Club in her home town of Elkton, Md. This is an organization for high school girls who are interested in home economics. At the first meeting of the club, Caroline was elected president of Elkton's chapter.

In 4-H work, Caroline has established an impressive record. She has taken part in every project the organization offered and has won special awards for cattle raising and room improvement.

Now Caroline is a college freshman. She is majoring in home economics. As to her future, Caroline is mainly interested in helping girls to grow up to be good home makers. She's getting the training she needs now to prepare her for such work in the future.

New Products Make Life Easier.. And Cheaper, Too

Life and living, as of 1950, will take its place in history as one of the most prolific years, providing its people with modern living and time-saving gadgets. Many are minor and many are major contributions.

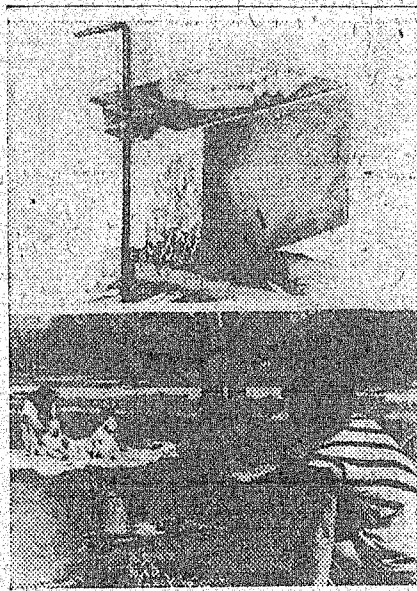

During the month of May, the following time-savers and money-savers took their place on the market:

Osrow Products introduced a rubberized Fitsall Adapter, to fit all faucets. It provides a strainer or directional spout on any size water outlet.

W. N. de Sherbinin Products of Brookfield, Conn., came out with graceful pin-up lamps that fit any 4-inch to 8-inch shades. They can be moved to any part of the house, are finished in lacquered brass and easily attached to form a bed lamp, reading lamp or ornamental lamp.

Harben, Inc., of Dallas, made outdoor lovers happy with a portable barbecue grill, pictured on this page. It's light but durable and will form a stove surface large enough to cook an entire family meal.

Burpee, famous for canning equipment, came out with an electric french fryer. It's automatic and cooks enough of any fried food to serve at least eight people. Three pounds of shortening or cooking oil are the only required equipment, and special features conserve and purify it for an unusually long time.

A moisture gauge also has been introduced. It plugs into the lawn and indicates how often watering should be done. Its red and white flag pattern lend a colorful air to the green lawn.

"When you are at a loss for words, it may mean an insufficiency of blood in the brain." It may also mean you know that anything you say may be used against you.

Why doesn't some botanist develop a lawn seed that grows horizontally instead of vertically?

So long as sentiment persists that bigness is bad, the girdle manufacturers won't have to worry.

Here's Famous Dill Pickle Recipe

It's still pickle time, and one of the prize dill pickle recipes in the South was created by Mrs. W. C. Call of Teague, Texas.

- |                               |                             |
|-------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| 3 qts. of apple cider vinegar | 3 or 4 small garlic buttons |
| 1 1/2 cups of water           | 2 or 3 medium hot peppers   |
| 1 1/2 cups of salt            | 2 dill weeds to each jar    |

Place the dill weeds in the bottom of the jar. Then pack cucumbers, onions, garlic and hot peppers in jars. Then pour over it the vinegar mixture when hot to the boiling point. Seal. This recipe makes 6 quarts of pickles.

You'll find every member of the family wanting to take along a jar on the picnic jaunt.

Sun Can Be Friend or Enemy to Pretty Lady Fun, Facts... Fancy Fillers

Don't fry in the noonday sun without suntan lotion or sun glasses. Straining for the sun's magic touch while you are still pale from the long winter may end tragically in over-exposure. Remember—there is no quick, easy road to a lasting, healthy tan.

Sunburn can have permanent destructive effects upon the skin, causing wrinkling, drying and irregular pigmentation. Sometimes it leaves a heritage of freckled, blotched skin that fails to tan for many a year. Such results can be prevented by taking the following precautions:

1. Apply a good sun-tan lotion evenly and all over. Read the label on your sun-tan lotion and make certain protection is promised by the manufacturers.
2. Take special care of the most exposed parts of your body—forehead, cheekbones, nose, chin, shoulders and backs of knees.
3. Re-apply sun-tan lotion when you return from each swim.
4. Watch the time. Beware of too long exposure, especially on the first day.
5. Use a lip pomade to prevent unattractive fever sores, chapping and cracking.
6. Use sun glasses to protect precious eye tissues.

THE FOURTH AT 96

Love blossomed when David Van Dorn, 96, fell off a bus right in front of Mrs. Camilia Barnard, 64, in Long Beach, Cal.

The couple then eloped to Tijuana, Mexico. Mr. Van Dorn coolly admits that it was her cooking that got him.

"People say I'm crazy," the beaming bridegroom said, "but I can't live in restaurants. She needed a home, too."

This is the fourth bride for Van Dorn, and the second husband for Mrs. Barnard.

SPORTS

PROFESSIONAL baseball has made Dr. Robert F. Hyland one of the best known surgeons in America. Everywhere the national game is played you hear the mention of his name. His specialty is fixing up athletes who have gone bad physically. Some years ago it used to be a fellow in Ohio called Bonesetter Reese. He too fixed a lot of bones and muscles for ball players. But Hyland is as widely known now as Reese ever was.

* * *

DR. HYLAND has his own ideas about what things are good for ball players. He advises them to pay strict attention to diet; not to over-eat, and not to mix foods that clash in the stomach. He tells his patients that sleep is highly important and that a star who stays out all night and then tries to play ball the next day is only headed for trouble. After a double-header, he says, a man should spend at least ten hours in bed.

* * *

THIS MAN of science, who has fixed up more players than any other doctor in the land, cautions against the use of hot lotions, and liniments, and he warns the athletes not to bind a sprained muscle because that only shuts off the circulation and retards healing. His last bit of sage advice is: "Never hide an injury from the manager. The faster you get after a sprain or a hurt the faster it will heal."

* * *

THE SURGEON puts great emphasis upon legs, and he believes a man's underpinnings can be saved if he will listen to sound medical advice. When the muscles in the calves become too tired a player should lie in bed with pillows under his legs. Another thing that's bad, he contends, is that many ball players run in a manner that puts maximum burden upon muscles and bones. He thinks too many men do not know how to run and slide.

* * *

SOME YEARS ago the St. Louis Cardinals asked Dr. Hyland to repair an injury to one of their stars. He worked a near miracle of surgery, and since then he has been in demand by most of the ball clubs. Even minor leaguers and some collegians go to him when they have an injury that fails to yield to ordinary methods.—Roger Powers.

Outside a town, along the highway, a large sign advertises meals at a local restaurant. Just 20 feet farther along is this billboard "Prepare to Meet Thy God."

Census Tells Uncle Sam How Many People Are In U. S.; But Dogs Still Uncounted

The recent census is giving Uncle Sam a reliable figure for the number of people in the United States. But nobody yet has come up with a definite count for "man's best friend," the dog.

Some estimates of the current canine population of the U. S. go as high as 25,000,000 or more, notes the National Geographic Society. Others are much lower. One "educated guess," made by an organization whose business is dogs, puts the number at about 15,000,000. The variance, of course, is due to necessarily incomplete records, obtained mostly from dog licensing statistics and other registrations.

At least it is known that the Indians had many domesticated dogs when the first European settlers arrived. Just how and when the ancestors of these beasts came or were brought to America is still a mystery, however.

Linked With Siberia

Anthropologists find no definite evidence that dogs were associated with the first men believed to have immigrated to America—the "red Mongoloids" from Siberia. Probably, it is suggested, the first dogs in America, also from Siberia, were later acquisitions by the transplanted savages after they had become more settled.

The bones of dogs have been uncovered by archeologists in the ancient Ohio Indian mounds, for instance, and early colonial accounts mention such animals in the domestic life of the Indians of the south and elsewhere, before the advent of the white man's poultry, horses and cattle.

The Indians of colonial times had little use for dogs as mere pets. The canines served more practical purposes as hunting assistants, as sentinels in inter-tribal wars and sometimes as food when game was short. Dogs also were sacrificed in ceremonial rites, and there are accounts of the burial of live hunting dogs to continue serving their deceased master.

The American plains Indians particularly used dogs for transport before the introduction of horses. In open country, tent poles could be dragged, and household goods and even babies were pulled by dogs in special harness.

An Old Friendship

The tie between men and dogs—shown by canine devotion in war and peace, in the saving of human lives, the guiding of the blind, the tracking down of man's game, and the guarding of his home and possessions—can be traced back to cave-dweller days.

The ancient Assyrians and Egyptians kept dogs readily identifiable as distinct breeds, among them the greyhound and mastiff. Egyptian dogs of 5,000 years ago were not only valued as companions of the hunt and household pets but often were regarded as sacred objects of worship.

In the world today there are about 225 clearly-defined breeds of purebred dogs. The United States alone spends hundreds of millions of dollars annually for the care of its pedigreed and mongrel pets. Last year, it was estimated, American dog owners bought something like a billion pounds of prepared dog foods. And the 1949 National Dog Week was observed in more than 3,000 communities.

Meet The Best Paid Man In The World--Hon. H. Truman

Rep. Roy O. Woodruff, Republican of Michigan, says President Truman is "one of the best, if not the best paid men in the world today."

Woodruff figured it this way:

"A private citizen, to match the standard of living now enjoyed by the President, would need an income of between $3,000,000 and $3,500,000 a year."

First off, Woodruff said, Mr. Truman has take-home pay of $110,000 a year. Woodruff said some $40,000 in taxes is taken out of Mr. Truman's basic $100,000 salary, but that he gets an additional $50,000 which is tax-free.

"How many other men have a take-home pay of $110,000 a year?" Woodruff inquired.

Then he listed presidential services as follows:

Forty-two "facilities" for travel, vacationing and entertaining—including planes, 35 White House automobiles, the yacht Williamsburg, private Pullman car and vacation retreats in Key West, Fla., and in Maryland.

An estimated staff of 665 persons to run them at an annual cost of $1,491,540.

A White House travel allowance of between $33,896 and $40,000, exclusive of air travel, which is charged to the Air Force.

The yacht Williamsburg, "for which crew costs alone are $190,000 annually."

The President's personal plane, the Independence, costing $1,133,000 to build and about $120,000 a year to man.

The President's private railroad car, costing between $250,000 and $350,000.

A destroyer escort for the yacht Williamsburg. Woodruff says it costs the Navy $876,000 a year to operate a destroyer.

Secret service guards and White House police costing $459,200 a year.

White House salary costs of $998,254 a year for a staff of 225.

"By comparison," Woodruff added, "President Roosevelt in 1945 had a staff of 53 costing $256,431, and President Hoover's staff totaled 37 at a salary bill of $127,200."

And in addition to the regular White House fleet of about 25 cars, Woodruff continues, it is getting a "luxury fleet" of 10 new cars.

These, he said, are specially-built limousines with "gold-plated door handles, vanities and perfume cases."

What's more, Woodruff added, even the White House secretaries, who "once walked to work, now arrive in White House cars."

All this enables him to enjoy "services undreamed of."
