Senior Class Enjoys Trip

The seniors of Santa Anna High School left on their trip to Galveston May 7, at 8:00 p. m. After a long sleepless journey, they arrived in Galveston about 5:30 a. m. May 8th. They had breakfast at a very modern, up-to-date restaurant, where the operator complimented the actions of the group very highly. After breakfast, the group was admitted to rooms in the Zig Zag Inn, overlooking the Gulf.

Soon seniors could be seen wading and splashing in the rough, salty water of the Gulf. During their stay, the seniors swam, rode bicycles and roller-coasters and visited most of the sights of the city. One day they rode a ferry across a channel of the Gulf. Many blisters were received from the prolonged stay near the water.

On Sunday morning the group boarded the bus for the long journey home. They stopped by Houston and the San Jacinto Battle Grounds. They visited the Battleship, Texas, and the San Jacinto Monument and drove by the Shamrock Hotel in Houston.

Sunday night they arrived home. They were a tired but happy group with memories of a senior class trip to carry on through life.

Rev. Hubert Crain of Ferris, came Tuesday and took his mother, Mrs. T. M. Hays, Sr., home with him for a visit.

Senior Class Prophecy

By SHIRLEY HALE

Faculty, friends — and others, through, er, hidden talents, I have managed to find a newspaper of the year 1963, and I have taken down a few notes on the things which I thought might be of interest to you.

It is a national newspaper you will note — the Hale Tribune, but that is where our names seem to be these days. — er, Hale is pronounced with an "a".

The headlines of the day read, "U. S. President McClellan Operated on By Famous Surgeon, Tommy Bailey." Poor Billy, I do hope he gets better. It looks as if he would have known that the last horse veterinarian Tommy operated on died.

Further on I read that T. J. Clark is a very rich man. He used to work in a bank.

Over in the entertainment section, I read where Bobbie Jean is playing a starring role on the radio program "The Tom Howard Show."

Edgar Bergen announces in this issue that he has hired Don Davis to take Charlie McCarthy's place as his leading dummy.

I also read where Marie Wilson is suing Sandra James for stealing her part on the show, "My Friend Irma."

Hmm, I find here that Charles Hosch and Melvin Pollock are still playing games. This time it's cops and robbers. They're known now as Policeman Pollock and Hoodlum Hosch!

On the sports page I read where the Donnie Simmons' Company is now manufacturing a type of basketball that, when it is worn out as a basketball, can be ground up and made into hamburgers.

Here is another item that may be of some interest to some of you sports fans: "There will be a woman's wrestling match on Friday, May 2, 1963 between "Bonecrusher Beulah", known by old-timers as Wanda Hodges, and "Hideous Hannie", known by old-timers as Faye Parks.

Royce is a poet and all the world knows it (—but that's not what the paper said! — That's for security purposes.)

Well, here is society for you. It seems like Peggy and Betty have always been together. Well they still see quite a bit of each other — they're married to Siamese Twins now.

Gary is the great artist in our class. I came across some pictures of his most recent paintings — but I don't think I'd better show them to you!

Shirley Lewellen is a woman taxi-cab driver now. It's just her way of reconverting people.

Dennis has really gone ahead with his singing. His most famous is something called "D-U-Z Does Everything!"

Speaking of music, Kenneth is one of the Army's greatest musicians, — the one they wrote the song about called "Oh, How I'd Like to Murder the Bass-Horn."

Anabelle is following the Air Force now. I read where she and her husband were back in Texas. — A General Tuna-Fish, I believe — or was it Salmon? Mary Frances is the great in-

DON DAVIS
Class Valedictorian

Don Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Davis, entered the Santa Anna Schools in September 1941 and has continued his entire school career here. His four year average grade in the high school was 94.61, the highest of his class. Don also is an outstanding member of the Santa Anna Mountaineer Band.

inventor in our class. She's invented a device to keep teachers from noticing when you fall asleep in class.

Jimmy Lee is the henpecked husband in our group. When he's not walking the baby at night, he's teaching home-making at T.S.C.W.

Speaking of old married men, here's another for you. Donald Ross Williams. I read where he had recently married some old girl called Marilyn Monroe.

Carolyn is a great TV dancer now. Her sponsor is the Billowing Bubble Bath Co.

"How to Train Husbands and Influence Brats" was the subject of a lecture given recently by the now famous marriage counselor, Billie Ruth Woods.

I see where the farmer of the year, Charlie Ray Scarborough, has been arrested on charges of driving the clouds from over his neighbor's property onto his and throwing dry ice on them.

As for Rilda, well, I don't know just who the poor guy is, but — Rilda's a farmer's wife!

I see where a movie is being made about Delma Blair's fabulous family. The name of it is "Cheaper By The Two Dozen."

La Dell Hall is one who started out to show everyone how inexpensive it is to live in the city. She had a grand time and just think! She's got six more months of it! That's what the judge said — "Six months or $600!"

Here is an announcement of a circus coming to town. Faye, Mrs. Nell and Viola are the Commencement Exercises for the Santa Anna High School Senior Class will be held in the school auditorium Friday night, May 22, beginning at 8:00 p. m. Don Davis, valedictorian, will deliver the principal address of the evening, entitled "The Answer to our Challenge." Peggy Ford, salutatorian, will give her address, "The Challenge of Our Day" immediately after the invocation by Rev. Jack Payne. Five of the highest ranking students in the class will deliver short addresses, all titles coming under the head of "Tomorrow—A Challenge To American Youth." These students, in order, are: Charles Scarborough, Donnie Simmons, Dennis Farmer, Bobra Garrett and Shirley Hale.

Cullen N. Perry, principal, will present the awards and Supt. R. K. Green will present the class. Diplomas will be presented by Ozro Eubank, president of the school board.

Third high student of the senior class is Donnie Simmons. He came here from Bangs in March of this year and his four year average is 92.12. Charles Scarborough's average is 91.45; Dennis Farmer, 90.46; Shirley Hale, 89.19; Bobra Garrett, 89.12; Annabelle Price, 89.06; Delma Drake, 87.9; Rilda Stephenson, 87.8; and Faye Parks, 86.0.

Class officers are: President, Billy McClellan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester McClellan; Vice-President, Annabelle Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Collin Price; Secretary, Rilda Stephenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Stephenson; Treasurer, Faye Parks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Parks; Reporter, Peggy Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Ford; Parliamentarian, Melvin Pollock, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Pollock; and Historian, Dolores Wise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Wise. Class sponsors are Mrs. Earl McClellan and Mr. Roy Matthews.

PEGGY FORD
Class Salutatorian

Peggy Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Ford of the Trickham Community attended school at Trickham until her seventh grade, when she entered the Santa Anna Schools. Her four year average in high school was 93.69, the second highest in the class. Peggy is also the reporter for the senior class.

starring attractions! You'll find them in the freak section.

1963 is a year quite advanced in science and astronomy. Jimmy Regian is now the world's leading space pilot for the U. S. Navy. They say he's one sailor with a girl on every planet!

Here is an announcement that the Lazy Ann Shetland Pony Ranch has hired two animal trainers, Dolores Wise and Betty Lois Scott. To be specific, their job is to teach the ponies how to really prance!

I see a familiar face among the Santa Anna Senior Class of 1963. Why, it's Joe Vinson! Seems as if he still spends his time being a ladies' man in Coleman, Santa Anna, — and Trickham!

PTA Gets Stung by a "Bee"

The local PTA is feeling sheepish today. Seems they complained the youngsters weren't learning enough. Said they couldn't even spell. So the kids challenged them to a spelling bee.

"I was captain of the PTA'ers," "Doc" Brown told me. "Both teams made the first round just fine. But on the second round Speedy Taylor went down on 'efficiency.' Then his boy Chip, who happened to be next on the school team, rattled it right off. From then on it was murder!"

So now "Doc" says that the whole PTA is thinking of signing up for night school!

From where I sit, it always pays to look and think before you leap to conclusions. Take those folks who would deny me a temperate glass of beer without a moment's thought. They wouldn't want me to interfere with their personal preferences for, say, buttermilk. It's a good idea to think twice before you "spell out" rules for your neighbor.

So the People May Know

If the city or county proposes to hold an election for the cancellation of unsold bonds, notice of the election must be published in a newspaper.

Price Daniel's book of Texas Publication Laws quotes the pertinent statute as follows:

"Any incorporated city or town in this State, including cities incorporated under the Home Rule Provisions of the Constitution and Laws of Texas, which has heretofore or may hereafter vote in favor of or execute bonds which have been or may be unsold for a period of ten (10) or more years after the same have been or may be executed, may revoke and cancel such bonds at an election called by the governing body of such city or town upon its own motion or upon petition of not less than ten per cent (10%) of the qualified property taxpaying voters voting in the last preceding city election, shall order an election to determine whether or not such bonds shall be revoked or cancelled. None but qualified taxpaying voters may vote at such an election. Such election shall be ordered and held on a date stated in such order not less than twenty (20) nor more than thirty (30) days from the date of such order and notice thereof shall be given for fifteen (15) days before such election by publication of the notice thereof in some newspaper published in such city or town and such election shall be held and conducted in the same manner and form as required in elections to authorize the issuance of such bonds . . ."

Chevrolet trucks must be the best buy!

This year—for the 12th straight production year—truck users are buying more Chevrolet trucks than any other make. That couldn't be true unless Chevrolet trucks offered more of what you want.

Already, 1953's official sales figures tell a remarkable story of clear-cut and decisive preference for Chevrolet trucks. But, this is not surprising, for truck users everywhere are discovering how far ahead of all others Chevrolet trucks really are.

They are discovering things like the tremendous new power in advanced Loadmaster engines in heavy-duty models . . . the remarkable gasoline economy . . . the extra ruggedness and strength of heavier, more rigid frame construction. And, in addition to all these advantages, the Chevrolet line lists for less than any other trucks of comparable size and capacity. So, before you buy any truck, stop in and see us.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

LESSON-SERMON

The true relation of Soul, God, to body will be discussed in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Soul and Body" in Christian Science churches Sunday. The Golden Text is from II Corinthians (3:18): "We all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord."

The Lesson will bring out that one's sense of God molds his appearance and his experience, for man is God's image. From Psalms will be read: "Let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us: and establish thou the work of our hands upon us; yea, the work of our hands establish thou it" (90:17).

The Christian Science textbook by Mary Baker Eddy says: "Soul, or Spirit, is God, unchangeable and eternal; and man coexists with and reflects Soul, God, for man is God's image" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, p. 120).

You can always depend on a streetcar having seats vacant, when it's coming back from where you are going.

The man who likes a good cigar after a meal probably smokes about one a month, nowadays, and that providing he can find one.

Senior Class Will

By CHARLES SCARBOROUGH

Upon behalf of my client, the class of 1953, of Santa Anna High School, of the city of Santa Anna, State of Texas, U. S. A. I hereby give our last will and testament. We, the class of 1953, in 39 individual and distinct parts, being about to pass out of this sphere of education, in full possession of a crammed mind, well trained memory and almost super-human understanding, do make and publish this our last will and testament, hereby revoking and making void all former wills or promises by us at any time heretofore made, or mayhap carelessly spoken, one to the other, as the thoughtless wish of an idle hour. And first we do direct that our funeral services shall be conducted by our friends and well-wishers; that the funeral be carried on with all the dignity and pomp that our worth, our merit, our attainments and our positions as seniors must certainly have deserved.

As to such estate as it has pleased Fate and our own strong hands and brains to win for us, we do dispose of the same as follows:
Item:

We give to our beloved Supt., Professor R. K. Green, our sincere affection, our deepest reverence, our heartiest gratitude and the whole unlimited wealth of our eternal memory.
Item:

We give and bequeath to our beloved faculty all the amazing knowledge and startling information that we have furnished them from time to time on our examination papers. We give them liberty to give out such of this information that they feel the world is ready to receive. We trust they will also feel at perfect liberty to make use of all such bits of wisdom and enlightenment for the education of the classes to come after us.

Item:

The following may seem but trifling bequests, but we do hope they may be accepted, not as worthless things lavishly thrown away because we can no longer keep them, but as valuable assets to those who may receive them, and a continual reminder of the generosity of heart displayed in our free and full bestowal:

1st. To Joe Barnes, the position of Editor in Chief of the annual as surrendered by Rilda Stephenson. The Mountaineer of '53 will never be duplicated.

2nd. To Ann Tatum, Annabelle Price's position of head cheerleader.

3rd. To Dean Bass, Faye Park's senior class ring.

4th. To Floyd Stiles and Winona Bradley, Shirley Lewellen's gift of gab.

5th. To Charles McClellan, Gary Patterson's height and his big muscles.

6th. To Boyd French, Melvin Pollock's voice, muscles and brain. He was afraid Boyd would get the big-head if he gave him his football ability.

7th. To Coach Pollard, (by special request) Wanda Hodges' small nose.

8th. To Mrs. Ainsworth, Joe Vinson's wonderful knowledge of English, his exceedingly cute disposition, and his excellent sense of humor.

9th. To next year's football team, Coach D. W. Behrens, as willed by the senior football players.

10th. To Mr. Pettit, Charles Hoshch's excellent knowledge of agriculture.

11th. To Donald Trull, Jimmie Lee Robinett's speed and his position on the football team.

12th. To Joey Bryan, Mack Baucom's knowledge of math and the mile run.

13th. Nothing — to no one — from Dennis Parmer.

14th. To Raymond Estes, Jimmy Reglan's art and music ability.

15th. To Jay Steward, Donnie Simmon's good manners and his ability in playing basketball.

16th. To Vonnie Adkins, Bobra Garrett's bow legs.

17th. To Evelyn Shields, Billy McClellan's typing speed and accuracy.

18th. To Nancy Jo Haynes, and Ann Blanton, Betty Mitchell and Peggy Ford's giggles.

19th. To Kathryn Williams, Carolyn Lovelady's red hair.

20th. To Mr. Cullen N. Perry, Principal, all the memories of the good behavior of Royce McIver and Bill Jack Harris. Although they were often unjustly accused, they have no hard feelings toward anyone because they realize that anyone can make a mistake once in a while.

21st. To Burgess Stewardson, Kenneth Grant's hangerover.

22nd. To Patsy Rehm and (well) all girls, Don Davis' permission to visit him any time. If you have the money he has the time.

23rd. To Pat Williams, Shirley Hale's old bookkeeping papers. Pat should have memorized their contents by now because of the many times she has (hmmmm-) consulted them during class.

24th. To Jo Ann Dunn, Betty Scott's charming personality and her basketball ability.

25th. To Kay Steward, Eva Nell Hibbitts' earrings.

26th. To Don Pritchard, Tommy Bailey's ability to turn out lights during play practice.

27th. To all teachers, the memory of L. J. Clark's good behavior. We know that you shall never have a better student.

28th. To Mr. Gilkerson, the good wishes of the Senior band members. They know they will be hard to replace, but maybe in a few hundred years, there will again be a group of students who have so much talent.

29th. To Shirley Blair, Mary Frances Irick's ability to sleep in bookkeeping.

30th. To Lydia Tomme, Sandra James' attractiveness to boys.

31st. To Ola Mae Howington, Bobbie Jean Parlish's scatter-brained ideas about beans.

32nd. To June Little, Billy McClellan's sympathy for her scorched fingers received from typing so fast.

33rd. To all teachers, Charles Scarborough's apology for things he shouldn't have gotten caught doing.

34th. To Patsy Wagner, from her sister, Viola, all her old school equipment and the knowledge which she has gained in school.

35th. To Waymon Upchurch, Donald Ross Williams' attractiveness to girls.

36th. To Mareen Drake, Delma's ability to catch her a man for keeps.

37th. To Joan McClellan, Dolores Wise's position as Drum Major.

38th. To Patsy Moore, La Dell Hall's knowledge of English.

39th. To Neva Rehm, Mrs. Billie Woods' temper.

40th. To the freshman class that is to be — any overlooked sole of chewing gum which may be left sticking to the underside of our desks or the other hidden places around the school building. Sometimes we had to rid ourselves of this gum so hurriedly we couldn't pick the most choice spots.

41st. To Joyce Smith, Patsy Rutherford's ability to keep a cool head.
Item:

We declare the class of 1954 the real and rightful owner of all equipment and furnishings of this school which have not been destroyed by our industrious labor for knowledge.

Our Senior Dignity we shall retain for ourselves in our future lives. We trust that you will acquire a dignity of your own in the years to come.

We hope that the Class of 1954 will appreciate all this as deeply as we have done, that they may be their most precious possessions, as they have been ours.

All the rest of our property not disposed of herein, we give to Principal C. N. Perry, for his use and benefit absolutely.

And we do hereby constitute and appoint the said Principal sole executor of this our last will and testament.

In witness whereof, We, the Class of 1953, the testators, have to this will, written on one sheet of parchment, set our hand and seal this seventeenth day of April, Anno Domini, one thousand nine hundred and fifty-three.

My Conscience

Lesson for May 24, 1953

FOLLOW your conscience; but be sure you do not have the conscience of a donkey. This advice is old but still good. It is never right to go against your conscience; but it is very important to have your conscience right in the first place. Conscience is never quite automatic. It is not born in us so much as it is built-in. If it were born in us, that is to say if we were made so that we would never have to have any one explain to us the difference between right and wrong, and would always know by instinct just what is right in every situation, then not only would we all agree (which we don't), but if a child were brought up, say, by wolves, then he would know right from wrong just as unerringly as if he had been brought up in a Bishop's household. What is born in each of us is the capacity to tell right from wrong, just as we are born with the capacity for speech. We have to learn to talk; likewise we have to learn right from wrong. Conscience is also the capacity for knowing what is right without thinking about it. It is a kind of moral habit, just as walking is a balancing habit.

Dr. Foreman knowing what is right without thinking about it. It is a kind of moral habit, just as walking is a balancing habit.

I Am Not Alone

The best, the most reliable conscience in this world is the Christian conscience. A Christian has certain automatic moral attitudes; or rather these tend to become automatic with practice. Watch a trained first baseman catch balls thrown to him. He will tap the base with his toe without stopping to think or look around. He was not born with that habit, but he can learn it to perfection, and perfection comes with practice. Just as the athlete's habits are in line with the rules of the game, the Christian's moral habits—his conscience—will be in line with the principles of Christ. One of these principles is laid down by Paul in I Cor. 8:7-13. It is this: I should never act as if I were the only person involved. I must always think how my actions will touch other persons. I am not alone in this world; I depend on others and they on me. Will my action help to make others strong or will it make them weak?

My Body Is a Temple

Another Christian principle is laid down by St. Paul in I Cor. 6:18-20. It is this: My body is a temple of the Holy Spirit. To put that as boldly as possible: God makes his home in every Christian; that is where God especially lives, in this world. Now the more clearly we can remember that, the more intensely we can believe and appreciate it, the more God-like our lives will be. This does not mean we never have to stop and think. It does not mean we have an automatic conscience. It does not mean that whatever we may take a notion to do will be all right, since we are the children of God. What this does mean, as St. Paul preached and practiced it, is that by "practising the presence of God" we more and more reliably think, "What would Jesus want me to do? What would be the Christ-like thing?" A man of ordinary self-respect will not drag himself through the mud; but the Christian conscience shrinks from dragging the Holy Spirit through the mire.

Invitation to Think

How does all this work out in practice? The intelligent Christian reader is invited to do some thinking about this. Let us suppose there is a party and alcoholic drinks are served. The "polite" thing to do is just to do what most others do, or in other words count noses to see what is right. But what is the Christian thing to do? What other persons will be affected by my action, and how will my behavior affect them? Then what about the Holy Spirit within me? What would God have to say? Or again, thinking over his everyday habits—habits of speaking, thinking, acting—the Christian will ask: How many other people are involved in this habit of mine? Does it help them? Or does it get in their way, irritate them, rouse bad feelings in their minds? And what about God? Even if no one but God knows what I think, or what I do, what he thinks about it is the most important point of all. If I were God, what would I think of me?

Mrs. Robert Cash and Lynn of Texarkana, came Saturday night for a weeks visit with her mother, Mrs. Ora Hunter.

LEGISLATIVE PERMISSION REQUIRED FOR SUIT AGAINST STATE

Included among the measures passed by the current 53rd Texas Legislature are several Concurrent Resolutions permitting various individuals to file suits against the state. Applying to local situations only, they have been attended by very little publicity, and the majority of Texans are probably not even aware of their passage.

In fact, the average individual would seldom have occasion to ponder the question of whether the State of Texas can be sued on the same basis as a person or corporation. One of the prerogatives of sovereignty carried down from ages past into our present day laws is that of immunity from being sued. The State of Texas may not be sued without its consent.

The Legislature by a proper action may permit certain general types of suits to be brought against the state, under certain conditions and restrictions. Then, if a specific situation arises which is not covered by the general rules, the legislators are authorized to pass a special measure to permit suit to be brought.

Therefore, any person seeking to enforce a claim against the state through the courts must petition the Legislature for the necessary permission, unless his claim falls within some general category or type previously recognized by our lawmakers.

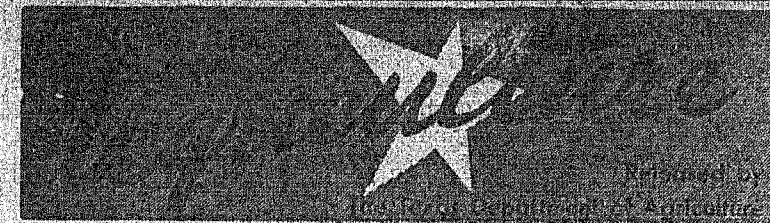

Recently passed legislation will allow suits to be brought against one state in a variety of cases, ranging from an action for damages for personal injuries suffered in a collision with a State Highway Department truck to a suit for monetary damages alleged to have been incurred in connection with the securing of a right-of-way for a farm-to-market highway.

Sometimes, however, suits may be brought against individuals holding office under the State of Texas and acting as agents of the state, but where the state itself is not the principal party to the suit, without first gaining consent to sue. There are numerous situations in which an individual officer may be sued with regard to the duties and functions of his office, and in which the state is not directly or substantially a party in interest.

Suppose you do obtain legislative permission to sue the state. What happens then? If suit is brought against the State of Texas, and the action is successfully prosecuted, you will be awarded a judgment against the state. Then, it's back to the Legislature to appropriate the necessary money with which the state may pay off the judgment.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

The best cure for love at first sight is to take a closer look.

ARGUMENT FOR PARITY

The farmer would be helpless in our modern economy if he did not have all the services which enable him to produce and sell in a profitable manner. One service which has been offered is a guarantee of a fair price for farm products.

This "guarantee" is the parity program—and it has had many ups and downs on the popularity scale of public opinion. Most of those who understand the workings of the program realize its value in maintaining a sound farm price structure. The majority of its opponents have a distorted picture as to its operation and costs.

When a farmer plants his crop, he starts production on goods which will not be ready for market for months or even years. In the meantime, economic or military events can send the sales price of crops soaring or crashing. The price of cotton, for example, will be more affected this fall by talks now going on in Korea than by any other single factor.

Parity price, then, is merely the farmer's equivalent of the laborer's minimum wage law. It helps assure him of a fair price for his time and labor, materials and money, utilized in making a crop.

If market conditions are favorable, he can sell for a profit. But if the market is temporarily gutted and the going price is below his profit margin, he can "sell" to the government at the parity price. As conditions improve and demand increases, the government places these products on the market and redeems the money paid to the farmer.

Opponents often say the program is too expensive. Actually, the cost of the parity program during the last 11 years was $14 million. This may seem high, but it includes the absorption of the $80 million loss on the potato program some years ago. Profits on sale of cotton and wheat and other parity products would have shown a net profit of more than $60 million if it were not for that one disastrous crop.

The $14 million is not a tremendous price to pay for stabilizing this nation's largest industry. In time, it will pay its own way. A realistic and practical parity program should and must be continued to prevent a recurrence of the economic collapse of the 1930's.

Investigations Being Made Into State Water Conservation

Austin — The University of Texas and State Board of Water Engineers are making a joint investigation expected to save considerable money for farmers, stockmen and small municipalities and to promote water conservation.

Many stock tanks and small lakes have been destroyed during rains because of inadequate spillways. The investigators will determine sound practices for passing flood waters from a filled reservoir to the stream bed below.

Practicing engineers in the State are financing the project.

Jack De Rusha A.D.A.N. in the Mediterranean Fleet, was scheduled to arrive at Norfolk, Va., on Tuesday, May 19th and leave for home on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lorn De-Rusha on the 20th. He is expected to arrive by the week end or before.

Our WASHINGTON Letter

By Congressman O. C. FISHER

The meaning of a disaster cannot be fully appreciated until it gets close to home. Our telephone rang all day on Tuesday of last week following the radio announcement Monday evening of the tornado which had struck in San Angelo. People wanted details, and, due to the cut-off telephone service, they were slow coming in. The American Red Cross, however, kept us informed and at intervals sent special messengers up with detailed reports as the tragic news was assembled.

To alleviate local suffering in cases of great disasters, the Federal government makes certain types of assistance available for the victims of such tragedies. The object of this is to supplement the efforts of the States and local communities where the burden is unusual and severe. The law permits the RFC to step into a community that has been struck and make 3% loans for the repair or rebuilding of homes, and 5% loans on similar business loans. Even churches and schools may be eligible for this type of aid.

There is provision under Civil Defense for direct grants to aid in reconstruction, provided a showing is made that the State and local agencies have exerted their own efforts. This program is in its nature supplemental to local assistance.

Then, of course, the American Red Cross lends it aid not only during and immediately following the storm, but during the reconstruction period when grants are sometimes made to assist needy people in rebuilding.

Here in Washington every agency, from the White House on down, has been contacted concerning the various forms of supplemental aid when the need is shown. We have been given assurances of solicitude and the promise of sympathetic consideration when the facts are in and the need for outside help is demonstrated.

Mrs. Seth Risinger came home from Bangs Monday from a 10 days stay with her sick sisters, Misses Verde and Kate Lewis. She returned to Bangs the same day for a longer stay with the sisters.

We are more discontented from failure to satisfy our desires than from failure to satisfy our wants.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Curry also visited the Davises on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe C. Brooke took her mother, Mrs. O. H. Terry to her home in De Leon on Sunday. Mrs. Terry had been staying with her daughter, Mrs. Delbert Young, who has been ill for sometime. Mrs. Terry visited in the Brooke home from Thursday until Sunday.

Control of Casebearer Urged At This Time

College Station — The pecan nut casebearer is no friend of the pecan grower. This small olive green worm annually takes a heavy cut from the state's pecan crop when left to its destructive way of living. Now is the time, says N. M. Randolph, entomologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, for producers in most areas of the state to start the control program.

After the insects hatch, explains the specialist, the small worms move down the twigs to the nut clusters and begin feeding on the buds below the cluster. This feeding process continues for four or five days and then the insect bores a hole into the pecan case and moves in side to destroy the kernel. To be effective, points out Randolph, control measures must be applied during a 10 to 12 day period. Once the worm enters the pecan, control is not possible.

The use of three pounds of 50 percent wettable DDT powder and six to eight pounds of wettable sulphur in 100 gallons of water is the spray recommended by Randolph. He says a thorough job of wetting every limb from top to bottom with the spray must be done. A power sprayer which will put out 20 to 35 gallons of the spray per minute at a pressure of from 200 to 600 pounds should be used.

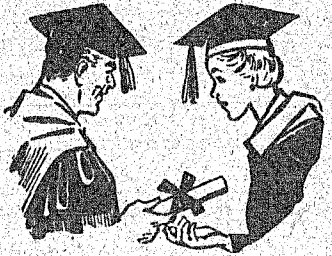

Timing and complete wetting emphasizes the specialist, are the two most important factors in the pecan nut casebearer control program. For more details on the control program, he suggests, a visit with the local county agent.

Opportunity For High School Seniors To Take Training In Graphic Arts

High school seniors throughout Texas and the Southwest this May and June are being urged to consider the career opportunities open to trained printers in the Southwest.

"The continuing industrial growth of this section of the nation has created new and greater demands for printing — demands which can be met only if the printing industry has the trained craftsmen we need," says Pat Taggart, business manager of the Waco, Texas, News-Tribune, and president of the Southwest School of Printing in Dallas.

"Naturally, as the need for printers has increased, there are more and more opportunities open for young men who have been thoroughly trained in the fundamentals of the craft,"

Taggart declared.

The Southwest School of Printing, of which Taggart currently is president, is the only school of its kind in the Southwestern United States.

The School is a non-profit institution representing an investment of nearly $250,000 and is owned by the daily and weekly newspapers and commercial printing establishments throughout the Southwest. The large, well-equipped school plant is located on the southwestern edge of Dallas.

"The sole purpose of the Southwest School of Printing is to train young men for profitable careers in the graphic arts industry," Taggart explained.

In the 16-month course offered by the printing school, trainees are taught the fundamen-als of hand composition, press-work and machine composition. In addition, each student attends a daily class in what the School's General Manager, Robert L. Gleason terms "Printer's English." Here students are taught English usage which a competent printer must know.

"The entire curriculum of the Southwest School of Printing is designed to achieve the sole purpose of training men so that they may become skilled craftsmen more quickly and economically," Gleason emphasized.

"Graduates of the School are not considered finished printers, but are recognized throughout the Southwest as men with solid, on-the-job practical training in the fundamentals of the craft."

Job opportunities for graduates of the School exceed the number of graduates "three or four to one," the General Manager reported.

"And there are real opportunities for young men trained here, Gleason declared. "Recently we received a letter from a former trainee who went from the School to a combination front and back shop job on a weekly newspaper — at an increased salary — and more recently bought and became publisher of his own weekly newspaper in Alabama.

Incomes of printers are well above the average of those Texans employed in other manufacturing industries, the Texas Employment Commission reports. In August, 1952, the average income in the printing industry, not considering income for management but only for hand and machine work, was $84.05. This was higher than any other manufacturing field, computed on the same basis, except one, and was $17.23 more per week than the average of all the state's manufacturing industries.

The opinion of Taggart and Gleason that printing training provides a solid foundation for advancement into other phases of the graphic arts or into other employment fields is shared by many printing executives.

One, a successful and well-known owner of a Dallas commercial printing plant, terms such training "most useful in other lines of work in the printing and publishing field."

"It will stand him in good stead if he wants to sell printing or become a sales manager for a printing firm or any of many allied fields such as engravers or paper concerns," he declares. "I personally never wanted to be anything except a printing company owner, but I am amazed at the number of successful men both in professions and in business who have had training in printing."

The newspaper and print shop owners of the Southwest School of Printing offer some scholarship assistance to qualified young men who desire to attend the school.

Most girls marry a struggling young man, struggling to stay single.

VACATION JOBS FOR MINORS OUTLINED BY U. S. OFFICIAL

Dallas — For the million or more American boys and girls who are expected to take vacation jobs after school closes this spring, the U. S. Department of Labor has a few friendly words of caution and advice.

Regional Director William J. Rogers of the Labor Department's Wage-Hour Division here says such minors should (1) be fair with themselves and (2) be fair with their employers.

Having a summer job is worthwhile, he says, but the far-reaching effects of an education, which boys and girls should continue when schools reopen in the fall, "far outweigh the money earned on a summer job."

Taking that first job in the adult working world is a pivotal point in the experience of most boys and girls, he says. Few satisfactions in life exceed the solid sense of "making good" on a job.

Deriving personal satisfaction from his work is an important part of an adolescent's growth. Failure cuts deep, and can set a pattern of frustration and maladjustment which will be costly to society and the individual, he says.

Therefore, he counsels, in fairness to himself a minor should find a job he can do — and then do it well.

Every state now has a child-labor law. Twenty-three states have set 16 years as the basic ages for employment. All but five states have set the 8-hour day as maximum for children under 16, and restrictions have been clamped on night work.

But, he adds, perhaps the most beneficial act protecting children from bad working conditions is the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act passed by Congress in 1938 and amended in 1949. It applies generally to employees engaged in interstate commerce or in the productions of goods for commerce.

Employers who wish to protect themselves from unintentional violation of child labor laws will require boys and girls to present age certificates before they go to work.

"In fairness to your employer," he tells minors, "don't falsify your age to get a certain job."

Such age certificates are desirable for minors under 18 in general employment and by those who are 18 and 19 if they work in hazardous jobs. Minor girls of 18 and 19 will need such certificates if they work for firms doing government contracts, he says.

In Texas such certificates of age are issued, as a public service, by the Texas Employment Commission. Birth certificates, church records, or insurance policies may be needed to establish proof of age.

Further information about legal minimum ages for employment in various jobs may be obtained from the Wage-Hour Division, U. S. Department of Labor, Dallas, Texas.

Army In Alaska Saves Nine Million

AUSTIN----- Cost consciousness applied by military and civilians alike in Alaska saved the American taxpayer $9 million in actual cash last year, according to information received at Texas Military District headquarters this week.

The largest saving--more than enough to pay the annual food bill for an Army division--was effected from repair and re-issue of equipment, the replacement of which would have amounted to $6 million, declared Col. E. O. Strouble, U. S. comptroller in Alaska.

Other economies were flat cuts or improved procedures such as reduction in gasoline consumption by $120,000, elimination of outdated reports, $42,090 and the streamlining of the Alaska depot operations by $154,768. Improved freight handling and re-use of lumber and shipping crates saved more than $130,000.

It is claimed the savings will recur annually and in some cases the savings will be increased.

Tom S. Cobb Takes
'round The World
Cruise In The Navy

Newport, R. I. April 11 (FHTNC) — Returning here today from Korean combat duty and around the world cruise are eight ships of Destroyer Squadron 20.

Ending the seven-month cruise aboard the destroyer USS Miller is Tom S. Cobb, torpedo-man's mate third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Cobb of Santa Anna, Texas.

Pausing briefly at Balboa, they stopped for a view of the Canal Zone and some fuel.

The squadron sailed into San Diego for their last contact with the United States for many months. There was also little stop-over time at Pearl Harbor and Midway Island as the ships pushed westward.

They arrived in Sasebo Harbor, Japan, the "Norfolk of Japan", just 35 days after the crews had watched Block Island R. I. fall astern.

The ships operated as screening vessels for fast carrier task forces. They acted as plane guards, radar guard vessels, and anti-aircraft defense ships.

During duty with the Blockade and Escort Force, the ships operated on both coasts of Korea. They took part in shore bombardment missions in the Haeju, Chodo, Songjin, Hungnam and Wonsan areas.

During the four-month tour with the U. S. Seventh Fleet, the squadron operated with warships of Great Britain, New Zealand, Canada, Australia, The Netherlands and the Republic of Korea Navies.

All varieties of temperature and weather were encountered, ranging from cold wind-blown snow storm to balmy semi-tropical zephyrs of Okinawa.

The homeward journey began and warm tropical days were a comfortable change from Korea's winter cold. No more overshoes, long-johns and heavy winter clothing.

Ships of the squadron visited Subic Bay and Hong Kong, then a jaunt down past Mindoro, Philippine Islands through Palawan Passage, the graveyard of many U. S. and Japanese warships, past Borneo and across the Equator into the Realm of Neptunus Rex.

After being properly initiated into the great sea-going fraternity, the new shellbacks were ready for liberty in Malaya. The ships paused briefly in Singapore and Penang.

Here, all hands saw many items of oriental interest, ranging from Singapore's Tiger Balm Garden to Penang's mal-odorous Snake Tower.

Again pointing their bows westward the ships laid a course for Colombo, lying between the Indian Ocean and the storm-swept Bay of Bengal.

The sailors were anxious to visit the next port-of-call, Bombay — a thriving port of India. Here many peculiarities of India and her peoples were noted as well as many myths forcefully discarded by actual inspection by keen seamen.

Look as they might, none saw the famous Indian rope trick. Reptiles, bazaars, beggars and all the color of this ancient land were, however, in abundance so few thought themselves cheated.

Next was Bahrein Island and Aden, ports offering an insight into the Middle East and its life and peoples. Vast areas of barren shore lands and shallow pearl-filled waters abounded in the area.

Native sailing ships of various types, including the lateen-rigged Babalh and Dangiyah of the Arab world were often seen darting along the coastline of the Persian Gulf.

The second canal passage of the cruise was into the waters of the Suez Canal and out into the "Mare Nostrum", the Mediterranean. Passing by Greek Islands the destroyers sailed around the boot of Italy, past Sicily and up to the Italian Riviera, Pompeii and Capri and a visit in Naples.

The best is always saved until last, or so it seemed as officers and crew roamed the French Riviera from Cannes to Merton, the ships snugly anchored in the picturesque fjord-like harbor of Ville-France on France's sunny Cot d'Azur.

Then on to Gibraltar, the last port lying between the destroyers and home.

Gaining a view of the "Rock", personnel inspected this famous fortress, guardian of the western Mediterranean for so many years. British products of all descriptions, memories of twangy dialects of all sections of the commonwealth and new found friendships with fellow seamen were what the "tin cans" and their crews carried westward from the fortress as the last stage of the cruise was begun — across the Atlantic to Newport.

Now it was really "Home Boys Home" for the ship. Pack those gifts, scrub that bulkhead, tidy-up about all decks, get that final haircut, run fresh bunting aloft; these and hundreds of other items took up the final days as they approached the eastern shores of the United States.

Then on the morning of the 11th of April came the look-out's cry "Land-Ho!" Yes, there was the New England coastline outlined in the early morning mist.

You can't treat the maid like a member of the family, now-a-days, and get away with it.

A confused world needs
your inspiration.

Hitch-Hiking For Armed Forces Out

Austin — There'll be no more hitch-hiking by GI's as the result of a new safety drive by the Department of Defense, the Texas Division of the American Automobile Association has been advised.

In one of its latest moves to reduce the traffic toll involving military personnel, the Army, Navy, and Air Force have issued policy directions banning military personnel from thumbing rides on public highways.

The ban does not apply to military personnel awaiting free rides at designated "pick up" stations, nor does it prevent them from accepting rides offered voluntarily by civilians but it does put a stop to out-and-out hitch-hiking.

The Defense Department gave no statistics, but it was pointed out that the traffic toll involving military personnel was sufficiently grave to bring on concerted action by the Services in an effort to improve the situation.

Among other measures, passes now issued to soldiers, sailors, airmen and marines read from "noon to noon" instead of midnight to midnight." at some posts, week end or three-day passes will not be issued unless the serviceman show a bus, train or plane ticket to his destination.

Detergents For Household Cleaning

There are detergents advertised on today's market for practically any cleaning job — from cutting stubborn grease on a mechanic's hands, to discouraging fleas on the family poodle.

They work too, in most instances, but State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox has this word of warning:

"Make sure you follow the directions to the letter." Otherwise you could end up with a discomforting case of "housewives eczema."

These so-called "soapless" products have found wide favor with housewives for washing clothes and dishes. No doubt a good bit of their popularity is due to high powered advertising, including the decorative boxes featuring happy ladies hanging the washing or putting up dishes which the product has cleaned all by itself.

Dr. Cox identifies the active ingredients of these products as chemical compounds which act to lower surface tension of water, making it more penetrating and able to get through grease and dirt to break it up and keep it from resettling.

Many brands contain special purpose ingredients, such as ammonium salt, which make the compound bactericidal.

A duck is supposed to sink like a rock in water containing some of these detergents, probably because the "wetter" water gets through the oil in the duck's feathers — which is the reason a duck is ordinarily water proof and able to float.

It stands to reason, Dr. Cox points out, that if these compounds will cut through grease and film, and there is no doubt that some of them will — they will also penetrate the natural oils of the skin and cause irritation and discomfort if the condition is neglected.

The health officer's recommendation? Keep some hand lotion within easy reach and apply it liberally after using detergents for household cleaning or laundry.

If travel broadens one, then some of the femmes we've seen lately must have been around the world.

Attempt To Record Frog Mating Calls

Austin — A University of Texas zoologist, Dr. W. Frank Blair, will seek basic facts about wildlife heredity by "interviewing" frogs and toads with a tape recorder.

He will transcribe the mating calls of various frog and toad species in the State to determine if differences in the calls of frog species, for example, are important reasons why several species of frogs can exist in a single swarm apparently without interbreeding.

Eisenhower's Pastor To Speak At Dallas Fair October 25th

son, pastor to President and Mrs. Eisenhower and many officials high in the national government, will be the speaker at the third annual Cotton Bowl Religious Festival Sunday night, October 25, final evening of the 1953 State Fair of Texas.

Dr. Elson has been pastor of the National Presbyterian Church in Washington, D. C., since 1946. This is the church attended by the President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

The festival has grown into one of the largest and most unusual events of its kind, State Fair President R. L. Thorton said. About 35,000 people attended the event last year, when Dr. Daniel A. Poling was the speaker. Dr. Norman Vincent Peale spoke at the first Cotton Bowl religious festival in 1951.

"We are indeed fortunate to have Dr. Elson as our speaker this year," Mr. Thorton said. "He is one of the nation's most prominent Protestant clergymen and is in much demand as a speaker."

"His address will be non-sectarian and non-political," Mr. Thorton pointed out.

Dr. Elson has traveled extensively in Europe and the Middle East and has preached in the leading churches of the British Isles. He visited Russia in 1936. He served as a chaplain in the armed forces from 1941 to 1945. Dates of the 1953 State Fair of Texas are October 10 through 25.

If the paper shortage continues they are going to have to make our shoes out of leather again.
