

Russell Says Nazis Gloat Over Strikes

WASHINGTON. — Denouncing John L. Lewis as a traitor for calling the captive coal mine strike during the national defense emergency, Representative Russell of Texas introduced a bill today to make the fomenting of defense strikes a treasonable offense.

Russell took the floor during a short House session to declare that he thought Lewis was a "miserable traitor to the cause which he pretends to represent" and that "he committed treason when he called some 53,000 miners and workers on strike four days ago in defiance of the pleas of the president and the will of the working men and women of the United States."

Representative Hoffman of Michigan said he thought that the real cause of labor trouble was the closed shop, the aim of Lewis in the captive mine strike. He called attention to a bill he introduced several months ago to do away with the closed shop.

He also introduced today a bill providing that those who strike must offer themselves for induction into the Army and Navy and if found unfit for combat service must be assigned to work on defense contracts.

"I don't like what his actions show him to stand for," Russell said. "The people I represent believe as I believe, that dictatorship at home should be expelled before we become polluted with the slimy doctrines of power politics."

"We don't have any use for a man who stoops so low as to sabotage national defense in order that he can gain and wield more power towards the realization of his filthy ambition — committing his people to the Nazi idea of one-man servitude with himself at the head.

"We believe Lewis should be deposited among his European pals across the sea where he can work with them constantly and get full cooperation in his drive to rule by force.

"Adolph Hitler must have chuckled when he was informed (swiftly I'm sure) that the American defense program was in danger of being suspended because of a coal shortage in one of the great coal producing countries of the world.

"Joseph Goebbels probably announced through his network of controlled Nazi propaganda that the Americans are arguing whether it is practical to spend their billions on defense or tribute.

"I image each of these monsters get a great kick each time Lewis declares he should annex new powers.

"I think any man who adheres to our enemies and who gives them aid and comfort is an out-and-out traitor. I believe that the recently called strike involving workers on the so-called captive mines is an act of treason on the part of its callers and that they should be punished as such.

"In the name of all that's right and just, can we as Representatives of all the people stand idly by and allow these acts of treason to continue? We have pledged ourselves and our people to do all that is reasonably within our power to keep Adolf Hitler's de-generated influence from our shores.

"Surely common sense dictates that we can't allow dictator-minded individuals or groups of individuals to strangle our program of ship-building; to stifle the very breath of our vital industries as we labor to build a two-ocean navy, an efficient army, and a powerful Air Force.

"I feel that now—not next year, next month or next week, but now, we should prepare to deal drastically with such men as John L. Lewis."

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hicks, Mrs. Don Moorman and Mary Ruth were in Dallas over the week-end, for a visit with Mrs. Moorman's sister.

Grade School King and Queen Named

One of the most enjoyable programs which the school sponsors, and one which is always looked forward to is the Coronation of the King and Queen, elected each year at the Halloween season. This program was presented at the Gorman Gymnasium Wednesday evening, Nov. 5, to a large appreciative audience.

The race for Grade School King and Queen ended Saturday night at 9:00 p. m. at the Halloween Carnival. The first grade candidates were elected. They were Frank Marsh Kirk and Barbara Nell Ormsby. Second place was won by sixth grade candidates, Wilbur Lee Mehaffey and Patsy Pittman. The third place was won by the third grade—Joe Ray Morgan and Phyllis Churchill. The other candidates were:

Second Grade - Nick Nicolson and Joan Bennett.

Fourth Grade - Roy Rawls and Barbara Wylie.

Fifth Grade - Gene Koonce and Betty Sue Mason.

Seventh Grade - Serita Allen and Rogers Peary.

Eighth Grade - E. G. Henderson and Joan Green.

The following delightful program was presented, followed by the colorful coronation ceremonies.

Rhythm Band numbers directed by Miss Lois Lowry and Mrs. Higginbottom.

Piano Duet - Martha Louise and Clara Gay Smith.

Saxophone Trio - Mary Woods, Wanda Brown and Larkin Collins, accompanied by Peggy Dixon and Mr. Carnes.

Piano Solo - Mary Frances Stubblefield.

Folk Dances, by the Physical Education Class, under direction of Miss Stewart.

One-act Play - Speech Arts Class, under Mrs. Rodway's direction.

The approach of the royal members were heralded by George Edward Eppler and announced by Joe Brandon.

King Frank, of the House of Kirk, richly clothed in Royal blue and gold, was crowned by Prime Minister, Billy David, who placed the gold crown ornamented with pearls. Barbara Nell, of the House of Ormsby, was beautifully dressed in pale blue taffeta and was in turn crowned by the King. The train bearers were little Misses Claudine Ponder, Ernestine Todd, Janice Vaught and Pamela Churchill, all daintily dressed in pastel shades of taffeta. The crown bearers were John Edward Kimble and Sonny Wylie who added extra bits of humor to the thoroughly entertaining program, which was ably supervised by Mrs. M. G. Underwood and Mrs. Donald Lightfoot.

REBEKAH LODGE

They are also planning an interesting program the 14th of November when the president of the Assembly will be present.

The Call America Heeds

First Frost Visits Gorman on Oct. 31

The last day of October brought frost to Gorman and surrounding territory. It was a light one, and according to reports, did very little, if any damage. The farmers have taken advantage of the few sunny days the past week-end, working through Sunday to save as much of their crop as possible. With the long rainy season, no farmer will realize as much from their labors as they had hoped. Continued rains that came at the time peanuts had to come up, gives little promise of bright peanut hay through this section. It's too early to predict the yield in either hay or peanuts.

Panthers Lose To Hamilton Bulldogs

The football game scheduled for last Friday night with the Hamilton team on the home field was postponed until Tuesday night of this week on account of rainy weather.

A large crowd greeted the teams but the Panthers were badly outclassed, and the visitors rolled up a score of 67 to 0, the worst defeat the Panthers have ever had, their followers say. The Hamilton squad is one of the strongest in the district and has lost only one game.

Underwood, who received a painful arm sprain, and Ormsby, who also was injured, left the field in the second half. T. A. Brown was unable to play this game, due to last week's injury, but may see action against De Leon on Armistice Day on the Bearcats field. This promises to be a good game since the teams are evenly matched. The last game will be played with Hico on their home field on Nov. 21.

Mrs. Boaz and Mrs. Verle Rodgers spent Tuesday and Wednesday shopping in Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Ode Monroe spent the first part of the week visiting in Fort Worth.

Circus Coming To Town Nov. 17

Arrangements have been completed for the coming of the first large three ring circus that has exhibited in Gorman for several years. The date will be Monday, Nov. 17, and the Dailey Bros. Three-Ring-Circus is the title of the attraction and the school band is the sponsor of the event. Although a Texas institution itself and touring twenty states annually, this is the first time the Dailey Circus has exhibited in this section. It is one of those three ring affairs that keeps a person busy trying to see it all.

The Circus will arrive on Sunday, the 16th, and will erect a portion of its city of tents on that day on a large tract of ground on highway 67, and the grounds will include the old soft ball grounds. There will not be any performances on Sunday but exhibitions will be given at 2 and 8 p. m. Monday, the 17th. There will not be any street parade as all the larger and better shows have eliminated this feature.

Further particulars will appear in next week's Progress.

THREE STUDENTS TO GO ON AIR SATURDAY

Saturday morning over KBWD, Brownwood, from 1:00 to 2:00 p. m., three seniors, Weldon Kirk, Peggy Dixon and Dorothy Jean Maupin will take part in a Quiz program. Their sponsor is Mrs. Allen. ## Honor Roll and Perfect Attendance Announced For High School

Large Acreage of Vetch Planted

Eastland county farmers will plant the largest winter legume acreage on record for the county this fall, according to the county agent. Most of the legume acreage will be hairy winter vetch but some Austrian winter peas, sweet clover and bur clover will also be planted.

The vetch and other winter legumes will protect the soil from blowing and washing this winter and help build up the soil by adding nitrogen and humus to it. Most of the vetch planted will be fertilized with superphosphate to stimulate growth.

TOM STEVENS IMPROVING

Friends of Mr. Tom Stevens in Gorman and those now living elsewhere make inquiries about his condition frequently. He and his family deeply appreciate this interest. Those who are unable to keep in close touch with him will be glad to know he is improving since his last treatment at a Fort Worth hospital. The broken bone in his leg is knitting now, and he feels encouraged that he can see improvement each day.

Last Sunday afternoon at his home he was baptized upon his confession of faith, in a beautiful ceremony. Bro. Ramsey officiated in the midst of a number of close friends. The Sacrament was also administered to all present.

The Progress joins the host of anxious friends who wish for him a complete recovery.

Entered at the Postoffice at Gorman, Texas, as Second Class Mail Matter Under the act of Congress of March 3, 1897.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of this paper, will be gladly corrected upon due notice of same being given the editor personally at the office at Gorman, Texas.

I held my first staff meeting at the office of Civilian Defense and I think it cleared up certain difficulties of procedure which are not yet organized within the office itself.

I came back that day to the White House for my usual personal press conference. I had asked Dr. Harriet Elliott, the commissioner of the Division of Consumer Protection, to attend, so as really to stimulate a discussion on the whole question of the increased cost of living. There is no question in my mind that we must have some method which is legal to control the rise in prices. It cannot be done by voluntary participation alone, nor by the action of community groups, because it is too difficult for people in the communities to get information on which they can act. I am happy to know that representatives of consumer interests will be appointed on defense councils.

More than this is needed, however, particularly when you realize that the snowball of rising prices has rolled up very rapidly in the past four months, and in some cases this increase is higher already than it was during the last World War. We must profit by our former experience and realize that prices which go up must eventually come down, and the coming down process is a very difficult one.

SOUTH AMERICAN VISITORS

At luncheon one day Miss Mary Winslow brought two very delightful guests, Senorita Graciela Mandujano of Chile and Senora Ana Rosa de Martinez-Guerrero from the Argentine. Senorita Mandujano, whom I have had the pleasure of meeting before, has traveled in many parts of the United States since her arrival here last spring, so she must now feel quite at home in our country. She has just spent some time in Maine and announced to me that she had become a Republican.

Senora de Martinez - Guerrero brought me an interesting scroll signed by many of the women of Buenos Aires who have joined together to aid the women in other countries who are fighting Nazism. They call their organization "Junta de la Victoria." Senora de Martinez-Guerrero, who is a very charming young woman, has lately been interested in building a hospital. I have long known that the control and the management of the hospitals in the Argentine are in the hands of the women. I have often wondered if the contact with problems in the hospital would not some day create a situation where the women would wish to prevent certain things instead of waiting to alleviate them when they reach the hospital stage.

Much to my interest, Senora de Martinez-Guerrero said that she had decided that the only way to do this was through a more active interest on the part of women in the government, and that she was beginning to talk to other women along these lines. This is interesting, not only from the point of view of what it might mean internally, but of what it would mean in better understanding and co-operation between the women of the Americas.

ARMY LIFE REACTIONS

At luncheon on the train one day I found myself at a table with two young army boys and we were joined shortly by a young marine who had just finished his Paris island training and was being sent from Quantico, Va., to a new post. The army boys came from Virginia and New Jersey respectively, and had spent some months in camp in the state of Washington, and were now on their way to a New Jersey camp. All three were fine boys and I enjoyed talking to them. The thing which I remember most in retrospect, however, as we talked about their lives and need for their present sacrifice, is that they unanimously agreed that they did not have enough information or enough opportunity to talk about the larger aspects of world affairs as they related to their own individual services.

One of the boys finally said, "Well the trouble is, when you get into the army, the training is often the same, day in and day out, and you begin to think that the whole of life centers in what you get to eat, and when you get your pay." I wonder if perhaps one aspect of our officers' training is not being neglected. Should we include a course in the art of encouraging conversation among your associates? Should we remember that in both the German and Russian armies there is a relationship between the officers and their men which is not entirely official in character?

I have been sent a little brochure from the Consumers Book Co-operative, which they call Reader's Observer. It is a helpful little publication because it lists books in various fields, and has an article at the beginning, telling one about the trend of interest in reading material, and commenting on books in many fields. I was interested to find that a popular vote which they have taken shows a great interest in religious books, and secondly in books that can be classed as education for democracy.

FALL CLOTHES NEEDS BETTER CLEANING---

That fine woolen suit you bought last season . . . they told you it would be good for seasons to come. It will be, too, if it's properly cleaned. Our method routs way-down-deep dirt . . . the kind that surface cleaning simply can't get at. And it's that inner grime that cuts fine fabrics and makes them wear thin. Be sure therefore, that your fall clothes get the best cleaning possible . . . which, of course, means us!

Thoughts from great writers:
Beauty is its own excuse for being.
A good book is the precious life-blood of a master-spirit, embalmed and treasured up on purpose to a life beyond life.
God made the country and man made the town.
Man! Thou pendulum betwixt a

A mother is a mother still, the holiest thing alive.
To live in hearts we leave behind is now to die.

People:
Bruce Shulkey, assistant superintendent of Fort Worth schools, used to be Olney superintendent when I was editor of the Enterprise. He and I one evening set forth in his flivver for a program in a rural community. We had been talking about vehicles getting out of control and he had told about a fellow who bought a motorcycle, learned how to start it but not how to stop it and so had to ride around town wildly for an hour till it ran out of gasoline. And then the motor of Shulkey's flivver began to race and he said, "It's running away!" An elbow turn was just ahead but he switched off the ignition and we made the turn, then to keep the machine from stopping, he cut the engine back on; and after it again started running away, he switched it off, and so on till we reached a crossroads filling station where the owner found that a pin was missing, put one in and charged a whole dime—and the rest of the journey was uneventful.

Governor Coke Stevenson presided over the House as speaker for two terms and over the Senate as Lieutenant Governor for a term and a half, more than 1,000 sessions in all, and not a single morning did a session start as much as a minute late. Which tells more than a whole book would as to the calm, systematic and steady nature of Coke Stevenson.

George E. B. Peddy, Houston lawyer, once made a speech about a noted (or notorious) politician, of whom Peddy said, "He is so accustomed to rottenness that he could thrust his proboscis into the snowy chalice of a lily and smell corruption there."

Teach me that sixty minutes make one hour, sixteen ounce one pound, and one hundred cents one dollar. Help me to live so that I can lie down at night with a clear conscience, without a gun under my pillow, and unharmed by the faces of those to whom I have brought pain.

Grant that I may earn my meal ticket on the square, and that, in earning it, I may not stick the gaff in where it does not belong. Deafen me to the jingle of tainted money and the rustle of unholy skirts. Blind me to the other fellow, but reveal to me my own.

Guide me so that each night when I look across the dinner table at my wife, who has been a blessing to me, I shall have nothing to conceal. Keep me young enough to laugh with my children.

During World War No. I while the captured German fleet lay in Scapa Flow, an English quartermaster was posted on each vessel. To one of these, leaning over a rail, came a German sailor, who said, "I think nothing of your ships." When there was no reply, he continued, "And I think nothing of your officers" and then in disgust the prisoner spat over the rail. The Englishman turned and said, "Now, look here! I don't care what you think about our ships or our sailors or our officers. But don't you go spitting into our sea!"

Making Cows Produce More Brings Profit

By
ELMO V. COOK
County Agent

You men who milk cows are a vital part of our National Defense. More milk is needed for the manufacture of cheese and evaporated milk to meet our own requirement and for export. The average dairyman or farmer who owns cows can increase his production per cow and at the same time his profit by properly feeding and caring for his cows.

The per cent of crude protein in the ration fed a dairy cow is easily balanced if a simple rule is followed. A ration out of balance means money wasted. If Johnson grass hay, which is 6 per cent protein, is the roughage being fed the grain mixture should be 21 per cent crude protein; if the roughage is peanut hay, 10 per cent protein, the grain mixture should be 17 per cent crude protein. In other words, the crude protein per cent in the hay or pasture plus the crude protein in the grain mixture should total 27 per cent. Dairyman who do not know the percentage of crude protein in various hays, pastures, grains and meals can get the information from the county agent or one of the other agricultural workers in the county.

Dairy cows should have green pasture as many months in the year as possible. It costs little to provide small green or sudan pasture and these lower the cost of production because they are higher in crude protein than dry hay. Even when cows are on green pasture they should have dry hay before them all the time.

Cows that are being milked should have about four pounds of grain mixture per day for each gallon of milk they are capable of producing. Dry cows should be kept on short ration of grain mixture so they will come into full production soon after calving.

Farmers who have filled silos are fortunate because silage will take the place of good green pasture and part of the grain next winter, thus lowering the cost of producing milk and holding the production even in cold or extremely dry weather. It is a sad truth that many acres of feed have been spoiled by wet weather this year. This feed could have been saved in silos and increased prices of feed are going to cost many dairymen most of their profits this winter.

Cows need minerals for their own bodies, to produce a calf and especially to produce milk because milk is high in mineral per cent. A cow that is not getting minerals will take them from her own body to produce a calf or milk until the danger point has been reached. A good cow will then "go all to pieces" and a poor cow will quit giving milk. Cows not getting enough minerals will quit producing milk, take rickets, develop milk fever; if high producers, abort their calves or fail to clean after calving.

Brick salt should not be depended upon to supply any kind of livestock all the salt needed. Loose salt answers the problem as the cow or other animal can get the amount needed quickly and go on grazing. A mineral mixture of one part salt and three part steamed bone meal by weight should be kept before all dairy cattle (including dry cows and calves) all the time. Also mineral should be added to the grain mixture. These should be one per cent salt and two per cent ground oyster shell if there is wheat bran or cottonseed meal in the grain ration. If there is no bran or cottonseed meal in the grain ration, the minerals added to the mixture should be one

Circus Elephants Will Work in Gorman More Pounds of Pork Needed

When Dailey Bros. Circus arrives in Gorman for two exhibitions Monday, Nov. 17th, the big beasts will help erect the city of tents and later will be star performers in the center ring.

By ELMO V. COOK
County Agent

Eastland county farmers have been asked to increase their production of pounds of pork at least one tenth over the 1941 production in order to do their part in the National Defense Program. If every farmer in the county increases his hog production as much as possible and still do sound farming, the increase will be much more than the one tenth asked for.

A higher percentage of the pigs that are farrowed can be saved if sows are placed in a clean, dry, warm farrowing pen before they farrow pigs and some clean straw or hay made available to the sow. To prevent the sow from laying on the pigs, guard rails should be put around the walls of the farrowing pen, about 8 inches from the floor and running around the walls about 8 inches from the wall. Guard rails can be made from 2 by 4 lumber, straight poles or any kind of lumber.

If possible to attend the sow while she is farrowing, as each pig is born it should be wiped dry and placed in a warm, dry tub or basket. After the sow is through farrowing take a small pair of wire cutters and cut the TODAY, as always, the American Red Cross is on the front lines of the Nation's defense. Its biggest job for the emergency is linking Uncle Sam's soldiers and sailors to the home front. tusks (eye teeth) of each pig close to their gums, then place each pig on a teat of the sow. If the sow is in good health and the weather is not too cold, she can then take care of the pigs. Sitting up with a sow that is farrowing pays well for every extra pig saved means a pretty good day's pay.

Fast feed the 1941 fall farrowed pigs on a good balanced ration for cheap gains and get them off to market before spring farrowing starts. This will also produce hogs ready for home butchering before the weather gets too warm. If hogs are properly fed, 4 pounds of feed should make a pound of gain.

One of the most economical ways to feed hogs is from a self-feeder.

Partition the feeder so that grain can be heaped in one part and protein in another smaller part of the feeder. A good protein can be made by mixing 40 pounds of peanut meal or cottonseed meal, 40 pounds of tankage and 20 pounds of finely ground peanut hay. If hogs are running on good green pasture the peanut hay can be left out of the mixture.

If hogs are hand fed instead of using a self feeder, they should have all the grain they will clean up twice per day and a pound of the protein mixture for each eight pounds of grain they are eating. The protein should be mixed with water or slop for feeding unless fed in a self-feeder. Feed pregnant brood sows a pound per day of the protein to produce large litters but feed them only enough grain to keep them in good flesh. Do not let brood sows get too fat. Sows should not have the protein for the last two weeks before farrowing.

Green pasture will cut the cost of feeding hogs about one third. Sow some small grain for pasture now and plan to sow some sudan for hog pasture in April. Native grass such as Bermuda or buffalo are not as good as small grain or sudan pasture for hogs and they supply no green grazing in the winter months.

If pigs have access to a self-feeder when they are three weeks old they will start eating and will naturally wean themselves when they are about 8 weeks old. This takes a lot of load off the sow and helps make the next litter larger. For best markets, breed sows so that they will farrow in March and September. This places the hogs on the market in September and March when hog prices are usually highest.

Keep clean water before hogs all the time. In the winter the water should be warmed and in the summer it should be as cool as possible. Hogs can do without feed longer than water since more than ninety per cent of a pound of grain is made up of water. A simple plan for a covered hog water trough can be gotten from the county agent's office. The same trough should not be used for both slop and water. Hogs like their water clean, otherwise they will not drink enough.

If shade is not plentiful for hot weather it can be provided by building a brush arbor. The shade should be built high so that air will circulate under it well. Hogs should have a wallow for hot weather but this wallow should not be in the shade. The water should be at least 8 or 10 inches deep. A cheap wallow can be made from flat rocks and a little concrete.

If it is known that hogs on the farm have had intestinal worms, it is best to worm the pigs at weaning time with oil of chenopodium or phenothiazine. The county agent or any other agricultural worker can tell how to worm pigs.

Loose salt should be kept in a dry place available to hogs all the time. No animal can do without salt and no animal known will take too much salt if allowed access to it all the time.

Record Crowds Hail New Chevrolet

Detroit, Oct. 3.—Record crowds that thronged the General Motors Building throughout the past week provided the answer to one question before the auto industry... public interest in its new models. In one of the most unique auto displays ever staged, Chevrolet presented its 1942 models, hailed as setting new high standards in the lowest-price field. Concurrently, dealers the nation over unveiled the new Chevrolets, and early wires received by William E. Holler, general sales manager, indicated a record response from motorists in all sections of the country. As in past years, no 1942 Chevrolet appeared on street or highway prior to announcement day.

Pamper Your Feet for Comfort!

Petite Irena Baranova, idol of the new Ballet Russe, pauses backstage to pamper her precious feet.

NEW YORK, N. Y. (Special)—"In the ballet, our feet are our fortune—so we must pamper them—just as every wise woman who wants to feel fresh and lovely must pamper her feet, too," said Baranova, the exquisite doll-like ballerina of the New Ballet Russe, in a recent backstage interview.

She reached for the roll of absorbent cotton beside her and tore off a six-inch piece. "Our toes get so burned after we dance on them a long time," she sighed, as she doused the cotton with witch hazel. "So I have worked out a regime for my feet—and I stick to it!"

"During the intermission, when I'm changing, I take off my slippers and wrap my poor toes in big pieces of cotton like this to cool them off. Then I stick them straight out in front of me, and turn them up like this so the blood runs down, away from them.

"I wrap my toes the same way when I go home for supper between performances—and then I lie down with my feet higher than my head, so all the blood runs away from my feet to my head. That makes me feel—and look—rested, and it's a good trick any woman could use before a party, I should think.

"At night, I oftentimes soak my feet in a little pan of the best quality witch hazel that I can buy. I find this so restful and it seems to have some magic effect in aiding one to relax.

"This is a routine which every woman can follow every night. Most American women do not realize that when their feet are tired, that they are tired, too. And that tired feeling is reflected in one's face. That's why it is so important for women to take care of their feet—and this simple routine can be so very effective.

"I do believe the simple remedies are really always the best. That's why I also use a good witch hazel as an astringent. It is mild enough not to dry or injure the facial tissues (for strong astringents can be harmful!), yet it is extremely effective as a beauty aid and oh, so refreshing!"

Baranova leaned down to pour glue in the heel of her slipper. "It keeps the shoe from slipping," she laughed, "and so I don't fall."
