Son Declares Charges Are 'Frame-Up'

One Of Thirteen Men Included In Oil Theft Conspiracy Charges

HOUSTON, (AP)—Lon Smith, chairman of the railroad commission, said in a statement Saturday the charge of oil theft conspiracy against his son, F. A. Smith, did not weaken his desire to see every "law violator" in the East Texas oil field brought to justice.

FRAME UP CHARGED LONGVIEW—F. A. Smith, Tyler oil man and son of Lon A. Smith, chairman of the Texas railroad commission, told the Longview News-Journal Friday over long-distance telephones from his home in Tyler that he considered oil theft conspiracy charges filed against him here a "frame-up."

Smith was one of 13 men charged here yesterday in complaints filed by investigators for the Texas railroad commission, alleging conspiracy to steal oil in connection with an alleged oil theft "ring" at Gladewater.

"It looks like a frame-up to me but I don't know the particulars," said Smith, who admitted he came here yesterday and furnished $1,000 bond on the charge. He said he would come here Monday "to look into it."

Smith said he was ready, at any time the state might be ready, to refute the charges in court and clear himself in the case.

"All of the statements and charges are false," he asserted. "I can see no reason why these charges should reflect upon my father," he added, "even if the charges were true, as we have established separate households and have separate affairs and he knows none of the details of my business."

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Fire, which swept a section of old Huntington Beach oil field after a terrific explosion Saturday, was controlled three hours later.

Check by firemen disclosed all persons in the area escaped. Six producing oil derricks, about a dozen storage tanks, and a gasoline refinery were destroyed.

Field officials estimated the loss at between a half and a million dollars. Authorities said the explosion occurred when a hose loading gasoline on a truck broke, spraying volatile fuel into a firebox.

INJUNCTION DELAYED DALLAS, (AP)—At the request of plaintiffs' attorneys, Judge W. M. Taylor Saturday passed indefinitely an injunction suit filed by the mothers of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker, seeking to restrain two downtown theatres from showing moving pictures of the couple's slaying.

Deputy Shot To Death At San Angelo

Man He Sought To Arrest On Lunacy Charge Complaint Held

SAN ANGELO—Charley Carruth, deputy sheriff, was shot through the chest, dying almost instantly at a refinery near the city limits late Friday afternoon.

Zeke Bates, special officer for the Santa Fe railroad, was wounded in the arm by the same bullet. Jesse Barnett, night watchman at the property, was placed in jail.

The officers had gone to the refinery to take Barnett in charge on a lunacy warrant. They had not, however, disclosed their identity as officers and were "making conversation in an effort to get the man to give up the gun when suddenly he raised the weapon and fired without warning," Bates said.

Barnett's wife died, two months ago and one of his three children has been ill in a hospital for two months. Other employees of the refinery said Barnett had been brooding over the death of his wife and illness of the daughter for some time.

He broke down and sobbed when asked at the jail about his family. Bates and Virgil Stanford, another refinery employee, took the gun away from Barnett after he had attempted to cock the weapon. Bates handcuffed the man and held him until other officers arrived.

Carruth is survived by his widow and three children. He had been a deputy for 17 months. Mrs. Horace Jarrett has returned from Baird. While there she underwent a tonsillectomy.

SNOWSTORMS, HEAT WAVES CONTRASTING

KANSAS CITY, (AP)—Snow and all-time heat records made the nation's weather may a crazy quilt Saturday.

While snowstorms ushered in June in Montana, Washington and Idaho, Milwaukee sweltered under a record high of 103 degrees. Chicago experienced 102, the second hottest day in its history.

Forest fires broke out in parched areas of New York, Maine and Wisconsin. Scattered rains brought relief to some southern communities.

Half a dozen cities in the Texas Panhandle reported rainfall. Rain and hail preceded a snowstorm at Butte, Montana.

Spotted showers riding on the wings of a 40 mile wind dotted most of Howard county Saturday, varying from extremely light showers to regular downpours.

Heaviest precipitation was reported across the northeast corner of the county. Unverified reports from Coahoma were to the effect that Vincent had received a four inch rain, accompanied by a peeling hail.

Unconfirmed reports were that Luther was in the path of a heavy fall and barrage of hail. Vestal received half an inch with hail while Ackery registered only a quarter of an inch with the shower extending only one mile north into Dawson county.

Downtown Big Spring received a refreshing shower while the U. S. Weather Bureau at the airport was recording a .92 inch rainfall, or a total of 1.08 for the day. Heavy precipitation was reported to a point ten miles west of here where it lightened to a small shower at Stanton.

Between Big Spring and Foran rains were fairly heavy but Foran received barely enough to settle the dust. In striking contrast to the inch rain at the airport, the gauge at the U. S. Experiment farm north of town showed only .08 inches.

Coahoma reported a quarter inch shower and Westbrook received an even lighter rainfall. Clear skies Saturday night gave no promise of more rain.

Sister And Cousin Victims Of Gun Fire From Crazy Man

LOCKHART, (AP)—Frank Mueck, charged with slaying his sister, Miss Nora Mueck, and Willie Weddige, a cousin, was arrested Saturday between Martindale and Maxwell by Deputy Sheriff Bill Anderson, of Martindale.

He was not carrying a gun. Walter Ellison, Caldwell county sheriff, took Mueck to Lockhart.

OFFICERS CONDUCT HUNT LOCKHART, (AP)—Frank Mueck, was charged here Saturday with the double slaying of Miss Nora Mueck and Willie Weddige, seven miles west of here Friday. Mueck is Miss Mueck's brother and Weddige is a cousin.

He had not been arrested early Saturday. The couple was fired on through a window while eating supper. Miss Mueck, acting postmaster at Maxwell, suffered a bullet penetrating her breast. Weddige, wounded in the shoulder and chest, made his way to the home of Perry Jittman before succumbing.

Officers and bloodhounds beat the woods of this section Saturday in a search for the suspected killer.

Campaign On To Collect School Tax

Delinquents Urged To Cooperate In Payment To Schools Of Big Spring

"Cooperation in a mutual plan of adjustment" through payment of delinquent taxes is being urged here by the Big Spring Independent School district.

Payment of back taxes before July 1, 1934 will not only enable the administration to continue economic institutions but it will also effect a generous saving to the payer.

Ray Reagan has been engaged by the district to assist delinquent taxpayers in working out a solution of their tax problems. Every delinquent account has been compiled in ledger form to facilitate computing of amounts due and savings to be had by paying before July 1.

Reagan called attention to the state law which permits delinquent tax payments which allows for payment of back taxes between now and July 1 with only 6 per cent interest. Thereafter, such taxes bear 10 per cent penalty plus 6 per cent interest.

A $100 delinquent account can be paid before July 1 for $104. He pointed out, whereas if it is paid July 1 or after it will take $123 to pay the same amount. The district officials said that since 1930 cost of administering and maintaining the schools had decreased 30 per cent while taxes had been reduced 35 3/4 per cent. At the same time delinquent payments have increased making it more and more difficult to operate and at the same time preserve economies for the taxpayer.

Million Dollar Fire In California Oil Field Area

News Behind The News THE NATIONAL Whirligig

WASHINGTON By George Durno Recovery Administration best minds are getting a bit jittery over the thought of President Roosevelt's impending seven-week absence from not only Washington but the United States proper.

The federal machine always seems to slow up when the Chief Executive is out of town. Even with Congress on the job it has been noticeable these past few days while Mr. Roosevelt has been reviewing and visiting at Groton and elsewhere.

It's been making certain of his advisers apprehensive when they think of what might happen during the time he is cruising to the West Indies, through the Canal to Hawaii and back again. They're not forgetting this is a Congressional campaign year and the opposition is out to stir up a heap of trouble.

Those who've had occasion to observe Mr. Roosevelt's activities at first hand in the last fifteen months agree that he both needs and deserves a vacation. At the same time many recall how Herbert Hoover was loath to get farther from his desk than the Staidian during his slice of the depression.

Airlines Get 5 Contracts

American Airlines To Restore Large Number Of Men To Service

FORT WORTH—Five airmail contracts were awarded Friday to American Airlines, it was announced from Washington and a large number of men will be restored to service in the immediate future as a result of the awards, Maurice Stalter, Fort Worth manager, said.

The new run from Fort Worth to Chicago through St. Louis was given to the American, the Postoffice Department announced, as it was the Fort Worth to Newark run, which gives the company a transcontinental route through Fort Worth as it is already carrying the mail between here and Los Angeles.

Another route awarded to the American that is of primary importance to Fort Worth is the Nashville to Cleveland run as it is in effect an alternate transcontinental course, with Nashville as the point at which the two routes from here diverge.

The American also was given the Boston-Cleveland and the Washington-Chicago runs. The only other award announced was from Billings, Mont., to Cheyenne, Wyo., to Wyoming Air Service, Inc. Announcement concerning the third transcontinental route through Fort Worth to Charleston, S. C., on which Delta Air Service was low bidder has not yet been made.

The Washington dispatch said that operations on the runs probably would start next week and that all will carry passengers. Meanwhile Fort Worth witnessed Friday the inauguration of three airmail lines—to Amarillo, to Houston and Galveston, and to San Antonio, Corpus Christi and Brownsville. Ships from those points landed here early Friday night. Planes bound from Fort Worth took off Friday morning.

Long & Harman, Inc., is operating all three lines, on which passengers as well as mail is carried. Mail shipments were regarded as exceptionally good.

Cosden No. Two Team Noses Out Carter Chevrolet 12-10

Misplay In Last Inning

Knee Action Boys Improve But Errors In Field Costly

Cosden defeated the Knee Action Carter Chevrolet soft ball team 12 to 10 in a League No. 2 game Friday. There was no game in League No. 1.

The Chevy team showed great improvement over other games, but a few errors in the field lost the game for them.

The Knee Action boys were leading the Refinery crew 4 to 1 at the end of the first inning. By the end of the fifth Cosden had pushed into a 7 to 6 lead.

A misplay in the seventh inning cost the Carter team a last minute battle to knot the score.

The Chevrolet team holds the cellar position in League No. 2 with three losses and no victories, but their manager states they are priming for a last half rally.

Cosdenites To Scrap Col-Tex

Ackerly And Coahoma To Tangle Second Time In Two Weeks

The Cosden Oilers will attempt to win their second game from the Col-Tex Oilers when they journey eastward to the Mitchell county capital Sunday. The Cosdenites came from behind in their last encounter to nose out the visitors 7 in ten terrific innings.

Batteries are doubtful, but Pap Payne and Fiero will probably start as pitcher and catcher respectively. Pap was painful to the Colorado nine when he pitched to them last and should make it difficult for the Coloradans if he gets support of any kind from his mates. Fiero can be remembered for his timely hit in the tenth inning of the last league game while scored the winning run.

In the other league meeting, Ackerly will visit the Coahoma boys for their second go in two weeks. Coahoma threw the league into a three way tie for first place when they defeated the Dawsonites in their last encounter. Coahoma, with the advantage of playing at home, should make it rather interesting for the Ackerly lads.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mrs. A. C. Hart and son Howard returned Friday from Cross Plains where they had spent a week visiting relatives and friends.

COSDEN OILERS LOSE 4 TO 2 IN SLOW GAME WITH LORAIN

Locals Lose Uninteresting Game In Last Few Innings

In a game marked with few base hits, Loraine, with Col-Tex represented, succeeded in turning back the Cosden Oilers Saturday by the score of 4-2. The Cosdenites were out ahead for five innings, but the Nolan county lads broke through in the sixth and seventh with a four run rally to take the lead.

The Oilers broke the ice in the initial inning when Riggs, a player borrowed from Coahoma, raced home on a hard drive by Fiero.

Loraine had men on first and second in their half of the inning, but Potter whiffed Jackson for the third out.

In the third, the Cosden twirler surprised even himself when he scored a fluke hit over the third baseman, but the third baseman caught him off the sack.

Red Black led off with a two base blow in Loraine's half of the third, but Coffee flew out to Baber to end the threat.

The Oilers went out in order in the fourth, but Loraine put forth a serious bid to tally when they loaded the bases, however, good work by the Cosden infield staved off Loraine's attempt to tie the score.

The Oilers succeeded in wading through the fifth without damage, but Loraine tied it up in the sixth on two clean hits. Adams was safe at first and advanced to second when Riggs erred and crossed the plate on a hit by Henderson.

Big Spring went into the lead again in the seventh when Dutch Moxley scored a hit into right center after Martin had reached second on an error. Lefty Baber recorded a single in the seventh, but "Mileaway" Baker unluckily hit directly into Coffee's hands, who in turn started a double killing.

The Loraine boys wasted little time in taking the lead, when they broke out in their part of the seventh to score a trio of runs and ice the game. Spikes, Muns, Coffee, and Black hit in succession to put the Nolaners in the lead.

The Oilers offered little resistance in the last two innings, as they went out in order in both frames.

The Oiler defeat could be attributed mainly to inability to adapt themselves to the slow field.

HOUSTON, (UP)—With approximately one hundred shots fired, W. Alvin Swann, 28, white member of the International Longshoremen's association was wounded critically Saturday when a group of white and negro strikers menaced negroes gathered in a house near the docks.

SAN ANGELO GRID PROSPECTS DIMMED AS BOYS FAIL TO PASS

Six Members Of Champion Football Team Get Diplomas

SAN ANGELO—Prospects for another championship football team at San Angelo High school received a severe setback the past week when four promising 1934 candidates failed to pass the required number of courses to be eligible for this year's Bobcat football team.

Harry Harrison, a promising backfield candidate from Junior high, Bob Watson, 33 kitten guard, Jesse Stout, reserve lineman of '33 Bobcat team, and Joe Askew, latter end, were the four that failed to make the required grades.

Junius Ray, a promising back from Junior high, will leave the school and join his father, the Rev. Paul Ray, Baptist minister who has been called to Llano.

Joe Askew was the most promising of the four that did not come through for Coach Harry Taylor. Askew had indications of developing into a sensational back.

Six members of the West Texas championship team received diplomas Thursday night at the commencement exercises. They were Lonnie L. Tucker, Co-Capt. and half; Finley Steele, reserve back; Bob Neves, reserve center; "Curly" Hayes, fullback; Oscar Unger, guard and Glen Wagon, half.

Tom Gregg, tackle, graduated at mid-term and is now at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene. Six members of the 1933 championship will be ineligible because of the eight semester rule; Co-Capt. Herbert Reid, quarterback; Alonso Turn, guard; Pete Costello, center; M. H. Raiborn, tackle; Jack Springer, tackle and Sullivan, reserve lineman.

Smith and Doran, ends, and Hill and Shotts, guards, are the only four letter men but of seventeen that will be back for the '34 season.

Several reserves and additions from Tonto Coleman's Crimson Tide at Junior high will be all that Coaches Taylor and Keyes will have to develop a winning team.

Summer School Starts Monday

Summer school will get under way Monday morning with several courses being offered to many high school and junior high school students.

The teaching force is composed of D. M. Koed, Dan Conley and Mrs. Mary Bumpass.

Junior high school students will be able to make a full semester's work.

THE FORD DRAMA OF PROGRESS

The Ford Motor Company invites you to visit its exposition at A Century of Progress, Chicago, where the absorbing story of Ford men, methods and ideals has been unfolded beneath a single roof.

In this story of advancement are imprints of Henry Ford's own career. Many devices in the display came into being through Mr. Ford's efforts, or through exigencies created by his insistent drive toward improvement and increased efficiency in every mechanical operation.

Beside the Ford Exposition Building stands the gray, weather-beaten barn in which Henry Ford worked and played as a Michigan farmer boy. Its presence is peculiarly significant, because it has been equipped with machinery to illustrate how the farmer may process raw materials for industrial uses and bring about a closer and mutually profitable relationship between industry and the farmer.

Suppliers Join Ford in Educational Exhibit

Twenty-one of the suppliers who manufacture Ford V-8 parts have joined with the Ford Motor Company in the industrial exhibits to make them complete and informative. Each exhibit begins and ends upon the same two keys—the first that every part of the Ford car comes from the earth. The second is that each part, from the smallest bolt to the heaviest steel part, must pass individual tests to make sure it is up to Ford standards.

From Mine to Finished Automobile Parts

The sources of iron, steel, copper, aluminum, zinc, lead and other metals are graphically portrayed. Exhibits depicting the processes that are used in manufacturing parts from these metals are actually at work producing the finished parts.

A program of symphony orchestra music has been planned for the Ford Exposition to last throughout the summer months. Opening the musical program will be the Women's Symphony Orchestra of Chicago, directed by Miss Edda Sundstrom. The Women's Symphony will close a one-week program June 13th. An afternoon and evening concert will be given daily.

On June 16th the Detroit Symphony Orchestra will begin a series of daily concerts to continue for twelve weeks. Under the baton of Victor Kolar the Detroit Symphony will give a two-hour concert each afternoon and evening of the week.

The Ford Exposition Building is illuminated at night by hidden batteries of lights. These lights, playing upon the central tower exterior, produce an effect of great beauty. Straight up from the tower is a mighty beam of light furnished by searchlights with a combined strength of 600,000,000 candle-power. It is visible for many miles, and for hundreds of miles to airplanes.

The Grand Concourse of the Ford Building. Shown here is a priceless collection of vehicles of transportation of all time, from the ancient Egyptian chariot to the automobile of today.

LAUGHS ACROSS THE SEA

In all the efforts to get the English-speaking peoples to co-operate for their mutual good and for the good of the world, understanding has developed in everything but the respective humor of the Englishman and the American. Our British cousins never laugh at our jokes it is said. If they do, it usually turns out they are laughing not at the point of the story but at something in it not intended to be funny. In the same way, Americans look at Punch with troubled and serious gaze, unable to see anything humorous about anything in it.

In view of this complete misunderstanding in the matter of jokes, wisecracks, and so on, it is the more curious that many Americans consider the greatest humorists to have been British. We "get" the humor of Charles Lamb and Dickens and a host of other British authors, even though we stumble sourly through Punch.

We'd like to know whether the British laugh at Mark Twain and Artemus Ward while scowling at Will Rogers and the four Marx brothers.

HUMAN SKILL OUTRANKS MACHINES

Modern industry with its almost human machines and quantity production methods, needs the true craftsmanship more than ever before, says W. A. Fisher, president of the Fisher Body Craftsmen's Guild, Detroit, Michigan.

"The opinion has been expressed all too freely in recent years that the machine age is eliminating the need for the skilled worker," Mr. Fisher declares. "This is not true. Craftsmanship is of more importance today than it was when all things were produced by hand. Without it, progress is impossible.

"The man who can show manual dexterity and the ability to apply technical knowledge intelligently can go far in our modern industrial system, for he has a combination that is urgently needed."

The Guild was organized in 1930. The aim of its founders was to foster ideals of true craftsmanship among boys of the North American Continent and encourage them to build with their own hands—to create things for themselves.

Already the Guild has earned international recognition as an outstanding educational foundation. It has some 750,000 members and in three years has provided funds for insuring a complete college education to fifteen boys.

To win the awards offered by the Guild, the basis of competition is the building of a miniature model of the Napoleonic coach, for which the Guild furnishes the plans. The coach was chosen because it calls for skill in metal, wood, paint and trimcraft as well as artistic taste, mental ingenuity, manual proficiency and patient perseverance.

Here is a real character building endeavor which lays the foundation for a life work. Educators and schools are cooperating in the movement. Interest was so great this year that the closing date of the 1934 competition has been extended to midnight, July 21 to allow the youths vying for the $21,000 in university scholarships, additional time to complete their miniature Napoleonic coaches.

This is a fine example of what American industry is doing to help develop real artisans and good citizens who take pride in their work and in the excellence of American products which they will build in the future.

GUNS FOR BOTH SIDES

It is argued plausibly that the private armament industry must be maintained because it is essential to national defense. When a country has to defend itself, an efficient arms industry, ready to produce whatever is essential for fighting, is a great asset. As ordinarily conducted, however, there is a big hole in the argument. It has been revealed lately in many countries that the armament makers sell munitions to both sides. While arming their fellow-countrymen they are also arming their enemies. While professing to support nationalism they are an international as any other exporting industry.

Secretary Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota heads a senatorial committee recently appointed to inquire into the American armament industry. As a result of long interest in this question, he has little hope of finding that our makers of ships, guns and ammunition are any more inclined to place patriotism before profits than their foreign brethren are. "I venture to say that if we went to war with Japan," he remarked recently, "our munitions would be mowed down by munitions sold to the Japanese by the same firms that supplied our own fighting men."

It is well to have this question cleared up. It has never come to an issue before. What was done in the past was tolerated by general opinion. But it grows clear that there will be a higher ethical standard in the future. And if private business will not rise to it, there will be a demand to make armament manufacture a government monopoly.

AN INVESTMENT THAT GAINED IN VALUE

Here is a true experience. A man had $65,000 of investments, about half of which were equities in life insurance policies. For the past two years he hadn't inventoried his holdings, because, being, human, he didn't want to know how much more they had depreciated.

Finally he spent a few hours on that doleful duty and found his investments to be worth $2,000 more than at the time of the preceding inventory, although securities and property values had tumbled downward. He had sustained a number of investment losses, and there were few advances—but the regular increase in value of his insurance policies was sufficient to overcome all losses, plus $2,000.

This man's experience isn't at all remarkable. During depression a multitude of people have seen all their investments wiped out—with the sole exception of insurance, which continued to increase in worth. That's why a legion of Americans, now that time are looking up, are giving life insurance a larger place in the family budget.

Mrs. W. W. Carson, San Angelo, Announces For Representative 91st District; To Campaign

MRS. W. W. CARSON

Restrictions on the pardoning power of the governor, use of more Texas Rangers to rid the state of crime, and inclusion of more practical work in the schools of Texas to equip the boys and girls to make a living are among important things Mrs. W. W. Carson would seek if elected state representative from the 91st legislative district.

Mrs. Carson announced her candidacy for the office Friday, indicating she would make an active canvass of the voters in Tom Green, Irion, Reagan, Sterling, Glasscock and Howard counties. She will make a longer platform announcement later, but she holds as most important some curb of the pardoning power that has been used to turn back on society some of the most desperate criminals sent to the penitentiary in this state.

Mrs. Carson, president of the San Angelo Business college and of the West Texas Museum, a member of the San Angelo Business and Professional Women's club, former president of the West Texas Encampment which meets annually at Mertzon, has been long identified with the school life of this section. She has been a resident of San Angelo and Sherwood for 40 years. She was married to W. W. Carson August 26, 1892, at Sherwood, J. M. Carson, her father-in-law, surveyed Irion county and was county judge when it was organized. Later W. W. Carson was county judge and for several years was chairman of the board of the Widows and Orphans Home of Oddfellows at Corsicana.

In entering the race, Mrs. Carson pledges unselfish service from a desire to serve this district, a desire to work in harmony with the federal recovery program and for the best interests of the people in this district. Careful study of all problems, then a vigorous drive in behalf of the resulting decision is Mrs. Carson's plan if elected.

A hobby with Mrs. Carson has been the development of the West Texas Museum here. She looks to the time when Fort Concho shall be rehabilitated and converted into a state park.

Barrow Pictures Booked For Here, Mother Objects

A news feature booked by Manager J. Y. Robb of the Ritz Theater for Friday may not be shown here if an injunction sought by Mrs. Henry Barrow, mother of the slain desperado Clyde Barrow, is granted by a Dallas court.

Thursday Mrs. Barrow was arrested after she had screamed out in a Dallas theater. "You can't do that to my boy." Taken to the lobby she attached placards of Clyde and Bonnie Parker from their places and tore them up. Police took her into custody.

Previously a group of women, thought to be relatives of the outlaw pair, had torn down advertisements and pictures of the two killers.

Mrs. Barrow was joined in the action by Mrs. Emma Parker, mother of the dead Bonnie.

Should the injunction be granted, showing of the news pictures will be banned.

SPORT LINES

By Tom Beasley

Mrs. G. I. Phillips, one of Big Spring's ranking women golfers who regularly pursues the club and Municipal links, chafed up a new mark for the women on the Munny Links May 25. Mrs. Phillips made a 45 over the difficult nine hole grass green course while playing Mrs. Edmulsion of Lubbock.

Grandpa Glenn and his Herald Type Line will attempt revenge on Kiwanians Monday afternoon. The game will be played on the diamond at 17th and Runnels.

Grandpa Ebbs, a hard hitting soft ball player who has been performing with Coedon, has been signed to do his slugging acts with the Type Line. It looks like a new deal for the Newbies.

The Herald team is not the only outfit looking for reinforcements. The Lions have just signed up Thomas Joe Williamson and Jake Fickie. Williamson is a second baseman and Fickie an outfielder.

Robinson's soft ball team should be satisfied. They tried the Linck aggregation three times and ended up short every time.

Note to Linck: Marvin Burleson will finish the season with the Herald soft ball team. Do your soliciting for players elsewhere.

Midland and Big Spring Sand Belt golfers clash here in a crucial match today. Listen to what Hank Hankins, the Midland scribe has to say: "Personal Journalism! Do Lo Douglas and Job have a lot in common, and we don't mean patience. Casting around to get the starters for Sunday's Sand Belt match at Big Spring, we learned the ebullient one can't all-furthers that he sleeps on his stomach. Joe Chambers, too, may be lost to the club by approaching Sabbath. He is not bothered with bolts, and his style of sleeping is not revealed, but his shots have shown a tendency to stray into the rough. Being a methodical fairway hand of gofer, he allowed as how he might stay home and let someone else play."

Joe's aired intention puts our curiosity on a level with that of Pandora and the first bird who got his fingers in a mouse trap. Why should he keep out of the match? He's played five Sand Belt matches on the Big Spring links, and has yet to feel a defeat. Several times he was off form when he left for the Howard county hill and date layout. Mayhap the law of averages thumbed its nose at him last night while he slept.

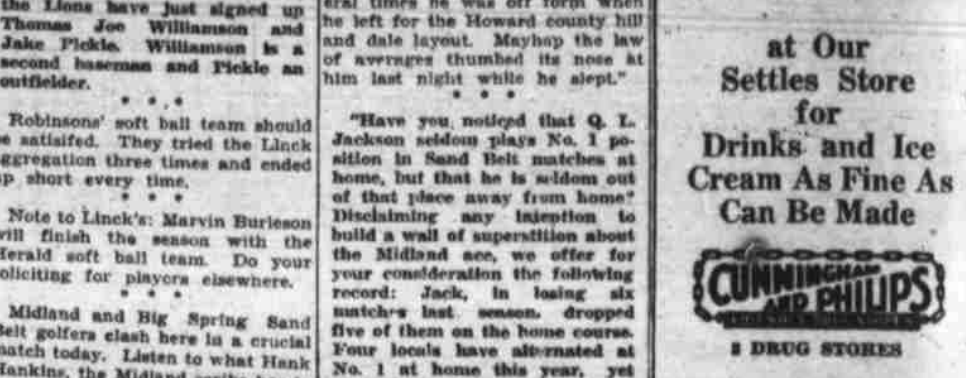

"Have you, noticed that Q. L. Jackson seldom plays No. 1 position in Sand Belt matches at home, but that he is seldom out of that place away from home? Dismissing any intimation to build a wall of superstition about the Midland see, we offer for your consideration the following record: Jack, in losing six matches last season, dropped five of them on the home course. Four locals have alternated at No. 1 at home this year, yet Jack has not been "knocked off."

Allred To Speak At Spade School Closing June 8th
Jimmy Allred, candidate for governor, has been secured to give the principal address at the closing of the school term at Spade, Texas, Friday, June 8th. Spade is a small community 13 miles south of Colorado on the San Angelo-Coleman highway.

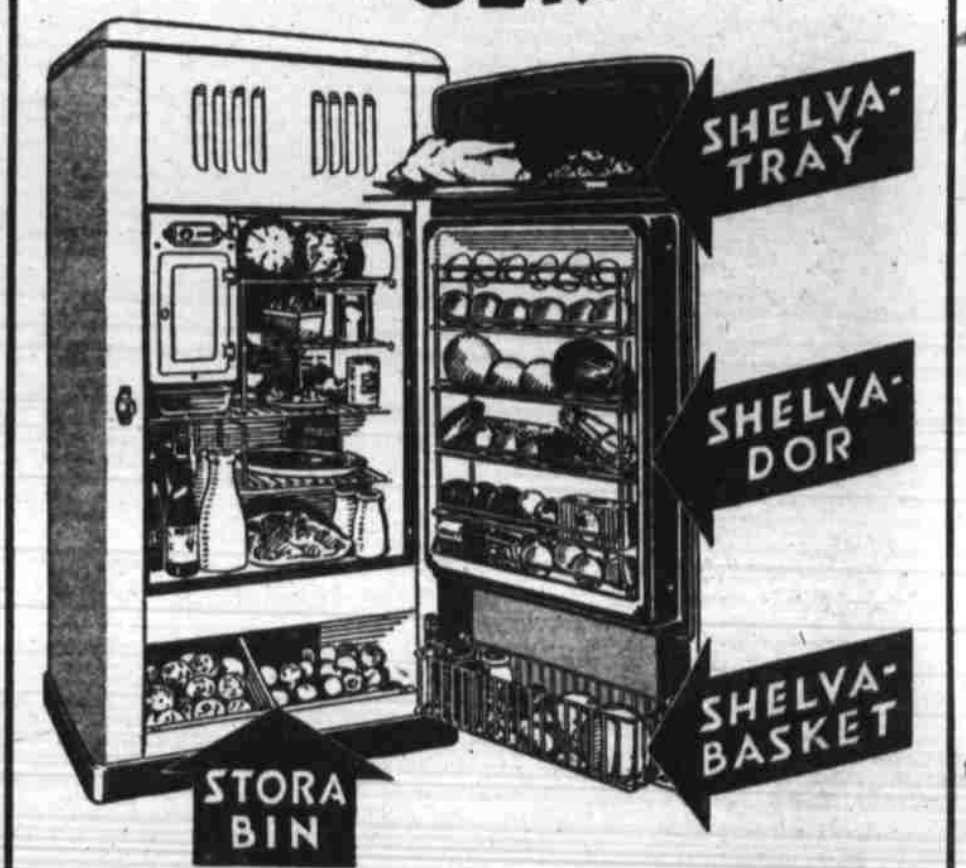

R. E. Hood, principal of the school who has arranged the program is well known to many Howard County residents as he was principal of the Coahoma schools for six years. Mr. Hood is now a candidate for the office of County Superintendent of Mitchell county. The program will start at 10:30 a. m. with a big barbecue to be held during the noon hour. 125 pounds of beef will be prepared for the large crowd expected to attend. Later in the afternoon a political rally will be held with Jimmy Allred, Geo. Mahon and others appearing on the program.

Mr. Hood has extended an invitation to his many local friends to attend the all-day celebration.

Midland Offers Moral Support To Aviation Route

MIDLAND—Moral support of Midland for a proposed new air line is offered, but stock selling to finance such a line would be impossible and the chamber of commerce could not aid in it. R. H. Turner was told Thursday night by members of the aviation committee.

Turner, a pilot and business promotion manager for the Paso Del Norte hotel of El Paso, is much interested in aviation and believes air lines from El Paso to Oklahoma City via Amarillo and from Amarillo to San Antonio via Midland and from El Paso to San Antonio via Alpine would succeed.

He believes capital of $100,000 would be required. The Midland committee promised every possible aid except in the financing, citing the fact that an attempt made in 1929 to sell air line stock at Midland failed completely and the further fact that few people have money to spare for investment, not to mention speculation.

Harvey Sloan, chairman of the committee, and Bob Martin, member, took part in the discussions.

Truckers Are Required To Register NRA

O. H. McAllister Of Big Spring Designated As Local Chairman

AUSTIN—Every owner of a vehicle carrying property of others for hire is required to register under the NRA Code for the trucking industry approved by President Roosevelt. Registrants will be furnished with a code insignia which will show that the vehicle upon which it is displayed is operating under the code. Failure to display this insignia by any truck operating for hire will be a violation of the code.

The trucking code is in final effective form, after approval by President Roosevelt in February. It provides minimum hourly wages and shorter working hours than have generally prevailed. Other provisions seek to improve practices and stabilize rates and service. Originally registration was to include -H trucks whether for hire or not, but registration of not for hire trucks has been postponed.

Registration committees have been set up throughout Texas. Office at Big Spring is located with O. H. McAllister as chairman. Other offices in West Texas are located at: Amarillo, Wm. C. Boyce, chairman; El Paso, J. L. Naylor; Fort Worth, L. C. Abbott; Lubbock, A. R. Daily; San Angelo, Clifford Van Court.

In Texas the code will be administered by the State Code Authority consisting of Col. H. E. Stewart, Houston, chairman; L. T. Campbell, Longview; J. A. Fadell, Fort Worth; Leslie Cookenbo, Houston; Harry Leonard, San Antonio; and Walter Back, Austin.

According to Mr. McAllister all provisions of the Code apply to local truck operators as well as those who operate over the highways between towns. Any truck operator who buys his load at point of origin and sells it at point of destination is considered an operator for-hire even when hauling his own property "for sale or disposal where the principal purpose or effect of such disposal is to obtain revenue for such transportation."

"The State Code Authority has designated Texas Motor Transportation Association at Austin as the official organization of the trucking industry in Texas," said Chairman Stewart in announcing registration. "Any information as to registration or other phases of the code may be secured from that agency."

Farris Bass left Friday for Canyon, where he will visit for a week, before going to Boulder, Colorado, where he will enter the University of Colorado for the summer.

MURDER AT MOCKING HOUSE

BY WALTER C. BROWN

Chapter 30
RECONSTRUCTION

"All right, let's try to reconstruct the whole thing," said Harper. "We've got certain basic facts to serve as foundations and we'll fit them in as we go along. We'll take eight o'clock last night as our starting point. Hamill had just made his report from the callbox. It was snowing heavily, there was a cold, high wind.

"Hamill walked along on his beat for three blocks. That would bring it to say, ten minutes past eight. He crossed the street above here but halfway over he changed his mind and came down Powhatan Terrace instead. What made him do that? Obviously, something he saw or something he heard.

"From the spot where Hamill turned off it is doubtful that he could have heard any sound from inside this house, even a shot or a scream. If there had been a noise loud enough for him to hear, certainly some of the neighbors would have been up and investigating. We'll have to make inquiries about that." Harper jotted down a memorandum, adding other pertinent questions from time to time as he pursued the course of the mystery.

"It is much more likely," he continued, "that Hamill saw something. What could it have been? A light in the house? The electric switch had been turned off at the source. The curtains of this one lighted room were drawn close. That fireplace—here's an idea, Jack. Suppose that man stirred up the fire, poked the logs. You know hearth fires don't burn so well on a rainy or snowy night, for a damp chimney cokes off the normal draught.

"A shower of sparks would shoot out the top of the chimney. I've often seen it on winter nights. There would be something to draw Hamill's attention. This is assuming that Hamill knew the house was unoccupied. The whole idea hinges on that. We've got to find out whether he knew the Dufreneses were staying elsewhere."

"That's a neat piece of deduction," Lafferty advised, "but you've overlooked an important point. What Hamill heard was the front door banging about in the wind. That was the sound that led Connally and Hilleary here so quickly."

"I doubt that," was Harper's rejoinder. "I've not overlooked that banging door. The idea that a heavy door like this could go on booming from a quarter past eight to nearly ten o'clock without arousing the other residents of Powhatan Terrace is nearly impossible. But there again is something we can inquire about.

"However, be that as it may, we have Officer Hamill coming up the walk. We're safe in assuming that his suspicions were aroused. Now, did he find the door shut and locked or open and banging? It should have been shut and locked. If Hamill found it that way, he knocked or rang the bell."

"Wrong again, Steve," Lafferty objected. "If he were suspicious he'd go first and have a quiet look around the outside of the house. But the footprints in the snow prove that he didn't, he walked straight up to the front door without any detour."

Harper thought that over. "You're right about that, Jack. We're not clear about that door. Assuming that it was locked, from the mere fact that Hamill entered some one must necessarily have opened to him. Here, then, we have an unknown man facing the policeman. That would have been the logical place for any shooting if the fellow had been a homicidal maniac, for instance.

"Instead, they go into the breakfast-room, through an unlighted hall. Why, in Heaven's name? Surely Hamill would have been suspicious and kept his gun in his hand. Our mystery man then sits down in that chair, lights a cigarette, whips out his gun and shoots Hamill in cold blood!

"On the other hand, assuming that the door was unlocked, and possibly banging, as Hamill's direct approach might indicate, then he'd probably step inside and try to turn on the lights. That resulting in nothing, he'd probably call or whistle to attract attention. Perhaps he noticed the light shining under the breakfast-room door. He would open it and look inside.

"Our stranger is sitting very comfortably at the table, drinking and smoking, very much at home and at ease. Everything is in normal order. The man is in formal dress and bears a striking resemblance to Mr. Dufrenese. So, if Hamill recognized him at all, he would mistake him for the master of the house. Certainly there is no reason why Hamill should want to shoot Dufrenese, but nevertheless they killed each other with a remarkable unity of purpose. That's a pretty stiff dose of theory to swallow!"

"It sounds crazy to me," Lafferty agreed. "As you say, a door could hardly be banging away for nearly two hours without some of the neighbors doing something about it. On the other hand, doors don't open of themselves and set their locks so that they can't shut again. If Hamill had left the door unattached behind him, it would have banged shut just once and locked itself."

"Well, like it or not, all our evidence states that the door could not have been touched after the shooting, since both men were dead. We have only to examine the snow to see that Connally and Hilleary were the next to enter the house. Considering the shooting as a separate action, we get into another maze.

"Our mystery man must have shot Hamill twice before Hamill fired at him, for Doc Miller assured me that death must have been instantaneous and his position in that chair confirms it. But there we have the dilemma—either our intruder shot Hamill after he himself was shot through the brain, which is surely impossible, or else

Hamill fired with extraordinary accuracy after being shot in the breast twice, once through the heart.

"Now in a single exchange of shots there exists a bare mathematical chance for two men to hit each other so neatly, but that third bullet throws it into confusion. It has me guessing and it has Curran guessing, too."

They sat silent for a few moments and both pairs of eyes were thoughtfully focussed on the little car of twisted bullets. The thin wires that held their tags glistened brightly in the pleasant morning sun.

Harper straightened up with determination. "Let's pass on to the unknown man's movements," he suggested. "So far as we know, he was not hiding here in the house all the time. Assuming that he was the writer of the threatening letters to Dufrenese, it works out

"It would not have been safe for him to come sooner," Lafferty said. "Remember, there were painters working on the third floor rooms until four o'clock and the Whitmores did not lock up and go to their rooms over the garage until five."

"We don't know how he got in," Harper resumed, "but there are no marks of forcible entry anywhere and there were neither keys nor burglar tools found in his possession. In fact, so little was found on his person that I've come to the conclusion his pockets were looked for else he is wearing some one else's clothing."

"That's an idea! If he put on a facial disguise to look like Dufrenese perhaps he put on one of Dufrenese's suits."

"Exactly. There must be more traces of him in this house than we have found. For instance, it is almost certain that he shaved himself after he got here."

"If you had looked closely at his face, you'd have seen that he was very freshly shaven. Here and there he missed a hair, which no self-respecting barber would have done."

SCOUT NEWS

COURT OF HONOR. Court of Honor will be held 8 p. m. today from the First Baptist church. Every scout in Big Spring is urged to attend the affair whether he is to receive a badge or not.

CAMP COURSE. Scouters of the Big Spring and Midland districts are now in the midst of a camp leaders training course. It is a specialization course and counts toward the coveted scouters key. There were nine Midland men here Tuesday evening when the course was begun.

MEN TO FROLIC. The men participating in the course will frolic on two outdoor sessions. The first is on June 16-17 and the second is on June 22-23. The site has not yet been determined.

SUMMER SLUMP. The forerunner of the summer slump was indicated Friday evening in a board of review meeting. Only four scouts appeared before the board. There were easily four times that many eligible to appear before the board.

CAMP. The big item for the summer is camp. Scouts hardly need to be reminded that it will be held this year at Camp West, near Mertzon, 22 miles west of San Angelo. Big attraction is a large camping plant, just being completed. Next is the beautiful swimming hole. The heavily wooded section thick with Indian relics will appeal to the adventurous nature of the boys.

INDIAN COUNCIL. Troop No. 5 is going to try its Indian Council again this month. Last year the scouts dressed in "typical" redmen garb and were ready to make a night of it around the camp fire munching on parched corn, smoking the pipe of peace and whooping it up after the hatch had been buried. One of the precious few rains of the year came just in time to dampen the spirits of the braves.

SOFTBALL. The softball craze may be spreading to Boy Scouts. Troop No. 5 has already taken up the position preparatory to meetings. Scouts in that troop have a reason, however. They won bat and ball offered by Montgomery Ward and company for the high troop in the city jamboree.

HIKING. Hiking and camping weather is here now. Several troops are planning overnight trips into the hills or afternoon frolics. It is also a good season of the year for nature study, although most of that comes from constant association with agerita berry bushes.

TROOP MEETINGS. Troop No. 1—The troop has been prevented the past two weeks from meeting as planned. Last Tuesday the scouts meeting presented it. A meeting will be held Tuesday as scheduled.

Troop No. 3—The meeting was attended by 15 scouters and the assistant scoutmaster, Peyton Wheeler, and a visitor and new member. Patrol meetings were held and dues were taken up. The troop assembled in the main meeting room for a discussion about the coming troop camp lasting two days. A patrol leaders meeting was held at 8 p. m. Sunday at Bobby McNew's home. Scout meeting will be held next week at 8 p. m. and all members are urged to come. A baseball team will be organized then. Baseball was played last meeting for 30 minutes. Reported by Sid Mellinger.

Troop No. 5—Troop No. 5 held its last regular meeting of its charter year Thursday evening with a smaller attendance than usual. Many of the boys are away on vacation. The troop practiced its drills intensively for a few minutes. Announcements concerning board of review, court of honor, camp, patrol leaders meeting Monday evening. The scoutmaster announced that Mr. Edward Lowe was new troop committee chairman and that Mr. Robert E. Lee and Cyril C. Collins were other members of the committee. The troop played Broncho Tag and witnessed a ban-tam weight boxing match.

Walter C. Woodward, candidate for attorney general. During this week Senator Woodward will speak in several East Texas towns and his brother will accompany him for a few days of the campaign.

Mr. Woodward said he intended to return here the latter part of the week. He returned only recently from the bedside of his father, who is critically ill in Coleman. There is little hope of his father's recovery, he said.

Large crowds have been attending each morning and evening service. There have been eight additions to the church through Friday night's services. Each service has been featured by splendid music, featuring a quartet.

The public is cordially invited to worship at any and all of the services through the revival.

Rev. Woodie Smith, pastor, will preach at the Baptist church in Midland, in absence of Rev. Borum.

Twelve States Support Roosevelt's Policies And Two Disapprove Them In Literary Digest New Deal Poll

President Roosevelt's acts and policies are approved by the voters of twelve states and disapproved by those of two states as shown by 405,484 ballots reported in the third tally of the Literary Digest's New Deal poll, which will be published in tomorrow's issue of the magazine.

The administration receives a 59.29 per cent, confidence vote of the total tabulation to date. This compares with a ratio in the previous return of 61.84 per cent, for the President's policies.

The balloting now is 240,424 votes for the New Deal to 165,060 against the New Deal.

In the fourteen states from which votes have been received in the Literary Digest poll so far, Roosevelt obtained 61.89 per cent of the 1932 popular vote, which shows a gain for him of 7.30 per cent, over his official election ratio.

In the 1932 Presidential election, Roosevelt received 57.32 per cent of the entire popular vote.

An analysis of "How Voters in This Poll Voted in 1932 and How They Vote Now" shows 80.54 per cent of those who voted for Roosevelt support his policies and the balance of 19.46 per cent oppose them.

Of those who voted for Hoover in 1932, 64.82 per cent disapprove the New Deal while 35.18 per cent approve the Administration's Policies.

76.48 per cent of those who voted for minor candidates in the last election voted of confidence, in the order named.

Pennsylvania, New York and Rhode Island give the President his largest vote of confidence, in the order named.

61.23 per cent of the 76,748 ballots received from Pennsylvania vote "Yes" to the question, "Do You Approve of the Whole the Acts and Policies of Roosevelt's First Year?"

Maine continues to disapprove the Administration by a scant majority of 50.10 per cent. It is joined this week by Vermont which votes 51.50 per cent against the President's policies.

First returns are received this week from Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin. The previous tabulation included the New England States and New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Of the five new states reporting, Ohio shows the widest variation in its 1932 election ratios. Then it gave Roosevelt 49.87 per cent of its popular vote. Now it gives Roosevelt 59.23 per cent of its ballots.

The next widest variation is that of Michigan which gave Roosevelt 52.37 per cent of its votes in 1932 and now gives him 60.007 per cent of the poll ballots.

"A sudden spurt of activity in national politics," the magazine states editorially, "serves to enhance the timeliness of the Literary Digest's 15,000,000 ballot straw poll on President Roosevelt's first-year acts and policies.

"Two days after the publication of the first returns of the poll, which gave Roosevelt a lead of almost two to one in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, Ogden L. Mills, secretary of the Treasury in the latter part of the Hoover administration, launched an intensive Republican drive with a vehement speech in which he declaimed against the "tyranny" of the New Deal and exhorted Republicans to rally their forces against it.

"Mr. Mills is regarded by many Republicans as their party's logical candidate for President in 1936. His appeal has been followed by a country-wide movement toward mobilizing malcontents of all parties to support anti-Roosevelt candidates in the Congressional elections next November.

"At the same time on the other side of the fence came the launching of a Progressive La Follette party in Wisconsin, with support of the Roosevelt Administration as a salient feature of its policy.

"Pennsylvania's leadership in the New Deal column should be of piquant interest to those optimistic politicians who interpreted Senator David A. Reed's victory over Governor Gifford Pinchot in the Republican primaries for the Senate as a defeat for the Administration at Washington. And here are some other nuts to crack:

"Pennsylvania is second highest to Rhode Island in its ratio of 1932 Roosevelt voters who now vote 'Yes' to the New Deal.

"Pennsylvania is highest in its ratio of Hoover voters who now vote for Roosevelt.

"Pennsylvania is highest in its ratio of those who did not vote in 1932 and who now vote for Roosevelt."

Numerous complaints about the words "On the Whole" which are included in the poll question are answered in the magazine by America's foremost lexicographer, Dr. Frank H. Vizetelly, Managing Editor of the New Standard Dictionary.

"One the whole," Dr. Vizetelly writes "according to the New Universal Dictionary (1933), this phrase means 'all things considered.' The New Standard Dictionary defines it as a shortened form of 'upon the whole matter,' with the consideration, 'taking all things into consideration.'"

"The New International Dictionary defines the idiom: 'Considering all things; in view of all the circumstances or conditions.' In addition to definitions differing but slightly in phraseology from these, the New English Dictionary on Historical Principles says: 'In respect of the whole, notwithstanding exceptions in detail; in general, for the most part.'"

"The idiom has been in good literary use for more than two hundred years. Macaulay (1848) wrote: 'The clergy were regarded as, on the whole, a plebeian class.' The Literary Supplement of the London Times, with reference to Shakespeare's 'King John,' wrote in 1920: 'We only have the text of the first folio of 1623, but that upon the whole is admitted to be good.'"

L. B. Manning, President Of Aviation Corporation, Makes Report To Its Stockholders

CHICAGO—L. B. Manning, president of Aviation Corporation broke a silence of nearly four months Friday, in a bulletin issued to stockholders he discusses the air mail, the reasons for the decision of the company to remain in business following cancellation of air mail contracts on February 9, and the present system of American Airlines, Incorporated.

He states that subject to award of contracts to lowest bidder, opened May 25, American Airlines' new and greatly improved system will connect the most important trade centers of the country and will exclusively provide the most favorable Coast-to-Coast flying route. The scheduled daily flights of the new system will be 21,088 miles of which 13,888 will be air revenue miles.

With the comment that "probably no subject has caused so much discussion by people everywhere in this country as the cancellation of the air mail contracts on Feb. 9, 1934," he adds that many stockholders have asked the management for expressions about the trouble and what hopes there were, if any, for the future. Manning's bulletin is confined strictly to the business phases of the problem and does not argue the right or the wrong of the air mail contract cancellation.

air mail contracts is shown by a map. The aviation official then informs the stockholders that the present management assumed office March 15, 1933 and through the introduction of greatly improved service to the public, increased efficiency of operations, much needed reduction of expenses and the elimination of losses from investment, was able to report a profit of $596,662 for the year 1933 as compared with a loss of $7,655,096 for 1932. He points out that on May 3, 1933 the company introduced the first really high speed service between New York and Chicago and still operates the most luxurious, high speed planes. He also states that the company's policy is to not only provide the fastest and most comfortable, but also the safest flying equipment anywhere in the world. In planning for future requirements, he said, in order to continue to lead with the highest speed equipment and the highest type service, the company had made commitments for nearly 2 million dollars of new equipment many months ago and to be delivered as early as possible this year.

Following the air mail cancellation American Airways was left with a single mail route, that between Newark and Montreal, a foreign air mail contract. The cancellation, Mr. Manning says, forced the management to make a most important decision; should the company liquidate or go ahead? He explains that to liquidate meant to go out of a business in which the management has great confidence; to go ahead involved the possibility of operating at a substantial loss until such time as new mail contracts were let, and franchise rights whereby established. It was decided, he says, to continue to operate the lines until the air mail situation was straightened out in order to keep faith with the public and to hold the good will that the air transportation lines had deservedly earned.

Mr. Manning points out that it was the management's belief that the American public once having experienced really high grade and fast air transportation, would never be satisfied with other slower methods; that an ever increasing number of people would patronize air lines because it cuts travel time two-thirds and is a more comfortable mode of transportation, and in addition air mail and air express speeds up business and hastens prosperity. He then reviews the company's experience in flying millions of miles; its effectively functioning organization and investments of millions of dollars in fields, hangars, machine tools, maintenance and repair depots, flying and radio equipment, and weather reporting bureaus which should be protected.

Mr. Manning then tells of the forming of a new operating subsidiary, American Airlines, Inc., its subsequent bidding and receipt of air mail contracts between New York and Boston and Fort Worth and Los Angeles. He points out the operation of other lines with-
