OF A COUNTRY EDITOR

BY JOHN C. GREGG

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR PROGRESS

Santa Anna has the best opportunity for progress that has been offered the city during recent years. What will we do with it?

Work is progressing nicely on the Santa Anna Tile Company building. When this company opens its door, there will be about 40 persons employed there. That will mean 40 persons who either are not employed at the present time or the bringing in to Santa Anna of enough persons to fill out their required number of employees.

The Santa Anna Tile Company will have the largest payroll of any concern in Santa Anna. Within a few months after their ceramic products get on the market, Santa Anna should become better known than it is at the present time.

What does all this mean to us? Santa Anna to grow. During the past few years we have not had a question but what a town either goes forward or backward. They never stand still.

We have the best supply of water that any town anywhere has, and this is of primary importance to the progress of a town. We have a good filtering plant in operation which makes our water second to none. Our water problem is solved and now is the time to look forward to other improvements very much needed in our town if we are to expect new people to come to our town.

Most anything can be done when it is necessary and all people concerned cooperate. But it takes cooperation and if we are to progress as we should we must have it.

The Community Chamber of Commerce voted unanimously to sponsor the annual city-wide beautification contest this year without the help usually provided by the city and other organizations. The contest is considered as now being underway and will end the later part of September.

The chamber decided to divide the town into four sections, making the railroad the dividing line between the north and south parts of town and 2nd St. the dividing line between the east and west part of town. Each of the four sections of the town will have a separate contest and first, second, third and fourth prizes will be awarded in each contest.

The contest will be under the direction of the Chamber's Beautification Committee, composed of Miss Ruby Harper, Mrs. Maggie Culver, Mrs. Sam Collier and Mrs. Blanche Grantham.

During the past years the City Council has donated money for the cash prizes in this contest and merchants have donated gardening tools and other items used to beautify premises around homes. The Community Chamber of Commerce has jointly sponsored the contest with the help of the city and the garden club. However, this year the CC of C is sponsoring the entire contest and has already allotted the money for the cash prizes. Some merchants have already donated garden tools and others are expected to in the near future.

Other activities of the Community Chamber of Commerce at their regular meeting last Thursday was to request the City Council to build a swimming pool and play ground park for children; pave all of South 2nd Street from the railroad to the high school and Jefferson Street in front of the New elementary school; and to build a municipal golf course on the city property at the city lakes. National Guard Activities

By M/Sgt. Charles W. Wristen

Our drill attendance for last Wednesday night was 2 officers and 38 enlisted men being present for drill here in Santa Anna. We have received 4 drill certificates from enlisted men that drill with units away from Santa Anna, thus bringing our enlisted attendance to 42.

With the loss of Sgt. James M. Pitts of Mineral Wells, our present strength is 2 officers and 47 enlisted men. Sgt. Pitts' discharge was effective on the 17th of May. He was discharged upon expiration of his term of service.

We leave here for Summer Camp on the 28th of this month. Our 15 days of Field Training this year will be at the same place as last year, that being North Fort Hood. Every effort is being made to boost our strength to 50 enlisted men before we leave for camp. We hope that this goal will be reached.

About 80% of our members made a week-end drill on the 23rd and 24th of May at Camp Bowie. The purpose of this training was to fire Individual Weapons. Saturday afternoon was spent with the boys firing the Carbines. Both the pistol and Carbine firing was carried out on Sunday. Some very good marksmanship was noticed during this training. The bivouac area for the night was on the range.

The first hour of training for Wednesday night was Tactical Training of the Individual with Sgt. Charlie R. Owen being in charge. For the second hour M/Sgt. Thomas Wristen had a class on Platoon Drill.

Funny ... Isn't It?

That so many business men will get up in the morning — refresh themselves with advertised fruit juices — clean teeth with advertised brush and tooth paste — shave with an advertised razor — wash with advertised soap — put on advertised underwear — advertised hose, garters, shirt, collar and shoes — seat themselves at a well advertised breakfast table — and eat advertised breakfast food and advertised bread — drink advertised tea, coffee or cocoa — light an advertised cigarette — with an advertised match or lighter — go to the office in an advertised car — give letters to a typist who types on an advertised machine — uses advertised carbons — signs the letters with an advertised pen — AND — TURN DOWN a proposal to advertise — on the ground that ADVERTISING DOESN'T PAY!

DRAFT LAW AND REGULATIONS

(Editor's note: Following is one of a series of articles concerning the Draft Laws and Regulations of the nation and information to men of draft age.)

Any young married man registered with a draft board had better be on the alert about any expected additions to his family. If his wife is expecting their first child, it is to his interest to tell the board about it immediately.

As long as he has only a wife to support, he's as eligible for a hitch in the Army as a single man. When he has a child in his family, or one has been conceived and not yet born, the law provides for his deferment, provided he tells the board about it before he is ordered for induction.

Draft regulations require that a man with an unborn child be deferred if he files with his board, prior to the time his induction order is mailed, certificate of a licensed physician that a child has been conceived.

If he does not take this highly necessary step and the draft board sends him an order to report for induction, then the draft board has no authority to defer him on the basis of the unborn child, Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state draft director, points out.

Neither does the state draft headquarters or the national draft headquarters have authority to interfere with his induction under such circumstances. Draft regulations would have to be amended to permit consideration of his deferment solely because of the unborn child.

Afterward, the law requires a man to report birth of children into his family, just as it requires him to provide the local board at all times with his latest change of address.

News Of The Christian Church

There was a very good attendance at the S. S. and church services at the First Christian Church last Sunday morning. All services are being held just the same during the illness of Bro. Wylie. Brother Oscar Boenlocke, an elder, conducted interesting services last Sunday, which included some very fine singing by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stacy of Trickham, who were visitors. They have promised to help us again. Other visitors were: M/Sgt. and Mrs. O. T. Stacy and Jane, from Parker, Florida and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Stephenson and son, Gary, of Abilene.

The congregation voted to have Bro. Phil Runner, pastor of the First Christian Church of Brownwood, to conduct our meeting, which will include the last two Sundays in July. Plans for this meeting are being made.

An encouraging number of the church members are "continuing steadfastly in the apostolic doctrine, the fellowship, the breaking of bread, and the prayers," and urge other members not attending, to do so.

Next Sunday, June 7th, as is usual on every first Sunday of the month, all the S. S. collection will go to the "orphans and aged" homes. Will you be there with a good offering?

OUR NEW TEXAS LAWS

By — John Ben Sheppard
Attorney General of Texas
(Editor's Note: First of a series of three articles by the Attorney General of Texas relative to laws recently enacted by the 53rd Legislature.)

The 53rd Legislature adjourned May 27 after being in session for 78 working days.

The purpose of these short articles is to set out the major changes made in our Texas laws by this Legislature.

The bills which have attracted widespread attention by press and radio will not be discussed; only the important changes in our present laws which have almost escaped notice will be given.

In addition, a breakdown of the overall results of the session will be presented for its informational value.

A number of laws were passed which have a direct effect upon agriculture. For example: cabbage and tomato inspection and standardization and the inspection of citrus fruits will now be administered by the State Commissioner of Agriculture using only Federal funds.

Public grain warehousemen will now be licensed by the State Commissioner of Agriculture.

The sale, as well as the shipping, of nursery stock will be watched closely because of past cases of fraud.

A livestock Commission agent will find that additional requirements are made of him before he may continue his business.

Reorganization laws were passed to weed out deadwood in our government. Ten boards which have not operated for years were abolished, along with two offices which have not been filled for some time. Seven funds of the Agricultural department were knocked out, but this still leaves 276 separate funds in the State Treasury.

Refund warrants in the State Treasury representing overpayment of fees by individuals may now be cancelled and the money used for State purposes when the person entitled to the money can not be found after four years.

The law requiring that State department heads be responsible for state property has been modified slightly to make it more workable.

In the field of local government, several changes were made.

A tax assessor and collector in smaller counties may maintain a branch office; an independent school district under general law may hire its own assessor - collector; delinquent taxes may be pledged by a school district as security for a loan; and a three-year average will now be used in computing the economic index of a county to determine the amount of State funds to be given to local schools.

Some of the problems that were presented to this session involved changes in the main body of our law — the State Constitution. At least five Constitutional amendments will be submitted to the vote of the people in November of 1954.

As this is written, one more amendment is on the Governor's desk. It would permit Texans in the regular armed forces to vote. Four more are on the way to the Governor.

Our Constitution has been amended an average of 3 times after each session of the Legislature since it was established as our primary law in 1876. In the Senate, a total of 15 Constitutional amendments were proposed, while the House proposed 46. The five which both Houses passed by a 2/3 vote and which have been approved by the Governor are:

- 1) require women to serve on juries;
- 2) 4 years elective terms of office for local officials;
- 3) use a 5 million dollar Confederate Pension Fund surplus for the construction of a State Court and State office building;
- 4) permit the creation of county hospital districts with taxing power;
- 5) make the teachers' retirement system interchangeable with the retirement system of State employees.

(The next article will deal with new game laws of special interest to sportsmen.)

Sheep & Goat Raisers To Meet June 6th

San Angelo — The third quarterly meeting of the directors of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association will be held in Marfa, Saturday, June 6th, Penrose B. Metcalfe, Association president, has announced.

The TSGRA has long followed the policy of holding its directors' meetings in different towns over the sheep and goat area of the state.

"We are mighty glad to be meeting in the Highland country of West Texas," Metcalfe said. "This country has been noted for its good cattle for many years and in recent years it has become a very important sheep area. Our highest percentage of membership is in this area."

Directors and other members will be brought up to date on efforts being made in Washington to give the wool producers a better break with foreign produced wool, he said.

The Marfa and Presidio County people plan a dance for the visitors Friday night and a barbecue Saturday noon.

South's Greatest Athletic Event In Abilene June 5-6

Abilene — The greatest athletic attraction in the South, the second annual National Inter-collegiate track and field, golf and tennis championships open a two-day stand in Abilene Friday and Saturday, June 5 and 6, with some 300 athletes to be represented.

Entries closed Sunday and General Chairman Oliver Jackson, track coach at Abilene Christian College, said that a record number of colleges were sending athletes to compete in one of the three divisions of the affair.

The sprint events, 100 and 220-yard dashes, loom as the top drawing attraction with over a half-dozen sprinters entered who have top times in the nation. Of the dozen or so entries, six have paced the century in 9.8 seconds or under, while an equal number run 215 or under for the 220-yard dash around a full curve.

At least 10 records are expected to tumble in the gigantic affair. The only ones expected to stand up are in the mile, two mile, high hurdles and javelin throw. The rest are all endangered. One record established last year, that by ACC in the mile relay, will not be shot at since the event has been discontinued.

Tickets for the three-ring athletic carnival are on sale at the Mackey Company in Abilene. Season ducats allowing the holder to all events sell for $2.50. In individual track tickets are $1.20 for the opening night and $1.50 for Saturday night's finals. All student tickets are 50 cents.

Mail orders for tickets are handled through the Abilene Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston West, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. West from Saturday until Monday, near Rockdale, where they are making their home with their daughter, Mrs. Maud Lindhorst. Both Mr. and Mrs. West are quite helpless, she in a wheel chair and he a bed patient but both are better than they have been.

LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK BY TED GOULDY

For Worth — Swine growers could enjoy a rueful smile Monday as hogs hit the highest peak since November 1948 at Fort Worth. Choice butcher hogs sold at $25.25 - 25.75. The joy was tempered by the fact that several years of low prices for hogs had thinned down the hog population to where while the price was good, the numbers were few.

Most hog breeders are frantically trying to re-stock since a short time ago it was announced smaller than the numbers of cattle on the nation's farms. The ideal relationship is generally conceded to be 20 percent more hogs than cattle in the country. Sows and pigs were steady, sows mostly $20 to $22 and feeder pigs from $21 down.

Cattle buyers were highly selective. The fed beeves were scarce and good and choice drylot fed cattle ruled strong. Grassers were weak to lower. Cows ruled steady to 50 cents lower. Bulls held steady.

Good and choice fat calves were steady but the common, plain and medium inbetween sorts sold weak to lower. High quality stockers were steady, but others draggy and plain stockers sold mainly for low grade killers. Demand for stocker cows was very narrow.

Good and choice fat calves drew $17 to $20, with common and medium butchers at $10.00 - 15.00. Culls $3.00 - 10.00. Good and choice stocker steer calves $16.00 - 20.00; good and choice stocker steer yearlings $15.00 - 19.00; heifer calves and yearlings $2 under comparable steers. Few stocker cows $10.00 - 14.00.

Good and choice fat Spring lambs $24.00 - 26.50; medium to good $18.00 - $24.00; cull and common $12.00 - $16.00. Stocker and feeder Spring lambs, shorn lambs and yearlings $12.00 - 18.00. Cull old crop lambs $8.00 - 12.00. Two-year-olds $10.00 - 14.00. Old wethers $8.00 - 10.50. Fat shorn old crop lambs and yearlings $17.00 - 22.00. Ewes $4.00 - 6.00. Old bucks around $4.00.

Scripture: II Corinthians 8:9. Propositional Reading: Luke 6:27-30.

Serve By Sharing Lesson for June 7, 1953

A FIELD of soy beans in North Carolina; 97 head of steers in Colorado; a calf and eggs in Blossom, Texas; 1500 boxes of apples in Washington, hogs in North Dakota and chickens in Wisconsin. What ties all these together? These and hundreds of other products grown on farms were "Lord's Acre" and "Lord's Livestock" projects last year.

Dr. Foreman

Thousands of people in every part of the nation have been joining in such plans for more than 22 years now. The idea is to dedicate to the Lord's service a field, some head of cattle, whatever the farmer or business owns or can grow.

The projects are varied; they are generally successful, but the greatest success has been in the happiness and satisfaction of those who have worked on these things.

Themselves First

The innumerable people who shared in dedicating their work in this way to God and his cause, have simply turned into action and experience what St. Paul laid down long ago to the church at Corinth. The Corinthian Christians were city people, not country people; but they were poor, not rich. Paul is urging them to give what they could, as they could; and in doing so brings out at least four principles of right giving.

First and foremost is that the best givers had first of all given their own selves to the Lord. The church has learned long ago that St. Paul was right. You can't expect big contributions or hard work from those who are still essentially selfish. You have to convert a man's heart before you can convert his money. And even if you gave God everything but yourself, you would not yet have given the very thing He wants most of all.

Sharing the honor

"They simply begged us to accept their gifts and so let them share the honor of supporting their brothers in Christ." So Phillips translates II Cor. 8:4. Paul is describing the way in which the churches up in Macedonia had contributed to what we would call the benevolent funds. Christian giving is all in the way the giver looks at it. If it is thought of as a burden, if it is thought of as something only the wealthy can rightly do, if it is thought of as something the preacher keeps begging for, a kind of chore at best, then of course the giving won't be much. It will be only enough to keep from giving nothing at all. But giving in the cause of Christ, for the use and help of God's people, is an opportunity, not a chore. There is all the difference in the world between the giver who says (in effect), "Well, if you must have something..." and the one who says, "Do let me get in on this."

The Lord Loves

The Bible does not encourage anyone to fancy that he can buy his way into God's favor. God's smile is not for sale. God loves a cheerful giver, even though He seldom turns away givers of any sort. A sour and selfish man might be high-pressure into gloomily squeezing a few dollars into the church budget, and those dollars will do some good; but the Bible does not suggest that God cares much for that sort of giving. Giving till it hurts may be good; but giving till it doesn't hurt is better! We remember Jesus' comment on the offering of the wealthy Pharisees and the poor widow. Is there any one who can think God loved her and them alike?

Carrying Through

So there are three principles of Christian giving: personal dedication, a sense of privilege in sharing God's work, and enthusiasm. As Paul puts it (again Phillip's translation): "Show that you can complete what you set out to do with as much efficiency as you showed readiness to begin." (II Cor. 8:11.) A good Lord's Acre project calls for more than enthusiasm in the springtime. It has to have hard work most of the summer. The work of the church, and indeed every undertaking for the welfare of mankind, is best carried on not by those who blow all their steam at once, but by those who save up some steam for the long steady pull. Long mileage is worth more than a flashy start.

couples will be taking marriage vows within the next few weeks. But the act of marrying another person does not give you the authorization to take control of his property.

Generally speaking, each spouse has the right to control and dispose of his or her own separate property. The separate property of a husband or wife includes property owned by either before marriage, and that which is acquired by either after marriage by gift or inheritance. Any other property until the contrary is clearly proved.

Aside from the ordinary community estate, there is a class of property known as the wife's "special community," which in-

POULTRY POINTERS

Few farms are complete without at least some chickens — both fryers and layers. Even though commercial flocks may not be practical, the few extra pennies earned in egg production or the money saved in raising meat for the frying pan really add up in a year's time. In order to successfully raise chickens for home consumption, or for the market, it is important to look after the "little things" as well as the bigger problems. It may pay dividends to spend a few minutes checking on these profit leaks.

Hang up those empty feed sacks or pile them neatly on a rack. This is the best way to keep used bags in good condition. A few pains in opening sacks so as not to tear them will pay off.

Don't allow birds to waste feed. Use feeders that prevent waste and fill them only 1/2 to 2/3 full.

Make a practice to wipe off light bulbs and reflectors in the pens every so often. It is surprising how much light is lost simply because bulbs and reflectors are filmed over.

Check up on the favorite laying haunts of your chickens. Eggs are lost because birds don't lay them in the nests. Dark corners, under the nests and roosts, should be wired off so birds just can't lay in those hard to get at places where eggs are either broken or get dirty.

Work out a plan to cull and sell loafers if you are trying for good egg production. Non-laying birds are lost to the market because the farmer didn't get rid of them while they were in good condition.

A good poultryman is first of all a good manager. No matter how big or how small an operation he has, mass production can never substitute for good management.

The Texas Department of Agriculture publishes a poultry and egg bulletin each day in Austin. A written request will bring this service to you free of charge. The request should be addressed to: Market News Service, Texas Department of Agriculture, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas.

So the People May Know

When a hearing is to be held on the creation of a road district, notice must be published in the counties included in the proposed district.

The law provides that: "... The county clerk shall forthwith issue notice of such time and place of hearing, which notice shall inform all persons concerned of their right to appear at such hearing and contend for or protest the ordering of such election. Such notice shall set forth in substance the contents of the petition, and shall give the name of each county proposed to be included within the road district. The clerk shall execute said notice by posting true copies thereof in five public places, to-wit: One copy at the courthouse door, and one copy in each commissioner's precinct. Said notice to be posted for ten days prior to the date of such hearing. Said notice shall also be published in a newspaper of general circulation, published in the county one time, and at least five days prior to such hearing; provided however, that if no newspaper is published in the county, then the posting of the notice as hereinabove directed, shall be sufficient."

The law also requires publication of notice that road district bonds are to be sold: "... The Commissioners' Courts of the counties embraced in such district, at a joint meeting held in the county having the largest number of inhabitants, as shown by the last Federal census, shall advertise such bonds for sale, and the advertisement or notice of such proposed sale, shall be published in a newspaper of general circulation published in the district, one time, and at least ten days before the time fixed for such sale."

MINISTER DESCRIBES AGONY OF 3 YEARS IN REDS' PRISON

The Rev. Lawrence A. Zellers, left, visiting in the Rev. Jack Payne home Friday. Rev. Zellers has just been returned to the U. S. after spending almost 3 years in Communist Prison Camps in Korea, after being captured at the beginning of the Korean conflict. Photo courtesy Abilene Reporter-News.

By Dave Brumbeau Reporter-News Staff Writer An ordained Texas minister teams up with an Australian to steal a metal drum.

Death comes so fast bodies are not buried.

A prison of hate isolates gaunt, sick men.

Those are the things that have made up the life of the Rev. Lawrence A. Zellers during three years spent in a North Korean Communist prison.

Those are the things - plus the agony of having been separated from his bride of seven months.

The Rev. Zellers, a native of Weatherford, told his story only three weeks after he left Russia with a group of other missionaries. He was visiting the Rev. and Mrs. Jack Payne in Santa Anna. The visit was a reunion for the two pastors who became friends while students at Southern Methodist University.

That was the separation of a romance that began when the Rev. Zellers was an airman training at Columbia University, and met Frances Rogers. After World War II, they attended classes in a training program for teachers who planned to go to Korea.

In Korea they were married. In Russia they also were separated and Mrs. Zellers returned to the United States, not certain whether she was a widow.

She lived with the Rev. and Mrs. Payne for approximately one year when they had a pastor in Fort Worth. She also visited the Paynes after they moved to Santa Anna. Members of the Rev. Payne's Methodist Church in Santa Anna voted to "adopt" Mrs. Zellers as their missionary and to support her work.

That First Winter That's the reason the people of Santa Anna are interested in the return of the Rev. Zellers and his adventures and hardships and his return to freedom.

three days but when you haven't anything else to do - Getting the eye made was the hard thing.

Getting metal, good metal, also was difficult. The Rev. Zellers said the only good metal he found in Korea came from America. He said the arches in shoes were used to make knives. A piece of a bomb was used to make a soup ladle.

Hardships. It was a primitive world with civilized hate and suspicion added.

The Rev. Zellers said when the Communists first captured a man his index finger was examined for gunpowder burns. They were being plagued by snipers who sometimes threw their guns away at the last minute and hoped to be taken prisoner.

The Reds knew the Rev. Zellers was an Air Force veteran and a radio operator. They accused him of having a transmitter in the house where he was captured.

"The Communists favored kicking their prisoners," said the Rev. Zellers. "The higher they kicked the better they liked it, but we were mostly too tall for them to kick us in the face."

However, the Rev. Zellers said, there apparently was no planned brutality. He said he did not receive "much cuffing around."

No Soap for Year For more than a year, he said, the prisoners had no soap. For almost three years there were no shaving facilities. The Rev. Zellers said there were three pairs of scissors in the group and he kept his "beard" cut as short as possible.

It wasn't until the prisoners were taken to the last camp near the Yalu River that they had bathing facilities. "The Korean houses just aren't provided with bathtubs," said the Rev. Zellers.

It was at this point the Rev. Zellers teamed with an Australian to steal a metal drum.

The Australian master-minded the job. It was his contention that the North Koreans couldn't count.

There were 29 barrels in a warehouse.

The Australian swore the North Koreans would first count the barrels and arriving at 28 would believe they had made a mistake. They would count again and again until they made a mistake and arrive at 29, he said. Then they would be satisfied.

That's what happened. The American prisoners made a bathtub from the drum.

"It was Mark Twain who said when in doubt tell the truth," said the Rev. Zellers. "The Communists reverse what he said. 'They never tell the truth if they can lie,' he related."

"For instance, he said, 'I was not allowed to write a letter. I never received one.'"

"When we asked why we did not receive mail, they said: Nobody's writing to you, that's why."

"When we asked why we couldn't write, they returned: 'You're going home so soon, you won't have time.'"

That was when some of the Americans were starving to death or dying because of low resistance.

To amuse themselves the prisoners made up recipes of food they would like to have. They wrote more than 2,000 recipes.

When times got better, they discarded the recipes.

Britain Served as Interpreter Language was not so much of a hindrance to the missionaries as it was to some soldiers. However, the Rev. Zellers said he found only two North Koreans who spoke English well enough to carry on a conversation.

A British Salvation Army man spoke flawless Korean. He was chosen as the official interpreter.

This man made all the "proper" answers for the English-speaking men, until the Communists decided they had better get one of their own men to interpret.

The prisoners were moved again and again. One of the milestones in the moves was to Manpo. It was here they were under the control of Chinese army officials. The Rev. Zellers said conditions were improved somewhat. Before the Army took over, prisoners were in charge of the Internal Security office - a combination police, prison and Gestapo operations, said the Rev. Zellers.

"Most of the guards were not grade school graduates. They used to come to us and lecture by the hour, just like a phonograph. They were just machines. We'd tell them we'd heard that lecture before and they'd stop."

"Reactionary was the lowest word the Communists could apply to anyone. They disliked that worse than capitalist."

The Rev. Zellers said the Reds scoffed at the International Red Cross. He said they had their own Red Cross but he only saw a representative one time. The man came in, he said, and asked:

"How do you do?" Nobody answered.

That was shortly before April 29, the day the civilian prisoners learned they were to be released. The prisoners were taken from the camp near the Yalu to the North Korean Capital. They were shown movies and given a bath. They lived with the general staff of the Korean Peoples Army.

Then they were sent into Russia. Their train was the finest Russia affords, the Rev. Zellers said. They were given freedom to leave the train at any stopping if they wished.

The Rev. Zellers said Russian supply trains going toward Korea came by as often as one each ten minutes.

The prisoners were flown from Russia to Berlin on May 12.

"That was my greatest emotional experience - the first step from behind the Iron Curtain."

It's over now.

The Rev. Zellers, however, says he and his wife intend to go back after they attend a course at Drew University at Madison, N. J. This time, he said, he is not going so close to the front lines.

A Little Headwork Saves a Lot of Footwork

"I don't ever aim to give up fishing," Pappy Hayes said one day—"but the older I get the less I like fishing over to Pike's Creek. Guess I'll have to bring the fish nearer to me."

So Pappy got his nephew to bulldoze down about three acres of bottom land. Then he dammed up the little stream there.

He wrote the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, in Washington, and got some "blue gills" and bass to stock it—free. Pappy's idea wound up giving him (and us) just about the best fishing pond in the county... right in his own back yard.

From where I sit, Pappy may be older than some of us but his mind is active—and open. He's ready to listen to anybody with an idea. That's why he and I can talk on any subject—sometimes about his preference for buttermilk and mine for beer. And though we disagree, we respect each other's opinion. That's neighborliness without a "catch" to it.

TWO MILLION DOLLARS isn't a lot of money when you compare it with the mammoth Federal budget. But twenty thousand dollars is sizeable when you think of it in terms of the taxpayers who meet the March 15 deadline and pay it or get sent to jail for evasion. It would take 2,000 taxpayers, paying a thousand dollars each, to total that amount.

Well, the investigating committee, of which I am a member, has been searching for leaks and losses, regardless of the amounts. We have explored perhaps a hundred instances of possible waste dealing with military operations. And in doing this we usually get good cooperation from the military. When we can nail down a case, properly documented, showing an inefficient practice or a proven waste, we report it and ask the agency involved to take note of our finding. Where proper, we ask Congress to cut off the funds to support the activity found to be wasteful and unjustified.

There are 7 of us in this committee and it keeps us plenty busy checking on military contracts, procurement methods, duplicated efforts and things of that kind. Last year, for example, we found an inexcusable lack of standardization of simple procurement items purchased by various services. And there was need for a stream-lined procurement items catalogue system which would avoid duplication of the millions of items, and enable each service to know how many articles of a certain description the others had in stock. To help correct this chaotic condition, we got a law enacted, designed to simplify and standardize indexing and purchasing. It was estimated by the Hoover Commission this would when fully operative, save up to $3 billion annually. That figure is largely a guess, but the saving will undoubtedly be substantial.

Now, to get back to that two million dollars. Last December I was told by a friend that a tire test operation financed by the government at Camp Bullis, near San Antonio, was wholly unjustified. I promptly called on the Secretary of the Army for a report. It attempted to show justification but was not convincing. So I had it put on the committee's agenda. Two investigators were put on the case. They visited the tire test operations of three leading commercial tire manufacturers and also the government's tire test at Camp Bullis. Last week the committee studied the findings and voted unanimously to call for the closing of the testing station. The report shows the government's operation is "completely duplicated by industry" and is no longer warranted.

Way For Better Cotton Prices For Farmers

Farmers get better prices for their cotton when they know three things before going to market, according to H. J. Matejowsky of the Abilene Cotton Classing Office, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

He named grade, staple length and knowledge of local price quotations. Then he explained that farmers armed with these facts are in a position to demand fair value, whereas those who only know that they've got a bale of cotton to sell are likely to get paid less.

There's a simple way for farmers to get this information, he pointed out, and at no cost. They can sign up with a Cotton Improvement Group under the Smith-Doxey program. To do this, a farmer must contact his County Agent, the Cotton Classing Office, or his local gin.

After his group is organized, the elected group leader files one application with the Cotton Classing Office covering all of its members.

Once this is done, Matejowsky said, members will get free classing service on all their cotton. And, in addition, they can get USDA's price quotations each week. This service is mailed free upon request.

And when their cotton is classed by USDA, Matejowsky stated, farmers will get back a green classing card showing grade and staple length. With this card, they can sell their cotton without bothering to submit samples to buyers.

Matejowsky reminded interested farmers to sign up before the deadline date to insure their place in the 1953 program.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON-SERMON

The term Principle is another name for God, according to the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon of this week. On the subject, "God the Only Cause and Creator," selections illustrating the orderliness of God's creation, and the love offered by the Father, will be read from the Bible and the Christian Science textbook by Mary Baker Eddy.

"The Lord is the true God, he is the living God, and an everlasting king: — He hath made the earth by his power, he hath established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heavens by his discretion." This is the Golden Text from Jeremiah (10:10,12).

The Psalmist thought of the creator as a shepherd who lovingly tends his flock, and he said, "He is our God; and we are the people of his pasture, and the sheep of his hand" (97:7).

The Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" says of God: "He is divine Principle, Love, the universal cause, the only creator, and there is no other self-existence. He is all-inclusive and is reflected by all that is real and eternal and by nothing else" (p.331).

Mr. and Mrs. Oran Lewellen of Denison, came Tuesday for a visit of several days with the home folks, before assuming his new duties with a power company. The couple have moved to Denison since he received his degree at A & M College last week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. McClanahan were in Austin last week end and attended graduation exercises at the University of Texas, for their son-in-law, John W. Payne. He received his Ph. D. in English and History. Dr. Payne was among the few that were hooded, during the proceedings. Dr. and Mrs. Payne will continue their residence in Austin.
