Three producers — including a small wildcat — have been completed in Coleman County.

O. F. Darling & H. G. Arnold of Abilene No. 1 W. C. Henderson Estate, J. H. Harris Survey 80, is a Marble Falls lime discovery well three and one-half miles north of Echo.

Daily potential was 8.19 barrels of oil, flowing through a 12-64-inch choke with packer on the casing and 375 pounds tubing pressure. Production is from an open hole at 3,298-3,337 feet. The well had a gas-oil ratio of 51,118-1.

In March No. 1 Henderson Estate was plugged at 2,736 feet. Operator re-entered and deepened the hole.

Ten miles northeast of Coleman in the Anzac-Morris Field, Anzac Oil Corp. & A. G. Hill, et al, No. 16-C J. P. Morris, D. Breeding Survey 728, has been completed.

During the daily potential test No. 16-C Morris gauged 184.1 barrels of 44.6 gravity oil. Completion was on a 30-64-inch choke with 150 pounds casing and 30 pounds tubing pressures. Having a gas-oil ratio of 1,300-1, the well is producing from an open hole at 2,188-97 feet.

In the Dunman-Morris Field, four miles east of Goldsboro, Tri-M Production Co. of Midland No. 4-G Dunman, Section 35, T&NO Survey, is a new well.

Daily potential was 148 barrels of 42 gravity oil, flowing through an 1-8-inch choke with 500 pounds casing and 150 pounds tubing pressures. No. 4-G Dunman, having a gas-oil ratio of 450-1, is producing from an open hole at 3,486-3,500 feet.

Location has been staked for Andrew M. Howsley, et al, of Abilene No. 4 C. C. Duncan, slated for 3,990 feet with rotary. It will be a Glen Cove Jennings South Field project, two miles south of Glen Cove. Drillsite is 330 feet from the south lines of the northwest quarter in Section 12, T&NO Survey.

A project has been plugged at 2,115 feet in the North Coleman Junction Field, three miles southeast of Coleman. It was J. H. Blackwell, et al, of Coleman No. 2 A. L. Steffey, Section 6, Coleman CSL Survey 57.

It pumped 66 barrels of 41 gravity oil per day from an open hole at 1,892-1,914 feet. Formation was ruptured.

Garrett Production Service of Houston is to deepen the No. 2 Noel Hale, located two miles northwest of Talpa in the Burt Ogden-Mabee Field. It was formerly carried as Richard King, Jr., No. 2 Hale.

Religious Books and Article On Increase

Right now publishers are issuing more books on religion than on any other nonfiction subjects. Newspaper syndicates are expanding their religious features because of increasing public interest. Sales of the Bible have doubled in five years and are now at an all-time peak.

Two top executives in the public relations and advertising fields brought out these facts in speeches here today.

Arthur Hall, Circulation Director of the Chicago Daily News, reported, "A significant change in reading habits is under way right now. There is a tremendous public interest in books and articles on religion."

He addressed members of the worldwide circulation sales staff of The Christian Science Monitor, who met in connection with the Annual Meeting of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientists, in Boston.

Langley Carleton Keyes, Boston advertising executive and readability expert, cited reasons for the growing popular interest in religion.

"Corruption, chaos, and confusion are turning many people back to Jesus' simple teaching," Keyes told an audience of more than 1500. "Men want something better than complex philosophies and confused living."

"They want religion. They want it in language they can understand. They want it in the way Jesus taught it. More than anything else, they want practical proof of God's power with men."

Emphasizing "the simple might of divine ideas," Keyes said that the "intellectualism of the few is not the answer. All men become thinkers when they are reached where they are by the clear expression of the truth about God and man." Dr. Keyes is a Ph.D. in philology.

The popular interest in religious features in newspapers was graphically illustrated by Hall. In 1949 the Chicago Daily News published the life story of Jesus. This brought a tremendous circulation response.

"No articles published in recent years created so many new readers," Hall said. The articles appeared on page 1 with a news headline describing each day's installment.

The Dally News also found a series entitled "What My Religion Means To Me" to be definitely successful, Hall continued. It was written by local lay members of various denominations. Various other newspapers, including the Detroit Free Press and the Miami (Fla.) Herald, have also published such series with good results.

Hall told how the Akron (Ohio) Beacon Journal has just started a 10-day series of articles. The subject: a few verses of the Bible each day.

In the past year distribution of Bibles by The Christian Science Publishing Society has reached an all-time peak. John H. Hoagland, Manager, reported this fact to an audience of nearly 7500 at the main Annual Meeting of The Mother Church on June 2.

Mrs. E. M. Critz of Sturges & Gibbs of Coleman and her daughter, Jeanette of Midland, left early this week for the New York City market, where they will purchase fall merchandise that cannot be purchased on the Dallas market.

The Dally News also found a series entitled "What My Religion Means To Me" to be definitely successful, Hall continued. It was written by local lay members of various denominations. Various other newspapers, including the Detroit Free Press and the Miami (Fla.) Herald, have also published such series with good results.

MORE PORK with LESS GRAIN
with RED CHAIN WA-MO
A Scientifically Balanced Hog Supplement
You can raise hogs or grain alone . . . but it's mighty poor economy. Tests prove that it requires 12 bushels of corn alone to make 100 pounds of pork. Compare this with 6 bushels of corn and 50 pounds of RED CHAIN WA-MO to do the same job. It's mighty easy to figure that the RED CHAIN Way is the cheaper — more efficient way to raise hogs.
RED CHAIN WA-MO provides high levels of animal and vegetable proteins, minerals, and vitamins including B₁₂ and Antibiotic Feed Supplements. These latter aid in speeding up the growth of hogs and promote better health in the digestive tract. They supplement the nutritional factors in grain and make for greater feeding efficiency.

Garden Club Has Final Meeting For Summer Months

The poet says, "What is so rare as a day in June?" and so do the aphids, the beetles, the bag worms and the caterpillars. The Garden Club closed the summer sessions with a tea in the home of Mrs. A. R. Brown Friday, June 6, with 17 members present.

The profusion of gorgeous flower arrangements spoke for themselves as the friends of the long hours and eternal patience at the hands of the "green thumbs".

The program consisted of a round-table discussion of the insects which are now feeding so gleefully on the beloved gardens.

The hostess, Mrs. Brown, ended the discussions by serving a plate of our favorite white cake, complimented by a crystal glass of pale green sherbet.

All agreed, as they bid farewell to club meeting for the summer, to get out the old garden hat and take up the hoes and spray buckets and spend much time in the preservation of what we so happily planted. -Reporter.

Home Dem Club Met With Mrs. Oder Fri.

Despite the heavy rain and mud, there was a very good attendance of members, when the H. D. Club met with Mrs. Oder on Friday afternoon, June 6th. Flower arrangements and corsage making were the topics of discussion.

Mrs. Louis Zachary discussed the different methods of flower arrangements and brought several containers of gorgeous flowers, already arranged. Some of the others also brought flowers, or corsages for gifts.

Mrs. John Perry demonstrated making organdy corsages and Mrs. Arthur Talley demonstrated the making of fiber paper ones. The finished products were presented to some attending.

For recreation, Ellen Richards conducted a quiz on flowers.

Mrs. Talley read a lovely poem concerning flowers from Ernest Lee Womack's book of poems.

Those present besides the hostess and others above mentioned were: Mrs. Clifford Stephenson, Mrs. J. F. Goen, Mrs. W. M. Laferty, Mother Standley and Mrs. Ed Jones. We were glad to have Mrs. Jones back with us, the first time since she had surgery. Mrs. Jones is the club reporter.

After the program, the hostess served refreshments of cold drinks, red devils food cake, and congealed fruit salad, topped with cream. The soft drinks were passed on an ironstone roast pig platter, that had belonged to the hostess' mother.

Other family heirlooms were displayed. One piece of china, admired was a plate picturing Queen-Mother Mary and King George at the time of the coronation.

The next meeting will be June 20th, in the home of Mrs. J. F. Goen, and will be on "Atomic Warfare". An exhibit of dresser scarves will be displayed.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh "Good Neighbor Policy" Remember one time when I told about the old loose-stone wall that separated Easy Roberts' property from Handy Peterson's? That was when they decided they really didn't need the wall between them in the first place - so they simply stopped repairing it. Now I hear where a fellow, who bought the old Johnson place, wants to buy all those stones. It seems he figures a stone wall is just what's needed on his property. From where I sit, if that fellow wants to build himself a stone wall, that's his business. But if it's not really serving any useful purpose he may sooner or later discover - just like Handy and Easy did - that he'd be just as well off without one. Even some old-fashioned walls of prejudice are disappearing - like those that would deny a person's right to a friendly glass of beer now and then. Most Americans are learning that "walls" can get in the way of the persons inside as well as the persons outside. Joe Marsh Copyright, 1952, United States Brewers Foundation

Tell the Truth

Lesson for June 15, 1952

FOR SALE: A portrait of George Washington, engraved on the finest bond paper, suitable for framing. Send only 25c, while they last. We ran an advertisement some years ago. When suckers sent in their quarters, what they got back were two-cent stamps. Now the ad had not "told a lie" in direct words. It was a portrait of Washington, right enough; a postage stamp is engraved on the finest bond paper, and it's suitable for framing if you like to frame anything as small as that. So the suckers could not get their money back. But the ad was a lie all the same, for it misled people into thinking something that wasn't true.

Dr. Foreman

Lies can be told without the use of words at all, lies can be told with winks of the eye, with facial expressions or gestures. A store window can be full of lies, for the merchandise there may not be actually like what they sell you in the store. Truth is more than just not telling a lie in actual words, truth is conveying ideas that do not deceive.

Scientific Truth

Jesus seldom argued that truth is right, just as he seldom if ever argued that honesty is a good thing. Every one knows it.

What would you think of a person who came to you with this recommendation? "This man is a hard worker, he has plenty of brains, he has only one fault and that is, he is a liar." You'd never hire him. Every one wants truth told him.

But there are different kinds of truth. One is scientific. Now it is hardly possible to tell the complete truth from a scientific point of view.

"How old are you?" is a simple question and most people answer it simply: Five, or fifty-five, or whatever the nearest year may be. But that's not a scientific answer. Five and how many months, how many weeks, how many days, hours, minutes, seconds?

You see by the time you have figured it out to seconds (which would be the scientific truth) you are already several minutes older.

Well, you say, I don't care to know how old you are down to the last second. Of course you don't, and that brings up another kind of truth.

Social Truth

THE KIND of truth in which Jesus was especially interested, and in which all of us take the most interest, is what we can call social truth, the kind of truthfulness that makes for friendly and trustworthy relationships between man and man.

If you apply for a driver's license and say you are seventeen when you are only fifteen, that's a lie. If you are seventeen and say so, and your state will let you have a license at that age, then the clerk doesn't care a particle whether you are also seventeen and eleven months or seventeen and eleven hours.

"How are you?" is a harmless and common question. But if you have any sense, you won't answer, "Well, I don't know exactly because I have just had a check-up. But my pulse was 73 at 8:32 this morning, I have an slight fuzziness on my tongue, I don't have enough appetite to eat my sixth griddle cake for breakfast, my left foot seems to be developing an fallen arch, I am getting over my cold/flu by degrees..." Who wants to know all that? Just tell them, "I'm fine."

If you are telling about your neighbor, just tell the important things. Don't pass on the fact that you heard somewhere that she had a cousin whose husband served time for larceny. Social truth has to pass three tests, and one is: Is it true? Is it necessary? Is it kind?

Sacrificial Truth

THE PINCH comes when a teeny-weeny lie seems likely to help you out of a jam. What's the harm in a lie that doesn't hurt any one? Jesus gives us the answer. He commands deceit along with the other sins that "defile a man."

When it comes to a show-down, which kind of man would you rather deal with: the man who will lie to keep himself out of trouble, or the man who is willing to take any kind of hurt rather than to dirty himself with a lie?

Truth when it hurts others may be sheer meanness; truth that hurts the truth-teller may be the noblest form of truth.

TRADE MARK RIGHTS EXPLAINED

From the alarm that jolts us awake in the morning to the electric light that we turn off at night, Mr. and Mrs. Average American are constantly surrounded by products which have been purchased by their brand names. The constant use of trade-marked products with satisfactory results, combined with persistent advertising, makes us trade-mark conscious.

What does a trade-mark actually do? It identifies merchandise as being the product of a particular manufacturer or distributor. The use of trade-marks is very ancient. They were used by the brick-makers of ancient Egypt; the lamp-makers of old Athens; and the helmet makers and armorers of medieval England. While a trade-mark is most often a word, it may also be an emblem, symbol, slogan, or other device. The intended function of a trade-mark is to distinguish the goods of the proprietor from the goods of others in the market place. The expression "trade-mark", "brand name", or more simply "brand" or "mark", are synonymous.

A person or company becomes the owner of common law rights in a trade-mark through adoption and use of the mark on goods. The law affords protection to the owner by prohibiting others in the field from appropriating the mark or one so similar as to be likely to cause confusion.

FERTILIZERS AND PESTICIDES

Farming and ranching gets just a little more complicated each year.

In these days of stepped-up production, higher crop quotas, advances in mechanized equipment and changing economic conditions, the farmer and ranchman has to keep constantly re-adjusting his seasonal plans if he is to operate at a profit. In addition to keeping pace with day-to-day developments, he has to look ahead and anticipate future conditions that may have a bearing on his situation.

A crystal ball might be a big help in this respect. But since few, if any, of us have this advantage, then a little planned thinking is the next best method.

One thing is certain this season. Due to a mild winter, Texas may face one of the worst insect infestations in the last 20 years. And, of course, we must constantly practice those conservation measures which will keep our soil in top-notch shape.

A heavy volume of pesticides and fertilizers are expected to be needed this year to support the high-level farm output. Farmers are urged to order their supplies well ahead of the time for applying these essential production materials. A last minute rush would tax industry's ability to fill orders and the channels of transportation from factory to farm.

Total requirements this year for pesticides, including insecticides, fungicide, and herbicides are expected to run about nine per cent higher than in 1950-51. On the whole, supplies should be equal to the demand and prices generally are not greatly different from those of a year ago.

The United States Department of Agriculture reveals that supplies of pesticides containing copper and sulphur may not be sufficient to fill all demands but alternate materials will be generally available. Lead arsenate supplies, critically short earlier in this year, are improved. Farmers should be able to get sufficient quantities of weed killers such as 2,4-D and 2,4-5-T.

A generally strong demand for fertilizers has put pressure on the nation's soil building supplies. Fertilizers on the whole are slightly more plentiful although a little less phosphate is expected to be available than last year. Because of a high demand for ammonium nitrate and

Our WASHINGTON Letter
By Congressman O. C. FISHER

LAST OCTOBER the House passed a bill to clarify the law against dumping of foreign products in this country where such exports adversely affect a domestic industry. Since 1921 we have had an anti-dumping law, but it has been so interpreted that its effect has been useless. The amendment to that law, which we passed in the House, has been pending in the Senate Finance committee since last October 16. It requires the Secretary of Treasury to impose a countervailing duty on merchandise brought in "by reason of a payment or bestowal of a bounty or grant" by the government of the exporting country. This is an attempt to cope with the subsidized practices of Argentina and Uruguay with respect to wool and wool tops. Those countries have been giving exporters of wool tops (raw wool which has been processed) a special exchange advantage when they ship to the United States.

But the Secretary of Treasury (who handles customs) held that the 1921 anti-dumping law did not contemplate subsidies brought about by preferred exchange manipulations. Our amendment of last October expressly stated that such bounty or grant would include such subsidies brought about "through multiple official rates of its exchange in terms of United States dollars, or otherwise".

The Senate committee has held some hearings on our bill but up to this time has taken no action. This is regrettable because the South American wool tops have been dumped in our country have played havoc with a substantial part of our domestic wool market during the past few months.

THE HOUSE PASSED a House-Senate conference report on a Foreign Aid bill last week. The House had previously trimmed the President's aid bill from $7.9 billion down to $6.1 billion, but the conference committee upped the figure to $6.4 billion — increasing economic assistance (as distinguished from military aid) to $1.8 billion. Since much of this is for the purpose of bolstering the economies and to provide public works in so-called depressed areas around the world, I voted against the conference report. The deeper we get into this international WPA business, the more difficult it will be to stop it. Our taxpayers are in no condition to pay such bills for other people.

Furthermore the court's ruling reaffirms strongly the power and independence of Congress in fields of action marked out for it by the Constitution. Such a restatement is wholesome and useful at a time when Executive powers are being steadily enlarged at the expense of the legislature in many corners of the world.

It is really quite remarkable that the Supreme Court has met this issue head on. Before the decision was handed down, constitutional experts were widely predicting that, whatever the court decided, it would not delve deeply into the shadowy zone where the President's powers bump squarely up against those of Congress.

It was argued that the high court, as a matter of historical record, has consistently avoided defining the respective powers of Congress and the Executive too sharply, apparently on the theory that this vagueness gave to both sides a certain assurance of flexibility. This maneuvering ground was extensive enough to allow for a substantial expansion of presidential authority when the situation warranted.

The Supreme Court now has eliminated that vagueness, though three justices obviously consider this a gross mistake. The court has said in effect that the way to deal with an issue like the steel crisis is for the President to obtain specific grants of power from Congress.

We all know that the nature of modern warfare puts a premium on speed in an emergency. Inasmuch as the court has now restricted the President's area of discretionary action, it is incumbent upon him to request — and upon Congress to consider fairly — whatever standby powers he might reasonably need to cope with an emergency.

It is also incumbent upon him to use the authority he already has. As Justice Clark noted in a concurring opinion, Mr. Truman failed to use the Taft-Hartley law in dealing with the steel crisis. This does not give him the power to seize but it does provide machinery for handling a stubborn labor dispute.

The President's refusal to use Taft-Hartley was founded on political considerations, since the act is a red flag to labor leaders. But the President clearly has a responsibility to execute all the laws, not just the ones he happens to like.

The court has properly rebuked Mr. Truman for resorting to the extremely seizure when he had not called into play all available lesser remedies. But more important than this, it has declared that the Constitution, not the President, is the supreme law of the land. It has taken government out of the realm of Executive whim and tied it firmly to the rock of written law.

Faye and Nell Parks were here from Abilene, where they are employed, visiting with the home folks over the week end.

Ceiling Price Lifted On Potatoes

The Office of Price Stabilization announced last week that the regulations governing the sale of white potatoes at all levels of distribution have been revoked. The action was taken, said OPS, as a result of the vote in the United States Senate to discontinue controls of fresh fruits and vegetables.

In announcing the decontrol action, Ellis H. Boyd, district OPS Director in Fort Worth, said that the Senate vote had made effective enforcement of the present regulations virtually impossible. Boyd stated that honest operators would be penalized by violations which might follow the Senate action.

Furthermore, he said, OPS considered that the distribution of the potato crop would be complicated through inducement to shippers to withhold supplies in expectation that controls on potatoes would be ended by Congressional action on July 1.

Boyd said that the OPS had maintained potato controls in the interests of the consuming public and in accordance with the law during the past several months when the potato supply has been extremely short. He said that it was hoped that the present shortage of supplies may be relieved to some extent in the reasonably near future.

Ice Cream Is Good For Reducing Lunch

Nutrition studies at Cornell University recently show that plain ice cream makes a first-rate reducer's lunch says the Dairy Products Institute of Texas.

Dr. A. C. Dahlberg of the Cornell Experiment Station revealed that the ice cream meal gives topnotch nutritional quality in protein and important minerals and vitamins.

"A dish of ice cream gives between 200 and 400 calories, varying with size of scoop and richness of the cream," says George Clarke, Institute vice president.

"This is well within the lunch-time allowance of a slimming diet. However, it must be a dish of plain ice cream. No chocolate sauce, no nuts or whipped cream or syrups.

"Since ice cream can be obtained at any restaurant or soda fountain, it's an easy answer for reducers whose lunchtime is limited and who don't want to scan a long menu in search of non-fattening foods."

Sulphur Helps Tone Up Farm Operations

Maybe you rebelled in childhood against the old-fashioned spring tonic of sulphur mixed in molasses but today this chemical with the emphatic tase and smell tones up almost every phase of your farm operations.

In fact, easing of sulphur shortages provides some of the most cheering news along the whole farm front. Sulphuric acid aids crop production in many ways. Your fertilizing and your motor fuels and lubricants are dependent on its adequate supply. This acid puts teeth in your fight against insects. It is vital to the processing of food products, clothing, and even kitchenware.

You can trace all of these things back to the sulphur content in sulphuric acid. This acid has more industrial uses than any chemical except water. More of it goes into making fertilizers than anything else. The refining of motor fuels and lubricants drinks up the second largest amount. Insecticides, many food products and every type of cloth consume sulphur in their processing.

This chemical helps produce enameled and galvanized pots and pans as well as the soap to scour them with. The manufacture of explosives, paints, plastics, leather, oils and fat, tinware and glycerine all require sulphur. A full listing would run into hundreds of items.

When the defense program and export needs began to eat up sulphur supplies, oil and chemical companies helped tackle the problem. Sulphur is a mineral that is mined, but it can also be extracted from various materials notably crude oil and natural gas. New plants to recover by-product sulphur last year permitted the oil industry, for the first time, to produce 5,500 tons more sulphur than it used. Still more plants promise to swell this surplus to 100,000 tons by the end of this year. That's good news to farmers.
