HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

Repeatedly we hear that scores of men who may be properly termed permanent residents of Big Spring are out of employment through no fault of themselves but simply because there are no opportunities for them to be employed.

We also have heard that many of the men now employed expect to vote Thursday against issuance of water, sewer and viaduct bonds.

These men or their friends have complained that major construction jobs here are being manned by non-residents as well as resident laborers and craftsmen.

We do not believe a man is justified in voting against these bond issues because he has not been continuously employed in recent months.

On the other hand we believe sincerely that he would be justified in voting for the bonds because he has found it difficult to stay employed.

Why? Because the city manager has promised people that if the issues are approved the construction will be done under his supervision and that local residents will be employed on these jobs to the exclusion of non-residents as long as residents apply for positions.

The city manager has done nothing since he assumed his duties here to lead us to believe this promise will not be fulfilled to the utmost. On the other hand we are convinced that he is absolutely sincere of his word. And his record as a city manager leads us to believe he is perfectly capable of supervising the proposed construction.

We are not saying these things to boost the city manager or to in fairness state the conditions relative to this particular matter.

It is our opinion that the unemployed man who votes against these issues will be injuring himself. And what's more; he will be injuring the entire community.

That the major interest of the entire city right now is in the coming election is quite evident. We West Texans believe in sticking up for the things we believe are wise and right in public affairs. Therefore many of us sometimes say and do things in the heat of a contest over issues that we may regret later.

In the past the city has been swarmed with anonymously distributed handbills and circulars or opposing things due to be voted upon. Several times these handbills have appeared in the final hours of a campaign, the day before the election.

Any anonymous communication is distasteful to the average citizen. Especially when they are withheld until any who wish to reply to statements, accusations or claims made are not given the time in which to do so. And, after all, to reply to anonymous statements lends them weight and dignity they do not deserve.

Let us all hope that this practice, regardless of its source (and as to its source we know not) will not be employed this week before the bond election of Thursday.

And also, let's all vote; no matter how we vote, for or against, let every man and woman who has legal right exercise it at the polls Thursday.

PALATIAL STRUCTURE PLANNED

$300,000 Playhouse To Have No Superior In State

The Big Spring Amusement Company this week will exercise an option it holds on the J. B. Pickle property, 402 Runnels street, and will erect a palatial motion picture theater there as soon as plans can be completed and contract awarded. J. Y. Robb, head of the concern announced Saturday.

The site measures 100 by 140 feet, fronting east on Runnels and is being almost directly behind the R&R Ritz theater, a 125,000 plant built slightly more than two years ago by the same concern.

Architecture
Choice of architectural style for the new playhouse has not been definitely decided. Mr. Robb indicated that decision would be made within thirty days. He said, however, that it would be an "atmospheric" house; that is predominantly of one architectural mode. The Ritz is a splendid example of "atmospheric" theater architecture.

The new theater, completely equipped, will cost approximately $300,000, or almost twice as much as was put into the Ritz, which still is the most beautiful theater in this section of West Texas.

One of the features of the new plant will be installation of the latest improvement in film and screen design. The screen will be forty feet wide instead of twenty-four feet, the width of that in the Ritz. The film will also be wider than that now used. This equipment, being used now in the larger cities, greatly intensifies "depth" of the pictures.

Western Electric sound equipment will be used. This is recognized throughout the motion picture industry as the most satisfactory, Mr. Robb declared.

Central Plants
An unusual feature of the project will be refrigeration and heating plants designated not only to serve the new theater but also the Ritz, which will be directly across the alley from the new building.

Second to None
"This theater will be equally as beautiful and as well equipped as the new Texas theater in San Angelo theater in San Angelo and the Ritz in Corpus Christi, which at this time are recognized as the most beautiful in the state," said Mr. Robb. The R&R corporation, whose executives, H. B. Robb and Ed. Rowley also are interested in the Big Spring Amusement company, own the new San Angelo and Corpus Christi plants.

The R&R Lyric on East Third street was closed the night of February 22 and its sound equipment installed in the R&R Queen on Main street. Mr. Robb said he had been advised plans are being drawn for remodeling the Lyric building.

Industrial Survey Compiled Here Attracts Notice In Eleven States

That the industrial survey recently issued by the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce is attracting much attention among Chamber of Commerce officials is very evident from a glance at the Saturday morning mail received by Manager C. T. Watson.

In the United States Chamber of Commerce's weekly news letter of last week the following paragraph was carried: The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce has just issued an industrial report and survey of the trade territory of Big Spring which is a good example of what a chamber staff in a small organization can do in the prepara-

Big Spring church leaders have given their wholehearted endorsement to the Freiburg Passion Play, which will be presented at the municipal auditorium in San Angelo, March 10, 11 and 12.

The Rev. Dow H. Heard, pastor of the First Baptist church, and the Rev. W. H. Martin, pastor of St. Mary's Episcopal church, have expressed deep satisfaction that

Hess Tyler Given Death Penalty

MEMPHIS, Texas, March 1. (AP)—A verdict of guilty, assessing the death penalty, was returned here today against Hess Tyler, charged with killing Bryan Nell at Ell last January 30.

The state offered 20 witnesses, the defense, none. Nell, manager of the Farmers Union Store at Ell, was shot during an attempted robbery of the store. W. T. Cline, owner of the automobile in which Tyler and Granville Ray, also under indictment for Nell's murder, were riding the night of the shooting, was a witness, as was Ray. The latter is expected to be brought to trial in a few days.

Hess Tyler was arrested in Combs Saturday afternoon, February 8, by Sheriff Jess Slaughter and Deputy D. D. Dunn of Howard county, who had been watching for him since the shooting occurred near Memphis. When Tyler was grilled in Big Spring by members of the sheriff's department, James Little, county attorney and a newspaper man, he stoutly maintained his innocence and claimed he knew nothing of the shooting. Sheriff Slaughter returned Friday from Memphis where he was called as a witness in the case.

Maps Posted; Question Of Who Can Vote Answered; City Commissioners Give Position; Cole Urges Passage

Three sets of maps showing just where proposed sewer and water extensions will be constructed in case the bond issues, to be voted on March 6, receive a majority of affirmative ballots, have been posted for inspection of the general public.

Maps are posted at Buggy's Store on the north side, on the bulletin board at the superintendent's office at the T. & P. station and at the fire station on the corner of West Third and Scurry streets. Citizens desiring information concerning the exact program for extending water and sewer mains may secure details from the posted maps, which have been marked for that purpose.

Polls will open at 8 o'clock next Thursday morning, March 6, and will remain open until 7 o'clock that evening that all persons engaged in labor until 6 o'clock may cast their ballots.

V. R. Smitham, city manager, issued a statement Saturday to counteract a rumor that water and sewer extensions will be made to only thickly settled regions. He said that water and sewer service will be provided to all residences within the city limits and that the program is not governed by sectional growth.

WHO CAN VOTE?

The following statement was issued last night by the city attorney, James T. Brooks:

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
The question has been asked: Who are qualified voters in the Bond election to be held in the city on March 6th, and my answer is as follows:

"All those who have resided in the State of Texas for 12 months and in the City of Big Spring for 6 months prior to the date of the election and who hold a Poll Tax paid for the year 1929, prior to the first day of February, 1930, unless they are exempt from such Poll Tax on account of over age or on account of just having reached their majority, and who are property taxpayers of the City of Big Spring and by property taxpayers is meant—Those who on January 1st, 1930, owned property in the City of Big Spring liable for taxes. The fact that the tax has not been paid or that the property has not been assessed for taxes makes no difference. The word 'property' means either real estate or personal property of any kind."

Another question has been asked: Can those who live in Washington Place Addition vote? My answer is "YES."

Very truly yours,

JAMES T. BROOKS,

City Attorney

Mr. Brooks said last night the period within which absentee ballots may be cast will expire at midnight tonight and that such ballots may be cast today.

COMMISSIONERS' STATEMENT

The members of the board of city commissioners yesterday issued the following statement:

TO THE CITIZENS OF BIG SPRING:
On March 6, 1930, you will be called upon to vote upon the three Bond propositions that the City Commission of Big Spring has submitted to you upon petition of a large number of our citizens.

The present City Commission, the signers hereof, desire to endorse all of the propositions as submitted and believe that all of the propositions should be approved.

SEWER IMPROVEMENT BONDS

Our present Sewerage system was built for a town much smaller than we now have and of course is now inadequate for a town the size to which we have grown; sixty per cent of the people of our town are without sewerage connection and if the bond issue carries it will enable us to provide sewerage lines to all parts of our city and an adequate disposal plant will be built and moved far enough from the City Limits to avoid trouble in the future—that we have had in the past. We think that these improvements are necessary for the protection of the health of our citizens and that they should be made before mid-summer.

WATER IMPROVEMENT BONDS

As stated above, our City has grown very fast in the last three or four years and we have had to make many temporary improvements to meet this rapid growth and it has now become necessary to consolidate our gains and make some permanent improvements. From the best advice that we can obtain, we believe that we need additional fire protection for all parts of the city—that we need larger mains so as to correct many of the defects that now exist in various parts of the town so that all of our people can secure a bountiful supply of water at all times. We believe that we need an additional reservoir, so in case of emergency, or in case of a big fire, we will have plenty of water in storage to meet the emergency or put out the fire.

We also believe that it is good business to secure an additional water supply before it is needed so that we will be ready at all times to furnish water in abundance—regardless of the rapid growth of our town in the future.

We have a plan worked out which can be put into practice, if the present Water Bond Issue carries, that will save the citizens of our town in insurance premiums practically as much as they will pay out in taxes to pay these bonds.

VIADUCT IMPROVEMENT BONDS

The Texas & Pacific Railroad is one of our greatest assets. It means employment and a livelihood for a large portion of our citizens. The railroad has built immense terminal facilities in our town. Our street crossings are hazardous and the railroad company has proposed another viaduct at the Benton Street crossing; they to pay fifty per cent of the cost—the county thirty-five per cent—leaving the city fifteen per cent of the cost—which we think is a good proposition for Big Spring.

When the railroad company was in doubt as to the advisability of locating the shops at Big Spring, all of you were anxious that the City Commission make them any reasonable promise to secure their shops here. They only asked us for three things: first an adequate water supply—second, cooperation—and third, an adequate sewerage service.

At your request we promised all of these things and there is nothing that we promised but what is right and should be done and that you approved at that time.

We cannot give them proper sewerage service unless you approve the bonds because our disposal plant will not take care of our present condition.

We cannot give them the cooperation that we should give them in building the viaduct, unless you approve the Viaduct Bonds.

We believe that in order to fulfill the promise this town made then, it will be necessary to vote the Water Bonds because by so doing we will be able to give them the fire protection they asked for; and by voting the Water Bonds we will be able to secure an additional water supply out south of Big Spring and have it in reserve to meet any emergency or demand made of us, and we will be able to build additional storage that will enable us to, at all times, have two or three days' supply of water on hand, which we think is important.

At the election in April, we believe that the people of this town will be able to select men as their city commissioners who will see that this money is properly expended.

We have resources around us that many towns in this great Western country of ours would like to have, and those resources give us an opportunity to build a little city that we will all be proud of in the future. We ask that you lay aside all issues except those affecting these propositions and vote for the things that you think will be for the best interest of your town.

We believe that the best interest of your town requires and demands

PROMOTERS OF AD SCHEMES TARGETS

Approval of a merchants' secret vigilance committee to pass on all advertising projects or schemes offered local business men was given by the directors of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce at its regular meeting Friday. L. A. Eubanks, manager of the Retail Merchants Association, addressed the board on the subject, saying that the plan had successfully been employed in other Texas cities. San Angelo merchants, he declared, figured they saved $14,000 last year, practically all of which would have been taken out of the city.

"We've been swamped here, as everywhere, with so-called advertising schemes which, in the end, call not for purchase of advertising space but for donations from business men," said Mr. Eubanks. He said that not long ago persons came here and sold advertising space in song books which they said were needed by a local church. Several merchants "paid off," but the church got no song books, he added.

Some cities are eliminating this evil through secret vigilance committees, said Mr. Eubanks. The board voted its approval of the plan and the secret committee will be named by the Retail Merchants Association.

Turn 'Em Down
Promoters of these schemes can very easily be turned down through the Retail Merchants Association provided all merchants report to it when solicited so that the scheme may be passed on by the secret committee, it was pointed out.

Blotters, cook books, concert programs and numerous other things are used by these promoters. Instead of being submitted as opportunities to advertise they should be presented purely as donations, said Mr. Eubanks.

The board also approved a movement instituted by R. F. Scheig, chairman of the oil and gas committee, and Manager C. T. Watson to tender a banquet sometime this month in honor of executives of local oil refinery and pipeline companies. Mr. Watson said the idea already had been discussed with those men and that in accord with their wish an invitation had been extended to Frank Kell of Wichita Falls to be the principal speaker.

Members of the board said they wished sometime this year to put on a general "round up" celebration in honor of men engaged in all branches of the oil industry.

SPECIAL VENUE CALLED

Murder Case Scheduled Monday In Colorado

COLORADO, Texas, March 1. (AP)—A special venire of 108 has been ordered to appear in court here Monday for the trial of J. H. Tinsley, charged with the slaying of C. W. Scuddy last August.

Burglars Prey On Two Business Houses; Creamery Safe Knocked

Two business houses in Big Spring were burglarized late Friday night or early Saturday morning and Saturday night investigating officers had been unsuccessful in efforts to locate suspects in the two robberies.

The Snowwhite Creamery at 404-06 East Third street was the heavier loss. Thieves entered the building by way of the front door between 10:30 Friday night and 4:30 Saturday morning, knocked the knob from the safe located in the front office and escaped with $250 in currency and silver. Two checks in the safe were also missing, but officers believed no attempt would be made to cash the instruments.

WESTERN UNION OFFICE DEMOLISHED; DYNAMITE BELIEVED TO BE CAUSE

Woman Critically Burned, Foundation of Building Raised Four Feet

SAN ANGELO, March 1. (AP)—Mrs. J. A. Neilson, Western Union employe, was critically burned and five other employes were less seriously injured in an explosion which wrecked the telegraph company's office here tonight.

Seven persons were extricated from the wreckage, but only six of them were hurt seriously enough to remain at a hospital. A number of other persons walking by the office were cut and bruised by flying glass and debris.

Cause of the explosion was not definitely ascertained, although John Parker, fire chief, said it appeared to have resulted from a charge of dynamite. An investigation was under way. No reason could be assigned for the apparent dynamiting.

FEDERATION CAMPAIGN ANNOUNCED

Commencing Monday, members of the City Federation will open a drive for new members which is expected to enlist five hundred women in the federation activities.

Mrs. Steve D. Ford, who is chairman of the membership committee, assisted by Mrs. C. T. Watson and Mrs. L. L. Freeman, announced that an unusually large number of women, including many newcomers who had expressed interest in the work of the Federation, had agreed to accept memberships from their individual neighborhoods. These women will call on those living in their sections of the city during the first three days of the coming week.

Activities
The idea of the membership drive, which is an annual spring procedure, is to present the work of the past and coming years before the public and solicit its cooperation in the form of a year's membership at one dollar per member.

The City Federation this spring looks forward to paying off the Club House debt, if possible, by means of the coming Fiesta of Progress. The fact that the Fiesta is going to be sponsored by the City Federation is focusing the interest of all women in Big Spring on its unique opportunity; and gives membership a desirability that it may have lacked in the past it is declared.

Requirements for membership in the City Federation are broad enough to admit most of those interested. It is hoped therefore, by the Membership Committee, that the women of the city who are asked to join be ready to acquaint themselves with the civic-minded program of the Federation and facilitate the work of those aiding the committee.

Workers
The following women have agreed to cover the following sections of the city:

Washington Place, Mrs. C. D. Baxley and Mrs. V. R. Smitham; Edwards Heights, Dallas and (Continued on Page Two)

NEW AIRLINE TO OPERATE MONDAY

The initial flight of the Southwest Air Fast Express western extension line will start from Midland at 7 a. m. Monday and when the Lockheed-Vega ship lands at the Big Spring airport at 7:35 a. m. it is expected that a group of local municipal officials and others will welcome this, the second regular commercial air line through here.

C. S. Bailey is to be pilot on the extension line between Sweetwater and Midland, with Big Spring as a regular intermediate stop. From Sweetwater the line leads to Abilene, Wichita Falls, Oklahoma City, Tulsa and Kansas City. There also is a S.A.F.E. line from Tulsa to Dallas.

Erle P. Halliburton of Duncan, Okla., is head of the concern, which uses a large fleet of tri-motor Ford all-metal monoplanes and several Lockheed-Vegas.

The company's plans are to extend its system to the Pacific coast.

Taft's Condition Not Changed

WASHINGTON, March 1. (AP)—Former Chief Justice Taft was said by his physicians late tonight to be "just about the same," as at the time of their last examination.

Doctors Francis R. Hagner and Thomas A. Clayton, after visiting their patient about 11 o'clock, said that he was asleep and that they could not note any difference in his condition.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Holmes and son left Saturday morning for Wichita Falls and Amarillo. Mrs. Holmes and son will remain several weeks visiting Mr. Holmes returning in a few days.

Supplies For Wholesale Shooting Ordered And Grounds Tended

With plans for a league of gun club teams in Big Spring, Sweetwater, Wilbree, San Angelo and Odessa progressing satisfactorily, members of the Big Spring Gun club are preparing their club grounds and ordering supplies for wholesale firing.

The contemplated league would operate much on the same order as a baseball circuit with the big shoot scheduled early in the coming autumn.

Several members of the local organization have expressed their intentions to enter the Texas State Trapshoot at Houston in May. In anticipation of matching shots with some of the best marksmen in the state, stocks, drops, heel and other trapshooting terms form the general topic of conversation among gun club members.

92 Find Selves In Local Jail During February

A total of 92 men and women were lodged in the Howard county jail for periods ranging from one night to 28 days during the month of February, according to jail records released Saturday.

Drunkness again led as the most common offense for which men and women were placed in the county hall. Twenty-six of the 92 lodged in jail were charged with being drunk. There were 12 men and women charged with vagrancy during the month, eight with theft, seven for investigation and four for forgery. Less numerous offenses during February were swindling by bogus check, statutory assault, simple assault and aggravated assault.

County Nurse Reports; Dental Survey Planned

Work in administering diphtheria toxoid and in giving smallpox immunization to school children of the county during February has made the month's report submitted by Mrs. M. R. Shewalter, county health nurse, an unusually interesting one.

Examination of the teeth of children of the county has been begun, with a complete survey to be made this week. In one rural school, 32 of 38 children in the school were afflicted with diseased gums, the report shows. After two and one half weeks of treatment by teachers children show a decided improvement. Material for treatment three times each week was furnished by the county health unit.

Other interesting items in the month's report show: Diphtheria toxoid given to 175 children; five cases of smallpox reported early in February; a total of 296 school age and pre-school age children have been given vaccination fluid with the number of "takes" not yet determined; 75 individual conferences; six health inspections; seven visits to new schools; 27 visits to schools; 245 children inspected by the nurse; 213 inspected by doctors; 667 defects found among 230 defective children; defects corrected in 18 children; 45 health talks and 10 visits to homes of children.

Arrangements were made with City Manager V. R. Smith to immunize children of the Mexican school against smallpox free of charge. A total of 165 vaccinations were made.

Meriwether's Smith Resumes; Must Underream

Work was resumed on Meriwether Oil Company's No. 1 Smith Thursday, according to information from operators, who stated six inch casing must be underreamed from 1,725 feet to a total depth of 2,375 feet before new hole will be made in the semi-wildcat well in southern Howard county.

Meriwether's No. 1 Smith is 150 feet from the south line and 2,400 feet from the west line of section 45, block 33, township 2 south, T. & P. Ry. Co., survey and is approximately three miles north and slightly west of Glasscock Brothers' No. 1 Edwards, the nearest producer.

Harry Wilkinson Sells 300 Steers To Carolina Man

Harry Wilkinson, president of the Continental National Bank of Fort Worth, who owns and operates a large ranch west of Big Spring, has sold 300 coming two year old steers to J. B. Wheat of Coahoma, according to information received in Big Spring Friday.

The stock was sold by the pound and was weighed at the Wilkerson ranch Saturday. Wes Ford, superintendent of the Wilkerson ranch, acted as agent for the owner in arranging the sale.

There are 150 or 200 head of cattle now on full feed at the Wilkerson ranch, part of which may be marketed in the near future. Those familiar with the Wilkerson stock report it composes one of the finest herds in this section of West Texas.

Benton Street Viaduct Plans Near Completion

Plans for the Benton street viaduct, which will span the Texas and Pacific railroad company tracks, will be completed by railroad engineers about March 15, according to information received by the commissioners court of Howard county.

The second viaduct within city limits of Big Spring will be constructed under the same agreement between the railroad company, county and city that prevailed during construction of the Gregg street crossing. The railroad company will share 50 per cent of the construction cost, the county 35 per cent and the city 15 per cent.

If plans and specifications for the viaduct are made available by March 15, the contract can be let soon after April 15, which interval will permit builders to publish legal advertising for bidders.

REALTORS MAY HELP

The question of a high school athletic field will be submitted to the real estate board as a possible major project for 1930. R. L. (Bob) Cook, a member of the athletic council and also a member of the real estate board, believes the real estate board will be glad to adopt the high school athletic field problem as its major objective.

IT'S DESERVING

Unquestionably, the proposition of one of the most important before Big Spring citizens at the present time. If a high school athletic field worthy of a city of Big Spring's caliber can be constructed, it will become not only a permanent athletic plant, but will be more than a suitable and desirable for open air meetings for years to come. The athletic council, composed of business men in this city vitally interested in the athletic welfare of our high school students, has partially paid for three sections of permanent bleachers that will suffice for many years. Other sections will be added as the demand and attendance justifies. Therefore, it is apparent that a permanent desirable location for that start toward a permanent stadium must be secured.

A BIG JOB

If the real estate board adopts the athletic field project it will be a worthy endeavor and the problem will receive support of a strong organization that should be helpful to the cause. There is nothing the real estate board can do that will enhance property values in the particular section selected than construction of a suitable athletic park. Naturally the project will require some expenditure of money, but our experience with Big Spring citizens is that where benefit is to be derived from construction, the necessary funds can be secured.

NEED LAND

If the real estate board is successful in securing the land, the athletic council and citizens of Big Spring can surely do the rest. The time is coming when the school board must take over athletics as a school proposition. Athletics are included in the regular frame work of other school systems and Big Spring is no different than others. The school board will learn eventually that outside assistance and help is desired, but that control of the situation should, beyond all shadow of doubt, be maintained in the school itself. At the present time, the school board is attempting to keep a reign on the athletic system, but is not willing to give of its time and money for support. It is like attempting to own a block of city property without paying the taxes, which has proven unsuccessful in more cases than we have space to mention.

BUCKS AGAIN

Breckenridge was not content to cop the football championship of the Old Belt, later to tie with Port Arthur for state honors, but has continued athletic domination by trouncing the haughty Abilene Eagles for the bi-district basketball honors. Breckenridge's Buckaroos will enter their second state final sport event this week when they tangle with other bi-district basketball champions from all parts of the state. Breckenridge is not considered as potent on the hardwood floor as on the grid-turf, but at that the Buckies may give Athens, Estaline and some of the other favorites considerable trouble before the final gong is sounded at Austin and the state champion is crowned.

CHILD ABUSE

We may be held liable for child abuse, but since all the good folks in town have noted the writhings of our "child wonder" in the high school, it behooves this ordinarily docile scribe to do something about this white menace. Curt Bishop, Curt says he is the youngest senior in high school and that all available records will prove his statements. We'll admit the way the boy reacts to a few chiding remarks indicates he is younger than the youngest freshman in high school. However, we're not interested in arguing the question with little Curt, but just to show how wrong the kid can be we find at least three seniors that are younger in point of years (not in judgment) than Curt. If Curt is interested in learning the names and ages, we will be glad to furnish that information also. Come down some time Curt and this poor old broken down, brow beaten scrivener will buy you another ice cream cone.

Steers Amass 107 Points In Stanton Track Meet

BIG SPRING SPEEDERS TAKE FIRST IN ALL BUT ONE RACE AND ONE FIELD EVENT OF DAY

Stanton Finishes Second With 34 Points While Lomax and Moore Each Get 3 And Tarzan Wins 2 Points For Last Place In Carnival

By placing first in all except two events, the Big Spring Steer track team, composed largely of inexperienced material, amassed a total of 107 points to win the invitational relay carnival held at Stanton Saturday afternoon.

Stanton's tracksters, outclassed in most races and field events by the better balanced Steer aggregation, finished second with 34 points to its credit. Hawkins and Henson were the bright stars for Stanton, each taking one first place. Hawkins in the discus and Henson in the half mile.

Tarzan, a rural school in Martin county, cracked the scoring column with two points and Lomax, one of the snappiest little rural schools in Howard county, finished third in the entire meet with three points gained in the mile run. Walden scored three points for Moore by taking second in the high jump.

Buren Edwards, one of the few veterans on the Big Spring track squad, won the honor of individual high scorer with three first places gained in the high and low hurdle races and the high jump for a total of 15 points. In addition to placing first in every event he entered, Edwards ran a 440 lap in the mile relay race.

Relay Thriller

The most thrilling event of the afternoon was the relay race in which Big Spring barely nosed out Stanton after Henson had given the Buffaloes the temporary lead by passing Ted Phillips. Luther Glover led off and turned over a 20 yard lead, but Henson, the boy that galloped off a sweet half mile, swooped past Ted Phillips in the last 100 yards of the second lap and placed Buster Bell under a 15 yard handicap to start the third swing around the oval. Bell was equal to the occasion, however, and again took the lead for the Steers passing Metcalfe in the final yards of the third lap. Buren Edwards and Davis ran almost a dead heat in the final turn around the oval, but the lead Bell checked in at the fourth post and the few yards Edwards gained on his opponent, gave Big Spring an undisputed victory at the tape.

Times Slow

Most of the times were slow, but considering the condition of the track and the fact that all hurdle races were run against time as insufficient barriers were available for more than one lane, the outcome was not exactly discouraging. Bell's time of 10.4 in the century can be lowered at least four-tenths of a second on a fast track. Buren Edwards stepped over the high barrier in 18.6 seconds which can be lowered one or more seconds under ideal conditions. In addition to the rough track, Edwards was handicapped in the high hurdle race by a stiff north breeze, that chilled the athletes all afternoon. Bell marched around the 220 yard course in 25.8 seconds despite the rough track and the strong north wind and two right angle curves. Bill Flowers, a new comer to the sport of track led the 440 yard dash men to the tape in 57.8 seconds. Flowers had four of the dangerously sharp curves to negotiate to win his 440 yard victory.

Four places were awarded in events in which sufficient entries started to give some of the smaller schools an even break in picking up second, third and fourth place points.

The Winners

Event winners and the winning school. However, we're not interested in arguing the question with little Curt, but just to show how wrong the kid can be we find at least three seniors that are younger in point of years (not in judgment) than Curt. If Curt is interested in learning the names and ages, we will be glad to furnish that information also. Come down some time Curt and this poor old broken down, brow beaten scrivener will buy you another ice cream cone.

Rural Basketball Champions Of Howard County

Champions of rural basketball teams in Howard county is the title won by the Lomax cagers pictured above in full strength. Although there are only seven boys in Lomax school eligible to play senior basketball, the team, pictured above in its full strength, defeated all comers excepting Big Spring in the county championship game.

Miss Arab Phillips, the coach, shown on the extreme right is one of the few women coaches in the county directing boys' athletics. While an instructor at Midway, Miss Phillips turned out a county championship junior boys' basketball team and is repeating her success at Lomax.

COAHOMA GIRLS WIN COUNTY TOURNAMENT

The Senior girls' basketball team swamped every team on the floor at Big Spring, Saturday, February 22. The girls went on the floor with lots of pep and went in to win every game of the day and did. Knott had held the trophy for two consecutive years, but lost it Saturday night in the finals with the Coahoma girls' team. The Coahoma team has had good luck all this season. The boys' senior team played 19 games and lost none. The girls have also had a good season. They have lost but two of three games throughout the season. Vera Jale, Lois White and Isabelle Lay, three of Coahoma's fastest forwards, fought to the last minute to win the game. The most noticeable player of all the games was Wilma "Shorty" Sullivan, Coahoma's center. Her speed and skill kept the ball in Coahoma's territory most of the time. Lois Cook, the other Coahoma center, with her tip-offs gave Coahoma the advantage of getting the ball in her possession first. Both guards played well.

The trophy that the girls won is in the office of the Coahoma high school and any one caring to see it may call at any time and you do so.

COSDEN FIVE WILL BATTLE COL-TEX CREW

Oilers Expect Hard Bout With Colorado Refinery Quintet

So far as intercollegiate competition is concerned, basketball is a dead issue here, but not so for Cosden Oilers who will tackle at least two stiff opponents this week.

The first bout will come Wednesday night in the high school gym when Cosden's quintet is host to the Col-Tex refining crew from Colorado. Last season the Col-Tex five tumbled most every independent cage combination in this section of West Texas and the Colorado refiners are reported to have approximately the same lineup this season.

Negotiations between the Cosden Oilers and Lorraine for a game next Friday or Saturday night are underway and a definite announcement concerning the contest may be made early this week by C. E. Henninger, manager of the Cosden combination.

PLAINVIEW PAINTER OUT WITH FACTS

ORGATONE PROVES TO BE
THE RIGHT MEDICINE AF-TER THREE YEARS OF ILL-NESS

"Nothing has ever helped me very much for my stomach disorders until I got Orgatone," said W.
W. Thompson of 1008 Baltimore Street, Plainview, Texas. Mr.
Thompson has been a painter for the past twenty-two years and is very well known and has many friends here.

"At first—that was about three years ago I began losing my appetite and noticed gas forming on my stomach. From that time on I have suffered terribly from a chronic case of stomach trouble;
what little I did eat soured on my stomach and the gas that formed caused me to be in misery for several hours afterwards. I was very nervous and restless and couldn't sleep at night. I had headaches and my general condition kept getting worse and I needed something to build me up.

"Orgatone (Argotane) was so highly advertised I decided to try it. It has helped me more than anything else I have ever taken. I have a splendid appetite and eat anything I want and am no longer bothered with gas or indigestion troubles. Gas does not form on my stomach any longer and, in fact, I just feel a lot better. I am glad to recommend Orgatone for it has saved me a lot of suffering and money."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Big Spring at the Cunningham & Phillips Drug Store.—

LETTER FROM W. R. COLE

W. R. Cole, one of the pioneer property owners and business men of Big Spring has in a letter to James T. Brooks, handed to a Herald reporter Saturday, expressed the hope that bond issues to be voted upon here Thursday will be approved by the people.

Mr. Cole built the first large hotel in this city, the Cole, which was located on the present site of the Douglas. He was one of the organizers of the West Texas National Bank and for many years was one of its directors. He still owns a ranch in Glasscock county and considerable property within the city. He was one of the owners of the large tract, now dotted by residences, known as the old Cole and Strayhorn addition.

Mr. Cole's letter follows:
Benbrook, Texas, Feb. 28, 1930. Mr. Jas. T. Brooks, Big Spring, Tex.
Dear Jim:

I have been reading some of the bond issues to be voted there March 4 and am sorry I can't be there to vote for them. However, I feel pretty sure they will go over by a big majority, for the people there realize they have to have funds to build a city. It certainly can't be built on wind for we tried that there for forty years and had plenty of wind but no money.

I was an alderman there when we built the little city hall on the court house lawn and I feel like I know a little of what the management is up against at this time for at the time we built it, hall some of my good friends told me it would break the city. Now I am in favor of a bigger and better city hall as well as any other needs of the city and if it takes bonds for a bigger and better Big Spring let's go after them.

You remember several years ago I gave the school tax six lots in Cole & Strayhorn addition and built them a school house to care for thirty or forty children at a cost of $1,500. They were to use this house three years and then build a good building, which they did and later enlarged and I believe I sold you the old building. I understand there are 300 or 400 children going there now. I should have made that six acres instead of six lots, which looks like they will need in the next year or two for I believe Big Spring will make a city of thirty or forty thousand people for it is the best town between Fort Worth and El Paso.

Now if we all pull together and not throw the brake on while we are going up hill we will have the best town in Texas.

I hope to wind up my affairs here so I will be back on the job there within the next few weeks to help build up our town, which is my home

Mrs. Battle Is Hostess At St. Patrick Bridge

NINETEEN TABLES OF PLAYERS ATTEND SERIES OF FUNCTIONS

Mrs. W. H. Battle was hostess to 19 tables of guests in a series of St. Patrick bridge events in her home on Bell street during the week. Seven tables were entertained Tuesday afternoon and six each on Friday and Saturday afternoon.

The house was beautifully and novelly decorated to follow a single color idea, green, with ferns and potted plants lending the cool springtime color. Bridge appointments, score pads and tallies as well as the menu of the delicious luncheon plate followed the general color idea, in pretty detail.

Prizes were wrapped in green ribbon-tied crepe paper. High score award, a large hand-painted flower basket was awarded to Mrs. Julius Eckhaus in Tuesday's games while second high, a pretty perfume atomizer, was awarded to Mrs. Bernard Fisher.

Mrs. J. D. Bliss won high score favor in Friday's games and was presented with a large flower basket, while Mrs. Ira Thurman won second high, a candy jar, and Mrs. C. E. McNew of El Paso, honor guest, was remembered with a perfume atomizer.

Mrs. J. H. Woodley assisted the hostess in serving in the series of parties.

The Tuesday guest list was as follows: Mesdames Otto Wolfe, Jack Hodges, Fred Stephens, C. P. Rogers, C. W. Cunningham, V. H. Fiewellen, L. W. Croft, Bernard Fisher, Julius Eckhaus, Joe Fisher, W. D. McDonald, Ashley Williams, Tom Ashley, Travis Reed, Robert W. Currie, James Davis, C. D. Baxley, Clyde Fox, Elburn Coffey, E. E. Fahrenkamp, Gus Pickle, R. V. Middleton, Joe Copeland, J. H. Woodley, Omar Pittman, Lawrence Ludeman of Plainview, Miss Mayne Carol Ludeman of Plainview and Miss Ralph Wilcox.

The six tables of guests attending the Friday event were: Mesdames J. B. Young, Verd Van Gieson, J. D. Bliss, Harry Lester, Fred Leeper, Henry DeVries, John McTier, John Clarke, E. H. Hapwell, Walter Pike, A. J. Gallimore, Richard F. Scheig, M. H. Bennett, Homer McNew, Philip S. Schoeneck, Ira L. Thurman, E. O. Ellington, W. G. Orenbaum, Bruce Frazier, H. G. Lees, Victor Mullinger, John Nottelstein, C. A. McNew of El Paso.

The Saturday afternoon guests were: Mesdames Dee Hilliard, Steve D. Ford, Robert Parks, Victor Martin, Phil Goldstein, Frank Hefley, J. W. Middleton, J. J. Long, Edmund Nottelstein, Everett Lomax, Fred Hopkins, Binnie White, Lee Weather, L. L. Freeman, Charles Read, A. E. Pistole, J. H. Sunday School 9:45 o'clock.

Divine services 10:15 o'clock.

We are again upon the threshold of the season of Lent, which begins Wednesday. The season of Lent has been set aside by the church as a time for special meditation upon the sufferings and death of the Savior. When Jesus started upon His last journey to Jerusalem, he took His twelve disciples unto Him, and said: Behold, we go up to Jerusalem, and all things that are written by the prophets concerning the Son of Man shall be accomplished. We, too, are asked to accompany our Lord in spirit on His way to Jerusalem in this holy time of Lent. Let us do so in a reverent, prayerful spirit, so that in true faith we may learn to say: "For me, for my salvation, did my Savior suffer and die."

Other services at the usual hours.

ONA REAGAN PARSONS "Frances Newman's Letters" (Horace Liveright)

I have been particularly eager to review this book for many reasons.

One of them is of course that Frances Newman of Atlanta, Georgia, has been called the most brilliant woman writer of the South—at least she was, at the time of her death, the most promisingly brilliant; and we, who are both of the South and the West, find ourselves bound to Southern writers by ties more close than bind us to writers of any other section.

Another is that I have wanted to know more intimately the author of "The Hard-Boiled Virgin." I wanted to know what lay behind those pages and to find the association between a librarian and such a woman.

A third reason is that I believe those out here who have judged Frances Newman by that jazy title would be glad to learn their mistake.

Now that I have the book I can't review it. I can only enjoy it. If Frances Newman hadn't been so humanly inconsistent about reviewers I might have become discouraged and returned the book to the publishers. She herself began as a reviewer, of books, a very hard-boiled reviewer, let me remark in passing (my standards are not one-tenth as high), and authors were continually angry at her. When she had her first novel published she damned reviewers immediately, by refusing to read reviews.

James Branch Cabell, to whom she seems to have revealed her most charming and witty side, says of her in his preface:

"In the attempt at any summary as to how much was lost to American letters through the premature, swift death of Frances Newman, all guess work must of course become an act of faith. As a fixed fact we know only that no career has sped more brilliantly than did her career through its brief season. The corrosive and sparkling essays in literary criticism, followed by the glittering periods of the 'The Short Story Mutations' and capped with that shining minor masterpiece, flawless in all save only in its most abominable title, 'The Hard-Boiled Virgin,'—here is a progression as clear, and as bright, and as unwavering as the ascent of a rocket. Then, just as it is the way of rockets, this soaring burst into the multi-colored and dazzling and diffused and unordained and slowly descending scintillations of 'Dead Lovers and Faithful Lovers.' And that was all. . . I to-day believe, simply and quite surely, that had some five years more of living been accorded to Frances Newman she would have stayed remembered, not merely as unique, but as supreme, among the women writers of America."

The letters are edited by Hansell Baugh, a very close and understanding friend. His notes at the beginnings of the chapters are brief summaries of the periods into which the letters fall.

The letters reveal a sensitive soul and fully developed intellect. There is no groping about in Miss Newman's mind. The lines are, for her, drawn hard and fast; what is inside their boundaries is inside and what is outside is outside. But this is tempered with a rare and generous sense of humor; with which she searches her own soul as well as others.

"THE MIRACLE OF PELLE" By J. C. Campbell (E. F. Sutton and Co.) Here is another of those books which everyone will enjoy. I seem to have found two or three lately, which is doing well for a month's work.

It is the simple story of a religious girl set against the background of modern living. She was born and grew up in the shadow of Monte Carlo; yet she believed in miracles. Can't you see the strange inconsistency of it?

Her mother was a gypsy and her father became an infidel when the priest refused to bury her dead mother in the church burial ground. His dying words to her were to stay out of a church. But she grew up inside a deserted monastery with the eyes of the Virgin, painted on the walls, forever on her. At last she saw in a vision the plan of the old monastery as it was in its halcyon days and her life was devoted thereafter to raising money to restore it to its original state.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Horn have returned from a business trip to Dallas and Fort Worth.

It is a strange story, this "Miracle of Pelle" and appealing. Creed doesn't enter into it. I can easily imagine Mr. Bailey after he had enjoyed reading "His Own People," which I reviewed last week, enjoying this book as much. Father Francis would understand it probably more than any of us, but he would enjoy it no more.

Let me recommend it to those of you who are tired of the new books. Its simplicity will calm you and the quiet strength of this little crippled heroine will fill your soul with peace.

Ideal Club Meets With Mrs. Ford

Mrs. Steve D. Ford was hostess to the Ideal Bridge club Wednesday afternoon in regular session of games in her home in Edwards Heights.

In addition to club members, Mrs. L. D. Davenport and Mrs. H. C. Timmons were entertained as visitors, the former winning high score for visitors. Mrs. Herbert Lees won high score among club members.

Delicious refreshments were served at the conclusion of the afternoon.

Members present were: Mesdames C. D. Baxley, L. W. Croft, V. H. Fiewellen, Herbert Lees, Seth Parsons, Robert T. Piner, W. B. Clark, Ashley Williams, George L. Wilke, Fred Stephens and the hostess.

W.O.W. Circle Meets; Member Brings All Family Into Order

Woodman Circle, Camp 666, held its regularly appointed bi-monthly session at the W. O. W. Hall Thursday night. There was a good attendance and after current business had been disposed with and candidates initiated a delicious refreshment plate was passed. The menu consisted of chicken salad, cranberry jelly, pickles, bread, creamed asparagus tips, coffee and cherry pie with whipped cream.

Mrs. Veins Smith and Mrs. Kemp were received into the circle.

Not often in the annals of fraternal organizations is found a record of one member bringing in at the same time her whole family, yet this is exactly what Mrs. Willie Weaver recently did. Mrs. Weaver, who is a national representative of the order, transferred her membership here bringing with her into the order, Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Weaver, and Sam Weaver, all of Big Spring, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Weaver of Houston, and James R. Weaver of Montgomery, West Virginia.

Preliminaries In 4-H Organization Finished By Bush

Preliminary steps in reorganization of Howard county 4-H clubs have been perfected by J. V. Bush county agricultural agent, and active plans for forming the boys of the county into active groups will be completed soon.

Cards have been mailed out to boys of the county with a view of forming clubs where the greatest amount of interest is manifested.

Requirements this year will be more rigid than those of last year, Mr. Bush pointed out, and the clubs will probably be smaller this year than last. However a great deal more work is expected from the clubs, due to the higher requirements, according to Mr. Bush.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Sullivan and son Billy of Austin spent Thursday here with Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Noel. Mrs. Sullivan is the sister of W. W. Inman of this city.

Got To Rid Yourself Of Husband By Criminal, Not Legal Means To Be Admitted To Queen's Presence

A girl who has been "presented" lives on her reputation like a champion swimmer.

BY WILL ROGERS

Well all I know is just what I read in the papers, or see when I am looking. You know I told you I was going to tell you about one of our American indystries that you perhaps never knew existed, and that is "Trying to get to be presented at the Court of St. James." The reason I happened to know anything about it, was not from actual experience, as you couldn't hardly class me as a debutante. But one day out at Luncheon with the Ambassador, Mr. Charley Dawes, he got to telling about what he was up against with this mania. You see it's getting along about the season for it now, its "Meeting season."

I think its some time in the spring, that they have these "Presentations." Well fond mothers and doting Aunts don't wait till then. They go over sometimes a year ahead, and start laying their schemes. Each nation is allowed so many, I don't know what determines the amount, I imagine it was an old custom that started away back when they were trying to drum up some trade to come to their Country. It was perhaps the first Tourist bait. In those days there was no Prince of Wales to attract attention, so they decided to let a bunch of Girls meet the Queen.

Our big interest in it of course started when we got to be a Democracy. There is no race of people that likes to see royalty like a Democracy. I imagine that the American Revolution wasnt hardly over before a bunch of our "better class Citizens" started in trying to figure out how they could go to the old Mother Country and meet their forefathers' persecutors. Gradually the Pilgrimage got larger till finally they had to limit it, and now we are limited to 40. The other Nations I guess have about a like Representation. Personally I think the thing was promoted for the Dress-makers, and Photographers, because all they do is dress up, and then after its over have their picture taken in the "Presentation dress."

Well here is something you may didn't know the Queen wont meet at one of these divorced Women. She has got to have gotten rid of her husband by criminal and not legal means. Well when they cut out these Divorcees that just about cut our supply down to zero. Made out of them almost sorry they got a divorce. Our Government tried to get em to kind of ease up on that strict rule, and cut it down to just bar ones who has been divorced MORE than once. Well this big elimination give the young Girls a chance. They had never had a chance to get divorced, but they had a chance to meet the Queen, so the competition gets hotter and hotter every year.

They found that no matter if you was presented in 1856 that when ever you married again or died, or shot somebody, that the papers would always remember that "Lazie President was once presented to Queen Helen of Troy." It has become a great trade mark. A Girl comes back home and lives on that "Presentation" like a Channel Swimmer. The folks a home want to meet the Girls that took the bow in front of a Queen.

Now how do they get there. Ah! that the story. Mr. Dawes said that statistics showed that all Ambassadors died young, and that was the reason "Trying to pick 40 out of 120,000,000." He says that over 93 and 1-3 percent of the business that is transacted at the American Embassy in London, is trying to do something about these Debs that are trying to get their pictures in the home town papers, via, the Queen.

The old ambitious Mothers use every ruse known to scheming science. They have letters from their Post Masters, their Congressmen, their Senators, Young Voters, League, and do everything they can to blackmail the Ambassador into thinking that if "Ou: Mollie" is not one of the favored that they will see that he is recalled from London and sent to Peru. They takes Houses in London, and start their Campaigns early. They use dinners as bribes, would use money if they could. Find out some one back home that they know that

Bessie Love And Charles King At Ritz Today

ENSEMBLES, TECHNICOLOR HIGH LIGHTS

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer announces the opening today at the Ritz Theatre of its new all-talking romance, "Chasing Rainbows," directed by Charles F. Riesner and featuring Charles King and Bessie Love.

Like Revue According to advance information, the picture, while primarily a narrative of backstage life, leans to the formula of the successful "Hollywood Revue" in the extent of containing a number of song-and-dance ensembles and a spectacular Technicolor sequence.

However, to put realism into his scenes, he had an entire Southern Pacific railroad train and had it backed into the M-G-M studio for the station scenes. Then he packed his talking equipment aboard the baggage coach and went out on the road for the traveling scenes on the Pullman cars.

Seven popular composers were put to work on the melodies for the stage numbers and turned out such hits as "Love Ain't Nothing But the Blues," "Lucky Me," "Lovable You," "Happy Days Are Here Again," "Everybody Tap" and "My Dynamic Personality."

While the song writers, Milton Agner, Jack Yellen, Fred Fisher, Joe Goodwin, Louis Alter, George Ward and Reggie Montgomery, were discussing the song interpretations with Bessie Love, who wrote the original story, Sammy Lee, dance director, was training a chorus of a hundred boys and girls for the glittering dancing ensembles.

Dancing Lee, who directed the dancing numbers for the "Hollywood Revue," supplied Miss Love with her tap routine with which she leads the entire chorus in the "Everybody Tap" numbers. He also created the colorful spectacles filmed in natural colors for the "Happy Days Are Here Again," which comes as the finale of the picture.

The action of the picture called for the construction of six different theatre sets and showed exterior action in, as many different cities and weather conditions. Sixteen dressing rooms were built backstage in these theatre sets with "wild" walls so that the camera and microphone might spy and eavesdrop as they caught the various occupants engaged in intimate occupations.

It is said in no picture presentation has so much attention been paid to the beauty and composition of stage settings. Cedric Gibbons designed the big sets in collaboration with Lee and Riesner in an effort to have them meet the requirements of the scene and yet remain as a beautiful background to delight the eye.

Sue Carol Cast In All-Talking Film At Ritz

No all talking picture yet made, it is said, surpasses the vivid action of "The Lone Star Ranger," Fox Movietone all talking romance of the Southwest, adapted from Zane Grey's story that has been read by millions of people. This picture will be seen and heard at the Ritz theatre next Friday and Saturday.

George O'Brien, one of the most popular leading men in all talking pictures, portrays the leading role, while Sue Carol, beautiful, charming and vivacious screen actress, plays the leading feminine character and the two provide the love interest.

O'Brien was selected to play the role of Buck Duane because the part seems to fit him. He is tall, handsome and athletic in addition to qualifying as a talented actor. Then, too, the character required a man lightning fast with a gun and O'Brien, long a student of his father, until recently chief-of-police of San Francisco, mastered the art of "throwing a gun" before he thought of a career in motion pictures. Incidentally, it might be mentioned that O'Brien's father has, for many years, held the record for drawing from the hip and emptying a six shot gun in four seconds.

Miss Carol, up to her appearance in this picture, has been cast, for the most part, in "flapper" roles, but in "The Lone Star Ranger," she essays an entirely different character and critics declare her to be more charming than ever. It is safe to say that her many admirers will love her as the more demure Mary Aldridge, niece of the ringleader of a gang of cattle rustlers.

Walter McGrail, who, as leading man, has made feminine hearts flutter, is cast as Phil Lawson, a mercenary and murdering outlaw who finally meets a deserved end, and others prominent in the large and carefully selected cast are Warren Hymer, whose forte is playing brutal and despicable roles, Lee Shumway, Russell Simpson, Roy Stewart, Colin Chase, Caroline Rankin, Joe Rickson, Elizabeth Patterson and Richard Alexander. Many of the most picturesque scenes were photographed in Arizona and stand out as singularly beautiful. A. F. Erickson directed.

THE STORY OF THE VAGABOND LOVER

Rudy Bronson, who has mastered the saxophone through a mail order course, offered by Ted Grant, sax virtuoso, organizes a dance orchestra composed of seven college chums. In search of a job, they decide to approach Grant, who not only refuses to grant them an audition, but orders them thrown out of his fashionable Long Island home. Grant leaves for the city with his manager to escape further intrusions.

The boys decide that Grant must hear their music, and enter the house through windows at the side. Their entrance is observed by Mrs. Whitehall, a society dowager, and her niece, Jean. They call a local policeman, Officer Tuttle, and the trio accuses the boys of housebreaking.

Rudy, in an attempt to get out of the fix, poses as Ted Grant. It is a different matter now for Mrs. Whitehall, who has been trying for days to secure Grant's music for a musicale that evening. Rudy accepts the engagement, for he has been greatly attracted by Jean.

The musicale is an outstanding success. Rudy sings his love song directly to Jean, and the two fall deeply in love. Mrs. Whitehall asks the boys to play for the orphans' benefit, but Rudy, panic-stricken with the necessity of further misrepresentation, says he must first have his manager's permission.

"I'll wire for permission!" states Mrs. Whitehall, sweeping from the room.

A return wire, shortly before the benefit is to start, shows that Rudy and the boys are imposters. Grant is on his way to have them arrested. Jean denounces Rudy as a cheat, and the boys prepare to leave on the next train before Grant can arrive. Rudy, however, persuades the boys to stay in order that the benefit can be staged.

Their music is a brilliant success. Congratulatory telegrams arrive from radio listeners. Ted Grant, who has been on the scene throughout, steps up to Rudy. Instead of ordering his arrest, Grant congratulates him and offers the band a steady position.

Rudy and Jean step into the garden to be alone in their new-found happiness.

"The Vagabond Lover" will be the feature attraction at the Ritz Wednesday and Thursday.

Bessie Love and Charles King are the leading players in the sound and color triumph, "Chasing Rainbows," which will be the feature attraction of the Ritz Theatre bills of Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

'Oh, Yeah!' Queen Theatre Offering

Zasu Pitts, who plays The Elk, one of her best comedy characters, in "Oh, Yeah!", a Pathe comedy drama featuring Robert Armstrong and James Gleason. When she was about a year old her family moved to Santa Cruz, California, where she was educated.

In "Oh, Yeah!", wherein she plays opposite James Gleason, her role gives this gifted actress ample opportunity for the droll comedy that has made her famous and although she has never been on the stage, she has become one of the most effective and successful players in dialogue pictures.

"Oh, Yeah!" will be seen at the Queen Theatre on Monday and Tuesday. Patricia Carson is lead ing woman. Others in the cast are Paul Hurst, Frank Hagney and Bud Pine.

Ann Harding At The Queen

Ann Harding, probably the youngest of Broadway's leading stage stars, recently was signed by Pathe to star in talking pictures. With her natural beauty, marvelous speaking voice and popularity as a Broadway star she seems destined to do big things in the talkies. Her decision to join the Pathe company was due to her desire to play the stellar role in "Paris Bound," a Broadway stage success in which Madge Kennedy played the leading part. This all-dialogue picture will be seen and heard at the Queen theatre on next Wednesday and Thursday.

HOLLYWOOD, Mar. 1.—The newspaper renders a great service to the movie industry by reflecting the trend of public thought and public interest, declares B. P. Schulberg, general manager of Paramount's western studios.

"To be successful, a picture must deal with subjects of current interest," the executive says. "The city editor of a newspaper must keep his finger on the pulse of public thought, in order to make his paper popular. He must watch the response to each edition, and thereby determine if he has correctly judged the importance in the public eye of each item in the day's news."

"He is the first to sense any major drift in public interest. The development of the so-called 'air-mindedness' of the world has been evident in the vast amount of space devoted by the press to vision, and motion pictures dealing with flying have been received enthusiastically by the public. "By noting the topics that are given prominence week in and week out the motion picture producer is able to determine what subjects will appeal to the theatre-going public. Lacking this valuable information from the daily press, the selection of story material for pictures would be little more than a gamble."

Schulberg formerly was a newspaper reporter in New York.

THE BIG SHOT

by FRANK L. PACKARD

STORY: Phil Martin escaped from the Big Shot's gang through Enid Howard's clever assistance. Having gangsters' bullets they escape in the gangsters' car, then change to a taxi. Martin tells Enid that Shive Frank left behind written evidence of the Big Shot's guilt in a Long Island murder; that it is held by Schaffner, a gambler, and that he'll get it. He asks Enid to explain how she found him. He is mystified when she insists she can tell him nothing. He takes her in his arms and tells her of his love and asks her trust. She is adamant and says good-bye, telling him they must never be seen together.

Chapter 24
THE LID BLOWN OFF
The tension that had gripped Enid during the hours of her dangerous adventure held her in its grasp until she was back in the guest room of her brother's house. She was exhausted physically by the strenuous activity but the mental torment she was suffering drove sleep from her mind. Her mind seemed to follow in a cycle in which she found a gleam of hope only to see it vanish.

Conscious of her own danger—of the fate that surely would follow if her rescue of Phil Martin was discovered, it was like Enid that her thoughts were for the safety of others.

She mulled over what Martin had told her. Roy was wanted for the murder of Jowers, he had said. She could not bring herself to believe him guilty but nevertheless realized that Shive Frank's story was credible.

On and on and on her brain stumbled ceaselessly. From somewhere in the house a clock struck two. And then suddenly she sat upright in bed. The front door was being flung violently open. There was the stamp of feet in the vestibule. Then the Big Shot's voice in harsh tones evidently calling up the stairs:

"Hey! Ma! Come down here! And the old man, too! Hop to it!" She heard the sound of movement from above, and the next instant heard Mrs. Kane's answer from, she presumed, the head of the stairs.

"Matter?" the Big Shot's voice held an ugly laugh. "Hell's blown its lid off—that's what's the matter!"

"What is it? What's happened? What's the matter?" the woman shrieked anxiously.

Footsteps, those of Mr. and Mrs. Kane undoubtedly, were hurrying descending the stairs now; came then a confusion of voices from the lower hall, everybody talking, at once; and then suddenly the voices became indistinct. They had all gone into that front room, she thought.

Without a sound she got out of bed and stole to the door. She cautiously opened her door a crack. Yes, that's where they were—in the front room. And she could hear quite well now; the door into the hall had been left open.

There was only one voice speaking now—the Big Shot's. "Sure, if you'll close your yaps and give me a chance. We were after that guy Martin to put him through and find out how much he knew. Batty Rose was running it, with Skinny and a couple more of the boys and a car. But they didn't start anything until after dark. Then Batty picked Martin up in Pete Lonesi's. Martin had Kinger with him and

"You mean the police lieutenant?"—this a little tremulously, and obviously from Mr. Kane.

"Yes!" The Big Shot's voice was vicious. Batty slid into a seat at the next table and picked up a word or two of what they were saying. Martin said that Shive Frank had spilled the beans in some sort of a written confession about some of the jobs Shive Frank and I had pulled together a few years ago. Martin said he couldn't get at the papers for two or three days yet, but as soon as he got them he'd have the goods on me enough times over to send me to a dozen chairs."

"Where are the papers?" Kane asked.

"How do I know?" the Big Shot answered fiercely. "That's one of the things we would have made Martin tell us. And he will yet! We'll get him again before he has a chance to pull anything. We've got to get him now."

"You mean"—Mrs. Kane's voice mingled dismay and fear—"you mean he got away from the bird cage?" Izzy Myers said that Batty Rose had him there."

"Yes, he got away!" The Big Shot snarled. "Thanks to some skirt." He then told how the girl and Martin had escaped. Enid knew most of it except that the two men who arrived as they escaped were Willie and Mullins.

"Batty got out just before the cops piled into the place," the Big Shot was saying. "All of them aren't dumb and they found our snow. So we can kiss a half million good-bye."

"Yes"—Mr. Kane was obviously in a frenzy of fear and excitement—"and with the police in that house, and with what you said about Shive Frank, we'd better blow, too—and do it quick while we've got a chance."

"Blow!" The Big Shot flung out a grating laugh. "Nix! Nothing doing! Blow! It's just the height of the season—and things are coming good. There's nothing to connect us with that house; and as for that Shive Frank stuff it may be all the bunk, but whether it is or not, we'll get that sneaking Martin cur first—and anyway they don't even know who the Big Shot that they're looking for is."

"What did Batty say that woman looked like tonight? He saw her, didn't he?" Mrs. Kane broke in.

Enid's fingers gripped tightly at the door jamb.

"Yes, he saw her—but he didn't know who she was. He'd never seen her before. He said she looked like a freak out of a museum. Dirty face, dirty hands, spectacles, clothes like grandma used to wear, and a hat out of the ark that flopped all over her face."

"No," Mrs. Kane seemed almost to be speaking to herself—"it does not sound like her—unless, of course, she was disguised."

"Her! Who?" The Big Shot's voice rang out sharply, imperatively. "What are you talking about? We've got to get her, too. Do you think you know who she is?"

"I was thinking about last night." There was a malicious sniff in Mrs. Kane's voice. "It's kind of queer about a woman butting in then, and a woman butting in again tonight. You know—"

"You mean Enid Howard?" The Big Shot barked. "Has she gone?"

"Not that I know of," Mrs. Kane's tones were sour. "You said the dear child wasn't to be disturbed. I rather wish I had now."

"You're crazy!" The Big Shot's voice was rasping, angry. "You've got it in for her—and God help anyone you go out after! Why, the girl's too sick to leave her bed. What are you trying to do—start something?"

"I'm only telling you what flashed into my mind," Mrs. Kane's voice was still malicious. "Any way, I certainly don't trust her."

"Hell!" exploded the Big Shot savagely. "Well, we'll soon see! I'll take a look, and—"

Silently Enid closed the door, and, running swiftly back across the room, her bare feet noiseless on the carpet, got into bed. Perhaps a minute passed when she saw the door begin to open slowly.

She closed her eyes then, simulating sleep. She heard someone—Roy, of course—it couldn't be anyone else—tip-toe across the room to her bedside. She sensed him bending over her. She felt his breath upon her cheek. He seemed to stand there for an interminable length of time—until it seemed that she could no longer lie there quietly, that she must move, cry out, do something, that to breathe in a regular, natural way was beyond her power any more.

And then he tiptoed back across the room again, and the door closed.

ed softly—but it was daylight before she fell asleep.

Officers Seek Field Hijacker

County officers are seeking a man who hijacked L. D. Gibson of $14 in cash Tuesday night in the oil fields of southern Howard county. Mr. Gibson is employed as a night pumper.

The victim was proceeding with his regular duties when ordered to "reach for the sky." The hijacker maintained his position behind Mr. Gibson while he extracted $14 in cash from a trouser pocket. He also removed a watch, but on finding it of an inexpensive make returned the timepiece. Mr. Gibson never obtained a glimpse of the hijacker and consequently was unable to give investigating officers an accurate description.

BURKETT OF CYLDE.

We Texas voters haven't established any endurance or high flight records when it comes to picking the right man for the office, but perhaps it is because we don't often have the chance. In the wild scramble of candidates every two years it isn't often easy to pick out the man to fit the office.

Once in awhile, however, along comes a candidate about whom there isn't any sort of doubt. He fits the office he seeks like a glove.

J. H. Burkett of Clyde is out for commissioner of agriculture. Here is a man who knows something about agriculture in its various moods and aspects. He is the patriarch of the celebrated Burkett pecan which has a standing in well-informed pecan circles just about as high as a pecan can go. On his place at Clyde, in Calhoun county, he has 52,000 growing plants of every description, some of which he has banked into existence by multitudinous experiments. Take the Americanization of the English walnut, for instance. That is one of Burkett's ideas. He is making it a superior nut with a thinner shell, and teaching it to enjoy the Texas climate. The pinon pine, also, is yielding some of its age-old characteristics under the Burkett treatment. He is teaching it to subside on less water, thereby fitting it for a life of usefulness and decorum in the semi-arid regions of our west.

Texas has the opportunity to make use of the wisdom and established efficiency of this man Burkett. It can vote him into the commissionership of agriculture—where, goodness knows, a little efficiency and understanding of the farmer's needs wouldn't be amiss. If anybody knows the ins and outs of farming it is Burkett. He has been at it half a century or more, and his influence on the agriculture and horticulture of his state is well-defined and important.

It may be something of a novelty to pick a man for office who really knows something about the work of that office. But Texas can stand a little novelty of that sort. Let's elect him.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

HOPE IN NORTH CAROLINA.

Fort Worth Press: Those who have despaired of justice in North Carolina should take heart. If the initial rulings of the court in the Wiggins murder trial are a criterion, the state is determined to disprove the charge made so often during the last year and with such provocation that there is one kind of justice in North Carolina for anti-labor mill owners and militia and another kind of justice for labor unionists.

This case is the test. Ella May Wiggins, the widowed mother of several small children, was murdered by members of an anti-labor mob. She was peacefully going about her business—which happened to be riding to a union meeting—when she was shot down in the presence of many witnesses.

The state previously has convicted unionists charged with shooting the police chief of Gastonia, after the police had initiated a reign of terror against textile strikers. The question now is whether North Carolina will also convict those charged with shooting a striker.

Textile company lawyers leading the defense in this case. And, as anticipated, instead of trying the case on its merits they are attempting to turn the trial into a witch-burning orgy against radicals. On Tuesday these company lawyers tried to destroy the testimony of state witnesses by showing that there were Communist elements in the strike.

Attorney General Brummitt, whom the governor has sent to aid the prosecution, was quick to challenge the defense's attempt to so pervert the trial.

Judge Clement ruled that witnesses could not be questioned as to their political and social beliefs.

If the judge continues as he has begun to hold this trial to the murder issue instead of heresy hunting, he will help to redeem North Carolina's shattered reputation. And that, probably more than anything else, would discourage violence on the long hard road to labor freedom which is ahead of North Carolina.

LIONS TALK BUSINESS

Scout Program Meeting With Satisfactory Progress

A decision to exchange meetings with Lions clubs of Stanton and Colorado within the near future was reached at the regular first of the month business session held by the local Lions club Friday noon. Negotiations with secretaries of Stanton and Colorado clubs will be started next week to arrange a series of meetings. The present plan is to invite the Stanton Lions club to this city and ask its members to furnish the program of that day. The complement will be returned and the same arrangement sought with Colorado.

Frank Boyle, president of the Lions club in Big Spring, reported that he and C. S. Holmes, president of the Buffalo Trail council and an honorary member of the Lions club, have inspected two or three scout camps within hiking distance of Big Spring, but that definite decision on the most suitable location has not been reached. Mr. Boyle also stated that negotiations for a site in the Davis mountains for a large camp in which all scouts of the area can spend a few weeks in the summer are progressing satisfactorily.

B. T. Cardwell, secretary-treasurer submitted his regular monthly financial report, which was approved by the club.

Burford Pipe Line Finished

The four inch screw line laid by Burford Oil Company from Skelly's "A" lease in the Hendrick field in Winkler county to Ector county's second and best pool 14 miles west of Odessa, has been completed, is being tested and will be ready to run oil by the latter part of the week.

Completion of the line will give the field its second outlet, only a small Gulf Pipe Line Company carrier now serving five producers. With a booster station that is now under construction by Burford Oil Company, the new line will have a daily capacity of 5,500 barrels.

Terminus of the line in the Ector county pool is on Skelly and Amerada's joint lease in the north half of the north half of section 1, block 33, University lands. Skelly and Amerada are preparing to drill 900 feet from the north line and 400 feet from the east line of section 1, block 33, one quarter mile due north of Couden Oil Company's No. A-1 University, fifth and latest producer in the pool. Humble, Penn and Atlantic, offset Skelly-Amerada's location on the east with their No. D-5 Kish, Rumsey and Abrams. Couden offsets Skelly-Amerada's test on the south with its No. A-2 University, 330 feet from the north line of the north half of section 1, block 33, and Humble, Penn and Atlantic offset it on the east with their No. D-8 Kish, Rumsey and Abrams.

OUT OUR WAY

Hollywood Sights

BY ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Dual roles in silent pictures long since have ceased to be cause for curiosity, but putting the same phenomenon into a talkie, getting an actor to converse with himself on the screen, offers new problems.

Jack Mulhall in "Dark Streets" had the first dual talkie role, and now a Loretta Young is undertaking the first such role for a woman.

Now is it done? Very simply—and very painstakingly.

The "picture" is taken just as in silent pictures, the camera focusing only on one side of each scene in which the dual character appears.

ONE AT A TIME

When this side has been photographed, the film is re-wound, and then the other side is exposed, while Miss Young portrays the other character, on the opposite side of the scene.

In scenes where the two appear on the same side, one of the girls always has her back to the camera, and is a "double." The method is the same as that used in silent dual roles.

Getting the dialog in "straight" is more difficult, although simple. Perfection all depends on timing. Miss Young rehearses, speaking her lines while someone else reads her other character's.

In the filming and recording, the sound expert in his booth allows only Miss Young's lines to be recorded, leaving gaps in the record sufficient for the replies.

Then when the actress steps to the other side of the scene, in her other character, the same procedure for timing is followed, and the lines she speaks then fall into their proper place on the wax disk.

CHATTER

Harold Lloyd is departing from his precedent by planning to have a complete script on his next talkie before shooting a scene. Only once before, in earlier days, he has done that. Irony: the late Dr. Frank Crane used to "preach" to millions through his newspaper articles. Now his son James is a movie villain.

Joseph March's "The Wild Party" may be filmed, and will be in the odd position of being unable to use its own name, Clara Bow's first talkie having been so titled.

William LeMaire, the "Sweet William" of vaudeville renown, was a Texas cowboy before he became a comedian. He's in pictures now.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morley and Mr. and Mrs. P. J. DeVilliers of Midland were guests of friends here Thursday evening.

HOW'S your HEALTH

Big And Little Tigers

It requires no extraordinary imagination to appreciate how a tiger might claw and bite a man and thereby injure or destroy him.

It is also fairly common knowledge that there are certain poisonous snakes whose venom, if injected into the human being, can severely injure and sometimes cause death.

It is, however, a great deal more difficult for the average person to appreciate how those infinitesimally small tigers and snakes, the pathogenic (disease-producing) bacteria, might do the same.

Their incredible smallness and the fact that the average person has never seen a germ, renders belief in their destructive powers difficult.

And yet, the fact that certain germs produce toxins which can severely injure the human body, and that there are germs which, though mouthless and toothless, may be as destructive as tigers, is daily demonstrated in clinics, hospitals and medical laboratories.

Germs cause diseases in a variety of ways. Their very presence in the human body can produce illness, and particularly so when in addition they give off toxins; that is, poisonous substances.

The parallel drawn between the poisons (venoms) of snakes and the poisons (toxins) of germs, is a warranted one. Where science has a remedy for both these poisons, that is, an anti-venom or an anti-toxin, they are produced in similar if not identical manners.

In each instance, the poisonous substance is secured from the snake or germ culture, is injected in minute quantities into susceptible animals, and the anti-substance, that is, the substance which acts in a fashion to prevent the poison from completing its destruction in the animal's body, is withdrawn from the blood of the laboratory animal.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON—Regular Republicans in the Senate, especially the once powerful faction known as the Old Guard, are willing to agree with President Hoover and leaders in the House that the Senate has been moving too slowly and that legislative affairs are in a terrible mess.

The present seems to them very black indeed and the only bright aspect of the figure lies in the fact that the tariff battle cannot go on forever. When President Hoover had some of them to breakfast to talk over the possibilities of speedup, as demanded by House Floor Leader Tilton, they told him slyly but bluntly that he had better keep his shirt off because any executive interference would only make things worse.

Sees "Needless Delay"

The almost general disappointment of the regular Republicans with the result of the special and regular sessions in the Hoover administration's first year is expressed by Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut, whose position is similar to that of other Old Guardmen such as Smoot of Utah, Reed and Grubby of Pennsylvania, Foss of Ohio and Gillett of Massachusetts.

"The action of the coalition of Democrats and western Republicans has caused serious and needless legislative delay as well as business uncertainty," Bingham says. "They are tearing down their own campaign of 1928 when they went almost as far for protection as the Republicans, by condemning the Fordney-McCumber tariff act in 1924."

"The business world had every reason to believe that neither party would attack the existing schedules, but the coalition has gone and lowered them in many cases and it won't listen to the case of the northeastern industrial states at all."

"I am perfectly assured that the Democrats' reversal of their presidential campaign attitude, even though they are back to their historic position, I guess they feel that whatever they do they can't be any worse off and their votes in the past few months will discourage any manufacturers from ever again looking to them for protection."

"This group of western Republicans in the coalition has been trying its best to preach sectionalism and to preach to its constituents that the east is opposed to their interests. But the eastern senators have shown much more willingness to vote for protection of farm products than western senators have for the protection of eastern industries. The totally uncompromising attitude of some western senators has been in utter opposition to party tenets and the best interests of Republicanism."

"It has been extremely unpleasant to notice that Republican members of the coalition are unwilling to listen even to the arguments citing unemployment. In New England and the bad straits in which some of our factories find themselves."

"They have just voted blindly against any increases which would help the manufacturers of the northeastern states."

Clyde Angel plans to spend Sunday in Rising Star, the guest of relatives.

NEW YORK, March 1.—The Parity league in considering the advisability of inviting Lulu Lary, Campaign, Ill., film arbiter of the W. C. T. U., to visit Tammany Town and give the Local girls a few pointers on determined censorship.

Recently, in her home town Lulu viewed the picture, "Her Unborn Child," and found nothing objectionable except the title. She decided, however, that they might be slipping something over on her, so she sat through every performance of the three-day run, having her meals sent in.

HER AIM

A little over a quarter of a century ago W. C. Mills and his brother, C. W., two youths fired with an ambition to revolutionize journalism—persuaded their father to borrow fifty dollars with which they could embark as newspaper publishers in Sedus, N. Y.

It was a good investment. They still own The Era up there. I think that's the name of the paper. Their journalistic affiliations in the intervening years have carried them into the power, light and kindred interests and incidentally made millionaires of them.

With more money than he knows what to do with, G. R. is looking around for some way to scatter it judiciously among the miserable, ill and over-worked of this world. As a result, he has founded the "We-Follow-Him Club," based on the idea back of the incentive of the Man of Sorrows who "went about doing good."

G. R. is at present in New York arranging for the distribution of radio sets to indigent cripples, invalids and all sorts of shut-ins. And if this sort of thing wakes a responsive chord, write to G. P. Mills at Sedus, N. Y., and make a contact worth having.

"CHEAP" GANGSTERS

Through the canyons of Manhattan, in the midst of New York's gangland, there walks with contempt for the Red Rats, Cyrus Wells (Doc) Shore, 55 years old, once terror of train robbers who infested the West in the eighties.

"Cheap" is Doc's characterization of Gotham's Gutter Gangsters.

"They're fit for nothing but to fire a gun," he says, "and they can't even hit their targets half the time. In the old days when I was sheriff, back in Colorado, we had real badmen. They'd hold up a bank or a train and maybe blow the works with dynamite; but they never killed if they could help it. And they certainly didn't shoot members of their own gang. They held together till the last man was hanged."

"But these gutter snipes in New York—all they do is kill each other and anybody else who comes within range of their pop gun."

NOW HE POLISHES BRASS

Joe Walcott, greatest of welterweights, at 38, the glory of his championship dim in the crowd's flicker memory, earns his living polishing brass in Madison Square Garden.

Joe knocked out great fighters in five classes, light, welter, middle, light-heavyweight and heavyweight. But today, clad in work-clothes, with graying, close-cropped hair, the powerful shoulders no longer terrifying under an old sweater, pool Walcott isn't what you'd call a flashing figure.

Since his champ days he has earned a living as dishwasher, elevator man, cook, working in a shoe factory and teaching boxing.

"I know I'd of had better breaks lots o' times if I'd been a white man," he says. But only good nature and not bitterness is evident as he talks. He holds no grudge against the world as it treats his race. He adds:

"I never had animosity against anybody in my life."

NON-FATTENING CANDY

A Fifth avenue department store has introduced candy into its stock. It is sold at the entrance of the beauty shop and signs scattered about the counter emphasize the story that the particular brand of candy on sale there is not the variety which fattens.

Poets' Corner

"FACTS"
By Florence Millard
In high school, as you well know,
We are absorbing knowledge as this will show.
Now Walter is our shining light,
While Esther Bell sometimes guesses right.
Dallas takes the quiet part,
Merle is loud though rather smart.
Thelma squeals and thumps young Meeks.
And Mitchell is peevish at her for weeks.
Arlene is our little shorty,
Who looks sixteen and acts forty.
Bernice, a blonde, is tall and haughty.
Maxine is cute but sometimes naughty.
Myrtle, who is a scholar fine,
Was elected captain of the baseball nine.
A vain and pretty girl is Helen,
But she isn't much on history and spelling.
Leslie is an ambitious lad,
With dreams of the future for Molter and Duff.
Gladys insists on having her fun,
She is always teasing Mrs. Dave's son.
Florence is a great reporter,
She reports lots of things she hasn't orgier.

Holidays

Labor Day—Leslie Roberts disappeared from school.
Hallow'en—Shimes got scared and hid under the beds.
Armistice Day—Royce and Estelle buried the hatchet.
Thanksgiving Day—The English class gave thanks for the fact that all members passed the exam.
Christmas Day—Bernice Tucker went to hang her stocking up and decided it was too small so she borrowed Mrs. Bolin's hose.
New Year's Day—Lene resolved to stay at home at least one night each week.
Lincoln's Birthday—Dallas Smith made a study of log cabins.

Forsan Found And Lost News

Lost—Our most beautiful girl—Helen Gilliam. We wonder if she will ever come back to school.
Lost—Anybody finding a silk stocking, please return it to Gladys Huff of Forsan.
LOST—A whole wad of "bubble kiss" gum. Finder please return to Esther Bell Nowell.
Lost—Five almost new lemons.
Finder please return them whole,
to the senior girls' basketball team of Forsan.
Lost—An eye and half a nose
during the Knott-Forsan game.
Finder please return them to Bernice Tucker.
Lost—If anyone finds a box of powder, send it around to Mrs. Mc-Daniel. She will find the owner.
Lost—A button from the basketball bloomers of a Coahoma girl.
Found—A whole dime by Miss Carter which has been used to purchase a soda.
The Tell a Tale and Listen
Avalie club of the fourth grade gave a picnic and watered roasts and invited the fifth grade to join them. Tuesday afternoon. They hiked to a canyon about a mile from school and roasted watermelons, marshmallows and apples. Rocks were added to the class collection.

The fourth grade is planning a "Southern Fair" for next week when sample of things raised in the south will be shown. By products of cotton, oil, sugar cane and other things will be shown.

Camp Five Girls went on a bike trip Monday after school with Miss Seal guardian. They spend lunch after having hiked about a mile and a half.

LOMAX SCHOOL HONOR PUPILS ARE REWARDED

Warm Summer Days
Fail To Hamper Attendance at Lomax

LOMAX, Feb. 28.—The fourth month of school has closed, which also marked the mid-point of the term. Interest on the part of the student body is still at a high pitch, despite the warm summer days which usually call youngsters out of doors.

Records show the following students eligible for the honor roll:
Low first grade: Evelyn Stelling and Junior Vaughn.
High first grade: Dorothy Cook and Jack Rice.
Second grade: Dorothy McGinnis, Onita Chapman, Lillie June Thompson.
Fifth grade: Esta Mae Lilley,
Effie Dell Williams.
Eighth grade: Othel Wood.
Ninth grade: Verma Chapman.
Tenth grade: Wofford Wil-lams, and Minta Riddle.

Forsan Jokes

Arlene: "Bernice, do you know where bad girls go?"
Bernice: "Oh, yes, they go almost everywhere."

Mr. Roberts: "I hear you are always at the bottom of your class. Can't you get another place?"
Leslie: "No, all the others are taken up."

Mrs. Bolin: "Royce, give me a sentence using the word 'deceit.'" Royce: "I wear pants with holes in 'de seat.'"

Bernice: "You know dad, Albert always said he'd never marry until the right girl came along."
Mr. Tucker: "Well, how does he know you are the right one?"
Bernice: "Oh, I told him I am."

Mr. Bolin: "What did Thomas Jefferson do?"
Leslie: "Guess he died, didn't he?"

Dallas: "Want to join me in a cup of tea?"
Gladys: "You get in and I'll see if there's room for me."

Mrs. Bolin: "What is it that has four legs and can fly?"
Arlene (after several moments):
"I don't know."
Mrs. Bolin: "Two little birds."

Thelma: "You certainly are fond of women."
Dallas: "Why shouldn't I be.
Half my parents were women."

Mrs. Macon: "I'll give you just one day to get that paper in."
Balford: "How about the Fourth of July?"

Mitchell: "You are the breath of life."
Bernice: "Oh, see how long you can hold your breath."

Helen: "Every time I'm with Joe he colors up to his ears."
Merle: "Say, I didn't know you roughed up that high."

Bernice: "My hands are cold."
Walter: "I know it."
Leslie: "Just one kiss. Love makes the world go round you know."
Helen: "So does a smush on the jaw."

Walter: "I never saw such dreamy eyes before."
Bernice: "Maybe you have never stayed so late."

Mrs. Bolin: "How did the king get new supporters?"
Royce: "Guess he bought them, didn't he?"

Maxine: "Mr. Bolin has a horse
he calls imagination."
Myrtle: "Why?"

Maxine: "It's always running away with him."
Mr. Bolin: "When was Rome built?"

J. W.: "At night."
Mr. Bolin: "Who told you that?"

J. W.: "You did. You said Rome wasn't built in a day."

Gladys: "You have made a fool of me."
Walter: "Don't give me so much credit. Mother nature nearly had the job completed."

TWO PLAYS AT LOMAX Fairview Will Give Performance Next Wednesday Night.

LOMAX, Feb. 28.—"Always in Trouble," a three-act comedy-drama will be presented at the Lomax school building Friday night, February 28. The curtain will rise at 7:45 o'clock, and music will be furnished by a home talent group.

The play is a dandy, jammed full of fun. There will be no admission and the public is invited to attend.
On next Wednesday night, March 5, Fairview school will give a two hour play and entertainment in the Lomax school building. The play is said to be good. Fairview presented the play last Friday night in that community and those attending declared it a success.
There will be a small admission charge of 20 and 10 cents.

HORNETS TO HAVE TRACK Twenty Games Out Of Twenty-Six Played Is Cage Record

LOMAX, Feb. 29.—The basketball season is over and with it a fair record has been established by the 1930 Hornets for successors to follow.

The Hornets played 26 games during this season and 20 of the total were marked up in the victory column. The cage sport that held interest of the school and community for the past two months is described now.

Three individuals who made basketball history for Lomax are now engaged in preparation for track.
Each evening a bunch of thirty clads can be seen dashing around the track, jumping, vaulting or trying to excel his fellow student in some branch of track and field competition.

Lomax will be represented by a full team of both juniors and seniors at the county track and field meet in Coahoma, the small enrollment presents a serious handicap as no individual may enter in more than five events, however, it is likely Ledbetter, Williams, Lilley, McGinnis, Cook and the Wood brothers will give other rural school athletes stiff competition.

The track and field team will represent Lomax school at an inva-tional track and field meet at Stanton next Saturday. Big Spring, Midland, Stanton and Lomax will be entered in the four cornered meet. Plans are also under consideration to send the Lomax crew to Snyder March 8 to compete in the invitational meet that day.

Bits O' News From Forsan

Clayton Villyard, a pupil in the sixth grade, sustained a broken arm in a fall about a week ago. He has also been ill of pneumonia the last week. Letha Mae Villyard, his small sister, was also absent from school Wednesday because of illness.

The pupils of Miss Macon's room entertained those of Miss O'neath's room Friday with an interesting George Washington program.

Irene Brown and her parents, visited in San Angelo over the week-end.

Harold Hall has recently moved to Big Spring.

Pupils of the second and seventh hospital they had to blindfold me to keep my push down."

Leater: "Never heard of that before."

Clayton: "Maybe you have never had a pretty nurse to take your pulse."

Mr. Huff: "I got a letter from Forsan school saying our Gladys has been stealing."

Mrs. Huff: "What?"

Mr. Huff: "Says she's been taking home economics."

ELBOW, Feb. 28.—The county agents, Mrs. Louella B. Allgood and J. V. Bush visited school here Monday. The club girls are doing good work and announce one new member. The nine club girls are: Charline Bruton, Lenora Côtter, Juanita well, Mary Jo Kidwell and Inez McMurray.

Mr. Rush found about 12 boys interested in club work in this community and will begin projects and active plans two weeks. Henry King, who won a trip to College Station and to the Dallas Fair last fall is now at R-Bar, but Milton Kidwell who also won honors is still in Elbow and is expected to do some good work this season.

Elbow and Coahoma girls played basketball in the gym Wednesday evening with Coahoma winning 20 to 16.

The Jolly Juniors B.Y.P.U. of Elbow are doing outstanding work with the 14 members winning the association attendance banner for about the last four months. The class carried off both efficiency and attendance banners last Sunday from the First Baptist church in Big Spring where the association met for the first time.

Douglas Cotter has been on the sick list for the last four days.

Joe Bailey King and his bride, formerly Miss Nell Dunagan, visited Sunday school and friends here Sunday. They were accompanied by Henry King of R-Bar and Gary Barbee of Center Point.

Miss Dorothy Cauble, now in school in San Angelo, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Cauble and friends here.

Miss Ruby King is again in school at Sparsburg.

Grady Whitaker has just returned from a brief visit in Plainview.

Miss Eula Mae Horton and Fletcher returned from San Antonio to Saturday.

Sunday school will henceforth start at 10:30 promptly, it was announced Sunday.

grade regret the leaving of Mae Dell and Clinton Sterling to Oklahoma.

Miss Isom's room of second grade pupils went on a picnic Friday with 35 in the party.

Second graders have divided into sides for a "Good Lesson Contest" in which each child having a good lesson is given a star which will be counted at the end of three weeks. An entertainment will be the stake.

Kathleen Hamblin has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Frank Hamblin, who is ill in a local hospital this week.

Miss Rainwater's first grade pupils have two new students. The children are making a library for their room with Harvey Parks, librarian.

Miss Carter has been the guest of her grandmother, in Baird.

Sophomores visited Miss Carter's and table Tuesday afternoon.

Plans For Construction Of Cotton
Gin In Lomax Community Developing

LOMAX, Feb. 28.—Plans are well under way for construction of a cotton gin in the Lomax community. A meeting was held Thursday night to discuss further plans.
The abundant fertile soil that exists in the Lomax community is advanced as one of the strongest talking points in favor of a home owned cotton gin.

Raymond Lilley has purchased a new tractor and is now engaged in conditioning his soil for planting.

Raymond is the second man in this community to try tractor farming.

Rosa Lee Rice, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Rice, is recovering from a tonsil operation.

Dorothy Cook and Dorothy Mc-Ginnis have been on the sick list during the past week.

E. W. Lomax Elected President And
Captain Of Lomax Baseball Club

LOMAX, Feb. 28.—Men and boys of the Lomax community either out of school or ineligible for scholastic league competition met last Monday night and organized a baseball club.

E. W. Lomax was elected president and captain of the club. Arthur Stallings was made manager.
The Lomax ball club was one of

RICHLAND CLUBS IN MEETING Sunday School Interest At Richland Shows Huge Increase

RICHLAND, Feb. 28.—A joint session of the P. T. A. and the 4-H club was held in Richland community last Friday. The girls received instructions in home economics.
Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Jones were directors of the last meeting.

spent the past week with Salena Bess Irwin.

Forsan Girl
Breaks Arm
In Cage Game

FORSAN, Feb. 28.—The game between Coahoma junior girls and Forsan junior girls had barely started last Saturday when Sylvia Smith, one of the sharpest Forsan players, tripped and broke her arm.

The game was halted for a few minutes until another girl could take her place. Sylvia was rushed to a hospital in Big Spring, but was not detained long. She was able to return to school the following Monday morning. The Forsan junior girls believe their chances against Coahoma were harmed by Sylvia's injury.

Lomax Girl Taken To Dallas For Treatment

LOMAX, Feb. 28.—Illness of a small daughter forced J. S. Thompson to Dallas where treatment of a specialist is to be secured. The child had been ill for several days and local physicians advised Mr.
Thompson to seek the attention of a specialist in Dallas.

The party left Lomax last Friday afternoon accompanied by Arthur Stallings, who drove Mr. Thompson and his daughter to Dallas.
Mrs. Thompson was unable to take the trip because of sickness among other members of the family.

Walter: "Did you learn to swim
this summer?"
Arlene: "No, I learned that last year. This year I was taught to sink."

Second Graders Next,
But More Advanced
Group Falls In Rear

FORSAN, Feb. 28.—The first grade with 15 names on the honor roll was easily the most efficient class in Forsan school during the past month. The second grade with 10 students appearing on the honor roll was a close second, but most other grades fell far behind.

Those receiving the honor roll distinction, follows:

First grade, Kathleen Hamblin,
James Huff, Homer Hall, Basile
Ruth Hale, James Thomas Powell, William McDonald, Luella Grantham, Madeline Dandy, Bert Huff, Wilma Ruth Hudson, Clayton Hall,
Blanche Hammer, Stanley Hardison, Odette Flegwood, Marjorie Marie Coker, Ward Cowley, Thomas Smilie, Jr., Edna Earl Bradham.

Second grade: Loyd Malbury,
Ruth Brown, Mary Powell, Loyola
Bomar, Nana Lee Short, Billy Morrow, Adene Sowell, Marjorie Hudson, Sylvia Butler, and Arville Creelman.

lips, Mrs. Cliff Turner, Mrs. C. M.
Wood, Mrs. B. C. Cook, Mrs. B. B.
Barnhill, Mrs. M. H. Connell, Mrs.
Carter, Hazel Vaughn, Miss Mina Steddie, Estelle Barnhill and one hostess.

Local Man Is Awarded Patent

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Among the 925 patents issued last week by the United States Patent Office was one granted to Rhea R. Cravens, of Big Spring, on an improved device for removing electric weld deposits.

The invention, according to Clarence A. O'Brien, local patent attorney, is designed effectively to remove consolidated deposits from boiler tubes which have become loose and leaky and so need reweld-ing. The device comprises a number of adjustable cutters carried in a mounting, with rotating guides and anti-friction elements.

Two-Row Lister and FARMALL Combination

Think of it! The FARMALL and two-row lister that is pictured above can cover 20 acres a day... doing the work of two to three men and six to eight horses.

In planting cotton the FARMALL can easily cover 20 to 30 acres a day. If four rows are planted at a time, this acreage is practically doubled...

BIG SPRING AUTOWROW

J. C. Miller has been added to the sales force of the Wentz Motor Sales. Mr. Miller was formerly with John Dillard in the Dillard-Merrick Motor company, dealers in Oldsmobiles, and has had about 12 years of experience in selling automobiles.

Six salesmen and heads of departments in the King Chevrolet company left Friday to attend the dealers meeting in Abilene. They are: C. E. Carter, W. A. Reynolds, L. E. Craig, R. H. Roland, J. D. Queen and L. W. Hatcher.

Walter Vastine of the Big Spring Nash company spent the latter part of the week in Dallas on business.

The Webb Motor company announces sale of two Buick sedans last week. They were sold to H. B. Flattery of Forsan and to Lee C. Moore Incorporated.

Claude Allen of San Angelo, West Texas distributor for Willys-Overland, was a business visitor in town last week and was the guest of Homer McNew of the McNew Overland company.

Mr. Browning of the C. S. Boyles Motor company of Sweetwater was a visitor in the city last week.

Homer McNew of the McNew Overland company is in receipt of the following letter from P. C. Gartley, general sales manager of the Western Division of Willys-Overland:

"The Whippet Four is Willys-Overland's answer to the 1930 demand for economy of transportation.

"Gossip in competitive organizations have been active in spreading propaganda that the Whippet Four will be discontinued—that our present startling low price on the Sedan is for the purpose of a 'clean-up'.

"Nothing is further from the truth.

"The Whippet Four is a part and parcel of our complete price class covering program with the lowest priced four door Sedan in the world as the leader."

In describing the controlled service methods of the Ford Motor Company, W. E. Bonham, with the Wolcott Motor Company, Ford dealer in this city, pointed out that it is now possible for the Ford owner to get the same kind of attention for his automobile in the large city, the small country village or the distant foreign country, due to the universal use of special service equipment and to the Ford service schools.

"The policy of the Ford Motor Company with respect to service," said Mr. Bonham, "is set out in the statement by Henry Ford": "It has always been our belief," said Mr. Ford, "that a sale does not complete the transaction between us and the buyer, but establishes a new obligation on us to see that his car gives him service. We are as much interested in his economical operation of the car as he is in our economical manufacture of it."

"This is only good business on our part. If our car gives service, sales will take care of themselves. For that reason we have installed a system of controlled service to take care of all Ford cars needs in an economical and improved manner. We wish all users of Ford cars to know what they are entitled to in this respect, so that they may readily avail themselves of this service."

"When the Model 'A' Ford was introduced, the manufacture of tools and equipment especially designed for service work on it was underway. This equipment has been built to make it easy for the Ford service man to do his work properly, without holding cramped and strained positions, or working around dark corners. Special tools are available for virtually every standard operation on the Model 'A' Ford car."

"Ford service men attend the special schools where every feature of service work is taught, and the result is uniform service. Cleanliness is an important factor in Ford service. Much of the equipment has been designed to keep the automobile clean while it is being greased, adjusted or given other service attention."

"Service is an exceedingly important thing to consider about an automobile and it is a matter to which the Ford Motor Company has given the closest attention."

nick-Deering Farmalls and all necessary equipment next week. Five of the first shipments have been sold to the following farmers in Howard county: one to A. L. Watson, two to L. F. Keisling, one to H. D. Rogers and one to George Overton.

The Farmall is the product of the International Harvester company of Chicago and is an all-crop, all-year, all-purpose tractor which eliminates the need of livestock to work the farm. It handles row crops from seed bed preparation to harvest, including the planting and cultivation, without the aid of animal power.

For listing land, the cost of operation is one gallon of coal oil at 10 cents per acre, for cultivating land it requires three quarts of gasoline at 8 cents, and for making crops it requires for three cultivations, list, planting, and knifing, at 75 cents per acre.

WILL ROGERS—

knows the Ambassador and get them to start work on him. I suppose there has been more money spent on getting and trying to get presented than there has on Armament, which they are trying to abolish now on account of its expense. Mr. Dawes said it just had him about cuckoo, and what he wanted to do was to turn the thing over to the Senate of the United States, they have a try at everything and he wants to give them a crack at this.

Let each State select a girl and the seven States that lost out would get in next year, and seven others lose out. Well there is two Senators from each State and can you hear the arguments in there as to why each of their Candidates should not be the ONE. But at least that would give us a new argument in the Senate and thus something that we haven't had since Prohibition and the Tariff was invented. Dawes claims that if an Ambassador could get rid of that thing that it would practically eliminate the cause of an Ambassador being there, and they could come home and we could live in peace forever. I think they ought to sell the privileges like the English do it. That's the way they do with the Tullies over there; they auction them off. Why if England would raise the limit from 40 to 40,000 they could sell every one at a big price and soon pay their debt. But I am like Dawes. I want to see the Senate get hold of it. In the meantime try and meet the Queen, everybody is doing it.

PRICELESS PROTECTION
AT NO EXTRA COST!

COMPARE the new Nash Twin-Ignition Eight to other cars sold at its price and you'll instantly see its extra value and desirability. One very important feature of this new 1930 Nash "400" is Duplate non-shatterable plate glass in every window, door and windshield—priceless protection at no extra cost. And this is only one of many superior features which account for the superior performance of the Twin-Ignition Eight. The performance of the straight-eight, Twin-Ignition motor with its 9-bearing, integrally counterweighted, hollow crankpin crankshaft and aluminum connecting rods is so superior to that of the other straight eights and the V-eights you will know it instantly. The oil-cushioned chassis (Bijur centralized chassis lubrication and permanently lubricated springs) improves riding ease immeasurably. See this car, ride in it, familiarize yourself with its superior performance, before you purchase your new car!

The NEW Firestone
Supreme Balloon

FIRESTONE
Leadership started when it developed and sold the first automobile tires replacing the clincher tires which were held on the rims by wires. They also developed the first practical Non-Skid Tread design. Firestone then replaced the high pressure tire by developing and selling the first Gum-Dipped Balloon, which today holds all world records for speed, safety, mileage and endurance. This Leadership is maintained by the development of the Firestone Supreme Balloon, which is the last word in design, with larger air volume, added number of Gum-Dipped cord plies, thicker tread, greater non-skid protection, without impairing the wonderful riding qualities of the famous Firestone Gum-Dipped Balloon. This new development puts tire construction far ahead of modern driving conditions, embodying powerful, high speed automobiles, equipped with four-wheel brakes, which demand of tires not only greater strength and endurance, but added non-skid features where protection and safety are more important today than ever before. Come in today! We will give you a liberal allowance on your old tires.
