West Texas Utilities Cooking School Is Very Successful Event

The cooking school, sponsored by the West Texas Utilities Co., and held in the high school auditorium last Friday afternoon, was largely attended and a success in every way.

Mrs. Abbie Andrews, a senior Home Economist for Frigidaire Sales Corporation, was assisted in the food preparation by Ruth Clappitt, Home Economist for West Texas Utilities Ballinger District. The very latest in food preparation and time saving methods were demonstrated. "Matchless cookery, without a match", was the result.

The food, cooked to a turn, consisted of chickens, giant steaks, a pikes peak roast, with a variety of vegetables. These were placed on containers to be carried home by those fortunate enough to draw them. A pie and other foods were also drawn. A number of appliances were given as door prizes.

Do-It-Whose-Self?

Monk McCarthy's almost as good at publicity stunts as he is at servicing and repairing cars—which is pretty darned good.

His latest gimmick is a hand-bill titled: "Do-It-Yourselfers! Why Not Grease Your Own Car?"

Then he follows with two paragraphs about all the greases you'll need—the full set of wrenches, spray gun, grease gun, four jacks—the ability to work flat on your back with a face full of goo. And at the very end there's this line: "Or, if that's too much trouble, we'll do the job for 75¢."

From where I sit, I'll have to admit Monk's schemes attract attention. They often seem far-fetched to me, but he and I always had different opinions on how to run a business—just as we have different opinions about what's the best beverage. He likes hot tea—I prefer a glass of beer—which doesn't keep us from having a "smooth-running" friendship.

Ozro Eubank Owner Of Mystery Farm No. 46

Mr. and Mrs. Ozro Eubank are the owners of Mystery Farm No. 46, as appeared in The Santa Anna News last week. The Eubank farm is located about three miles southwest of Santa Anna in the Plainview Community.

One of the larger farmers of the Santa Anna area, Mr. Eubank purchased the first part of his present farm in 1925 from Roy Powell. This purchase was 157 acres and since that time the Eubanks have increased their farm land to 1377 acres and Ozro and his two sons work this land along with 292 acres of land belonging to his mother, Mrs. M. D. Eubank. There is about 1100 acres of the land in cultivation and most all of it is terraced.

Mr. Eubank built his present home in 1935 and since that time he has continued to improve his holdings by adding numerous livestock barns and storage granaries and many other improvements. He has five large stock tanks and about 15 spreader dams and has eradicated most of the mesquite on his property.

Mr. Eubank went into the Registered Hereford business in 1946 and included his two sons in the project. The farm, known as the Eubank & Sons Polled Hereford Farm, now carries about 60 head of registered cattle and they run between 500 and 700 head of ewes most of the time.

Eubank said he caters mostly to Corriedale-Delaine ewes and is now crossing them with registered Rambouillet.

Mr. and Mrs. Eubank were married July 11, 1925. She is the former Mabel Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Williams, both deceased. The Eubank's have two children and three grandchildren. Their oldest son, James and family, live on the farm with their three children, Norma Jo, 7, Jimmy, 4, and Jana Kay, 18 months. The other son, Max, lives with his wife in town, but plans to move to the house his parents live in in the near future. Mr. and Mrs. Eubank are going to build them a new house in Santa Anna and when it is completed, Max will move out on the farm.

Members of the Church of Christ, the entire family, have been very active in helping to get the new church underway in Santa Anna. Ozro is also a member of the Coleman County Farm Bureau, National, State and County Hereford Associations, a county FHA committeeman, on the Board of Directors of the Santa Anna Cooperative Gin and on the Board of Directors of the Santa Anna National Bank. He is also a member of the local Lions Club.

He served as chairman of the county PMA committee for 17 years and as a member of the State Farmers Home Administration for eight years. The PMA is now known as the ASC office. With all his other duties, it would be doubtful if Mr. Eubank had time for hobbies, but when asked the question, he said he enjoyed working with his cattle and enjoys doing some traveling most every year.

The Eubanks raise cotton, grain sorghums, oats, wheat and in the near future plan to put about 115 acres in blue panic grass, with the purpose of returning this land to a temporary pasture. At present they have 50 acres in Austrian Winter Peas which will be seeded with natural grasses later in the spring. They have about 125 acres in wheat, 450 acres in oats and have cotton allotments amounting to 164 acres. The remainder of the cultivated land will be put in grain sorghums. They made about 1/4-bale to the acre on cotton last year.

Asked what his favorite crop was, Mr. Eubank said cotton and his favorite livestock is Hereford Cattle.

They usually run about 60 head of registered Herefords and creep feed their calves and lambs. Mr. Eubank said he did not usually participate in any of the major stock shows over the country, but sells all his Herefords in range condition and his demand always exceeds the supply. He does not have any particular feeding program other than his creep feeding the calves and lambs, but sees that all his stock are well cared for the year 'round.

Asked if he used any fertilizer, Mr. Eubank said he had in the past and thought it was the proper thing to do when there was enough moisture in the ground, but under the conditions such as we have had the past few years, it was not profitable to use fertilizer.

Christ and the City

Lesson for March 4, 1956

CENSUS takers have long been dividing us Americans into "Rural" and "Urban." The fact is, wherever we may live, if we are not in a city we are in many ways affected by cities. The magazines and papers we read are often published in cities. Most of the things a farmer uses—tractors, combines, fertilizer, tools, come from cities. Our clothes were made in cities, our laws were made there. Your casket may have already been made in some city. There is a state in America which has just one large city. A former resident of that state told the writer that very few small towns there amounted to anything, because all the young people in the state who had any ambition struck out for that big city as soon as they could. One way or another, we are all becoming "urban" pretty fast.

Enthusiasm Is Fragile
The largest city Jesus ever saw brought tears to his eyes, and no wonder. Some of the things he saw are true of cities and of urban civilization today. They are true of our American way of life, 20th-century style. One was the swiftly rising, and as swiftly falling, enthusiasm of the crowds. There they came with joyful shouts of welcome on Palm Sunday morning; and by Friday morning some of the same mob would be screaming, "Crucify him!" City people take quickly to new ideas and new heroes—and quickly drop them. They will strew tons of ticker-tape and torn-up telephone books (for lack of palm branches) on some returning hero, but in six months' time won't be able to remember his name. Explain it as you like, the fact is that urban enthusiasms are fragile. That goes for most of us. What we live for in our urban America is mostly excitement. We live from headline to headline, from thrill to thrill. Advertisers do their best to stir us up. They talk of "exciting" new colors, exciting new fashions, even (believe it or not) exciting new toothpaste. The advertisers know that if we can really be persuaded that a thing is exciting, we'll buy it! We would rather listen to a new idea than a true one. That's city fever.

Mass Man

In the days of Davy Crockett, whose ghost, we trust, will have been laid to rest before these lines meet the public eye—in the days of Davy C. and of Dan'l Boone, nearly all Americans were living in the country, as we would call it today. Even the cities were small. Those were the days of rugged individualism. When a neighbor came within 50 miles of Daniel Boone, he thought the woods were getting too crowded, so the legend has it—and moved on. Nowadays in our more urban era, we have come to the time of "Mass Man" as philosophers call him. The city is the Land of Follow-my-Leader. It is the dwelling-place of the Joiners. Mr. Boone did not belong to many societies; but where is the man today who is happy without belonging to enough clubs and societies to keep him out every night? Mass Man is a rather sad spectacle. Jesus wept over him there in Jerusalem. The people of that city were like sheep, doing, saying, even thinking what their Scribes and Pharisees told them to. The men of Jerusalem would not look for themselves, they "knew not the time of their visitation." They did not know when God was knocking at their door. If Christ came to America today, would Mass Man recognize him? Or would he be under suspicion because he would not fit the universal pattern?

Den of Robbers

The city over which Jesus wept was the site of a magnificent Temple, built as a place of worship. But when Jesus visited it, he found a cattle-market going on in the very middle of it. What should have been worship had turned to money-making. So it is too often with an urban civilization. Built on business, on the market-place, it tends to turn everything into a market-place. Art is commercialized; so is education, so are athletics, politics, sometimes religion. If the reader thinks this is exaggerated, let him look around during this month and see some everyday examples of how religion is commercialized in America. We are approaching the joyful Christian festival of Easter. How many thousands of people in our land are planning to make money out of it?

Friday Was Bad Day On Autos

Friday of last week was a bad day for driving in Santa Anna. Bud Simmons, local Deputy Sheriff and City Marshal, reported he had investigated three wrecks and there were at least one more and possibly others that he did not get to investigate before the cars were moved.

It all started about 7:10 in the morning when Shirley Simmons was attempting to park the 1950 Chevrolet she was driving against the east curb about 30 ft. south of the Wallis Ave. and 2nd Street intersection. Ronald D. Mathews, 22, of Fort Worth, attempted to pass her on the right side as she was turning in to park and the two front fenders collided. Mathews was driving a 1953 Ford.

Only slight damage resulted to each car and no injuries were reported. The investigating officer filed charges against his daughter for driving without an operator's license. No charges were filed against Mathews.

About 4:15 in the afternoon, Jackie Mobley, driving an old model Chevrolet, had stopped to pick up his younger sister at the corner of Ave. B and 4th Street and as he was pulling out into the street collided with a 1949 Buick driven by Mrs. Jimmy Harvey of Fort Worth. Minor damage was reported to the left front fender of the Mobley car and right rear fender of the Harvey car. Both autos were going east.

Another accident between the bank and hotel buildings involved Joe Riley, driving an old model Chevrolet and J. A. McClatchy of Coleman, driving a 1948 Chrysler. Simmons said the cars had been moved when he arrived and as yet no charges had been filed but the investigation was still underway. Only slight damage to both cars was reported.

Simmons said someone ran in to the back of Norman Hoesch's old model Dodge that was parked near the back of their store, but they did not stop. This investigation is also still underway.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Griffith were Sunday dinner guests with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Price, at their home near Shields. The Price's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Campbell and Donny also had dinner with them. In the afternoon the Griffiths visited with other relatives at Bangs.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brusenhan of Abilene visited Saturday with his mother, Mrs. Fred Brusenhan and her mother, Mrs. W. P. Burris.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bivins of Iraan were weekend visitors with his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bivins. Mrs. Paul Bivins went to Abilene Tuesday for a check-up.

John Hardy Blue of Mt. Vernon, Ill., arrived Monday afternoon, on a surprise visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Blue. He is on a business trip to Texas for the firm he works for.

Mrs. Orton Keatts and her little son, Larry, of Dallas, came last Friday for a visit until Wednesday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Williams.

A2C David Boyd French has written his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill French, that he has just completed a four weeks training at Dobbin AFB, Marietta, Ga., and was leaving for his original base at Charleston, S. C.
