Hospital Open House Draws Large Crowd

The open house held Sunday afternoon at the Santa Anna Hospital was largely attended and there probably would have been many more but for the blowing sand and other affairs of the day.

There were approximately 500 visitors. Much favorable comment was heard on the great amount of improvement that has been made at the hospital in recent months.

Members of the Hospital Auxiliary, headed by Mrs. Edd Jones, and other interested persons were in the receiving line, at the register and at every needed place, to show visitors around, to answer questions, etc.

Mrs. Charles Moseley and her flower committee provided a vast quantity and wide variety of seasonal flowers for decorating the entrances, halls and rooms. There were also quite a number of gifts of pot plants and baskets of flowers from friends of the institution.

Mrs. Maggie Culver was chairman of the committee on planning and Mrs. Doug Moore headed the refreshment committee.

During the hours 2 to 5, attractive Santa Anna women served punch, a variety of cookies and mints, from a table covered with a cutwork cloth, and decorated with containers of sweet peas at each end of the table.

All communities of the county were represented among the visitors, also all the adjoining counties and some from farther areas.

Not all the interesting things were to be seen inside the hospital. On the spacious hospital grounds could be seen quite a number of grown geese and ducks, also quite a bunch of beautiful yellow goslings, two groups of little ducks, the youngest of these were swimming happily in a little pond. All of these drew lots of attention.

Precinct 2 Asks For Bids On Power Shovel

Earl Hardy, Commissioner of Coleman County Precinct 2, announced this week that his precinct is accepting bids on a 1/2-yard capacity truck mounted power shovel. The machine will be paid for by the issuance of time warrants.

Hardy said this was the first time in several years that his precinct was having to issue warrants for equipment, but that the precinct was still in good financial condition and the warrants would not put an overburden on the precinct. He said the present power shovel was just about worn out and it would be cheaper to replace it with a new one rather than attempt to do major repairs on it.

Jettie Kirkpatrick Hired As New City Secretary Monday

Miss Jettie Kirkpatrick was employed at the Monday night meeting of the City Council as City Secretary, to replace Miss Bettie Blue, who was employed as the temporary secretary when the new council took over their duties. Miss Kirkpatrick will post a $3,000 bond and will assume her duties this week. For a few weeks both Miss Blue and Miss Kirkpatrick will work at the City Hall. Other applicants were: Mrs. Marie Cox, Mrs. Ruth Campbell, Mrs. Virgil Priddy, Mrs. Marie Wristen and Miss Marie Rouse.

The Council set a price of $200 on the radio receiver now being used in the county car operated by Deputy Sheriff Raymond Greaves. Cost of the receiver in June, 1951, was $266.42.

Some complaints were received concerning residents running waste from kitchen sinks into city bar ditches. This practice is to be stopped immediately. Waste is not to be run on or into any public place.

Clifford Stephenson was appointed to attend a water school to be held in Brownwood during the month of June. It is required by the State Health Department that at least one city employee attend this school.

A minimum charge was set for grocery stores for sanitation charges. The minimum was set at $2.50 per month and the charge is to be based on the amount of garbage hauled off.

The Council also voted to send three members of the fire department to the State Fire Convention to be held in Austin. The city will pay all the expenses for these three men.

Mrs. W. L. Campbell and Carolee took Mrs. Roy Stockard to Temple Saturday, where she went through a clinic. On Monday, Mrs. Stockard had eye surgery at Scott and White Clinic, where she is a patient in room 33.

Miss Lee Thompson and Mrs. Mead Hunter of Waco, their sister, Mrs. Whit Hampton of Dallas, and their brother, Harry Thompson and wife of Coleman, were visitors in the Dennis Kelley home a part of last week.

The first flight will be jet planes and will be over Santa Anna at approximately 2:00 p. m. Their flight schedule will not permit them to circle the city as they have a lapse of only 4 minutes from Brownwood to Coleman. Later in the afternoon a flight of trainer planes will fly over.

Local Feed Store Wins Prize In Selling Contest

The Santa Anna Farm & Ranch Supply Store, located at the Arrow Mills Elevator, was awarded 9th place in a contest sponsored by Paymaster Feeds recently. The store is owned and operated by Jesse K. Barton and L. M. Guthrie.

The contest, conducted through the months of February, March and April, was to see which of the feed company dealers could sell the most chick starter and grower feeds. The contest included all dealers in Texas handling this brand of feed. Twenty places were awarded with the local feed store receiving an electric deep fry.

Activities will begin at 9:00 a. m. with a downtown parade, with Goodfellow throwing open its gates at 12 noon for an expected 35,000 West Texans.

A mousse is a light, frothy dessert.

Remodeling of the old Ford Motor Company building in the east part of town got underway early this week. The building will be the home of the Santa Anna Tile Company, Inc., and it is hoped that the remodeling will be completed by about the first of September.

Some of the major items of repair will be a new roof on the entire building, removal of the plate glass front and replacing with a new brick front, removal of the former service station location and making a truck entrance and the company office in this location; removal of most of the partitions in the building, and the installation of a kiln the entire length of the building. Present plans call for the kiln to be inside the building near the east wall.

The Santa Anna Tile Company Inc., was approved recently by the Secretary of State as a domestic corporation, with the Capital Stock being $100,000. H. L. Markland is president of the corporation; Bob Fielder, vice president and O. L. Cheaney, Secretary-Treasurer.

The steel uprights on the former building back of the Santa Anna National Bank building are being removed this week and will be used in the remodeling of the tile company building.

Present plans call for the employment of about 40 persons soon after operation gets underway.

County Gets Good Rain Tuesday

Rains measuring up to about three inches fell over Coleman County and most of Texas late Monday and early Tuesday. High winds and a heavy electrical storm accompanied the Tuesday rains.

Most people seem to think practically all the small grain has advanced too far for the rain to be of much value to it, but will be of great value to the maize crop and other forthcoming crops. A cold norther blew up Tuesday evening and was expected to subside sometime Wednesday. Light rains were falling Wednesday morning.

Santa Anna measured almost three inches rain, the heaviest reported in the county. The Cleveland Community and in the area around the city. The two inches were reported. Rockwood reported about 1 1/4-inch as did the Trickham-Whon area. The Coleman area and west to Hords Creek Lake reported the lightest fall, reports indicating from 1/2-inch to 3/4-inch.

Lions Den

A fair attendance was present for the weekly meeting of the local Lions Club this week and no visitors were present. Very little business came before the meeting for discussion. An announcement was made concerning the annual Breeder-Feeder Tour and concerning the program for next week, which will be the issuance of a charter for the local Scout Troop, that will be presented to the Lions Club. All Scout Committeemen are urged to be present for this meeting.

It was announced the installation of officers for the coming year will be held on Tuesday, May 26.

A directors meeting was called immediately following the regular meeting.

What Makes One Job Better Than Another?

What if the tables were turned... and college graduates stopped filling out job applications, and instead, submitted questionnaires for companies to fill out? It might be they would ask:

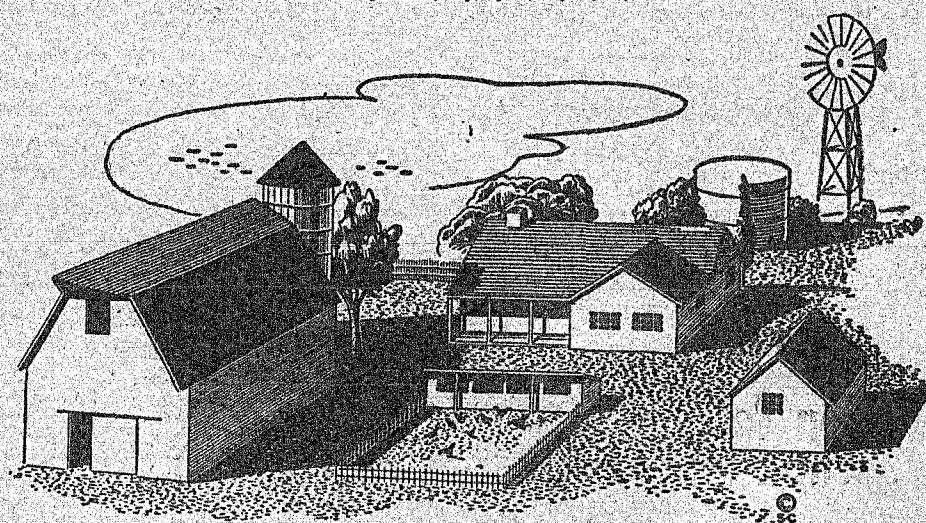

"Why should I work for your company?... Is your bank balance healthy?... Are you expanding fast?... Will I get responsibility in a hurry?... Can I pick the type of work I like?... Are you fun to work with?... Do you have smart men I can learn from?... Free schooling to train me further?... Research and know-how?... Money for the finest equipment?... Will you recognize and utilize my talents?"

Isn't it a sign of a pretty good job when young men with talent can have a clear road ahead, can learn from people they respect and admire, and can work on projects of national importance?

From where we sit, we've been watching this happen. Teams of people at General Electric—in their twenties most often—are solving problems of jet plane engines, new chemicals, home appliances, guided missiles... everything from atomic power to air conditioning. And they're working in responsible jobs, with experts of recognized authority.

Maybe it's because we're growing fast that young men move into new and bigger jobs. Or because we've been lucky enough to hire the type of men who grab responsibility and work hard to achieve success. Whatever single factor or combination it is, young men and success do go together at General Electric.

You can put your confidence in...

VA Explains Removal of Credit Control

Veterans Administration this week spelled out what the recent removal of credit controls on GI loans means to the home-buying World War II or Korean veteran.

The action, effective April 25, 1953 and authorized by the Housing and Home Finance Agency, removes the last vestige of credit controls which were applied to GI loans under the Defense Production Act.

In addition, VA said it has removed restrictions on how the four per cent gratuity payment made to veterans who obtain GI loans may be applied.

The gratuity payment made by VA equals four per cent of the guaranteed portion of the GI loan up to a maximum of $180. Previously under credit controls, the gratuity had to be applied to reduce the principal amount of the loan.

Now, the lender and the veteran may also apply the gratuity in other ways, for example, to pay the first two of three installments on the loan, or to pay all or part of the first year's taxes and insurance.

The removal of credit controls means that under VA regulations it is now permissible for veterans to obtain GI home loans with no down payment and with a repayment term up to 30 years.

VA emphasized, however, that since VA guaranteed loans are made by private lending institutions, the lender makes the decision as to the terms of the loans it makes.

The amount of down payment and the length of the repayment period are matters to be agreed upon between the veterans and the lending institution making the loan.

Prior to the action removing controls, veterans were required to pay at least 5 per cent down in most cases, and the maximum loan was usually restricted to 20 or 25 years.

Credit controls were first applied to GI loans in 1950 shortly after the beginning of the Korean conflict as an anti-inflationary measure.

LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK
BY TED GOULDY

Fort Worth — Sam Harris of Georgetown, (Williamson County) Texas, told us a tale about a string of steers he sold on the Ft. Worth market last week that gives about as graphic an account of the cattle price skid as you'll ever hear.

Harris, a veteran livestock man, reported that about two years ago he bought about a hundred steer yearlings at $41 per hundred. He wintered and caked them and was bid $38 the following Spring.

This offer he turned down but later he did sell the cattle at $34. However, this was not the end of the story by a long shot. Harris later bought the cattle back — at $22 per hundred. Then this week he sold on the Ft. Worth market the 104 steers at $21.50 with 24 head at $19. Said he might just buy some of 'em back, just to see what would happen.

When a big run of livestock appears on a market the tension is something very tangible as buyers and salesmen spar around waiting for the first sales to set the market in motion. When the largest run of the year showed up in the sheep yards Monday, May 4, it was tense for this was also the biggest run locally since 1950.

Harry Butz, head sheep buyer for Swift & Co., got on the White Ranches lambs from McCulloch County, a big string of over 2,000 fancy clipped lambs and in short order bought them for $22.50, a new high for the current crop. As word spread over the yards the effect was similar to the breaking of a log jam — buyers from Nebraska and Iowa as well as other order buyers were active — and with a big slice of the cream of the day's crop in Swift's hands, the other interests "got in" fast.

Thus it was that despite the big run the sheep were sold, weighed and on their way in about the same amount of time it takes to handle one-third that many. The White lambs each Spring are a highlight of the season's marketing at Ft. Worth and a good barometer of how Texas lambs from the McCulloch County section have wintered and will sell

Ten rail-car loads of big horned South Texas steers from near Crystal City arrived at Ft. Worth late last week and averaged over 1200 lbs. They sold at $17.25 and were shipped in by Ferguson Bros. Today this is a newsworthy thing — ten cars arriving on the market from down in South Texas and all from one owner. But years ago, whole train loads of South Texas cattle were not uncommon sights on the yards here, all of them with one mark and one brand. Today about 95 percent of the salable cattle come in by truck, and in the early days on the market, 99 percent and more were by rail. Times have changed and in the process the stockyards has had its face lifted and a complete rearrangement of the flow of livestock has been completed.

County Agent Has Smith-Doxey Cotton Program Applications

Application forms for group membership in the 1953 Smith-Doxey program are being sent to Mr. C. M. Huckabee, Coleman County Agricultural Agent, H. J. Matejowsky of the Abilene Cotton Classing Office said today.

Farmers who wish to join a Cotton Improvement Group and avail themselves of free classing and market quotation service shouldn't waste any time, Matejowsky stated. They should join a group before they plant their cotton.

After they're in a group, the elected group leader will make one application, with the assistance of the County Agent or local ginmer, covering all members. He will send it to the Abilene Cotton Classing Office.

Under the Smith-Doxey Act, Matejowsky explained, any group of farmers organized to promote improvement of cotton, which adopts a single variety, files an application, arranges for sampling, and meets certain other requirements, is eligible to take part. No fees are involved. Members then get their cotton classed free by the U. S. Department of Agriculture at the Abilene Classing Office.

After classing, a green card on each bale is returned to the farmer. This, plus the market news service, gives him a definite advantage in trading for he knows exactly what he's selling and how much it's worth. Also, Matejowsky added, he can even sell his cotton by presenting his green card to the buyer for examination in place of an actual sample.

1,500,000 4-H'ers Are Working For Community Good

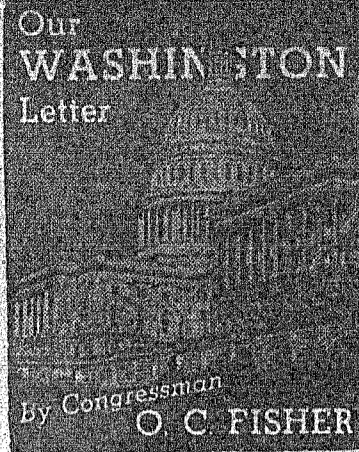

A million and a half 4-H boys and girls throughout the nation are engaged in community betterment programs of health, recreation and safety, according to Guy L. Noble, director of the National 4-H Committee.

"Through these nation-wide programs conducted by the Co-operative Extension Service," Noble said, "4-H'ers learn how to live healthfully, develop personal and community resources that make for improved leisure time and happiness, and curtail accidents by removing safety hazards."

In 1952, 763,000 members participated in 4-H Health Improvement, in which Kellogg Co. of Battle Creek, Mich., is awards donor; 200,000 received training in 4-H Recreation and Rural Arts, with incentives provided by United States Rubber Co., and 500,000 took part in 4-H Safety activities, with special recognition offered by General Motors.

Awards for outstanding 4-H records of achievement in the programs include medals of honor, all-expense trips to the 1953 National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, and college scholarships. County Extension Agents will furnish complete information on the programs.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

An atomic bomb, exploded more than 2,000 feet in the air releases a huge thunderous roar, and the brilliant colors remind you of a million rainbows all rolled and whipped and stirred into a small ball. There, in one split second, the equivalent of more than 30,000 tons of TNT is exploded. Several million degrees of heat is generated. Wind at a velocity of several hundred miles per hour is released.

At the invitation of the Atomic Energy Commission, I went to Nevada last week to witness one of these tests attended by several members of Congress and scientific and military experts. I saw retired General Ira Eaker at the test scene.

Observers were seated several miles away, on a hillside overlooking Frenchman Flat, an old lake bed. The previous day we inspected "Ground Zero", the target. The object of the test, one of the most powerful ever set off in this country, was to obtain data on the effect of such an explosion on military and civilian targets. To obtain needed data various buildings were constructed at a variety of distances, old trucks and other equipment was left in the area, spans of railroad trestles were erected. Even a small forest of huge trees were transplanted in order to study the effects there.

At precisely 8:30 a. m. the explosion occurred. A group of planes were far above, and then minutes before the flash the announcer on the loud speaker checked the seconds — 15, 10, 5, one — and then came the huge flash and roar! Some 20 seconds later the sound reached us — that is, the sound of the explosion proper. But at the very split second the explosion occurred, a heat wave was felt, just enough to sting a bit.

After the flash, I removed my dark eye protectors and beheld the ball of fire as it went through violent convulsions, rolling grotesquely in the skies amid thunderous rumblings. Picking up a tremendous amount of dust and sand from the desert floor, the detonation soon formed a bell-shaped cloud. The atomic cloud soon rose high toward the stratosphere where 7 minutes after the blast two F-80 jet drone airplanes, loaded with white mice and monkeys were sent into the atomic cloud by remote control at a height of 25,000 feet. Later we were told they showed signs of severe radiation effects. This will enable scientists to learn more about the effects of radiation.

Later we inspected the target area and observed the results. Hundreds of electronic recording gadgets had been erected. Some 200 cameras, operate by remote control, and other test devices had been in use.

As you view the scene of the explosion of this awful weapon, you are reminded of the fact that a similar bomb, perhaps about half as powerful, killed 70,000 people at Hiroshima.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON-SERMON

The practical distinction between "Mortals and Immortals" will be discussed in the Lesson-Sermon on that subject to be read in the Christian Science churches Sunday. "To be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace" (Romans 8:6), is the Golden Text.

This distinction is brought out in this selection from the Christian Science textbook which will be read: "In Science man is the offspring of Spirit. The beautiful, good, and pure constitute his ancestry. His origin is not, like that of mortals, in brute instinct, nor does he pass through material conditions prior to reaching intelligence. Spirit is his primitive and ultimate source of being; God is his Father, and Life is the law of his being" (p. 63).

Man's inherent goodness as the child of a perfect Father-Mother, God, the source of health, happiness and peace, is the theme of the Lesson-Sermon which includes this Biblical citation:

Scripture: I and II Thessalonians. Devotional Reading: Revelation 3:14-22

End Of The World

Lesson for May 17, 1953

THE first part of the New Testament to be put into writing was not any one of the gospels; it was an epistle. Which one, is not absolutely certain; but it may very well have been the pair of letters Paul wrote to the Thessalonians. There is much too much in them for all of it to be put into one Sunday school lesson. One thing certainly seems very modern: the Thessalonians, and perhaps Paul too, were under the impression that their times were the last times. The end of the world seemed to be right around the corner. That was nearly 2,000 years ago. But what with the A-bomb and now the H-bomb, it looks as if this ancient fear might not be off-center at all nowadays. It is worth while to think—What if this year 1953 really is the last chapter in history?

God Has His Plans

One thing does seem clear from the Bible, whatever else people may quarrel about: The end of the world will be brought about by God, not man. It is quite possible, as the most distinguished scientists tell us, that any one H-bomb will totally and instantly destroy life in a circle of 300 square miles. But this earth is a large one, and there aren't enough H-bombs to carpet the whole place. The civilized nations, so-called, may blow each other off the map; but there will be a lot of uncivilized ones left that don't have money for H-bombs and couldn't even spell the word. "Civilization as we know it" can be destroyed by man; but not the heavens and the earth. This is not to call the H-bomb a trifle; its use would be the most colossal evil ever devised at one stroke by mankind. But while the use of it might well be the last chapter for all readers of this paper, there are people who can't read (in Patagonia for instance) who would scarcely know the thing had been dropped. When God is ready to bring the whole story of man to an end, he will do it. Men will not.

Suppose This Is It?

St. Francis of Assisi, such a universal Christian that both the Roman Catholic church and the Salvation Army have claimed him for their own, was once asked, while he was hoeing in the garden, "What would you do if you knew the world was coming to an end this afternoon?" His answer was: "I would go on and finish this hoeing." Paul had to deal with this problem in the Thessalonian church. His first letter to them got them to thinking the end of all things must be right around the corner. So a good many of them decided there wasn't any use in working any more. They quit their jobs, they sat around or visited one another's homes and all they talked about was, "When will it be?" Paul's advice (besides telling them the end was not as near as they thought) was to get jobs and stay on them. It was to these people that he made his famous remark, "If any one will not work, let him not eat." (II Thess. 3:10.) Suppose the end of all things is really near? Suppose Christ came in glory to your town before Sunday? Which would be better to be found just sitting around, or steadily doing whatever duty might be yours at the time?

The End of the World

After all, what does the "end of the world" mean, practically? It means that you and the world part company; it vanishes before your eyes. Whatever world you exist in from that moment on, it will not be this one. Now it makes small difference whether the world folds up and leaves you, or whether you fold up and leave the world. One thing is sure: whichever way it is, you and this world, this world of day and night, of sin and suffering and saintliness, this world of animals, vegetables and minerals—you and this world are going to part company, and you are going to live long enough to see that day. The big question is not the nearness or the farness of that day. The question is: What are you going to put into the time between now and then? If you will look around you, you will see many evidences that those who went before you made wise plans and did good deeds not only for their own time but for yours as well.

to confuse indictment by a grand jury with a court conviction for a crime.

This misconception is unfair to anyone who becomes the subject of a grand jury investigation. Justice, in the United States, is based on the theory that a man is innocent until proven guilty, and public opinion should withhold its verdict until the courts have had an opportunity to determine guilt or innocence.

An indictment is simply a written accusation presented by a grand jury to the district judge. It charges some person or persons with a crime. It is not a conviction. When a grand jury indicts a person it merely af-

So the People May Know

Counties and incorporated cities and towns are required to publish the facts about proposed bond elections.

"Notice of such election," says the law, "shall be given by posting a substantial copy of the election order in each of the election precincts of such county, city or town, and also at the county courthouse if for a county election and at the city hall if for a city election. Such notice shall also be published on the same day in each of two (2) successive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation published within said county, city or town, the date of the first publication to be not less than fourteen (14) days prior to the date set for said election. The provisions of this article shall control over any city charter provisions to the contrary . . ."

The statutes specifically require publication of notice in connection with county road bond elections as follows: "If the proposed issue of bonds and levy of taxes is for the entire county, notice of the election shall be given by publication in a newspaper published in the county for three successive weeks, if there be one."

INSECTICIDE EFFECTS ON SOIL

How often and for how long can some of the new chemical insecticides be applied to the land without damaging crop yields?

The answer to this serious question is being sought by both Texas and federal plant pathologists. Their eventual conclusions may bring about a rearrangement of crop spraying procedures.

After five years of working with a wide range and amounts of insecticides, including excessive dosages, some chemicals have been found to remain surprisingly toxic in the soil. The effects of others were relatively mild. An unusually heavy dosage of a popular brand was applied on a test plot of one acre in 1945. To date, the insecticide has lost very little of its toxic effect. We also know now that smaller amounts applied to crops as needed to control insects accumulate in the soil over the years.

The crops found most sensitive to this build-up in the soil are truck garden produce. Growth of some of these crops was reduced as repeated heavy dosages accumulated in the soil, or as increasingly large amounts were applied.

These research findings indicate that heavy continuous use on the same land of the more stable insecticides may not be a good practice. The farmer should be especially careful to avoid careless, excessive, or improper use of chemicals.

DDT, the first and most widely used of the post-war insecticides, was studied more extensively than others. It was found that an application of about 30 pounds per acre per year could build up soil accumulations in 5 years that would damage the more sensitive plants.

Limited trials showed technical BHC to be less stable and lasting than DDT, but because of its high toxicity to plants in the soil, it is capable of forming damaging accumulations if used too frequently at heavy rates. Toxaphene and parathion, however, were found to be so unstable in the soil that they are not expected to accumulate to a harmful degree if recommended practices are followed.

Until further tests are completed, farmers are strongly urged to strictly follow instructions set forth by manufacturers of insecticides. Any chemical can be a boon or curse to agriculture, depending upon how it is used.

To Arkansas And Back

Your publisher still has a liking for travel once in a while, and occasionally the unexpected happens, and someone invites us to join them on a trip, some we accept and others we turn down for obvious reasons. Last week we had an opportunity to join a party from Bangs and make a trip to Arkansas. We accepted.

Leaving here Thursday morning and keeping up a steady pace through the day, we found ourselves in Fort Smith, Ark., where we spent the first night. Friday, we drove to Clarksville, where the other party inspected several pieces of property, some he had located thru correspondence with agents, so we turned him over to the agents and busied ourself with such as we could find for entertainment and, of course, some amusement.

The first place we visited was a printing office. We thought we never would get out of there, but after going through the plant, looking at the machinery, with the editor, the operator, the reporter, the bookkeeper and the janitor, following me around to ask questions, and we had managed to find answers to most of them, not being sworn to truth and veracity, we care not to repeat or record some of the answers we gave to those questions. Among the first ones, and one that caused quite an outbreak of laughter, came from the young news gatherer, who wanted to know, "If It Was A Fact That All The Biggest Liars In The World Lived In Texas?"

As our wits took care of us very well, we replied that, "We didn't know, but Texas was the largest state in the Union, and we operated on a rather large scale, and no doubt, some of our adapted sons and daughters from other states were pretty good liars, judging from what we run into in other places."

We had lots of fun, and the forenoon was soon passed. The party with me decided soon afternoon that he was a victim of somebody's lies, so we departed for Fayetteville, where we found lodging in a tourist court cabin for the night.

Our party went out early Saturday morning to inspect some other places, under other agents but he came in soon afternoon all hot and bothered, wanting to try some other place. We checked out and drove over to Siloam Springs, where he was supposed to have a friend that wanted to show him a place or two, and we took lodging in a tourist court, supposedly for the weekend, thinking we would get a long and much needed rest, but instead of our party spending the week end with his friend, they settled their affairs in a few hours Saturday afternoon, and about seven o'clock, here they came, checking out ready to go back to Fayetteville.

Sunday morning we drove down to Alma to spend the day, during which the party contacted another agent and spent the afternoon, inspecting other places he thought he might be interested in, but to no avail.

Before retiring Sunday night, we suggested that since he had seen so many places, had out several offers, and was now ready to mark time, waiting developments to see what the outcome might be, would it not be well to drive back home Monday, dream a few nights and do some planning, and then go back to Arkansas and see what he could do. To which he agreed, and we started for home early Monday and arrived about seven o'clock the same day.

We could write several pages about the trip, but guess that is all for now.

QUESTION

What is the cause of and treatment for dry, rough, scaly skin?

ANSWER

A rarity in children, occasionally in teen-agers, more common in adult women, frequent in middle age, especially women, often in the elderly and again mostly with women. Occasionally it is inherited, but the most common cause is a diet high in white sugar, white bread and biscuits, much fried foods and peeled vegetables. It is a diet deficient in vitamins, mainly A, B complex and C. All of these are readily destroyed by boiling, frying and peeling. The immediate treatment is concentrated doses of the same by mouth. The response will be more apparent if given by shots but tentimes the cost. Very few people need shot therapy. Usually by the time definite skin changes are noted marked deficiencies exist which take four to six months to restore to normalcy though the patient may feel cured in six weeks. The ultimate cure is a well balanced diet, regular nourishing meals, few snacks, soda pops, choice tid-bits, sandwiches, lunches, coffee and toast breakfasts, candies, cookies and pastries.
