MORE MARCH OF DIMES

A little more money was received this week for the March of Dimes drive. M. A. Richardson of Rockwood deposited $1.00 at the Santa Anna National Bank and members of the freshman class of the high school donated $4.35 more, making a total of $70.07 from the high school. It is expected that a little more money will come in yet, and when the drive is completed, we will publish a complete statement.

THE WEATHER

The weather is always a good topic for discussion. I suppose it is discussed (and cussed) more than any one other thing. It seems that we are never having the usual kind, but always the unusual weather. We sometimes wonder what the weather would be if it were the usual kind.

come in like a lion, but as it happened March came in slightly damp, and a little cooler than has been the usual climate for several days. However, Sunday warmed up and early Monday morning a little more moisture fell. This was when we missed the best chance we have had in a long while for that good rain we have all been waiting for. When the rain started this writer thought that was going to be it, but it failed to last long enough.

In the long range forecast issued by the U.S. Weather Bureau, the forecast calls for temperatures averaging around normal in this part of the country. The forecast also called for about normal precipitation over most of the country. We hope their noraml amount for this part of the state has not been determined from the amount we have received the last year or two.

COMMERCE

In pioneer America it took cash to close a business deal. An inconvenient way, of course, but it certainly was safe, for with families trekking from here to yonder credit was an almost impossible thing to check. But now, with our modern banking system, business deals are made easier and more convenient. A check is enough to close the biggest, or even the smallest deals and then act as legal proof of payment.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh They Do "Give A Hoot" For Easy

Easy Roberts finally got rid of the noisy pigeons that used to whoop it up under his eaves.

He must have tried a dozen ways to scare them off. But no matter what he did, they would be right back cooing by his window, the next morning.

Then Easy thought of an old stuffed owl he had in his attic. He propped it on the roof so's all the pigeons could see it. They left .. and three hoot owls have taken their place. Easy swears the hooting is even worse than the cooing of the pigeons.

From where I sit, quite often a "bright idea" will turn out to be "not so bright" after all. That's why we should never be too cocksure of our ideas and opinionsbut always try to keep an open mind. I believe a refreshing glass of beer is the best thirst-quencher - you may believe differently. But who's to say one's right and the other is wrong? Let's just practice tolerance. It'll save a lot of hootin' and hollerin'.

Balance Sheet

Lesson for March 9, 1952

T is not every man who at the close of his life can look back and say that life has brought him more than it took away. Death, or the approach of death, is a reminder it is time to bal ance our books There was a man named Paul sitting in a Roman prison. He was to be tried on a capital charge, and fainty that he would be acquitted. Yet if the Romans had only known that solitary prisoner, whose very food was provided by the charity of friends, was the happlest man in Rome. He looked back over his eventual life and in a letter to his friends, while admitting that he had lost much, counted everything well lost in comparison to what he had gained. The balance sheet of Paul's life showed no deficit, but an enormous balance on the credit side.

Losses Written Off

DAUL gave several thumbnall autobiographies, some of which are included in the Scripture readings for this week. So we know pretty well what he had to give up. What would strike most of us today is his loss of comfort and secugity. Modern Americans want above all to be comfortable and secure.

Probably Paul missed comfort and security as much as any man, for he was born to both. But as an "ambassador of Christ" he had had to give all this up.

He had long since exhausted whatover money he may have had; he had to work at hard manual labor to support himself; he was a constant traveler, which in those days did not mean Cadillac cars, Pullmans or even foam-rubber bus seats; it meant dirt and fleas and had food and seasickness and wrecks (we know of four he had); it meant sometimes being halfstarved, sometimes robbed and always in danger of armed robbery.

His Worst Losses?

TUT there was worse. A wise man does not count hardships his under arrest for more than four years. He had been jailed at Jeruto Rome, and then in Rome for we don't know just how long.

Paul was just the temperament that feels imprisonment most keenly. Active, vigorous, always on the go, the four walls of a cell or even the four walls of a house must have galled him terribly. But perhaps worst of all was loss of standing in his home community.

He was born both a Jew and a Roman (as a Jew today may be a good American or a good Frenchman too); but the Jews looked on him as a traitor to his race, a man not fit to live; while the Romans segarded him as a crack-pot at best. a subversive agitator at worst.

Whatever advantages Paul had had at birth or by education, he had definitely lost long before the end.

Credit Balance

ET Paul, in writing up the ba ance sheet of his life, calls everything he had lost so much trash, in comparison with what he had gained. To his mind it was like losing a truck-load of ashes and finding one diamond.

We ourselves, not being, alas! saints, if we had fixed up his balance sheet, would have put some items on the credit side that he does not mention. After all, he was then and still is Ohrlstendom's first citizen.

For many of us, and all of us call him Saint, which means he belongs 🐲 God's aristocracy. You can af ford to lose a good deal for that; He was also, and still is, close to the the most influential men in the bruseld's history, aside from Christ bruseld. He is this, because almost helf the books in the New Testament were written by him. Yet he dees not say, speaking of his life's astrochips, 'I count these things as thing in comparison with my posi-by its leader . . . the fact of the sainthood . . . my contribution to the Bible.

We know what his life-ambitions were: "to testify the good news of the grace of God"; "to gain Christ to know him-to share the power and Harry Crews. of his resurrection, the fellowship of his sufferings"; and "by all means to win some," These things he did; these things no hardships and no enemies could keep him from doing. With these things on life's credit side, the debits were

On the question of the program militarizing the youth of the nation, the plan could hardly the debate a number of points the nation, the plan could hardly were made which help to clarify have that effect. It would be the real issues that are involved, under civilian control, and under constant control and scrutiny of 1. When we became involved in the Congress. There were more than 14 million men and women being pushed back toward Pusan, in service during World War II, new troops were recruited. But many for from two to four years, gram leading to a military dictpool of trained, ready reservists atorship, these facts have been developed, After training, the trainees would go into a ready reserve pool and would thereafter be ordinary civilians, under civilian control. They would not be subject to call into military service without the approval of the Congress, and then Congress would determine the number subject to recall.

5. Another question raised is that of the moral environment at camps where they would be trained The Commission Report, and the legislation, places great stress on that phase of the pro-gram. No liquors could be sold at or near the camps; no bawdy house, brothel, etc. anywhere would be allowed to admit a trainee during his six months of training. If they did they would be subject to a very heavy pen-alty. There would be twice as many chaplains per thousand men than are now provided for the standing forces. Every possible precaution against evil influences would be provided.

6. Both Thomas Jefferson and George Washington urged a universal training program for all young men as a part of their ob-ligation to defend and preserve the Republic.

Services For Army

The Salvation Army of Texas is marshalling its forces to provide off-duty morale services to the 150,000 U.S. Army troops which will take part in "Exercise Longhorn" in March, Lt Col. John A. Morrison, Texas Divisional Commander, announced recently.

Colonel Morrison said that the Salvation Army is readying 12 at Fort Hood for the forthcoming maneuvers. The Salvation Army will be ready for action March 6.

The maneuver area will extend from San Angelo to Tyler and from Fort-Worth to San Antonio.

The Special Services division of the U.S. Army is taking care of the entertainment of the men while they are on duty," Colonel Morrison said, "but we have a great job to perform in looking after some of the needs of the men while they are off dutyparticularly since about 70 per cent of the enlisted men are selectees between the ages of 18

Veterans Who Sell Homes Responsible For Payments

Veterans who sell their homes and let the purchasers assume the 4 percent GI loans, remain personally responsible for the payment of the loan, Veterans Administration warned today. VA said World War II veterans
