Premium Cotton

THE FIRST BALE OF COTTON IN COLEMAN COUNTY for the 1950 season was purchased at auction by the Santa Anna Coop Gin Tuesday afternoon for 40 cents per pound. Mr. R. R. Terry, right, Manager of the Coop Gin, hands Mr. Roy Creek, left, of the Leaday Community, a check for $180.00 for the bale. The Coop Gin also donated the ginning as an extra premium for the first bale. The premium list is being circulated by Mr. Ford Barnes, Secretary of the Santa Anna Chamber of Commerce, and donors names will be published next week.

Santa Anna Gets County's First Bale Of Cotton

Mr. Roy Creek of the Leaday Community, has the honor this year of producing the first bale of cotton in Coleman County. The bale was ginned Tuesday morning by the Santa Anna Coop Gin and weighed 450 pounds. The cotton was graded 15/16th middlin.

Mr. Creek stated that he gathered the cotton from about 11 acres of land. This is the first time he has ever raised the first bale. He has about 13 acres in cotton this year.

The bale was sold Tuesday afternoon to the Coop Gin at auction for 40 cents per pound. The merchants premium list was being made up, and will appear in next week's paper.

Echoes From The Alamo City

By Mrs. A. L. Oder

Greetings to my Santa Anna friends. I sincerely hope all of you are receiving as fine a rain as we are getting here. The showers began to fall before day and increased steadily in volume until one o'clock. The moisture was needed and I am sure will be appreciated.

Because of the rain, I didn't get to attend Sunday school and church this morning, but there seemed to be a lot of people getting about in their cars. San Antonio is one of the most church conscious cities that I know of.

Protestants and Catholics alike, are exceedingly active, and many new places of worship are being built and also old ones are being improved, and modernized. The smaller churches are fairly friendly, but it seems that members of churches with enormous membership rolls, don't know their own brethren, and take it for granted that all attending are members, and are not careful to greet visitors.

This old historical city has many interesting places I have never seen, but still hope to do so. The recent census revealed its great growth—more than doubling in population since 1940. I do not have the exact numbers, but many more than four hundred thousand people call San Antonio home.

Having become very rusty on the history of our state, I am brushing up by reading an old Texas History I found here in my sisters home. It says at first San Antonio grew very slowly, and it was very poor. That after 70 years it had but a hundred and forty houses, and that all of them were one story and mostly one roomed. It is vastly different now.

Let's celebrate. And now let us get our minds on Santa Anna, and its prospects for growth. The oil developments should bring in new people, but getting our water problem solved has caused a lot of favorable comment in the daily papers and the exchanges.

When work is completed, connecting the Santa Anna lakes with Lake Brownwood, and the water is turned on, it will be perhaps the greatest day since the first Santa Fe train rolled into town. The event calls for some kind of an appropriate observance.

R. E. Wood & Sons Elected To National Angus Association

R. E. Wood and Sons of Santa Anna, Texas, have been elected to membership in the American Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' Association at Chicago, announces Secretary Frank Richards.

Mr. Wood and Sons were among eleven purebred Aberdeen-Angus breeders from Texas elected during the past month to membership in the organization.

'Scratch Dallas' Campaign Started In Run-off Election

A "scratch Dallas" campaign in the August 26 run-off election has been organized on a state-wide basis, Emmette Alexander of Marble Falls announced today.

Alexander, a businessman and civic leader, who is sparking the drive, described it as an effort to decentralize the power held by Dallas County in state government and to strengthen representation of other areas in the government.

He noted that four out of five run-offs in the election have candidates from Dallas County.

"As a plain citizen interested in good government, I firmly believe that one big city should not be given that much representation," Alexander said.

The four run-offs which have Dallas candidates are two for the Supreme Court, one for the Court of Criminal Appeals and the lieutenant governor's race. In the lieutenant governor's race are Ben Ramsey of San Augustine County in East Texas and Pierce Brooks of Dallas County. W. A. Morrison of Milam County in Central Texas and Robert L. Latimore of Dallas County are campaigning for a place in the Court of Criminal Appeals.

In the Supreme Court races are Fagan Dickson of Bexar County in South Texas and Will Wilson of Dallas County, contending for Place 1, and Meade F. Griffin of Hale County in the Panhandle and George W. Harwood of Dallas County, both seeking Place 3.

"There are already five justices on the Supreme Court whose homes are within 123 miles of Dallas," Alexander said. "If the two Supreme Court candidates from Dallas are elected, then seven of the nine justices on the state's highest civil court will be Dallas representatives."

The "scratch Dallas" drive will be conducted through advertising, news releases, word-of-mouth and personal letters, Alexander said.

50 Farmers Wanted To Sign Up To Raise 3 Acres Grass Seed For Next Year

Grass seed as a money crop for Coleman County was discussed in a recent meeting at the Board of Community Development in Coleman, by a group of farmers, ranchers and business representatives. A very large demand for grass seed has developed during the past few years and all indications point to a much greater market in the future.

The demand stems from: (1) A need to put abandoned cropland and other acreage not suited to cultivation, that is now paying but little more than taxes, back to productive use and grass is the only remaining crop that most of this land is suited to growing. Coleman County alone has more than ten thousand acres of this class of land and practically all counties in the State, where farming is extensive, have as much or more acreage that must be replanted to grass. (2) Grass is beginning to be used in rotations with regular crops to improve the soil and is considered just as good as legumes for this purpose. That a conservation crop rotation is essential to improve and maintain the productivity of the land is the opinion of most farmers in the Central Texas area.

(3) Ranchers have started trial overseeding of native ranges, which shows great promise of success and of becoming in its self almost an unlimited market for grass seed were it not for the scarcity of seeds and the fabulous prices they bring. Some growers in nearby localities have had incomes during 1949 and 1950 from sale of grass seed that amounted to $300 and $500 an acre produced on average soil and without irrigation. The normal return from this same land planted to the usual crops would range from $25 to $50 an acre.

It all adds up to a tremendous grass seed market, when growers produce sufficient quantities of the seed to sell at a nominal cost, and a new agricultural enterprise will have been born which should produce considerable more income per acre from the land than is now being obtained.

Local leaders are wholeheartedly in favor of making grass seed a money crop in Coleman County. Local organizations that have voiced their approval and endorsement of such a program include:

Coleman County State Bank. First Coleman National Bank. Santa Anna National Bank. Santa Anna Chamber of Commerce.

Coleman Board of Community Development. Coleman Production Credit Association. Coleman County Breeder-Feeder Association.

Leaday Community Club. Coleman County Farm Bureau. Central Colorado Soil Conservation District.

Talpa Lions Club. These groups are urging that fifty interested growers sign up, at the Coleman Board of Community Development, the Santa Anna Chamber of Commerce or with Joe Tinney, Soil Conservation Service, to plant a minimum of three acres each for 1951. Each grower will buy his own seed of the variety he chooses. Technical help and some equipment will be available through the local soil conservation district, it has been indicated. Information will be available for every detail of the operation, including selection of kind of seed, where it can be obtained, seedbed preparation, method of planting, cultivating, harvesting and marketing.

Sufficient local experience in planting grasses has already been gained to know the value of a seed production program. The county has a natural adaptation that is highly favorable for seed production in that such factors as soil, rainfall, length of growing season and plenty of sunshine are available. It is to be expected that failures will occur but with proper seedbed preparation, proper seeding and good care and attention of plants until they are established, the risk is no greater than for any other crop. Authorities say the grass seed business should be good for twenty years but actually the need will last indefinitely.

A strong demand exists for such grasses as switchgrass, Indiangrass, blue panic, King Ranch bluestem, sideoats, grama, big bluestem and sand lovegrass, all of which are warm season grasses to be planted in the spring. Canada wildrye is a cool season grass that requires planting in September or October. It is native and produces a high yield of seed. Alta fescue, orchardgrass and Hardinggrass are others that require planting in the fall and have grown well locally for two years but more experience is needed to test their survival of hot and dry summer months. All of these grasses are perennials which means they need to be planted only once and will produce for years from the old plant. Plant breeders are continually working on the development of new and improved species which keeps new life added to the seed business.

Your Cooperation Is Appreciated

We, here at the News office, are still short handed, but we are making the best of it we can. We have a number of prospects for the jobs we have open, but it seems these days that prospects don't mean very much.

We appreciate the cooperation we have had this week, from the advertisers and also from you as readers. Those of you who have brought in your news items and local happenings have helped us a lot in getting the paper out.

We hope you will continue the fine spirit of cooperation you have shown.

For the last two weeks we have not had the opportunity to get out and run down any of the local oil happenings. We realize that our readers are interested in the oil business, but it takes just about a full days time to cover all the local oil wells. Just as soon as possible we will start carrying the oil news again.

We have hopes of having a linotype operator by the first of next week, and if we do this will give your editor considerable more time to cover the local oil news.

Burial was in the Coleman Cemetery.

Mr. Dibrell, who was an outstanding attorney and an active member of the state Democratic committee, came to Coleman Co. in 1905.

He had been in ill health since a severe heart attack several years ago. Mrs. Dibrell died in 1938.

Jess Owen Moved To Home Of Parents

Jess Owen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Owen, was seriously injured in an automobile accident near Seminole, Tex., Wednesday, July 26, at 11:00 p. m. Since that time he had been in a hospital there until Friday, when his brother, Ray, brought him to the home of his parents, here.

Jess was asleep at the time of the accident and does not actually know just what happened. Apparently the driver of the car, a man he had picked up just a short time before the accident, was driving pretty fast in a heavy rain and lost control of the car.

Jess has three fractures in the small of his back, and will be in a cast for about three months. He seems to be getting along fairly well, and will soon be able to get around in a wheel chair.

Ready To Operate

THE SANTA ANNA COOP GIN has just recently installed a new dryer, the light tin bin at the upper left, and through the center of the picture can be seen four new hull extractors, cleaner-feeders that have been installed this summer, to enable them to get the cotton cleaner when ginning it. Mr. R. R. Terry, Manager of the gin, center foreground, is looking in on the operation of one of the new feeders. These feeders take care of the main part of the ginning, separating the cotton from the seed. Each feeder contains four more cleaners than they did last year.

Mr. Terry stated they ginned 3,080 bales of cotton last year, but was not looking for that much this year, due to the large numbers of insects destroying the cotton. He estimates that 1/4 of a bale to the acre will be about average cotton through the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Simmons R. C. Gay, over the week-end, and son, Austin, of LaGrange, Mrs. Simmons is a niece of the Ga., visited with their aunt, Mrs. late R. C. Gay.

A Great Preacher?

Lesson for August 20, 1950

JESUS SAID of him that there had never been a greater man than John, the Baptist. Certainly there has never been a greater preacher to this day. He had none of the aids a modern preacher has. He had no song leader, no music of any kind, no church organization, no building, not even a tent. He was not even in a village but in a bandit-infested wilderness. There was little "dramatic" about him or his methods.

Dr. Foreman

Yet he started a tremendous revival, and he won higher praise from Jesus than any other human being received from him.

Candor

CONSIDER SOME of the qualities of this famous man. One was candor, that is, he was not afraid to speak his mind. His opinions were not always popular; his verdicts were not always those of the masses. But he spoke his mind all the same.

He called his hearers "generation of vipers," "snakes' babies, in modern words. He freely admitted he was no Messiah. When on a later occasion he had his doubts about Jesus, he did not conceal them, but told Jesus straight from the shoulder that he questioned him. And Jesus honored his honesty.

Candor is a rare article. Those few persons in public life who are willing to speak their minds may make some enemies but they make more admirers. The odd thing is that people cover up their minds for fear they will be unpopular; whereas you will generally find that the candid person does not lack for friends.

Courage

WHAT BRINGS up another quality outstanding in this extraordinary man is his courage. He could stand up to the most prominent citizens and tell them they were sinners, and name their sins.

It doesn't take much courage to say you are a sinner, or to say that any one is. Aren't we all? It takes more nerve to speak out in plain language, as John did to the Pharisees and Herod for example. When he called on men to repent, he meant a specific repentance, not repentance in general.

In a southern state there was a prison chaplain at the penitentiary. One of the prisoners had been convicted of stealing funds from the state bank. But he never had admitted his guilt, in court or afterwards. He was stand-offish with the chaplain, though before his conviction he used to be a church officer and a praying man, the chaplain could hardly get next to him. Finally one day he agreed to pray. As he and the chaplain knelt down together, the prisoner began: "Lord, thou knowest that we are all miserable sinners." The chaplain stopped him. Leaning over he said to the prisoner: "What are you in here for?" The man was still a moment. Then in a quite different tone of voice he began again: "O God, forgive me for stealing from the State Bank." It was the first time he had ever admitted his guilt. But it took courage on the chaplain's part as well as his own.

Common Sense

ANOTHER QUALITY of John which deserves notice is his simple common-sense. Listen to what he tells the men who come with this question: "What must we do?" John's common-sense mind knew that repentance, just by itself, is not enough. Repentance is turning from something bad to something good, from wrong to right.

Let the man with two shirts share with the man who has none, he said. Let him who has food do likewise. Let the tax-collector be honest. Let the soldier stop grabbing; even in an "occupied country" a soldier must not be unjust or cruel.

Pointing to Christ

WHAT MAKES John best remembered is that he preached Christ. He is known as the forerunner; he was the man who said of Jesus, "He must increase but I must decrease." The preacher who calls attention to himself is an egotist, a show-off, the preacher who draws men's eyes and hearts to Jesus Christ may himself be small, but his work will be great.

Ole Sarge-

The initial processing machinery began to roll this past week as thousands of young men reported to the various induction stations for their pre-induction examinations.

This first call will effect about 10,000 men in the Southwestern Recruiting District, which includes Texas and New Mexico.

Meanwhile, the Military Personnel section at Fort Army headquarters in San Antonio, announced that there will be no entailment in the voluntary enlistment effort.

Men who have not received pre-induction notice are being urged to take advantage of the opportunities offered to Regular enlistees.

Volunteers are given their choice of a three, four, five or six year enlistment in the Army; or a four, five or six year enlistment in the Air Force. Army enlistees are also given their choice of the combat arm in which they prefer to serve. Soldiers and Airmen alike have the chance for highly specialized training in various fields if qualified. The career advantages, such as retirement benefits, still apply to current enlistees.

It is evident that many young men are taking advantage of the Regular enlistment opportunities, as Recruiting Stations report that enlistments have more than doubled since the advent of the Korean crisis.

Step-up of the Air Force pilot training program is indicated, as Air Force headquarters has announced that it plans to use civilian flight training agencies to train pilots in the primary and basic phase. The Air Force also stated that standby bases and World War II civilian contract flying schools would be surveyed at once to determine the best location for training bases.

The Air Force is also contemplating expansion of its Officer Candidate School at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio to meet increased requirements for more young officers. An announcement is expected soon. The Army has already announced plans to double its Officer Candidate School at Ft. Riley, Kansas, beginning this month.

By a vote of 383 to 12, the House last week passed and sent to the Senate the expanded bill, giving the President sweeping powers to control the nation's economy. The measure includes permission to impose wage and price controls and rationing. The use of these powers would be discretionary with the President. There is no mandatory requirement that wage and price controls be imposed at the same time.

This failure to tie wage and price controls together was, in the minds of many of us, a mistake. Repeated attempts were made to amend the bill so as to make it mandatory that the President control wages if he should control prices. We know from past experiences that if prices are controlled but wages left free to go up, the result is increased cost of production and a scramble to the black markets. The bill goes further to empower the President to require acceptance and priority fulfillment of all national defense contracts, and authorizes him to requisition any materials or facilities he considers necessary to the defense effort.

The President could set up a system of priorities and allocations to insure a supply of critical materials for defense plants. He could also either make or guarantee loans for defense purposes up to a total of $2 billion. The measure also includes authority to control consumer credit, but restricts the control of real estate credit to new construction or extensive renovation. And it would be a criminal offense to hoard food, clothing or other "necessaries".

IN ADDITION TO credit controls in an effort to curb the trend toward inflation, new taxes are believed essential. A new war-time tax measure is now in the making, and we can all expect our income tax bill to be upped during the life of this emergency.

The question of whether price and wage controls and rationing will be resorted to by the President will probably depend upon the success of the other controls to stem the tide of inflation and will also depend upon the people themselves. Hoarding and excessive buying means shortages and that in turn means higher prices. Enough of this, including the abuse of credit, can, of course cause high-price spirals which, when applied to necessities can have a serious impact upon the average family and upon the nation's economy.

County Farm Bureau News

The Coleman County Farm Bureau annual membership meeting is August 24. Don't forget to come and bring the family. Have the wife bring a pie or cake.

Ben Wilson, program chairman has a good program, following the barbecue supper. Maurice Howell, of Abilene, will be the main speaker and Mrs. W. D. Terry will put on a puppet show. The whole program will be announced in next weeks paper.

The Farm Bureau welcomes Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Huskabee to Coleman County, and will enjoy working with him as the new County agent.

Luther Holder has selected this committee to help him prepare the barbecue. The "chosen" ones are: Johnnie Bryson, Voss; Paul Colson, Burkett, Clyde Thate, Burkett, Frank Gillespie and Roland Jameson, Coleman. Fred Turner, Voss, Herman Jenkins and "Huck" Huckabee, Coleman, Leonard Morris, Silver Valley, A. V. Bullard, Burkett, R. S. Adian, Fisk, and R. L. DeRusha, Santa Anna.

Director of the week is Ben Wilson of Coleman. Nearly everyone knows Mr. and Mrs. Wilson. Ben has been president of the Coleman County Farm Bureau and has been a director for four years. He is now Vice President of the organization and is doing a good job helping direct the affairs of your organization. Ben is a member of the Breeder-Feeder organization and the Rodeo Association, and helps agriculture in the county in any way he can. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson live northwest of Coleman about two miles. They have 475 acres of land that is valued as high as any land in the county. Nearly all of it is in cultivation and the farm takes any farmers eye when Ben gets it planted and crops on it. His principle crops are cotton, wheat, oats and sorghum. He has the place terraced and is doing his best to conserve the build of his land. The Wilsons have recently remodeled their home and they have some of the best farm buildings. Both Mr. and Mrs. Wilson were born and reared in Coleman County and hope to enjoy many more years of association with Coleman people.

S. S. Representative In Coleman Tuesday

Ralph T. Fisher, manager of the Abilene office of the Social Security Administration, will be at the Department of Welfare in Coleman at 1.00 p. m. on Tuesday, August 22nd. Persons wishing assistance with retirement claims or death claims under the Social Security Act, or needing information about their social security accounts, should call at that time for necessary help and information.

"Every day a number of persons needlessly write letters to the Abilene office for applications for social security cards," stated Fisher. "These persons evidently do not know that an application blank can be obtained from their home town post office. The post offices, as a service to the people, carry these blanks and are ready and willing to hand them out to all who ask for them." Texas Employment Commission offices in this area also have the forms.

By obtaining this application at the post office, the individual can save himself wasted effort and loss of time, since there is no need to write a letter asking for one. Upon receipt of the completed application, the Social Security Administration will issue a social security card. Doing this will save the person 2 or 3 days in getting his card, and it may also save time in getting started on a new job.

All completed application blanks should be mailed to the Social Security Administration, Abilene, Texas.

Has Your Child Had A Physical This Summer?

AUSTIN. — Parents, has your child had a physical examination this summer? Next month he will be starting to school, and if he is in good health he will have a happier, more profitable year. It's up to YOU to give HIM a healthful send-off, says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

After he has his check-up by the family doctor, be sure to take him to the family dentist. Teeth are mighty important, and decayed ones often cause a heap of trouble. They may start infection in other parts of the body. Strong, healthy teeth add attractiveness to appearance and personality. Help your child to grow up with good teeth... see that he has a dental examination twice a year.

Sometimes children need glasses and their parents don't realize it. An examination by an eye specialist is important. A child who needs glasses, if taken to an eye physician now, will have time to get used to them before school starts.

When children are grouped together in a classroom, they expose each other to communicable diseases. Has your child been immunized against diphtheria and smallpox? Dose he know he should use only his own drinking glass? Dose he know he should avoid boys and girls who are victims of colds? Do you keep your child at home when he shows signs of a cold?

Plenty of exercise and recreation, the right kind of foods, and 12 hours of sleep a night, are necessary for a child of elementary school age.

Get your child an appointment for a check-up today... the first day of school is not far away.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Gilliam and daughters, Betty and Sandra, of the Buffalo community and Mrs. Richard Smith and Gene of Santa Anna, spent their vacation last week visiting friends and relatives at Irving, Rockwall, Kaufman and Corsicana, Texas. They also visited in Galveston.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Benton and daughter of Bonham, visited briefly in the Turney Smith home Saturday afternoon. Mr. Smith and Benton are old-time friends and had not seen each other in over 40 years.

Anne Priddy had as guests over the week-end Annette Tankersley and Maxine Vancourt of Mertzon. Anne and Annette are room-mates at TSC in Denton.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Parker attended the Fireman's convention in Eldorado last Tuesday. From there they went to Camp Wood for a day and then on to Del Rio for a visit with friends and while there they visited in Old Mexico.

Mr. Richard Smith spent Monday night in Breckenridge, with an uncle, Oscar Stanley.

Mrs. Merrell Spence and daughter, Linda, of Van Nuys, Calif., are here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Taylor. The Taylors plan to return home with Mrs. Spence for an extended visit.
