tation is becoming more important daily to Texas economy, according to J. H. Kultgen, President of the Texas Good Roads Association.

Kultgen points out that there are now 1,788 communities, including 43 County Seats, in Texas that have no other form of transportation. They must rely entirely upon highways to carry both passengers and commodities to and from markets.

"There is no longer any particular competitive disadvantage in this, however," Mr. Kultgen said. "There was a time when a town having no rail transportation, had little hope for its future. Today an integrated highway system has changed that picture. It is fine for a town to have railroad connections. But it also is fine if they can have water ways or be on an airline. The fact they are not, however, will no longer keep fullest measure.

Compassion

Lesson for November 9, 1952

ARE Americans becoming bru-talized? Some thoughtful people believe we are. As Dr. Charles T. Leber reports, when his father and mother read the account of the sinking of the Lusitania back before World War I, they were so upset they could' not eat. Now we can read about the destruction of an entire city and go right on cating breakfast. We in America invented and used the A-bomb and now we conceive the H-bomb. We train men to kill other men with flaming jellied gasoline, with knives, with whatever seems to be most usable and deadly. We kill people on the highways, or we don't do enough to keep them from killing themselves, in such quantities that we don't even read the newspaper reports about it unless some friend of ours happened to be in the smash. If as many people died in your town of polio, or of typhoid fever, as die in accidents, you would all be in almost a panic.

A Word We Need

There is an old English word that is not used often nowadays. Maybe the reason it is seldom used is that the thing it means is seldom met with. It is the word "compassion." Literally, it means "suffering-with." When it is said by Matthew that Jesus had compassion on the crowds, it means literally that he knew how they felt, what they needed, where they hurt; and that in his own heart he suffered with them. Their needs were his needs, their pain his pain. That is compassion; but it is not yet the whole of it. There is something more. An artist (let us say a novelist) has to have compassion, of a sort. Many novels and stories have been written, for instance, about bull-fighters, and some of the story-tellers have shown a high degree of imaginative power. You might almost fancy they had been bullfighters themselves, as to be sure some of them have been. But few if any of these story-writers have done anything to put a stop to the brutal sport of bull-fighting. They feel the tragedy of the whole business yet they do not propose to do anything about it. Compassion, as Jesus felt it, never was a mere emotion. It was emotion harnessed to action.

Harrassed and Helpless

The Revised Standard Version translates beautifully Matthew's description of the crowds, who moved Jesus to compassion. They were "harassed and helpless," he says. The interesting thing is that it took Jesus to see this. Some could see only that there were a lot of people, and they took up a lot of room, and there was hardly room or time for Jesus to eat. Others—the Pharisees—could see only their ignorance: "This multitude that knows not the law is accursed." Others (as was the case with the disciples on a later occasion) realized only that the crowd looked hungry. Well, the people were numerous, they were no doubt ignorant, and most of them were chronically ill-fed. But the point is, the people who saw them in this light did not have compasion, all they felt was annoyance. The crowds were a nuisance. Jesus felt quite different toward them. He saw them as they were, harassed and helpless. You yourself run into crowds, or you read about them. How do they strike you? Do they frighten you, amuse you, annoy you or make you angry? The masses today are very little different from the masses in Jesus' time. Can you see them as they are, harassed and helpless? And does it stir you to do something about it? Then you know something about the compassionate heart.

The Inmost Need

There is another important fact about Jesus' compassion. One cannot call it unique, for the best Christians have shared it. He was able to see beneath the surface of things to people's real needs. The young man brought by his four friends to Jesus probably was thinking chiefly about his helpless arms and legs. Jesus looked and saw his helpless soul. The publican Matthew may well have felt sorry for himself because business was bad, or because he was not popular. Jesus' compassion went deeper; he felt Matthew's real need-to get away from the publican business altogether. Compassion goes even deeper than sympathy; it is spiritual interpreta-

SEASONAL FOOD SAVINGS Are you stocking the family freezer with home-grown products to cut down on the grocery

A small garden is a big help. But there is another method you can use. The housewife can save on feeds purchased and stored at the time of year they are most plentiful and selling at the lowest price. Buying at the wrong time sends much of your savings down the drain.

Seasonal commodities, such as early-maturing fruits and some vegetables, usually aren't any bargain when they first appear on the grocery shelves. But a short wait to buy will result in an abundant supply at an economical price for storing.

There are 18 plentiful foods the housewife can take advantage of in November. Some of them can be bought in quantity to put in the freezer or on the pantry shelf for future use.

These products are: honey, carrots, filberts, table grapes, domestic dried figs, dry baby lima beans, pork, lard, walnuts, almonds, frozen fish, canned tuna, salad oils, buttermilk, table fats, cottage cheese, vegetable shortening, nonfat dry milk sol-

After three exchanges of the ball on punts, with the Santa Anna reserves playing, the Mountaineers held the ball on the Wildcat 40-yard line and reserve James Allen broke into the clear and went down to the 4 yard line before being brought down by a bunch of Wildcats.
