Russians Storm Through Streets Over Tough Foe

MOSCOW, Dec. 28 (AP)-A doomed Nazi garrison reeled backwards in the smokefilled streets of western Budapest today but clung wtih suicidal resistance to positions in the eastern sector of the capital.

(A Berlin broadcast monitored in London said early today that the German garrison in Budapest "has taken up positions on an in ner defense ring of the capital" after several Russian penetrations of the German-Hungarian lines.

"The Russians are now attacking from the southeast, onrtheast and west," the broadcast said.) The German and Hungarian defenders were reported to have already been denied the use of one of two remaining airports for evacuation of troops as Soviet forces pounded toward the heart of the once beautiful city.

Suicide Stand At Bastogne Is Another Bataan

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS A L L I E D EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, Dec. 28 (A) - If the Alamo had been reached in time; if fleet-guarded troopships could have gunned their way through to Bataan, that would have been the story, of Bastogne, the American Arnhem, as it appeared today.

It was a bloody, heroic, suicide stand with promise of a bright

The men who fought and died some of them probably still are fighting and dying there, cannot yet be identified.

They are several thousand strong - or were when the battle started in which they tied up the better part of five German divisions and denied Field Marshal Von Rundstedt the most important road hub in his offensive bulge.

The Bastogne pocket was under day and night pressure from every side against odds comparable to those which British parachute troops faced at Arnhem, in Holland. There was no way of telling how much longer the American garrison could have held out-but the stories of the men who fought there now make clear how they withstood the siege.

When the relief column burst through it found the Americans not smashed back into the streets but clinging grimly to the outpost line.

Presum-reckless disregard of the governcers from interfering with federal operation of the plants. Presumably this was precautionary in the event Ward's should offer legal resistance to the seizure.

Maj. Gen. Joseph W. Byron, director of the Special Service Division, Army Service Forces, Washington, accompanied by his staff, served the seizure order on Sewell Avery, Ward's chairman of the board, in Avery's private office.

Avery greeted Gen. Byron pleasantly and they shook hands.

Maintenance of union member ship was a fundamental issue in the cases, Avery having refused to grant it on the contention it would deprive employes their right freely to join or not to join a union and still work for the big mail order concern.

Justice department specialists from Washington worked until 5 a. m. in the U.S. district attorney's office preparing, it was understood, for federal court action in the event Montgomery Ward resisted the setzure. PARIS, Dec. 28 (AP)-American forces cutting into both sides of the Von Rundstedt bulge at its thinnest neck have fought to within less than 20 miles of a junction, 36-hour old reports from the front said tonight.

The whole southern flank of the enemy salient from Bastogne to the German border yielded slowly to hammering. Doughboys and tanks crossed the Sure river at four places and threw the enemy back into the reich at two places in the Echternach area at the eastern end of the wedge,

The razor-thin relief corridor to epic Bastogne held firm against German infantry and armored attack.

The Germans were buffeted back farther in hard fighting near Grandmenti and Marche, points 20 miles away on the other side of the bulge. Part of the German spearhead which had driven deepest into Belgium at Celles was encircled and being hammered into disintegration by a ring of guns and armor, derbelly of the salient was receiving similar treatment. The probing armor that had pushed close to Ciney, 15 miles from Namur in the northwestern tip of the bulge, had been beaten back until the battleline ran seven to eight miles southeast of the village.

The main fighting in the Celles area was now in the vicinity of Verre, two and one half miles to the southeast.

Along the southern flank the Americans continued to gain and were across, up to or almost up to the whole line of the Sure river from the Bastogne area to the German frontier. Where they were not across the stream they held the high ground on the south side. The village of Liefrange, 10 miles southeast of Bastogne, seized in one crossing north of the village of Bonmal.

It was too early to foresee the outcome, for the Americans in their counterattack now underway faced formidable obstacles. But there were clear indications the bold Nazi bid for a great De-

The German army had been held for more than 48 hours up 'o Wednesday dawn without a significant gain.

German pockets were surrounded in the western head of the enemy offensive and on the southern flank and were under tempests of shellfire.

Three of the American crossings of the Sure, which Berlin broadcasts said were by the U. S. Third army under the command of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, were near Bonnal, 2 1-2 miles northwest of Eschdorf. The fourth was at a place three miles northeast of Martelange. All the crossings were within about 15 miles of Bastogne.

Von Rundstedt's armored patrol probings toward the Meuse were being beaten up badly, though one did thrust out eight miles south of Celles to the vicinity of Beauraing, only 3 1-2 miles from the French

Hard Work Ahead For Gals Of '45

AP Newsfeatures Writer

American women face probably the busiest and most complicated year of their lives in 1945.

Reason: they will have a foot in two camps -- (1) working on Tuesday for Milford after a week's the unfinished business of the war rish with her mother, Mrs. J. R. and (2) planning and working toward the postwar period.

> It may be we won't have to settle in 1945 the problem that of the Women's Advisory Comand more workers in war indus tries by spring and more than half

That means that millions of women, in war industries and other jobs, face another lengthy stretch of hard work - a stretch in which many will have to do the three ring job of worker, wife and mother. They must face the complications which arise when household furnishings and equipment wear out and cannot be replaced immediately, and when returning service men must be helped in readjustment to civilian life. But the hard work does not end there,

Women also face unfinished business for their sex. For years the National Woman's Party and others have been working for the passage of an Equal Rights Amendment which will give the women of the United States equal rights with men. It was the first legislative measure laid before the 78th Congress, but so far has not been passed by either house.

Another piece of unfinished business ahead of women in 1945 has returned to her home after is the battle for equal pay for spending Christmas with her equal work. So far equal pay laws states - Montana, Michigan, Illinois, Washington and New York. This year, however, the National Federation of Business and Proother national women's organizations plan to pool their efforts for the strongest woman-drive yet in an effort to secure the passage of equal pay laws in other states.

Looking toward the transition and postwar periods, women leadtioned at Randolph Field, San An- ers say that women have a termendous job shead. Margaret Hickey, who is also president of the Na-tional Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, says

"Women are not preparing for the peace as they should. In wartime it is natural to work in harmony with your allies, but in peace differences of opinion often arise. Women have a great opportunity in the home, the community and educational circles to teach an understanding of other countries' problems which can help keep peace.

Is Compulsory Training Necessary? Publishers Oppose

second of two stories in a series on compulsory military training.)

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28 (P) The main point in all talk about national compulsory military training in peacetime for American youths is this: It it necessary?

The army and navy say it is want every able-bodied youth, after reaching a certain age, to undergo at least one year of military training.

Some arguments for such program:

By training one million youths a year, and then returning them civilian life, in 10 years we could build up a reserve of 10 million trained men.

We'd need it if we joined a league in order to back up our efforts to preserve peace. If we didn't join, then more than ever we'd have to have a great reserve of trained men.

If we had had a large military force this time we might not have been attacked. Our underpreparedness figured in Axis calculations against us. Fortunately, in this war and the last one we had Allies who held off the enemy until we got into fighting shape. The next time the attack upon us may be sudden. We may have So, we'll need plenty of trained manpower: either in uniform as a standing army or ready to be called into uniform quickly from civilian life. We wouldn't need compulsory training or a large reserve of regular, standing army, navy and trained men if we had a huge But the upkeep of such a regular military machine would be far more expensive than maintaining a fair-sized machine backed up by a reserve. Some arguments against com pulsory training: Military training trends to war. Our young men would want to use

Military training would take out of a young man's life, by interrupting his schooling and occupa tional plans. Such training isn't necessary We've done pretty well by waiting until war came and then using our wartime draft system. If there is a real league to preserve peace, a big reserve force wouldn't be necessary. Compulsory military training

MIKE'S GOT A NEW JOB NOW

Mike used to call himself a Humble Salesman. But that was before gas, tires and so many other products went to war. With folks doing only essential driving now, and conforming with the rationing program he is more of a service man than a salesman.

But Mike still keeps plenty busy. For as cars get older customers need his help more. He must see that tires are cross-switched regularly and recapped in plenty of time-that batteries are recharged often enough to counteract the effects of short-trip driving. He must check oil and oil filters often and keep a watchful eye out for little things that could cause trouble.

His days begin early and end late and he works short-handed most of the time. But whether you drop in to spend a precious "A" ticket or just get some free air Mike greets you with a genuine smile of welcome. For as Mike says - his job today is to be a good Humble Service man-with accent on the "service."

Thompson Says Gas Waste Very Small

AUSTIN, Tex. Dec. 28 (AP) -Those who complain about the waste of Texas natural gas should look into facts which reveal that onyl approximately two per cent of gas produced is wasted, declared Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson.

In a formal statement Thompson asserted the waste figure resulted from data supplied the commission - now engaged in a study of gas conservation - by gas producers and processors:

Thompson said the data showed this distribution of gas; Waste, 2 per cent.

Light and fuel consumption including that transported by pipe-line to Denver, Indianapolis, Chicago, St. Paul, Kansas City, Detroit and point in New Mexico, Tennessee and West Virginia, 36 per cent.

Extraction loss in natural gasoine plants, 4 per cent. Fuel in natural gasoline plants, 10 per cent. Repressuring and recycling, 28 Lifting crude oil, 4 per cent.

Manufacture of carbon black, 16 per cent. Most of the gas that has been and is being wasted, added Thompson, is that produced coincidentally with oil and this gas is burned in flares because would be dangerous to vent it to the air and because it is not economical to use it for fuel.

Sports Chute

Currently fanning the breeze around sports circles in Big Spring is discussion of the Big Spring Bombardiers, one of the better basketball quints assembled in these parts in some time.

Recently organized has been a league of West Texas service fives and a champion will be named. Midland, San Angelo, the two Luband team large enough to stop bock fields and others have been included in this group. The champ is due some wide-spread recognition from service headquarters in this command. In short it all amounts to something!

The Bombardiers have been rolling along pretty smoothly. They have dropped but two games, which in a fast basketball campaign where teams get hot and fade away again, two losses are very little. One of these was to the favored South Plains AAF who took a close win in the final seconds, and the other to Lubbock AAF who surprised everyone with a win.

It all boils down to the fact that the Post five is not yet out of the Following Denison-San Angelo championship running, not by a game Sept. 27, I picked Highland long shot. It might also be noted that these type games are about the best that can be found. These quints continually down college fives. (South Plains only loss of the year was a one-point defeat from Texas University, a leading team of the Southwest conference.)

Big Spring fans are missing something by not seeing these Bombardiers in action. Now comes I select Highland Park over Port the question, Why can't Big Spring Arthur because of its victory over fans witness a few of these contests? The answer: They have been unable to obtain the high school gym on a few occasions and army rules prohibit allowing civilians to Perry Winkle, San Antonio enter the post gates for such a show. Therefore . . . no games.

Where the trouble lies in the army using the local gym I do not know. My information has come from sources close to the service team, and it seems that the gym is always scheduled for some other affair. Now, in my mind ,the simplest solution would be a quick gettogether of officials for a looksee into the future and an arrangement of a schedule so the locals could see some good court games. I know one fact for certain, the army officials are willing to allow the Bombardiers to play in town. If money stands in the way, there should be little trouble there. A moderate charge at the door for civilians would quickly fill the house and the purse so that the use of the gym would cost nothing to anyone, and officials could be paid. The gym is not too large and as I understand it not so often filled for court games. That is bad. Big Spring is interested in good basketball, just as much as football, and the people would like to see some good games. The Steers are rather slow at getting started this year and the Bombardiers are ready to go.

Why not let them play some very soon? It would get fans in the habit of dropping into the gym on scheduled nights, and perhaps would even help the high school attendance. Double bills with the Steers and the Bombardiers might also be offered.

I can see no explainable reason for any further delay. So let's all get together and iron out the troubles and start the new year off right with something in Big Spring's athletic field worth offering fans, and with the fans responding with big attendance. We have been wanting some state-wide recognition. The Bombardiers could furnish it if they win the West Texas service championship. At any rate they will certainly furnish us with some college-brand basketball. Think it over . . .

fanatical Japanese.

The National Association of Manufacturers has raised the question of whether the post-war spending spree so freely prophesied will materialize on its anticipated scale,

Their attitude is not one of defeatism, rather that there will be a great deal more of selling attached to responsibilities of the distributive system than many seem to think. Don G. Mitchell, vice president of an electric products company thinks we are about to enter the most highly-competitive period in selling that the world has ever seen." J. H. Frohlich, refrigerator company sales manager, warns against thinking the distributive trade is to "have a gravy train for the next year or two." William E. Holler, general sales manager of a major automotive manufacturer, discounts predictions of phenominal, runaway production, adding that "I happen to be one who feels we have a hard sales 10b ahead of us, instead of these fantastic overoptimistic projections that are being made by people who never sold anything."

From Howard E. Blood, also a refrigerator company executive, comes the angle that many may wait for those glamorous new lines, may wait for lower prices soon to come, that they may see some ant of work long enough to make them reluctant to turn loose of their savings.

Undoubtedly, there is going to be a period of heavy production of consumers goods sace the restrictions of war are removed. The demand is there because such a large per cent of our current goods are exhausted or are worn to point of usessness or inefficiency.

This indicates a substantial trade once the hurdle of reconversion is negotiated, but it does not mean an uncontrolled paradise of selling any and every old thing without any effort. There is a great deal of substance to the philosophy that a highly competitive era lies ahead and the concerns which capitalize on the back log of public demand will be those who come out not only with a good product, but with aggressive, sensible plans for selling it.

Blessings Of Nasty Weather

Nasty weather, such as we have experienced after Christmas, may not have its admirers at the moment, but it certainly is valuable to those of us who have learned always to look hopefully to "next spring.

Just keep your eye on your lawn, burnt by the hot-dry weather of last season. Before long you will wonder where all this greenery comes from. A little later you will wonder how to get all this confounded rescue grass out of the yard. In short it will be quite a problem, all because we have had these slow, penetrating rains.

Darmond was ill, and in the ship's sick bay when, through some error, the navy overlooked him, put him on the missing list and disposed of his clothes and belongings. Two days later, fully recovered from a sore throat. Darmond reported for duty. It wasn't until he received a letter from Mrs. Hill telling him that he was "miss ing in action. That he knew of his 'misfortune.' He promptly answered her and said that the navy was, in this instance really "all wet."
