COUNTY ACRE, PRODUCTION FIGURES SET

Acreage Reduced By State Board, But Per-Acre Allowable Increased

County acreages and production figures under this year's soil conservation program were officially announced here Friday upon receipt of a schedule from the state board.

M. Weaver, adjustment assistant, said the county's cotton acreage total had been reduced by the board from 105,899 acres submitted to 100,512, but that the board had boosted the production per acre allowable from 112 to 114 pounds, which almost compensated for the difference.

This would give a production of 11,418,590 pounds annually against 11,809,548 asked, a difference of around 1,000 bales.

General base acreage, food feed and other purposes, was cut by the board from 53,342 acres to 53,397 acres, but the production figure was raised from 99 to 100. This would mean a general base production figure of 5,339,770 units against 5,601,871 asked.

A production ratio of 100 is equivalent to about 13.2 bushels per acre.

Estimated Income

On the basis of the production and acreage allotments given by the state board, it appeared today that farm producers would stand to receive more from soil conservation and building practices from general base acreage space than from cotton acreage. Those with a 100 production figure would stand to receive around $7.40 per acre on land listed for cooperation in building and conservation programs.

The county committee will go into session with County Agent O. P. Griffin and Weaver Saturday and Monday to make individual adjustments and to prepare work sheets which are due to be sent to the state board not later than Wednesday.

As soon as the board has checked the work and returned applications, they will be completed and returned for benefit payments which should reach here around the first of the year.

500 Members This Week Is Red Cross Aim

Campaign Leaders Hope To Reach Halfway Mark Before Sunday

Volunteer workers were canvassing Big Spring Friday in behalf of the American Red Cross, determined to enlist 500 in the annual roll call by Saturday night.

That would be one-half the Howard county chapter's membership quota. "If we can reach the halfway mark this week," said Shine Phillips who, with Mrs. Harvey Williamson, is in charge of the roll call, "we feel sure that we can reach our goal. Although the membership campaign continues until Thanksgiving, we want to close up our drive in short order. We can do that if 500 members are enrolled this week."

Phillips said he knew of some neighboring towns—smaller than Big Spring—which already had enrolled twice as many Red Cross members. The roll call opened Wednesday.

Highway First Aid

Among the many programs of the Red Cross is that of establishing highway first aid stations in an effort to reduce the enormous death rate occurring each year as a result of accidents on the highways. The organization's aim is to bring immediate treatment to those injured on the highways.

The Red Cross already has established more than 900 of these first aid stations on the nation's highways, and will expand the program this year. The Howard county chapter hopes to establish some stations, but must have more funds to do so, Phillips said. He pointed out that the larger the membership subscriptions, the more money available for local Red Cross activities, since only 50 cents of each membership donation, regardless of the amount, goes to the national chapter.

Col. Roy Gilks, Salvation Army officer of London, England, will speak, and special music has been arranged.

WINTER PROSPECTS GOOD FOR TEXAS RANGES AND LIVESTOCK

Cattle And Sheep Generally In Fine Condition

AUSTIN, Nov. 13.—Range and livestock conditions in Texas were good at the beginning of November, and prospects for winter grazing were favorable in most sections of the state, according to the department of agriculture's monthly report. The report said livestock is going into winter in good flesh, and indications are that the wintering of all livestock will be under favorable conditions.

Cattle ranges, generally, were good on November 1, and the condition of sheep was also good.

Crop Yield Estimate Better Than A Month Ago

AUSTIN, Nov. 13.—The first three weeks of October were generally favorable for the maturing and harvesting of crops, but general rains over practically the entire state during the last ten days of the month retarded the harvesting of crops still in the field, according to the monthly crop report of the department of agriculture. With the exception of the area north of the Canadian river, the report said, moisture supplies have been adequate and prospects for the winter are fairly good except in this dry area.

Prospective crop yields per acre in Texas for 1936, based on the combined yields of 33 important crops, are 91 percent of the 10-year average on November 1. This is an increase of 2 percent above indications on October 1. This increase is accounted for largely by improved cotton and peanut yields, which more than offset declines for some other commodities, particularly corn.

Improvement in the northern and northwestern districts results in a cotton production forecast for Texas of 90,000 bales above that of October 1. The crop is now forecast at 3,005,000 bales, based on an indicated yield per acre of 122 pounds. Indicated production is slightly above that of last year, but is far below the 5-year average (1928-32) production of 4,580,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight.

Grain sorghum yield is slightly below that indicated on October 1, being placed at 9.5 bushels per acre compared with 10 bushels last month, 13.5 bushels last year, and 16 bushels the 10-year average (1928-32).

Local Church Will Observe Anniversary

First Baptist Organized 50 Years Ago; Special Program Planned

First Baptist church will observe its fiftieth anniversary Sunday in special services which will honor Mrs. C. W. Willis, only living charter member of the church, and Rev. L. R. Millican, second missionary pastor for the body.

The pioneer missionary whose duties comprised the territory between Sweetwater and El Paso when he took it over in 1887, will come here Sunday from his home in El Paso. His health is such that he likely will be unable to speak.

The pioneer missionary whose duties comprised the territory between Sweetwater and El Paso when he took it over in 1887, will come here Sunday from his home in El Paso. His health is such that he likely will be unable to speak.

Pastor's Seventh Year

Mrs. Willis, confined to her home because of failing health, will be brought to the church to recount some of her "early experiences in the church." Mrs. B. Reagan, for 33 years a member of the organization, will tell of her "first experience in the Big Spring Baptist church."

Rev. R. E. Day, who will also be observing the beginning of his seventh year as pastor of the church, will bring the golden anniversary message on "Building Movements," organized in 1886.

The church was organized Nov. 13, 1886 with Rev. S. P. Galloway, missionary from the state Baptist convention, as itinerant pastor. He was succeeded a year later by Rev. Millican, during whose pastorate the first church building was raised. In 1904 the church went from a part time pastorate to full time with the aid of the state mission board.

The original building, which was rebuilt after being almost destroyed by a cyclone in 1897, was destroyed by fire in 1908 and a second plant opened in 1910. Fire again robbed the congregation of a place to meet in 1923 and the building which houses the church today was formally dedicated in 1929.

Since the eight charter members organized 50 years ago, the membership has grown steadily until now it number approximately 65.

Baptists Hit At Gambling And Drinking

Situation In State Termed Worse Than In Days Of Saloon

MINERAL WELLS, Nov. 13. (AP)—Sharp criticism of "wide open" drinking, gambling and immorality in Texas was embodied in a resolution adopted at the Texas Baptist General Convention's closing session today.

The civic righteousness committee reported the liquor situation is "worse than the darkest days of the saloon." Its chairman, Dr. John L. Whorton of Longview, urged a vigorous campaign against the vices which he said were degrading home life and ruining the morals of citizens.

Dr. Porter Bailes of Tyler objected to Sunday amusements, saying they caused a "transformation of Sunday into 'funday'."

Among members of the executive board named by the Convention were J. H. Hankins of Childress, W. H. Andrews of Bryan, W. H. Brown of Jacksonville and W. H. Brown of Midland.

A budget of $600,000 was proposed yesterday for the Convention in the coming year—an increase of 25 percent over the amount for the last convention year.

Texas Baptists have emerged from a grievous period of depression and we are convinced that insofar as our denominational affairs are concerned, we have come upon the hour of recovery," the annual report of the executive board said. The board added to its conviction that no additional debt should be imposed and proposed that steps be taken immediately to retire all debts.

ACHIEVEMENT DAYS SLATED NEXT WEEK

FOREIGN PURCHASE OF US SECURITIES IS BEING STUDIED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13. (AP)—President Roosevelt said today the federal reserve board is studying the question of the possible need of legislation to control foreign buying of American securities.

He said that foreign investments, if accumulated to a certain point, were a potential danger not only to domestic currency and exchange but to every other nation's currency and exchange.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13. (AP)—The body of a baby, believed to be about one week old, was found in a package opened by clerks in the San Francisco dead letter office today.

The package had been directed to a fictitious address. An autopsy to determine the cause of the infant's death was ordered.

SAILORS AT HOUSTON BEATEN AND ROBBED

HOUSTON, Nov. 13. (AP)—The ship channel here was tense today after two sailors were reported beaten and robbed and a woman was said to have been kidnapped. The channel has been the scene of a comparatively peaceful strike for nearly two weeks.

A member of the strike committee said New York gunman had been imported to kill him.

Baptists Hit At Gambling And Drinking RADIO STATION CHIEF NAMED

J. F. Willson, Former B'Spring Resident, To Assume Post With KBST Dec. 1

Manager of KBST, the Big Spring Spring Herald Broadcasting company's 100-watt station due to go on the air next month, will be J. F. Willson, former resident of this city.

Announcement was made Friday that Willson had been employed to have complete supervision of the station, and that he would take up his duties here December 1. He will be in charge of the station's operation, and already is considering selection of personnel.

Familiar with both the program and technical phases of the radio, Willson has been connected with Southwestern stations for the past several years. He was associated with a Little Rock, Ark., station, and for the past few years has been manager of station KFPW at Fort Smith, Ark. He will come here from Fort Smith, the latter part of this month.

Willson at one time was local manager for the Texas Electric Service company, and also was in the employ of the Lyric theatre in Big Spring.

Work was going ahead on KBST's studio in the Crawford hotel, with the probability that it will be completed by Saturday night.

Transmitter and other broadcasting equipment arrived here Thursday from the Radio Corporation of America plant at Camden, N. J., and installation will be started as soon as the transmitter building and tower are erected at the site northeast of the city. Contract for erection of the 165-foot broadcasting tower has been awarded to the D&H Electric company, and work is due to start at once, proceeding as the weather permits. B. A. Reagan, contractor on the studio construction at the Crawford hotel, will erect the transmitter building.

Drouth Parley Man Dies Of Bullet Wound

Group Meeting At Dalhart To Submit Findings To President Constable Third Victim In Gun Battle At Texas Dance Hall

AMARILLO, Nov. 13.—The opening session of the president's Great Plains drouth committee in Dalhart will be called at 10:30 o'clock on the morning of November 13.

L. H. Hauser, regional director of the Resettlement administration, announced here today.

The meeting is significant because the findings of this committee at the Dalhart conference will be taken direct to President Roosevelt for his study prior to his expected request of the new congress for a long-term land use program for the Great Plains region.

The present Great Plains drouth committee appointed by the president on September 20 differs only slightly from the area committee of last summer. It had been instructed to prepare a full report which shall be as informative as possible and serve as a basis for legislation.

Representative farmers from every section of the five-state area—Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado and Kansas, are being urged to attend the parley and express their feelings toward a permanent program of land use. Committee members hope to receive first-hand reports and recommendations from all parts of the southern section of the five-state area. A similar public hearing, preceded here and followed by informal conferences, has been scheduled for Big Spring, North Dakota, on November 23, when the problems of the northern sector will be discussed.

Although various governmental agencies will be represented at Dalhart, every effort is being made to attract farmers from all parts of the region affected by drouth and wind erosion.

Funeral services were to be held here at 5 o'clock this afternoon for Mrs. Margaret Ely, mother and grandmother of several Big Spring residents, who succumbed Thursday evening at the home of a daughter in Wichita Falls. Mrs. Ely was 68 years old.

The rites were scheduled at the Eberley funeral chapel, with Rev. Mason of the Church of God in charge. Burial was to be made in the new Mt. Olive cemetery.

Survivors include two sons, George C. Ely and Sam J. Ely of Big Spring; three daughters, Mrs. George Leavelle of Roswell, N. M.; Mrs. J. G. Asher, Fort Worth, and Mrs. Ola Culberson of Wichita Falls; a sister, Mrs. Nan Wilson of Palo Pinto; three grandsons, Ray Ely and Aubrey Ely of Big Spring, and Rex W. Ely of Longview; and a niece, Mrs. Irene Epler of near Big Spring.

Mrs. Ely had on occasion lived here, making her home with her sons. For several years she had resided with Mrs. Culberson. The body was returned here Friday in an Eberley funeral coach.

Named as pallbearers were Raymond Hale, Lester Ratliff, J. G. Early, Dalton Mitchell, Rev. Wayne and Allie Glover.

WOODROW ROBINSON WINNER IN CALF FEEDING CONTEST

Woodrow Robinson won first and third places in a boys club calf feeding contest terminated here Thursday afternoon with the auction of calves he and Wyatt Lipscomb had fed.

His top calf brought $50 on a bid by T. J. A. Robinson, who also bought in the No. 3 calf for eight cents a pound. Young Lipscomb's calf, adjudged No. 2, brought $60 on a bid by the B. O. Jones grocery.

The two boys paid $25 for the calves and have been feeding them for a period of eight months. All three averaged more than two pounds gain daily.

RECREATIONAL EVENT SCHEDULED TONIGHT

A recreational program under the direction of Mrs. W. H. Ward, recreational director for home demonstration clubs, will be given at 7:45 tonight in the Crawford hotel ballroom.

She will be assisted by her son, Madison Smith, who will lead in a series of suggested games, contests and folk dances. The general public is invited to attend the demonstration meeting.

Govt. Leader Says City Can Resist Siege

Barracks, Fortifications Bombed; Six Rebel Planes Shot Down

(By the Associated Press)

Madrid's Montana barracks and a whole line of fortifications in the vicinity of the Segovia bridge were bombed in a daring insurgent air raid late today—several hours after government planes won a victory in a battle over the capital, shooting down six fascist ships.

General Jose Miaja, socialist defense chief, said the Spanish capital was "prepared to withstand years of siege."

Fascist bombers and pursuit planes rained lead all along the government lines from the Toledo bridge to University City while the insurgent ground forces spread out and forward apparently in efforts to clear the way for simultaneous attacks on the capital from the north and south entrances.

On Other Fronts

In the south, insurgent cavalry units drove on Vallejo, southeast of the capital, while the insurgent left wing was reported to have occupied Eoadilla del Monte to the west.

Behind this line, eight miles south of the capital, was Getafe, which the war ministry stated was occupied after only a brief skirmish.

Moorish legionnaires who drove through the Carabanchel Esajo area found the bodies of 30 women, each dressed in the blue coveralls of government militiamen, and at least 300 government regulars.

The air attack on the government lines followed insurgent shelling of the defenders. Several shells landed in the heart of the capital.

French Situation

As the fighting went on, French communist demands for last-minute intervention in Spain to support the socialist defenders of Madrid led to new threats of a rift in Premier Leon Blum's government. Moderate supporters of the Blum regime warned they would bolt if he yielded to the communist demands.

Winston Churchill, veteran statesman, derided the British for alleged neglect in carrying out their rearmament program.

At Vienna, a tri-partite statement of Austro-Hungarian "right to rearm," supported by Italy, stirred uneasiness in Rumania.

In London fears grew of a rupture of Italo-Soviet diplomatic relations as a result of a verbal duel between the Italian ambassador and the Russian delegate to the neutrality committee sessions. The latter charged Italy with being an aggressor and an arch-violator of treaties.

Auditorium Program Set For Nov. 23

Amateurs Urged To File Applications With The C. Of C. At Once

Second of Big Spring's free "auditorium night" programs will be on Monday, November 23.

Announcement of the event was made by Shine Phillips, who is in charge of the series. Phillips said the program will be presented by Howard county talent, and that Pascal Buckner will be director.

Encouraged by the big turnout at the first of the auditorium night programs, held last week when Colorado entertainers appeared, leaders of the civic program movement are hoping to make the next event even bigger. The Colorado group attracted a large crowd.

Open To All

Prizes, Phillips said, will be like those of last week: $5 for first place, $3 for second place and $2 for third place.

Any individual or group of entertainers who reside in Howard county and who are amateurs are invited to make application for appearance on the program. Phillips emphasized that applications should be reported to the chamber of commerce office or to Buckner at the high school immediately. "We want the applications at once," Phillips said, "so that the program can be arranged and announced. Naturally, the number of entries will be limited."

The program is one of a series undertaken as a civic move and to develop and encourage local talent. There will be no charge for any of the auditorium night programs.

Duce Changes Court Set-Up

ROME, Nov. 13. (AP)—Premier Benito Mussolini has decided to abolish all existing courts of law, substituting state committees and socializing the legal profession, official sources disclosed today.

Attorneys described the project as "one of the most important changes in 20th century jurisprudence."

Abolition also was planned for the special tribunal established to protect the life of Mussolini. Conditions are so settled and the people so united around the premier that he decided there was no necessity of continuing the tribunal.

Under the new system, lawyers become government functionaries the same as judges and other court employees.

Joe Kenneth Murdock, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Murdock, believes in bringing 'em back alive.

Together with Robert Morrow and Red Henry and with the aid of his dog, "Bull," he captured a gray fox Thursday on West 8th street just off Abrams.

The three boys were playing in the gulches which jut off from Seenic Mountain into the western part of the city when they jumped gray foxes. "Bull" cornered one but three got away. The boys succeeded in capturing the animal and putting it in a cage at the Murdock home at 709 Abrams.

Fordham Star Gets Plenty Of Assistance

Coach Jim Crowley Has Strong Defensive Team; Offensive Puzzling

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (AP)—Al Gurske, Fordham halfback, got plenty of help from his mates when he reeled off that 80-yard dash to a touchdown against the Purdue Boilermakers.

Here's how it happened. Palau shook Gurske into the clear with a neat bit of blocking wherein he took care of the Boilermakers' left end and wingback.

From 'Chumps' To Champs THE STORY OF NORTHWESTERN'S TITLE TEAM

By WILLIAM WEEKES

CHICAGO, Nov. 13 (AP)—The captain barely won his freshman numerals, the blocking star fumbled away a big game, a crack defensive end spent half a season as a mediocre halfback, and a brilliant tackle was getting nowhere so fast a year ago that he wanted to quit football.

They are some of the youngsters Lynn Waldorf, college football's master builder of 1936, molded into a Big Ten conference champion—a team that broke Minnesota's stranglehold on national championship honors.

Big fatherly Waldorf—"Pappy" to his players and assistants—forgot the fumble, worked long with the captain, shifted the ordinary back to end, kept the prospective star tackle from leaving school and came up with quite a football team.

TCU 'Macks' Forge Ahead

McClure And McCall Win Starting Assignment Against Centenary

FORT WORTH, Nov. 13.—The two "Macks" of Texas Christian's football team certainly came into their own in the game here against Texas last week.

Harold McClure, right half, had a field day, scoring all of the Frogs' four touchdowns and missing a fifth by inches as the final gun ended the day's play.

McClure carried the ball just seven times, and on four of these he crossed the enemy goal line. That's a pretty good average for any ball-carrier.

McCall's stellar work at the left half was probably less noted in the stands, but it was his great performance in blocking on offense and in backing up the line on defense that went far toward making the Frogs click.

Coach Dutch Meyer has announced that, because of their great work against Texas, he will start both of the "Macks" against the Centenary Gentlemen here tomorrow.

Coaches Are Pleased With The Longhorns

Steers Get Day Off As Mentors Work With Junior Players

Steer coaches were all smiles during football practice yesterday, but Steer players were not suited out. They were given the day off as a reward for good work against San Angelo Wednesday and Caneles George Brown and Carmen Brandon spent the afternoon working with the junior gridlers.

They helped coach the Broncos in a game with the Devil second tonight won by the Devils, 13-0. Brown said he was well pleased with the showing made against the Bobcats. The Steers played a hard brand of football and he had nothing but praise for the Longhorns.

They missed two good scoring opportunities during the game. Once when an official was too quick on the whistle and again when Wood passed a little over McCullough's head.

The Steers go to work again this afternoon in preparation for the Abilene Eagle tussle next week.

MORRISON, STAR-GAZER NASHVILLE, Nov. 13 (AP)—Ray Morrison dumfounded fans and newsmen alike when, on the eve of the grid game, he said flatly: "Van-debilt will beat Georgia Tech." He wasn't far wrong, getting a scoreless tie.

The ex-Frog star will be at one end of the Cosden court to play the Oilers' defensive game along with Jake Morgan, while the rest of the team will line up the same as in the first game.

Shifting of Morgan was a lucky move on the part of "Quarterback" Henninger. Jake reported for the first practice of the year as a forward, contending with Tommy Hutto and Jack Smith for a first string position, but went to guard when a capable running mate of Wallin failed to report.

Hutto flashed his old-time form in the Oilers' game with Garden City last week-end and gave indications that he has hit his stride early.

The visitors will line up with Owens and Hughes at the forward berth, Ferrell at the pivot post, and Walker and Johnson in the backcourt.

Necessary. The squad is well balanced in every department of the game.

The three center men in the line, Dougherty at center, and Bassi and Rodgers at guards, form a great trio as any team in the country has. In Flash Falaschi the Broncos have one of the greatest blockers and defensive backs on the coast. Dan De Rosa is one of the best offensive backs of the year. A good line and some very good running and passing backs compose a team that will go a long way in any game.

The game with St. Mary's probably will be the Broncos' biggest test. The Gaels are Santa Clara's traditional and natural rivals on the coast and, over a period of many years, the Broncos have not been very successful against Slip Madigan's boys. No matter which team is considered the stronger, the game always is very closely fought, and breaks usually decide the outcome.

Although St. Mary's has something to fight for this season—redeeming itself after a disastrous east against Fordham and Marquette—I hesitate to venture a prediction. The Gaels will make it tough for the Broncos, you may be sure, although the law of averages is with Santa Clara.

Loyola, coached by Tom Lieb, has played in hard luck most of the season, and being up for Santa Clara, may get a few breaks that will result in an upset.

Tough luck seldom follows a football team all through the year, and, catching the Broncos after their big game of the year against St. Mary's the Lions will make a real game of it if Santa Clara shows any tendency to let down.

Texas Christians' Horned Frogs offer the last game on Buck Shaw's schedule, and it isn't going to be a soft one by any means.

The great Shingling Sam Baugh's passer are due to click with deadly precision, and it will take all of Santa Clara's defense to halt them.

While the going will be tough in these last three games, I believe Santa Clara has the possibilities to go through the season undefeated. One letdown, however, and it will join the list of upsets in this season of upsets.

Cattle and Hogs Due To Bring More Next Year, Economist Says

HOUSTON, Nov. 13. (UP)—W. E. Morgan, agricultural economist at Texas A. and M. college, today forecast an advance in cattle and hog prices during 1937.

"In view of the short hog supplies and that of feed stuffs, coupled with substantial business gains of today," he said, "the price of high grade cattle and hogs should be better."

Morgan attended the second day's session of the southern conference of agricultural extension service workers and directors. The conference will end tomorrow.

The nation's supply of cattle, estimated 68,000,000 head, was 6,000,000 less than at the beginning of 1934, Morgan said. He attributed the decline to mid-western drought conditions.

Southern and southwestern raisers have a higher percentage of the nation's supply of hogs than those of other sections, he said.

"Raisers in this region were fortunate in escaping the driving heat that seared the mid-section of the country," Morgan pointed out. While prices have advanced considerably, the hog and cattle markets still is $4 below the average for 1929.

Current price of hogs is $10 per 100 pounds compared with a low of $3.50 in 1929. Average cattle price ranges around $5 per 100 pounds, compared with $2.60 three years ago, he said.

BOND ISSUE VOTED FOR RELIEF WORK AT SAN ANTONIO

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 13. (UP)—Property owners of San Antonio voted on a bond issue proposal of $450,000 to finance a WPA work relief program today. Objections to the bond issue were heard from many quarters, based on the contention that the city administration has no specific program for spending the money and claims that the money will be used as a "political slush fund" for the city campaign next spring. Proponents of the bonds said the money would be matched by the federal government and spent on WPA projects. Estimates of the vote ranged from 10,000 to 40,000.

LAI D OFF FROM WORK BY CONSTIPATION

"For four years I suffered from constipation. I had gotten so weak I had to lay off from work. My doctor told me to use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Since then, my grocery list has never been complete without it."—Mr. A. W. Murphy, 1010 10th St., Tuscaloosa, Alabama.

This delicious cereal will give you the same, sure relief. Laboratory tests prove it's safe. Within the body, its "bulk" absorbs moisture, forms a soft mass, gently cleanses the intestines. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B which tones the intestines, and iron for the blood.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily. Serve as a cereal or cook into appetizing recipes. Isn't this natural food better than pills and drugs?

When you're at the grocery store today, get a package of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Try it a week, and see if you don't feel worlds better. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Black-Draught High In Quality Without Being High In Price

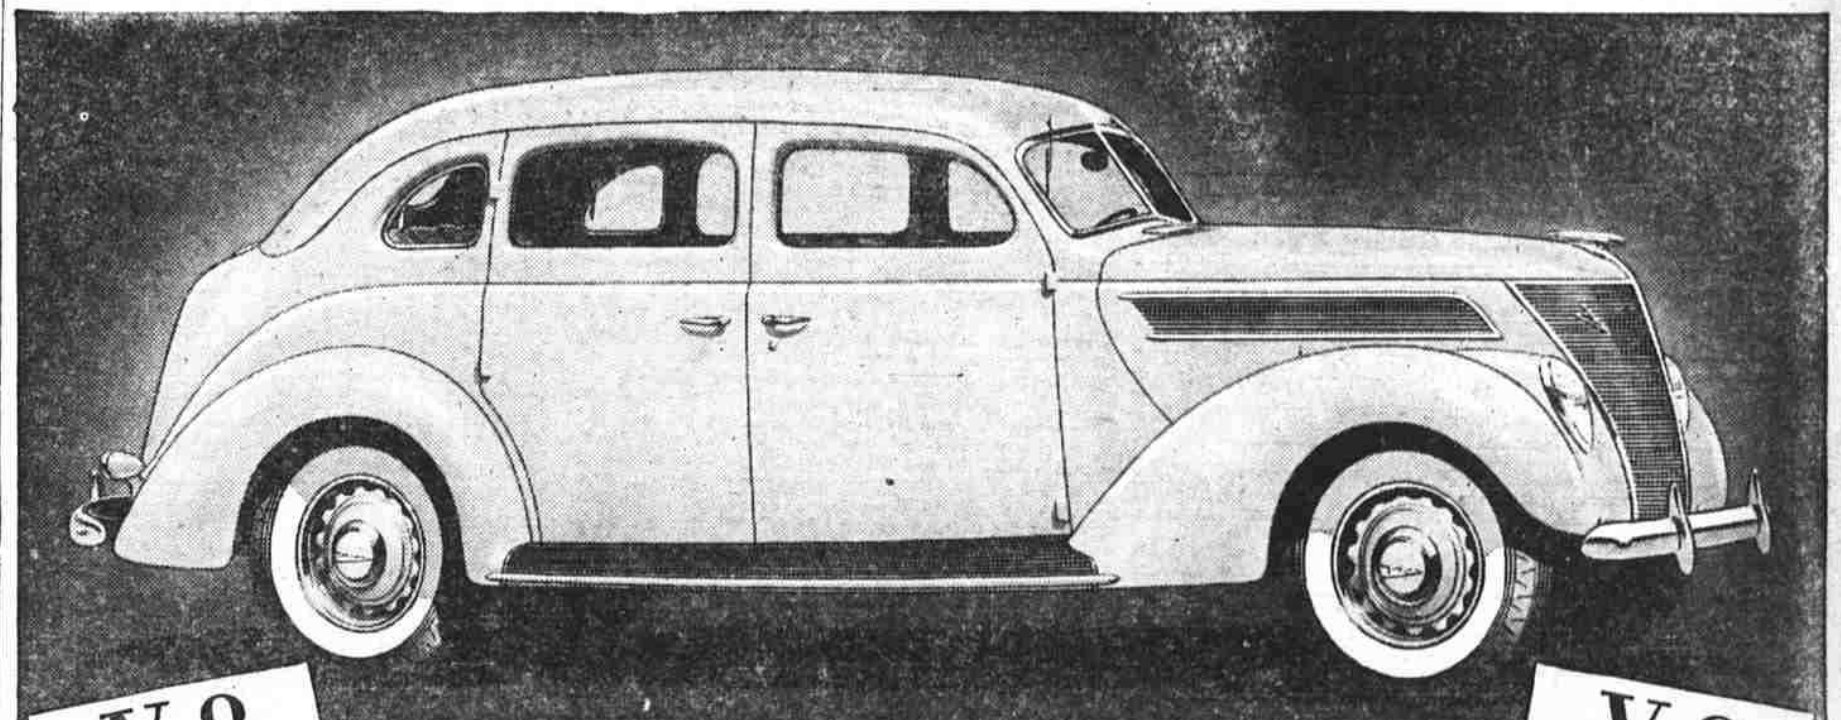

Black-Draught is "easy to pay for" because it is so economically packaged and so reliable.

But as to quality, there's nothing "cheap" about it. For instance, its principal active ingredient is the leaves of a certain species of plant that are brought 10,000 miles from where they grow to the factory where the medicine is made. These leaves from far, far away, help to give Black-Draught its well-known "laxative reliability." They could not be left out, or substituted, without real loss of good medicinal quality.

For a good, purely vegetable laxative, insist on Black-Draught. About 25 doses in each 25-cent package.—adv.

MAGAZINE REPLIES TO CRITICS OF ITS PRESIDENTIAL POLL

NEW YORK, Nov. 13. (UP)—The Literary Digest today said that when Sen. Kenneth McKellar, D. Tenn., accuses the Digest of being dishonest in its presidential poll, "the parts company with some of the most distinguished leaders in both of the major parties—for the polls have been acclaimed often, both by the press and politicians, as being thoroughly unbiased and non-partisan."
"The magazine's integrity has never been challenged in its conduct of the polls except in the heat of a political campaign," the Digest said. "That the taking of a nationwide straw poll is 'costly' is the private business of the magazine's publishers."
The publishers added that they had arranged to keep all the data on its polls before Senator McKellar advised it to do so, and that all the material was available for his inspection at any time.

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DEWEY FEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—When the momentous A. F. of L. convention opens in Tampa next Monday, to all outward appearances John L. Lewis's Committee for Industrial Organization will be on the spot. Actually, just the opposite will be the case—not the insurgents but the old-line leaders will be on the spot.

The C. I. O. has nothing to lose, regardless of what disciplinary action the convention takes against it. For the C. I. O. unions the die already is cast. Months ago, although they did not advertise it at the time, they determined to cut the A. F. of L. bonds—if not permitted to get their own way.

The moguls figured on dealing with a committee, knew they could handle a group better than a single member. And the last man they wanted to face was the grim-faced Lewis, leader of the militants.

A. F. of L. Heat: Down at Tampa the federation big shots will be on the griddle both individually and collectively.

President Bill Green is himself a member of the United Mine Workers, one of the suspended insurgent unions. The constitution of the A. F. of L. categorically bars a member of a banned union from sitting in the convention or holding office in the federation.

Another federation Big Bertha definitely on the defensive is "Bully Bill" Hutcheson, massive president of the Carpenters' Brotherhood.

Hutcheson is the most relentless foe of the C. I. O. among the federation leaders. When some of them talked of coming to terms with the rebels, he insisted on war.

When the executive council was deliberating the suspension of the C. I. O., scores of carpenter locals wrote and telegraphed protests against such action.

Like the rest of labor, the rank and file of carpenters generally supported the president, and Landon's crushing rout did not help Hutcheson's standing in his union.

In the face of growing hostility against him, "Bully Bill" has seen the handwriting on the wall and worked out a neat scheme to save his scoundrelly threatened scalp.

Retirement At A Price: The plan will be sprung at the carpenters' convention next month—incidentally, the first union has held in a number of years.

No Action: Chances are strong against the convention taking any drastic action against the C. I. O.

Such a policy will play into the hands of the dissidents, because it will prove that the federation moguls dare not throw them out.

Distasteful as such pussyfooting will be, the federation czars have no alternative. Not only are they personally insecure, but a clean break with the C. I. O. would have a catastrophic effect throughout the A. F. of L. structure.

Expulsion of the C. I. O. unions would mean automatic suspension of a number of state federations and local central labor bodies.

With the A. F. of L. already financially hard hit and shaken to the core by the C. I. O. suspension, it cannot withstand a solar plexus blow such as an expulsion order would mean.

Political Proselyting: Jim Landis, SEC chairman and arch-regulator of Wall Street, doesn't claim that his daughter Ann is solely responsible for the re-election of Roosevelt but—One day eight-year-old Ann accosted a schoolmate (masculine) and said, "If you could vote, would you vote for Roosevelt?"

"No," was the little boy's reply. "I'd vote for London."

"But you ought to vote for Roosevelt. He would keep us out of war."

"I don't care. I want to go to war and be a soldier."

"You want to go to war—and get all cut up, get your arms cut off and your legs cut off, so's when you come home, your mother wouldn't know you?"

"No—not that."

"Then you better vote for Roosevelt."

"O. K. I'll vote for Roosevelt." (Copyright, 1936, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Installment buying, which at one time was widely blamed for the depression, has in reality constituted America's most potent non-political force for recovery and at the present time accounts for more than $10,000,000 in retail sales every day, according to a nationwide survey just completed for the American magazine by Isaac F. TAKE INTEREST IN SCHOOL

Far too many parents fail to realize their responsibility in regard to school. The most are content to send Johnny and Mary to school and so long as satisfactory grades are made, take no interest in what is being done.

Teachers would have the confidence and respect of more parents if parents would visit the school room at frequent intervals and try to realize the problems which confront a teacher.

No child should ever hear his parent criticize a teacher because it encourages disregard of established authority.

When the teacher and parent are well enough acquainted to discuss common problems before the problems become serious, there is little friction in school.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—Fall brings its deluge of smart parties about town, from Maria de Kammerer's blue terrace fender to the hoop-la reception of Lauritz Melchior, home at long last from the Bavarian forests.

Wandering further, I turn into a skyscraper apartment house and rise to the 20th stop where a group largely composed of "arty" people is sipping pale punch and wrangling over the varying trends in prose styles this season.

When I arrive the "few intimate friends" already number more than 300, and Miss Monti is 24 deep in stags. Remembering my scout training, I semaphore greetings with a handkerchief and turn to seek refreshment just as a cool voice purrs: "Draper isn't an Astaire yet, but he could be."

Uniforms Get 'Em: A convenient spring-board to parties for many of the "let's go" set was the horse show. Seeing the Northwest Mounties and the Polish Lancers in their dashing uniforms inspired, or so it seemed, a new spirit of joie de vivre, and not a few riders of those picturesque foreign troops became focus points about which milled a flattering bevy of charmers.

The Wrong Murderer

By HUGH CLEVELY

Chapter 27 THE SIX ELSA

Lawson's impatience was increasing to get off the line; he hardly thought what he was saying.

"You could get him away from her all right, my dear Elsa, if you liked," he replied. "I think he's a lot more interested in you than he is in her. If you could make her jealous she might turn against him."

"What . . ." exclaimed Elsa. Lawson smiled. Actually the remark he had just made idly, on the spur of the moment, struck him as an idea with possibilities in it. But he didn't want to go into that now.

"Don't you bother your head any more tonight about Miss Fraser, or anybody else," he said in a firm but kindly tone. "You go to bed and get a good night's rest. I'm not going to talk to you any more now. Good night, Elsa."

With that he rang off. Elsa replaced the receiver slowly, and then sat down to think some more. Lawson's suggestion had started a curious train of thought working in her head. A prominent film actress, noted for her beauty, can hardly fall to be conscious of her powers of attraction. Elsa was not conceited, but she knew from experience that men fell easily in love with her. Both Ruth and Lawson had suggested that Mahony was attracted by her. If he was

A curiously intent, set look came over her lovely face as she sat there alone in that room thinking. She was considering a plan which she hated, but which she meant to carry out. If Mahony was attracted by her, the meant to use that attraction to free Ruth from his clutches, and to bring about his own downfall and revenge.

It would be hateful doing it, but her only weapons were her wit and beauty, and she was entitled to use them in the fight against her uncle's murderer.

At last, with a sigh, she rose from her chair, walked wearily to her bedroom, and went to bed. Lawson's Lawson sat on in his study, smoking cigar after cigar, and waiting for a telephone call which did not come.

Mahony had just finished breakfast, and was smoking a cigar, when his landlady announced that a lady wished to see him.

"Please show her in," he said. His landlady withdrew. There was a sound of footsteps crossing the hall. The door opened, and Elsa Little stood in the doorway.

Mahony rose quickly from his chair. He felt confused and awkward, and utterly astonished.

"Miss Little!" he exclaimed, as if he could hardly believe it was she.

Elsa was not an actress for nothing; she knew how to play a part. She entered the room shyly, hesitatingly, as if unsure of her welcome; her voice, when she spoke, was subdued and timid.

"I don't suppose you want to see me, but I had to come," she said falteringly. "I want to say how sorry I am for the things I said yesterday morning. I—I was upset; I hardly knew what I was saying."

"You mean you don't suspect me of killing your uncle?" said Mahony in a delighted tone.

Mahony's heart beat faster with excitement as he waited for her answer.

"Well . . . I did think I recognized your voice in the room," she couldn't have if you were with Ruth when it happened. It must have been somebody with a voice something like yours."

That made Mahony feel rather awkward. He had a momentary impulse to tell her the whole truth—that it had been his voice, but that all the same he had not killed her uncle. Better not, though, he thought—not yet.

"I can't tell you how glad I am you don't suspect me any more," he said. "I hated your thinking that it was I who had killed your uncle."

His voice and manner gave the impression of absolute sincerity, and for a moment Elsa was puzzled. If this was acting, it was very good acting. And then she decided that it was acting. But she smiled charmingly.

"I didn't like suspecting you," she said. "You see, I—I rather liked you when I met you before, and it was an awful shock to me to think that—that you'd done that."

"I'm just as anxious to bring the murderer to justice as you are," said Mahony.

"Now that you don't think I did it, may I see you again some time?" he asked awkwardly.

"Oh, yes, I'd like to see you again. Come to dinner at my house tonight. That will show everyone I don't suspect you," she answered promptly.

He hesitated.

"Thank you very much," said Mahony gratefully.

There came a knock on the door; the landlady announced a gentleman to see Mr. Mahony. The gentleman was Inspector Kennedy, accompanied by another plainclothes man; they entered in an abrupt, business-like manner, but stopped short in surprise on seeing Mahony and Elsa together in the room, apparently engaged in friendly conversation.

"Good morning, Inspector," said Elsa. "I've just been telling Mr. Mahony how sorry I am for all the silly things I said about him yesterday."

Inspector Kennedy did not know what to make of this at all. Actually, he had come to the house in order to arrest Mahony. But now he thought he would wait a bit.

"You mean you've withdrawn the accusations you made yesterday," he said. "I expect Mr. Mahony is pleased."

"I am, very pleased," answered Mahony. And he looked pleased. The fact that Elsa said she no longer thought him was a great weight off his mind.

"I must be going now," said Elsa. "I'll see you this evening, Mr. Mahony."

"I'll walk with you to your car, Miss Little," put in Inspector Kennedy quickly.

He escorted her to the car, and held the door open for her to enter. Then he stood for a moment with one foot on the running-board, eyeing her keenly.

"Am I really to understand that you have abandoned your suspicions of Mahony, Miss Little?" he asked.

Elsa shook her head. Her face was pale; the interview with Mahony had been a strain on her.

"No," she answered in a low voice. "I haven't abandoned any of my suspicions. But I want him to think I have."

Inspector Kennedy said nothing; he merely looked at her enquiringly. It seemed she felt that some further explanation was called for.

"I think he likes me," she went on in an embarrassed manner. "I want to get him away from Ruth—to save her from him, and to—to try to make him feel quite confident, and relax his guard, and say more than he means to."

"I see. You mean to vamp him, get him where you want him, and then hand him over to me?" suggested the Inspector.

Put like that it did not sound very nice. Elsa flushed.

"Do you think I care what I do, if I can convict my uncle's murderer?" she asked passionately. "Besides, what's going to happen to Ruth if—if things go on as they are? She's much too nice to ruin her reputation and get herself into all kinds of dreadful scandals for the sake of a man like him. Somebody's got to interfere between her and him."

"You think she's completely under his influence at present, do you?" said the Inspector.

"Yes, completely," answered Elsa. "Though how he obtained such an influence over her in one meeting I don't know. But he's clever, horridly clever; he seems so honest, and decent, and he's such a rotter underneath it all."

Inspector Kennedy's quick mind pounced immediately on one sentence in her last speech.

"You say he obtained his influence over Miss Fraser in one meeting. I certainly had no such impression—in fact, I had a very different one. What do you mean by that?" he asked.

"Truth told me that before they met yesterday at my house, she'd only seen him once," replied Elsa. "At least, she didn't exactly tell me. It sort of slipped out."

The young Inspector's keen face was alight with interest. Evidently he regarded what Elsa had just said as very important indeed.

Gay Musical Comedy Tops Ritz Billing

'Sing, Baby, Sing' Features Alice Faye, Adolphe Menjou

Things go gay and musical around the Ritz theatre Friday and Saturday, with the screening of the musical comedy romance, "Sing, Baby, Sing," declared to be one of the brightest bits of its kind this season.

The cast includes Alice Faye, Michael Whalen, Adolphe Menjou, Gregory Ratoff, Ted Healey, Patsy Kelly and the Ritz brothers. Songs introduced in the film are the popular "When Did You Leave Heaven?" "You Turned the Tables On Me," "Sing, Baby, Sing," and "Love Will Tell."

The story is largely one of non-sense. Ratoff, a theatrical agent, aided by Healey and Miss Kelly, is trying to get a job for Miss Faye, who has been fired from the night club where she has been singing. On her closing night, Menjou, a famous celebrity on a spree, disrupts her performance by insisting on doing the balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet." Ratoff sees a great chance for publicity and calls in the reporters, one of which is Whalen.

Menjou finally winds up in a hospital, but the theatrical agent gets to him, becomes his friend by offering him bay rum to satisfy his craving for liquor. Whalen has a distaste for the whole affair and writes a scathing story which brings Menjou's manager from the west coast. They kidnap the star, and start homeward by airplane, only to be followed by Ratoff, Faye, et al, since the girl has been booked on a radio program provided Menjou appears with her. The action grows wilder and more comic as the chase progresses, with the climax reaching a high intensity.

Miss Maude Frasier has returned from Dallas where she attended the Centennial attractions. She accompanied Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Crow, Hamlin, on the trip.

FEATURED IN MUSICAL COMEDY

Adolphe Menjou and Alice Faye, two of the featured players in the sprightly musical comedy, "Sing, Baby, Sing," which headlines the Ritz program Friday and Saturday. Others in the cast are Michael Whalen, Ted Healey, Patsy Kelly and Gregory Ratoff.

Harold Bell Wright Novel Is Basis For Picture At Queen

A thundering drama of the West with a new kind of hero is "Wild Brian Kent," headline of the Queen, theatre's program for Friday and Saturday.

Easy-going and pleasure-loving until branded "yellow" by the girl he loves, Ralph Bellamy is starred in the title role as the playboy turned cowboy who makes a thrilling comeback.

The attempts of crooks to seize a ranch belonging to the girl, played by Mae Clarke, brings Ralph into his new character. Single-handed, he drives the bandit band out of the country when the girl is threatened by the gang.

When Ralph wins a large cash prize in a cross-country horse race that had been "fixed" by the gang, she attempts to save the ranch imperiled by a roaring prairie fire.

Lyric Offers Drama Of Old West With Tom Tyler Starred

The veteran western star, Tom Tyler, is a believer in the theory that the old West is forever new. He demonstrates his belief in his new picture, "Santa Fe Bound," which is booked at the Lyric for Friday and Saturday.

In "Santa Fe Bound," he portrays the role of a mystery rider who comes upon a renegade in the bush, shooting an old man down from cover. From that instant—when met by the crooks, and it takes a stirring denouement to close the story.

The film was adapted from Harold Bell Wright's "The Re-Creation of Brian Kent." In the supporting cast are Helen Lowell, Stanley Anderson, Lew Kelly, Eddie Chandler, Richard Alexander, and Jack Duffy.

Clark Gable, Miss Davies Co-Starred

Appear Together At Ritz In Musical Romance, 'Cain And Mabel'

"Cain and Mabel," a musical production starring two of the screen's big names, Clark Gable and Marion Davies, plays at the Ritz theatre Sunday and Monday, following a midnight matinee showing Saturday night.

The picture goes in for spectacle numbers. It introduces several musical selections and specialty acts in which a chorus of 160 girls is featured. Outstanding among the production numbers are "Thousands of Love Songs" and "Coney Island." Three new songs for the film were written by Harry Warren and Al Dubin.

Miss Davies leads the chorus in dance routines, having as her partners the noted stage dancers, Charles Teague, Sammy White and Don Ackerman.

The picture is based on a story by H. C. Witwer, who specializes in dramas of life in New York's theatrical and sports circles. It depicts the romance between a Broadway waitress who becomes a musical comedy star almost overnight and an heroic young battler of the prize ring.

Supporting Gable and Miss Davies are Allen Jenkins, Roscoe Karns, Walter Catlett, David Carlyle, Hobart Cavanaugh, Ruth Donnelly, and William Collier, Sr.

Tom opens fire on his own account—until the last scene, the story brings the action of old time western melodrama.

Jeanne Martel has the feminine lead. The supporting cast includes Richard Kramer, Charles Whittaker, Ed Cassidy, Lyle McKee, Dorothy Woods, Charles King and Earl Dwyer.

AT THE QUEEN

COURT SETS ASIDE FIRST CONVICTIONS IN 'SALOON' CASES

AUSTIN, Nov. 13. (UP)—The Texas court of criminal appeals Thursday set aside first of the "open saloon" convictions to come before it. The cases were those of J. Weinberger, Lola Stewart and Fred Barrow of Houston.

The controlling opinion in the Weinberger case said no facts were stated which would bring his place within the statutory definition of the "open saloon." The Texas liquor control act adopted last year prohibited the "open saloon."

Yam Beale Drouth, LAWRENCE, Kas. (UP)—George S. Smith has a 3 1/2 pound sweet potato which attests to the effectiveness of rain. The part that grew during the drouth is five inches in circumference. The part that grew after the fall rains is 18 inches in circumference.

Poster Law Overlooked, SALEM, Ore. (UP)—State officials avoided embarrassment during the national election by overlooking candidate stickers posted on car windshields. It was a plain violation of the Oregon law, which prohibits posting of any non-transparent material on the glass.

W. J. Brown of Fort Worth visited with friends in the B. and L. F. lodge Wednesday. He was en route to El Paso.

MRS. MARY BERRY

DALLAS, Nov. 13.—Two of the three living widows of the Texas Revolution will be the honored guests of the Texas Centennial Exposition on Sunday, Nov. 15.

They are Mrs. Mary Catherine Berry, 83, who lives near Baird, and Mrs. Mary Longley, 74, of Abilene. The third, Mrs. Mary M. Price, 93, lives in Rochester, N. Y. She is an invalid and is unable to make the trip to Texas.

Mrs. Berry, native of Arkansas, is the widow of Capt. Andrew Jackson Berry, a veteran of San Jacinto, who died many years ago. Mrs. Longley is the widow of Campbell Longley, a native of Tennessee, who joined Gen. Sam Houston the day after the battle of San Jacinto. In their honor Centennial executives are planning numerous events. At the historic Cavalcade of Texas they will witness the reenactment of the stirring events of the world's sixteenth decisive battle, in which their husbands fought. They will see again Sam Houston, marching across the stage of time, his inauguration, the epoch of the Republic, the strides of Texas as a state.

They will be welcomed by high dignitaries of state, city and exposition.

Abilene civic organizations and Max Bentley, managing editor of the Abilene Reporter-News, have sponsored the preliminaries of the visit of the historic characters. It is expected a large delegation will arrive with them from that section of the state, to be joined by many thousands of other Texans, desiring to pay honor to the survivors of those who made the independence of Texas possible.

Morris Bass, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bass, who has undergone a major surgery, was improving today at a local hospital.

To Continue Hearings On School Laws

AUSTIN, Nov. 12. (UP)—Conferees between the state board of education and a state senate committee to report on school laws will be resumed here in December, it has been announced by Sen. Clay Cotten, Palestine, committee chairman.

Meantime the senate committee, which began sessions here on Nov. 1 will make a tour to gather information. There will be sessions in Corsicana, Dallas, Fort Worth and Sherman. At Fort Worth the committee will sit in on the meeting of the state teachers' association.

Preliminary hearings here gave the committee widely differing recommendations.

State Superintendent L. A. Woods announced himself a convert to the belief a state superintendent should be elected. A campaign makes him know the state, Woods said. He cited unpopular rulings as evidence that vote pressure does not make popular election harmful.

President B. F. Tisinger of the state board of education and board members R. S. Bowers and Orent Sanderford advised the committee the superintendent should be appointed. Election takes too much time from other duties, they thought.

Board members disagreed on school transportation. Bowers believed operation of school buses had resulted in money intended to aid rural schools being utilized to hurt them. Sanderford said: "Transportation is cheaper than teaching. It is thought it more economical and more efficient to transport the pupils to larger and better schools."

Board members favored a commission to handle leasing of school lands. Leasing now is solely in the hands of the state land commissioner. The commissioner should be one member of the leasing body, education board members said. Sanderford suggested the ideal way would be to have such a board and employ a noted land lawyer. One like Judge Ralph Yarborough (present district judge in Austin and former assistant attorney general) could increase the school fund to $100,000,000 Sanderford said.

Bowers wanted to abolish the present system of having 24 traveling supervisors to check up on rural schools. He said they contact county superintendents at a cost of $97,000 a year to get information that could come by mail.

Furs And Furniture Lead In Uptrend In 'Prosperity Goods'

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 13.—Fur coats for Miss and Mrs. America led booming "prosperity goods" sales in the third quarter of 1936. Family buying of home furniture also soared far above totals for the same period last year, paralleling wide gains by such pure luxury lines as sporting goods and luggage, according to a current "prosperity buying" survey of 236 department stores.

While part of the broad increase in retail sales is accounted for by the growing volume of installment purchases of such items as pianos, household furniture, and electric appliances, the survey points out that sporting goods and luggage are principally cash or ordinary 30-day open account purchases. Freer spending of ready cash is also notably demonstrated in the 23 per cent increase in volume of football, theater and other amusement admissions, as compared with the third quarter of last year.

After showing successive and large increases in sales volume in 1934 and 1935, furs in the first nine months of 1936 scored a further gain of 27.3 per cent over the corresponding period of last year. The third quarter of 1936 was 32.5 per cent above the third quarter of '35. August is traditionally the largest month in the year for retail sales of furs, but in a number of cities, particularly in the north central states, September topped August this year, while October business is holding up remarkably.

Family buying of furniture for the home is up 27.9 per cent for the third quarter, and 24.6 per cent for the first nine months, over the corresponding periods of last year.

ACC Homecoming Slated Nov. 20-21

ABILENE, Nov. 13.—Homecoming at Abilene Christian college will be Friday and Saturday, Nov. 20 and 21 when several hundred students, friends, and associate members of the Ex-Students Association of A. C. C. will converge upon Abilene.

A feature of the homecoming this year is that the parents of all former students of the college are being invited by the Ex-Students Association to be special guests for the occasion. J. B. Collins, Big Spring, is president of the Ex-Students Association.

A pep rally on Friday night, the annual ex-students chapel program, the annual business meeting of the association on Saturday morning, the West Texas barbecue on the campus at noon, and the Indian-Wildcat football game Saturday afternoon are the high spots of the homecoming for A. C. C.'s thirtieth session. Various clubs and groups will have breakfasts and reunions Friday and Saturday.

Ex-students in Abilene will be hosts to the visitors who have averaged 800 in number for the last three homecoming events.

Winter

dition was reported at 86 per cent of normal, compared with 86 per cent a month ago, 87 per cent a year ago, and 79.3 per cent the 10-year (1926-1935) average on November 1. There was a general improvement in the northern portion of the state, except in the northern sections of the Texas Panhandle. Moisture was still somewhat deficient in the area north of the Canadian river basin. Grass was short in the North Texas areas that were affected by the drought, but it had made fairly good growth before Texas was visited by cold waves. Conditions are favorable in most sections of north Texas, and prospects for winter grazing on small grain fields are good. Most of the small grain is up to a good start and October rains were very beneficial. Prospects for winter grazing are very good for the state as a whole, and cattle can be wintered well.

Cattle are going into winter in very good flesh, and indications are that they will come through the winter in better than average condition. There are ample supplies of forage and range feeds in most sections of the state, and where feed supplies are somewhat short cattle numbers are short also. The condition of cattle on November 1, 1936, was 86 per cent of normal, compared with 86 per cent a month ago, 88 per cent a year ago, and 82.6 per cent the 10-year average (1926-1935) average on November 1.

Sheep are in good condition and will go into winter in fine shape. The improvement in the condition of sheep has more than offset the adversities suffered by them after shearing when weather conditions were not altogether favorable for shorn sheep. The feed supply is ample in all of the principal sheep producing areas in Texas, and no difficulties should be encountered in wintering sheep.

The name Alaska is derived from an Eskimo word meaning "great whole, and cattle can be wintered
