Farmers To Meet Saturday

Bridge Game Killing Case Goes to Trial

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—A double-barreled threat of intra-party strife over prohibition and of revolt against Raskob leadership hovers over the Democratic national committee meeting here March 5.

The battle for ballots in 1932 nation is expected to be a subject of primary consideration when delegates from all states—wet, dry and moist—gather at the call of John J. Raskob, chairman, to meet with the executive committee and legislative leaders of the party.

The announced purpose of the conference is to have committee members examine a new expert financing scheme and to discuss policies governing our activities during the next 15 months.

Almost immediately after the calling of the conference, the first since the 1928 convention, there was a flood of gossip as to the significance of a national party so long before a campaign.

There were rumors of Raskob's resignation, reports that a definite decision as to the party's stand on prohibition and a program for Democrats in the next congress would be formulated.

Coincidentally with these reports the voice of rebellion against Raskob leadership and commitment of the party to the wet cause was heard in the halls of congress.

Southern Democrats led by Senator Sheppard of Texas and Morrison of North Carolina, opened a fire on Raskob and Jouett Shouse, head of the Democratic executive committee, saying they would fight any attempt to JOURNAL HOUSE.

On the other hand, Senators Wagner of New York and Tydings of Maryland have pleaded with their Democratic colleagues in congress for sponsor... by the party in 1932 of outright repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Meanwhile at Democratic headquarters here, where Raskob's lieutenant, Shouse, directs activities in the "firing line," it was said "there might be some fireworks at the March 5 meeting," but that no sensational developments were expected. It was said the conference undoubtedly would consider some phases of the prohibition question.

Whether the committee will take a definite stand on the liquor issue remains to be seen. Raskob's supporters point to the concerted campaign which resulted in Democratic victories in the 1930 congressional elections as vindication of the man who has been called both the party's "financial angel" and "Smith's monumental mistake."

Payment of Loss Due To Bollworm Rules Is Sought

Declaring that some definite work must be done if the pink bollworm remembrance bill is passed by the legislature, Chamber of Commerce officials, several of whom have just returned from Austin, Thursday called a meeting for 3 p. m. Saturday at the court house for discussion of the bill and marshaling of forces to fight vigorously for its adoption.

Having talked to several senators and representatives as well as other officials Manager C. T. Watson said prospects were fairly good for the senate to approve the bill but its fate in the house was doubtful. Practically all legislators agree the money expended for the past three years by farmers in the pink bollworm restricted area including Howard county should be repaid but add that "everybody's after money." Proposed appropriations already total more than the expected income for the biennium, some declared.

Mr. Watson, Ray Wilcox, L. S. McDowell, B. Reagan, James T. Brooks and R. H. Jones, H. F. Whitman and Sam Horton, the latter three employees of the Texas & Pacific Railway company, returned Wednesday from Austin.

The party left Sunday morning and while there attended the public hearing on motor truck and bus regulation bills. Mr. Watson did a great deal of personal work in behalf of several other types of bills now pending.

Rail Merger Plan Target

Criticism of the proposed four way merger of railroads was announced today by Congressman Couzens of the senate interstate commerce committee told the senate today the time has come to "call a halt" to rail consolidations "before the transportation facilities of the country are in a few hands."

Couzens, who has had a resolution pending for months to suspend rail mergers, said congress should act to prevent further mergers until evidence has been presented to congress to justify them. Meanwhile, at the other end of the capitol, the house interstate commerce committee postponed indefinitely action on the Parker bill to place railroad holding companies under the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission.

This means that the principal recommendation in the committee's report on its holding company investigation, submitted to the house last week, would not be enacted during this congress.

Motor Car Service On Santa Fe Allowed

AUSTIN, Feb. 26 (AP)—The railroad commission has authorized the Frisco to substitute motor car service between Fort Worth and Brownwood for its present day mixed train service. The change will take effect today. At present it requires a day for the mixed train to run from Fort Worth to Brownwood and vice versa. The motor train will make the trip in about five hours, leaving Brownwood about 7:30 a. m. and leaving Fort Worth about 2:30 p. m. The change will give the Frisco a better opportunity to try out its new 2 cent fare.

Court To Decide Fate Of Newspaper

The New York World, housed in the historic structure shown above, must be disposed of by his sons or cease publication, they have stipulated in his will that the World should be operated forever as to continue under the policies and ideals he had chosen. Paul Block, publisher, today withdrew his offer to Surrogate Foley, who must decide how to sell the paper and whether the Pulitzer will buy. The Scripps-Howard newspapers have entered an offer. Counsel for World employees charged today Block and the Scripps-Howard group had entered an agreement leading to Block's withdrawal and that Block represented William Randolph Hearst. These charges were denied.

Contracts Awarded for Erection of Boy Scout Hut at City Park; Several Other Improvements Provided For

Contracts for construction of various improvements at the city park were awarded by the city commission, at a meeting held Wednesday night.

Contract for the construction of a native stone Boy Scout hut, and for a stone entrance to the park, was given to J. L. Wiseman. He bid $1,098.75 on the hut and $229.35 on the entrance. In the latter project, the city will furnish the granite.

V. W. Latson was awarded the contract for construction of a concrete dip across the creek that runs through the park, and the curbing. The combined costs of the two projects will be $355.20.

A contract for approximately 600 trees and shrubs went to Baker Bros. Nursery of Fort Worth. The bid was $265.75.

Work on the project started this morning. Early completion is expected.

Bids were opened, but due to what officials viewed as the effect of the ten-year payment clause in the contract, all were rejected. The city officials planned to readvertise for bids this week, eliminating the ten-year clause, and substituting a five-year payment policy. Counter petitions were circulated, however, and a number of property owners who had signed the first petitions, asked that they be withdrawn.

Petitions asking the paving program be abandoned were presented at the meeting of the city commission last night. Officials had expressed the opinion before last night's meeting that unless the property owners wanted the paving, the project would be abandoned.

Paving plans were immediately dropped after presentation of the counter petitions.

Congress Considered Matter Closed Long Ago, Says Message

'WOULD COST PEOPLE' Utility As Relief For Distressed Less Than Believed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—An administration compromise proposal to limit the veterans loan bill to the needy was offered in the house by Republican Leader Tilson today, in appealing for a vote sustaining the president's veto.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—President Hoover vetoed the veterans' loan bill this afternoon.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—The text of President Hoover's message vetoing the veterans loan bill follows:

To the house of Representatives: I return herewith, without my approval, H. R. 17654, "an act to increase the loan basis of adjusted service certificates."

In order that it may be clearly understood, I may review that the adjusted compensation act (Bonus Bill) passed on May 19, 1924, awarded to 3,498,000 veterans approximately 1,265,000,000 further compensation for war service. To this sum was added 25 per cent, said to be consideration for deferring the payment until about 1945, the whole now amounts to about $1,582,000,000. Immediate payment to dependents upon death was included, thus creating an endowment insurance policy represented by a certificate to each veteran showing the sum payable at the end of the period—the "face value." The total "face value" of these certificates in about 1945, and to date has involved an appropriation averaging $112,000,000 per annum. The accumulation of these appropriations is represented by government obligations deposited in a reserve fund, which funds now amount to about $750,000,000. A loan basis to certificates holders was established equal to 50 per cent of the reserve value of the certificates, such as now in the sixth year being authorized to 23 1/2 per cent of the "face value."

When the bonus act was passed it was upon the explicit understanding of the congress that the matter was closed and the government would not be called upon to make subsequent enlargements. It is now proposed to enlarge the loan rate to 50 per cent of the "face value," at a low rate of interest bearing 4 per cent compound interest outlay upon the government of about $1,700,000,000, if all veterans apply for loans, less about $320,000,000 already loaned. According to the administrator of veterans' affairs the probable number who will avail themselves of the privilege under this bill will require approximately $1,000,000,000. There is not a penny in the treasury to meet such a demand, the government must borrow this sum through the sale of the reserve fund securities together with further issues or we must need impose further taxation.

The sole appeal made for the reopening of the bonus act is the claim that funds from the national treasury should be provided to veterans in distress as the result of the drought and business depression. There are veterans unemployed and in need today in communities with others of our country. Unlike the others, are being provided the basic necessities of life by the government.

HOMETOWN TALK

BY BEDDY

In the midst of basketball contests, road bond elections, etc., we have lost sight the past few days of the city clean-up and beautification campaign recently started by the civic committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Big Spring, like every other city where any activity exists, naturally collects rubbish, weeds, and stunts that mar its beauty and damages sanitation.

The death rate here is exceeding by low. Let's keep it that way.

Although Big Spring is not unlike other towns in collecting this rubbish plenty of places can be found here that certainly need a good cleaning.

After the dirt is swept out, planting of flowers, cultivation of lawns and trees ought to be started with renewed vigor.

Big Spring is framed in a natural setting that shapes things admirably for a picture of real, live beauty. With evergreen mesquite in the south background, the foot of the plains to the north there is here wonderful opportunity for painting with trees and flowers and things the details of a picture reflecting character of the community in the most vivid manner possible.

Developments of the milk fund was the topic of a talk by Felton "Uncle Walt" Smith. Hilo Hatch, in a short appearance, recounted a trip to Mexico. Wendell Bedichek's topic dealt with necessity of putting Kiwanis ideals into practice rather than stopping as soon as they were learned by members.

Charlie Brooks of Dallas and members of the basketball club were guests. Coach Stevens, Cheer Leader Steve Ford, Jr., and the following members of the cage squad attended: Hutto; Hockhold, Wood, Foster, Pardue, Flowers, Reed, Hopper, Thompson, Morgan, and Phillips.

STEERS CLASH WITH BUCCS TONIGHT

Breckenridge Brings Quintet Here In Effort To Capture Second Game Bi-District Championship Series

With the well taught lesson that the Breckenridge Buccs demand respect whenever they step upon a gymnasium floor, uppermost in their minds, the Big Spring Steers tonight will make an effort to bring to an abrupt termination the series for the bi-district basketball championship.

The Steers are fully recovered from the chase given them in the first game of the series, played at Breckenridge Tuesday night. Only a last quarter rally pulled the game from out of the fire and placed it in the Big Spring frying pan. The final score was 24 to 23.

Recruits Hold Attention Of Cub Solon

AVALON, Calif., Feb. 26 (AP)—Three recruits, two pitchers and an outfielder, have caught Rogers Hornsby's eye and appear to be set for a season of employment with the Chicago Cubs.

The hurlers, Ed Baecht and Lon Warneke, have progressed rapidly enough to cause the Rajah to give them lots of personal attention. The outfielder, Vincent Barton, who also first bases some, yesterday was the big shot in batting practice, driving the ball even farther than the mighty Hack Wilson.

PHILLIES CALLED BY BERT SHOTTON
WINTER HAVEN, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—Manager Bert Shotton of the Phillies called his baseball squad out today for the first practice. Fifteen players, mostly batters, are in camp. Rumors were in circulation that Phil Collins, ace of the pitching staff last year, may be a holdout.

ROBINSON WILLING TO DISCUSS BATTING
CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—Wilbert Robinson, portly manager of the Brooklyn baseball club, is perfectly willing to talk about his batting order for the season although he hasn't decided upon it. "Thompson is a good lead off man," he said yesterday, "but right now I like the combination of Frederick leading off with Thompson, O'Doul and Herman coming up in that order."

BENNIE FREY BACK IN EXCELLENT FORM
TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—Bennie Frey, once the nemesis of the Chicago Cubs, while the Cincinnati Reds played havoc with the Bruins' chances for the National League pennant, has taken on considerable weight and appears in excellent condition for the coming campaign. Bennie lost his mastery over the Cleveland Indians as manager Roger Peckinpaugh nurses his batterymen into condition. The absence of Sewell leaves only Sprinz and Myatt on the catching staff, and if the regular backstop doesn't put in today he'll have some explaining to do.

SEWELL'S ABSENCE IS BOTHERING INDIANS
NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 26 (AP)—Looming embarrassing to the Cleveland Indians as manager Roger Peckinpaugh nurses his batterymen into condition. The absence of Sewell leaves only Sprinz and Myatt on the catching staff, and if the regular backstop doesn't put in today he'll have some explaining to do.

ENTIRE DETROIT CLUB WILL PRACTICE MONDAY
SACRAMENTO, Calif., Feb. 26 (AP)—The entire Detroit Tiger squad will begin training together here next Monday. Even Marty McManus, star infielder, let it be known he would be on hand, despite salary differences with the management. He wants $13,000 and a $1,000 bonus. He has been offered $12,000.

ROOKIE INFELDERS ATTRACT JEWELERS PASO ROBLES, Calif., Feb. 26 (AP)—When the second squad of the Midland menior, whose case reflects at every school in the newly created district, didn't mean anything by it, we glean from the column of Blundy Cross in the San Angelo Standard. He merely aimed his verbal pistol at one town, informs the San Angelo scribe, and found it filled with scouter shot instead of slugs. He informs that McCamey was supposed to receive the brunt of the Midland coach's attack, not the schools making up the district. McCamey was suspended last year because of something dealing with ineligible men. Midland was kicked out of the race last year because of something dealing with an ineligible man. Just a couple of rock houses, and a bunch of clods, as it were.

Which reminds us that R. C. Lord Chesterfield Hawkins will be greatly honored Monday night, and as a result his stock is expected to mount upward with leaps and bounds. Although he doesn't know it, he will have as his guest at the Texas-Exes banquet none other than this department, in person. This notice has been given to chain the shrews to the table, and serve no tart. We've never been able to master a tart.

BILL STEVENS IS LEARNING THINGS ABOUT COIN TOSING GAMES. Not only did the Steers win the first contest from the Breckenridge crew, but Stevens galloped off with coin calling honors. His decision, ma, while the coin was floundering around in the zone, brought to Big Spring the third game of the series. If a third game is necessary it such is the case, the tilt will be played Saturday night.

ONLY ONE MAN MISSING FROM BOSTON BRAVES
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—The Boston Braves trotted out 31 men for Manager McKeech's inspection today. Just one man, Arthur Veitman, is on the bench.

Ty Cobb Dreams of Hunting Big Game in Wild Jungles

By DILLON GRAHAM
ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 26 (AP)—Ty Cobb sits in a big easy chair, smoke rings curling around his lean head and bronzed features, and dreams of the big game he is going to hunt some day in Africa. He has been doing that for years. He has never been closer to the jungles with a gun than Canada.

But he dreams on. Plans have been changed and rechanged. Bear, mountain lions, moose have fallen before his crack shooting on preparatory trips. He wants those elephants, crocodiles and rhinos. But something else always comes up.

Golf is his game now. He plays with the same fervor and zest that made him the center fielder of all time. He shoots in the low eighties and does it left handed. He tries to kill the ball on every long shot and so he presses. He hits wonderful slices.

Two New World Speed Records Made In Madison Square Garden Tourney

By ORLO ROBERTSON
NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP)—Two new world records were on the books, eight of the nation's best wore their first National A. A. U. championship medals while six others were in possession of their second successive title today as the result of indoor track and field championship held in Madison Square Garden last night.

Two Repeat
Phil Edwards and Hans Assert, of New York City, were the only champions to repeat on the track. Edwards conquered Sera Martin, world's 800 metre champion from France, to keep his 600 yard title while Assert led a large pack over the two mile steeplechase.

The 1930 champions swept through the field events. Harold Osborn, repeated in the standing high jump. Anton Burg turned back Osborn and a classy field of youngsters in the running high

Wants To Hunt

TY COBB

The last time he wrestled with his 14 year old son, Herschal, a husky 155 pound lad, it took everything Ty had to down the boy.

He hasn't wrestled Herschal since. He won't let his son throw him. But he loves to play with the kids. Next to golf, Ty likes to fish and hunt. He prides himself on being able to take young fellows out and wait 'em down. He quit baseball because his legs went back on him. He goes after birds on horseback and hunts fox at night. He has to exercise daily or he feels badly.

On Vacation
Since retirement Cobb feels like a schoolboy on vacation. He has no desire to play ball again. Some day he may purchase a ball club. Baseball meant nothing but hard work to him after his first year as hitting champion. He had to struggle too hard to protect his record.

His home is a picture gallery and the walls are covered with pictures of himself, other baseball stars, United States presidents, celebrities of all kinds. His scrap books are filled with action pictures. The walls of his den are covered with animals he has killed, bear skins, tanned deer hides. He has given away all the bats and balls that figured in the making of his hitting records. But he still has a few of the uniforms he wore at the height of his career.

NEW BALL HAS NOT BOTHERED YANKEES
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—The new American league ball has not made much difference to the New York Yankees' pitchers, who so far have only thrown straight ones across the plate and not very hard, but it has provided Coach Art Fletcher with a phrase to pep up batting practice. "Every time a batter pops up an easy fly, Fletcher comments 'that ball ain't so lively.'"

Mickey Walker Hands Defeat To Risko

BY ALAN GOULD
MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—They may have to move over later, if not this year to make room for Mickey Walker in the scramble for the world's heavyweight championship.

Less than six pounds over the limit for the middleweight class, in which he holds the world's title, Walker packed enough stamina and wallop in his 165 1-2 pounds last night to hand a convincing pasting to 194 pound Johnny Risko of Cleveland, somewhat battered reminder of the one-time spoiler of heavyweight ambitions.

Walker won the unanimous verdict of three judges after ten slashing, bruising rounds of punishment. Mickey was held close to even terms for the first eight rounds, due to Johnny's bull like charges and aggressive hammering, but Walker on the last two rounds by a wide margin. Risko was groggy in the ninth and tenth under Walker's vicious left hooks and right crosses to the chin. The Associated Press score-sheet gave Mickey six rounds and Risko four. In fine condition, Walker overcame big handicaps in weight and reach to demonstrate his ability to mix successfully in bigger company. He has not defended the middleweight crown in over a year and apparently intends to leave it on the shelf while he battles for a spot in the heavyweight picture.

There's not much chance of his figuring in the big program for 1931, however. Before Walker fought the main go last night, Mrs. Schmeling, the German who was bequeathed the heavyweight title by boxing authorities, and his American challenger, Young Stribling, appeared in exhibitions. The winner of the Schmeling - Stribling bout, in June, is slated to defend the title against Primo Carnera.

Carnera was a spectator last night and is booked to meet Jimmy Maloney of Boston here on March 5 in the battle of the cracked rib.

Specimens of mosses from Gethsemane, Nazareth and Mount Lebanon have been received by the Grinnell college botany department.

Income tax collections in the Chicago district during 1930 were $227,500,000, or $42,000,000 less than in 1929.

During 1930 more than 1,320,000 persons visited the Field Museum of natural history at Chicago.

SPEED OF McDONALD WORRIES ATHLETICS
FORT MYERS, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—Hank McDonald, giant California right-hander who is trying out with the Philadelphia Athletics, has the entire camp wondering how much speed he possesses. Captain Collins spied him yesterday burning them into Mickey Cochrane.

"Hey," shouted Collins, "don't cut loose yet."
"I'm not, boss," replied the six-foot-four rookie. "This ain't nothing. I can speed 'em in a lot faster."
McDonald worked out on the coast and is already in shape and anxious to get going.
The O. R. and W. last narrow gauge railway in Ohio, soon is to be abandoned.

A Righted Wrong
THE other day a certain 5 and 10-cent store at Newark, N. J., received a letter containing a $1 bill.
The letter explained that once upon a time a little boy had scooped into that store, noticed the trays of guttering rings on the counter, and slipped two of them into his pocket
when no one was looking.

The years passed. The little boy grew up. But he couldn't forget the two 10-cent rings that had sparkled with such irresistible
magic on a day when his hands went groping hurriedly for a ring with a shining stone.

So he made atonement the other day by sending the store a $1 bill to pay for the banditry of long ago.

It is doubtful if the man who made amends for the misdemeanor
of the wasteful youngster who wanted two rings ever stole anything in his life. If he had he would forget this childish transgression.
Those who sin much don't suffer.
But those who have stepped aside only occasionally do. Their conscience aren't calloused and hardened.

The gold of the rings turned to brass almost before the little boy knew it. Maybe he thought it was his conscience taking away the splendid gleam. Maybe it was.

And the stones, he probably discovered weren't lovely, beautiful bits of color caught when a drop dropped broke just glass with a drop of dye. He learned wisdom but he couldn't get away from the pin pricks in his mind that told him he had taken something that didn't belong to him.

When he was at the bat and going strong; when he was swimming faster than any other one in the gang some place in a deep green hole, when he awakened suddenly in the strange hush of a long night—
he remembered the rings.

Like a ghost the two circles followed him. Other boys didn't worry about the apples and pumpkins that were spirited away from a farmer's orchard. But this offense was different. He had walked into a store and deliberately taken property that didn't belong to him. He had a wrong to right.

It would be interesting to know
just why the little boy of long ago took the rings. Certainly not to make money, for he took only two.
Evidently not to show his bold defiant courage. One ring would have been sufficient for that.

Maybe it was somebody's birthday at home and he didn't have any money to buy a present, so he decided to steal one. And while he was doing it he remembered another little sister who would cry if he didn't get one, a gift too. It was just as easy to take two as one. One with a blue set, perhaps,
and one with a red.

Maybe he just wanted to feel something beautiful in his pocket.
Nobody knows. But it is certain that the man who had a righted wrong of the little-boy-he-used-to-be has turned the brass of the stolen circles back to gold again.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

A Governor With Grit
Atlanta Constitution:
OUT in Oklahoma they have a new governor who was elected upon certain definite pledges of governmental relief and reform that he made to the people. Now he reneges that efforts of a posse of politicians in the state legislature to bail up and defeat the program approved by the people when they elected him.

Governor "Alfalfa Bill" Murray
has just addressed the general assembly in these torrid terms:
Thirty days ago I submitted three relief bills. One was signed a few days ago, another today,
and you killed the third yesterday. If you justified that in your own conscience before your follow-citizens said before your God, you are welcome to it.
**When I ask for a reduction of officials, you won't reduce them, but go half way, and then introduce a bill to put them back where they were in the attorney general's office. Pass that bill

the way it is and he damned, I'll veto it. I don't fear impeachment. . . . The roll will be called and the fire bells will be rung before this is over. When you have whipped me, you can brag
about it—but wait until you do!
This is the stuff that the people like to hear from a governor. They do not elect their chief executive officer to be the lackey, the fetch-and-carry boy, for a crowd of politicians playing football with their most necessary interests.
Chief Justice Hughes, Theodore
Roosevelt and Alfred E. Smith were such governors of the great state of New York. When trying to carry out the people's mandates they were opposed by the political card-sharps of the legislature, they went boldly back to the people and the people bulgedoned the legislators into submission and obedience to the popular will.

BY ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD — Richard Dix
has defaulted from his intended role of actor-director in "Big Brother," because the studio wishes to capitalize on his new found fame
as star of "Climax."

That leaves
Lowell Sherman
practically alone
in the field of
a r-director,
since Lionel Barrymore, who gave up acting
except for occasional camera appearances, is now
concerned principally with directing.

Objections have been made to such a combination of duties as Sherman performs, but Sherman himself can see no reason why a man on one job in any business should not be able to handle another in the same line of work.

TIRED OF ACTING
Eventually, he says, he hopes to devote all his time to directing,
abandoning acting entirely.
"Acting is a terrible bore," he says. "You get very tired of yourself, but directing is new and interesting."

Already he has directed himself
in four pictures, and is to start soon on a fifth. "Lawful Larceny"
was society melodrama, with Sherman contributing comedy. "The Pay-Off" was crime drama, and
"The Royal Bed" and "Bachelor Apartment," light, sophisticated comedy-drama.

Of the four, only the latter is an original screen story, the others being adapted from stage plays, but Sherman is not prejudiced in favor of the latter variety.

He does not believe, however,
that when the good material of a stage play is at hand it should be thrown out the window and typical "movie stuff" substituted indiscriminately. But he believes that the story written directly for the screen is coming back more and more into its own.

Studios, like the little cities they are, have telephone directories of their own which approach in bulk those of many a small town.

Tentacles of their intra-studio systems of communication reach into every corner of the lot, no matter how remote, embracing actors' dressing rooms and the censtruction department alike, reaching from the offices of the chief executive to the children's schoolrooms, commissary, business offices and art departments, and including every center of studio activity.

Woman Starts
"Jobless Apples"
Idea In Finland

WASHINGTON (AP)—The "unemployed apple" has made its debut in far away Finland because of a visit to this country of Fru Celia Hasselstrom, who says she is the only regularly employed newspaper woman in Helsinki.

Fru Hasselstrom, who came here to attend the conference on "Cause and Cure of War," spied apple-pickers as soon as she landed in New York. She asked about them, immediately she cabled back to her country, where there also is an unemployment problem.

As a result Finnish farmers began bringing in their apples to sell on street corners.

But Finland, says this enthusiastic, alert newspaper woman, can-give the United States a suggestion, too. Well-to-do families there have as guest each night at dinner
an unemployed man. Each family takes a different man every day.

In this way the hungry are assured one good meal a day at least
and the more prosperous are not unduly taxed.

Friday Is Visiting
Day for Parents In
The Nation's Schools

Friday, February 27th—has been set aside by the national organization of the P.T.A. as visiting day for parents.

Those who would like to see the schools may observe this day and feel within their rights.

Big Spring has more sights to offer parents, than the average town,
because of its three new buildings.
Those who could not go last Friday evening to the receptions will be welcome tomorrow.

RED ACCESSORIES

PARIS (AP)—Red accessories are a favorite with many fashionable Parisienne these days. Red mo-crocco bags, red chiffon handkerchiefs and scarlet enamel pins are used as accompaniments to black or slate gray frocks.

THE CRIME IN THE DUTCH GARDEN
BY HERBERT
ADAMS

SYNOPSIS: When a stone figure, murderously toppled over, killed Annabelle Quering in her Dutch garden, Jimmie Haswell, amateur detective, recalls that her niece, Evelyn Blake, had con- sulted him regarding death threats against the spinster. The body was found by Evelyn's sister, Marjorie, soon after she and Dr. Netherton had talked with her and while, according to Eve- lyn, she and her fiance, Lionel Duckworth, were singing in the house. Janet Raynes, pariformal, confirms Evelyn's story and helps to establish an alibi for Green, the chauffeur, who with Joe Allen, a discharged gardener, is sus- pected. Major Gresham ex- plains to Police Superintendent Richmond that his presence near the murder scene was due to his unrequited love for Miss Quer- dling, who frowned upon all re- lations. Constable Robinson re- ports having seen a strange car and driver nearby on the night of the tragedy, and Green tells of encountering an empty automo- bile.

Chapter 8
THE BORROWED HAMMER
Superintendent Richmond's curi- osity regarding the mysterious car Green had seen as he hurried for the doctor was hardly satisfied by the meagre description the chauff- eur gave. It was, he said, a Morris two-seater, similar to many in the neighborhood. There was no one in the car and the top was up. The superintendent suggested that Green, knowing most of the cars nearby, could say whose it was. "There are lots of Morrises," said Green gruffly. "Like Captain Star- ling's, but two Morrises in the dark are as much alike as black cats. I keep saying I don't know." He glanced at the insistent Richmond. "I suppose the lights were on," suggested Jimmy in his friendly way. "Did you notice the number?" "No sir, I was running for the doctor." But Jimmy's further inquiry revealed that when Green had re- turned the same way the car was gone. Jimmie exchanged significant glances with Richmond. Granting the story true, it would have been easy for a killer to hide in the shadows of the garden before es- caping in a waiting car. Then they left him and went to the gardener's cottage to verify the story of the hammer. "That's right," Ben Acres told them. "My 'ammer wor broke. I ad borrowed Ted's. He coom along and fetched it." Thus Green's explanation of his brief absence from the garage ap- peared confirmed. He was, it ap- peared, at Ben's when Janet went out to the garage the first time to tell him of Lionel's singing and had returned in time to meet her on her second call. It was, as Donald said the next morning, "a very queer business," but Jimmie smiled when he added, "If Jimmie doesn't clear it up, I doubt if any one will. You believe the chauffeur did it, don't you, Jimmie?" "I believe he could have done it, but that is a different thing," was the reply. "You see, there is really little to work on—apart from those letters, virtually no clues. When it's poison, you have an immediate field of inquiry, and in case of shooting or stabbing, the weapon can be traced. But here a mass of stone is pushed on a defenseless woman below. Motives in many quarters may be alleged in the case of a dictatorial woman. The seat had been moved, but Miss Quer-quite soon. Superintendent Rich- mond, passing Fairways in his car, stopped to pick him up and they went straight to the doctor's house. Dr. Netherton's abode was a little beyond the golf course, on the side farthest from Morrow Craig and at the beginning of the village. Its situation had suggested its name of Corner Cottage. It was quite old and its front garden was a blaze of flowers.

The white-haired lady talking with a handsome girl was undoubt- edly the doctor's mother, while Jimmie, seeing the golf bag she car- ried, decided her companion was Audrey Winford. He was right. The old lady explained that her son was in the surgery and would be out presently. Audrey Winford was an attrac- tive girl and Jimmie took to her at once, even before Mrs. Nether- ton introduced them. Not softly pretty, she had honest, open gray eyes and a humorous twist to her mouth. She looked self-reliant and capable. "Yes, I told her about the cook."

"The cook, I understand," put in Jimmie, "is a fairly hefty young woman. You left her in bed?" "Yes. Another 24 hours would see her all right."

"Miss Querding," went on Rich- mond, "was in her usual spirits—not apprehending trouble?" "Only the usual trouble."

How To Dress One's Self On $60 A Year, On A Five-Year Planning Basis

Dear Women: There is a wardrobe demonstration in each of the nine communities doing home demonstration club work in Howard county. All other women of the clubs are urged to be cooperators. A demonstrator takes inventory of clothes on hand, gathers together all discarded clothing, making a list of that which may be renovated and used, makes a budget of clothing needed throughout the year, with amount she can allow for each article, and makes a record of all purchases made with cost of article and brand. She makes any alterations needed in her foundation pattern, and uses it for cutting the dresses she makes. If she uses a commercial pattern for some design which she does not trust herself to cut, she lays her foundation pattern on the commercial one and saves a lot of time on fitting, and makes sure it is plenty large. By following this method she can trust herself on her good clothes. Demonstrators will compete for a prize on a tailored dress the last of June. The county winner will compete for a state prize at College Station during the short course. Cooperators will keep a record on shoes and hose, make a thin dress for a contest, and enter a dress in the fair. This is the minimum requirement. A number of cooperators will keep a complete record on clothing, as the demonstrators do. The 1930 demonstrators will continue the demonstration. The subject for the month has been "Planning the Wardrobe." The roll call, "Savings I intend making in my wardrobe this year" was answered in many interesting ways; such as, "Buying better and fewer clothes, better fitting shoes, with sensible heels, so they may be used for everyday when they get too old for dress, making dresses rather than buying ready-made ones, better grade of fast color material for dresses, tailored cotton dresses for nice wear, especially for mothers of small children, and buying clothes along when they may be found at a bargain, rather than letting wardrobe run low on everything at once, and having to buy in emergency something undesirable or pay much more than it is worth." Wardrobe demonstrators in Howard county for 1930 spent on an average of $60. Starting out with this amount for the woman of average or small size, the following budget was planned. This is intended for the woman who makes her own clothes. Underwear, $5, to be divided as she individual needs: 3 pairs bloomers (usually purchased at the store); 3 brassiers (may be made at home by a pattern taken from one that fits); 1 slip (might be made from good parts of a worn out silk dress, cotton non-slip material). Winters corsets are worn, the amount for underwear wear have to be increased. This is the amount to be purchased each year. Garments will be carried over from year to year. A dark slip made from a dark flat crepe dress might last for some time, so may a light colored one, if just worn for nice wear. $5 is more than the average spent on underwear last year by wardrobe demonstrators. Dresses, $15.—The money is to be spent as follows: 1 silk dress, material to cost $3; 1 tailored cotton dress, around $1.50; 1 cotton dress of sheer material, around $2; 4 house dresses, $3.50 for material for all. Four house dresses will be needed for most every woman, and that number will be worn out each year. The other dresses will be carried

How Eastern Critics Are Reacting To Dobie's New Book

All over the United States literary critics and book reviewers are discussing J. Frank Dobie's "Coronado's Children" which is the February selection of the Literary Guild of America. This volume of tales of lost mines and buried treasure of the Southwest, written by a Texas author, illustrated by a Texas artist, Ben Carleton Mead, and published by The Southwest Press at Dallas, is so completely a Texas book that the whole Southwest is more than casually interested in the verdict of the literary world. So enthusiastic has been its reception everywhere that it gives promise of becoming a national best seller at once and to take its place as one of the spring sensations in the world of books.

From New York R. L. Duffus reviewing the volume this week in the New York Times, headlines it as "a fascinating record of adventurous search for hidden riches" and writes: "It is hard to pick from among Mr. Dobie's stories, there are so many of them and they are so good. He has contrived throughout to keep the atmosphere of the country that he loves and of the characters with whom he is so familiar. His yarns seem to have been spun out of doors. One smells the smoke of campfires and hears the horses champing. Or the warm Southwestern sun beats down beyond the patch of shade in which one sits and listens to the drawing narratives of men to whom story-telling is as important as anything else in life—as perhaps it always ought to be. "Mr. Dobie has produced a book in which the romance and glamour of the Southwest is, seemingly without effort, preserved. It is as entrancing a volume as one is likely to pick up in a month of Sundays."

In the Herald Tribune, Charles J. Finer pays this tribute: "It is a book packed full of treasure tales told, often in the true vernacular by a man who knows his Texas and his Texas people. It is an industrious volume and amusing, too. Not the least of its value is the admirable sidelight it casts on the ways and manners of the Texas oldtimer, a fast vanishing type. Mr. Dobie will not be found tripping by the keenest eyes."

According to the New York Sun: "No stylistic elegancies have been embroidered over these plain tales from the hills and lowlands of Texas, New Mexico and Arizona. They are authentic folk tales, phrased often in the very words of the prospectors, trail drivers, cowboys and goat herders from whose lips Mr. Dobie heard them. "Coronado's Children" is a thoroughly enjoyable compound of history and adventure of truth and fable, of credulity and disappointments, of romantic glamour and bitter reality."

Harry Hansen in his department, "The First Reader," in the New York World, said: "It is a lively book, full of all sorts of tales, enough to make any cynical reviewer buy a spade and yell for time tables of trains to Texas. "Coronado's Children" is thrilling reading and it ought to be a godsend to authors who are out of plots. These are tall tales and I wouldn't miss the thrill they give me for anything."

Brooklyn Eagle Just across the East River, George Currie, Literary Editor of the Brooklyn Eagle, congratulates the Guild upon the selection: "The Literary Guild has done itself proud in going to Dallas, Texas, for its book of the month of February. If there is a more fascinating volume of the stuff that dreams are made of on the market today, it has carefully hidden its light under some sort of bushel unknown to this reviewer. Here is a book to whet the appetite of the most adventurous. For the reader the book is mine in itself, of breathless and exciting moments."

St. Louis Post Dispatch But New York is not the only place to acclaim this Texas book. In the St. Louis Post Dispatch John G. Neihardt wrote: "It will be obvious to any reader that 'Coronado's Children' is a very valuable contribution to the literature of American folk-lore. But relatively few readers will care in the least about that. They will be too busy

Deacon Dubbs Himself As He Will Appear Tomorrow Evening

Herewith is presented the Deacon Darius Dubbs, the leading character in the three-act comedy to be staged at the high school Friday night for benefit of the ladies auxiliary of Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, who are to hold a state meeting in Big Spring next October.

The Deacon, played by George Elwell, is a big, jovial, kindhearted old farmer, from "Sorghum Center State of West Virginia." Elwell is very suited for the part and characterizes the old gentleman to the letter. His part carries much comedy and is certain to bring many laughs to young and old alike. And aside from marrying the heroine, and overpowering the villain, which Amos Coleman, the hero cleverly does—the Deacon nears the point of being the hero himself.

Then there is Emily Dale, well played by Miss Pyle Bradshaw, who is the haughty little maiden, and the richest girl in the village. She learns just in time to save herself, that the villain is the husband of another woman, and also learns from him that there is ore on the old homestead, which is about to be lost through foreclosure proceedings, and tells it to everyone, all of which foils the plans of the villain.

"Deacon Dubbs" is a clean, well-plotted comedy and is sure to be a good evening's entertainment at a popular price for amateur plays. In using the term "amateur" in this case, however, it is not meant to mean "inferior," as the play is well cast, having in it some of Big Spring's most prominent and able talent. One is certain to leave the auditorium in a very good humor after having seen the production.

devoted committees in those parts of the country affected by the depression or drought. The government and many employers are giving preference to veterans in employment. Their welfare is and should be a matter of concern to our people. Inquiry indicates that such care is being given throughout the country, and it also indicates that the number of veterans in need of such relief is a minor percentage of the whole. The utility of this legislation as relief to those in distress is far less than has been disclosed. The popular assumption has been that as the certificates average 3,000 then each veteran can obtain $500 by way of a loan. But this is only an average and more than one-half will receive less than this amount. In fact over 800,000 men will be able to borrow less than $200, and of these over 200,000 will be able to borrow only an average of $75. Furthermore, these are 100,000 veterans whose certificates have been issued recently who under the proposed law will have no loan privilege until their certificates are two years old. It is therefore urgent in any event that local committees continue relief to veterans, but this legislation would lead such local committees and employers to assume that these veterans have been provided for by the federal treasury and thereby threatens them with greater hardships than before.

Need Less Taxes
The need of our people today is a decrease in the burden of taxes and unemployment, yet they (who include the veterans) are being steadily forced toward higher tax and lessened employment by the proposed recovery of employment when government borrowings divert the savings of the people from their use by constructive industry and commerce. It imposes a great charge upon the individual who loses such increased employment or continues unemployed. To the veteran this is a double loss when he has consumed the value of his certificate and has also lost the opportunity for greater earnings. There is a greater cost than all this: It is a step toward government aid to those who can help themselves. These direct or indirect burdens fall upon the people as a whole.

Among those who would receive the proposed benefits are included 387,000 veterans and 400,000 dependents, who are already receiving some degree of allowance or support from the federal government. But in addition to these, it provides equal benefits for scores of thousands of others who are in the income-tax paying class, and for scores of thousands who are holders of secure positions in the federal, state, and local governments and in every profession and industry. I know that most of these men do not seek these privileges, they have no desire to be presented to American people as beneficiaries by a burden put upon the whole people, and I believe upon whom the times are bearing heavily that they do not want to be represented to our people as a group substituting special privilege for the idealism and patriotism they have rejoiced in offering to their country through their service.

It is suggested as a reason for making these provisions applicable to all veterans, that we should not make public distinction between veterans in need and the others who comprise the vast majority of our population. The loss of the one safeguard that the interests of the families of our country are conserved by either cashing or borrowing upon their life-insurance policies.

No one will deny that under the pressure or allurements of the moment, many will borrow against these certificates for other than absolutely necessary purposes. The loss to many families means the destruction of the one safeguard that the interests of the families of our country are conserved by either cashing or borrowing upon their life-insurance policies.

I have no desire to present monetary aspects of the question of the certificates, but as they affect the human aspect, surely it is a human aspect to transfer to the backs of those who toil, including veterans, a burden of those who by position and property can care for themselves. It is a human aspect to incur the danger of continued or increased unemployment. It is a human aspect to deprive women and children of protection by reckless use of an endowment policy. Our country is rich enough to do any justice. No country is rich enough to do an injustice.

The patriotisms of our people is not a material thing. It is a spiritual thing. We can not pay for it with government aid. We can honor or those in need by our aid. It is a fundamental aspect of freedom among us that no step should be taken which burdens the nation with a privileged class who can care for themselves.

Unwise
I regard the bill under consideration as unwise from the standpoint of the veterans themselves, and unwise from the standpoint of the welfare of all the people. The future of our country is bound up with the future of the whole people. The greatest service that we can render both veterans and the public generally is to administer the affairs of our government with a view to the well-being and happiness of all of the nation.

The matter under consideration is of grave importance in itself, but of much greater importance is the whole tendency to open the federal treasury to a thousand purposes, many in which the proponents fall or do not care to see that with such beginnings many of them insidiously consume more and more of the savings and the labor of our country normally to bear; and of far higher importance, each of them breaks the barriers of self-reliance and self-support in our people.

Explains Loan Fund
Arceneaux Heard At Church of Christ In First of Discussions

Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde's interpretation of the thought loan, requested by the senate, opened the way for adoption of the much disputed compromise.

Planned by unusually heavy attendance at the first of series of lectures here, Early Arceneaux, Lockney, known for many years throughout the country by members of the Church of Christ, announced this morning that this evening's topic at that church, Fourth and Main streets, would be "Divine Revelation vs. the Theory of Evolution." Services will begin at 7:45 p. m. Last night the topic was "Jesus Christ, Himself, the Final Answer to Modern Doubt," a discussion of Christian evidences from the viewpoint of today.

Mr. Arceneaux met many old friends, a number whom he had baptized. This evening's address will deal with various forms of infidelity taking up such questions as, "Are Miracles Possible?"

"The fundamentals of religion are being dealt with in this series," said Mr. Arceneaux. "Every man and woman is vitally interested in these questions. If you are not interested in your own soul then you ought to be in that of your son or daughter. Do you think you can teach young people if they have a brute origin and nothing but a brute destiny? Do you think materialistic philosophy has anything to do with crime waves? No matter what your religious belief may be you'll appreciate these lectures."

Friday, the last evening of Mr. Arceneaux's visit, he will speak on scriptural authority for class teaching.

Stirring Sermon By Rev. Thorne Heard By Large Congregation

With a stirring sermon by Rev. John Thorne of Coahoma and a large, closely attentive congregation, services at the First Presbyterian church Wednesday evening materially intensified interest in the series opened there Sunday. Rev. Thorne's subject was "Open Windows." His text was Daniel 6:10.

Open windows are needed in the outlook of life, by the soul in its reach for life, for ideal of life, because a dreamless life is dead and for the heavenly view, Rev. Thorne pointed out.

Rev. W. G. Bailey, pastor of the First Methodist church, will speak this evening.

Spelling Suffers When Pupils Graffiti Themes

ATLANTA (AP)—Students' spelling in examinations, where the words are presented in column form, is five per cent better than their spelling in ordinary theme-writing.

This is the conclusion of Dr. Harold H. Bixler, director of tests in Atlanta schools.

Dr. Bixler also discovered that after a student masters 4,000 words each additional 1,000 adds only one per cent to his writing vocabulary. Business and the public have placed on spelling a value greater than its intrinsic worth. Dr. Bixler believes, as a misspelled word seldom changes the meaning of a letter.

Care of Baby Chicks Subject of County Farm Demonstration Agent

(Editor's Note: Following is the second of a series of articles by J. V. Bush, County Agent, dealing with the baby chick and poultry industry).

Hatch or purchase your chicks early. Late hatched chicks are not the most profitable. They miss good broiler prices for the cockerels, and suffer greater loss from disease.

Chicks hatched early enough to get good growth before hot weather, yet late enough to lessen chance of fall molt are to be preferred.

March or even the first days of April is good time to purchase chicks for our conditions.

Buying or hatching cheap chicks is poor economy. Each chick of ordinary quality costs the purchaser about 10 cents. The difference in cost of a poor and a good chick may be only 5 cents; the price of two eggs. What this difference may grow into may be seen from the fact that a 140-egg hen makes twice the profit of a 110-egg hen, after deducting 89 eggs as the approximate feed cost. It is absolutely economical to get good stuff, and if the desired quality can be had it is advisable to purchase chicks as near home as possible, thus eliminating much of the hazards of long shipments and adjustments for loss.

We have breeders in Howard county who are producing quality chickens in almost all the egg breeds.

SPORT SLANTS By Alan Gould

It took Jack Dempsey quite a while to convince New York's fight population that he is a fine referee. Now it wouldn't be surprising to see old Johnno take over the position Lou Magnolia, the tall, dramatic Italian, held for years in the rings of the metropolis. There was a lengthy period when no championship match or duel of leading contenders was accepted as quite the last word unless Magnolia called the boys together and issued the instructions. But Lou went down to Florida to referee Jack Sharkey's tilt with Young Stribling and he hasn't been back.

Dempsey, refereeing for stiff fees in the smaller centers, wanted to break into New York. The Madison Square Garden promoter wanted him. The commission welcomed him.

Last week Dempsey went down to the commission unannounced and asked for a chance to make a comeback. Other officials had been assigned to work that night.

"Let me go in," Dempsey asked, "and give my check to the fellows who were supposed to work."

Dempsey did a splendid job. He went through the ten round semifinal growing at a couple of mediocre heavies, slapping their backs on the hip and the Englishman swooned, claiming foul. The blow was low.

When Phil refused to get up Jack could do nothing but give him the fight.

Dempsey's second effort was another farce. Tom Heeney was in there cuffing Max Baer, the handsome but dumb youngster from California. In the third round Max shoved Tom from the ring. It was a ticklish situation and there were half a dozen possible rulings.

Baer could have been disqualified for pushing Heeney from the ring. Tom could have been disqualified for taking a count without being hit. The New Zealander was helped back into the enclosure by his seconds, another violation of the rules. It was a fine muddle. And to make it worse the knockdown timekeeper jumped the count.

Refereeing is different from fighting to be sure, but the legs just didn't seem to be there any more. If Dempsey does come back he'll have to make it short and snappy.

But for those who still believe Dempsey can come back it was rather a sad sight. At the end of the twenty rounds of the two bouts, Jack was exhausted. Perspiration soaked him. His legs trembled and seemed about to cave in.
