Couzens Loses In Michigan; Moses Fails In Comeback Try

Curley Wins Democratic Nomination

La Follette, Unopposed, Gets Big Vote; Townsendites Whipped

(By the Associated Press) Names of national figures appearing in primary elections in five states yesterday, with voting featured by the defeat of Senator James Couzens, pro-Roosevelt Republican, by former Governor Wilbur Brucker, new deal foe, in the Michigan republican senatorial contest.

George H. Moses, conservative republican power, failed in an attempted comeback in the republican senatorial race in New Hampshire, being beaten by Governor H. Styles Bridges.

Governor James Curley won the Massachusetts democratic senatorial nomination over Robert Greenwood, Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., was the republican winner.

Townsend and Coughlin candidates for 13 congressional places in New York were smothered by their opponents.

Governor Philip La Follette, unopposed for the progressive party renomination in Wisconsin, polled more votes than either republicans or democrats in their gubernatorial primaries.

Dispute over the national significance of the Maine election proceeded, meanwhile, with the republicans invoking the hoary "as Maine goes" adage and democrats questioning their concessions. Gov. Louis J. Brann traveled to democratic headquarters in New York to confer about seeking

NEW YORK, Sept. 16. (AP)—Chairman Joseph Guffey of the democratic senatorial campaign committee said today he was convinced of federal election law violations in Maine, and that he would ask a recount of the senatorial election in which Democrat Louis Brann was defeated by less than 5,000 votes.

a recount in his contest with Senator Wallace White, which White won by about 5,000. Less speedily than those affecting Couzens, Moses and Curley, advantages were indicated as follows:

Michigan Results In Michigan, for the democratic senatorial nomination, Representative Prentiss Brown; for the republican and democratic gubernatorial nominations, respectively, Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald and George Walsh.

In Massachusetts, John W. Haigis had the republican gubernatorial field to himself, as did Charles F. Hurley on the democratic side.

Francis P. Murphy led for the republican gubernatorial nomination in New Hampshire.

In Wisconsin, where no senatorial race is up this year, LaFollette had a clear path for renomination by the progressives. His foe, John B. Chapple, led for the republican gubernatorial designation; and Arthur W. Lueck stepped ahead for the democratic gubernatorial nomination.

In New York, with only the party selections for lesser officers being made, returns were slower in accumulating. There is no senatorial contest there this fall, and the gubernatorial nominations are to be made in conventions toward the end of the month.

Holiday Will Be Observed

Stores To Close As Jewish New Year Day Is Celebrated

A substantial cross-section of Big Spring's mercantile establishments will be closed Thursday in observance of the advent of the Jewish New Year. The Holy Day, Rosh Hashana, will be marked by religious rites.

The day represents the start of the 5,847th year of the Jewish calendar, which dates back to 3,761 B. C. as the date traditionally set as the Creation.

A service will be held at Hotel Bellas at 8 o'clock tonight, and another at 10 a. m. Thursday, with Max Jacobs in charge.

Stores which will be closed tomorrow for the holiday include The Fashion, J. & W. Fisher, Mellinger's men's and boys' store and Mellinger's Grand Leader, Sam Fisherman's, Seden's, Levine's, and the Army Store. Some of these will be closed Friday also.

Con. South's Son Killed In 10-Story Leap

Uncle Here Will Attend Funeral Service At Coleman Thursday

Funeral services for Carl South, 18-year-old son of Congressman Charles L. South of Coleman, who plunged to his death from a tenth floor room of a hotel at Lubbock Tuesday afternoon, will be held in Coleman at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, according to word received here by an uncle of the youth, Carl B. South of 605 East 15th street, The Big Spring man, associated with the Big-Spring-steam laundry, planned to go to Coleman this afternoon. The youth was his namesake.

A verdict of suicide was returned by Justice of the Peace J. T. Trigg of Lubbock.

Left Two Notes Young South had reached Lubbock only yesterday afternoon, planning to enroll in Texas Technological college. In the hotel room he left two notes, one addressed to his father.

"Love to all, Bill," was the simple wording of the note. The sealed envelope also contained $72 in currency.

The other notes, unsigned but in the same handwriting, requested: "Please notify Chas. L. South, M. C., Coleman, Tex., also Chas. Hickman, 2110 Thirteenth Street, Lubbock."

Hickman was young South's roommate. Hickman said he was puzzled by the signature on the note. He said he had never heard young South called "Bill."

Asked Roommate To Wait South, Hickman said, left their room at about 1:15 o'clock, saying he would be gone a few minutes and asking Hickman to wait for him. Porter P. Parria, hotel clerk, said South registered at about 2:30 o'clock. A few minutes later South asked that a bell boy be sent to his room.

L. G. Compton, who answered the call, said he found the door open, saw South's hat, coat and tie in the room. He found the window screen unfastened and saw the body on the roof of the third floor of the hotel annex.

Young South was born and reared in Coleman, graduating from high school there three years ago at the age of 15, after making a record as a dependable student and a good mixer.

Spoke For His Father When his father announced for congress in 1934, young South took the stump for him and became known as a forceful speaker. His titles entered the University of Texas. Last year he attended George Washington university for one term and was assistant to the secretary in his father's office.

Cong. and Mrs. South and a brother, Robert, 5, survive. Other survivors are Wayne Wireman, Coleman; Roy South, Dallas; Lawrence Wireman, Leaday, all uncles; Mrs. Roy Moore, Hamilton; Mrs. Joe Carpenter, Editor; Mrs. D. E. Park, Hamlin; all aunts; and Mrs. H. M. Wireman, Leaday, grandmother.

Barrel Rate Is Revised By County Court

Valuation Schedule Change Still Will Boost The Total

The commissioners court, sans county judge who was out of the city, continued its interview with representatives of oil companies Wednesday in an effort to conclude its work as a board of equalization on oil and public utilities.

After a group hearing Tuesday morning in the county court room, the commissioners court retired with their valuation engineers and effected a revision in the per barrel valuation schedule which, in effect, cushioned an increase for several companies.

The per barrel schedule was pegged between $250 and $100 depending on depths and other conditions. The change still left the county in a position for a sizeable hike in valuation. The increase, had original figures held, would have amounted to more than a million.

Assisting the court in its work was its valuation engineers from the firm of Pritchard and Abbott. Here for the hearing were J. L. Abbott, R. W. Woods, G. C. McKinley, and A. M. Hearn.

The court, sitting as a board of equalization, will grant interviews to other property owners next Monday and Tuesday.

SAFETY OF INSURANCE POLICIES CITED AS COMPANY HEADS CONFER WITH ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16. (AP)—A statement that holders of American life insurance policies "possess the safest of all possible securities" emerged from a conference yesterday between President Roosevelt and life insurance executives, who had been invited to the White House.

The statement was handed to newspapermen by Charles F. Williams, president of the Western and Southern Life Insurance company, Cincinnati. He said it was approved by the entire group of executives.

Commodity Distribution Is Arranged

City, TRC To Carry On That Work; Welfare Unit Is Disbanded

The County-Wide Welfare association, dealt a mortal blow September 5 when the county announced it was unable to continue financial support, officially "folded tent" Tuesday but not until its leaders had been able to salvage a means of distributing surplus commodities from the wreckage.

G. M. Hayward, chairman of the association's executive board, announced that the organization was officially ended and that through cooperation between the city of Big Spring and the Texas Relief commission, arrangements had been made for distribution of surplus commodities.

From the district office of the TRC came the announcement that T. G. Moore, a member of the staff, would be assigned to the task of distributing surplus commodities and referring certain clients to WPA applicants to work on those types of projects.

L. A. Deason, who served as administrator for the association since its inception in February, expressed regret in the abandonment of the set-up. He cited that there are 60 cases which will be dependent upon city or county or some other organization for aid which cannot be satisfied alone by surplus commodities.

He had remained in the set-up, he indicated, at somewhat of a financial sacrifice. He had accepted a position with a private concern here Wednesday and was to report for work Thursday.

City Aids In Salary In the new arrangement the city is cooperating to the extent of supplementing the salary for a case worker.

During the seven months of its existence, the County-Wide Welfare association received contributions in the amount of $10,877.98 of which $7,807.29 came from the county and $2,950 from the city. To September 1 the association had disbursed $10,457.68, the balance being applied to indebtedness already incurred during the first few days of September before the county's action. Biggest item of expenditure was $4,018.38 for hospitalization. Groceries, in addition to surplus commodities, cost $2,089.84.

Surplus commodities, or clothing and food laid by the TRC, was distributed by the association in an amount conservatively estimated at $7,164.72.

OFFICER ANNOUNCES VACANCIES IN ARMY

There are 12 vacancies for desirable men at the William Beaumont hospital and a number of vacancies in the cavalry and field artillery at Fort Bliss, Sgt. James R. Maples, local army recruiting officer, said today.

Full information can be obtained from the sergeant at his office in room 14, First National Bank building.

Tuesday Lieut. M. M. Allison came in to see Sergeant Maples. It was in 1927 that Sergeant Maples enlisted Allison and succeeded in getting him into the army air service. Lieutenant Allison is stationed at San Antonio.

THREE R'S TAUGHT IN NOVEL FASHION AS CITY SCHOOLS BECOME A LABORATORY IN STATE PROGRAM OF CURRICULUM REVISION

Big Spring schools, as one of the 58 production units or laboratory systems for curriculum revision in the state, is making a radical departure this year from the time honored and conventional mass instruction in fixed subjects.

This course of study, in favor since the days of the little red school house, is being gradually abandoned for a trend toward functional education, Thomas E. Pierce, director of elementary education in Big Spring, explained.

Object of teaching under the new plan will be to create real life situations so that learning will be made more practical for children of all intelligence levels. The crux of the revision, said Pierce, is simply making training more applicable to real life instead of being more or less theoretical.

To this end the practice of teaching subjects as such is being discarded. In the junior high school building and in some elementary schools later on, there will be more reading, writing and arithmetic classes as such, all 20 or 40 students participating in the same drill.

Opposed to this procedure, they will be broken up into small groups of approximately eight each. One group may be working on projects in one field while another undergoes a drill in arithmetic or spelling. The idea is to avoid making work too simple for those of high levels and too difficult for those of a lower level.

While the three R's lessons will not be taught strictly as such, they will nevertheless be put aptly before the groups so that in a year's time the students will have gotten as much or more than under the former system.

In this direction, subjects have been grouped according to language arts, social relations, creative and recreational arts, nature, mathematics and science, home and vocational arts. To illustrate how this might be done, assume that a class is working in the language arts field. One group might be planning work on reading, another doing writing about some subject in which they were interested, and still another taking spelling drill if that were what they needed most at that time.

Instead of 45 minute periods on a given subject, periods will be lengthened to one and one-half hours.

New Govt. Is Set Up To Oust Anarchists

Basque Nationalists Take Control In Northern Spain; Balboa Bottled Up

SAINT JEAN DE LUZ, France, Sept. 16. (AP)—Basque nationalists, opposed to anarchist tactics in the socialist defense forces, established an autonomous government in northern Spain today. Anarchists were ousted from all government posts in socialist-dominated territory.

At Madrid, socialist warriors roused a mile-deep hole in the ranks of fascist invaders in the Santa Olalla sector in central Spain. Government troops, fighting to prevent an insurgent march on Toledo, forced their way through fascist rebel lines.

France demanded, meanwhile, that Spanish insurgents offer indemnity for the execution of a French citizen in Spanish Morocco. Government batteries brought down several fascist planes on the Talavera front. At Toledo, the government announced plans had been completed to blow up Alcazar, with over a thousand fascist occupants.

Military Uprising A military uprising against anarchists in the government-controlled Seo der Urgel section of Catalonia was reported in dispatches from Andorra, nearby republic.

A swift fleet of fascist speedboats bottled up Bilbao harbor, cutting off communication with the outside world on the northern Spanish coast.

A government firing squad last night had snuffed out an attempted revolt of the Bilbao garrison.

Sixty-two officers who tried to lead their men to join fascist armies were shot by militiamen in the courtyard of the Bilbao military prison, it was learned through diplomatic dispatches.

Four hundred soldiers, 200 civil squads and 200 assault guards attempted to break through lines to join the fascists.

Almost all of their commissioned and non-commissioned officers were convicted of treason by summary courts martial and shot.

NEW PROMOTION MAN ASSUMES WORK WITH ALBERT M. FISHER CO.

Carter Well To Be Cased And Acidized

More Oil, Then Water, Encountered In Deepening; Offsets Scheduled

The wildest discovery which may open new production territory in Glasscock county, Floyd C. Dodson and B. A. Duffy's No. 1 J. G. Carter well, will be plugged back to shut off water, 6 5/8 inch casing cemented at around 2,635 feet and treated with acid, according to announcements.

The well obtained a slight increase in oil from 2,658-58 feet and in the next two feet of drilling, in soft lime, encountered sulphur water amounting to one-half barrel hourly. The well was estimated by operators to be good, natural, for 32 barrels a day.

The first oil, struck late Saturday from 2,632-36 feet, rose 150 feet in 12 hours and was kept bailed down during deepening and two fishing jobs. Bottomed at 2,669 feet, the well was bailed dry Monday morning. It stood dry for seven hours and in again bailing recovered 12 barrels of oil.

Production will call for a south offset by Skelly and west and diagonal southwest offsets by Fleetborn and Mid-Continent jointly. The well is 330 feet out of the southwest corner of section 8, block 35, township 8 south, T. & P. Ry. Co. survey. It is 1 1/2 miles northeast of Fleetborn No. 1 Floyd C. Dodson, which showed oil above the lime but struck sulphur water at 2,795 feet, 463 feet in the lime, using 2,382 at the top, and 81 feet below sea level. It obtained more sulphur water from 2,946 to 3,035 feet and was abandoned at 3,247.

The Dodson and Duffy wildcat has an elevation of 2,613 feet, was credited with topping the lime at 2,314 feet, 290 feet above sea level, and encountered sulphur water (at 2,667) 858 feet in the lime and 84 feet below sea level.

The No. 1 Carter is seven miles north of Garden City.

At Fredericksburg six inches of rain had fallen since Monday. The Pedernales river had risen 12 feet. Much damage to bridges and highways was reported.

Llano reported five inches of rain. The Llano river was up four feet and traffic was stopped across the low water bridge.

H. F. WILLIAMSON of the Williamson national football rating system, believes the nation's ranking grid teams will be in this order at the close of the 1936 season:

- 1. Ohio State. 2. Auburn. 3. Pittsburgh. 4. Texas Christian. 5. Notre Dame. 6. Washington (Coast). 7. Louisiana State. 8. Minnesota. 9. Princeton. 10. St. Mary's (California). 11. U.C.L.A. 12. Duke. 13. Nebraska. 14. Centenary. 15. Santa Clara.

SOME of the old-time baseball players in this section of the country—Blackie Adams, former player with Beaumont in the Texas League and now with Loraine, the Coffess of the same team, Lefty Courtney, Hamlin; Bill Hollis, another former big leaguer now in the Market league; Ches Carpenter, Divido, and LeRoy Grissett, formerly with San Antonio and Portland, now of Loraine.

THE AMARILLO Sandles will be the team to beat this year in the Texas Interscholastic League. They're headed for their third straight title. Coach Cherry will build his team around two all-state players, Bob Cleason, 180-pound fullback, and Elwin Ricketts, 200-pound tackle. Johnny Gill, blocking back and captain, is also back from last year's championship eleven. Newman Miller, 185-pound tackle, and Don Williams, 190-pound guard, both veterans, will fit into Cherry's war plans.

BILL McCLANAHAN of the Dallas Journal picks the probable district winners:

District 1—The championship hopes of Borger, Lubbock, Pampa and Plainview are due to be crushed in the apex of the swirling Golden Sandstorm. Lubbock will prove the most serious obstacle.

District 2—The Wichita Falls team will get away with murder in this sector. Ed Neal, 250-pound fullback, is one of the reasons the Coyotes will howl a song of victory late in November.

District 3—Abilene should stage a comeback this year. A wide-open dog fight looms in this sector with San Angelo and Sweetwater capable of upsetting the apple cart.

District 4—El Paso High should repeat its victory of last year, beating Austin (El Paso) High and Bowie (El Paso) in the city race and eliminating Fabens and Yaleta.

District 5—Gainesville was tough in the old District 6 line-up last fall and they'll be tougher in the new setup, but they'd best keep their eyes on Verde Dickey's Sherman Bearcats.

District 6—Greenville, as usual. However, if the Lions don't develop an Al pass defense, they can kiss their chances good-bye when they play McKinney.

District 7—The Masons look good to us. But any one of the Fort Worth senior schools may upset the boys from the Home.

District 8—The only way to stop Tech is to furnish all other teams in Dallas with submachine guns and axes before each game with the Wolves.

District 9—This is another sector that will see a wide-open race. Tyler and Gladewater are standouts. We'll take Tyler.

District 10—The Mexia Black Cats hit their stride in this district last year and it looks like they'll claw their way through all opposition.

District 11—It's about time Johnny Pierce turned out another title winner, so watch those Corsicans Bengals fog it down the trail to town. They may be stopped by Paul Tyson's Waco Bengals, however.

District 12—One of the San Antonio schools should cop here. We're inclined to favor Jeff Davis, with Brackenridge as second choice.

District 13—John Reagan (Houston) should stage a comeback this year. Conroe is the only other member of this sector which is not a Houston city school.

Mustang Back Injured In Roscoe Game

W. R. (Dub) Owen To Be Out Of Pony Line-Up For Six Weeks

SWEETWATER, Sept. 16 (Sp)—The warm-up game of the season for the Sweetwater Mustangs proved to be very costly. In the game with Roscoe last Friday night, W. R. (Dub) Owen, promising Pony fullback, suffered a shoulder injury that will keep him out of the line-up until near the close of the season.

Coach Ed Hennig does not expect to use Owen again before the Ranger game here on November 6. Cecil Voss is being groomed to fill his place.

The Mustangs play their first conference game here on September 25 with the Brownwood Lions, the class of the Oil Belt this season.

Second S. C. Olympian GREENVILLE, S. C., Sept. 16 (AP)—Kathlyn Kelly, 16-year-old high jumper, is the second South Carolinian ever to win a berth on the United States Olympic team. Lucille Godbold, a Winthrop college student, made the team eight years ago.

District 15—Corpus Christi has been ruling the roost for several years in the balmy-breeze part of Texas and there's no good reason why they should flunk out this season.

GENE LA BELLE will probably be on the main event of next Tuesday's wrestling card with Yasuji Joe. The powerful Indian was referee in last night's main show and had a little trouble with the Frenchman, Danny McShain, who he back around in a couple of weeks. His next appearance will be in El Paso.

TWIN BILLS SCHEDULED FOR TODAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—All teams will be forced to play doubleheaders in the National League today, as yesterday's games were rained out and the soaking that some teams took may have a direct bearing on the all-to-close race.

New York and Pittsburgh tie up for a twin bill at the Polo Grounds and the St. Louis Cardinals do battle in a double go with the Phillies. All the American league teams go into action Tuesday and the Yankees continued to show their superiority by trouncing the Chicago White Sox, 7-1, behind Monte Pearson's six-hit pitching. The Yanks added four doubles to their extra base hit record and tacked up their 96th win of the season.

Washington won a twin bill from St. Louis to close in on the fight for second place, while Detroit took Philadelphia, 8-5, and Cleveland won over Boston, 13-2.

HOPES TO THUMP OUT JOE LOUIS

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—The eagerness with which Al Ettore grabbed the chance to meet Joe Louis would lead one to believe that the bustling Philadelphia heavyweight has the idea that he can take a short cut to the front rank of contenders over the prostrate form of the Brown Bomber.

If you have a moment or two to spare he will take time out to explain how he is going to out-hustle and beat Joe Louis. He may even go so far as to name the spot where he will drop the Bomber on the night of September 22. It never occurs to Al that he might lose.

Ettore was convinced that he could beat Louis after having seen movies of Max Schmeling, beating the Bomber to the floor. A lot of fighters have the same idea since Max exploded the myth of invincibility that surrounded Joe Louis. Jack Sharkey thought so... but very likely has changed his mind.

"I'll out-hustle Joe Louis just as I did Jerry Haines on two occasions," explained Ettore, at his training camp. "I'll carry him no fast that he won't have a chance to get set for his punches. I'll get out in front and keep the upper hand. You know Joe isn't the greatest fighter in the world when it comes to coming from behind to win."

The 200-pound Ettore is just the man to subject Louis to the acid test—far more so than the ancient Sharkey. Al is a busybody in the ring. At least, he has been in his past bouts. Whether his respect for the Bomber's punch will make him proceed with caution remains to be seen.

Joe Works Overtime When Joe Louis stepped through New York to pitch camp for his training grind he appeared to be possessed before he encountered Max Schmeling. He acts and talks like the Brown Bomber of old. He would make no predictions as to how he would fare against Ettore.

Steers Look Good In Drill Tuesday Night

1936 Edition Shows Lots Of Fight, Determination

By HANK HART

From this corner it looks like the Steers' opponents, beginning with Wink on Friday, are in for a tough time. The local gridders continued to show fight and determination in their parade Tuesday night at Steer Stadium.

True, there is no Cordill or Dennis under Brown's and Brandon's leadership, but the team looks good. Outstanding stars are made for the other teams to point for at least in this sector, and the local mentors have not shoved a player into the spotlight.

Before 200 faithful fans, Brown and Brandon put their charges through offensive and defensive drills, tried out a quartet of prospective kickers, gave big Woodrow Harris a chance to limber up his leg by booting the ball toward the goal posts, and then put the whole squad through a period of light scrimmage.

From end to end the forward wall shapes up fine. Veterans sprinkled around with a mixture of green but promising material: Jack Wilson, Robert Hildreth and Harris are back in there along with a new pair of wings, a hefty tackle, and a promising pivot man.

The best part about the second day appears to be in the quantity of men for the job. Only one letterman is available, but there will be eight men, all capable, ready for duty, at all times.

From what we saw Tuesday evening, we have come to the conclusion that all of the available flankers are going to have to make up in fight for what they lack in weight; that Woodrow Harris is in for his best year if he continues to show the enthusiasm he has displayed thus far; that Jack Wilson will continue as the outstanding guard in this sector; that his running mate, Robert Hildreth, will end Brown's worries in the center of the line; that "Chinachinned" Smith made a good move in shifting from the backfield to the pivot position; that Doug Halborn is going to be "at home" on most of the Oil Belt gridders; that Raymond Lee Williams is going to do most of the team's passing if he shortens his backward motion with the ball and gets more of a whip into his forward swing; that Cliff Trainer will develop as a blocker, and Bettles, Gibson, Bigony, Hennings, and Madison will do most of the ball foting; that Arthur Kaach, after absorbing football knowledge through the years he spent with the Calves and the Devils, will come through as a tackle, and that Wink is in for a rough time under the lights on the Wildcat gridiron.

While a newspaper is a marvel of human and mechanical efficiency, there is a limit to what can be done by a given force of advertising men, printers, proof readers, stotypers and pressmen in a short, crowded period of stress.

There is plenty of time to give every advertiser GOOD service when copy is in a day ahead of publication.

but there was no mistaking how Joe and his retinue feel about the Philadelphia battle. They are simply taking it in their stride and in the meantime are ready and willing to talk about their future plans which, naturally, do not take into consideration a possible upset at the hands of Ettore.

Louis saw Ettore in action once, about a year ago. Jack Blackburn, Louis' trainer, was in Ettore's corner that night, so it is more than likely that wily Jack will be able to give the Bomber some mighty handy pointers on how to fight Al.

In the month that Louis has been out of strict training he picked up about 35 pounds, just about the right amount for him to work on while getting ready for Ettore. It is very evident that Louis is inclined to pack on weight unless he keeps everlastingly at the grind. That is why his handlers are mapping out a busy schedule for the winter. They blame his defeat by Schmeling, in a measure at least, on the layoff between the Detroit fight and the meeting with Dr. Schlager. If they can arrange it, Joe will have a real fight on his hands once a month.

Louis has been flirting with an offer to meet Ben Foord in London some time this winter. The matter hinges on the ability of the British promoters to meet the figure of $100,000 which the Bomber's handlers demand.

established by the first team that ever left Argentina, 14 years ago, and forever established the quality of pampas polo. Since they first came to the United States, in 1922, the Argentines have always made a fine impression. They are noted for clean-cut superb horsemanship, for smooth team play and for size. The Argentines themselves have won the United States open polo title twice.

They're Tough Hombres
The Argentines are on an all-meat diet, which doesn't slow up their game a bit. For vitamins they look to their "tea," a drink known as "mate." Battle cry of the gauchos is "Al Honor!" which means "To your man!" Reminds you of American football, doesn't it? Incidentally, polo is fast becoming a spectator sport like the gridiron game. For the international matches, the Meadow Brook club expects 40,000 spectators at prices that a big-league baseball game would post. Polo is played with tremendous speed and hurtling contact that the American public seeks whenever it looks to sport.

Polo is held on the biggest of all playing fields. No field in the world is as hard on a polo pony as Meadow Brook's famed "International" at Westbury, L. I., where the U. S. Argentina matches are scheduled. The average field is 300 yards long and 180 yards wide. The "International" is of regulation length, but 200 yards wide. This means that when players hit the ball toward the sideboards a horse in international field must go at a full gallop 40 yards farther than on the standard-size battlegrounds.

Ferrians First Pololists
Polo is the oldest stick-and-ball game known to mankind. It is a single game, there is no "professional" problem, and it is democratic-millionaires and cowboys team together. There is evidence it was played before the birth of

Question About CARDUI

HOW IT HELPS WOMEN

Women who are run-down, weakened, nervous, from not getting sufficient strength from the food they eat... Thousands and thousands have found that Cardui increased their appetite, improved their digestion, thereby promoting better nourishment and the consequent strengthening of the whole system.

And women who have suffered from functional pains of menstruation have found that, by taking Cardui just before and during the periods, this purely vegetable sedative and antispasmodic seemed to save them much discomfort. This action of Cardui is highly esteemed because the relief credited to it comes in an entirely beneficial way. Cardui is purely vegetable; nothing in it to be afraid of—adv.

Christ. First it was played in Persia, then in India, China and Japan. Europeans first indulged in 1883 in Calcutta. James Gordon Bennett brought polo to the United States in 1876. The first international matches, between the U. S. and Great Britain, were played 10 years later. There are about 500 clubs in the U. S. today, and almost 5,000 players, 3,000 of whom are registered for handicaps.

Going at top speed, a polo pony travels at 30 miles an hour. The horses are just a little smaller, just a trifle slower than race horses. Complete equipment for a polo player, including one $7,500 pony, cost about $7,800. Each player needs eight ponies. A groom to take care of four of them, costs $125 a month. A pony costs $35 a month to keep up. The Argentines brought 45 mounts here, 20 saved from Olympic play just for the U. S. matches. They are about eight years old, mostly chestnut color. Perhaps the highest price ever paid for a polo pony was the $22,500 Laddie Sanford gave for Jupiter, an Argentine horse, in 1928. Sanford used him a mere half dozen times before retiring him to a farm. And yet the best-known American horse ever to play was a hide called Gay Boy. Gay Boy's mother was a little $30 Texas cow pony. His father—was unknown.

Tech Red Raiders Have Prospects For Top Team

LUBBOCK, Sept. 16. (Sp.)—If looks mean anything, Texas Tech is going to be represented in the varsity pigskin wars this season by a powerful organization.

Careful fans and coaches, however, are keeping their fingers crossed when they think of the win and lose columns until they see the Red Raiders go over the top and into the fire of a couple of Fort Worth teams.

First of these, Coach Byron Rhome's Texas Wesleyan college Rams, come calling on the Reds Saturday night in the inaugural game of the season. A week later Coach Pete Cawthon's defenders will attempt to stand off the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs, Sugar Bowl champs of 1935, in the first big test of a tough schedule.

There are lettermen for every position, squadmen and sophomores to challenge them. There are no "first stringers" to be announced until the first two games are played.

Drills have been stiff, and in secret, this week as the Matadors prepare for the invasion of the Wesleyan Rams. They're not talking about the Horned Frogs this week, but there is a lot of chatter regarding Rhome's Rams.

Dallas Steers, Tulsa Take Lead In Playoff

DALLAS, Sept. 16.—Paced by Firpo Marberry and Jim Levey, the Dallas Steers snapped back into their winning ways in Oklahoma City Tuesday night to take a 10-2 victory over the Indians in the first round of the Shaughnessy playoff, and will ride into Dallas at least on even terms with the Oklahomaans.

However, the Sooner State succeeded in coming out even with Texas when Houston allowed the Tulsa Oilers to come from behind and win out, 8-4.

Marberry pitched six-hit ball for the Dallasites and would have had a shutout had not his mates booted a couple. Jim Levey, taken by Dallas in an early season trade with Tulsa in exchange for Tony York, drove in four of his team's runs with a double and a single.

The Oilers drove Tommy Seaton from the hill in the sixth frame to win out on eight hits. The Buffs got to Irv Stein and Clarence Pickrel for 12 hits, but could not hit at the right time. Rizzo and Shino clouted home runs.

Dallas plays in Oklahoma City again tonight and moves to their own ballpark on Thursday, while Houston and Tulsa take a day off in switching to Houston after meeting again in Tulsa tonight.

A member of Phi Delta Theta, he is the first fraternity man to hold the position in the past three years, and the first football player to win the honor in the history of the university.

THE PEOPLE PAY THE PENSIONS

Since it is well understood that the legislature is called to provide money for paying old age assistance allotments, and that none of the other functions of Texas government are to be curtailed, it follows that the legislature is under the necessity of levying new taxes or of increasing levies on those already taxed or doing both.

There will be no increase in the tax on real estate, for that is already at the limit. And that being the case, the average tax payer will go along under the belief that whatever new or additional taxes are levied do not add to his burden. In which case he will be wrong.

With the exception of inheritance taxes, and in some cases income taxes, any tax levied reaches the average citizen who owns property or who uses property for any purpose. The inheritance tax is too uncertain, for it cannot be known certainly when the men and women who have large estates will pass away. The income tax is little better as to what it will produce, for incomes vary from year to year. The Federal government has discovered that.

The platform adopted at Fort Worth for guidance of the legislature calls for "substantial increase on natural resources." Other demands are for reasonable increases against corporations and for better collection of delinquent taxes. The principal natural resources are oil and gas. Any tax laid on them is a part of their producing and operating expense and will be paid by the consumer. The tax on the quart of oil or the gallon of gasoline a man puts in his car is not paid by the oil companies but by the man who uses the lubricant or the fluid, and any increase in the tax will be followed by an increase in the price to the consumer. That has to be the case, else the oil companies could not stay in business because they would be losing money.

The consumer pays the tax, whether he sees it or not. People who labor under the impression that the old age assistance will be paid by anyone other than the whole body of people are mistaken.

★ Man About Manhattan ★

By George Tucker

The managers of the big hotels in New York keep logs of each day's events, just as the masters of sailing vessels do at sea. Sometimes these reports make for melodramatic situations, as witness these excerpts from the log of a tavern on the park.

10:45 p. m.—Sleeper in lobby ousted.

11:25 p. m.—Wild dice game in room 2117. Occupants apparently college youths. Waiter reports two glasses broken over telephone stand. Wine steward reports three quarts alcoholic beverages, six mineral waters delivered. Had to be warned three times before quiet restored.

12:06 a. m.—Loud radio in room 1503. Two complaints.

1:17 a. m.—Fire reported in 1648. Maid heard guest pounding door trying to get out. She then summoned house detective, who led guest out after unsuccessful attempt to control flames with hand extinguisher. Guest severely burned from waist up, hands, arms, face, head. Rushed to emergency hospital in cab by night cabboy and myself. Guest later transferred to another hospital, where his condition was said to be serious. Hospital reports patient asks that his family in Los Angeles NOT be notified. Fire evidently started in davenport and spread to rest of room. Furniture a total loss.

3 a. m.—Disturbance in room 871. Heard young girl scream, pleading with her father not to hurt her mother. Entered and found man who gave his name as —, and woman whom he claimed to be his wife. With them was a little girl about six years old. The man and woman both wanted to talk with me alone. After leaving, I listened and overheard their conversation. The man evidently wanted to leave alone. "If you do," the woman squawked, "I'll call the police." The man replied, "You're in this as deep as I am."

While I was in the room, the child told me her father wanted to shoot her mother. The man did not have a gun on him. The little girl had a pair of pliers which she said she took from her mother to keep her mother from hurting her father. The woman had a fur coat which I judged to be of little value. I doubt that their baggage would amount to a week's rent.

Outside, I heard them arguing and discussing a "deal" which they had put over in — recently. The argument was obviously over a division of money. They spoke also of another "terrible mess" in which they had recently been embroiled.

The man and woman apparently were afraid each would betray the other to the police. The night telephone operator has been instructed to make a record of all calls given and received. It has been arranged to stall them if they attempt to check out during the night. Falling in this, plain clothes men will pick them up after they get into the street and put them through the usual police routine.

Among the woman's effects were a number of small, well-wrapped packages. Possibly these contained money. An examination of these will be made if and when the matter reaches the police.

Note: This sheet from the journal of a great metropolitan hotel was handed me by the manager himself in payment of a wager lost on a ball game. Although it contains only fragments from a single entry, it reflects, I think, something of the bizarre side of New York life.)

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—When the president makes his appearance on the main deck of his yacht the Potomac, it is like Santa Claus coming out of the chimney.

The Potomac has two stacks, but only one of them carries the exhaust from the engines. The other is a dummy in which an elevator has been installed.

The president enters the elevator from the main deck. Then a steel door in the stack swings open and the elevator discharges its passenger on the boat deck.

In other respects, however, the Potomac is not superior to the Sequoia. Her speed is no greater—12 knots an hour—and she takes just as long—8 hours—to get down the river to the bay.

The Potomac's quarters were built for seamen and they are less spacious below than the Sequoia's. The president's guests are quartered at the water-line, which means that the port holes must be kept closed while the ship is cruising. Air is introduced through ventilator tubes.

There is nothing "average" about the cabins. Their equipment includes bright bed-spreads with window curtains to match, stainless steel bathrooms, and a Filipino boy to serve breakfast in the morning.

There are accommodations for five guests at most. This is in addition to the president's regular staff, always in attendance. The staff consists of Captain Paul Bastedo, naval aide; Gus Gennerich, bodyguard; George Fox, pharmacist, who acts as personal physician pro tem; and the usual quota of secret service men.

The guests are quartered forward, the guests aft. The crew of 20 men, six of whom are Filipinos, are huddled together on canvas racks, three deep, down in the forward quarter, where the ship's hull narrows to the bow.

No House-Party
Life on board the Potomac is no house-party. The tempo is in tune with the movements of the Filipino boys who ask in quiet tones whether the president will have supper in the dining saloon or on the after deck.

There may be a burst of excitement now and then if someone, with a line overside, pulls in a particularly large head, or if the Potomac river yields up any other species than hardhead. (If the species is rare, it is kept alive in the water-filled fish boxes on the boat deck, and turned over to the zoo or the aquarium.)

Perhaps the greatest excitement on board was created when the president pulled in his cow fish. It was a horny, bloated, ugly specimen, but the president was proud, and one of the crew cleaned it, and one of the skin and mounted it. It now stands as a formidable adornment to the large center table in the dining room.

At this table, covered between meals with a green balze cloth, the president sometimes sits alone, reading the latest news of the stamp world from the "Philatelic Journal," or poring over a weighty report from a government agency.

There is a cabinet radio behind him, but it is silent.

Swankier Sequoia
The Sequoia, which carried the president "down the river" last year, was a much swankier ship. Built as a private yacht, it had polished oak decks and mahogany paneling, and was far nearer than the iron-plated Potomac.

But the navy got to worrying about five hazards, and decided that while the president was in its care he should be safely encased in a boiler plate.

So the coast guard cutter Electra was remodeled. She had just been built for the coast guard at a cost of $247,530. Cost of alteration for the president's $26,000.

The president expressed a desire to have her called the Potomac, after the old U. S. frigate Potomac, a picture of which hangs in the saloon of the new vessel.

The alterations allow the president not only greater safety but also a wider range of movement. He is now able to sit on the "transom" of the main deck (an upholstered bench that runs athwart the stern) and cast his fishing line over the rail. Or, if the fish is not biting, he can go up to the boat deck and back in the sun.

Friends of the president say the White House as a home means little to him. The presidential car, the secret service bodyguard, the title "Mr. President," the 19-gun salute, all are things he could dispense with.

But he would hate to lose the presidential yacht.

When he lunched with Governor Landon in Des Moines recently, he said: "If you are elected president, I can give you one good piece of advice. Get yourself a boat to go down the Potomac."

Isolation
When the president comes aboard, returns the salute of Capt. A. D. Clark, and says, "Let's get under weigh!" he turns his back on conferences and delegations and gives undivided attention to his stamp collection, his detective stories, and his fishing.

There is a telephone in the saloon of the Potomac, but when she pulls away from the navy yard dock the connection is cut. The ship's radio is in constant contact with shore stations, but it brings only urgent messages to the "skipper." A plane comes alongside every Sunday morning, but only to bring the Sunday papers and important mail.

This is the only contact with the outside world.

Probably the greatest excitement of a week-end cruise comes to the president after he has retired to his cabin and taken a book from the shelf. The books which that shelf affords are estimated to provide distraction from the tedium of the sea.

Seven blocks of the new 2 1/4-mile subway being built by the city of New York cost $2,500,000.

Paequotank (N. C.) Irish potato growers report best prices since 1927 for the potatoes, selling typical of them at three two-cent and 25 to 30 cents.

How To Torture Your Wife

Dear Myrtle: not much to tell you this week. Everything has been running along as usual. Just after I wrote you last month we had quite a severe rain storm. It started about Harriet took your furs out of the closet yesterday, and found a few moths in them. I forgot to ask her if the furs were damaged—probably not or she would have said so. Everybody is complaining about moths this summer.

I've been expecting rain every day for the past 3 weeks, so I haven't watered your flowers. We'll probably get a shower in a day or two. You were invited to at least six big parties—dancing at all of them. Sorry you had to miss them.

8 a.m., just after I had gone to bed. All the windows were open of course, but I forgot about them. A little rain got on your piano, but it had all dried up nicely by the time I got up for breakfast.

Both the dogs have taken to sleeping on your bed, which was all right until they started oiling the road in front of our house, so I'm afraid we'll have to throw away the counterpane and the pillows.

THERE! THAT'LL CHEER UP TH' LITTLE RASCAL. BLESS HER HEART.

Jones Counts On Comeback With Trojans

USC Inherits Good Backs And Study Tactics From Freshmen

By RONALD WAGONER
United Press Staff Correspondent
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16, (UP)—The most important football season in several years as far as the University of Southern California is concerned will find the one-armed Trojan in possession of material which should send them soaring to the heights they held before the disastrous slump which gripped the camp during the campaigns of 1934 and 1935.

Early season critics point out that Coach Howard Jones will have two first-class tackles this fall, and when Jones has tackled his system is supposed to go in place in certain alumni quarters it has been heard whispered that the Jones system had better go some place this season—or else.

THE WORLD WITH A FENCE

A New Novel by Marian Sims

Chapter 22
RIDE HOME
Blake glanced at his watch; saw that it was after five. "Where are you staying?" he asked abruptly.

room with a deep bay window overlooking the golf course. The scanty furniture had no character, but all-purpose, Carol was thinking, would remedy that, and the rug was a plain taupe instead of the usual flowered atrocity.

Lomax News

"I've got a princely income of thirty or thirty-five dollars a month," she said lightly, to dispel any misgivings on his part, "and that ought to furnish the butter and jam."

The high light of last week in the Lomax community was a chicken barbecue given by the Sunday school in the city park at Big Spring last Friday evening.

"Thank God for that. In that case you can probably get along." They had turned into the Elmwood section, and Blake was looking for house numbers.

The cotton harvest is well under way in this community. Monday night approximately forty bales had been ginned and several of the farmers expected to put large groups of pickers in the fields.

"Skip it. Before long you may want to wring my neck." "Or you may want to wring mine!" They laughed.

The home demonstration club met with Mrs. G. Hannaford Thursday afternoon. Miss Mayme Lou Parr gave a demonstration on the preparation of winter salads.

"I been saving the best for the last. See how you like this lay-out: twenty-five minutes from town, one block from the car-line. Private swimming pool in the back, a garden in the court, view of the grand new municipal golf course over there to your left, restaurant in the basement. Pretty neat, what?"

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wood of Abilene spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Wood.

Number 620 was a big living. "WRIGLEY'S IS FINE FOR A DRY AND DUSTY THROAT!"

Zane Grey Picture Playing At Lyric
Zane Grey, outstanding writer of outdoor stories, has chosen a new locale for his latest work, "King of the Royal Mounted," playing at the Lyric theatre Wednesday and Thursday with Robert Kent starred and Rosalind Keith and Alan Dinehart heading the supporting cast.

King, in charge of a remote outpost in the primitive rugged country of Northwest Canada, Rosalind Keith and Alan Dinehart, visitors in King's territory, arouse his suspicions when he learns that the girl has registered under an assumed name and that Dinehart is her attorney.

Kent discovers that Miss Keith and her lawyer are really after a valuable mine which is being operated by Frank McGlynn. Miss Keith claims to own a half-interest in the mine by inheritance from her father, McGlynn's former partner.

McGlynn becomes aware of Rosalind's real identity and plans to restore her rightful interest in that mine. But before he can do so he is murdered—with suspicion falling on both the girl and Dinehart.

Kent, torn between his love for the girl and his duty, nevertheless sets out to discover who killed McGlynn. The climax, replete with thrills and romance, is fast-moving, exciting and surprising.

Scouters In Session Here

Need For Program For Younger Boys Stressed by Leaders

Twenty-four scouts including Charles Paxton, president of the Buffalo Trail Council, and Al Stiles, area executive, took part in the first district meeting of the autumn Tuesday evening at the Crawford.

Paxton, in an inspirational address, called attention to the need for pushing the cubbing program for boys of 9, 10, and 11 years of age, recommended holding district meetings in places other than capital cities at intervals, and pointed out the need for additional finances to meet budgetary expense incurred by the addition of a field executive.

"We're on the threshold of the biggest opportunity ever facing scouting," said Stiles of cubbing. He urged an attempt be made to interest more parents and also to meet the needs of older boys. He also presented a calendar of the year's activities.

George Gentry, who presided over the meeting, told of district scouting, that 228 boys are enrolled in nine troops that there are 66 scouts in four towns and that the council had received $1100 from the district to September 12.

Reports were made by Carl Blomfield, who is chairman of the camping committee, said that location of the next camp would be deferred until nearer camp time by W. C. Blankenship, chairman of the court of honor, and Nat Shick, jamboree chairman.

Individual troop reports were made by W. F. Talley, Coahoma, W. C. Blankenship, F. L. Danner, Jack Hodges, Joe Pickle, and Bob Bassett.

Attending were Charles Paxton and Al Stiles of Sweetwater, W. F. Talley, A. A. Watson, Harry Logsdon, and A. W. Thompson of Coahoma, and these from Big Spring: J. O. Milburn, A. B. Alexander, Bob Bassett, F. L. Danner, Dr. D. F. McConnell, W. C. Blankenship, Jack Hodges, J. C. Loper, Carl Blomfield, Tom Pierce, Marvin K. House, Dr. W. B. Hardy, Lee Warren, Dr. C. A. Bickley, Nat Shick, Joe Pickle, and John R. Hutto.

half hours and will cover two or more subjects.

An attempt will be made to localize subjects to some extent. As Pierce explained, a group of Big Spring students would not be interested greatly in a reading project on boat making whereas they would think it very interesting to deal with cattle branding or some other subject close to home.

One objection that has been raised against the new procedure is that it allows the child too much freedom, that he tells the teacher what to do, that confusion results. This argument has been met with an assertion by Pierce that the groups while working separately, will be as orderly as under mass instruction, that the teacher, parent and child together will determine what the child ought to have, that the child has more opportunity for self expression but is closely supervised nevertheless.

It is hoped that the new system will partly overcome the objectionable feature of having children of lower levels holding down the progress of sharper students. Those of lower levels will be grouped together insofar as possible, and those of higher levels in other groups. Students will change from one group to another as they appear to be ready for advancement or in need of further instruction on some point.

Big Spring schools, as a production unit, will follow a course of study mapped by the state department of education from work done last year. Teachers will make constructive criticism of the work and thus will have a part in the formulation of the program for next year. Elementary schools in this city will be looked upon as an example for towns between 5,000 and 40,000 people, said Pierce.

CHINESE CITY PLACED UNDER MARTIAL LAW

HONG KONG, Sept. 16. (AP)—Martial law was proclaimed in the southern city of Pakhoi today where defiant soldiers are opposing Japanese and Chinese investigations into the killing of Japanese druggist.

Rebellious members of the Chinese army refused to withdraw to allow inquiries ordered by the Tokyo and Nanking governments. Japan's ambassador called upon Foreign Minister Chang Chun to evacuate Chinese soldiers as soon as possible. The visit was regarded as a move to force a Japanese investigation.

Two Courses For Campaign

Can Pursue Policy Of Attack, Or Of Offering Definite Program

By BYRON PRICE
(Chief of CP Bureau, Washington)

From the standpoint of major strategy, mid-September finds the presidential campaign still in a waiting stage.

Nothing is plainer than the intent of the democrats to reserve for the final hours of the battle whatever bombshells may repose in their arsenal, whatever dramatic strokes of policy they may be considering.

On the republican side, there is no evidence of a decisive choice between the two alternative courses which are open. The party still is free to adopt a plan of attack only, hoping to be voted into power by the force of anti-administration sentiment, or to appeal affirmatively for support by presenting a definite program of its own.

Both major party nominees are delaying a detailed discussion of those issues which have been regarded generally as paramount in the campaign.

Governor Landon has not yet laid out the program he would adopt, if elected, with respect to relief; nor has President Roosevelt made specific reply to those numerous criticisms which have fallen upon his own relief policies. It is much the same with respect to the farm problem, the labor issue—even the constitutional issue.

Waiting Game

The reasons for this, so far as the democrats are concerned, grow in part out of the accepted custom of the party in power.

It is axiomatic among politicians that it is neither wise nor profitable for a president to appear too anxious about his own re-election, or to leap too readily into any political campaign.

But there also is a special consideration applying to the situation this year. The democrats face an opposition which has been badly routed in two successive national campaigns—1932 and 1934. It is an opposition which obviously is not thoroughly united, at least so far as the rank and file is concerned. The democratic generals prefer to wait until they can see how the lines have reformed and from what direction the attack will come.

To vary the figure, Chairman Farley and his advisers want to give their republican opponents every opportunity to commit costly blunders, to talk themselves into a corner, to develop fully all of their internal quarrels and disruptions.

Particularly, the democratic generals have been waiting to see whether the republican nominee for president would make direct commitment to a specific legislative and administrative program for the coming four years, so that the democratic defensive could be changed to an offensive.

CAR REGISTRATIONS AHEAD OF LAST YEAR

AUSTIN, Sept. 16.—New passenger car registrations in Texas during August were moderately below those of the preceding month but were still well above sales during the like month last year, the University of Texas bureau of business research has pointed out.

Reports from fourteen representative Texas counties show total sales of 5,329 cars, a decline of 16 per cent from July, but an increase of 11 per cent over August last year.

Sales in the fourteen counties during the first eight months totaled 49,627, an increase of 20.6 per cent over those of the corresponding period last year.

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning!

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest, your stomach, you get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks pink.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It fills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up like new."

College Gridmen Often Have Battered Faces

CHICAGO, Sept. 16 (AP)—You don't have to be a professional boxer or wrestler to carry around the marks of your trade on your physiognomy. Many collegiate all-star football players have flat noses and battered eyebrows. Jay Burwanger is an exception, despite the fact the former Chicago university back had to carry the brunt of offense and defense for Chicago for three years and often played without rest.
