The Robin Redbreast

(Editor's note: This is the first in a series of articles prepared by the National Wildlife Federation, Washington, D. C., concerning the wild life in this part of the United States. These articles will be published primarily in the interest of the boys and girls of Scouting ages, but many of the articles will prove interesting to the older folks.)

There are few of us who are not familiar with the saucy but friendly Robin whose appearance each year on our front lawns and in nearby parks is usually one of the very first signs of Spring. We are familiar with him, of course, but how much do we really know about him?

While the Robin may do some damage to fruit trees and vegetable gardens, his constant war against insects and other pests makes him a valuable ally to the farmer and the home gardener. In fact, in the North and in some parts of the West the Robin is one of the most cherished of our native birds and is considered a welcome and helpful visitor.

According to the National Wildlife Federation, an organization designed to preserve America's birds and wild animals, the technical name for the Robin is the Turdus migratorius. He feeds on many kinds of insects with no particular preference for any one type, although he is always happiest when he has captured a good sized earthworm, which he will either eat quickly himself or carry home to his babies.

Aside from insects, wildlife experts at the Federation tell us that more than half of the Robin's daily food is made up of fruits. Thus it would seem, at first glance, that he would not be too welcome to the farmer who raised strawberries, apples, peaches or any of the other fruits. The wise farmer, however, will not shoot the Robin for what might well be called a bad trait. Rather he will cultivate in his orchard or near his fruit trees, small patches of wild berries, which Robins will eat and enjoy just as well.

If the farmer does this, he will tend to keep the Robin from destroying his fruit trees, and will have a well trained, fleetwinged policeman, to eat up many of the insects which do real damage to his crops. To prove that this method works successfully, it has been reported that in the state of California in certain years olive crops have been saved from hungry Robins only through great effort.

Olive growers, however, were smart enough to recognize the usefulness of Robins, and are convinced that all possible means should be exercised to keep them active so that they may be free to carry on their natural war with the more dangerous crop-destroying insects.

In size the normal healthy Robin should be about 10 inches long from the tip of his tail to the point of his beak. He hatches his eggs in all parts of the United States excepting those states in and around the Gulf of Mexico. In addition he may be found in abundance in Canada, Alaska and Mexico. His winters are spent in many of the United States, and he will travel as far south as Guatemala, Central America.

Vets In Active Service May Continue Schooling

World War II veterans now in active military service, attending school under the GI Bill during their spare time, will be able to resume their courses after the July 25, 1951 training cut-off date, if they are forced to interrupt their studies because of military duties or transfers, VA said today.

They will be allowed to continue training within a reasonable period after their release from active duty—even though they do not get out until after the cut-off date.

In fact, VA added, when they do re-enter GI Bill training, they may step up the part-time training taken while in uniform to full-time courses.

However, VA said, a veteran taking a GI Bill correspondence course while in service or otherwise may not, after the cut-off date, switch to classroom training, regardless of whether it's in the same field or any other field of study.

Similar post-deadline procedures apply to veterans who started GI Bill studies as civilians, then interrupted to return to military or naval service, VA stated. They also may resume training within a reasonable period following their release from service—should they return to civilian life after July 25, 1951 and before July 25, 1956, the windup of the program.

Veterans whose training is interrupted by military service must meet three requirements if they expect to return to training after the cut-off date. VA said, Conduct and progress in their GI Bill course must have been satisfactory.

The period of training which may be obtained after they get out of uniform will be limited to their remaining GI Bill entitlement.

And their course may not extend beyond the final deadline of the GI Bill program on July 25, 1956.

Under the law, the July 25, 1951 cut-off date applies to World War II veterans discharged before July 25, 1947. For those few discharged afterwards, the cut-off date is four years from date of discharge.

Early Diagnosis Of Ailments Urged

Austin. — "It has been well said that procrastination not only is the thief of time, but frequently the thief of health and life," Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, said. "Indeed, medical records in physicians' offices and hospitals prove that many persons die because they do not receive early diagnosis and prompt treatment for their condition. An outstanding example of this fact is the number of deaths from tuberculosis that could have been prevented.

"Tuberculosis is a powerful enemy, no matter what its stage, but the fact remains that early and adequate treatment offers the best opportunity for cure. If the patient upon being told that he has tuberculosis cooperates fully with the strict regimen and discipline outlined for him, the disease can usually be overcome."

Dr. Cox said that in line with some of the other major killers, tuberculosis is insidious in its approach. Acute pain and discomfort are absent usually, and the symptoms are so comparatively mild that the patient is thrown off guard and considers

POWER

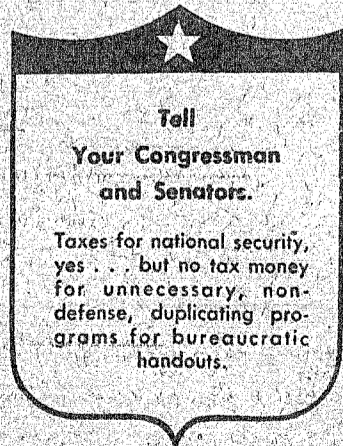

Reddy for ANYTHING!

YOU, Mr. and Mrs. America, have the biggest supply of electricity on hand you've ever had! In fact, Reddy Kilowatt Power in the U. S. has doubled in only 10 years. Businessmen with "know-how" have been building a bigger and better America for you!

Since World War II your West Texas Utilities Company has increased its generating capacity by 64,000 horsepower to provide you with more and more electric power . . . and by the end of 1953 two more plant units of 88,000 horsepower capacity will be installed ready for service.

The business-managed electric industry is the one industry that has doubled its capacity with more than double the investment and maintained the low price through efficiency.

them of little importance. Herein lies the real staying ability of tuberculosis.

"The symptoms which singly or in combination demand an immediate checkup by the doctor are easy tiring, a persistent cough, and continued loss of weight.

"While it is true that any of these symptoms can be present without the patient having tuberculosis, this is no reason to imagine that such is the case. Therefore, if one is suffering from any of these manifestations the only sensible and safe thing to do is seek the advice of the family physician at once." Dr. Cox warned. "If such a course is pursued, and the condition turns out not to be serious, nothing has been lost. On the other hand, if tuberculosis is discovered, the patient by doing the wisest possible thing has probably saved his life."

New Acid Helps Cotton Fibers

Austin. — Cotton fibers are strengthened by 10 per cent, or more by a new hydrocyanic acid treatment discovered by a University of Texas scientist.

"This discovery is expected to strengthen all types of cotton products," Dr. Vernon L. Frampton, University research scientist, who developed the new fiber treatment, said.

This discovery also lengthens greatly the life of cotton garments laundered in soap.

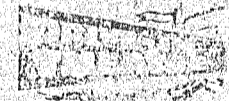

Dr. Frampton and his associates found the new process while conducting experiments to find a way to stop the degrading effects of fungi, bacteria, and the sun's ultra-violet rays in cotton fibers.

The discovery is just one advance in the University scientists' long range program started in 1947 to develop resistance in cotton fibers to all deterioration.

Their work is part of the extensive program of the Texas Cotton Research Committee, made up of the presidents of the University, Texas A&M College, and Texas Technological College. The Committee's current work is financed by funds provided by the Legislature.

Jesus Faces Death

Lesson for March 18, 1951

MANY A STORY has been written around the theme of a man who knows he has only a short while to live. But the best of these is the story of Jesus. It is the best not only because it is true; it is the story of the best man known to history. We Christians go further than that. We believe he was Perfect in all his human life. Jesus' way of facing death is the right way to face it, the way his followers too will choose.

Dr. Foreman

Heart at Leisure

FOR ONE thing, Jesus did not try to conceal from himself or others the fact that he would shortly die. Through all that happened, he was aware of his death. He neither shut his eyes to the inevitable, nor mourned over it.

Now in our sad times, with death so near to all of us, the approach of death is not something to talk about as if it were an event of the 21st century. Death may come to any of us soon; death is very likely to come to many of us soon; and sooner or later, death is certain to come to all of us. Facing death may bring out all a man's hidden selfishness. From the moment he knows his days are limited, he may think of nothing but himself and his "chances" to escape.

Jesus, on the contrary, under no illusions about escape, accepting death quietly, day by day thought of others rather than of himself.

His Friends and God

MANY PERSONS, in the felt presence of death, withdraw into themselves. They cut the ties that have bound them to others; they set their faces "outward bound." Not so with Jesus. While it was still day, he would not act as if it were night. So we find him tightening up the bonds of friendship.

It is an interesting fact that of all Jesus' living days, those which were remembered best were those which came just before his death. Part of the reason for this may be that his friends came closer to him in those days; there was an intimacy, a greater warmth, between him and his old friends than there had ever been. Even when he prayed in Gethsemane he was not content to pray alone. If there was none to watch with him and in some dim way share his agonies, it was because his friends were not awake to his need, not because he in any way turned his back on them.

Again, we find Jesus' prayer-life growing intense in those last days and nights. Nowhere else from Jesus' whole life is such a long Campbell-Ewald Co. Observes 40th Anniversary In Feb.

Detroit — Facing a future of changing times with confidence and enthusiasm, the Campbell-Ewald Co., Detroit's oldest and largest advertising agency, celebrated its fortieth anniversary in February.

Campbell-Ewald Co., handles all the Chevrolet advertising in newspapers all over the United States. They have grown with the automobile industry, from a small agency with six employees to its present stature as one of the biggest in the country, with more than 350 employees, billings in eight figures annually, and offices in six cities. It is one of the few agencies to have retained its corporate identity under the same directing head throughout its life.

"We are going to keep right on growing," said Henry T. Ewald, co-founder and president. "Instead of settling down to middle age at 40, we are seeking new horizons."

Throughout its experience in automobile advertising, Campbell-Ewald has believed firmly that newspaper advertising is the master key of any successful campaign. It opens the locked-up purchasing power in local markets, and is a great force for selling goods. Recent surveys show that newspaper advertising, especially in smaller cities and towns, is still predominant, regardless of other new media. Ewald believes this will continue. Advertising — and the newspapers themselves — constitute today a terrific force in our national defense program, also. The firm was founded in 1911, and was the first advertising agency for the lusty Chevrolet Division of General Motors in 1922 and it has been Chevrolet's only agency for 28 years. Ever since Chevrolet first started advertising on a national scale, all Chevrolet advertising in every medium has been created and placed through this agency. Today it is considered the largest in the advertising account in all industry.

Detroit's H. T. Ewald proudly states, the agency "has never missed a cash discount in the payment of publication or other bills, even during the 1933 national hard-ship period."

The Case of the Crippled Kids

The current funds drive of the crippled children's societies of Texas offers the people of the State an excellent opportunity to add another category in which they are the "biggest."

By the manner in which they respond they can show just how "big" their hearts are.

The money received from the Easter Seal drive will be used to aid children crippled as a result of a number of causes. The name of the Texas Society for Crippled Children means what it says, and where help is needed, the society endeavors to give it.

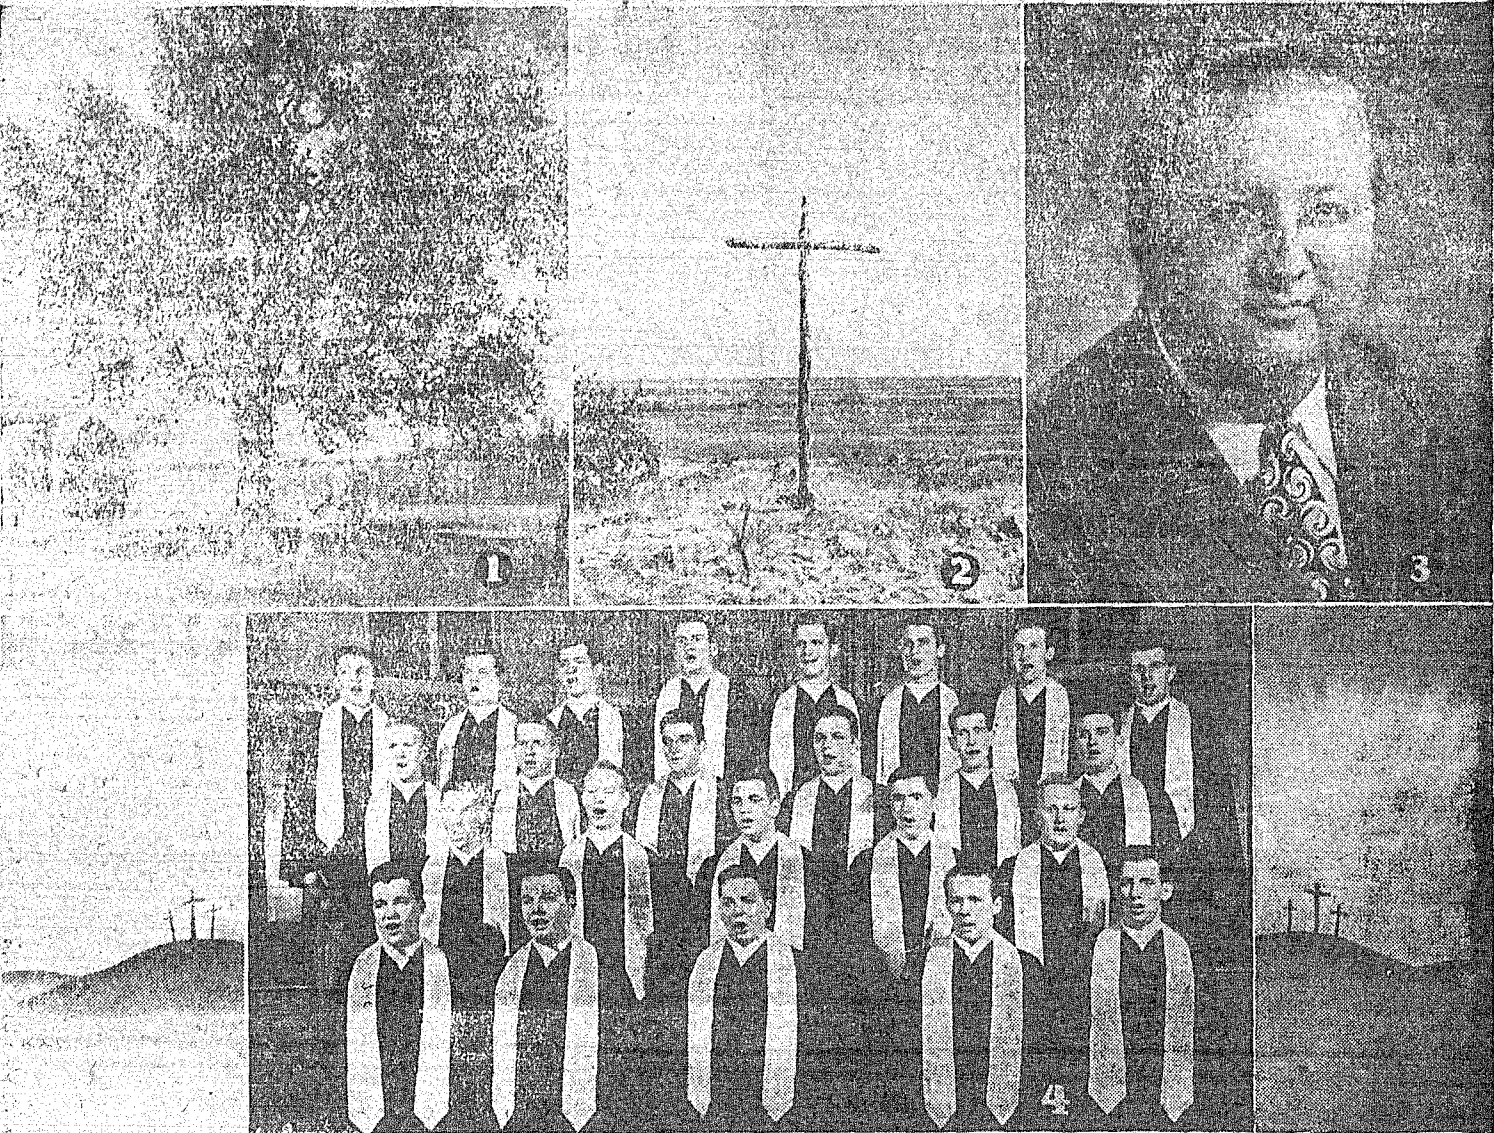

One of its main efforts is directed toward aiding children with cerebral palsy. Around 8000 youngsters suffer from this affliction in Texas alone.

Cerebral palsy is not a disease. It is a condition brought on by injury to the brain. As a result of that injury, many of those who suffer from it are unable to do so much as stand even with the aid of crutches and braces. Virtually all of them have speech difficulties and cannot talk intelligibly.

Treatment is directed toward educating other portions of the brain to perform the functions of the injured part. Muscular control thus developed results in correction of these difficulties to a degree that those so treated are capable of normal or near-normal living.

But this treatment is slow. It is expensive. The society must have a lot of money to carry it

SCENES OF UNIQUE TEXAS EASTER SERVICE

1. Live-oak tree marking geographical center of Texas. 2. Site of Easter worship, audience occupying amphitheatre in front of Cross. 3. Speaker, Dr. E. R. Bertermann. 4. Chorus.

All Americans will have an opportunity to hear—and all Texans to participate in—the fourth annual Heart of Texas Easter Sunrise Worship at the generally accepted geographical center of the greatest State in the rugged, rocky hills near Mercury, McCulloch County.

The program, in which Governor Allan Shivers of Texas and the Springfield Seminary Luthern Hour Chorus from Springfield, Ill., will participate—will be heard on 440 radio stations of the Mutual Network from coast to coast and the stations of the Texas State Network.

The visible audience will occupy seats hewn out of the steep walls of a natural amphitheatre above an old rugged cross planted on the ranch of Fred Thormann, Mercury, president of the operating committee for the Easter Worship program.

"Dedicated to the risen Christ, this program, like His saving grace, is free to all who wish to come and to those who, unable to be present in the flesh, will arise with the sun on Easter morning to worship with us beside their radios," Thormann said.

Heard on the program, in addition to the Texas Governor and the famous choir, will be Dr. Eugene E. Bertermann, St. Louis, Mo., director of the International Lutheran Hour radio program.

on. And this money must come from donations such as it seeks in its present Easter Seal promotion. It gets no state funds.

The effort began February 25 and will go through Easter Sunday, March 25. Contributing to it will be investing in human happiness and well being that will pay rich dividends to all concerned.

Flies Cause Illness And Death In Texas

Austin — Millions of flies help to cause illness and death of thousands of children and adults each year in the United States. Hundreds of these casualties may be in Texas this year if residents fail in their responsibility for developing the best possible sanitation measures in the area where they reside. Typhoid fever, summer complaint and other intestinal diseases can be traced to the common housefly as the carrier of the infection.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, speaking in this connection, said recently, "Be sure that windows and doors are tightly screened so that stray flies from a careless neighbor, with food, drink, and utensils, will not endanger your family. Keep all garbage covered until collected or buried. Eliminate all breeding places for flies and you will be helping your community in its work of controlling communicable diseases and preventing unnecessary illness.

Now is the time to do away with the winter's accumulation of trash. Clean up and clean is a good slogan for communities and individual citizens.

Heart Disease Does Not Spell Doom For Active Men

Too prevalent today is the belief that heart disease is the spell of doom and that one must cease all work and activity. Modern medical knowledge easily disproves this notion, and thousands of case histories bear witness to its falsity.

Heart disease, medical science now knows, is not a single ailment. Many troubles can affect the heart — some less serious than others. While some restric-

Wise to Reduce Waste

IT'S always good economics to reduce waste. To do so in these days of low profit margins is imperative. One way in which farmers can cut needless expense is to reduce heavy losses of grain eaten by rats.

A first essential, of course, is a vigorous and continuing rat extermination campaign. Other steps should be taken also to protect stored grain from rodents. For storage of small amounts of grain which the farmer wishes to keep handy, galvanized steel ash or garbage cans are recommended. Grain stored in such containers is fully protected. Rats cannot gnaw through galvanized steel, and the snug-fitting lid defies even the determined rodent.

Another measure for effective rat control is the use of similar containers for kitchen food scraps. Exposed refuse is inviting to rats, but food in rat-proof cans offers them nothing for sustenance. Galvanized steel cans may be obtained at most hardware stores.

Conditions are necessary, it is now generally true that patients with any form of heart trouble should be active within the limits of their capacity.

Not all persons with heart ailments can continue working at their same pace. Obviously there are those who require bed rest and often a very strict limitation of physical and mental activity. But there are many who can continue working, performing some type of useful or productive activity without fear that

Watch Out For The "Blind-Spots"

Stopped by Squint Miller's farm the other day and saw a vinegar bottle in his kitchen with an oversized cucumber inside it. The cucumber filled the whole bottle.

"What's a cucumber doing in there?" I asked him. "That's my 'blind-spot' reminder," says Squint. "My grandmother kept one in her kitchen to remind her to take stock of herself now and then."

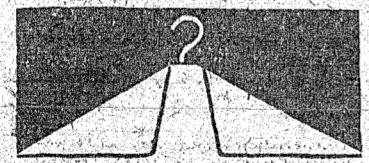

"I slipped that bottle over the cucumber when it was just starting to grow on the vine," he went on. "And like certain viewpoints, not noticed, it just grew and grew now it's there to stay."

From where I sit, we could take a cue from Squint and watch for our own "blind-spots" and prejudices before they grow too big to get rid of. We've got to respect our neighbor's right to his preferences and preferences for a certain make of car, a favorite movie star, or a temperate glass of beer after work. We won't be tripped by any blind spots if we keep our eyes—and minds—open!

CROP INSURANCE is proving successful as a result of an experimental program begun three years ago. Before then an insurance program applied to cotton and wheat turned out to be too expensive and Congress ordered it dropped.

The experimental plan which followed has been closely watched to see if such a program, carefully supervised and operated, could be actually sound.

Last year the efforts of the previous year's experiment looked good. More counties were added to further test the plan. The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation has recently announced that a net profit was made during the past year, as was true the year before.

Today the insurance experiments are applied to cotton, wheat, flax, beans, corn, and to multiple coverage of all crops produced on a farm. New crops are added each year.

IT MAY BE A BIT EARLY to become too optimistic, but every indication now points to a permanent, actually sound, crop insurance program, with reach of the average farmer, who desires to insure his crop against the hazards of drought, grasshoppers, insects, floods, hail, and other uncertainties that plague the average producer.

In charge of accounting at the Crop Insurance branch office in Chicago is Wilbur Brown of Richland Springs. Brown came to Washington last week to attend a business meeting and make a report to the top men in the Insurance Agency.

Local Methodist Church News

Although there was quite a contrast in the weather Sunday and the preceding days most of the classes had normal attendance the second Sunday. With Mr. Cheaney as Master of Ceremonies, high lights from the Laymen's Rally and Banquet at Brownwood last Thursday evening were given by Kent Marthy and Thomas M. Hays. The pastor followed with a brief message on the Great Commission, emphasizing the promise, "Lo I Am With You even to the end of the World."

A part of our regular morning worship service, and one especially anticipated by most every one, is the anthem by the choir. Members were present to render tribute in their favor on Sunday evening.

At the evening service, Rev.

Loyd of Brownwood, introduced the first of a series of twelve messages on the Beatitudes. He revealed some striking comparisons between the time of Jesus and our present day. After all no message is more timely now than that of Jesus, for it never grows old. If you have not attended the services thus far, make a special effort to be present for the remaining ones of the week.

A large group was present for the Men's Breakfast last Wednesday. Extensive and interesting speeches were made by Messrs. Welch, Cheaney, and Thomas M. Hays. Our laymen have been quite busy the last month devoting several days to visitation and having a number of meetings at the church just for men.

Let us not forget two special services during Holy Week - our Monthly Fellowship Supper on Wednesday evening and an unique candlelight Communion Service on Maundy Thursday. All are looking forward to the Annual Easter Cantata on Easter Sunday evening.

The Vernon Class is to sponsor the attendance Sunday evening. They invite any who do not have another place of worship.

First Baptist Church News

Twenty-two men were present last Tuesday evening for the Brotherhood meeting. Ladson Worley, Educational Director, brought the message and Vernon Fowler the devotional. Plans were presented for the next meeting, April 10.

The pastor's sermon, subjects for the third Sunday, March 18, of the Ten Weeks Loyalty Campaign, has been announced. He is speaking Sunday morning on the subject "So This is Palm Sunday," and in the evening on "Foolish Wives and Foolish Husbands." For Easter Sunday his subjects are "The Meaning of Easter" and "How to be Happy - Though Married."

A splendid group is in attendance for the Hour of Prayer on Wednesday evening. If you are heavily burdened and troubled, you are given a special invitation to attend. All are cordially invited to attend this service and receive a blessing with others. 7:30 P. M. is the hour.

Local Man Has Experience On Training Flight

Naval Air Reserve Dallas, Mar. 6 - Bringing a plane down from 4,000 feet and making a perfect landing may not sound like a remarkable feat but how would you like to do it at night with a frozen engine? Lt. J. Horace R. Hay, USNR, pilot with a Reserve squadron at the Dallas Naval Air Station, can tell you how it feels.

In a special practice night flight Lt. Hay experienced engine trouble over Arlington, Texas, but returned the plane successfully to its base with a completely dead engine. Lt. Hay was commended on February 25 by Capt. H. E. Nieman, Jr., Commanding Officer of the Naval Air Station, for the "calm and deliberate manner in which he operated his malfunctioning aircraft, resulting in completion of the emergency without injury to personnel or damage to equipment."

Other pilots operating in the flight and included in the commendation were: Wesley M. Hays, Winters, Texas; Thomas M. Hays, Santa Anna, Texas; Theodore M. Eger, San Antonio, Texas; and Kenneth A. Klapproth, Dallas, Texas.

Echoes From The Alamo City

Mrs. A. L. Oiler

Congratulations on the opening of the Library Building. It is most interesting to read in the News of the completion of the Library building, its opening and dedication, and the various activities being carried on there.

It is also nice to know that other women's organizations are now affiliated with the Self Culture Club and the U.D.C., the original sponsors of the Library. We don't usually think of another sponsor - the public. It was the public that elected me as a Board member when the Library Association was organized in the City Hall more than 20 years ago. I continued in this capacity and was for sometime chairman of the Board. When we turned the Library over to the Government and it was operated by the W.P.A. the board became somewhat inactive, but there were still a few interested women who continued to back it.

Through the years some of us have continued to agitate and cogitate, in season, and out of season, in meetings and elsewhere, for a ground floor building to house our nice collection of books.

And now this is a happy reality. I am sorry that, owing to being away from home, I could not help in the final developments.

Mrs. Banister, for many years chairman of the Board, has probably brought more books to the Library than anyone else. Always glad to take her car and haul to the Library any books that were donated.

Through the years, the Library has not been very well financed, and I don't know what plans will be used to run it under the new set-up. In the early days, we had a very good membership of families, paying dues of $1.00 per year, but when the government operated it, dues were discontinued, and I don't believe were reinstated.

I understand the City Commission in recent years has contributed to its maintenance.

And now at long last, we have the building, which also provides a meeting place for women's clubs, and many more people interested in the Library.

Now let me ask, what kind of books will we place on the shelves? Many of the newer books and some not so new, are filthy beyond words, and should not be offered to any one - much less young people to read. It seems like a good censorship committee is in order.

Explorer Gives Natives "Wonder Drug"

Captain Hassoldt Davis, famed explorer and author, proved on a recent expedition to the Ivory Coast of French West Africa that natives think highly of the white man's "magic" which he works with aureomycin and other drugs. Davis is shown above administering vitamin pills to an exhausted witch doctor. The native "doctor" recovered so rapidly that he wanted the white man to stay and be his partner. At another village, Davis found a native woman near death from mixed infection following childbirth, complicated by pneumonia. After penicillin injections failed, he gave her aureomycin capsules. The woman fully recovered. When his pet chimpanzee showed symptoms of having pneumonia, Davis gave it the same "wonder drug," which the chimp ate like candy. Within a week the animal was as lively as ever. The explorer is now writing a book and editing a film on the expedition. Mrs. Davis, a daring woman, indeed, was official photographer for the safari. She will accompany her husband on a trek this summer into the wilds of Morocco.
