"Home Again." Your Library is back in the Progress office. It took a lot of maneuvering, but at least the books are where you can get to them. Thanks to Jack Bennett for letting us use the front of his building where Frank Kirk had his plumbing company. Frank and family moved to Lefors Monday morning.

Incidentally, several people have air conditioners in the back of the building. Jack Bennett left the key with me and would appreciate your picking up these air conditioners as soon as possible.

There are lots of good magazines in the Library which will have to be discarded for lack of space. Some students have been using these magazines from time to time for themes and other research. If anyone would like to go through these magazines before I discard them, please come by and pick out what you want.

Thanks to Mr. Frossard for bringing his ad in Saturday for this week's edition. While drinking coffee at the Brown Jug one evening recently, I met a Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Siebecker of Wausau, Wisconsin. They were on their way to Arizona and had stopped for dinner. Mr. Siebecker is President of a company that makes and designs metal name plates and panels. The couple were asking directions, and in the course of conversation inquired about our town and commented on the friendly people. Never having seen peanuts being shelled, they accepted my invitation to visit the Gorman Peanut Company and also took time to visit the Progress office. While extolling the virtues of our fair city, I called attention to Frossard's windows which were attractively decorated. They were somewhat surprised to see such a fine department store in such a small town. I invited the couple to spend the night but they wanted to drive on to Abilene to contact some folks there.

Yes, I still think Gorman is about as close to Utopia as I will ever get, even if some of you do get upset with my "democratic" way of thinking.

Which reminds me, better pay that poll tax as some important elections are coming up soon. Too, there is an interesting article headed "Small Business" in this week's issue.

Advance In Science Is Theme Of WSC

Eleven members of the Woman's Study Club met in the home of Mrs. J. S. Ripley on the beautiful evening of January 20th.

Roll call was answered with "a new scientific discovery."

Program for the evening was given by Mrs. C. O. Revels. She gave a most interesting talk on the field of medical science, entitled, "Spare Parts For The Human Body", stating how doctors could now give us not only new knee and hip joints, but new ears, tissue, organs and parts for our hearts.

A delicious buffet supper of ham, baked beans, potato salad, pickles, olives, hot rolls, orange date cake, tea and coffee was served by the hostess.

School officials and fans from both schools noted and commented on the good sportsmanship and friendly behavior exhibited by players on both sides during and following the closely fought contests.

Rocket Built At School Stadium

The Progress office received a telephone call Thursday afternoon and a woman's voice exclaimed excitedly, "a rocket has landed in the football stadium at the Gorman Schools."

Quickly grabbing a camera, two of the Progress staff rushed to the stadium to see what all the excitement was about.

Sure enough a ten foot snow rocket was sitting in the middle of the football field. It was soon discovered that the rocket would never orbit the earth, and Mr. Felts stated that his Science-minded Physical Education High School class took advantage of the four inch snow that fell Wednesday and started the project, and his seventh grade students finished the snow rocket Thursday.

Two-by-fours were used for the frame of the rocket and tall ladders were brought in to build the nose cone of the rocket, which was over ten foot high.

Snow men and other snow creations were noted in all areas of the city Thursday, but all had disappeared by Friday.

It was fun for the youngsters while it lasted. This was an unusual amount of snow for this area and was appreciated by farmers and stockmen, as well as the

Gorman School Is Host For County School Officials

Superintendents from all eight of the Eastland County Schools and principals from most of them met at the Gorman School on Monday night of this week for a dinner and discussion session.

Schools represented were Ranger, Olden, Eastland, Cisco, Scranton, Rising Star, Carbon, Desdemona, and Gorman.

A delicious meal was prepared and served in the homemaking cottage by the girls in the Homemaking 111 Class, under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Ralphanne Moody.

Later the group moved to the high school study hall for informal visiting and discussions on various topics of mutual interest.

Two or three sets of dominoes came in for use before the meeting adjourned at 10 o'clock.

For several years it has been the custom for school men of the county to hold monthly meetings, such as the one held in the local school this week, with each school taking its turn once a year as host.

Comments from the visiting administrators concerning phases of their reception and activities on Monday night were quite favorable and complimentary, as reported by Superintendent W. R. Taylor for this writing.

A Tower of Strength

In by-gone days most people used silver dollars as a medium of exchange - -

Today, a silver dollar flashed in a group creates a bit of conversation but is seldom used to pay debts or take care of other obligations.

The modern method is to place those silver dollars in your bank and use a checking account. This protects your dollars from loss and gives you an accurate account of all money transactions for tax reports and other records.

The First National Bank shall close for general banking purposes on Saturdays, commencing Saturday, the first day of February, 1964.

PEANUT CHEWS

1/2 cup honey
3/4 cup maple syrup
1/4 teaspoon baking soda
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
1 cup roasted peanuts.

Pour honey and maple syrup into pan and cook until the temperature reaches 252 degrees F. (the hard ball stage). Remove from heat, add soda and cream of tartar. Mix thoroughly.

Add nuts and mix until they are coated.

Pour into buttered pan. When cold, cut into squares.

Speaker Sees Push By White House-Congress To Meet Nation's Needs

By Rep. John W. McCormack
Speaker, National House of Representatives

What can we reasonably expect the 88th Congress to accomplish between now and next summer when it must adjourn to take up the important business of a national election? Will Congress and President Johnson be able to come up with a major part of the original Administration program?

These questions—or variations of them—are uppermost in the minds of most people, judging from the mail and personal inquiries which all of us in Congress have been receiving the last few months.

It would be foolish to make precise predictions, but I am confident that when the record of the 88th Congress is finally written, it will be a notable record of achievement.

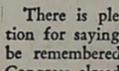

There are good reasons for believing this. First, there is President Johnson's legislative genius and his vast understanding of Congress and its problems. More important than this, is President Johnson's determination that the major programs be passed and his declared intention to use every bit of his influence and prestige to accomplish it. Then, you have the attitude of Congress itself.

I think this Congress has every intention to measure up to its responsibilities in the area of civil rights, tax reduction, economy in government, national security, education, employment and the many other pressing programs important to the people of the nation and to the peace of the world.

There is plenty of justification for saying this. It should be remembered that the 88th Congress already has some notable achievements to its credit—approval of the test ban treaty, expansion of the Peace Corps, initiation of mental health and mental retardation programs, college aid and a whole body of less dramatic but very important legislation that often goes unnoticed by the general public.

In addition, the House and Senate separately have completed a massive load of committee work and actually passed much basic legislation that only awaits action in the other house for completion. It is a mistake to pass judgment on this or any Congress before it has completed its work. It should be remembered when judging the progress of this Congress that probably no Congress has been asked to deal with legislation of such magnitude, scope and complexity as represented by the Civil Rights, the tax reduction and the national security bills of this session.

There is no easy electronic computer answer to the Civil Rights problem, a problem that has been with us since the first slave was brought to America. This is a problem involving deep and entrenched emotions dating back more than 100 years. A Civil Rights Bill must be much more than a quick political gesture for the record. A Civil Rights Bill, to be passed, must have bipartisan support. A Civil Rights Bill to be workable must stand the test of acceptance by the people. As President Johnson said to the joint session of Congress on November 27th: "... no memorial... could more eloquently honor President Kennedy's memory than the earliest possible passage of the Civil Rights bill for which he fought so long."

John W. McCormack

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Whenever Senator Harry Byrd takes a stand for cutting government spending, the more polite among the ultra-liberals call him an old fuddy duddy while cruder persons assail him with what to their little minds is the most horrendous of all epithets—a conservative.

Overlooked is the fact that Senator Byrd has reached an age and station in life where he could very well subdue a sense of public conscience and follow the line taken by Louis XIV, the Magnificent Sun King of France. When informed that the vast expenditures of his government on such items as Versailles, and ill conceived foreign adventures were ruining the French economy, he shrugged his shoulders saying "After us the deluge." In the inevitable deluge, the next Louis but one, and his hausfrau sustained loss of heads.

Thus the situation now a-building will never personally affect Senator Byrd. What is the situation? It is briefly that when a nation does not have gold, it cannot pay its debts.

The hard facts are that there is not enough gold in the world to go around due to global inflation triggered by U.S. spending policies. Whenever there is inflation, supplies increase. The world's currencies have now increased much faster than the available gold supply.

For example, using round figures, since 1955 the U.S. currency in circulation has jumped from $30 billion to $37 billion, or a jump of $7 billion. Other currencies have also increased, as inflation has proceeded.

Yet from 1955 to 1961 the known production of free world gold production was only $7½ billion. On the basis of current gold production from 1961 to the end of 1963 less than $2½ billion in new gold was produced, while in the same two years U.S. currency in circulation jumped $5 billion.

To further complicate matters, there is an apparent disappearance of gold. While from 1955 through 1961 the free world mined over $7½ billion in new gold, the gold stocks of the free world governments and central banks only increased by $3½ billion. Making due allowances for the small amount used in jewelry, gold plating, et al, it is apparent that gold is disappearing from free world in huge quantities.

And of course, what the Communist nations are doing with the gold they acquire, is a great enigma.

There is reason to suspect around the world there are substantial operators who discount the Scriptural maxim "The meek shall inherit the earth" and believe instead that those who have gold shall inherit the earth. All free world peoples, except U.S. citizens, are permitted to possess gold. It would appear some are storing gold waiting for the deluge.

So when Senator Byrd calls for economy, it is important to bear in mind the long range picture. Some may shrug their shoulders and say "who needs gold?" But in over 3,000 years of history, mankind has found no substitute for gold.

Eighth Grade News

By Connie Park, Judy Holt and Brenda Shugart

The Eighth Grade class was very sad due to the fact of not getting to have a graduation exercise this year.

In basketball we played Scranton Monday night at Scranton. We won both games. The girls won by a very narrow score of 10 to 9. The boys score was 23 to 12.

We will play Carbon at Carbon next Monday night, January 27. We just got through taking our mid-term tests and were to get out report cards Wednesday.

John McKee, president of the Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children at Dallas, personally handled admission procedures recently for young Ruben G. Jasso of Lamesa, the hospital's 25,000 patient.

Speaker Sees Push By White House-Congress To Meet Nation's Needs

By Rep. John W. McCormack
Speaker, National House of Representatives

What can we reasonably expect the 88th Congress to accomplish between now and next summer when it must adjourn to take up the important business of a national election? Will Congress and President Johnson be able to come up with a major part of the original Administration program?

These questions—or variations of them—are uppermost in the minds of most people, judging from the mail and personal inquiries which all of us in Congress have been receiving the last few months.

It would be foolish to make precise predictions, but I am confident that when the record of the 88th Congress is finally written, it will be a notable record of achievement.

There are good reasons for believing this. First, there is President Johnson's legislative genius and his vast understanding of Congress and its problems. More important than this, is President Johnson's determination that the major programs be passed and his declared intention to use every bit of his influence and prestige to accomplish it. Then, you have the attitude of Congress itself.

I think this Congress has every intention to measure up to its responsibilities in the area of civil rights, tax reduction, economy in government, national security, education, employment and the many other pressing programs important to the people of the nation and to the peace of the world.

There is plenty of justification for saying this. It should be remembered that the 88th Congress already has some notable achievements to its credit—approval of the test ban treaty, expansion of the Peace Corps, initiation of mental health and mental retardation programs, college aid and a whole body of less dramatic but very important legislation that often goes unnoticed by the general public.

In addition, the House and Senate separately have completed a massive load of committee work and actually passed much basic legislation that only awaits action in the other house for completion.

It is a mistake to pass judgment on this or any Congress before it has completed its work. It should be remembered when judging the progress of this Congress that probably no Congress has been asked to deal with legislation of such magnitude, scope and complexity as represented by the Civil Rights, the tax reduction and the national security bills of this session.

There is no easy electronic computer answer to the Civil Rights problem, a problem that has been with us since the first slave was brought to America. This is a problem involving deep and entrenched emotions dating back more than 100 years. A Civil Rights Bill must be much more than a quick political gesture for the record. A Civil Rights Bill, to be passed, must have bipartisan support. A Civil Rights Bill to be workable must stand the test of acceptance by the people.

As President Johnson said to the joint session of Congress on November 27th: "... no memorial... could more eloquently honor President Kennedy's memory than the earliest possible passage of the Civil Rights bill for which he fought so long."

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Whenever Senator Harry Byrd takes a stand for cutting government spending, the more polite among the ultra-liberals call him an old fuddy duddy while cruder persons assail him with what to their little minds is the most horrendous of all epithets—a conservative.

Overlooked is the fact that Senator Byrd has reached an age and station in life where he could very well subdue a sense of public conscience and C. W. Harder follow line taken by Louis XIV, the Magnificent Sun King of France. When informed that the vast expenditures of his government on such items as Versailles, and ill conceived foreign adventures were ruining the French economy, he shrugged his shoulders saying "After us the deluge." In the inevitable deluge, the next Louis but one, and his hausfrau sustained loss of heads.

Thus the situation now a-building will never personally affect Senator Byrd. What is the situation? It is briefly that when a nation does not have gold, it cannot pay its debts.

The hard facts are that there is not enough gold in the world to go around due to global inflation triggered by U.S. spending policies. Whenever there is inflation, supplies increase. The world's currencies have now increased much faster than the available gold supply.

For example, using round figures, since 1955 the U.S. currency in circulation has jumped from $30 billion to $37 billion, or a jump of $7 billion. Other currencies have also increased, as inflation has proceeded.

Yet from 1955 to 1961 the known production of free world gold production was only $7 3/4 billion. On the basis of current gold production from 1961 to the end of 1963 less than $2 1/2 billion in new gold was produced, while in the same two years U.S. currency in circulation jumped $5 billion.

To further complicate matters, there is an apparent disappearance of gold. While from 1955 through 1961 the free world mined over $7 1/2 billion in new gold, the gold stocks of the free world governments and central banks only increased by $3 1/2 billion. Making due allowance for the small amount used in jewelry, gold plating, et al, it is apparent that gold is disappearing from free world in huge quantities.

And of course, what the Communist nations are doing with the gold they acquire, is a great enigma.

There is reason to suspect around the world there are substantial operators who discount the Scriptural maxim "The meek shall inherit the earth" and believe instead that those who have gold shall inherit the earth. All free world peoples, except U.S. citizens, are permitted to possess gold. It would appear some are storing gold waiting for the deluge.

So when Senator Byrd calls for economy, it is important to bear in mind the long range picture. Some may shrug their shoulders and say "who needs gold?" But in over 3,000 years of history, mankind has found no substitute for gold.

Mrs. Fairbetter Is Host For Friendly
Ladies Coffee

Bad weather? Well, maybe too bad to wash or rake leaves or, perhaps, to go to church, but it surely will never get too bad for the Friendly Ladies to go right ahead and gather for a Sunday School Coffee. And so it was that last Thursday morning 'mid snow men created by the children around town and beautiful picture snow scenes painted by Nature, everyone arrived at the M. H. Fairbetter home for coffee. Mrs. Fairbetter enjoys a unique responsibility — she is claimed by two classes as a member. She is a member of the Willing Workers Class, but after having served for some time as teacher of the Friendly Ladies, she is claimed by that class, too, and usually participates in the projects and activities of both groups.

Business was brief. There was some discussion concerning the Church carpet fund, a memorial fund that continues to increase as different classes and some individuals contribute from time to time. It is designated to eventually carpet the Church's center aisle and pulpit area. Then Mrs. Fairbetter gave the devotional. Reading the scripture first, she continued by giving thoughts from the Upper Room Devotionals. Coffee time. And cold drinks, too, along with assorted cake, donuts, and candied pecans. Also assorted talk. Then another donut and a little more coffee. And when everyone finally bid hostess Mrs. Fairbetter good-by and started for the car, a real hazard developed — snow balls, quite accurately aimed, filled the air. Seems age hasn't a thing to do with growing up.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — "EAST IS EAST AND WEST IS WEST, AND NEVER THE TWIN SHALL MEET."

IT IS A LONG WAY TO SUEZ, but not nearly as far to Panama.

IN OCTOBER, 1956, WE MADE A SHOW OF FORCE in a showdown between France, England and Israel on one side, and Nasser's Egypt on the other.

ALTHOUGH WE CAN RATIONALIZE AND JUSTIFY our own position in Panama, there are indications that a great many of the nations around the world feel that our chickens are home to roost.

THEIR CONCLUSION CAN HARDLY BE BASED on cold facts, but rather come out of an emotional sentiment of something like jealousy.

WE ARE REMINDED THAT WE TOOK SIDES in the Suez controversy to change an arrangement existing for many years. Like most controversies, when opinions are fixed on something other than fact the merits of the case have small meaning.

IT CAN REASONABLY ASSUMED that some of the unpopularity we are now experiencing by the official position of a great many nations also stems from another sensitive position created by trade problems.

FIVE NATIONS, INCLUDING CZECHOSLOVAKIA BEHIND THE IRON CURTAIN, bid on furnishing approximately 400 buses to Cuba. The British got the deal. This proves, of course, that our European allies have never accepted the trade embargo on Castro. It is not assumed that the transit breakdown in Cuba is the key to all its economic woes, but it is important that the bus purchases from England will be the largest deal the Cubans have yet made with a non-Communist country.

THE BUS CONTRACT RELATES, OF ALL THINGS, to the high cost of sugar in the world market. In purchasing sugar from Cuba during the last year, the British ran a deficit of about $30 million. They are not worrying very much about our objections to the sale of their buses to Castro, but rather, now criticize us for putting restrictions against ships in Cuban trade, which will likely force them to transport the buses on East German ships.

A GROUP OF CANADIAN LEGISLATORS IN WASHINGTON this week reflect their lack of excitement in our efforts to put the economic squeeze on

Mrs. Nell Rainey reports that in her last letter from her son, Tommy Carl, who is a merchant seaman, was in Tanganyika, Africa and would leave soon for the country of Kenya and while there he would tour the inland of the country.

Cuba. Their trade with Cuba has diminished somewhat, but it is largely because of Castro's lack of readily available funds to pay. The Canadian sale of grain to Russia seemingly created no problem for them, and a cash payment was obviously of considerable incentive. Cash sales of grain from Australia and flour from West Germany also were on this basis, but to do the same thing, our Government must underwrite our private exporters, guaranteeing them against loss in extending the usual commercial credit to the Soviets.

OUR ENGLISH SPEAKING COUSINS, the British, Australians and Canadians, are not alone in going after substantial trade with the Soviet Bloc. Even Spain, whose present regime under Franco was brought into being by bloody civil war with the Communists, is now involved in trade negotiations with Cuba, Italy, Spain, France and Belgium are all jumping into the Cuban trade. France and Ireland have helped set up factories on the Island, and the Spanish still have under active negotiation a deal to sell Castro more than 100 fishing trawlers. There is reliable information that Italian and Spanish geologists are making surveys of mineral deposits in Cuba for possible commercial development. French ships have transported coal from Hanoi, China, to Havana. Many of these countries, and others, are making competitive overtures to Red China to establish greater trade relations.

THEY ARE AWARE OF OUR CRITICISM AND OUR OBJECTIONS to these policies. They are not showing a great deal of sympathy for our own troubles, such as Panama.

WASHINGTON AND
"SMALL BUSINESS"
By C. WILSON HARDER

Around 190 years ago a group of doughty souls gathered round with smoothbore muskets to argue over the idea of taxation without representation. After a prolonged and grim struggle they won their point at a place on the Virginia coastline called Yorktown.

But now it seems what they actually fought for was freedom from taxation without representation only where there is respect for state rights.

Earlier in the year the Supreme Court clothed in full dignity of the law a rather ridiculous thesis by upholding the so-called "agency shop" clause.

This provides that unions may get employers to sign contracts which provide that if some of the employees do not want to belong to the union, that is all right. But, instead of having their paychecks clipped for union dues, they are merely assessed for "service fees" which the employer turns over to the union.

This, of course, is quite tantamount to having a law whereby Protestants do not have to belong to the Knights of Columbus as long as their paychecks are clipped for service fees to go to the lodge and, conversely, Catholics do not have to belong to the Masons as long as deductions are made from their paychecks to send "service fees" to the Masons. Obviously this hypothesis is ridiculous but no more so than the "agency shop" device.

© National Federation of Independent Business

In Florida, one of the 19 states where a right to work law is on the statute books, they thought this idea most ridiculous. The state outlaws the closed shop, yet the retail clerks union felt it had the right to collect dues from all.

The Florida Supreme Court thought otherwise, and the union appealed.

The U. S. Supreme Court which previously held the agency shop is valid under federal law, decided in a state where there is a right to work law, the state can hold the agency shop agreement illegal.

There is quite an object lesson to be gained here.

While everyone looks toward Washington to correct evils, it is perhaps more productive to explore what can be done on the state and local level.

Take this case in Florida for example. If that state did not have a right to work law, then the National Labor Relations Board would have its mandatory that the employers deduct service fees from all employees, not wishing to belong to a union.

But inasmuch as Florida does have a right to work law, the non-union employees of Florida can go ahead with their jobs without having tribute exacted from their paychecks to go into a union treasury. Thus, in 19 states, workers are protected against this type of extortion. In the balance, they are subject to it, but only because their states have not as yet passed a right to work law. It would be nice if all states recognized states rights are needed to guarantee individual rights.

March of Dimes Plans to Double Birth Defects and Arthritis Centers

Announcing plans to double the present number of March of Dimes birth defects and arthritis centers in the nation, the world's most successful voluntary health organization this week launched its traditional January fund-raising appeal.

Basil O'Connor, president of The National Foundation-March of Dimes, which financed development of both polio vaccines, said the goal this year would be $45 million, "a sum our medical and scientific advisers agree we can wisely use to combat the ravages of these crippling diseases. This sum would apply to patient care, research, professional and public education."

The March of Dimes now supports some 77 birth defects and arthritis treatment centers across the country. According to Dr. William S. Clark, director of the medical department of The National Foundation-March of Dimes, the national dimensions of the health problems posed by birth defects and arthritis "have grown to a point where this nation requires at least 100 centers for birth defects and 50 for arthritis."

"Through the generosity of the American people, we will build up our chapter and center programs across the United States to meet their needs. Our offensive against both these crippling afflictions will be doubled in 1964."

Leading in this offensive will be the members of the 3,000 March of Dimes chapters in the nation plus the volunteers they enlist—an expected army of two million people. The campaign continues throughout January and culminates with the Mothers' March during which some 15 million homes are visited from coast to coast. In addition, a total of 36 million "mailers" are distributed nationally to inform families of the health aims of the March of Dimes and they also serve as a means of returning contributions to local chapters. The herculean task of addressing these envelopes regionally is unselfishly assumed by volunteers—thousands of teenagers, homemakers, grandmothers. Helping to dramatize the campaign will be the cross-country tour of winsome Mary Lou Graves, 5, of Flint, Mich., who was born with an open spine, since repaired, and who developed excess water on the brain, another birth defect which has now rectified itself. Mary Lou, however, is paralyzed in the legs but moves with surprising alacrity with leg braces, crutches and her wheel chair. In addition to vivacious Mary Lou as the National March of Dimes Child, many states, counties and municipalities across the country designate their own March of Dimes Child symbolizing the aims of their local campaigns. In her travels this month, accompanied by her parents, Mary Lou is scheduled to call upon President Lyndon B. Johnson at the White House and has already visited with many Senators, Congressmen, Governors and other high officials. The pretty five-year-old has "interviewed" the heads of such influential national organizations as the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the Elks, Rotary, Kiwanis and other service clubs including the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Amvets, Catholic War Veterans, Jewish War Veterans and others.

An estimated total of 250,000 infants are born each year in the United States with serious birth defects. This is equivalent to one in 16 births, or 700 children a day. Of the quarter million total, more than 30,000 die, including stillbirths. As to arthritis, the other major health area in which the March of Dimes leads the attack, fully 11 million Americans are tormented by one or another form of this, the Nation's No. 1crippler.
