If Had Russian Properties, Germany Would Be Well Off, He Says

IS READY TO FIGHT IF REDS CROWD ANYTHING

Tells Crowd Nazi Shortage Of Raw Materials Will Be Overcome

(Copyright, by Associated Press) NURNBERG, Germany, Sept. 12.—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler looked with envy toward Russia's fertile fields and rich mines today and considered the possibility of war "with our old adversary." Warplanes roared overhead as the Nazi dictator with big "ifs" pictured the desirability of the Russian wealth.

He was silent as to how Germany might get that wealth but told cheering thousands at the Nazi convention "if" Russia "makes an attempt upon us," German youth "will help me fight."

"If we had the Urals, if we possessed Siberia, if we had the Ukraine, national socialist Germany would be swimming in surplus prosperity," the Nazi dictator cried.

"Ifs" Are Cheered The reichsfuehrer did not say Germany had any intention of trying to take the Soviet area and he avoided any statement that Germany entertained hope of inheriting the Ukraine.

But his "if we had" them, brought cheers from his listeners who had just been told how desperately Germany must struggle to overcome raw material shortage.

"This shortage must and will, however, be overcome by German ingenuity and determination," Hitler said.

"They say we have no copper. In four years we will be producing our own material. They say we have no rubber.

"In four years we'll be riding around on our own tires. Doubters quaver but where will we get gasoline? I tell you factories will spring out of the earth and in four years we'll be getting all our gasoline from our coal."

Diplomats Concerned Comment was widespread among foreign diplomats. From Russian quarters came authoritative statements that an official protest probably would be made against such references by the head of the state and the violence of attacks on the Soviet government at the Nurnberg Nazi congress.

There was no indication that either side had any intention of withdrawing their ambassadors, however. The foreign office in Berlin.

Amendment To Set Up Relief Fund Is Sought By Judges

Would Let Counties Vote On Levying Of Special Tax To Finance Charity

Relief expenditures have so increased that counties are unable to handle them through the limited general fund, and a special fund—established by a special tax—is necessary to meet this obligation, in the opinion of West Texas county judges and commissioners.

These officials, at the concluding session of their convention here Saturday adopted a resolution advocating a state constitutional amendment which would permit counties of Texas to set up separate funds for financing relief.

The resolution, one of a half-dozen adopted on legislative items, was passed without dissent. It called upon the state legislature to submit to the voters a proposed amendment which would permit each county to hold an election by which voters could authorize the commissioners court to levy a tax (not exceeding 25 cents on the $100 valuation) for establishment of an indigent fund to pay all direct relief; with provisions that all relief expenditures would come out of this fund, under direct supervision of the commissioners court, and that the general fund should be used for administrative purposes only.

The resolution pointed out that increased relief costs have so burdened general funds that adequate financing is impossible, and that the general fund cannot be increased since it is limited by statute to 25 cents on the $100.

Salary Law Changes Another resolution adopted called upon Governor Jas. V. Allred to submit, at this month's special session of the legislature, the topic of amending the state officer salary law "with respect to the application of said law to counties containing 20,000 or more population, and

by Joe Pickle

Dog days are supposed to depart with the summer season but so far as the local relief situation is concerned, they are still here for a spell. Saturday a week ago the county commissioners court announced, due to depletion of the general fund, it was unable to continue support of the County-wide Welfare association which has been handling charity since February for city and county. G. H. Hayward, chairman of the organization, called a meeting to see if there were not some way around the obstacle. Figures presented by L. A. Deason, administrator, showed contributions for seven months by the county in the amount of $7,607.29 and $2,950 by the city, and total resources of $10,857.08.

Here is a pertinent fact revealed in the report. The very existence of the organization as a non-political unit made possible the distribution of surplus commodities in the amount of $7,164.72, almost a dollar for dollar match for county expenditures. Good democrats who recognize the soundness of President Roosevelt's recent utterance that wise spending is good economy will perceive wisdom in maintaining the organization on some sort of workable basis for distribution of surplus commodities. Too, the law proscribes that paupers shall be cared for and whether the care is exercised through the association or not, the obligation remains. In proof of this, an order was issued to a woman, who incidentally, was declared ineligible for aid by the association on grounds of other support, for groceries. More of these orders may be expected. The general fund, from which money for charity purposes must come, is in a sad state of repair with a balance of about $300. Special funds No. 1 and No. 3 with balances of $4,928.52 and $339.42 are transferable in to the general fund. Some other fancy juggling might be done in a pinch.

Mention was made last week of the need of parallel parking on W. 4th between Scurry and Gregg. Saturday one side of the street was employing that practice for a short while and results were very apparent. Parallel parking on both sides of the street would almost entirely solve the congested situation there.

This week will see the start of equalization board work when the county commissioners court sitting as a board hears representatives from all and public utility companies. Out of all this and succeeding local hearings is due to come a sizeable increase in county valuations and some good tax news from the city.

The amateur hour as a Sunday afternoon community entertainment is catching on here. Much has been said the past week in favor of

Lubbock Gets Next Session Of Officials

Plains City Is Selected Over Abilene And San Angelo

HOCKLEY JUDGE NEW ASSOCIATION LEADER

Allison Succeeds Plainview Man; Convention Here Is Concluded

West Texas county judges and commissioners concluded their association two-day autumn convocation in Big Spring at noon Saturday after selecting Lubbock as the next convention city and electing Alvin R. Allison of Levelland, Hockley county judge, as their new president.

Allison, who succeeds Judge H. M. LaFont of Plainview, was advanced from the secretary-treasurership. Judge R. A. Dafee of Hartley county (Channing) was named vice-president, and Judge Omar T. Burselson of Jones county (Anson) was elected secretary-treasurer.

Spirited Bidding All were named without opposition, but it was a different story in the selection of the place for the next meeting, which will be held in March, 1937. Besides Lubbock, Abilene and San Angelo entered the bidding with representatives of all three cities making spirited invitation talks. The choice of Lubbock was made unanimous after that city came out with a big lead in the voting.

At the Saturday morning session, the county officials had heard an address by Rep. George Mahon; an exposition of the vocational rehabilitation program by E. McGlamery of the state department of education; and a discussion of "Legislation for Audits in Smaller Counties" by A. N. Cornell of Amarillo.

New Deal Lauded Mahon drew applause as he praised the Roosevelt administration and scored republican attacks on new deal policies. In praise of the administration, Mahon cited benefits that have accrued to Texas through new deal programs. He asserted that the only "dictatorship" which has existed for the past four years was that of the people who demanded—and got—remedial legislation. Mahon pointed to the rise in value of government bonds to refute the charge that national credit is impaired by governmental spending. The national debt is less than 10 per cent of the known national wealth, he said, and a good portion of that debt is of the type that is rapidly being repaid.

McGlamery asked cooperation of commissioners court in the program of aiding crippled children. He said that his department, and the Texas Society for Crippled Children had cared for 2,200 disabled children during the past year, and planned to help as many or more during the coming year.

County Problems Common problems of relief, road maintenance and revenues were topics of speakers appearing before the convention Friday afternoon.

State Senator G. H. Nelson of Tahoka, outlined his proposal for a unicameral legislature, pointing to economies and avoiding duplication of duties. He rapped the free conference committee named as putting all legislative power in such a group.

Prompt action on collection of delinquent taxes was advocated by Scattered thundershowers the past week brought relief to farms in the northwest extremity of the county. Ackerly got an inch and a half of precipitation Friday in less than an hour's time. The moisture did not extend far south.

Saturday a farmer from the Vincent community appeared at the county agent's office to report that land he had listed for summer fallowing had sprouted a good stand of sudan planted so long ago it had almost been forgotten.

Feed prospects, on the average, are far below normal. Unless rains fall within a few days, not much help will be given the feed crops. They would, however, prove beneficial to ranges and for winter forage.

Man Charged For Attempt At Extortion

TYLER, Sept. 12. (AP)—W. G. Funderburk of Lufkin was charged today with placing in the mails at Shreveport a letter addressed to his wife, Viola Funderburk of Lufkin, demanding $1,500.

Funderburk, who is in jail at Lufkin, was charged with attempted extortion before U. S. Commissioner Allie Noble, in a complaint presented by H. E. Antakchewy, federal bureau of investigation-operative. Hearing was set for Tuesday.

Funderburk, 58, was questioned by officers at Lufkin today regarding the letter which said that he had been abducted and was held for ransom by two men.

Tells of Kidnapping Funderburk was quoted by officers at Lufkin as saying that two men in a Texarkana filling station had aided him to escape from kidnappers.

The letter was written in what Mrs. Funderburk Thursday said was her husband's hand, but was unsigned. She said he left home early Monday morning and had planned to return by noon. When he did not return by Wednesday, she reported the matter to officers.

The letter, which was postmarked Shreveport, read: "Dear Wife—I was knocked in the head by two disguised men. What little money I had was taken off of me. They tore my clothing off. They say they are going to have $1,500 before they let me go. I have had nothing to eat since I left home. I am about to starve to death. They say they are going to take me to Texarkana tonight. I don't know if I will live to get there or not.

"Your husband—but they won't let me sign my name. Ranson."

CATHOLICS ATTACK COUGHLIN METHODS SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 12. (UP)—Catholic laymen attacked Father Coughlin of Detroit and the proposed federal child labor amendment in speeches today at the conventions of the Catholic Central Verein of America and the Catholic State League of Texas.

"Any cleric who calls the president such names as Coughlin did cannot be highly regarded by anyone," John Eisbeck of Pittsburgh, Pa., declared in addressing the national vernal.

He charged that Coughlin's motive was primarily "publicity" and suggested that the Detroit priest "return to the pulpit."

Demo Policies Denounced In Maine Address

Calls His System One Of Free Competitive Enterprise

DIRECT REFERENCES MADE TO ROOSEVELT

Delivers Heated Charges At New Deal On Eve Of Important Vote

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 12. (AP)—Governor Alf M. Landon closed the Maine election campaign tonight with a denunciation of "a system of organized authority wielded by one man."

The Kansas governor, coming half way across the continent to address Maine voters on what he termed "the eve of a great victory," said the choice of American lies between two systems.

One, he said, "is the system of free competitive enterprise which, while not perfect, at least does not dole out opportunity according to a government yardstick—a system under which this country is still a freer a happier place to live in than any other country in the world."

"Keep Off" Signs On the other side, the republic's presidential nominee said, is "a system under which the privacy of our homes is invaded—our fields lie idle by governmental edict—and across the length and breadth of America a million signs spring up by order of the government, 'keep off.'"

He scored "planned economy." It is, he said, "incompatible with the democratic form of government" and "it must lead to ever-increasing executive authority."

"When the decision of one man effects an entire country, a wrong decision means disaster," the Kansasian continued.

"The republican party opposes unlimited executive power for another reason. This reason is that the worldwide trend away from democracy means, but one thing: That one thing is war. Any weakening of democracy here means the final rout of democracy everywhere. The trend against democracy must be stopped at once if the world is to escape a major catastrophe. There is no greater responsibility resting upon government today than the preservation of peace."

Voting Nears In Six States

Heated Campaign Ended, Maine Goes To The Polls Monday

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12. (UP)—Political storm warnings were hoisted in six states today and the weather man has made no mistake this time.

The biggest wind will hit Maine Monday when voters will decide all pending election bets for that state except those on the presidency. To be elected in Maine are a United States senator, governor and three members of the house of representatives. Maine will cast its presidential ballots Nov. 3.

Michigan, New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Massachusetts and New York will cast primary ballots on Tuesday, Sept. 15. Maine and Michigan are states to watch for national important political developments.

Maine's recent political history Democratic in the 1932 state election but cast its 1932 electoral votes for Herbert Clark Hoover. In 1934 it went democratic again. This time the GOP hopes to sweep Maine by electing a republican senator, governor and three members of the house. The most the democrats can hope for is to divide the political catch and their best chance appears to be to elect Gov. Louis J. Brann to the senate. He is opposed by Senator Wallace H. White, Jr.

The new deal would count that a big victory. A republican sweep would hurt democratic prestige and vastly aid and encourage the presidential candidacy of Gov. Alf M. Landon. There is no rumorm about republican confidence that their candidates will win in Maine. Otherwise Gov. Landon probably would not have been sent into that state to close the campaign in a Footland address tonight. Democratic success immediately after the intervention of the republican presidential candidates would be a bitter political medicine. Mr. Landon, Chairman John D. M. Hamilton, who counseled the invasion of

COBB SPEEDS Start Season To New Mark Ticket Sale Englishman Races Over Salt Flats To Shatter Six Records

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Sept. 12. (UP)—John Cobb of England completed a triumphant 24-hour automobile speed run on Utah's salt bed speedway today, smashing the world record established earlier in July by Capt. George E. T. Eyston of London. Tim Rose Richards, one of the British driver's relief pilots, flashed Cobb's high-wheeled Napier-Railton speedster across the finish line for a 24-hour average of 150.1621 miles an hour, shattering by a small margin Capt. Eyston's mark of 149.69 m.p.h. In the 24 hours since 8:25:05 a. m. (MST) yesterday, Cobb and his copilots had driven the racing machine 3,603.9 miles. Eyston's distance for the same time was 3,578.307 miles. Cobb and his retinue of mechanics and technicians immediately began preparations for returning to England, announcing plans for returning to the national speedway next year in quest of still higher speeds. Six records in all fell before the thundering assault of the Englishman's car. The ticket booth will be open each day from 10 a. m. to 6:30 p. m., starting Monday. BOSTON BEES BEAT PIRATES

BOSTON, Sept. 12.—Al Lopez's single scoring Hal Lee from third base climaxed a three run rally on the part of Boston in the ninth frame and gave the Bees a 3-2 win over the Pittsburgh Pirates here Saturday. Guy Bush opposed Waite Hoyt on the hill and, despite the fact he put the Bucs down with seven hits, seemed to be getting the worst of it until Hoyt faltered in the last stanza. For eight innings the Pittsburghers led by the score of 2-0 by counting both runs in the opening frame, but Buck Jordan opened up after one was down in the ninth to single to right field. Wally Berger walked to put men on first and second base but Tony Cucinello, trying desperately for a home run, cracked one to the fence where Lloyd Waner backed up and took it. The game came up to put Jordan across by singling to left and Berger tied the count a moment later when Tommy Thompson dumped a Texas Leaguer into left field. Lopez promptly binged to end the game. Pittsburgh 200 000 000—2 7 1 Boston 000 000 003—3 8 1 Batteries—Hoyt and Todd; Bush and Lopez.

CRANE WELL INCREASED BY ACID IN DEEP PERMIAN LIME

Possibilities Of Lower Productive Zones In Other Fields Is Foreseen

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 12—An increase in the flow of Gulf No. 2 Tubbs in western Crane county from 200 barrels of oil in six hours to 1,000 barrels in three hours as the result of treating the deep Permian lime with 5,000 gallons of acid was West Texas' outstanding oil development this week. The eighth producer in the area from a horizon beneath sulphur water, it again emphasized possibilities of similar productive zones beneath regular Permian pay in other fields.

Gulf No. 2 Tubbs struck the first oil at 4,315 feet and drilled to 4,391. It is 440 feet out of the northeast corner of section 12-E27, pal. Humble No. 3 Tubbs, latest of the deep Permian wells and a diagonal northeast offset to Gulf No. 2 Tubbs, deepened without increase to 4,410 from 4,373 feet, where it made a natural flow of 543 barrels of oil in 12 hours through a 3-4 inch choke on tubing. It is in the southwest corner of section 20-E27-pal.

Empire No. 1-B Cummins, east offset to Wm. H. Dunning, Jr., No. 1-A Cummins, a northwestern Ector county discovery well, filled 3,500 feet with oil in a few hours from pay at 4,320-40 feet and drilled ahead. It is 2,300 feet from the south line and 440 feet from the west line of section 34-43-in-T&P, 30 Barrels By Heads.

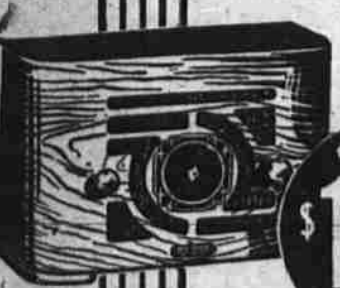

Amerada No. 1 Cummins, north offset to the Empire well and 2,200 feet from the north line and 440 feet from the west line of section 34-43-in-T&P, flowed 30 barrels of new oil by heads, following the tools, in eight hours while cleaning out to within 25 feet of the total depth. It bridged following a 200-quart shot from 4,191 to 4,291 feet, the total depth. Dunning No. 1-B Cummins, 880 feet north of the discovery well and 2,200 feet from the north line and 440 feet from the east line of section 33-45-in-T&P, developed an estimated 40 million cubic feet of gas daily in drilling to 4,198 feet.

Empire No. 1-C Cummins, wildcat 2 1/2 miles northwest of Dunning No. 1-A Cummins and 2,200 feet from the south line and 440 feet from the east line of section 33-45-in-T&P, had drilled to 4,198 feet.

Tubing was run to 5,090 with a packer set at 4,775 and only a little oil and gas showed with drilling water at the beginning of a swabbing test.

Yoakum Location
With lease near expiration, Texas-Pacific Coal & Oil company staked a location for No. 1 L. P. Bennett, 1,980 feet west and 600 feet north of Yoakum county's lone producer. It will be 660 feet from the north line and 1,980 feet from the west line of section 678-D-John H. Gibson, Yoakum's discovery well, Honolulu and Cascade No. 1 Bennett, struck the first oil at 5,000 feet, 1,533 feet below sea level, and was completed in April at a plugged back depth of 5,222 feet, flowing 234 barrels of oil in 24 hours after a shot.

L. D. Stogner and Elliott Roosevelt No. 1 Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, Yoakum wildcat about 16 miles northeast of the Yoakum producer, had drilled, unchanged, to 5,290 feet in lime, 1,578 feet below sea level. Uscan and Illinois No. 1 A. R. Brownfield, southwestern Terry county wildcat, in the center of the north half of section 53-K-pal, had drilled to 2,350 feet.

Carter Test Encounters Oil Showing

Fluid Reported Rising In Hole After Drilling Halted At 2636

Oil was rising in the hole of the Floyd C. Dodson and B. A. Duffy No. 1 J. C. Carter estate wildcat test in the north central part of Glascock county Saturday evening after drilling had ceased with first shows at 2636 feet in lime.

It was estimated that the test was making about a barrel an hour and would be good for about 10 to 15 barrels a day without deepening. However, plans were made to drill further into the lime.

The test, located 330 feet out of the southwest corner of 8-33-3a, T&P survey, is several miles southwest of nearest production. It is a mile and a half northeast of the Fleetborn Oil company No. 1 Dodson which created excitement last May when it missed the salt and had oil shows.

In Dawson county the Ray A. I. S. Calverley in 25-35-3a, T&P survey, ran 8 1/4-inch casing while bottomed at 2,008 feet. It was reported to have reached the Yates sand.

Another wildcat in the same area, the California Co. and Honolulu No. 1, 1,320 feet from the north and west lines of 46-M, EL&RR-RR survey, was opened Friday after being closed for four days and was reported to have 2,200 feet of fluid standing in the hole, of which 1,700 was said to be oil. The oil was bailed and swabbed down and in 12 hours was showing about a barrel an hour. While it was showing some water, it was thought that it was drilling water. The test later was reported swabbed to the bottom, 4,954 feet, by steel line measurement. The last time the bailer was run it came out half full, one-half the fluid being oil, one-half water. In the next 11 1/2 hours the fluid rose 500 feet.

A brick lease play was in prospect between the No. 1 Robinson and a test going down in southwestern Terry county on the Ray Bronfield ranch. It is approximately 15 miles northwest of the Robinson well and is on a supposed trend to the Bennett well in Yoakum county. Nearest production to the Dawson wildcat is in the Means wells in Gaines county, around 40 miles west and north.

Moore Bros. No. 1 Clayton & Johnson in 20-32-4n, T&P survey, southwestern Borden county, had drilled to 1,925 feet in red rock and anhydrite Friday evening. It was running much higher than surrounding abandoned wildcats and reported a show of rainbow oil at 1,775 feet.

Iron Mountain Oil Co. No. 2 Read in 16-30-in, T&P survey, in the East Howard pool, had drilled to 1,700 feet in anhydrite Friday and was momentarily expecting the top of lime. The same company's No. 11 Read had been cleaned out to within 20 feet of bottom.

No. 6 Kloh, 13-33-2a, T&P survey, was drilling at 2,325 feet. No. 12 Bell Overton, 5-32-2a, T&P survey, was drilling at 2,425 feet. No. 13 Bell Overton, 5-32-2a, T&P survey, was drilling at 1,895. No. 14 Bell Overton, 5-32-2a, T&P survey, was drilling 1,267. H. R. Clay "A," 139-29, W&NW survey, a deepened well, was drilling at 2,853 feet.

Continental Oil Co. No. 12 S Settles in 159-29, W&NW survey, which topped pay at 1,238 and is bottomed at 1,275 feet, showed 515 barrels on a proration test Thursday. It made 1641 barrels the first hour and 2146 the second hour.

Locations during the week included Bruce & Johnson No. 1 Mrs. Hyman, 58-59, W&NW survey. It is 330 feet from the east and south lines of the section. Continental Oil Co., also had two new locations. One was its No. 13 S Settles, 830 feet from the north line and 2,640 feet from the east line of 159-29, W&NW survey. ABILENE, Sept. 12.—Three eastern Jones county tests were either spudding or rigging up this week and as one in that section neared possible pay which was discovered by the Martin No. 1 Spurrier two months ago.

N. H. Martin & Son No. 2 Mary & E. B. Spurrier was to be spudded before Sept. 15, and rig was being moved on location for the 2,100-foot test northwest of the discovery well. Location for the No. 2 is 200 feet from the north and west lines of section 1, Wm. C. Walker survey No. 194.

Spudding was the Sandy Ridge Oil corporation No. 1 H. E. Connel, south offset to the Knight & Ewing No. 3 J. D. Barrow, in the Sandy Ridge pool. It is 1,320 feet from the north and 200 feet from the east line of section 8, block 15, T&P survey.

Machine was on location for the Merry Brothers & Parini No. 1 J. H. White, in the southwest corner of the northeast quarter of section 9, block 15, T&P survey.

Fort Worth—Where Broadway Crosses the Sunset Trail

The gripping saga of the last frontier is preserved intact at the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial, but embellishing the glorious show is the glitter of modern Broadway itself. In the upper right is a scene from "Sashay All", the rousing musical climax to "The Last Frontier", while at the lower left is the startling contrast of "Casa Manana", most celebrated cafe-theater in the world today, with its huge circular stage floating in water and revolving the cast before the eyes of 4,000 spectators. Featured at this "House of Tomorrow" is glamorous Fay Cotten, the Borger girl who won her role in a state-wide beauty contest and who is shown above in the $5,000 gold dress she wears in the show. At the lower right, Rosie the Elephant and Pat O'Dell cavort between acts of "Jumbo", the behemoth of Broadway which was transported to Fort Worth as a side show. Close by these scintillating attractions are "Pioneer Palace" and its Honky Tonk revue, and dozens of others.

Shirley Stars In A Story Of The Old South

Appears At Lyric Today In Drama, 'The Littlest Rebel'

As the tiny Confederate who surrounds the Yankees with smiles, surrounds them with songs and defeats them with dances, Shirley Temple is starred in "The Littlest Rebel," which makes a return showing here, playing at the Lyric Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Supported by a cast which includes John Boles, Jack Holt, Karen Morley and her old tap-dancing friend, Bill Robinson, Shirley plays a dramatic role—one which she carries with ease. The story of "The Littlest Rebel," adapted from that popular play, deals with happenings in Virginia during the Civil war.

When they are recaptured, both Boles and Holt must face the consequences of their act. The picture reaches its emotional climax when Shirley journeys to Washington with faithful old Bill Robinson to plead in person with Abraham Lincoln for the lives of her father and Holt, who were guilty only of helping a little girl.

M'Craw Talks At Banquet

Atty. General Sees Governmental Trend Away From Local Rule

Attorney General William M. C. Crow Friday evening lauded county judges and commissioners as the "closest and most useful element" in government today and lamented that "unfortunately our governments are going away from local units."

The principal speaker for the banquet session, an affair honoring West Texas county officials in convention here, which drew a capacity crowd into the Settles hotel ballroom, declared that he was not critical when he said he regretted a surrender of rights from localities to Austin and Washington and held the trend as product of sentiment.

He said he wished to see a return to stronger local rule since it appeared more the spirit of true democracy to him.

However, he had words of praise for the new deal and observed humorously that the "Roosevelt-Garner and McCraw ticket is the best combination I've heard of."

Rep. George Mahon of the 19th congressional district responded to recognition by W. T. Strange, Jr., postmaster, with a cordial "hello, everybody." Clyde Garrett, Eastland, congressman-elect from the 17th, district, responded.

DECLINE SHOWN IN CRUDE OIL OUTPUT

HOUSTON, Sept. 12. (UP)—Daily average crude oil production in the United States was cut 16,575 barrels during the week ended today, but remained above the 3,000,000 mark for the fifth consecutive period, the Oil Weekly reported.

All states exceeded the estimated consumer demand of the U. S. bureau of mines for September, with an aggregate daily flow of 3,000,300 barrels. This was 136,300 above the federal recommendation.

Texas, cutting its production 44,300 barrels daily to a total of 1,133,400, and Louisiana, decreasing its output 5,575 barrels to 233,850 daily, accounted for the national reduction. All other states showed increases.

California increased its flow 20,000 barrels daily to a total of 588,000; Oklahoma advanced from 555,750 to 565,400; Kansas hiked its output 6,000 to reach 182,850; New Mexico's output was increased 1,400 daily to 79,500.

Natural Color Film Offered At The Queen

Frank Morgan, Steffi Duna In Cast Of 'Dancing Pirate'

Said to be a forerunner of color pictures to come, in standpoint of photographic, dramatic and optical excellence, is the new dancing romance in Technicolor, "Dancing Pirate," which is the headline attraction at the Queen theater for three days beginning Sunday.

Designed and directed by the man who made the sensational successful "La Cucaracha," the new production is said to be regarded in motion picture circles as a vast improvement over anything yet accomplished with the full-color process. The entire film is done in "imaginative color" which means, in brief, the elimination of all colors tending to detract from the play's comic or dramatic values.

The story of "Dancing Pirate" is romantic, gay and humorous, and it occurs in an historic era, 1820 California. It features a series of hilariously embarrassing situations encountered by Frank Morgan as the alcalde of a Spanish pueblo, and by Charles Collins in the title role—a fastidious young Bostonian who forgets his dignity to become a swashbuckling, fighting hero. Collins, the screen's newest dancing star, is a recruit from the stage and is said to be an expert. The romantic interest is furnished by Steffi Duna, who appeared in the other color film, "La Cucaracha."

Others in the cast include Luis Alberni, Victor Varconi, Jack La Rue and the Royal Canino family, together with fifty famous dancing artists. Dancing scenes and bright music add to the entertainment.

COWBOY LIFE

By Rufe O'Keefe (Naylor)
Life on the Texas ranges is given by Rufe O'Keefe in his first effort at writing but he missed many chances to dramatize the exciting experience in the literary field. While he has a wealth of material his style is uninteresting and his most thrilling experiences are lost because of repetition and too many minor details.

The book will likely be interesting to old timers in Mitchell, Howard, Martin and Midland counties spent in and around these parts. He uses many names of the old-time ranchers and cowboys with whom he was associated during the time he was employed by the C. C. Slaughter outfit. O'Keefe recounts the experiences of a young man new to this country from Alabama. He tells of hard long winters, of his first experience with cattle; of learning to ride herd; of roundups, stampedes, how long he looked for buffalo and his trouble with a buffalo calf, of lobo wolves and of the coldest winter on record in the Panhandle when cattle froze standing up. Reaching the end of his reminiscences O'Keefe sums it up by saying "It's wonderful how the country has changed. First buffalo and the Indian, then the hunter and the Texas Ranger and soldier, then the cattleman or cowboy, the farmer and the actual settler, then the railroad."

"We will have to wait and see what comes next." L. R.

DOWN FASHION LANE WITH GLADYS CRESS

WITH GLADYS CRESS

"Oh, to be naked with a cheque-book!" is not only the prayer of a clothes-loving comedienne in a recent Broadway hit, but the instinctive wish of every woman who loves these new styles. The new short length bar, or restaurant dining, dresses and ensembles are one of our first extravaganzas—they're so new! For several seasons now the fussy dressy afternoon costume has been giving way to the more tailored simply cut dresses and suits—(Oh, what that word 'simply' implies to a woman). One of the most stunning ensembles of this type in a street-length is a shirt-waist dress of lame topped with a velvet coat—all the fullness in the back. I'm afraid our cheque-book will be forever ruined! An afternoon dress of new velvet—the sleeves shirred—the neck high and plain enhanced by a strand or strands of pearls—the shirt short and flared. Wool!—it's a mania! Wool for evening—wool combined with formal fabrics of all kinds—velvet, chiffon, lame—Schiaparelli goes one better and uses wool with head embroidery. Wool is everywhere and in every type costume. Blacksheep, Blacksheep!

If occasion arises whereby you turn your back—you can be assured it will be of interest! With peplums, tailcoats, faint bustle effects, or evening shirts jutting out will all go toward making your exit impressive!

Feathers! Feathers!—and the latest—a ostrich plume atop the collar! A regal lady with universal appeal! So copy the peacock!

"Substance" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, September 13.

The Golden Text is: "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen" (Hebrews 11:1).

Spirit is the only substance, the invisible and indivisible infinite god. Things spiritual and eternal are substantial. Things material and temporal are insubstantial" (pages 468 and 330).

Landon's Lead Is Trimmed In Second Report On P

Landon's lead over Roosevelt decreases to less than 2 to 1 in the second week's report of The Literary Digest's 10,000,000-ballot presidential straw poll.

Landon is shown receiving 61,190 votes and Roosevelt 33,423 with Lemke trailing the two major candidates with 4,169 out of a total of 98,734 ballots reported.

Thomas is indicated receiving slightly over one-half of the balance of one per cent of the total vote cast to date which is divided among the other four candidates.

Votes are now tallied from Indiana, Minnesota, Ohio, Oklahoma and Texas for the first time.

The balloting in Maine shows a decline percentage-wise for Landon from more than 2 to 1 last week to a little over 2 to 1 this week.

New York continues to vote approximately the same the second week as it did the first, over 2 to 1 for Landon.

The republican lead in Pennsylvania is noted as increasing as the volume of ballots reported from the Keystone state nearly trebles in the second week's tally.

The first returns from Texas show a lead of well over 4 to 1 for Roosevelt.

Oklahoma's first votes are meager but give Roosevelt 712 votes to Landon's 618.

The early ballots from Ohio give Landon more than a 3 to 2 lead over Roosevelt with 3,293 votes marked for the republican candidate to 2,193 ballots in favor of the democratic nominee.

Miss Lena Kyle has returned from Austin where she recently graduated from St. David's hospital there. She will make her home here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Kyle.

tells a story of strength and growth in public service.

IN our previous advertisement we pointed out that 63,000,000 depositors have entrusted some 45 billion dollars in their banks. The latest official nationwide figures show how the banks are employing these deposits through sound conservative loans and investments:—

Bank loans on farm lands and city real estate, nine billion dollars; loans to individuals and business concerns, twelve billion dollars; investments in direct Federal government loans, eleven billion dollars; in obligations of various government recovery corporations, one billion dollars; investments in state and municipal bonds, over three billion dollars; in American corporate securities, six billion dollars.

This bank feels that American banking as a whole is fully measuring up to its duties in the public services it is rendering.

HANGOVER FROM 1876

There'll never be a picket line of governors marching in front of the executive office with placards lettered "we want living wages," but failure to adopt one of the constitutional amendments on the Nov. 3 ballot would justify a loud protest by future holders of the highest state office.

The governor gets about one-half the average for the district attorneys of Texas. These officials average approximately $4,000 in salary, and have the right to practice law all the year around.

The increase in the salaries would amount to about one-fourth the increased state revenues to be offered by one change in administrative procedure by one of the officers concerned, that is a tightening up on beer license taxes, which recently was estimated to add $100,000 this year to state income.

Man About Manhattan

An inspection of the smartly groomed shoppers parading Fifth avenue reveals a Spanish motif in fall hats for women. They are patterned after the matador topper, with small crown and wide brim over which dangles a small cord.

Those frequent jaunts west by Arch Selwyn have been explained. For two years the producer has been secretly looking for an ideal spot to found a theater group like the Manchester players in England.

It has been many seasons since a modern author had three plays on Broadway at the same time, but Maxwell Anderson will achieve that distinction this winter.

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — The "little business man" is slated for a lot of cordial new deal attention in the next few weeks. Reason is the London charge that Roosevelt policies injured small business and retarded its growth.

Not only are there now more small business firms in these states, but the total of their sales is greater than when Roosevelt took office.

Particularly significant figures are those covering service establishments (barber shops, beauty parlors, laundries, shoe repairs, cleaners and dyers) in South Carolina, Arkansas and Arizona.

It has been three months since congress authorized an addition of 190 agents to bring the G-man staff up to 780. But so far, only 35 have been added to the rolls.

This is a much tougher test than it would seem. The bureau inspectors are veteran G-men, and acute judges of human nature.

The average dirt farmer who plans to spend some long winter evenings poring through the 1938 "Agricultural Year Book," just published by the department of agriculture, had better arm himself with a dictionary and scientific handbook.

Some sections of the volume are so replete as to require such assistance. Here is one puzzle: "Most of the recent hypotheses regarding the origin of corn make reference to teosinte, its closest wild relative."

Training subjects cover plastic surgery, fitness, practical psychology, criminal law, ballistics, legal medicine and technique of interviews.

Contesting artists are given full freedom of expression in submitting draft drawings. The only requirement is that the work be suitable to the structure for which it is intended, and that it be acceptable to local authorities.

Many prominent American artists have submitted winning designs. Among them are Rockwell Kent, George Biddle, Leon Kroll, Maurice Sterne, Reginald Marsh and Boardman Robinson.

The treasury's art program is only one phase of the federal government's activity in this field. The Works Progress administration has 5,210 artists on its rolls, and the Resettlement administration has an art staff to direct the beautification of its model communities.

EDITORS WILL HAVE DAY AT CENTENNIAL

DALLAS, Sept. 12 (UP)—Texas Centennial officials said today that September 20-21 has been designated as "Texas Managing Editors' Association Day" at the exposition.

The displays will open in New York on October 6 at the Whitney Museum, and in Washington on November 15 at the Corcoran Gallery. Simultaneously there will be published a book, "Art in Federal Buildings," which will tell the amazing story of the government's extensive fostering of artistic talent.

To foster local talent, the treasury invites the community in which the building is located to appoint a committee for the purpose of conducting a contest among home-town artists for the best design.

THE WORLD WITH A FENCE

A New Novel by Marian Sims

Chapter 19
DEAR MRS. TAYLOR
 Comprehension blinded Carol. Mrs. Taylor again—and the light from Mrs. Taylor's window shining on Mike's agony. Mike, with his face against her shoulder. Oh, surely there must be a hell for Mrs. Taylor of the world who cut such wide swathes of destruction!

Fury gave her courage; left her cold and quite indifferent to the outcome. She said quietly:
 "My friend Mrs. Taylor, of course," and laughed shortly. He seemed to be waiting, so she went on.
 "Mr. Hudson, I never felt as sorry and he wanted to try and make me understand. It wasn't necessary, of course, but he didn't know that. And I didn't urge him to run away; on the contrary I told him it would get easier as time went on and Annabel's parents came to accept him.

"He broke down and cried. He even put his head against my shoulder for as much as five seconds. Since Mrs. Taylor must have been watching the whole thing in order to see that (does she sit with her chair at that window, Mr. Hudson?) she could tell you that was all. Only she won't, of course."

Mr. Hudson was back at his

for anybody in my life as I do for Mike Hannigan. He was the most promising pupil in Ashboro, and he was a burnt offering if I ever saw one."

Once launched, she hurried on. "Mike came to me the first day of school and told me his ambition—to be a lawyer, and make something of himself. He knew his limitations and his obstacles, and he made me promise to warn him if he started slipping. Until this happened he never went to a class unprepared, and he never looked at Annabel until he finally had to see her or step on her."

Mr. Hudson said reluctantly: "That's a little hard to believe."

"A great many true things are. The pupils knew it; you could see it in their faces. If you could induce them to talk they'd admit it. As for what Mrs. Taylor saw: Mike came to me in sheer desperation. He knew I'd banked on him, Taylor too seriously, and there have been enough unfortunate results already."

He opened the door for her and then shut it. When he was alone he stood motionless and looked at nothing.

Winter dragged its interminable length across the calendar. February came and spring was a faint thin whisper in the air, like distant music felt rather than heard. March and spring was the fulfillment of an uncredited promise, with daffodils and dogwood to bear its witness. Ashboro took on beauty and color, and Carol felt herself coming to life again.

Ellen noticed the change and sighed with relief.
 "I thought you were never going to snap out of it," she confessed. "I've hurt for you for the past two months, but I haven't been able to do a darned thing."

Carol laughed. "That's what you think. If it hadn't been for you I'd have chucked the whole thing in a well and cleared out in January."

Ben Tyler was a tower of strength. Ordinarily Ben would have lost interest in her, but the crisis had aroused his chivalry, and achieved what no personal charm could have accomplished. Squirling Carol had an added zest, and Ben Tyler's name was solid in Ashboro. He took her to movies, played golf with her on Saturdays (they agreed that Sundays were dangerous), stirred up bridge games for empty evenings.

One spring afternoon two weeks later he stopped by the house. She saw him from the porch and went out and sat in the car.

"Blake Thornton's coming over here next weekend," he explained. "He was in school with my younger brother, and he's got an advertising agency of some sort. I thought I'd have a dinner party at the club Saturday night, so don't make any other dates."

She laughed. "What other dates do I have except with you?"
 "I dunno. You might be holdin' cut on me. Blake's already got a wife in Florida or somewhere at the moment—but you might wangle a job out of him."

"She chuckled at his frankness. "I know such a lot about advertising."

"Well, you're no moron, and that goes a long way in any business," he said gallantly. "I'll come for you about seven."

She went back to the porch and sat in the swing and wondered if you could learn anything about ad-

'Far Western' Bloc Is Seen In Campaign

Demos Profess To See A Solid Line-Up Of Pacific States

By BYRON PRICE (Chief of AP Bureau, Washington) To a "far west" bloc of states forming in 1936 to take its place alongside the other grand divisions of American politics...

Some ranking democratic strategists profess to think so. When they talk privately, they rank the far west right behind the solid south as the most hopeful democratic territory this year.

They include as a minimum California, Oregon and Washington, with 35 electoral votes.

The republicans concede none of these states, although there are some highly placed in republican councils who will go so far as to agree that democratic chances are better in this Pacific territory than in some other places.

The reasons for this involve a variety of issues. For one thing, the west coast has become a haven for liberalism of numerous brands, more or less setting it apart.

Perhaps a real change is taking place. It always has seemed incongruous to lump together all of that vast territory west of the Mississippi as one political entity, yet that is the way it has voted in past elections.

Olson Death a Factor The democratic prognosticators also claim an exception in Wisconsin, because of the La Follette influence, and they are counting heavily on the Roosevelt farm policy, plus the home vote-gathering ability of Secretary Wallace, to swing Iowa.

But in Minnesota, which likewise has been high up on the democratic claim list, there are complications. The death of Farmer-Labor Governor Olson has forced a re-assessment of the entire state out-lock. Olson had depended on to add the Farmer-Labor vote to the democratic vote in Minnesota. He was trying to do that, right up to the end. His death-bed statement for Roosevelt will be widely circulated among his followers.

With his passing, however, the Lemke Union party is preparing to move into Minnesota in force. The republicans hold that if Lemke splits off an appreciable portion of the left-wing strength previously controlled by Olson, Landon will be high man in Minnesota.

In various other states of the northwest and west, notably Lemke's home state of North Dakota, the republicans cling to the same hope. Whoever is right about this, it seems assured that Minnesota and her neighbor states will witness a no-quarter, rough-and-tumble campaign.

Kansas a G. O. P. Keystone - Republican hopes and claims start, of course, with Kansas. Having twice elected a republican governor in democratic years, and that governor being Mr. Landon himself, the Sunflower state is reckoned by republican figures as the surest egg of the party for 1936.

To Kansas the Landshakes quickly add Ohio and Michigan, a bloc of western states including Colorado, Nebraska and Wyoming, and all or nearly all of New England.

But always, before they reach the theoretical total which would win the election, they come to the two states having the largest electoral votes of any—all—New York and Pennsylvania.

Considering the Democratic head-start in the south, New York and Pennsylvania always have been regarded as absolutely indispensable to the election of a republican president. That is true this year.

Some party statisticians figure that the republican ticket might conceivably win with only one of these states in an exceedingly close election; but agreement is general that if both of them are lost, the election is lost. And both are stubbornly contested ground now.

It is no accident that, of all the states in the union, Governor Landon chose Pennsylvania and New York for the opening speeches of his campaign, and plans to return to them just before election day. They are, in a very real sense, the Alpha and Omega of republican fortunes.

Special Guards At Dawes Home After Kidnaping Threats

CHICAGO, Sept. 12. (AP)—As a series of kidnap scares roused wealthy suburban Evanston today, preparations for the marriage tonight of Miss Virginia Dawes, adopted daughter of former Vice-President Charles G. Dawes, included arrangements for an augmented police detail.

While officers stood guard at the Dawes home, it was learned another family from the beautiful northern lake shore city had received threats and retained two private guards for their children.

The family was that of John Cummings Lindop, wealthy real estate dealer. It was reported that in a number of telephone calls the safety of the two Lindop children was threatened.

The guard was posted at the Dawes home when the banker reported he had seen a suspicious person loitering nearby. Miss Virginia Dawes was to become the bride of Richard Thompson Cragg in a ceremony at the Dawes home tonight.

Earlier in the week federal agents and police arrested Frank R. Thomas in connection with extortion notes sent to Harry R. Kendall, an insurance company executive who resides in Evanston. Thomas, released on bond, contended he was involved through a telephone call which directed his 12-year-old son to pick up a package at a railroad station. It turned out to be a dummy package planted by the police.

Heat, Drouth Hurt Ranges And L'stock

Decline In Condition During August Noted In Govt. Report

AUSTIN, Sept. 12.—Although the extreme heat wave and lack of moisture during the first three weeks in August were very detrimental to ranges and caused a decline in the condition of livestock in the state, stock were in good condition on September 1, according to a report for Texas issued by the department of agriculture, range and other feed supplies, the report said, are ample for the major portion of Texas, with good supplies in the southern half and poor to fair supplies in the northern half.

Ranges Deteriorate Cattle ranges deteriorated 10 points during the month of August. The condition on Sept. 1, 1936, was 75 per cent of normal, compared with 85 per cent a month ago, 80 per cent a year ago, and 77 per cent 10-year average on September 1. The greatest deterioration of ranges occurred in the northern half of the state. The intense heat wave and lack of moisture during the first three weeks in August were destructive factors to grass and feed crops. Most ranges in this area still had a poor to fair supply of dry grass, but moisture was great, some ranges fed and provided water to increase the poor to fair prospects of winter grazing and furnish moisture for winter wheat. The feed supplies in the extreme drouth area in north central and northwest Texas are very limited, and many cattle will have to be moved out of these areas unless moisture is received in time to make some forage feed and provide winter wheat grazing. Stock water is also very short in some areas of north central Texas. The southern half of the state also experienced hot, dry weather during the major portion of August, but the deterioration was not so great. This portion of the state received some refreshing rains during the last week in August, which constituted the largest portion of the moisture received in Texas during the month. There is ample stock water, and ample to surplus feed supplies in most of this part of the state.

Cattle And Sheep Cattle declined six points during August. The condition on Sept. 1, 1936, was 82 per cent of normal, compared with 88 per cent a month ago, 84 per cent a year ago, and 82 per cent the 10-year average on September 1. Cattle and calves were in good condition for most of Texas, in spite of the extreme heat wave. Cattle have lost some flesh in the northern portion of the state, but, generally, are in good condition. Cattle shipments were light during August. Sheep declined four points during August. The condition on Sept. 1, 1936, was 81 per cent of normal, compared with 85 per cent a month ago, 86 per cent a year ago, and 82 per cent the 10-year average on September 1. Sheep and lambs were in good condition, generally. Losses have been light this summer which were largely due to screw worm and stomach worm infestations. The movement of sheep and lambs to market has been small during August. Contracting for fall delivery has been very limited. Lamb shipments will predominate in this fall's sheep movement. Indications are that the larger portion of the ewe lambs will be held.

of the idea. Colorado put the idea over in a big way and Sweetwater is going to follow suit as a trade extension project. Those who are behind such a move here believe in it as a good will vehicle between city and country. Every year it is the same old story over. Schools are crowded and more teachers are needed. Both buildings and a more adequate teaching staff could be provided if funds were available. Last year the situation was acute. The end of the first week this year has seen a 200 jump in enrollment in eight public schools, and it is producing serious difficulties. If Big Spring continues to grow, the school system must expand. There's no arguing this point.

Judge Charles Klapproth scored gambling here in his charge to the grand jury as the greatest breeder of crime. Be that as it may, it is obvious that there is no place which creates such favorable conditions conducive to crime as houses of gambling. They draw idle youngsters into an atmosphere which is far from wholesome, and there they learn how to pick up "easy money." Persecution of the gambling house is a worthy aim, but it is not sufficient within itself. Something constructive should be provided for the idle boy.

After a conference with WPA district officials, the city decided to continue its paving program on a relief work basis last week. It was found that labor was more plentiful and consequently work could be pushed steadily forward. Half of the paving will be about half as much under WPA as under private operation. The city announced that those who wanted the paving should put in a check with a contract before Oct. 1 and the work would be assured in six block segments or more. Supposedly this was to provoke a flood of anxious contract signers. It's very doubtful that it will. People want paving, but when they have to pay for it, they almost have to be forced into it. And there may be some ground for that, since a paved street is a service and a governmental unit is supposed to render service to its constituents where it will do the most good.

Rain now might help the feed crop but is too late for cotton. Howard county would do well to produce 10,000 bales of lint this season. Only hope is that the declining estimates of production by the government which have already sent prices to more than 12 cents per pound will hold the price much higher. It might be hoped that predictions of 20 cents per pound are not too wild.

that in submitting such matter to the legislature special attention be given to the manner of fixing salaries of such county officials with respect to the years which may be considered as a basis for such salaries, and to the matter of reimbursement or payment to such counties of fees or expenses incurred in the administration of the law in felony cases. The resolution called for the appointment of a committee of five to confer with legislators on the changes sought. More Hospitals A third resolution petitioned the state board of control and the state legislature to provide additional hospital facilities for the insane, and to see that state hospitals accept patients in the order in which their cases are disposed of in court. The resolution deplored the fact that crowded conditions in existing

Rebels Seize San Sebastian

Fascists In Possession Of Entire Northeastern Coastal Sector

(Copyright, By Associated Press) SAN SEBASTIAN, Sept. 12.—Government forces abandoned this besieged city to fascist forces today. The fascist forces thus were in possession tonight of the entire Spanish northeastern coastal sector adjacent to the French frontier.

The sector had been bitterly fought for since the outset of the war because the fascists wanted a northern coastal rear guard base for armies advancing on Madrid to the south. Occupation of the sector by fascists also would prevent any gun-running across the French frontier to the government forces.

Trun, a few miles away, fell before the fascists a week ago. The municipal governor, Antonio Ortega, said he would remain at his desk until all of his men had evacuated the city. He said he then planned to board a yacht with other government chiefs and go to Bilbao.

The fascist columns of General Mola entered the city limits and made rapid progress despite the gunfire of retreating militiamen. The headlong flight of the government defenders began late in the afternoon after insurgents captured Fort Santa Barbara which commanded all government positions at the city's gates.

Hundreds of militiamen were hastily loaded in trucks which roared at breakneck speed over the Bilbao road. Thousands of government fighters crowded aboard freighters, ships and motorboats. They were prepared to renew the fight at Bilbao or flee into France.

Diplomatic offices in Berlin were busy throughout the day dispatching special reports to their governments, intensely interested because the speech was the first in which Hitler publicly mentioned the Ukraine. Lesser Nazis have spoken privately and publicly of a wish for the rich territory. Drawing a picture of surplus land and materials in Soviet Russia, Hitler wound up: "I am not in the fortunate position of the Soviet Jews. Nevertheless, Germany's problem must be solved. There is no such thing as saying it cannot be done. "Germany must live."
