

Scouts Gather For 2 Days Of Camping And Competition

Officials On Hand To Supervise Annual Council Round-Up

Concentration of the boy crop of mid-West Texas here for the annual Buffalo Trail council spring Round Up began around noon Friday as first groups of boys scouts arrived for two days of camping and competition.

The district staff, headed by Al Stiles, area executive, and assisted by Ed McClinton, Big Spring, and David Wilson, Pecos, field executives, was on hand to supervise the opening of what Stiles believed would be the biggest of the council events on record.

Albert S. Darby, who superintended local arrangements, said that provisions had been made for serving as many as 900 boys here Saturday noon, and that the grounds in the city park were ready for use.

Basic a large quantity of beans, bread, onions, pickles, etc., donated by merchants, there was on hand some 900 pounds of beef, ready to be put over a pit of coals by Bill Olsen, veteran Round Up cook.

Big Day Saturday
Scouts were to draw for their campsites at 4:30 p. m. Friday, observe retreat at 6:30 p. m., have supper, attend camp fire stunts (to which the public is invited) at 8:15 p. m., and bed down at 10:45 p. m. with the sounding of taps.

Reveille will officially open the big day Saturday at 6:15 p. m. After breakfast, contests are to start at 8 a. m. in three sections for troops with less than 15 members, troops with less than 30 and troops with 30 or more members.

Competitive events, including inspection, bugling, chariot race, antelope race, knot tying, tug-of-war, signaling, obstacle race, pony express, first aid, string burning, water boiling, scout pace and a mystery event, will be run during Saturday morning and concluded after lunch.

George Parks' troop No. 37 from Roscoe, five times winner of the spring Round Up program, was expected again to be a formidable contender for top honors. However, regrouping of the troops and rearrangement of the scoring procedure was expected to even competition considerably.

Record Crowd Seen
Stiles expected that the 763 registered scouts and scouters of last year would be exceeded by Friday night. Nat Shick, who last year superintended the feeding of 900 persons in nine minutes, said that his corps of workers was ready.

Among those who will be aiding in the affair, according to Darby, will be Shick, Dr. W. B. Hardy, in charge of the canteen; Bill Olsen, cooking; Tom Pierce and A. Knapp, assisting Olsen; John Whitmore, food donations; Carl Blomsheld, camping and inspection; Claude-Crain, Midland, judging; George White, barbecue pit wood; T. W. Ashley, A. W. Thompson and Louis Thompson, raising funds for barbecue beef, and several others who will aid in serving and other details.

Activities will center on an area in the southeastern part of the park section. The public is welcome, said Stiles, to witness the contests.

Wage & Hour Bill Brought Before House

Members Rush To Sign Petition Forcing Action

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—House members completed a petition today to force house consideration of the revised wage-hour bill.

The 218th signature was affixed less than three hours after the petition was filed.

Consideration This Month
Representative Mouton (D-La) was the 218th signer.

Signatures of a majority of the 435 members of the house are necessary to petitions discharging house committees from consideration of bills.

Completion of the wage-hour petition relieves the rules committee from further action on the measure and has the effect of bringing the revised wage-hour bill to the house floor for consideration within this month.

Members jostled each other and snatched at the document in the rush to sign.

The petition was filed by Chairman Norton of the house labor committee as soon as the house convened. The petition must have 218 names to give the measure a new house test.

On several occasions, the members attempting to affix their signatures threatened to tear the paper apart.

Rush To Add Names
Speaker Bankhead, rapping vainly for order, was forced to suspend business.

"Will the members please form a line and maintain some sort of order?" he sang out.

A large group of members had gathered in the well of the chamber almost a quarter of an hour before the session began, awaiting a chance to sign. Some of them argued about priority in signing.

The rarely-used petition method, endorsed in this instance by President Roosevelt, was designed to overcome the opposition of the house rules committee. That group refused last week to give the bill legislative right-of-way.

Passage "Certain"
Under the rules, the earliest date at which the house can consider the legislation is May 22 and proponents declared passage of the bill was "certain."

Shortly after the 200th name was signed, Majority Leader Rayburn of Texas advanced to the well and affixed his name. This apparently was a signal for a last-minute rush and members of the Louisiana delegation came forward.

Last December, it was the Louisiana delegation which switched at the last minute and forced recommitment of the original wage hour bill by a vote of 216 to 198.

'QUIET, PLEASE'

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 6 (AP)—Herbert Hoover presented to the nation today an 11-point attack upon depression and called upon the Roosevelt administration to abandon what he termed "a dangerous road for democracy."

The former president was en route to New York by train after delivering one of a series of major addresses here last night at a "grass roots" convention of Oklahoma republicans, attended by more than 7,500 persons.

In the speech, broadcast nationally, Hoover again assailed new deal policies and warned:

"We have been following that dangerous road for democracy that led to disaster in Europe."

For "a start on a safer and more cheerful road," he outlined as "practical steps":

"1. Re-establish confidence that there will be no more attacks upon the safeguards of free men. That is the independence of congress and of the courts.

"2. Restore common morals and intellectual morals in government. In a democracy or in a Christian country the ends do not justify any means.

"3. Abandon this economy of scarcity and go in for production, work and thrift.

"4. Stop this spending and inflation and pump-priming.

"5. Revise the taxes so as to free the initiative and enterprise of men.

Cut Relief
"6. Reduce relief expenditures by one-third, through decentralizing its administration. Take it out of the hands of waste and politicians, and put it back into non-political committees in each community and require the states and local communities to find 5 or 10 per cent of the cost. That will prove.

Guests Describe Spanish Affair As Gay, Sparkling And Clever

Gay, sparkling and clever were the words used by approximately eighty guests in describing a bridge and Spanish buffet supper given by Mrs. Albert Fisher Thursday afternoon at the Settles hotel. Guests were greeted by the hostess who was attractively attired in Spanish costume.

The Spanish holiday theme was followed throughout the entertainment with cactus and other Mexican native flowers being placed about the room. Original ladies and escarpers of Mexican design were used at each of the twenty tables.

At the conclusion of four games, the guest having the highest score at each table was presented with a miniature senoria souvenir. During the games, Shirley Jean Robbins, also in a gay Spanish frock, passed Mexican candies. Later she presented guests with small pottery pieces, Spanish what-nots and tokens significant of Mexico City from a colorful tray.

The entertainment was topped off with a buffet supper being served in an adjoining room from a table decorated with cactus. All of the popular Mexican dishes were served.

Decorations To Feature Lace And Lavender

95 Tickets Sold To Mother And Daughter Banquet

Lavender and old lace is to be the keynote of decorations this evening at the Mother and Daughter banquet in the basement of the First Christian church beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

The tables are to be arranged in a U-shape with pink and lavender fluted crepe paper running down the center. Bouquets of larkspurs and pink snapdragons in bowls on lace doilies will be placed attractively on the tables. Other flowers are to be on the piano and small tables.

Mrs. James Wilcox, member of the ticket committee, reported this morning the sale of 95 individual tickets. Over 100 are expected to be present including those appearing on the program which will be presided over by Mrs. L. A. Eubanks, who is to be toastmaster.

The program is to be opened by a violin ensemble directed by Mrs. Valdeva Childers. "Toast to Mothers" is to be given by Marie Dunham with Mrs. H. W. Smith responding with a "Toast to Daughter." Cornelia Frazier will play a piano selection accompanied by her mother and Jean McDowell is to be heard in a violin selection with her mother, Mrs. E. D. McDowell, at the piano. A quartet composed of Mrs. Beatrice Peck, Juanita Cook, Ethel Lomax and Clarinda Sanders will sing, accompanied by Mrs. H. G. Hill.

Ways To Make Chairs Comfortable Are Listed By Speaker

Mrs. Reuben Schussler instructed members of the Chalk H. D. club Wednesday afternoon in the art of making comfortable chairs when members met with Mrs. Albert Hohertz. The talk was considered quite appropriate since Mother's Day is Sunday.

The speaker said cushions may be fastened from a sewing bag scrap—the size to be according to the chair, the color to match the room, and the design may be any favorite quilt block. The block should be neatly quilted to a thin lining and then sewed to a back which has either snaps or buttons to fasten the cover over a cushion of the same size.

Mrs. J. P. Shave read a poem, "Mother." Contest prize for the best poem on "Mother" was awarded to Mrs. A. N. Norris.

Sixth District Home Demonstration meeting in Big Spring Saturday was reported upon by Mrs. O. N. Green. Plans were also made for a tacky and postoffice party to be held at the Chalk P-T. A meeting Wednesday evening, May 11. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Members present were Mrs. Shave, Mrs. C. L. Rippeote, Mrs. O. N. Turner, Mrs. Schussler, Mrs. J. A. Ruffin, Mrs. Green, Mrs. Hohertz and a visitor, Mrs. A. N. Norris.

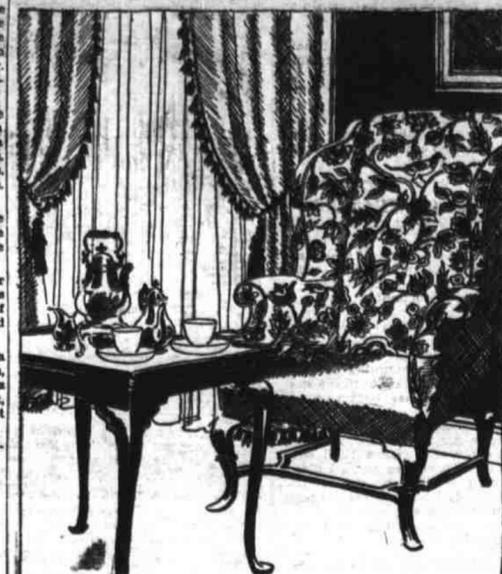

The next meeting is to be held May 25 at the home of Mrs. Schussler on the Chalk lease.

Graceful Queen Anne Style Is Back Again Typically Modern

HEIGHT FOR TEA Tea tables in the revived Queen Anne mode are high, in contrast to the 18-inch coffee tables of the modernist style.

By MARY DAVIS GILLIES Prepared by McCall's Magazine For The Herald

Queen Anne has come back—and very welcome she is, too.

The furniture style we call Queen Anne deserves its new popularity, not only because its graceful lines and beautifully rounded forms always have been attractive, but also because of the fine things the modern designers are doing with it.

No style is more at home in a Colonial interior, with floral wall-papers, English chintz, pewter, English dinner ware and similar accessories.

The new Queen Anne follows faithfully the lines of fine antique pieces—but it is simple and typical modern. Often carving is left off so that nothing distracts the eye from the lovely outline. The newer wood finishes, soft and lustrous, are shown at their best.

Some come in mahogany instead of the traditional walnut; but, of course, that really isn't breaking the tradition, because mahogany came into style at the end of the period.

Occasional pieces always have been outstanding in Queen Anne furniture; most interesting of the new ones are, perhaps, the tea tables, which show a no-worried, coffee-table in the last few years have been losing height for cocktail purposes until the average now is only 18 inches. But Queen Anne tea tables, which show a new trend. Coffee is to be higher.

Dining room and bedroom furniture, as well as living room, is being featured in the new style.

"Distressing"—the marring and scratching to make furniture look antique—is becoming increasingly popular. At least in our surroundings, we just can't wait to get old.

Rev. 16:21.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES "Adam and Fallen Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 8.

The Golden Text is: "The Redeemer shall come to Zion, and unto them that turn from transgression in Jacob, saith the Lord" (Isaiah 59:20).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "God hath sent forth the Spirit of His Son unto your hearts, crying, Abba, Father. Wherefore thou art no more a servant, but a son; and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ." (Galatians 4: 6, 7).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When speaking of God's children, not the children of men, Jesus said, 'The kingdom of God is within you; for the truth and Love reign in the real man, showing that man in God's image is unfeared and eternal' (page 476).

Essay Contest Near An End

'Test Pilot' Writings Must Be In By Saturday Night

Reminder was issued by the Rita theatre Friday that tomorrow midnight—Saturday, May 7—is the deadline for filling entries in the local division of the "Test Pilot" essay contest. Winners in the event not only will be presented prizes, but the essay ranked first will be submitted in a national contest, for which the first two prizes will be free, all-expense paid plane trips to Hollywood.

A good number of entries already have been received here, theatre officials said. A silver trophy, with a plane mounted, will be first prize locally; $3 in tickets to the Rita will be second and $2.50 will be third.

The contest is open to all. Essays must be between 200 and 300 words and be devoted to the subject "What Do You Think of the Airplane As a Means of National Defense?" Entries will be judged by an impartial group on the basis of originality and neatness. The essay must be written on one side of paper, with name, address and age of the contestant on the back page. Entries may be submitted through Saturday night at the Rita theatre.

In the national competition, winners will get a plane trip to Hollywood, with travel, hotel accommodations and meals paid. The trip includes a visit to the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios and a meeting with Clark Gable. A $250 radio set will be third prize.

NEGRO FACES TRIAL

Jimmie Heard, negro, was held in the Howard county jail Thursday night for Dallas officers who were returning him from Los Angeles to the Texas city to stand trial for murder.

John Ceason, negro, companion in the crime for which Heard must also stand trial, was held here overnight recently before being taken to Dallas where he received a death sentence.

NANTUCKET CHIEF SOLD TO BRITISH INTERESTS

PORT ARTHUR, May 6 (AP)—American crew members of the Nantucket Chief, returning from Rotterdam, said today the oil tanker was sold to British interests. Spanish forces had been sold to British interests.

They said now the tanker—the British-manned SS Refast—could obtain British convoys on voyages to Spain.

The Nantucket Chief returned here recently after being held in Spain and sailed again with a new crew, whose members now are returning under maritime provisions they have given first class passage home in event of sale of ships during the voyage.

They said the English sailors were successful in a strike for a 200 per cent "war zone" bonus.

Driving to halt pipe line prorration of oil in Oklahoma, the corporation commission took under advisement today a recommendation for cutting May production to 394,000 barrels daily, 80,190 barrels below the April allowable.

The federal bureau of mines estimated May market demand at 510,300 barrels daily.

W. J. Armstrong, state conservation officer, proposed the drastic reduction, which he said represented "real ratable taking."

Many important prorated fields would be cut from 5 to 55 per cent, reducing all allocations in the same proportion as the deepest percentage cut made by any company enforcing pipeline prorration.

Behind the move lies the necessity of enforcing the state law which requires ratable taking in each pool.

Purchases and producers were expected to rush negotiations to transfer distress oil from company to company and secure modification of the huge reduction proposed by Armstrong.

TRADER SUSPENDED

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP)—The New York Cotton Exchange announced today the suspension for one year of Jake Marks, of the firm of Marks Laster Company, for violation of the by-laws.

The exchange said the suspension resulted from violation of a provision in the by-laws which provides that a member may be suspended for failure to meet financial obligations, or for having a petition in bankruptcy filed against him, or voluntarily filed by him.

SCOUTS ASSEMBLE

TYLER, May 6 (AP)—Three thousand Boy Scouts from 140 troops of the East Texas area opened a two-day second annual circus here today. An elaborate parade was to feature tomorrow's program. Among the many towns represented were Marshall and Longview.

Insurance Co. Adds Million To Reserves

Great American Increases Deposit With The State

An important chapter in the history of Texas insurance was written last week when the Great American Life voluntarily deposited one million dollars with the insurance commissioner of the state.

JOE POND

of Texas giving its policyholders, present and future, the advantage of registered insurance. This was announced today by Joe E. Pond, Jr., district manager of the company here.

The purpose of the deposit was described by the Great American's district manager to be consistent with the company's practice of regarding the security of its policyholders above every other consideration.

"Old line legal reserve life insurance has become a proud phase in American finance in the last one hundred years," Pond said. "Its operation involves the accumulation of reserve funds calculated to guarantee the fulfillment of every policy provision, and it is the law of every state in the Union that these reserves be maintained at all times and are adequate for the purpose for which they are intended."

In Excess of Requirements

"The significance of the Great American's million dollar deposit is that it is in excess of the reserves required by law and represent an added safety factor that voluntarily gives the company's policyholders the maximum element of security under an old line life contract. The fund is in addition to a capital deposit of $500,000 voluntarily made two years ago, which amount was also in excess of the company's legal reserve requirements, the present combined total of a million and a half dollars making the Great American Life the only life insurance company in Texas voluntarily maintaining such deposits in excess of the reserves required by the laws of the state.

"Effective immediately, Great American policies will display on their face the official seal and signature of the state of Texas insurance commissioner. All policies now in force will also share equally in the advantage of this security.

Phenomenal Growth

"The corporate history of the Great American Life Insurance Company is an interesting chapter in the financial and commercial chronology of Texas. From obscurity the company has grown to a position of importance not only in life insurance circles of the South, but of the nation. Perhaps the first significant highlight of its corporate career was the purchase for cash of its own 10-story home office building. The structure is owned outright by the company without encumbrance. Next came the announcement of its million dollar capital and surplus figure. Much emphasis is placed on that achievement, particularly from the policyholders point of view. The reason is that among all old line legal reserve life insurance companies organized in the United States in the last 12 years, only seven possess today an amount of cash capital and surplus (policyholders' surplus) equal to or in excess of that of the Great American Life."

Simultaneously with the announcement regarding registered insurance, Pond reported that on May 1st, the Great American reached the 30 million dollar mark of insurance in force. The impressiveness of this volume can best be visualized when it is remembered that the Great American's first policy was issued February 2, 1931.

PAYS THE PENALTY FOR MURDER

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., May 6 (AP)—Chanting prayers in unison with a Catholic priest, Heber L. Hicks, 40, of Cincinnati, O., last of the four "heads and hands" slayers of Harry R. Miller of Cincinnati, was put to death in the electric chair at the state prison here early today.

Hicks, the alleged "brains" of a plot to obtain the estimated $150,000 fortune of the retired Cincinnati fire captain, walked unaided to the chair.

Father Andrew Matthew walked at his side, intoning prayers with him, until the current was turned into the chair. Except to pray, Hicks said nothing.

ASSESSED DEATH IN SLAYING OF PATROLMAN

MCKINNEY, May 6 (AP)—J. W. Rickman, given the death penalty yesterday for slaying a McKinney officer, today said a new trial would be sought.

A Collin county jury found the 20-year-old Farmersville resident guilty of the shooting of Motorcycle Officer Marion Taylor.

It was the first death penalty given by a jury in this county since the hanging of Earl Stapp for the slaying of Harry Mills, 15 years ago.

Taylor was shot down here as he approached a Dallas taxicab which Rickman had commandeered at the point of a gun.

ASKS FOR SWIMMING POOLS, GETS 'EM

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP)—Daniel Riordan is 12 and freckled and a natural for city councilman or president or something when he grows up.

He appeared before New York's austere board of estimates yesterday and pleaded so eloquently for some outdoor swimming pools in midtown Manhattan that the matter was in the bag before he was half through.

"Why not," he asked, "give us an open air pool where those out-of-towners who seek a thrill when visiting the Empire State building can look down on us and see that Midtown N.Y.C. gives for the benefit of its boys and girls?"

Why not? asked the board. Four pools will be built.

DEEP TEST IN THE EAST TEXAS FIELD

LONGVIEW, May 6 (AP)—Gregg county claimed the East Texas deep oil test drilling record today.

The Humble and Gulf No. 1 Robertson wildcat test two miles southwest of here was drilling ahead in hard sandstone below 9080 feet, exploring the lower marine. Plans were to test also the Permian lime, found productive in southern Arkansas.

Operators said the former East Texas depth record was made by the Tide Dater-Seaboard No. 1 Monig of the Lonk Lake field in Anderson county, which was drilled to 9071 feet.

RICE PURCHASED

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—The Surplus Commodities corporation announced today purchase of 7,080,000 more pounds of rice in Louisiana and Texas.

It informed Representative DeCroyen (D-La.) it had purchased 1,300,000 pounds in Louisiana and 780,000 pounds in Texas in a continuation of its program designed to stabilize prices and reduce a crop surplus.

The corporation said to date that it had purchased 28,960,000 pounds of rice in Louisiana; 23,700,000 pounds in Arkansas; 16,770,000 pounds in Texas and 3,200,000 pounds in California.

Excited Stands

Local baseball fans got their first look-see at a manager getting the old heave-ho as applied by an umpire here Thursday in the opener with Lubbock and did they like it. The terrific roar that went up when Pettigrew turned and ordered Manager Mack Miller off the playing field after the Hub leader had violently protested a decision at third base was one that hasn't been heard here since old Chief Standing Pat made the big spring his headquarters and managed to get hold of a little Yankee "fire-walker."

Miller may have been safe when he slid into Henderson at third but it's the umpire's privilege to call 'em as he sees 'em and Pettie did just that. Miller didn't like the arbitrator's attitude even a little bit and began to stalk his footsteps across the infield. The chief took the jinx until he got over first base foul line and then whirled on Miller and pointed to the gate. Miller didn't stop his threats but there wasn't anything he could do but start the long trek toward the stands. The already excited stands almost ran riot when Mack hobbled across the batter's box. They were enjoying the situation to the utmost. Not until the final out was made did the screams and groans die down.

All in all, the battle was the most exciting game to be seen here in some time. The Barons had their heads in the ball game on every play and richly deserved the victory. Lefty Blanchard made them look silly on several occasions when he pulled the string on his pitches, but when they went down, they always came back for more.

To win a ball game on four hits is exceptionally hard to do but to score nine runs in doing so and beat out the opposition by three rallies is seemingly impossible. Credit for keeping the jinx in the game all the way can go to no one but Manager Barnabe who pushed across four runs without the aid of a hit.

Barny said he believed that Blanchard should have been hit far harder than he was, that the locals were over anxious in trying to "kill" the ball. He also said that he believed that the Hobbs club would be a far better outfit than the Hubbers if they could get the

Bombers To Play Twice

Robert Moore and his Brown Bombers will try again Sunday afternoon to win a ball game before the home folks. They play the Colorado Black Wolves in Barons park and will have Smitty Smith, the San Angelo hurler who turned in such a good performance last Sunday, throwing them over.

The Bombers will swing into action Saturday afternoon in O'Donnell against a colored team of that city.

The locals have thus far won one of four games played.

pitching. The Hobbs offense runs far smoother.

Battery Turned In Neat Performance

Orchids to Frankie Jacot and Al Berndt who turned in a neat battery job. Jacot was in trouble during the early innings but he grew stronger with time and looked his best in the last frame when he retired two of the three men to face him on strikes.

Berndt, who snapped his batting lull against Hobbs Wednesday, hooked into one of Blanchard's "dippy-dos" in the eighth, sending the pellet into short right field, to really sew up the game. The plays the youngster from Washington pulled in the first frame agreed with every fan, whether from Lubbock or Big Spring. Jacot had worked himself into trouble by walking Gedzius and Carr, the first two batters to face him and when Taylor hit, driving in Gedzius, it looked queer for the locals. Taylor tried to steal second, however, and Berndt tossed a strike into Hobson who caught the runner off. Carr tried to come home on the play and Dick hurled the apple to Henderson at third, snipping that runner.

The Hubbers have brothers to Ash Hillin of the Oklahoma City Indians and Johnny Mize of the St. Louis Cardinals playing for them. The Hillin is Robert Hillin, a left fielder, while Pope Mize is the right gardener.

Mike Kravtich, the Los Angeles boy who tried out here in spring training but was cut away two days before the season opened, has caught on with the Hobbs club of the Arizona-Texas league. He stood for his release Thursday, not knowing that Jack Hutcherson had disposed of all strings.

BARONS SCORE ATE TO DEFEAT HUBS

WILL IT BE BULL LEA-

Warren Wright's highly respected Bull Lea is going to the post in the Kentucky Derby Saturday one of the heavy favorites in the betting. He has reeled off some sensational sprints in practice runs and last week beat out Menow at Keeneland in a tuncup for the historic Louisville classic.

Some Staying With Sande's "Chief"

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 6 (AP)—Without a semblance of a surprise, ten three-year-olds today were named for the 64th running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs tomorrow. All of the expected entries were in 40 minutes before the entry box closed.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 6 (AP)—The man who has saddled two Kentucky Derby winners and hopes to saddle a third in Fighting Fox, the East's favorite, believes "racing luck" will have a lot to do with the outcome of tomorrow's big race.

Fitz Thinks Fox Is Nag To Beat

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 6 (AP)—Having survived the unexpected loss of its highly regarded winter book favorite, the Kentucky Derby will be run tomorrow for the 64th time since Aristides, the little red horse, romped home a winner in 1875, with prospects of an east-west duel for the $50,000 pot of gold.

Fighting Fox, racing for William Woodward, New York banker, and Bull Lea, foaled in the blue grass but owned by Warren Wright of Chicago, were established as the strong choices today as Trainer Earl Sande joined with Owner Maxwell Howard in declaring the ailing Stagehand definitely out of the three-year-old classic.

Stagehand, held as short as 5 to 2 in the future books following his victory over Seabiscuit in the Santa Anita handicap, apparently was well on his way to recovery but Sande said he was taking no chances. The fever which Stagehand developed suddenly Wednesday night had disappeared. But the son of Sickle still was far from the horse that caught the public's fancy with his famous stretch drives after failing to win a race last year.

Most of the followers of Stagehand quickly jumped on the band wagon of the Fox and Bull Lea. A few, however, stuck with Sande, holding to the belief that the popular little trainer still has a powerful threat in the Chief, winner of the mile trial stakes on Tuesday in track record equalling time.

KNOW YOUR BS BARONS

FRANK "PAT" STASEY... Pat's one of the three native Texans on the local outfit... We call him a Big Spring boy but he was born in Erath county just outside of Stephenville March 11, 1918... The only baseball experience he ever had before putting his name on one of Jack Hutcherson's contracts was in the Lubbock tournaments last season... Pepper Martin happened to run into him and a pal, Mike Sherrod, one day here when Pat was looking for a job... He showed he had the stuff, both as a hitter and a pitcher, and moved his belongings here... Hit about 360 for the Oilers last year... Was always wanting to play ball... Took part in the Lubbock tournaments almost five feet, 11 inches and tips the scales at 165 pounds.

AUSTIN, May 6 (AP)—The cream of Texas high school track and field performers dug cleats in the cinders and splashed sand in the pits of the University of Texas memorial stadium here today in preliminaries of the interscholastic league track and field meet.

Finals will take place tomorrow afternoon.

Blanchard Is Victim Of Uprising

Jacot Best Southpaw; Locals Limited To Four Hits

Lefty Blanchard's assortment of baseball tricks, very mystifying at first to the Big Spring Barons, proved his winning Thursday evening in Barons park as the locals defeated the Lubbock Hubbers, 9-6, with but four base hits and pulled away to a game and a half lead in the West Texas-New Mexico league. The largest crowd of the season watched the battle, highlighted by the ejection of Manager Mack Miller.

Either Marvin Keller or Pat Stacey will get the starting pitching assignment Saturday, Manager Charles Barnabe said this morning. The Saturday game will begin at 4 p. m., Barnabe said.

The Barons will go on the road following the series with Lubbock, meeting Hobbs in a double-header Sunday and in a single game Monday. From Hobbs they will go to Wink, returning here May 13 in a game with Wink.

ler of the Lubbock team by Umpire Pettigrew in the seventh frame after the big playing leader had violently protested a close play at third base.

Blanchard whiffed 11 batters during the eight innings he went to the hill and the situation seemed to clinch as early as the sixth frame when the visitors led by four runs but the portlander set the stage for Big Spring to come right back into the ball game when he suddenly lost control. Coupled with sloppy fielding on the part of his mates he lost his advantage as well.

The Barons had scored their first two runs in the fourth without a base hit, Doug Harkey counting on a passed ball and Hank Henderson loping in on Dick Hobson's ground ball to the second baseman and, after sending only three men to the plate in the fifth, renewed the drive on their return to bat. Buck Quigley and Harkey took strolls and Bobby Decker stretched a single to short, beating the throw by inches. Gedzius muffed Henderson's ground ball and two men scored when the rock rolled into left field. Blanchard settled to whiff Siebert and Hobson in succession but Jo-Jo Saporito dropped a two base blow into right field and Decker and Henderson came in with the tying runs.

The Hubber offense had been steady and deadly up to that point and it began to look as if Lefty Jacot, Big Spring twirler, would not last. They had counted on a walk and a hit in the first frame, a walk and an error in the fourth, home run with a man on in the fifth and three hits and a walk in sixth to apparently sew up the decision but Jacot grew stronger in the late stanzas and was tightening down in his pinches.

Fatal Errors
Both teams were in the ball game through the seventh frame but Mack Miller, the visiting manager, who, in trying to give Blanchard another lead, was tossed out in the far corner after doubling and, in turn, was tossed out of the game when he raged at the umpire. The game halted abruptly as Miller followed Pettigrew all the way across the infield arguing a point but the base sprinter suddenly turned and waved him to the stands.

It was a fatal gesture for Blanchard. He couldn't get "in cahoots" with McEwen, the new mittman, and put two men on base before retiring a man in the eighth after Decker had gone to third on a passed ball. McEwen promptly gave Big Spring its run when he threw into the outfield in trying to get Hobson. Decker scored on the play. Al Berndt clinched the decision after Saporito had stroled by doubling into right field for two runs.

Jacot, with victory in sight, went out with perfect control in the ninth to whiff two batters and force the third to roll to Hobson. A Wesley Ranz was scheduled to go to the mound today for the Barons while Gramly was due to be Miller's selection.

Dallas Loses Third In Row

By The Associated Press
The Beaumont Exporters who thumped Dallas in two straight games counted on more breaks and hitting ability to carry them through to a third victory tonight. They won last night, 9-2, getting two runs in the first inning, followed by three more in the seventh when Al Baker, Steer pitcher, blew up.

The Tulsa Oilers, with Irv Stein pitching, shut out the Shreveport Sports, 4-0. The Sports were held to five hits.

Fort Worth squeaked by the San Antonio Missions, 2 to 1. Jack Kramer, Missions pitcher, dropped a throw at first to let Jim McLeod score the winning run from second base in the sixth inning. Jackie Reid fanned eight Missions and kept nine hits scattered.

The Houston-Oklahoma City game last night was postponed on account of rain.

Games tonight:
San Antonio at Fort Worth.
Houston at Oklahoma City.
Shreveport at Tulsa.
Beaumont at Dallas.

ANDERSON DEVILS DEFEAT MAURICE SHOPPE, 5-2; IN FEATURE S'BALL OPENER

All-Stars Are Defeated By Angelo Fems

San Angelo softball teams escaped with one victory in their two games played here Thursday night on the Mundy diamond, losing the boys' encounter, 5-2, after walloping a local fems' aggregation, 25-1.

The visiting girls, playing under the Coca Cola banner, had the game "on ice" from the first inning on. They tallied two runs, returned in the second to count five more and succeeded in denting the plate in each of the four remaining innings.

The local "All-Stars" were kept away from the plate in every frame but the sixth when Smith came home on Brummett's base hit.

The Maurice Shoppe, which was the city champion in San Angelo last year, put on quite an argument before succumbing to the Anderson Devils' attack but heavy clotting in the second and fourth frames earned a local victory.

H. C. Burrus had a home run in the second with Alton Bostick to send the Danielmen away to a flying start and the Devils tallied again in the third and fourth frames before the visitors finally were successful in their run efforts.

L. D. Cunningham, "borrowed" from the Big Spring Motor company to hurl for the Devils, turned in an excellent performance. He gave up only six hits and was in trouble only in the last inning when the opposition bunched a walk and two hits to score their final run.

Indians, N Y In Slump?

By SID FEDELE
Associated Press Sports Writer
Don't look now, folks, but you can't see the rejuvenated Cleveland Indians and Bill Terry's terrific Giants who have just dropped the first series of their respective eastern and western invasions?

Only a week ago, they were saying that Oscar Vitt had put some T. N. T. into the Tribe's breakfast food this year, and that from now on they wouldn't be like Little Bo Peep's lost sheep when they made their tours 'round the circuit. And they were saying, too, that Terry's Terriers had uncovered a batting punch no one suspected they had—a wallop that almost made them look like fazed American leaguers.

Same Indians?
But all that was before both outfit left home and the friendly feel of their own parks. And now the little birds are starting to whisper that it's probably the same old set of Indians, after all, and that Terry's Terriers looked like real sluggers against the eastern stogees, like the Brooklyn and the Phillies, but not against a batting punch no one suspected they had—a wallop that almost made them look like fazed American leaguers.

For years, Cleveland's been famous as the team that looked like champs at home and tramps everywhere else in the circuit. This spring however, Vitt concentrated on building up a new spirit, but from the looks of the first series in Washington, it either hasn't taken yet, or it's going to miss completely. The Senators squeaked through with a 1-0 decision in 13 innings Wednesday, and yesterday hung an 8-6 beating on the Vitt warriors, largely through Johnny Stone's homer with the bases loaded.

In the Giants' early campaigning, the Polo Grounds Cheering and Chowder Society had been taking the Bronx apart telling of the wonders Terry's boys were doing with the big bat. But that was while the Phils and Dodgers' pitchers were serving them up to the Giants, mostly in that near-by affair, the Polo Grounds, and its inviting right and left field stands.

Cubs, Yanks Move
For the last three days, the Giants have been performing in the vast reaches of Cincinnati's Crosley field, and things have been so different they've dropped two of three games. Yesterday Harry Gumbert went to the wars and was whipped, 6-5, by the Reds Rube, largely through the help of an oblong two-run error by Master Mel Ott.

As though that wasn't enough misery to hand Col. Terrible Terry in one day, his chief rival, the Chicago Cubs, opened up wide on the throtle and knocked the ears completely off the futile Phillies, 21-2, with an 18-hit attack that featured a 12-run spurge in the eighth inning. And a rookie, Paul Eppery, held the Phils to six hits in his first major league start.

"The Indians' loss left the tribe in first place in the American league by only one game, since those Yankees rolled up their sleeves, fired out 16 hits for 29 bases, including homer No. 3 for Joe DiMaggio, and bowled over the Browns, 12-10, for the third straight day.

LONGVIEW ADDS TO WIN STREAK
Orval Groves five-hit pitching ran the Longview winning streak to 10 straight last night when they defeated Jacksonville 7-5. Luke Winborn, Longview second baseman, hit a homer in the eighth with one aboard.

Palestine and Texarkana split a doubleheader, Palestine winning the first game, 9-8, and Texarkana the second, 4-1.

Kilgore's ninth inning run brought a 6-5 victory over Marshall.

The Tyler Trojans broke a five-game losing streak when they defeated the Henderson Oilers 5-2.

Church League To Begin Play

The Church softball league will begin its schedule on the Mundy diamond tonight when the First Baptist aggregation meets one East Fourth Baptist group and the First Methodist ten lines up against the other team representing East Fourth Baptist.

Fox

And then it's just a matter of luck—in the lap of the gods, so to speak—when you have as many good horses as this derby brings together," said Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons upon his arrival at Churchill Downs today.

"Mr. Fitz" sent Gallant Fox and Omaha out to win the derby. Two others that he saddled for the Kentucky classic, including the ill-fated Grayville, didn't have a chance. It's all in the game, as he sees it.

"All you have to go it get your horse ready, to the best of your ability, and hope for the best," he said. "There's no secret to it. If you get the breaks, if you're lucky, you win. That's all."

The fact that Fighting Fox looks like the "horse to beat" following the withdrawal of Stagehand didn't change "Mr. Fitz's" calculations. He didn't figure Stagehand to be the logical favorite, anyway.

Obscure Players Are Figuring Largely In Big League Races

By GAYLE TALBOT NEW YORK, May 6 (AP)—The baseball manager who will admit he's getting some breaks he hadn't counted on is a pretty rare bird.

As a breed, he is inclined to look morosely at the "lost" column and tell you his team "would be right up there now" except for the unaccountable lapse in form of his star pitcher or batter.

Just between us, though, there are several of them in each major league at the moment who have been getting sensational play out of men they would have traded off for a sore-backed horse during the training season. Or, if that's an exaggeration, they at least didn't figure these late-bloomers were going to be much help.

Ostermuller Produces As good an example as any to start with is Lefty Ostermuller, the Red Sox pitcher. Joe Cronin didn't even list him among his probable starting hurlers a few weeks before the season opened, fearing that a series of operations last year had almost finished the veteran. And now Lefty turns out to be one of the most effective fingers on the club. The Sox would be in sad shape without him.

Coast Guard Will Protect Filipinos From Threats

MIAMI, Fla., May 6 (AP)—Commander C. H. Abel of the United States coast guard demanded police protection today for the Filipino guardsmen threatened—purportedly by the Ku Klux Klan—because of their marriage to white women.

Saying the Filipinos, Francisco Rubia and Pedro Acoba, had good service records and were law abiding citizens, the commander of the cutter Majove declared it was "up to the local authorities to give them protection against the Klan or any other organization which attempts such illegal terrorist activities."

"If the local police can not or will not afford them this protection," he added, "I will take steps to see that they get it."

DOOR TRAP WORKS

PHILADELPHIA, May 6 (AP)—Abraham Widman slammed the door of his cigar store today on one hand of a would-be robber and held tight while the gunman, on the opposite side, splintered the door with six shots. A policeman captured the gunman. Widman was uninjured.

INDIVIDUAL CAMPAIGN IDEA FAVORED BY REPUBLICANS

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—Senate republican leaders have agreed upon a new type of strategy for the coming senatorial campaign—a state-by-state battle in which individual candidates can choose their own tactics against democrats.

The senate republican campaign committee, members said today, has decided that such a "grass roots" system will be much more effective than any rigid program committing all candidates on all national issues.

One party leader asserted this strategy would provide for "building from the ground up rather than from the top down."

Hale Is Factor Oscar Vitt of Cleveland worried himself sick all spring because he couldn't find a second-baseman. He was sure that "Bad News" Hale wouldn't do, because his fielding and throwing were too uncertain.

Hobbs Loses To Midland

Cards Tops In Slugfest, 11-7; Wink Is 5-4 Winner

HOBBS, N. M., May 6—The Boosters blasted Cliff Neighbors from the mound here Thursday and rolled up a total of 14 base hits off three Card pitchers but the Midlanders chugged along, scoring five runs in the seventh frame and came out the victors, 11-7, in a WT-NM league victory.

The defeat left Hobbs firmly entrenched in the cellar. It was their seventh defeat in a row.

CLOVIS, N. M., May 6—A Clovis rally was nipped in the ninth inning and Wink rode to a victory over the Pioneers here Thursday, 9-4. Score by innings: Wink.....400 000—5 8 3 Clovis.....000 100 001—4 11 2 Batteries—Loos, Robert and Bates; Dickerson, Duncan and Ratliff.

TWO YOUNG NEGROES DIE IN THE CHAIR

HUNTSVILLE, May 6 (AP)—Two East Texas negro boys, Roscoe Young, 18, and Henderson Young, 17, were executed in the electric chair at state prison here today.

"I'm going now where they won't treat me wrong," said the older boy, first to go to the chair. "I'm ready to go if I have to."

Each of the boys puffed at a cigar as he entered the execution chamber. The brothers were convicted of offenses against a Longview couple, who were accosted while they were on a motor trip. Roscoe robbed the Longview man of $14 and held a pistol on him while the younger boy attacked the woman.

Another Frisco Italian Doing Well With Philadelphia A's

By EDDIE BRIEZ NEW YORK, May 6 (AP)—Well, the esteemed San Francisco press, which raised the very dickens because Col. Ruppert wouldn't capitulate to Joe DiMaggio's demands for $40,000 per, but instead made Joseph holier "uncle" and sign for $25,000 could spare a few columns for another home town find, Dario Lodigiani who is doing such a slick job of second basing for the Athletics and knocking the American league's best pitchers all over the lot...Compared with DiMaggio's $25,000 Signor Lodigiani draws down $2,500 from the Philadelphiaans...Burleigh Grimes, pitching in batting practice the other day, dusted off his own Gb. Brack... "Might as well get 'em used to it now as later," explained "Bolley."

Withdrawal of Stagehand from tomorrow's derby may put the kibosh on a clever plan Trainer Earl Sande has been toting around in the back of his head...Fitz and Carnegie Tech will resume intercollegiate baseball relations next year...Paul Schles-ler, Oregon State and Brooklyn Dodger football coach, has moved his family to Los Angeles and will live there...That's a tip for any western school looking around for a good man...Cardinal supporters think Sen Martin, the infelder, will be the "come-back man" of the 1933 season... Joe Beggs, the Yankee rookie, who beat the Browns, Wednesday, has just about clinched a job with the Yanks...Examination time for the other young pitchers isn't over.

An Old Argument

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—Senator Barkley (D-Ky), leaving to attend tomorrow's Kentucky Derby Saturday, offered this view on the old controversy over the pronunciation of the famous race: "Those who have never been there and those who try to ape the English call it 'darby.' Everybody else calls it 'derby.'"

THE SEASON OF USING THE PRESS

This is the season when the newspapers of Texas are called upon to make their heaviest contributions to the public welfare by yielding a large portion of their available space to publication of political propaganda in behalf of the army of candidates for state offices. Every mail brings its quota of material from the campaign headquarters of upwards of a hundred candidates, each of whom apparently believes that what he has to say about himself and his ideas of government is of paramount importance, and therefore merits publication without cost.

A sample of a recent request of this kind which in effect was a demand for publication came from the manager of a gubernatorial candidate's campaign. The candidate's platform was offered, "which because of its news interest I hope you will be able to print in full," his manager wrote. Publication would require a full page of space, and if all the newspapers in Texas published it the action would probably be in the neighborhood of fifty thousand dollars. Meanwhile, the "news interest" of the candidate's platform is highly debatable.

Candidates for public office in Texas habitually and without quibbling pay for all the radio time they consume, all the billboards, pamphlets, circulars and other printed material they use, all the automobiles, gasoline, oil and other travel expense incurred, all the hotel and food bills, all the telephone and telegraph service required, all the postage needed to mail their direct appeals to voters, and all the other expenses incident to a statewide campaign. They pay to the newspapers for space in the same way as they do for the radio, and they pay for the space within their columns; and if they give it away instead of selling it, they ultimately find themselves in the same position as would any other business establishment pursuing a similar policy. The candidates do not seem to realize this rather distressing fact.—(Brownwood Bulletin.)

Government Loses In British Vote

LONDON, May 6 (AP)—The national government of Neville Chamberlain today lost another bye-election to the labor party despite the fact that cabinet ministers for the first time in six years were permitted to make speeches in support of the government candidate. C. C. Poole, 35-year-old railway clerk, was elected to the house of commons from the Lichfield constituency, near Birmingham, over G. E. Craddock, government candidate by a majority of 526. Mr. Poole said he was elected because the people have no faith in the foreign policy of the government.

"No longer can Mr. Chamberlain say the people of Britain share his childlike faith in dictators," he declared. It was the third such defeat for the government in recent weeks, and jubilant laborites hailed it as another decisive victory following the election of labor candidates in bye-elections in West Fulham and Ipswich. Observers attributed much of labor's recent climb to the resignation of Anthony Eden as foreign secretary February 20. Eden, however, said he was not actively opposing the Chamberlain government.

THE FRENCH-BRITISH ALLIANCE

The most interesting thing about the French-British agreement is, perhaps, what it does not say. Not a word is mentioned about the Russian-French treaty. If the British have really agreed to back up France in case she goes to the help of Czechoslovakia one wonders what price may have been offered for that concession. For it is one which this particular British government must have made without much enthusiasm. The British, of course, need not have said that they would support France if she assisted her Central European ally. But if they agree that France should support her, then they will be drawn into backing that support, willy-nilly. For the new alliance is the most formidable thing that this generation has seen. It really amounts to establishing a common army, a common command, and a common foreign policy.

Some students of the situation believe that Britain will demand, in return for this, that France give up the French-Russian pact. But if the French treaty with Czechoslovakia is to stand and even be fortified, then one cannot envisage France doing anything so defeatist as abandoning her agreement with Russia. And, perhaps even more importantly, it is probable that any French government which proposed to do any such thing, would face a terrific revolt at home. The French workingman believes in the pact with Russia. And so does the French army.

Furthermore, the abandonment of the Soviets by the Western powers, would almost certainly, sooner or later, draw Russia and Germany together, and if that happened, with the abolition of the small Central European powers, it would be a social and ideological event of the first magnitude. Then the Western world would really have something to fear. What the Nazis will do now is a matter for speculation. Most observers think that Germany will certainly not take on Czechoslovakia at the risk of a European war. First of all, though Czechoslovakia is a small country of about 15 million people, she has one of the best armies on the continent for its size. As Winston Churchill recently pointed out, it is almost twice as large as the British army. Officially it has a normal strength of 178,000 men, but for months past it has stood at around a quarter million, and probably three million men could be quickly mobilized. Its equipment and material are first-rate.

Czechoslovakia will be asked to make every concession to the German minorities "compatible with her national honor." If Czechoslovakia would abandon the Russian-French alliances, my guess is that Mr. Benes could have the Sudeten Nazi leader Henlein's head on a German charger. But with France prepared to stick to her guns, that is unlikely. Czechoslovakia might be either the Bosnia or the Serbia of the next war, depending on how nearly imminent it is. Possibly Hitler may now turn his eyes in another direction. Perhaps to Danzig. Perhaps to the Polish corridor. It is not at all likely that the Russians, at least, would collaborate to divide her.

A great deal depends upon what happens this week when Hitler visits Mussolini. The meeting cannot possibly be one of great cordiality. Hitler pulled a hot one on Mussolini in Austria, and Italy, traditionally, has thrown in her lot with whatever seemed to be the stronger side.

All in all, one cannot see that Hitler's famous diplomacy and his brilliant successes have put Germany in a very strong position. He seems to have a series of brilliant victories in battle, all leading him to a most unfavorable position, for a war. The system of collective security under which Britain and France guaranteed Germany's boundaries is long since finished. So is French control over the Continent, which she exercised from the end of the war to Hitler by virtue of her great military power. What emerges is the old balance of power, with Great Britain now calling the tune, the British and French united in the strongest outright military alliance in their history. France with all one finger in Central Europe, Russia still on the side of France and England, and Italy still on the fence—as in 1914.

In 1914 Germany's only ally was the Austro-Hungarian Empire. The Succession States of the Austro-Hungarian Empire now see themselves about to become not Germany's ally, but her prey. The Austro-Hungarian Empire was ripe for decay, and not much of an ally. The Succession States are weak. But all of them have tasted national independence, and to think that they will give it up enthusiastically to support Germany in a war out of which they can get nothing except the end of their existence is expecting more docility than is likely. After all, the Czechs marched half way round the world in the last war to join the front

UNDER $2,000 BOND

TEKARKANA, Ark., May 6 (AP)—Thad A. Bryant, Jr., was under $2,000 bond here today, pending a hearing May 12 on a habeas corpus application. The plea was filed after Gov. Carl E. Bailey had granted the extradition of Bryant to Dickens county, Texas, where he was accused of irreverentia as a dealer in securities.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds by ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—"Four Men and a Prayer" is a globe-trotting adventure. It sounds more reminiscent of "Beau Geste" and again of "The Three Musketeers" but winds up on its own power as a pretty good movie. The four men are George Sanders, David Niven, William Henry and the new English young man, Richard Greene. The prayer is not, as one might assume, the beautiful and heavily wardrobe Loretta Young, but an earnest resolve to "get" the intrigues who discredit and later murder the boys' army officer father (C. Aubrey Smith).

Jumping back and forth from England to America to India to South America to Egypt, the story packs a great deal more power and suspense in its early and middle stages than at the end. But it offers excitement enough, and there is good deal of light comedy supplied by Niven, Bill Henry and Miss Young. Director John Ford seldom lets Loretta or her wardrobe hide the adventurous aspects of his tale, and he presents one whale of a sequence in which J. Edward Bromberg shows the kind of acting Hollywood isn't using enough. The new boy, Greene, was taken to the ladies' hearts for his looks as well as capable performance, but in the acting department George Sanders is the stand-out, with David Niven uncommonly good in a blend of serious and comic characterization. More Melodrama "Stolen Heaven" is unusual in its combination of classical music with a fast cops-and-thieves melodrama. Gene Raymond and Olympia Brada play the jewel thieves who, making their escape from pursuing police, seek refuge in a woodland home which turns out to be the abode of an aged concert pianist (Lester Stone). Over Olympia's soft-hearted objections, Gene persuades a faltering old man to stage a comeback, a plan which would give Gene and company a chance at money to make good their escape.

Director Andrew L. Stone's use of music—Liszt, Chopin et al.—to further his story is interesting. Miss Brada acts more like Snow White than like a tough adventurer, but she has charm and sings and dances well. "Doctor Rhythm," one suspects on sober reflection, is really not Crosby's best picture but it seems so at very frequent intervals in its running. Based on an O. Henry story, "The Badge of Policeman O'Roon," it sometimes forsakes plausibility for convenience as when a hunted crook (Fred Keating) appears as a policeman's benefit to get the girl (Mary Carlisle) whom he doesn't really love. This makes it possible for O'Roon (Andy Devine) and the young doctor masquerading as O'Roon (Bing) to capture him in a garbion finish. Frank Tuttle's clever direction helps, but what sets "Doctor Rhythm" apart for us is the distinctive comedy of Beatrice Lillie, here making a triumphant return to pictures where once, nine years ago, nobody understood her. When Miss Lillie goes shopping for "two dozen double damask dinner napkins," and the clerk is Franklin Pangborn, the house is likely to react as the preview audience did, with sustained hysteria. Bing himself goes pleasantly through the usual romance with the leading lady, croons to his fans' taste, and breaks precedent by kissing the girl—once.

Reuben continued to stare at the mountains. Clasy watched him through a moment of profound desperation. His silence told more plainly than words the hopelessness of her cause. She said: "I could put you on top of the world." "I'll put myself there, youngster. Watch me." "How?" "If Judith cares it will be easy." It was the old Reuben speaking. The eagle, eager to soar again. "Ready, slow poke?" This, then, was the end! The end of what was to have been her perfect day. And she was the one who had vowed never to compromise with life! Vowed to accept no seconds— Even now she had not given up. There must be a way! If—if she just flew straight ahead, at not too great an altitude and at full speed, she'd crash beautifully into the Lode Ridge, whirling down, down. "Take Reube with her!" She turned and swung herself up the plane's side with the agility of a monkey. "All aboard! We're on our way, big boy!" She settled herself securely in the pilot's seat, while Reuben climbed into his place behind her. Neither saw nor heard Pike running towards them waving a letter— "Hey, hey! Special delivery! Held up in the Christmas jam—" Clasy took off. She didn't see the field. Didn't see the controls. Didn't see anything. What difference did it make? If she flew furiously and low—for five miles— "But I won't do it!" Clasy upbraided herself scornfully. "I'm too darn decent! A tough guy up to a point, then I turn mushy and remember all sorts of things I want to forget!" She felt, tears on her cheeks, hot, rebellious. She bit her lips hard, to keep back a groan. Glad Reube was behind and couldn't see her face. Glad the propeller made such a noise it matched the tumult within her—almost—almost— "I've fought a sneaky fight and lost. Serves me right," Clasy told herself severely, "but I feel like—like—If hell is a place of self torture—I'm there." Gradually the mist cleared from her eyes. She saw the compass. "I don't want to fly true," she definitely shouted it at Reuben, "but I will!" Quickly she changed her course. Lifted. Now to get there quickly. Straight as the crow flies. Three years ago she had taken from Judith what looked like happiness. Today she was bringing the real thing back to her. In a few hours she would be in the same meadow, lose her passenger. Then?— Clasy didn't know what. Pain gnawed at her heart like the claw of a leopard. The end of the world was a long, long way— Heaven or Hell? To Reuben, Marylan, was the end and would be the beginning. He was on his way to Maryland to Judith. What he would say to her he did not know. He only knew that the first words that passed between them would decide whether life was to be a thing of pain or ecstasy, heaven or hell. If it was to be the latter, he hoped Clasy would fumble. Send him crashing down— One glance at her squared shoulders, at her small hand upon the stick, assured him that Clasy would not fumble. Though the end of the flight meant Paradise for him and purgatory for her, Clasy was heading toward it swift, brave, true as a swallow on the wing. Stout fella! Clasy! Terribly he longed to tell her so even while he was glad that it was possible. Words were such futile things. Only Clasy could find the right ones for Judith—if only Judith would be glad to see him! If she needed him— The sun, rosy and heartening, was rising over the Goodloe meadow when Clasy, after circling a half dozen times, floated down to an easy landing. "We made good time, Reube," she loosened her helmet. "Clasy," he stretched his taut muscles, "you must be dead tired." He climbed from the cockpit and turned to help her down. "When Amos has fed you, promise me you'll sleep the clock around but not at Goodloe's. Choice. A hotel in Baltimore was better—a place where she could not witness Reuben's reunion with Judith was better—there was a limit to everything. "I'll send flowers for poor Jim and I'll see Judith later." "Clasy, if you knew how grateful I am for everything—if you knew—" Gratitude was the one thing that Clasy could not stand. Knew she did not deserve. Hastily she re-lightened her helmet. "Happy landings, big boy, and good luck all the way!" She waved a casual hand and set the plane's engine humming. Hatless, motionless, Reuben watched it take the air, then, breathing deeply, like a swimmer about to plunge, he started across the meadow. The branch was high this morning, its edges ice-coated. He had to make a running leap to span it. Thin patches of snow lay here and there but in between adventurous blades of new wheat peeped up and straight ahead was the hedge! Green, pungent in the frosty air, planted in tradition, nurtured on pride, it stood here as a valiant old soldier or guard. Reuben ran his hand lightly over it—the price of his acceptance by the Goodloes! Well, many a man had bartered more for less. Once, because his dollars could save it he had been welcome here. Today—? He drew his hand away. Maybe he had been a fool to come, a fool to hope— He went doggedly on to the higher level of the terraced lawn. He saw the house. Even the shadow of death upon it could not mar its air of hospitality, its dignity, its beauty. Its comfort. No wonder Judith had longed for it; had despised what he had given her and now, with little better to offer her he was back. He had an impulse to turn and run, but love, stronger than pride, sent him forward. Judith, making sure that Gran was, at last, asleep, hurried down the wide stair and let herself softly out the front door. There was something she wanted to put in Jim's still hands before he went away on his last journey. Something that would speak of Goodloe's Choice and her love—a sprig of boxwood, and if beneath the dining-room window, buried close to the wall, a blanket of fallen leaves, she could find a few of the big, purple violets Jim loved— Safely outside she went down on her knees where the sun shone warm and commended hurriedly to delve beneath the leaves. Ah—a violet—another— She was still dazed from the tragedy of yesterday. All night long she had relived it again and again—Jim and Eddy were gone. ... Jim had promised to help her, rear the babies—her babies whose father did not want them; who hadn't answered her letter; who had spent Christmas with Clasy; who wanted to marry Clasy— Lost in her thoughts, intent upon her search, Judith did not hear Reuben's steps upon the terrace. He had been a standing sentinel for a long, breathless second before she looked up and saw him. Strong, bronzed, vital, his eyes held hers steadily. But she could not tell what was behind them. The words of Judith's letter mocked her. It was one thing to pour out words, but another thing to see that image come alive before her, the man who had been a stranger to her for so many months, whose thoughts were a secret. Suppose he had come to tell her that he and Clasy— Color drained from Judith's face. Her slim brown hands with the violets in them, fluttered to her throat. (Copyright, 1938, Gladys Smith Ferguson)

Many stop on the rim of achievement, when just a little more effort would have put them over. We have heard of Methuselah. He lived 969 years, and his name is synonymous with old age. Yet his grandpappy, Jared, lived 962 years—only seven years less. And so we hear little or nothing about Jared. It may be that we do not have to be a great deal better than we are now. Maybe just a little more effort, a little more faith, is all we need. That is the philosophy of our business — to keep pushing forward. We won't reach perfection, but there's satisfaction in trying.

Hepburn And Grant Starred 'Bringing Up Baby' Scheduled At Ritz Friday-Saturday Another in the screwball cycle of comedy pictures, "Bringing Up Baby," fills the screen at the Ritz theatre Friday and Saturday, and promises to present one hectic, surprising sequence after the other. Katharine Hepburn, the dramatic gal who essays mad comedy, and Cary Grant in this film get in and out of more trouble than the average pair of screen lovers encounter in a dozen pictures, and the adventures are guaranteed to keep you from dozing in your chair. Those with no preconceived idea as to what the story is all about will get their first shock when they learn that the "Baby" of the title is no human infant, but a full-grown leopard, used by the resourceful Miss Hepburn to aid her in capturing Grant, a zoology professor who, until she comes into his life, is lost in his work and his coming marriage to Virginia Walker, a secretary. Grant is made to desert his bride to help Miss Hepburn escort "Baby" to the Connecticut home of her aunt, May Robson. The complications which follow will long be remembered as the maddest and most unusual that have been presented in some time. They start piling up when Charlie Ruggles, a big game hunter, enters the scene and a killer leopard is turned loose to make identification of the comparatively tame "Baby" uncertain. Barry Fitzgerald, Walter Catlett, Fritz Feld, Leona Roberts and George Irving also add considerably to the merriment in "Bringing Up Baby," produced and directed by Howard Hawks.

"A horrible thing," he said, "it was due entirely to the use of hydrogen. Only by using helium can such accidents be prevented."

Club Delegation To Dist. Conclaves Rotarians and Lions will leave here Sunday and Monday for their district conventions, and the former delegation will be in the midst of a determined fight for the next annual parity. Accompanying the Rotary group to Breckenridge will be the West Texas vocal trio composed of Mrs. Willard Reed, Ruby Bell, and Mrs. R. E. Blount. The three did yeoman service in pushing Big Spring's claims for the next convention at the recent West Texas chamber of commerce gathering in Wichita Falls. T. W. Ashley, president of the Rotary club, was confident that the 1939 international meeting would come to Big Spring. Heading a group of Big Spring Lions to Lubbock will be Joe Pond, governor of district 2-T. C. L. Rowe, president of the local club, and many other members will accompany Pond as a gesture of goodwill for the fine support Lubbock gave Big Spring in its convention last year.

CHARGES FILED Charges of prescribing more than one pint of liquor to one person in a day were lodged in county court against Dr. J. R. Cunningham and charges of filling a liquor prescription other than for medicinal purposes were filed in county court Friday afternoon against Dick Hitt, drug store employe. The liquor control board brought the complaints.

Blindness Or Death: Parents Must Choose For Their Baby CHICAGO, May 6 (AP)—The Herald-Examiner today in a copyright story of a young Chicago couple faced the appalling alternatives of submitting their infant daughter to an operation that would leave her blind forever, or permitting her to die. The affliction has been diagnosed as glioma, a tumor that first attacks the retina of the eye and spreads through the optic nerve to the brain. Dr. Herman Colan, 30, a dentist, and his wife, Estelle, 23, the parents of the five weeks old child were told by specialists, the paper said, the baby would die within two months unless the eyes were removed. Dr. Colan was quoted as follows: "I dread the possibility that my baby someday might be left to the care of strangers in a sightless world. "I can't decide. I don't know what to do..."

Ask Continuation Of Underground Water Survey A request to have the underground water survey of Howard county continued was being drafted Friday morning by City Manager E. V. Spence. The city manager said that he had learned that the report on the first section of work done by the U. S. geological survey here last autumn and during the early spring of this year was due to be filed within two weeks. His request, he said, would be in the hands of Texas senators and representatives before that time. The underground water survey was undertaken here last year, with the city cooperating to the extent of $2,500, in the hope of locating a bountiful, good water supply for Big Spring. While details of the report could not be learned until it is approved by U.S.G.S., it was understood that the survey did not uncover any big supply, although it was in promising territory when the survey was halted two months ago.

DELAY COURT ACTION ON UNIFICATION ATLANTA, May 6 (AP)—The laymen's organization for the preservation of the Southern Methodist church announced today it would delay court action against Methodist unification until its legal committee had decided upon procedure. Losing a fight against union of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South with the northern church and Methodist Protestant church before the Southern church's general conference at Birmingham, Ala., the laymen said court action would be the next step. The general conference voted overwhelmingly for union.

SPENDING-LENDING BILL APPROVED BY SUBCOMMITTEE WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—A house appropriations subcommittee, after inserting provisions which would limit President Roosevelt's discretion in relief spending, approved today the administration's huge spending-lending bill. Chairman Woodrum (D-Va.) said: "The subcommittee will report a bill embodying the essential recommendations of the president." The major recommendations were a $1,250,000,000 relief appropriation and a $1,000,000,000 public works program.

TRAVELING TOAD MAY TRAVEL AGAIN "Bib Jim," the flying West Texas horned toad, may make another aerial trip soon. Ben Arlett, chairman of the sixth annual toad derby in Coalinga, Calif., Friday invited Postmaster Nat Shick to send the Big Spring toad as "one of the featured entries" in the strange derby. Shick was undecided as to whether he would part with his toad, but indicated he might send him to California. Arlett read stories about the toad when it passed through California enroute home after an airmail trip around the nation last month.

GARAGE JS DAMAGED Burning grass Friday afternoon fired the side of a garage wall at 410 Rannels street, necessitating a run by the fire department. Very little damage resulted from the blaze that was brought under control by the time the firemen arrived. Earlier in the week a small fire, the third in two years, occurred in the roof of the old frame structure north of the Petroleum building. Firemen believed a cigarette tossed out of the building fired the dry roof.

FIVE BREAK JAIL LUFKIN, May 6 (AP)—Five prisoners escaped from the county jail shortly before daylight today. They saved the bars from a second floor window and climbed to the ground with the help of a blanket rope. Four of the men were awaiting trial and the fifth was a convicted hog thief. No trace of the fugitives had been reported at noon.
