

MARGARET MITCHELL STRUCK DOWN BY AUTO—Margaret Mitchell, author of "Gone With The Wind," lies critically injured on Peachtree St., Atlanta, Ga., after she was struck down by a speeding automobile as she and her husband were attempting to cross the street. The driver, identified by police as Hugh D. Cravett, was booked on charges of drunken driving, speeding and driving on wrong side of street. Miss Mitchell is suffering from a brain concussion, leg injuries and possible internal injuries, the hospital said. (AP Wirephoto)

School Election Set For Tuesday Here

An election Tuesday is between the Big Spring Independent School district and calmer financial waters. The issue is approval of a bond absorption and confirmation of the district's tax rates. The alternate to approval is a stark financial picture—and probably a four months school.

Voting will be at the city hall fire station. Polls open at 8 a. m. and close at 7 p. m. Only qualified voters who have duly rendered property for taxes are eligible to cast ballots.

Traffic Victim's Remains Taken To Merkel For Rites

Body of William Henry Keith, 24, victim of a traffic mishap Friday night, was carried overland Saturday to Merkel where funeral arrangements were to be made. Keith was struck by a car about two miles east of Big Spring at 8:30 p.m. Friday.

Highway patrolmen Red Williams and Jack Taylor, who investigated the mishap, said the victim apparently stepped in front of an automobile driven by William Vernon Campbell of Willowbrook, Calif.

Campbell told officers that he was facing heavy traffic on US 80 and that he did not see Keith until he was almost upon the victim.

Keith's body was brought here to Eberly Funeral home where it remained until transportation to Merkel was arranged.

Among the survivors is an uncle, L. E. Keith, who lives at 901 Aylford in Big Spring.

Reviewing The

Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

Whatever else comes to pass this week, the most important matter is the Big Spring School district election on Tuesday. Indifference, which sadly characterizes many of our votes, could result in failure of the tax rate to be confirmed. In plain English, this means that only state funds would be available for a year for operation of the schools. That probably would mean about four months of school—and it's not just scare talk. Coahoma, Center Point, Gay Hill, Knott and Vealmoor districts are in the same boat when they come to their votes. So make voting a MUST on Tuesday.

Last week contributed a volley of traffic mishaps. As a result one man was dead. Several others were injured. Hundreds and hundreds of dollars of damage had been done. Our people need to concentrate on being careful.

Police are not amazed that patrons of an Illinois paper should take a trick picture of an elephantine grasshopper munching a wagon of hay as the real staff. Some few here haven't been able to comprehend that "No Left Turns" signs on Third at Horns. Main and Scurry streets means that they aren't supposed to make left turns at those points.

Some of us need to begin tying strings around our fingers to remind that garbage cans are supposed to conform to the city ordinance terms by Sept. 1. That means a regulation can with lid, placed at the proper spot. It may be a trifle expensive, but reduction of fly breeding and waterborne dogs and cats might well be worth the investment.

Welcome news is due to come. See THE WEEK, Pg. 6, Col. 8

TESCO Strike Settlement Is Announced

COLORADO CITY, Aug. 13.—(Sp1)—Striking AF of L iron workers will return to their jobs Monday at the million dollar Texas Electric Service company steam generator power plant. Announcement of the strike's settlement came late Friday after a closed afternoon-long session of union leaders. Representatives of both the iron workers and the boiler workers were said to have reached an agreement on division of work of the two crafts.

Iron workers walked out Thursday as result of a jurisdictional dispute and posted pickets several hundred yards from the construction site. Work was at a complete standstill all day Thursday. Friday, however, the pickets did not appear and all men except the disputing iron workers were back at work.

$750 Is Collected In Big Spring For Texas Polio Fund

Big Spring's special contribution to a Texas polio fund had soared at more than $750 through Friday night, and weekend collections at the theatres still were to be counted.

Texas theatres are sponsoring the campaign, brought about by the heavy blow polio has struck at Texas, and have their own organization to see that funds are to be used to help Texas cases.

With Boy Scouts handling the chore, collections were started Thursday night, will continue through Wednesday, at all theatres and at local baseball games. In addition, contributions will be accepted at the Herald.

The total as compiled Saturday was $730.82. In addition to the Thursday theatre collection previously reported, this was accounted for as follows: from R&R theatres Friday, $207.10; from Terrace Drive-In theatre Friday, $49.00; from baseball game Thursday, $142.20; from special checks received by The Herald (R. G. Wilson and Mary E. Wilson $10), $20.

Should the rate fall of confirmation, there would be no levy for maintenance. That portion of the rate for bonded indebtedness would be levied automatically, courts have held.

With no local funds in the absence of a district maintenance levy, said W. C. Blankenship, superintendent, the district would have to function solely on state revenues. At present, these appear ample only for about four months of operation.

Results of the Tuesday election will be computed on a district wide basis. Those residing within the confines of the enlarged (61 square mile) district are eligible to vote provided they meet the tax rendition and other voting requirements.

Under the secret ballot law voters will present poll tax receipts or exemption certificates and have them stamped as voting. Then they pick up their ballots, mark them. The perforated numbered stub is detached and signed by the voter across the back. The voter then deposits the stub in the stub box and the ballot in the ballot box himself.

Discard the razor, men. You probably won't have to do this again for another 100 years. The word is handed down that all males of the city are to start growing beards, whiskers, and other hirsute facial adornment, to bring back the days of 1949.

It's for the Centennial. That big birthday festivity opens October 2, so bigwigs of the Centennial committees have decreed it's time to start encouraging the growth.

The committee men themselves, from bald-pated Shine Phillips and dignified Doug Orme on down to the garden-variety of workers, have pledged to set the pace. They're putting the razors in moth-

Fresh Dispute On Compromise Farm Bill Seen

Senators Disagree On How To Get Rid Of Big Surpluses

WASHINGTON, August 13. (AP)—The Senate's compromise farm price-support bill was threatened Saturday with another sharp dispute. This one is over how the government should get rid of some $2 billion worth of farm products it holds.

Chairman Thomas (D-Okla.) said he is not satisfied with the bill's feature concerning disposal measures for the cotton, wheat, tobacco, eggs, potatoes, and other products the U. S. has taken over.

"We've got more than $2 billion worth of farm commodities piled up now. Either we find some way to get rid of that and other products or the whole program will collapse," Thomas said.

Thomas is to call a closed session of his committee next week to act on the bill developed by a subcommittee headed by Senator Anderson (D-NM), former secretary of agriculture.

Anderson has been urging agreement on the new bill. He claims unanimous backing by six other members of the subcommittee.

For many years the Agriculture Department has been supporting farm prices by loans and purchases. Under the loan system, a farmer can reclaim his commodity if market prices are high enough to give him a profit after repaying the government loan and storage charges. Otherwise the government takes over the cotton, wheat, or other commodity.

At the request of Thomas, the Anderson group authorized a new "assistant secretary of agriculture in charge of sales operations," as part of the compromise bill.

He would be sort of a merchandising or sales manager for the department.

Thomas said too many restrictions are placed in the way of these operations. For instance government stocks are not to be dumped on markets or sold if they would depress price levels, nor sold at less than existing price supports.

Thomas said he wants Congress to direct the department to take over food and crops in surplus areas and distribute them where they are needed, both in this country and abroad.

"We might better take a little loss on some things at times than hold them and lose most of the value later," he said. "Right now, farmers in Oklahoma are getting 30 to 35 cents a dozen for eggs while here in Washington we pay 80 cents for the best grades. Meanwhile the government buys eggs and dries them and stores them in a cave."

Free DDT Offered Big Springers In Health Program

Reminder has been issued that citizens of Big Spring may obtain, free of charge, a quantity of 5 per cent DDT coating to use in destroying insects and preventing spread of disease.

The DDT solution will be available to all citizens Monday at the Sherwin-Williams store, 222 West Third street. The firm is giving away $1,000 worth of the solution, in conjunction with a Junior chamber of commerce public health program.

The coating is for use on screens, garbage cans and other insect-breeding places, and may be applied with brush, rag or other applicator. An application lasts from four to five months.

Mail-Carrying Bids Being Invited Here

Bids are being asked for carrying the mails between the post office here and the T. & P. railway terminal. Offers are to cover service each way as often as required. Deadline for sealed proposals is at 4 p. m. Aug. 22, said Postmaster Nat Shiek. Additional information may be secured from him.

County's First 1949 Cotton Bale Ginned Saturday

The first bale of the 1949 cotton crop—one that hands in the balance as average or a record breaker—had been ginned Saturday.

The Co-op Gin processed the bale, produced by J. V. Cherry. It weighed 445 pounds, pulled 29 3/4 bolls and graded strict middling. Co-op ginned the bale free and Alvin Bates, manager, offered a two cent a pound premium.

Cherry gathered the 1,700 snap cotton off 25 acres on the J. B. Pickle place four miles south on the old San Angelo highway.

Vaughan Says Deepfreeze Units Were Just Gifts From Friends

Taylor Resigns As Member Of Texas Senate

10 Years At $600 Annually Is Long Enough, Says Solon

AUSTIN, August 13. (AP)—Senator James Taylor of Kerens, the Senate's influential finance chief, stepped out of the Legislature Saturday. He gave no legislative pay as the reason.

Monday he will begin work as executive director of the Texas Motor Transportation Association.

Taylor submitted his resignation from the sixth district Senate post of Gov. Allan Shivers both by telephone and by letter.

"I would like to have served as a member of the legislature during your administration as governor," the 43-year-old former publisher told Gov. Shivers. "However, at the present Texas $600-a-year pay scale for members of the legislature, 10 years is about the maximum period of service one citizen can afford to contribute."

From Woodville, Gov. Shivers expressed his regret of the resignation and announced that a special election would be held Nov. 8 to fill the vacancy.

Taylor had ruled the Senate a powerful finance committee for two sessions with an iron hand. His methods were seldom questioned. He had headed the Gilmer-Alkin committee and pushed its public education reform program successfully to legislative adoption over strong opposition. Except for war years, he had served in the Legislature since 1938, two terms in the House and three in the Senate.

During the war, he was a lieutenant colonel with the famed 36th Infantry Division.

Shivers said that in Taylor's resignation, "the state loses one of its most able and earnest public servants."

Shorter T&P Work Week Goes Into Effect Sept. 1

T. & P. representatives have been calling on patrons to explain adjustments in freight service when the five-day week goes into effect for non-operating personnel.

The shortened work week goes into effect Sept. 1.

A. McCasland, local agent for T&P, said that the all shipping requirements will continue on an even keel. He anticipated no material changes in service to the public.

Heretofore, the majority of T&P freight station operations have been on a six-day basis, except for emergency shipments. Hereafter non-operating personnel will be off on Saturday and Sunday. No scheduled passenger or freight, will be affected.

L. H. Galloway, Dallas, G. L. Brooks, general agent, and J. A. Wright, trainmaster, Big Spring have been covering the territory to explain the shorter work-week.

Negro Pastors' Homes Blasted

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 13. (AP)—A tense racial zoning row erupted Saturday in the dynamiting of two Negro ministers' homes. Negroes guarding the houses answered with gunfire.

Two midnight blasts, seconds apart, rocked the adjoining Negro houses in an area zoned for whites only. Windows were shattered and a few planks knocked loose.

There was little damage although the heavy explosions were heard over most of Birmingham.

E. B. Dayampert, one of the Negro ministers, said three of four Negroes fired with pistols and shotguns at a speeding automobile from which the bombs were hurled. The shots apparently missed.

Eighteen Negroes were at the houses at the time, he said, but none was injured.

Asked if he planned to move, Dayampert replied: "This is my home and I'm going to stay here." The other minister Milton Curry, said the same.

The houses are a half block from three others that were heavily damaged by bombs March 28.

Dayampert said the dynamite was thrown by an unmasked white man riding on the running board of the car.

Police Commissioner Eugene Connor charged the Negroes "are partly to blame for the incident for not informing police."

"They (the Negroes) had a tip from a Negro that something was going to happen last night," he said in a statement. "Instead of calling the police, they called in their neighbors. I understand they had shotguns and pistols and were waiting for them when the dynamite came."

MEET MONDAY HERE CRMWA Directors Will Be Organized

Organization of the directors for the Colorado River Municipal Water district is scheduled for Monday evening.

Robert T. Piner, member of the board and chairman of the Colorado River Municipal Water Association, said that a meeting had been called for 7 p. m. Monday at the Seibles.

Piner was in touch Friday with Charles Perry, Odessa, also a director and vice-chairman of the association. The date was set at suggestion of Perry to meet convenience of Odessa representatives.

The association has functioned in an unofficial capacity for three years pending the creation and confirmation of a water district. The directorate will largely supersede it, although the association may continue as an auxiliary or advisory agency.

The initial order of business here Monday will be to organize the board. When the city commissions of Big Spring and Odessa named directors, all were of equal status. That left no one to convoke the board.

Other matters for consideration will include procedure for further study of a proposed lake project on the upper Colorado river. It also may touch upon means of securing interim financing. The district, as confirmed by voters in Big Spring and Odessa on July 12, has no means of finances of itself unless and until it formally goes into operation. As a normal condition, operating expenses could be paid only out of operating revenue.

Directors are R. T. Piner, R. L. Cook, George White, George Mims of Big Spring, Charles Perry, W. E. Bruce, Cody Harbour, J. L. Rhodes of Odessa. Mayors and city managers of the two cities are due to participate in the Monday meeting.

General Denies Impropriety In 'This Courtesy'

Rep. Mundt Is Not At All Satisfied With Explanation

WASHINGTON, August 13. (AP)—Major General Harry H. Vaughan, President Truman's military aide, said today he accepted deep freeze units as gifts to himself and some friends. He denied there was anything improper in "this courtesy."

He said he spoke for one of the frezers for "The Little White House" — The Truman home in Independence, Mo. — and others to go to Fred Vinson, John Snyder, James K. Vardaman, and Matthew J. Connolly. Still another was directed to the White House staff luncheon.

Vinson is chief justice of the United States. Snyder is secretary of the Treasury. Vardaman, former Truman naval aide, is a governor of the Federal Reserve System. Connolly is secretary to President Truman.

Snyder told a reporter that no frezer reached him.

Senator Mundt (R-Mo.) called for a checkup on Vaughan's claims.

Vaughan said the frezer box shower resulted from a talk he had in 1948 with "two old friends of mine" — Mr. Harry Hoffman and Mr. David Bennett.

Hoffman is a Milwaukee advertising man. He has figured in testimony before the Senate committee looking into "five per cent."

The committee has issued a subpoena for Hoffman, but hasn't located him.

Bennett is president of the Albert Verley Co., a Chicago packaging house.

Albert Gross, manufacturer of the frezers, testified the Verley company paid for the units he sent Vaughan and others. John Maragon, Odessa, said he was employed by the Verley concern. Maragon claims to be a good friend of Vaughan.

The frezers threw a sensation into the hearing Thursday when Gross testified they were shipped to Vaughan and others.

The President's military aide issued a statement breaking a long silence about the various references which have been made concerning him in the inquiry.

Vaughan said there was a simple explanation: "Mr. Hoffman and Mr. Bennett desired to extend this courtesy to me as a friend. I in turn made gifts of these units to certain friends of mine."

Senator McCarty (R-Wis.), active in the Senate investigation, commented:

"In view of this admission on the part of Vaughan, I would very much like to have the Verley company explain why they spent approximately $1,000 for gifts and what is in turn they expected from Vaughan."

Mundt said the Vaughan statement "does not close this matter by any means."

"I think we ought to find out whether Vaughan's account is corroborated in any way by whatever documentary evidence the committee is about to obtain," he said.

Deathless Days In Big Spring Traffic 603

Calif., and Eugene White, 26 Paso, passengers, volunteered services. Stayton and two soldiers, W. C. Correll, San Gabriel, Calif., and John Cook, Springfield, Ohio, also joined the crew in extending aid.

As the Eagle streaked eastward 60 miles out of El Paso, the stork came abreast. Porter A. White hustled towels and sheets from the Pullman, along with pillows.

One of the passengers offered some pain reducing beverage he happened to have with him. Colby severed the umbilical cord. Many breathed a sigh of relief. The proceedings, he said, had given him a slight headache.

The T&P dining room was opened hastily and all the attendants were served coffee on the house.

Only casually was the Eagle's price—$100—the stork bearing the Eagle.

Stork Wins Thrilling Race With T&P Eagle

"The stork made a mainline meeting with the Eagle at 3:15 a.m. today."

T&P conductor R. G. Stayton, El Paso, felt obliged to make up official report Saturday of the exciting event on "chair car 438." When it was all over Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Manry were the parents of a 5 1/2-pound daughter.

Mrs. Manry and her husband were hurrying home to Hornell, N. Y. He had been discharged Thursday at Ft. Bliss from the Army.

Seven passengers came to Mrs. Manry's aid when it became evident the stork was gaining on the crack Eagle. She was moved to the women's lounge.

HOUSTON, Aug. 13. (U.P.)—Note to nurses: Don't call W. L. Bane, "Honney." Bane, Fairbanks dairy farmer and former school tax collector, is in Methodist Hospital with more than 50 bee stings on his face and head. He tangled with the bee's nest while he was cutting weeds with a tractor on his farm. When they swarmed over him, he leaped off the tractor and rolled in the grass in an attempt to drive the bees away. They left—when they got doggone good and ready.

Commission To Peg September Output

HOUSTON, Aug. 13. (U.P.)—Texas oil regulatory commissioners take another official look at the industry's supply-demand picture next week. There are indications they will report progress is being made. There are unofficial reports the State's Railroad Commission will restore one of the shutdown days that have accompanied the seven crude oil production cutbacks ordered this year. The commission, charged with keeping the state's production in balance with demand, meets in Mineral Wells next Friday to determine September's production allowances. These developments confronted the commission this week:

1. Domestic refinery operations showed minor percentage increases a second consecutive week.
 2. Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) announced it has terminated imports of oil from the Middle East.
 3. The Bureau of Mines forecast that domestic petroleum demand the second half of the year will be 64 per cent over the same period last year. The first six months of 1949 were said to have experienced a 3 per cent decline.
- Oil company spokesmen believe such developments will be sufficient to warrant the commission to order at least a temporary halt to the 1949 cutback parade.

Lye-Loaded Beer Can Injures Five Parsons

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 13. (U.P.)—A flying beer can loaded with lye injured Marshall Miles, former business manager for Joe Louis, and four other persons at the Atlantic City race track Friday.

Detective Sgt. Lewis Vorstman of the state police said most of the lye blew back on the man who threw it, identified as Earl Griffin, 34, Brown of Yonkers, N. Y. Police said Griffin was aiming at his wife.

using it. They mean they have confidence in the immediate future of American business.

They say they like what they see ahead. They have kind words for some of the actions of the federal government.

The course of the stock market this week is a clear reflection of their attitude. The market had its ups and downs, but it ended the week a little higher than it started. And it kept within a fairly short stride of the 1949 high point established last January.

Thomas B. McCabe, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, proposed to Congress a number of ways to encourage business to raise the money it needs by selling common stocks. One was income tax reduction in the middle and upper brackets. Another was easing the tax laws which result in taxing a corporation on the money it earns to pay dividends and then taxing the dividends as income after they are paid out.

Coupled with that was the reduction of reserve requirements by the federal reserve for city and country banks. That gave them more funds to lend to business.

On what Wall Street considered the dark side of the picture was the uncertainty over the outcome of negotiations between labor and management in steel, coal, and automobiles.

Dividend reductions, lower earnings, and management changes in some of the market leaders during these last two trading days unsettled the list enough to bring an average fall.

During the week the Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose to 844.69 from 844.26 the week before.

Parents Of Girl Killed As Auto Plunges Down Hill

WALL, S. D., Aug. 13. (U.P.)—A 14-year-old girl was still shaken today from her harrowing struggle up a rock-strewn incline to seek aid for her parents, killed when their car plunged down the 100-foot hill.

Chrysa Franjos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Franjos of St. Paul, Minn., said their car left Highway 20 about 5 p.m. Thursday. She told how she spent part of the night unconscious and then several hours climbing the steep Badlands Hill.

After she reached the highway, the girl was passed by several motorists who later reported to authorities that a "crazy woman" had been seen.

Finally, at 6 a.m., Andrew Gallna, Round Lake, Minn., picked up the near-fraintic girl and brought her to the Wall Hospital.

Her parents' bodies are pulled to the top of the incline by ropes. The family had been returning from a visit to California.

Trainman Injured As Engine Derailed

HOUSTON, Aug. 13. (U.P.)—One trainman suffered a crushed ankle, and four others miraculously escaped injury at 7:15 a.m. today when a huge Southern Pacific freight locomotive left the rails at an intersection here.

It toppled over on its side, and jackknifed a tender and two gondolas carrying sand and shell to the Englewood Yards.

C. E. McClellan, about 35, was admitted to the Southern Pacific Hospital for treatment of a crushed right ankle and possible other leg injuries.

Nonagenarian Is Student At South Dakota

VERMILION, S. D. (U)—There's a student at the University of South Dakota taking a summer course in the winter of his life. He's 89-year-old E. E. Collins of Vermillion. Going to camp at an advanced age is old stuff to him. He won a master of arts degree from the university at 78.

He finds political science interesting although he was old enough to vote for President James Garfield.

Collins says he's in perfect physical condition. He looks it. Fellow students, even GI's in their mid-20's, guess him to be 25 years younger. He drives his own car and regularly goes to a nephew's farm where he hoes weeds and chops wood.

Collins was retired for a while after teaching and being a school administrator. To educate his seven children, he had left the teaching profession and bought an ice cream business. He came out of retirement during the war to teach at a country school, disregarding the fact that he had been a state-city and county superintendent before.

He made his second postgraduate comeback at the university, he said, "because I didn't have any objectives in life after my wife died several years ago." They had been married 64 years.

'Posy' Maker In Plea For Patience

DETROIT, Aug. 13. (U)—Note from engineer-turned-brassiere-designer Charles Langs to the ladies who have complaints about his new produce, "the posies".

"If you've had to wait a long time, it's because there are 26,000 unfilled orders ahead of yours and Langs doesn't know much about the brassiere business.

If your letters about the delay weren't answered, ditto. If you got one pink posy and one green one, that's due to the rush. Posies, explained Designer Langs who would much rather stick to his engineering business, are the answer to his wife's plea for a strapless means of getting a good suntan.

They consist of two cups with adhesive around the edges, and the girls just have to stick them on. Langs expected "a few dozen" orders when he launched his product. But within weeks he was getting 500,000 a week, he estimated. Langs then farmed out the production work to two firms and hired 45 girls to mail out the orders.

Finally postal inspectors and Detroit's Better Business Bureau wanted to know why. "I could dictate all day and not get 'em all answered," Langs retorted. "Maybe you'd like to come over and start explaining to the women."

Langs would like to find a reputable firm to take over his business. Then he hopes to go back to his own kind of engineering.

British Wife Is Nearing End Of Global Flight

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 13. (U)—A pretty British housewife neared the end of a globe-circling flight Saturday after piloting her little plane from Labrador to Greenland in defiance of Canadian air regulations.

Mrs. Richards Morrow-Tait, 26, made the 700-mile flight with her navigator Friday. Only two more overwater hops—from Greenland to Iceland to Britain—stand in the way of fulfilling her dream of being the first woman to pilot a single-engine plane around the world.

Canadian aviation authorities, who had forbidden the transatlantic flight as unsafe for single-engine civilian planes, had ordered Mrs. Morrow-Tait to fly back to Bangor, Me.

She took off at 7 a.m. (EST) Friday, ostensibly for Bangor, then changed course and landed six and a half hours later at a U. S. air base in southern Greenland. Waiting in England for the world filer are her husband and two-year-old daughter. She saw them last on Aug. 12, 1948, when she took off with navigator Michael Townsend, 26-year-old Cambridge University student, on her eastward trip.

PSYCHOLOGY PROFESSOR SAYS HIS SUICIDE NOT ACT OF INSANE MAN

ARKADELPHIA, Ark., Aug. 13. (U)—A man contemplating suicide is very sane, wrote an Arkansas college professor a few minutes before he ended his life in a deserted downtown church.

Officers found the body of J. C. Stewart, about 65, dean of men and psychology professor at Ouachita College, lying behind the pulpit of the First Baptist Church about noon Friday.

Stewart shot himself in the head with a .22 caliber rifle a few minutes after telling his friends goodbye, paying his bills, and penning the note.

Sheriff Andrew Widener reported. Sheriff Widener said a note, found on a table in the church, stated: "You have been wondering whether a man planning suicide is sane. As a psychologist I can tell you he is sometimes very sane. "I have been in ill health for the past four months, have only about three months left to live. I suffer constantly in all parts of my body at all times. I cannot sleep. No inquest is planned, Sheriff Widener said.

Firm Owner Files For Return Of Tax Money Seized By Government

SONINGTON, Conn., Aug. 13. (U)—Vivian Kellems said Saturday she is trying to recover from the government the $6,133 it seized from her company's bank account as a penalty for failure to withhold income taxes from her employees.

The first step was taken with the filing of a formal request for its return with Collector of Internal Revenue John J. Fitzpatrick at Hartford. When this request is refused, as she expects it to be, Miss Kellems said the way will be open for a suit to test the constitutionality of the withholding provision of the income tax law.

Miss Kellems has been trying to get the government in court since early in 1948 when she first announced she'd no longer collect the withholding tax because she considered the law unconstitutional. She asked President Truman to have her indicted to get the constitutional issue before the courts, but her request was ignored.

Instead, the Treasury Department seized $1,600 from her bank account last year and recently took $6,133 more.

Miss Kellems' response to the first seizure was to deduct the $1,600 from her personal income tax return, but that didn't get her in court so she said she had decided on a different tack to recover the $6,133.

Throughout the controversy, employees of the Kellems Cable Grip manufacturing shop have been paying their own taxes. Each week Miss Kellems said, the company has notified the employees the amount of withholding taxes due and has helped them send money orders for the correct amount to the Treasury department.

"It is a shocking thing," Miss Kellems said, "that the federal government would resort to such high-handed seizure and intimidation rather than to face the issue squarely and test the constitutionality of the law. "However, since they have chosen this method, I have no other choice than to bring suit just as soon as the Treasury Department has taken action upon my application for return of the money."

Ojai Valley Scene Of Film Honeymoon

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13. (U)—The secret of where Actor Jimmy Stewart and his bride spent the first days of their honeymoon was revealed only a few hours before they took off for Chicago.

The handsome, 41-year-old former "most eligible bachelor" of Hollywood and the former Mrs. Gloria Hatrick McLean are en route by plane today to Chicago and Akron O., where Stewart will officiate at the soapbox derby. Later they'll continue their honeymoon in Hawaii.

It was disclosed that the Stewarts, married last Tuesday in Hollywood, had been golfing and motoring in the Ojai, Calif. Valley until Friday. The word leaked out only after they left Ojai by automobile for Los Angeles.

Orphan Too Sleepy To See New Parents

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13. (U)—A five-year-old Irish orphan boy who was too sleepy to even see his new parents has a new home today.

Blond Michael Richard arrived by TWA plane last night after a 5,000 mile journey in care of an Eire consular official and a stewardess. Excitement of the journey had worn off and he was sound asleep. He was carried off the plane and smuggled into the arms of Richard I. Johnson, plastering contractor, who with his wife, Kathleen, plan to adopt him. They will live in a new home in the Flintridge section here, where "Mike" will have a swimming pool and a new brother, Timothy, seven.

Jim's comment: "I thought he'd be a little bigger."

Holy Year Robe Is Work Of 1,178 Days

LEGNANO, Italy, (U)—Eight nuns worked a total of 1,178 days to complete a magnificent robe for Pope Pius XII to wear for the Holy Year opening ceremony.

The robe, belonging to the order of Mary Immaculate, work in a convent of Rivarolo, a small village near Turin, in the Canavese region. When the robe was ready it was sent to the Vatican where it is being kept in a plastic wrapping tied with white and yellow ribbons—the Papal colors. The Pontiff is expected to wear it next Christmas Eve for the opening ceremony of the Holy Year.

The designer of the robe is Antonio Santomauro, a tailor famed for his skill in drawing mantles for kings and participants in official ceremonies. He is the director of a school specializing in teaching the art of sewing and embroidery.

Examining Santomauro's designs, Cardinal Fossati expressed the opinion the mantle never could be created as it appeared on paper. Santomauro said he could do it—and did.

The robe is composed of a mantle and a mantelet. The design of the mantle shows a pedastal with a column supporting the world. On the mantelet there is a reproduction of St. Peter's dome.

Several months ago Santomauro was received by the Pope and showed him a model of the mantle. He said that when the Pontiff saw the work he exclaimed: "You have created a type of mantle which though conforming to the traditional pattern, succeeds in transforming the figure of the Pope after a monotony lasting for nearly 12 centuries. With the Pope's approval the nuns of the order of Saint Mary Immaculate started the embroidery work under the supervision of one of Santomauro's nieces, Mother Antonia Pace. The colors were red, yellow and blue. Besides the principal design 108 Papal emblems were embroidered on the hem, 54 on each side.

WILL COVER ALL UNITS Housing Census Is Planned By U. S.

WASHINGTON — A nationwide census of housing will be taken along with the count of population and the agricultural census next April.

A survey of dwelling conditions was made by the Census Bureau in the spring of 1947. Why is another one needed?

The 1947 survey was only a sample census, taken in 33 big cities. The 1950 census will cover all of the country's dwelling units—some 46,000,000 of them, ranging from converted box-cars or abandoned railroad sidings to swank houses and apartments.

Congress authorized the survey in the new housing law to provide detailed information on a locality basis. Houses on farms and in villages will be included as well as city dwelling units.

The most recent detailed locality information now available was obtained in the 1940 census of housing. Tremendous geographic shifts in population during the war years have resulted in outdated much of the 1940 information.

An increase in population of about 18,000,000 and wear and tear on dwellings over 10 years also have changed the housing picture. Another factor is the improvement in the general economic situation since 1940.

The House Committee on Banking and Currency, which handled the 1948 housing act, says the census will be of value to these groups:

1. Federal, state and city authorities and others directly concerned with housing problems.
2. Business and industry, which depend upon housing and home let for their goods and services.
3. Local merchants, who will get a better picture of general sales possibilities in various types of residential areas.

The housing census will be taken by the enumerators who count the population. They will ask questions about the size and condition of dwellings, about plumbing and other facilities, number of occupants, rental values and mortgages.

NAACP Secretary Takes White Wife

NEW DELHI, India, Aug. 13. (AP)—Walter F. White, 56, executive secretary for the National Association for Advancement of Colored People, said today he was married July 8 to Poppy Cannon, New York writer and advertising woman.

The couple flew to Europe after the ceremony in New York to join representatives of U. S. organizations making a world tour sponsored by the radio program "America's Town Meeting of the Air" (ABC).

White said his wife is not Negro. They are collecting material for a book on "The Color Line Around the World" which the couple will write as co-authors, White said.

White was divorced from his first wife, Leah Gladys Powell, whom he married in 1922.

Sunstroke Kills Little Rock Zoo Yak

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 13. (AP)—The Little Rock zoo's only yak—a furry, odd weather animal—died of sunstroke Friday.

Zoo officials said the animal's temperature reached 108 before death. That is the native habitat of the fur-bearing yak.

Maximum temperature in Little Rock Friday was 97 degrees.

Three Yugoslavs Get Walking Papers

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 13. (AP)—The Czechoslovak government disclosed today it has expelled two officials and a secretary of the Yugoslav embassy here. They are accused by the government of "gross interference in internal affairs" and misuse of diplomatic privileges to spread anti-Soviet and anti-Czech propaganda.

Heroes Of Iwo Jima Following Varied Careers 4 Years After

By The Associated Press

Where are the heroes today? The pharmacist's mate who made two trips across 200 feet of fire-swept Iwo Jima terrain to evacuate wounded? The young Marine who hurled himself on a Jap grenade to save three buddies? The first flyer to shoot down 26 Jap planes? These other men who achieved special glory in the Pacific war?

Four years ago today the war ended and these men could begin thinking seriously of peace. Of the girls they would marry, the jobs they would do, the houses they would live in.

How are they doing now? To get some of the answers, The Associated Press drew a group of Congressional Medal of Honor winners from the files of the Navy Department and Marine Corps and traced their careers four years after. Here they are:

Pharmacist's Mate Francis J. Pierce, Jr. It was he who evacuated the wounded under intense fire. Before that, he stood in the open to draw Jap fire away from the bat patrol to a sniper nest and was seriously wounded, but refused aid until others were treated.

Today Pierce lives with his wife and two-year-old daughter in Grand Rapids, Mich., where he has been on the police force for three years. He is now a motorcycle traffic officer, earning $3,280 a year. His war record didn't get him the police job. He obtained it through routine examination and qualifications.

The community raised a cash gift of $1,500 for Pierce a year ago, when his medal was awarded by President Truman in Washington. At public gatherings, on patriotic occasions, he still sits on the platform with two other local Congressional Medal of Honor men and other Grand Rapids notables.

A big day in his life occurred last fall when he shared the platform with Mr. Truman in Grand Rapids.

Pvt. Jacklyn H. Lucas won his medal four days after his 17th birthday. The youngest Marine to be so honored. (He had joined the corps at 14, disguising his age.) He and three other Marines were ambushed by Japs and the enemy started throwing grenades. Lucas jumped on one grenade and pulled another under him, absorbing the explosions in his own body. His action saved the lives of his three comrades.

Miraculously, he recovered and after the war took a job with the Veterans Administration for $3,300 a year. Since then, he has worked in the VA Hospital in Lyons, N. J. He is on a leave of absence from the VA to complete his high school education in Belhaven, N. C.

"Some of my old friends," he says, "don't talk about my medal much any more but the new ones do."

Lucas is single. Ultimately he plans to study law at Duke University. "When I was in service," he notes, "the fellows with good education seemed to get ahead faster."

"I've always been optimistic," he adds, "and never have seen any point in being otherwise."

Pfc Franklin E. Sigler personally destroyed an entire Japanese pillbox crew on Iwo Jima with grenades. Despite heavy fire, he scaled rocks and surprised the enemy with his one-man assault. Though severely wounded, Sigler evacuated three other wounded Marines and returned to the fighting until ordered to retire for medical aid.

Today Sigler is being treated for recurring nervous disorders at the VA Hospital in Lyons, N. J. He spends his week-ends with his wife and three-month old daughter in Little Falls, N. J., where they live with his parents.

His mother, Mrs. George Sigler, reports that her son gave up his first civilian job, as a game warden, after six months because "he was unable to adjust himself to the public."

His next job as a Passaic County court attendant lasted two weeks. After that he was immediately offered a county detective job, from which he is now on leave for further hospital treatment.

Sigler's mother says she has found it very difficult to persuade him to maintain his friendships. "His friends," she says, "are very proud of his medal but they don't make a big commotion about it any more."

Pvt. Luther Skaggs, Jr., won his medal on Guam. A Japanese grenade cost him a leg but despite his critical wounds, he quickly improvised a tourniquet and, while propped up in a foxhole, returned enemy fire for eight hours with his rifle and grenades. Later he crawled alone to the rear to continue the fight until the Japs were annihilated.

Before the war, Skaggs was a power lineman. After the war he worked two and a half years for the VA in Philadelphia as a contact man. He met his wife in a Philadelphia hospital.

Since leaving the VA, Skaggs has lived on his pension. He and his wife share the home of his mother and stepfather in Henderson, Ky., where Skaggs recently turned to politics.

Pharmacist's Mate George E. Wahlen was another Iwo Jima hero. Though painfully wounded and under intense fire, he advanced far forward to evacuate another wounded Marine. Four days later he was wounded again and refused evacuation. He moved forward with his company in a furious assault covering 600 yards. Unable to walk after suffering a third wound, he crawled 50 yards to give first aid to still another fallen Marine.

Today Wahlen is back in the service, this time as an army recruiting sergeant in Ogden, Utah. He likes the job, gets home every day for lunch with his wife and 19 months-old daughter and generally describes himself as a happy family man.

His Army job pays about $340 a month.

"Some friends," Wahlen says, "still refer to my medal, of which I am deeply proud, but generally it has been more or less forgotten."

Perhaps the best known of the medal winners in the Pacific and the most active publicly today is Joseph H. Foss.

Today Joe Foss is still doing well. There is some talk in South Dakota of running him for governor on the Republican ticket next year. Joe already has had a taste of politics and likes it. Last year he was elected state representative from Minnehaha County.

Siamese Princes Vexed By 'Anna And King Of Siam'

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Two scholarly Siamese princes are trying to clear the name of Mongkut—the "King" of Margaret Landon's "Ann and the King of Siam"—before the world.

They are Seni Pramoj, Siam's wartime minister to the United States, and Kukrit Pramoj, former cabinet minister. Both are titled Momrajawongse, which means a prince four generations removed from the kingship.

Like most of the usually-placid Siamese, the brothers were outraged at Mrs. Landon's picture of their revered late king and the movie made from her book. They insist Mongkut was not a tyrant, but a magnanimous ruler.

They especially resent the insinuation that he made a "play" how-ever slight, for the puritanic Anna Leonowens, the widowed English schoolmarm imported for the children of his harem.

The brothers have written a study in English, of Mongkut and his times (the mid-19th century) based primarily on the king's own letters and proclamations. They hope to publish "The King of Siam Speaks" in Great Britain and North America.

"We are ashamed that millions of people are getting an unfavorable impression of Siam," said Kukrit (all Siamese are referred to only by their first names), whose wife is a great-granddaughter of Mongkut.

"We thought Anna unfair, inaccurate and untrue to the spirit of Siam. Wouldn't you feel the same if you came upon a foreigner's book which said that Abraham Lincoln had burned his wife with the stake?"

There is no evidence to show that Mongkut burned to death a beautiful harem inmate named Tup Tin, as "Ann" records, Kukrit declared.

The writers cite from the records instances of the king's releasing women from the harem on request. But in letters to friends, he often criticized them. One the king wrote, "was much feared in the Palace for her dangerous eyes and ears." Another "was possessed of doubtful beauty."

While most of the documents are translated from Siamese, some are left just as Mongkut wrote them in self-taught English to foreign friends. One document reads: "Notification—His Majesty's Advice on the Inelegance of Throwing Dead Animals into Waterways, the Construction of Fireplaces, and the Manipulation of Window Wedges."

About Anna the writers found, among the king's papers—in a letter to a representative abroad—only these remarks.

"Mems Leonowens, the governess of the Royal Children, is becoming very naughty indeed. She meddles in his Majesty's affairs, and has shown herself to be very audacious."

Memo to Plymouth Salesmen

Value-wise buying gives you a big edge-

You sell the car that likes to be compared!

Value is first and foremost in the minds of those who are buying new cars today. This gives the Plymouth salesman a big edge . . . for you sell the great value car in the low-priced field.

You can prove Plymouth value by comparison—feature for feature. As you know, among the three leading low-priced cars, Plymouth has the longest wheelbase for greater riding comfort—the highest compression ratio for greater engine performance and economy. In fact, of 22 quality features found in high-priced cars, Plymouth has 21—low-priced car "A" has 13—low-priced car "B" has only 4!

Yes, you can prove Plymouth value where it counts the most—by actual demonstration on the road. Get the value-wise buyers to drive "all three" and compare. The new Plymouth will do the rest!

School Aid Dispute Settled, Says Pope

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, Aug. 13. (AP)—Pope Pius XII said Saturday he believes the controversy between Francis Cardinal Spellman and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt over the question of federal aid to Catholic schools has been resolved satisfactorily.

The pontiff expressed this opinion in a special audience given five American newspaper correspondents at his summer residence here. The Pope, answering a direct question, first replied that the matter was too delicate for comment.

Then he added he had seen the exchange of letters between the New York archbishop and Mrs. Roosevelt in a Rome newspaper and that, from them, he thought the controversy was resolved satisfactorily.

The controversy concerned the Bardeen bill in Congress, which would provide $300 million federal aid to public schools. The cardinal called it anti-Catholic because, as introduced by Rep. Bardeen, it excluded private and Catholic parochial schools from assistance for health and transportation services.

He said in a statement July 22 that Mrs. Roosevelt had supported this idea in one of her newspaper columns and thereby shown an attitude of discrimination "unworthy of an American mother."

Mrs. Roosevelt replied the next day that she felt "the final judgment of the worthiness of all human beings is in the hands of God." She declared she had "no anti-Roman Catholic bias," but would stick to her belief in the principle of church-state separation.

Basement Sacrificed To Save Two Puppies

CHICAGO, Aug. 13. (AP)—James Liguori lost part of his basement Saturday. But one of his two puppies was alive, thanks to 12 hours of hard work by police, firemen, the Animal Welfare League, and the city's sewer department.

Liguori went down to the basement Friday night when his mongrel dog, Queenie, began barking. He found her trying frantically to get into a sewer hole.

Peering down, Liguori could see nothing. But he heard

Queenie's two puppies whining. They had fallen 12 feet into the sewer.

Liguori called for help. The city responded. As a dozen rescue workers dug one hole in the basement and another outside, hundreds of persons attending a nearby carnival gathered to watch.

The men worked all night, dug down seven feet. Then they carved a tunnel to the sewer, pushed a long stick through, and shoved the puppies to the surface.

One was dead. The other was taken to the Welfare League for observation.

Liguori said Saturday: "The basement is a mess. I don't know what I'm going to do about it."

Meanwhile Queenie refused to leave the sewer hole. She is standing guard, apparently not realizing that the pups have been removed.

New Steel May Reduce Cost Of Television Sets

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 14. (AP)—A leading steel producer announced Saturday development of a new type steel which may reduce the cost of television sets.

The new steel-lalled teletel—will be used to make the cone section of television picture tubes. It was developed for the television industry by the Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corp. after two years of research.

Russell M. Allen, Allegheny Ludlum vice president in charge of sales, said teletel "will permit metal-glass picture receiver tubes to be produced at substantially lower prices." Just how much is not known.

The picture tube is the heart of any television set. In the tube a stream of electrons is directed through a vacuum onto a phosphorescent glass screen, creating a picture by building up light and dark areas.

Allen declared picture tubes made of glass welded teletel offer many advantages over present all glass tubes and are essential for large screen tubes.

Allen said teletel is a steel alloy—a combination of steel and other materials—but declared its formula is a trade secret. It is being marketed as a television receiver tube cone material and not as a regular high alloy steel to a detailed metallurgical analysis.

Bruised In Collision

H. R. Smith of Franklin suffered bruises in a car collision Thursday at W. 2nd and Gregg streets. Mrs. Beryl Richardson of Big Spring was driver of the other vehicle involved in the mishap. Riding with her were Sylvia and Gail Richardson. None were injured seriously, police said. Smith is representative of the National Research, an advertising service.

Ecuador Quake Toll Is 6,000

QUITO, Ecuador, Aug. 13. (AP)—President Galo Plaza Lasso says latest reports on Ecuador's Aug. 5 earthquake have boosted the estimated property damage to $67,500,000 and the number of dead to more than 6,000.

The president said it is not possible to fix the exact number of casualties, but that all calculations including that of a U. S. relief mission, "tend to raise the (previously estimated) 4,000 figure to more than 6,000."

"We are able to determine that the earthquake directly affected 280,000 Ecuadorians," the president said, "and that its major intensity was in the Pailon Quero zone at 2:10 p. m. (EST) Aug. 5."

More than 100,000 persons were left homeless by the disaster, the president said.

The president paid tribute to the generosity he said the western hemisphere had shown in coming to Ecuador's aid.

Greenland Dogs Inspire Warning

COPENHAGEN—(AP)—The Greenland commission of the Danish parliament, which will visit Greenland this summer, has been warned not to go there unarmed.

An official announcement called on the members to take big wooden clubs with them. The authorities are not afraid of hostile Greenlanders, but of wild dogs in the northernmost settlements.

Cliff dwelling in New Mexico were inhabited by Indians until about 350 years ago.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING Set Air Service Hearing Aug. 29

Notice has been given by the Civil Aeronautics board of hearing for Abilene and Big Spring, cities protesting American Airlines application to suspend operations at those points. Date for the hearing was set for Aug. 29, the CAB announced Saturday. Exhibits are due by Aug. 22. The chamber of commerce is due to send a representative to Washington, D. C. for the hearing. When American sought to inject the request in general hearings at Austin recently, Big Spring and Abilene protested successfully.

Traffic was on a big boom at the Munny port last week. Jack Cook, Munny manager, estimated the volume had about doubled. Contributing to the increase was a flight of some two score Navy F6Fs, enroute for overhaul. All phases of operations, however, were up.

Cupid has been flapping his wings over the airline terminal building, Guy H. Gray, Jr., 910 Scurry, weather bureau staffer, is to be married to Margaret Colson at Northwest Baptist church in Oklahoma City on Aug. 30. He leaves here Wednesday and will return Aug. 25 with his bride to be at home at 1110 Main. Ralph Ogden, another weather bureau observer, is to be married Aug. 21 to Mrs. Lucile Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. John of Abilene. Then on Aug. 26, Jim Christie, Pioneer Airline representative, will be married here to Norma Lou Rose.

Progress on the Munny terminal building is more than one-third toward completion. Steel is down and floors will be poured Monday.

Plans of the Farm Air Service have been busy as bees the past week. Friday the fleet put out between 5,000 and 9,000 pounds of dust. The Saturday total was about the same. Currently, Bill Edwards and aides are covering about 1,000 acres per day in the fight against bollworms.

City Housing Lack Delays Completion Of School Faculty

Prospect of completing the faculty for Big Spring schools within the next fortnight is good. W. C. Blankenship, superintendent, said that housing is one of the greatest difficulties in the way of rounding out the faculty.

Within the past two weeks half a dozen qualified instructors, who had tentatively accepted places, withdrew because of inability to find suitable quarters, he said.

"We realize that every business and institution has its problems in this respect," Blankenship observed, "but patrons who have suitable rooms, apartments or houses could be of great service to the schools by notifying the office if they have or expect to have listings."

Any information to this effect would be communicated to staff members if it is called to the administrative office at telephone 1200, according to the superintendent.

Blankenship said prospects were good for filling the remaining dozen places in the teaching staff. A number of applications are on file and are being checked.

Two Burglaries Reported In City

Burglars struck twice on the north side Friday, police reported.

Four batteries, valued at $2.50 each, were taken from John Pryor at 701 N. Main street. Pryor also stole $20 from Paul Payne, 911 N. Scurry street.

Pryor reported that 25 other batteries had been stolen from his place last Sunday.

McKinnon Hurt In Car Mishap

Don McKinnon, 27, suffered painful injuries when his car went out of control and turned over about five miles southwest of Big Spring late Friday.

McKinnon, who was carried to Big Spring Hospital in an Eberley ambulance, remained unconscious for several hours. He suffered a severe concussion, but no bones were broken, his doctor said. The doctor said the victim's chances of recovery were considered good.

McKinnon was travelling on a rural road northwest of the city when the mishap occurred at about 6:30 p. m. Friday.

City Firemen Make Run Into Country

Big Spring firemen were called eight miles into the country Friday to battle a grass fire.

Approximately 300 acres of grassland were burned on the Kent Morgan ranch southeast of town, firemen said. Oil field workers in the area brought the fire under control before Big Spring fire fighters could rush to the scene.

The prairie fire was started by a blaze in a trash can, firemen reported.

THEY'LL KEEP THEIR HEADS OUT OF CLOUDS FOR WHILE AFTER THIS

EASTON, Md., Aug. 13. (AP)—You can hardly blame Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Dunham if they've decided to keep their heads out of the clouds for a while.

Householder Gets Unexpected Shock

PLYMOUTH, England, Aug. 13. (AP)—E. R. Hyatt stuck the key in the door of his new metal house and when he was jolted off the stoop. He picked himself up and tried a shower of sparks. He peered into the kitchen and steam was pouring from a cold water faucet.

"Stand back!" he warned his wife and children. "This calls for an expert." The local housing authority repair man disconnected the power line and inspected the place. He found a bare wire rubbing against the frame of the metal house, which should have been blown a fuse, he said, but didn't because a clip holding the ground wire had worked loose. The Hyatts decided to go to a hotel for a few days.

On a little flight from Baltimore to Richmond Friday they ran into some trouble and Dunham crash landed their light plane near Smithfield, Va. The couple suffered minor cuts and bruises.

Word of the accident was sent to their hometown, Easton, Md., and Bill Newman, manager of the airport there, flew down and picked them up.

On the way home lightning struck the rescue plane, tearing a hole in its wing, Newman and the Dunhams reported to state police. They had some uneasy moments before Newman brought the ship down on a farm near Cambridge, Md., about 15 miles from Easton. Nobody was hurt.

They added that they made the rest of the trip without mishap—by automobile.

Vatican Hits Reds

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 13. (AP)—A Vatican source said Saturday militant Communists may not serve as godfathers at Roman Catholic baptismal services under the July communication.

U. S. Employes May Have To Whistle For Pay

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13. (AP)—Congress gets a reminder Monday that its historic logjam over appropriations to run the government remains unbroken.

The reminder will be the third request in two months for passage of an emergency measure to pay hundreds of employes and keep the big agencies running normally.

This time congressional leaders will ask stop-gap financing until probably the end of August. Already the delayed appropriations are a month and a half late. The Senate is the offender. The House passed all the regular money bills months ago.

Caught in a money-bill log jam when the present fiscal year started July 1, Congress first passed a one-month emergency measure to keep the unfunded agencies rolling that their normal rate for one month.

But when July ended, several big appropriation bills still were kicking around on Capitol Hill, so another "emergency" bill had to be passed. The second "stop-gap" resolution continued normal financing until Aug. 15.

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the House Appropriations Committee said "it's unprecedented. Never before have we had such a situation."

Still to be passed by the Senate are the big Army-Navy-Air Force appropriation bill and the Interior Department bill.

Still in Senate-House conference because of Senate changes in House bills are the annual money measure for foreign aid including the Economic Co-Operation Administration and the Army's engineers, the latter known as the civil functions bill.

The foreign aid bill was passed only this week. The huge independent offices bill emerged from conference Friday and might clear both the Senate and House Monday in time for the score of miscellaneous agencies if finances get their regular funds.

The special events committee of the Centennial Association has scheduled meetings for both Monday and Tuesday. Members of that committee plan to assemble at 8 p. m. each evening.

Atom Bomb Rock Deposits Found

ROLLA, Mo., Aug. 13. (AP)—Discovery of two deposits of radioactive (A-bomb) rock in North Central Arkansas was reported Friday.

One deposit was announced by Frank Thomas, a private mining engineer. The second was confirmed by Leon Dupuy, an official of the U. S. Bureau of Mines.

Thomas said a small quantity of an unidentified radioactive ore was found this week in the Ozark Mountain county near Hartsville, Ark. A sample was sent to the U. S. Bureau of Mines at Rolla for tests.

Dupuy was reluctant to talk but he disclosed the other find was made about two months ago.

"We were looking for other minerals when we hit one we couldn't identify," Dupuy said. "A geiger counter pointed out the stuff."

Mann Sees German Nationalism Revival

NEW YORK, Aug. 13. (AP)—A danger of the revival of militaristic nationalism in Germany is seen by Dr. Thomas Mann, just back from a three-month trip to Europe.

The Nobel Prize-winning novelist said on his arrival here by ship Friday that most Germans are complaining that they were better off under the Nazi regime.

Jailers Find $7,400 In Lothario's Shorts

CHICAGO, Aug. 13. (AP)—Jailers ripped $7,400 out of Signurd Engel's shorts Friday but it did not subtract much from the biggest current mystery at the Cook County klink.

Ever since the 73-year-old Lothario was arrested June 23 on charges of swindling widows whose love he courted, jailers have wondered about his apparent bottomless source of ready cash. He seems to be constantly in violation of jail rules in that respect.

A week ago, for instance, jailers said they found $35 in his possession. Jail rules limit prisoners to a maximum of $5. Again last Thursday, John Donnelly, assistant superintendent of the jail, said he found $134.70 in Engel's possession.

Donnelly decided Friday to have an even more thorough look. He ordered the prisoner stripped and his clothes examined. The seams on Engel's underwear seemed a bit bulky and were ripped open. Out came $7,400 bills.

The jailers were shocked, but not more so than Engel. The jail physician prescribed a sedative and ordered him removed to the hospital.

Donnelly quoted Engel as saying that the money had been in the shorts ever since he was taken to jail. All during his confinement, Engel has been washing his own shorts, Donnelly said.

Engel has been charged in two indictments with operating a confidence game in the alleged swindling of two Chicago widows out of about $20,000 after fast-developing romances.

At the time of his arrest, Engel was quoted by police as saying that he had fleeced women out of millions of dollars over a 20-year period, but stoutly insisted that he had done nothing wrong.

Death Plot Foiled

TRIESTE, FREE TERRITORY, Aug. 13. (AP)—The Italian news agency Ansa reports Jugoslav police last month foiled a plot of pro-Communist Communists to assassinate Premier Marshal Tito.

Khan Bandit Sought

CANNES, France, Aug. 13. (AP)—Police said today they are seeking a man in Switzerland they identified as a leader of the four bandits who recently robbed the Aga Khan and his wife of $200,000 in jewelry.

Levelland Man To Head Press Of West Texas

BROWNWOOD, Aug. 13. (AP)—Forest Weimhold, publisher of the Hockley County Herald at Levelland, was elected president of the West Texas Press Association Saturday.

He was elevated from first vice-president to the top place at the concluding session of the two-day annual convention. Weimhold succeeded Wendell Bedichek of Abilene.

Other officers named were Roy M. Craig, Stamford, first vice president; Jim Allison, Midland second vice president; and Mrs. Charles (Maud) Green, Kermit, re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Three new directors were elected. They were L. B. Smith, Brady, Ross Woodson, Lamesa, and J. Marvin Hunter, Baird. Holdover directors are George Baker, Fort Stockton, W. W. Gaines, Del Rio, and Allen Hodges, Littlefield.

The Graham Leader was judged the best community service program contest winner and also as the best weekly in towns over 2,300. The Bronie Enterprise was named the best weekly under 2,300.

Directors will select the 1950 convention city later.

Water and school problems highlighted discussions Saturday. Max Bentley of Abilene, activities manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, said the WCC will ask in a special report for presentation to Congress that federal water legislation be amended to give water for domestic purposes number one priority. Flood control is now first. The WTCC will recommend domestic water first, irrigation second, flood control third, navigation fourth, and hydroelectric power fifth, Bentley said.

Joe Humphrey of Abilene, president of the Texas State Teachers Association, warned against the election of Gilmer-Aikin opponents to the new state board of education, saying it would be a threat to sabotage and defeat the program before a fair chance to prove its worth.

"Elect the most able men in your district to this board, as the success or failure of the program depends upon the type of men selected by the voters," Humphrey said. He declared the program already has eliminated 1,500 dormant school districts and that the remaining approximately 2,800 can and will be additionally reduced.

Centennial, C-C Groups To Meet Here During Week

A brisk schedule of meetings for Centennial Association and chamber of commerce groups is in prospect this week.

Monday will be a busy day, with no less than four meetings scheduled in the Settles. The Centennial Association underwriters committee will meet with directors of the organization at 3:30 p. m., while at 7 p. m. the agriculture committee of the chamber of commerce will be convened. Chamber directors will conduct their regular meeting at 8 p. m. on the same date.

The special events committee of the Centennial Association has scheduled meetings for both Monday and Tuesday. Members of that committee plan to assemble at 8 p. m. each evening.

County Sheriff's Posse Organizing New Parade Unit

The Howard County Sheriff's Posse is organizing a special parade unit that will be available for participation in public events of the area, it was announced Saturday.

A special committee was named Friday night to organize the unit. Members of the parade group will outfit themselves in tailored uniforms, keep horses available, and as often as possible, respond to calls for parade duty.

Although the immediate principal objective is to provide a parade unit for centennial activities here, the group will be available at all future local parades and rodeos, as well as similar events in other West Texas cities and towns.

Members of the organization committee are H. W. Wright, Dee Davis, D. D. Douglass, Dick Fitzgerald and Simon Terrazas. Others who have already joined the unit are E. L. Tollett, Freddie Watt, G. L. Wilbanks, C. E. Blomsheld, Joe E. Smith, H. P. Wooten, Dale Douglass, R. L. Wolf, D. L. Knight, Roy Carter, L. I. Stewart.

Membership in the parade unit is restricted to members of the posse organization.

THE BUICK SPECIAL 3-PASSENGER COUPE (Model 46) does double duty as a business car and a car for the small family.

Come see this Stunning New Buick SPECIAL—big in room, big in valve-in-head straight-8 power, easy to manage in size and price

YES, we know it looks like a lot more money.

That stunning new front end—those graceful, tapering fenders—those bigger interiors and high-visibility windows add up to a car you'd expect to wear a pretty fancy price tag.

But come in and see for yourself how right we were when we said this new beauty was priced right down your alley.

Come try the comfort-patterned seats, handle this easily managed wheel, lift the hood and see the bonnet-filling valve-in-head straight-eight power plant you command, measure the shorter bumper-to-bumper length.

Then do a little hard-boiled matching-up of price tags.

In particular—compare this beauty with the mass—and ask yourself why you should pay for straight-eight power and not get it.

You have, remember, three smart body types to choose from—the tidy, three-passenger Coupe shown here, a neat 2-door, six-passenger Sedan and a smart 4-door Sedan with the roomiest interiors ever found in a Buick SPECIAL.

They're going fast, as you might expect. Getting a firm order in is a smart move just to insure early delivery.

How about dropping in—the first minute you can?

TEN-STRIKE! Only Buick SPECIAL has all these Features!

- Traffic-Handy Steer • More Room for the Money • Dynaflow Drive optional at extra cost • Jet-Line Styling • Non-Locking Bumper-Guard Grilles • High-Pressure Fireball Straight-Eight Engines • Coil Springing all around • Low-Pressure Tires on Safety-Ride Rims • Greater Visibility fars and aft • Self-Locking Luggage Lids • Steady-Riding Torque-Tube Drive • Three Smart Models with Body-by-Flashes

Germans To Elect Parliament Today

FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 13 (AP)—A German election campaign spiced with violence and anti-ally oratory ended Saturday night with a solar radio appeal from all parties for a vote for freedom.

Sunday the 45-million inhabitants will choose a 400-member parliament to set up their new West German republic. It will be the first federal election since Hitler seized power.

With numerous parties in the race and a total of more than 2,000 candidates, forecast were that no party will win a majority and it will take a coalition of two or more parties to form the cabinet.

Record Diving Try Postponed By Rough Seas

SMUGGLER'S COVE, Calif., Aug. 13 (AP)—Rough seas Saturday postponed marine explorer Otis Barton's attempt to descend in a diving bell to a depth of 6,000 feet below the surface of the ocean.

"I want calm weather above everything," Barton told newsmen. "The greatest danger we could encounter would be the parting of the cable in rough seas."

The diving bell, a hollow steel ball about five feet in diameter, is raised and lowered on a five-eighths inch steel cable from a crane on a barge.

Barton said there was also need for further testing of mechanical equipment. It was not learned immediately what equipment was at fault.

The expedition will be ready between 7 and 8 a. m. Sunday, weather permitting for Barton's descent.

In the first test Saturday 5,800 feet of cable was run off the reel. Engineers said this stretched 200 feet, so the big steel ball was down 6,000 feet.

On a second test, a depth of 6,000 feet was recorded on instruments. Automatic electric cameras were aboard this time.

Barton and naturalist William Beebe hold the current deep sea diving record and lowered a five-eighths inch steel cable from a crane on a barge.

Barton said there was also need for further testing of mechanical equipment. It was not learned immediately what equipment was at fault.

The project is sponsored by the University of Southern California's Allan Hancock Foundation for Scientific Research.

Hoover Rallies, Plays Gin Rummy

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 13 (AP)—Herbert Hoover's gall-bladder attack aboard an eastbound passenger train Saturday didn't impair his skill at gin rummy. When the train stopped here the former President had won $120 and felt good enough to smile about it.

Hoover was stricken earlier in the day, but rallied after receiving emergency treatment.

His secretary, Bernice Miller, said when the train stopped here: "The boss is feeling fine."

Doctor F. E. Magrath of Cheyenne boarded the train at Hoover's request. Magrath pronounced his condition as "nothing to be worried about."

Hoover is en route to New York after celebrating his 75th birthday at a public reception at Stanford University, Palo Alto, Calif., Wednesday.

Rivera To Divorce 'Adored' Fifth Wife

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 13 (AP)—Diego Rivera, Mexico's left wing painter, said Saturday he and his fifth wife will be divorced. He asserted he "adores" her.

Rivera, 62, said he would give his studio house and other property to his present wife, Frida Kahlo, 39, also an artist. Rivera will retain an Indian temple he is building and which he proposes to give to the Mexican people.

Rivera and Kahlo were married in 1929, separated for two years in 1939, and reunited in 1941.

The artist said he "adores" his wife but will leave her because he thinks his presence is bad for her health.

G. W. Tillerson Named Six-Man Coaches Prexy

Succeeds John Prude, Ft. Davis

George W. Tillerson of Sterling, Tex., was named president of the Texas Six-Man Football Coaches association, which closed its third annual session here Saturday.

Tillerson steps up to the post from the office of vice-president, a job which will be taken over by Hubert Parks of Tarkington. The Sterling man succeeds John Prude of Fort Davis, who was the organization's first chief executive.

Other officers selected at Saturday's business party were George Abernathy of Blanco, secretary; and I. L. Whitfield, Laz-Buddy, treasurer.

Two coaches from each region within the state were also named to the board of directors. A special committee was also appointed to decide the site of the 1950 school.

Fifty-five coaches and school men from throughout the state registered for the three-day "clinic," which offered Don C. Burton of West Liberty, Ky., as its chief instructor.

Registering were: T. M. Dunn, New Caney; Ralph Trice, Roaring Springs; Steven L. Self, Three Way; John B. Wallace, McLeod; Roy Tomlinson, Novice; J. C. Touches, High Island; William F. Wallace, Sierra Blanca; G. M. Wagoner, Jr., Pettie; Joe Davis, O'Brien; Ralph Marshall, Patton Springs; G. W. Tillerson, Sterling City; G. O. Lala, Skidmore; L. B. Owen, Buda; and G. E. Abernathy, Blanco.

Also, B. F. Kirk, Christoval; H. L. Gardner, Rocksprings; J. L. Hughes, Poyote; B. V. Dove, San Angelo; W. H. Ford, Quinlan; J. B. Scribner, Mertzon; Cagle Hunt, Mertzon; G. C. Fitzgerald, Rankin; Hamilton Still, Rankin; H. L. Romans, Cedar Hill; John G. Prude, Fort Davis; and Ray V. Stark, Lawn.

Also Bob Honeycutt, Foran; J. L. Whitfield, Laz-Buddy; Rhea Williams, Austin; Bill Bartley, Mozelle; Bud Wheeler, Grandfalls; C. W. Drake, Bulla; C. L. Mullins, Water Valley; A. C. Tetter, Darrouzett; Frank R. Craig, Miami; H. D. Smith, Marathon; Weldon Moody, Kyle; Tom Martin, Hamshire; Howard Sawyer, Eola; Hubert Parks, Tarkington; A. J. Sales, Wilson; F. F. West Trounces East, 27-8, At Forsan

FORSAN, Aug. 13.—Led by Dapper Dan Fairchild of Forsan, and Joe Burchard, Van Horn, the West overcame the East, 27-8, in the second annual Six-Man Football All-Star game played before an estimated 1,000 fans here Saturday night.

Fairchild threw two touchdown passes, as the Westerners, coached by Frank Honeycutt of Forsan, showed a marked superiority both on the ground and in the air. Burchard was a tower of strength on defense.

The East averted a shutout when Herman Smith of O'Brien tunneled over from about the three-yard line late in the final period. R. E. Adams, Mozelle, then booted the ball through the uprights for another two points.

The West tallied in the first quarter when Nino Lujan, Grandfalls, grabbed a 20-yard aerial from Fairchild and galloped another ten yards to paydirt.

That proved all the scoring until the third period, when the West tallied two TD's. Fairchild heaved an aerial to Eleton Prater, Forsan, for 25 yards and the second score while Marie Bengo, Miami, arched one 10 to Prater for the second one from 25 yards out to account for the third one.

Burchard made the extra point following Prater's first score on a pass from Fairchild.

Jack Turner, Mertzon, cruised eight yards for the West's fourth six-pointer early in the fourth, after which Lujan sliced the uprights with a boot that made it 27-0.

The East moved deep into the enemy's territory twice before pushing the ball across, losing the playbacks on a fumble.

Honeycutt's team was driving toward pay dirt again when the game ended.

Smith was one of the outstanding backs on the field while Paul Page of Tarkington and R. E. Adams of Medina also played good games for the East.

Score by periods: 6 0 13 8—27
WEST 6 0 13 8—27
EAST 0 0 0 8—8

Starting Lineups:
WEST — Pendergraft (Darrouzett), and Price (Pyote), ends; Lujan (Grandfalls), center; Fairchild (Forsan), Prater (Forsan) Burchard (Van Horn), backs.
EAST — Tullis (Splendora), and Willis (Knox City), ends; Hudgins (Mozelle), center; and Hicks (High Island), Smith (O'Brien), and Adams (Medina), backs.
Substitutes:
WEST — Smiley (Koraring Springs), Bengo (Miami), Ivey (Fettis), Parker (Forsan), Baker (Sterling City), and Turner (Mertzon).
EAST — Bednarz (Wilson), Page (Tarkington), Atchley (Novice).

Angelo Colts Here Monday

Locals Expect To Face Shelton In First Game

The Angelo's Colts, who comprise the nearest thing to a nemesis the Big Spring Broncos have encountered this season, are due to drop anchor in Steer park Monday night to open a two-game series.

The Angelenos, holding dear life to a first division berth in the Longhorn league standings, will be making their bid to clinch a play-off spot during the next few days.

They have been tough customers for Pat Stasey's Cayuses all season, and they are expected to lead with their best punches in the two-game set here.

The locals are expecting to find R. L. Shelton, the Foran fork-handed wizard, facing them from the mound Monday night.

Shelton owns a 5-2 win and lost record, an accomplishment he has gained principally by concentrating upon the Broncos. The locals have not been able to pin a defeat on Shelton this season.

The Hooses will hit the road after Tuesday night's game for an eight-day excursion, visiting Rowell, San Angelo and Ballinger, in that order.

MIDLAND, August 13 — Julio Ramos sparked two Big Spring rallies while bewildering Midland batters with his lefthanded slants from the mound to gain his 20th pitching victory of the season here Saturday night as the Broncos tamed the Indians, 5-1.

In winning the Broncos eliminated the Sweetwater Swatters from mathematical consideration for the pennant. The Swatters, who lost to Ballinger, 7-5, Saturday night, are now 2 1/2 games behind the Hooses, with only 21 games remaining on the schedule.

Ramos, who has tasted defeat only three times this season, fanned eight Midland batters, running his strikeout total to 243, only six short of the record set two years ago by LeRoy Jones of Sweetwater.

The Broncos took the lead in the third when Ramos poled a triple to start a two-run rally. Felix Gomez, George Lopez and Pat Stasey followed with successive singles.

The Indians had gained a temporary lead in the second inning when Julian Presley doubled and then came home on Gus Pena's single. Ramos proceeded to issue a string of goose eggs after that mild threat.

The Broncos added three more for

Steers Report For Equipment Monday At 7

Equipment will be issued at 7 a. m. Monday to members of the Big Spring high school football squad, which will begin practice immediately for their first game of the 1949 campaign, which takes place in Plainview four weeks from next Friday night.

Carl Coleman, newly elected head coach of the Steers, will greet his boys officially for the first time. Also new to the local staff is Bert Brewer, formerly of Goldthwaite, who will help Coleman coach the backfield.

Wayne Bonner, Earl Crawford and Conn Isaacs are other assistant coaches who will be on hand.

Seven returning lettermen will form the nucleus of the '49 Steer brigade. In addition several promising freshman graduates in eligible a year ago, will make up the squad.

The Longhorns will hold two-day workouts at Steer stadium until school gets underway. Coleman said he was planning to hold as many night sessions as possible, because it would be cooler at that time.

The boys will get their equipment at the dressing rooms.

Montgomery Wins In Net Tourney

Local tennis players broke even in matches of the Abilene Invitational net tournament played in that city Friday.

Jerry Houser was ousted from Junior Singles play by Jerry Good, Abilene, 6-0, 6-1, but Bill Montgomery, Big Spring, mastered Jerry Cadelle, Abilene, 6-1, 6-4, in the same bracket.

READY — Rocky Graziano, now back in the good graces of the boxing world, defends his title against Charles (Chuck) Fusari Sept. 14 in the Polo Grounds, New York.

Walcott To Spot His Foe 15 Pounds

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 13. (AP)—Jersey Joe Walcott of Camden, N. J., will give away 15 pounds in his 12-round heavyweight fight with Olle Tandberg, the Swedish champion, here tomorrow night.

The American weighed 194 pounds tonight while Tandberg scaled 209. They met for the first time at the weighing-in ceremonies held before 10,000 spectators at the World Sport Fair.

A crowd of 43,000—largest ever to see a sporting event in Scandinavia—is expected to jam the Rasunda Soccer Stadium, Sweden's biggest outdoor arena, for the fight.

Robertson To Build Team Around 9 Vets

Bulldogs Open Drills Monday

COAHOMA, Aug. 13.—Coach Ed Robertson will issue equipment at the Coahoma high school field house Monday morning to approximately 45 candidates for the 1949 Bulldogs eleven.

Included in the turnout will be nine starters from last year's aggregation.

Back from last fall's contingent are Red Dickson, 190-pound left tackle; Maurice Duncan, 190, left guard; Jimmy Minchew, 195, right tackle; Paul Van Sheady, 165, right end; R. J. Echols, 135-pound quarterback who played half in 1948; Wendell Shive, 170, who is being moved from right to left half back; Bobby Catey, 130, who is changing places with Shive; and mammoth Jackie Wolf, 220, at fullback.

Wolf lettered at center in '48 but Robertson decided to switch him into the secondary because of his weight.

The fight for the pivot position will be between Bill Bennett, 170 a senior; Bill Brooks, 150, a sophomore; and Don Shuffield, 165 pound freshman.

Johnny Bob Turner is almost certain to win the right guard post. If he continues to develop, he will weigh 180 or better, and he's only a freshman.

Shive was the team's leading scorer in 1948 with 75 points.

Other lettermen who will report include Rodney Cramer, 185-pound guard; and Jimmy Knight, 140-pound back. Johnny Dorsey, still another letterman-tackle, is reported moving to Big Spring along with his brother, Bill Dorsey, a freshman lineman.

Edgar Vinson, a 165-pound back who failed to letter last year only because he failed to practice enough, is another counted heavily upon by Robertson.

Others due to report, listed along with their weights and positions, are Randall Thompson, 210, tackle, a junior; Alvin Thimes, 110, junior end; Mel Tindol, 110, junior back; Clay Vinson, 120, sophomore back; Gerry Hoover, 160, freshman tackle; Lynwood Watts, 155, freshman end; Myron Lee Self, 150, guard; Douglas Bales, 130, back; Tommy Birkhead, 115, quarterback; Billy Read, 135, back; Elvon DeVane, 145, sophomore back; Clinton Jenkins, 130, lineman; and Bobby Gene Baker, 140, sophomore guard.

Robertson said Bales would play a lot because he was the fastest boy in camp. Read will also see action because he can pass accurately.

Cullen Cranfill, who graduated from ACC in the spring of 1949, has been named assistant coach to Robertson. He will also coach girls' basketball and teach history.

The Bulldogs will compete in District 8-B this season.

Their schedule:

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

When Carlos Pascual parked his 17th home run in Wednesday night's game with Odessa here, he pushed his total one past the aggregate of the Big Spring club's 1948 leader in that respect. . . . Ace Mendez paced last year's Broncs with 16. . . . Mendez was the only local player who had ten or more. . . . Pat Stasey was next in line with nine in his credit. . . . Pascual is ahead in the poll to decide the most popular player on the Big Spring team, incidentally. . . . Ray Vasquez is offering competition, however. . . . Bob Huntley, the Vernon skipper, said The Hot Potato had as good a throwing arm as he'd ever seen, making that remark Tuesday night after Pascual had sprinted some ten feet back of third to snare a line drive hit by Wayne Moon, then straightening to throw out the runner. . . . Fence riders (not the kind popularized in Western song) are giving the bosses of the local club headaches. . . . They've damaged the upright until it is threatening to collapse. . . . The crowds at local games have slumped and the Bronc front office can't account for it, since the Hoses are practically invincible. . . . In 35 games in the local park, the Steeds have dropped only eight decisions and have not lost a series. . . . WT-NM league playoffs will get underway Sept. 7 or 8, or some six days before the Longhorn Shagnessy round.

25,000 Boys Begin Football Drills Monday

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
SPORTS EDITOR
The Texas schoolboy football leagues begin the long march Monday.

From Panhandle to Gulf and from El Paso to the Piney Woods, high school gridders numbering some 25,000 will hit the autumn trail that will end with state championships in December.

The greatest field in Texas interscholastic League history — more than 860 schools—is due to roll out the pigskins and sweat in the molehills.

Three state titles will be on the line—the City Conference, with its 26 schools, Class AA with 84 and Class A with 228.

Class B and six-man football go only to regional titles.

This is the last year for starting fall practice Aug. 15. Next year spring training will return and the schools will open fall practice Sept. 1.

Favorites are scarce in all divisions as the campaign nears.

Jeff Davis of Houston is mentioned strongly in the City Conference but Arlington Heights (Fort Worth), the defending champion, is due to return strong.

In Class AA, Odessa, Lubbock, Abilene, San Angelo, Gainesville, Marshall, Texarkana, Temple, Waco, Orange, Port Arthur and Austin are the top rated outfits. Waco, the defending champion may find Temple too tough in its own district.

In Class A, Monahan's, the 1948 winner, will be back with a good team but is not rated anywhere near as strong as last year. New Braunfels, a 1948 finalist, looks good again.

Jack Wilson Hurt In Traffic Mishap

WACO, Aug. 13. (AP)—Jack Wilson, former Baylor athletic great and member of the coaching staff, is in a Waco hospital recovering from injuries received when struck by an automobile in front of the Baylor Gymnasium yesterday afternoon.

Fifty stitches were taken in Wilson's left arm, and a blood transfusion was given him last night. He is expected to be out of the hospital in a day or so.

Wilson was going from the gym to the Student Union Building when the accident occurred. Backfield Coach Frank Broyles took Wilson to the hospital in his car.

Witnesses said that Wilson didn't see the car, driven by Mrs. S. F. Smith of Hillsboro, until it was too late. They also said that the car was being driven at a moderate rate of speed.

Philadelphia Eagles Rout College All-Stars, 38-0

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO, Aug. 13. — Most of the all star collegians, already signed with pro football clubs, rushed to training camps today to begin preparing for their play-for-pay careers.

It's a good thing many of them are in a hurry. Apparently, they have a lot to learn.

The most inept and bewildered all-star group in the 16-year history of the football series was buried 38-0 by the Philadelphia Eagles last night.

The National League champions, feeding 14 players into the scramble in an effort to keep down the score couldn't help but roll up the most decisive edge since the games were inaugurated in 1934. Forty-eight all stars were used out of a stockpile of 65.

A throng of 93,780 fans witnessed the massacre in Soldier Field.

Only three fine goal-line stands and other bits of defensive sparkle stood in the all stars' favor.

The Eagles uncorked 19 first downs to five, 228 yards rushing and 130 passing.

But more emphatic than figures was the All-Stars' inability to penetrate beyond midfield but once. That was in a first period drive that ended in a lost fumble on the Eagles' 20.

In jamming over 17 points in the second quarter, seven in the third and 14 in the last, five different Eagles went for touchdowns — Steve Van Buren, Russ Craft, Pete Pihos, Noble Doss, and Neil Armstrong. Cliff Patton added a 16-yard field goal.

Babe Ruth Foundation Will Provide Many Scholarships

By FRANK ECK
NEW YORK, Aug. 13. (AP)—The spirit of Babe Ruth still lives.

Tuesday marks the first anniversary of the death of baseball's most famous personality, and though memories are short many things are being done to perpetuate the name of the great home run king.

Motivating force behind the sustained drive to perpetuate Babe Ruth's memory is the Babe Ruth Foundation, an organization originally founded to foster and sponsor baseball "among the kids in America."

If present plans materialize, the foundation eventually will grant 25,000 awards throughout the public and private schools in America. "We are planning to give an award in each high school to the boy or girl who has contributed the most to good sportsmanship throughout the year, by vote of the student body," a spokesman for the foundation says. "It will be known as the Babe Ruth Sportsmanship Award."

The foundation idea was originated by the Babe 15 months before he died. And he was the first to contribute.

The charter members of the board of directors of the foundation include: J. Paul Carey II, New York limousine magnate; Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler; National League President Ford C. Frick; American League President William Hargrave; Melvyn Gordon Lowenstein of New York, Ruth's attorney; Emory C. Perry, Chicago businessman, and Sports-writer Grantland Rice, Eric Johnston of Los Angeles, president of the Motion Picture Association of America, and Gen. John Reed Kilpatrick, Madison Square Garden president.

At the beginning of the current baseball season the foundation turned over to the American Cancer Society $797,500, contributions from persons in all walks of life. Ruth, who hit 60 home runs for the 1927 Yankees, died of cancer at 33 after an illness of almost two years.

For years it has been said in bold type that baseball did little for the Babe after he finished his active career with the Boston Braves in 1935. But if her were here today the Babe probably would be proud to know what baseball has done to perpetuate him in its hall of fame at Cooperstown, N. Y.

Last June ground was broken for a Babe Ruth wing at baseball's shrine, Hall of Fame. Director J.

BABE RUTH

A. Robert (Bob) Quinn, former president of the Braves, says the wing should be completed in December. It will cost approximately $150,000.

In it will be placed hundreds of Babe Ruth mementoes. There will be 124 souvenirs from the Babe's personal collection, items that were left in his will to his lifelong friend Carey, and Lowenstein. These range from his silver baseball crown to a silk sewn head and bust from an admirer in Japan where Ruth once barnstormed and was treated like a royal hero.

These are at Cooperstown now and will be moved into the new addition along with his Yankee Stadium locker and his No. 3 Yankee uniform, a number since retired by the Yankees.

The Babe would be proud, too, to learn that Baltimore Municipal Stadium, with its 60,000 seats, is now Babe Ruth Stadium and that Jack Dunn III is managing the Baltimore Orioles with whom Ruth got his start as a pitcher under Dunn's grandfather back in 1914. Plans also are underway for Babe Ruth stadiums in other parts of the country.

Outside New York's Yankee stadium, "The House That Ruth Built," they've named a street Babe Ruth Plaza. It will be dedicated Tuesday night, and at Forbes Field, home of the Pittsburgh Pirates, there's a plaque in honor of his 74th and final home run, hit May 25, 1935, the day that he hit three home runs as a Brave. The plaque was unveiled last Thursday.

Steeds Trounce Midland Tribe Friday Night

MIDLAND, Aug. 13.—Big Spring's Broncs turned back the Midland Indians, 10-3, in the first of a three-game series here Friday night.

Pancho Perez started on the pitching rubber for the Broncs but was succeeded by Eddie Noriega after the second frame. The newcomer from Orlando, Fla., received credit for his first win.

Ron Hays was the loser. He gave way to Ben Sheels in the ninth, after the Steeds had clubbed him for four runs in the eighth. Five members of the Big Spring team—Felix Gomez, Jorge Lopez, Carlos Pascual, Ray Vasquez and Hector Bonet—each rapped out two hits. One of Gomez's blows was his seventh home run of the season. He also hit his 12th triple of the campaign to grab the lead in that department.

Ray Vasquez crashed out his eighth three-baser of the year in the 12th Big Spring at-bat.

RANBLINGOS—The win assured the Broncs' edge in the season's series over Midland, having represented their 11th win in 14 starts against the Indians. Jorge Lopez of Big Spring and Warren Siler of Midland were both chased from the game for arguing with the umpire. By getting one hit in two official trips, Pat Stasey raised his batting average to .379. Perez hurt his finger in the first inning, which caused him to retire.

Forsan Oilers Host Hawks In Playoff Battle Today

Barnett, Jones Meet On Hill

Forsan's mighty Oilers, defending champions and full-season leaders this year, host the Howard County college Jayhawks today in the first engagement of a set that will decide the 1949 kingpin of the Tri-County baseball league. Starting time is 3 o'clock.

The two nines will tangle again Next Sunday in Big Spring. The first contingent winning two games will be declared the winner.

Lefty Barnett, who has developed into quite a pitcher lately, will toe the slab for the Forsan club. Cleo Wilson and Lewis Heuvel will be available for relief duty, in event they're needed. So will Lefty Shelton, but it is doubtful he will go to the rubber.

Howard Jones will probably be Coach Conn Isaacs' choice to twirl for HCJC. A. J. Cain will be suited up to spell Jones, in case of trouble.

The Oilers will probably have to do without Lefty McCabe, who has been working in Kermit for some time and probably won't be able to make it today. McCabe is a combination pitcher-first baseman.

San Angelo Team In Polo Finals

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Aug. 13. (AP)—San Angelo, Tex., faces the Fairfield team of Wichita, Kan., tomorrow in finals of the Harvey Lyle Cup Polo tournament at Broadmoor Field.

San Angelo gained the finals with a 10-2 win over San Antonio, Tex. Gus White, Jr., led the winners with five goals.

Crack Passers Join All-Stars

CORPUS CHRISTI, Aug. 13. (AP)—Two crack passers, one for the East and one for the West, have accepted bids for the national high school all-star football game to be played here next Saturday night.

Claud Kincannon, a 19-year-old Texan from Waco, has mailed in acceptance of a bid and will probably go into the starting tailback slot in the single and double wing-back systems, used by pass-conscious Will Walls, University of Corpus Christi coach and mentor of the West squad.

As a buffer to Kincannon, 194, who steered Waco to the Texas high school championship last year, Coach Red Drew, Alabama mentor and coach of the East team, will bring along 155-pound Clell Hobson of Tuscaloosa, Ala. Hobson is ticketed for Alabama.

Drew sees Hobson as one of the great collegiate passers of the future, operating from the Alabama T-formation, which the easterners will use here in the all-star game.

A good candidate for the spinner fullback in the Walls-single wing is all-state Sam Allen, 185, from Chickasha, Okla., who is headed for the University of Oklahoma.

Two great breakaway runners, Lauren Hargrove, 190, Fitzgerald, Ga., and Todd Millette, 175, Greenville, Miss., give Drew long scoring threats to offset the power and passing that the west squad is expected to rely upon.

$10,000 Scholarship Fund Is Established

ATLANTA, Aug. 13. (AP)—Georgia Tech announced today Jesse H. Jones, Houston, financier, has given the school a $10,000 scholarship fund.

dent, said, the former Secretary of Commerce set up the 10-year fund in honor of Gen. Lucius D. Clay of Georgia.

Clay will be asked to nominate candidates to receive the scholarship benefit each year.

Each grant is to consist of not less than $500 a year nor more than $600 in any academic year.

Santone Meet Will Crown New Champion

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 13. (AP)—A wide open battle to select the queen of America's freestyle swimmers to succeed Ann Curtis is expected to enliven the splashing in the Women's National Senior A. A. U. outdoor swimming and diving championships that open here Friday.

Queen Ann, who won the 100, 400, and 800 meter freestyle events in the 1948 national championships at San Diego and then went on to capture the 400 meter Olympics freestyle title, has deserted the amateur ranks and won't be around to defend her laurels.

With Le Curtis among the missing, the girls are expected to kick up quite a froth in the freestyle events. Leading contenders for the throne vacated by Miss Curtis are such well known mermaids as Jackie Lavine of Chicago's Town Club; Dorothy Schwartz, Kenosha, Wis.; Barbara Jensen of San Francisco; and Joan Mallory of San Francisco's Crystal Flamingo Team.

In addition to nearly all of the leading feminine swim stars from the United States, these 1949 outdoor championships have attracted entries from Mexico and Hawaii.

The championships are being sponsored by the South Texas Association of the A. A. U. and will be held in the Alamo Heights pool that was constructed a year ago especially for the nationals.

Allende 9 Tiger Foe

A crack baseball outfit from Allende, Mexico, comes to Big Spring today to do battle with the potent Big Spring Latin-American Tigers, managed by Ynez Vanez. Game time is set for 7:30 p. m.

Vanez has indicated that Isa Mendosa, veteran righthander who has won ten decisions to date, will toe the pitching rubber for the locals.

The Bengalis have been beaten only twice in 17 starts and avenged those two losses.

Allende holds one victory in two tries with San Angelo. Angelo has also broken even in two starts against Big Spring.

Scene of action will be Steer park, home of the Big Spring Broncs.

Arrange with us to visit and inspect this 100-acre ranch, which we sincerely believe to be the biggest bargain on the market anywhere. This is a ranch you can take over and commence operating without expense as it is equipped to the fullest with its large barn, numerous sheds, corrals, chutes, net fences, wells, tanks, springs and creek. A delightful modern-in-every-detail ranch home with NKA kitchen and bath. Two brick wood-burning fireplaces. 6-room rental house. It would be difficult to dream of a more perfect setting. Why is this ranch for sale? Because the owner, a widow is retiring to miles to Fort Worth markets. Under oil and gas lease. Buyer receives 1/2 mineral rights. Only $21.50 per acre.

LOCAL OIL

Northern Wildcat
Logs No Show
C. L. Norworthy No. 1 Mary T. Christian, north-central Howard deep wildcat, drilled ahead Saturday afternoon without show. The venture was below 3,154 feet in lime and shale. Previously it had run a 20-minute drillstem test from 8,042-8,086 without success. A strong flow of air persisted for 19 minutes, then died. Recovery was only five feet of mud. Location is 660 feet from the south and 1,900 feet from the west lies of section 48-32-2n, T&P. The test, projected for 8,500 feet, is a deepening operation of the Santa Fe Petroleum well abandoned 4,165 feet in 1946.

In the Vealmoor pool, two tests made progress. Seaboard No. 2 Long northwest quarter of section 33-32-2n, T&P, was making trip at 4,546 feet. Seaboard No. 7 East, 660 feet from the north and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 28-32-3n, T&P, was below 5,228 feet. Seaboard No. 4 T. J. Good, in the Good pool of southwest Borden county, drilled below 5,902 feet in lime and shale. It is located 1,988.1 feet from the west and 760 feet from the north lines of section 37-33-1n, T&P. Seaboard No. 5 Good, 660 feet from the south and west lines of the same section, was at 6,543 feet in lime and shale. No shows resulted from a drillstem test of Humble No. 1 Crabtree, northwest Mitchell deep wildcat. On a 30-minute run, recovery was 15 feet of mud only from 7,544-7,580. It is 660 feet out of the southwest corner of the north half of section 2-26, H&TC.

Standard No. 1 Dunn, 1,960 feet from the south and 360 feet from the west lines of section 64-20, LaVaca, was at 6,485 feet in lime and shale as another northwest Mitchell producer. Another Sharon Ride Canyon producer located in Humble No. 2 Bishop, 1,980 feet from the south and 660 feet from the west lines of section 164-97, H&TC, southwest Scurry. It averaged 60 barrels hourly flow of oil.

Gaines Wildcat
To Deepen To 15,000-Ft. Level
By JOHN B. BREWER
SAN ANGELO, Aug. 13—Application to deepen to 15,000 feet was a west Texas highlight last week. Forest Oil Corp. and Anderson-Friedrich amended application for permission to deepen to 15,000 feet for a test to the Ellenburger in No. 1-A Farmer, labor 12, league 317, Farmer County School land, southeastern Gaines county wildcat originally scheduled as an 8,500-foot test. The test is drilling around 8,500 feet in the San Andres lime now.

Magnolia No. 2 Flanagan, north offset to the Clear Fork discovery in the Flanagan area of southern Gaines, completed on a 24-hour potential for 237.63 barrels of 38.2 gravity oil. Production was through acidized perforations from 7,170-7,222 feet. Skelly No. 1 E. A. Ater, Nolan county Ellenburger discovery, was completed for a 24-hour pumping potential of 154 barrels of 44.3 gravity oil plus two barrels of basic sediment and water. Production was from acidized perforations from 7,097 to 7,139 feet. Location is 330 feet from the north, 2,500 feet from the west lines of section 673-3-T&P. Completion as a Pennsylvania gas well is scheduled at Shell No. 1 S. B. Roberts, a failure as a core test to the Pennsylvania at 4,653 feet. It will be plugged back to 3,475 feet and completed as a gas well. It showed gas from 3,400-73 feet at the rate of 3 1/2 million cubic feet daily. It is located 827 feet from the north, 290 feet from the west lines of sec. 771-T&P. Republic No. 1 V. J. Powell, Upton county wildcat two miles east of the Pegasus field recovered 1,600 ft. of slightly gas-cut water blanket, and 900 feet of gas-cut and slightly distillate-cut drilling mud from a test from 11,919-12,005 feet. Location is 660 ft. from the north and west lines of section 44-40-4s, T&P. Humble No. 1 1st National Bank of San Angelo, three-eighths mile northwest extension to Sulphur production in the Benedum district of eastern Upton, was preparing to complete from 11,405-50 and from 11,460-55 feet after flowing 138 barrels of oil in eight hours. Location is 800 feet from the south and east lines of section 5-Y-GC&SP. Republic Pipeline Co. of Corpus Christi is rushing completion of a four-inch pipeline which will stretch 40 miles from the Susan peak field in southeastern Tom Green county to Shell Pipeline Co. station six miles west of Eldorado. The line will cost about $450,000 and will be the county's first to move production from within the county. It will handle 2,500 barrels of oil daily with one pumping unit and 3,900 barrels with two units. Haynes B. Ownby Drilling Co. and others of Dallas will drill a 4,200-foot wildcat in Coleman county, 2 1/2 miles north of Tapo. No. 1 E. O. Herring will be 600 feet from the south and west lines of the 100-acre tract out of J. R. Merrill survey, 70 in Runnels and Coleman counties.

Northwest Outpost
To Welch Extender
Listed In Dawson
Lawson Drilling Company of Tulsa has staked location for a 4,800-foot semi-wildcat in Northwest Dawson county as its No. 1 Alma Gaines. It is one-half mile east of Tide Water Associated Oil corporation No. 1 Turner which was completed as a two-mile north extension to the Welch field. The venture will test for production in the San Andres of the Permian, the same section from which No. 1 Turner was completed as a small producer. Location is 660 feet from west and north lines of the south half of section 15, block C-39, pal survey, and 1 1/2 miles north of the town of Welch. Drilling is to start immediately with rotary tools.

Central Midland
Test Cements Casing
York and Harper, Inc. No. 1-A TXL, wildcat 12 1/2 miles south of Midland in Central Midland county, had drilled to below 5,010 feet in lime and sand after a string of 9 1/2 inch intermediate casing had been cemented at 4,981 feet with 5,500 sacks of cement. Projected depth of this exploration is 13,500 feet to explore the Ellenburger. It is 660 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of the southwest quarter of section 25, block 39, T-3-S, TP survey.

Borden Flankers
Making Progress
Four flankers to the deep discovery in Northwest Borden county were being deepened by Sinclair Oil & Gas company. All are to go to 10,000 feet to test the pay zone at which the company's No. 1 Williams was completed as a producer. The company's No. 1 Turner was making more hole below 4,800 feet in lime and shale and continuing toward the Ellenburger. This project is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 46, block 32, T-6-N, EL&RR survey. Another stepout, Sinclair No. 1 Bryan, located 660 feet from south and east lines of section 40, block 32, T-6-N, was being deepened below 5,261 feet in lime and shale. One mile west and slightly south of the discovery well, Sinclair No. 6,028 feet penetrating lime and shale. This venture is 660 feet from east and 1,960 feet from north lines of section 44, block 32, T-6-N, TP survey. Drilling at the company's other exploration in this area was below 6,007 feet in lime and shale. Location of this prospect, the No. 1 Reynolds, is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 33, block 32, T-6-N, TP survey, which makes it about one mile to the west and slightly south of the discovery well. All of these projects are about 11 miles northwest of Gall.

Mt. Rainier's
Age Believed
300,000 Years

MOUNT RAINIER NATIONAL PARK, Wash. (AP)—How old is a mountain? How long will it live? Let's take Mount Rainier National Park, which is celebrating its golden anniversary this year. But of course Mount Rainier itself is somewhat older.

The geologists, who have to work in big figures because the record left by man himself is so recent, say the mountain may be 300,000 years old.

And—barring climatic changes or eruptions—it may still be a landmark half a million years from now.

Incidentally, don't think eruptions are not impossible. Four times in the past century smoke was sighted coming from the mountain. And there are a number of caves at the summit from which steam issues.

Mount Rainier rises 14,408 feet above sea level. When you consider that it is only 103 miles or so from the sea, you can visualize why it is an impressive landmark in the Puget sound country.

Here is a great cone of rock, slashed by 26 rivers of ice—glaciers. The timber line ends at half its height, above which are only knife edges of reddish rock, alternated by white snow and blue-white ice.

Rainier carries upon itself the seeds of its own destruction. These are the glaciers—the heavy, cutting fingers of ice that move grindingly down its sides. Park naturalists estimate these glaciers carry away 25,000 tons of ground-up mountain every day.

But the glaciers are decreasing in size, which means they are losing their destructive powers. For example, the Nisqually glacier, which in ages past probably extended into Puget Sound, shrinks 70 feet a year.

Germans Denounced
By Czech Regime

PRAGUE, (AP)—As far as Czechoslovakia's Communist-dominated government is concerned the only good Germans apparently are those east of the Elbe—in the Russian occupation zone. Picked Russian Zone Germans got the glad-hand treatment here as bosom pals under the rules of international Communism. But western zone Germans are generally roundly condemned in the controlled press as the tools of Anglo-American capitalism and "imperialist exploiters."

Freight Rate
Hike Okayed
With Warning

WASHINGTON, Aug 13 (AP)—Government authority for the railroads to boost freight rates again was coupled Friday with a warning that further increases may mean less business.

Authorizing a new four per cent general rate advance, the Interstate Commerce Commission hinted broadly that it may be reluctant to permit any later hike.

The ICC called attention to shipper protests that the rail carriers, by raising charges, may "price themselves out of the market," and said:

"It is now taken as axiomatic that increased freight rates do not necessarily or invariably result in increased operating revenues. The successive increases which we have authorized since June 30, 1946, have brought us to the point where all concerned concede that we as well as the carriers must consider seriously whether further increases now may result in less revenue and thus defeat their purpose."

However, the commission found that the industry had shown a need for more income, particularly in view of the 40-hour week which is to be made effective for some workers Sept. 1, and granted the new advance. The changes may be made on 15 days' notice to the public.

The fresh four per cent upping of rates will add about $293 million a year to rail freight billings. The commission estimated in this connection that the 40-hour week will increase expenses some $380 million annually.

Back To College

Many Big Spring girls are making final preparations for their departure to college campuses. They're thinking about majors and minors, football games and dances, dates—and styles. Attractive items for the college wardrobe are representative of the selection to be found in Big Spring's shops.

UPPER LEFT—Mary Nell Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Cook, will begin her senior year at Southern Methodist University, Dallas, this year. And this is her year to possess some lovely formal such as the one Mary Nell is wearing. It's one of those attractive off-shoulder styles with just the right amount of ruffles.

UPPER RIGHT—With the exception of the senior year, the freshman year at college is the most outstanding for many students. Jane Stripling, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hayes F. Stripling, will be joining Mary Nell at SMU this fall. Mary Gerald Robbins, right, will attend Texas Christian University, right next door, in Fort Worth. Jane will be in style with corduroy dress and jacket. Especially good for sports and class wear, corduroy seems to look its best in bright colors. Mary Gerald is wearing a lovely wool dress interestingly styled with large pockets and two rows of buttons down the back. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Robbins.

LOWER LEFT—Ann Currie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Currie, will journey all the way to Columbia, Mo., to begin her college education as a junior at Stephens College. There will be plenty of second looks when she wears that fur coat to football games and other college functions.

SECOND LOWER LEFT—Billie Jean O'Neal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. U. O'Neal, knows that smart looking luggage is an important item to consider when getting ready for college. She will enter North Texas State College, Denton.

SECOND LOWER RIGHT—Ellen McLaughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Cooper, waves goodbye as she models a two-tone tailored sport dress. She is bound for Texas Technological College.

LOWER RIGHT—Rebekah Lloyd, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. R. Gage Lloyd, will be wearing a light colored wool sport coat to classes at Austin College, Sherman, this year.

Advice To Co-Eds: Go Easy On What You Pack Off To College

By MILDRED YOUNG
So you're going away to college! About this time every year, parents of college students find the household furniture disappearing into those huge boxes which are being packed in preparation for Mr. or Miss College's departure to his or her chosen halls of learning. This is especially true of the departure being made for the first time. The freshman takes the most to college, the senior, the least.

College is a grand sort of independence. The "kids" get a taste of what it means to be on their own without getting too much of the responsibility that goes along with it and they try to attempt to move away from home. They probably won't take the kitchen sink, but they sure would like to take it and a lot of other useless things. For those who are going away to school, we'd like to advise that it's probably better to take too little than too much. But you will need a lot of things.

To begin with, you'll need a wardrobe, but it will be much the same as your usual choice in clothes. There'll be "slippy" clothes and dress clothes and regular classroom selections. The important thing is to have plenty of everything. Don't go in for buying everything at once; you'll want to add to your supply as the year progresses.

Most dormitories require their occupants to furnish some amount of their own linen. It is wise to learn what is expected of students and to follow such hints for packing as may be given by the school. Don't forget to make arrangements for such minor items as soap, tooth brushes, a few standard school supplies and a small iron and ironing board if your school does not provide washing and ironing facilities. Of course, you can purchase most small items on the campus, but you need some essential supplies on hand. Such items as shoe bags and hat boxes are often valuable, too.

Don't go to extremes, but since you will be living in some sort of "home away from home" for the better part of the year, it is well to equip yourself so you can have something which resembles "all the comforts of home." But be practical for goodness sake! There is no point nor room to take all of your school annuals, scrapbooks, love letters and pin-up pictures with you. Time takes care of items like that and no matter how light you may pack when you leave for school, there will be much more difficulty in packing to come home. If you play a fair game of tennis and enjoy playing, take your tennis racket. But if you trump your partner's ace and think that bridge is a method to cross a river, trust your roommate to furnish the dormitory's playing cards. In other words, take what you use from day to day or with fair frequency. Any item which you didn't use during your senior year in high school probably isn't worth packing. Don't worry too much about what you should take to the halls of learning. The important thing is your brains. Anyway, the most frequent request in letters home from college is "more money." Parents learn soon enough that not only the household furniture, but the bank account, too, enters the field of higher education with Mr. and Miss College.

Campus Wardrobe Must Range From Blue Jeans To Formals

The time comes again to start on those "mad shopping sprees," to get the luggage down from the attic and get ready to be off to college.

The lass of today fills her suitcase with everything from a pair of blue jeans (red ones are also the vogue) and loafers to the dressy dress (velvet is the latest thing) and high heel pumps. In between these two extremes comes a few summer sun dresses to start off with in the first days of September and numerous skirts and sweaters. The skirts and sweaters, as a rule, are selected so the skirts can be worn with various sweaters and the sweaters with various skirts. This adds much variety to the wardrobe with less cost. And then there is the suit. The best type is one that can be dressed "up or down." Thus, with loafers and a sweater you can wear it to class and then with a tailored blouse and heels it will look just as well at church. A suit is always suitable and the more you can afford the better. And why the wide range of clothes? The blue jeans are for picnics, recreation (bowling, hiking, tennis or what ever it takes for P.T.), the dressy dress for the occasional reception or tea and for church. And as you might know the sweaters and skirts and suits are for classroom wear as well as for dating.

The girl who is "off to college for the knowledge always takes at least one new formal for that "big moment" event. Others can come as the occasion might arise. Dig down in the bottom of that suitcase and you will probably find a bathing suit—to be used for sun baths as well as the swimming pool.

For the dormitory, where the so-called "what sleeping that isn't done in class, a feminine coat satisfies the need. Some prefer the big only of a pair of men's pajamas. (They are more roomy than the ordinary tonnie coat). Then again for the coldest nights she may choose the long nightgown like the one grandmother used to wear that covers all.

Old man winter will be here before long. So, the "college goer" stocks up on coats. The popular trend in jackets is the casual corduroy. There is a new '49 color called "sulphur" the college gal will probably latch onto in a big way. Whether it is for classroom wear, dating, teas and receptions, church or the formal dance the college girl of today chooses her clothes with precision. She looks for quality when choosing her clothing and looks to her parents for the quantity of her wardrobe. She picks clothes that fit and are suitable so that she will look as neat as the next co-ed on the 1949 campus.

In the suitcase the college gal who is smart will include an alarm clock. The subject is clothing but alarm clocks have a close relationship to clothing. After all, a girl wants to get up in time to dress well in her new college wardrobe before venturing out to that eight o'clock class.

Parents Face Problem In Junior's Dislikes

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE
AP Newfeatures
Soon vacation time will be over. Once again parents will have to think of getting junior away to school.

Some sensible advice for parents and children about getting along with teachers just has come to hand in the form of a little book to be published soon by William Morrow & Company, New York.

Entitled "Children Know Their Friends," it is written by Ruth Wendell Washburn, child study expert who is at present consultant in child development for several schools in Massachusetts, psychologist of the New Hampshire Children's Aid Society and research associate in clinical psychology at Harvard University.

In any school situation, child, parents, teachers together form a triangle with the child occupying the most important place at the apex. It is only as the lines of communication from one to another are kept open that good work can be done, says Miss Washburn. There are many times in the course of his school life when a child stands in need of parents and teachers who are working together.

Rarely do we find a child liking all of his teachers. Some he will find too hard, others too easy. When children bring home constant complaints about a teacher, parents can play an important part in meeting the problem, says

Grooming For School Belles

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Newfeatures Beauty Editor
Give your small daughter a new hairdo before you enroll her in school. Those first few days in a strange school house are bad enough for a little tot, but if she needs a lift of morale and doesn't get it, things can even be worse.

Most little girls are vain, and a new hairdo and perhaps a new dress or shoes will perk up their vanity and help overshadow loneliness at being away from home.

When you bring her to the beauty salon or barber shop, let her talk to the hairdresser and tell him what she wants. Anything too drastic can be curtailed by mother, but letting her believe she is making the suggestions will make your moppet proud of herself and give her confidence.

The little Dutch bob is becoming to most children; pigtails are cut on some. Usually, if you will follow your child's suggestion, you will notice that her ideas will not be too drastic—she'll want a hairdo "like Jane's" or "like Peggie's" and once she selects one for that reason, you will not be able to modify her ideas much.

It is better to have her feel she is wearing what she wants and build her ego up that way than to try to persuade her to wear something that makes her feel uncomfortable. It will put her in the wrong mood, perhaps, and there might even be a clash of school personalities that will start the whole term off wrong. Often a little girl she likes, just because her friend has the hairdo, the shoes or the dress that she has been yearning for so long.

Of course mothers can't always afford new clothes for their tots, but at schooltime, perhaps the most important time of the year for the child, something brand new should be given to her.

It is not too soon to teach your child how to comb, brush and set her own hair. Even if she doesn't do a good job of it, you are accomplishing something in the right direction. One mother even lets her six-year-old child shampoo her own hair, and finds that there are no tears that way when soap gets in the eyes.

She made up a small kit for her including soap in animal shapes, special shampoo in candy striped package, comb, brush and a small spray. The youngster loves to use her hair beautifiers and can't wait for her twice-a-week shampoo.

This mother's only problem is how to restrain her little girl from dunking her head in the wash-basin too often.

In medieval times, warring armies agreed not to campaign against each other during winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blomshield and Harry, Jr. of Lubbock, are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl S. Blomshield.

RIBBON RAMBLINGS

By Mildred Young

"No matter what tragic things happened in the world, ordinary people would go right on with their ordinary affairs. There was something inexorable about the routine affairs of little people. Armies might march, empires might fall, atom bombs might drop out of the sky, but farmers would go out to the barn to milk their cows and housewives would put the coffee pot on the stove. Underneath the tragic and the appalling, there was always the firm foundation of the normal and the routine. Life went on, apparently it had to go on."

It's been quoted before, but we sorta liked this paragraph from the Saturday Evening Post. It reminds us of a book which we're reading at the present time. Entitled "Nineteen Eighty-Four," it is written as though all government other than totalitarian, was completely vanished. It's rather a gruesome story. But one that gives the reader plenty to consider. Ordinary life continues to a certain extent and the ordinary people go right on with their ordinary affairs, but such affairs are completely dominated. People are impressed with such ideas as "War is Peace" and "Freedom is Slavery." When we consider how close many people are to such a state, it causes us to wonder. We're not too far into the book as yet and we may change our minds, but at the moment, we think that whether or not one feels that the book holds the best in reading material, it still has a shocking element of truth. An element many people don't want to face.

But, maybe, we shouldn't be so worried about 1984. After all, none of us have but one day at a time and we're not too sure of that. If everyone did their best for today, our guess is that we would be worrying about tomorrow anyway. It seems that what we worry about never happens, so why worry? Guess that's rambling enough for today, don't you?

Corduroy, Velveteen, Gabardines 'Good'

Rich "Van Gogh" colors of red, blue, olive tree, golden hay and cypress bark will serve as the theme for new college wardrobes during the fall and winter seasons.

Of course, the old standbys of black and dark brown will be found. Most of these colors are versatile enough that they can be found in various combinations in suits, coats, hats, gloves, bags, shoes, formals and "big evening" dresses.

The new cypress bark, a cinnamon-like color was supposed to have appeared for the first time anywhere in the world in the new fall selections. It is used mostly in accessories, but can be found in other wearing apparel, also.

Fabrics for fall seem to favor corduroy for the class room and general campus wear. This of course can be found in the more dressy and sophisticated styles too. Velveteen is very popular for the evening and can be converted into the classroom when doubled as a jumper. In the wool department, tweed heads the list for the fall wardrobe. This material is long-wearing and combines smartness with comfortability. Wool jersey is used in profusion. So are taffetas and other rayon celanese products. Gabardines are good, too.

In a recent poll of leading colleges all over the country, it was found that the basic college wardrobe would consist of. This poll considered the four main groups: co-ed colleges in the country; co-ed colleges in the city, women's colleges in the country and women's colleges in the city. It seems all college girls see practically eye-to-eye on the clothes they need, and want to wear.

The basic collegiate wardrobe would consist of approximately five skirts. These will serve as the backbone of classroom garb. Heavy wools are more popular in the north with denims and corduroys preferred where the climate is warmer.

Seven sweaters or T-shirts is the right number for most college girls. These will range from the more boxy to the fitted styles. Some colleges have strong opinions about the subject. Approximately four blouses will help round-out the average girl's wardrobe. Most blouses will be tailored and will come in warm wools and cottons.

One pair of pedal pushers and one pair of blue jeans (blue jeans are prohibited on some campuses) are required. These ensembles will be used for picnics and just loafing. One man's shirt is a must to go with the jeans. Heavy wool plaids are popular in the winter months and cottons are used when it is cooler. These are usually worn after classes and while in the dorm.

Two suits, one tailored and one dressmaker, is the right number for most collegians. Also, two jackets are sufficient on most campuses. These wardrobe essentials will be desirable for week-end treks to the city, Saturday football games and for general campus wear.

One casual campus coat, sturdy, durable and right for the climate is an important item for every girl. In most places one raincoat is also desirable. This is used during bad weather and as a supplement for other topcoat apparel. Next comes one dressed-up or four coat. Wisely chosen this coat will double as an evening wrap on most occasions.

Most college girls decided that two tailored dresses were sufficient for their needs. But, at least three, and if possible, four, dress up dresses are required at college. These are used on dates, teas, and all informal, dressy get-togethers. The minimum in evening dresses numbers two to three. One should come complete with jacket.

Perhaps There Is No Such Thing As The Perfect Roommate

Perhaps there is no such thing as the perfect roommate. No two people look alike, and it also would be pretty difficult for two people to get together who think and act exactly alike. Therefore, most people who share a room, particularly with a virtual stranger, will find things to irk them.

Whether you share a room at school, at home with Sis or with a girl friend-career woman, the same basic rules apply—you've got to be considerate. Here are some ways you can lose your happy home:

1. If your roommate has sensitive eyelids, and even if she hasn't, she probably will not like the light shining on her eyes until the wee hours of the morning. If you are the type who must read for hours before you get sleepy, take your book to a spot where it will not be a nuisance.

2. How are your telephone manners? Do you have long conversations when your roommate is waiting for a phone call from a boy friend?

3. Do you breeze in late, light the lights, prance into the bedroom, clicking your heels, run the bath water noisily at full force?

4. Is your roommate the neat-as-a-pin type? If so, try not to strew clothes, papers, books, bobby pins and cosmetics all over the place. You might not be as neat as she is, but you can make an effort to keep your things orderly. If you try.

5. Radiotis is a danger signal. If she doesn't like to hear the radio at all that of course is no reason why you shouldn't play it low and friendly-like, but if you decide to switch it on the middle of the night you should be spanked.

6. If you use your roommates clothes, cosmetics and shoes, don't overdo it. And don't wait until she replenishes the cleansing tissues you've used up before you offer to buy some.

7. On your beauty routine evening, don't lock yourself in the bathroom. After you bath, perform the rest of your charm rituals when the door is open. Then if your roommate wishes to bathe or brush her teeth she can do so.

8. If you share bureau chests and closets, don't be a h-o-g. The other girl is entitled to exactly half the space on that arrangement unless she offers you more.

9. You don't have to be so fond of your roommate that you keep a date with her best beau just because he called when she was out. Horning in on dates is inexcusable.

10. Hairbrushes, hairery, handkerchiefs and other miscellaneous paraphernalia that is borrowed from your r.m. should be cleaned before returning them to their proper place. Don't toss 'em back in the drawer until they are clean.

WEDDING

sisted by Mrs. A. L. Faw, aunt of the bride, of Hobbs, N. M.
The wedding cake, decorated with an arch and miniature wedding bells, will center the lace laid table. Satin streamers with scattered pink rosebuds will complete table details.
Following a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Holman will live at 241 Tarleton, Corpus Christi, where he is associated with the radio division of Music Center. He recently completed three years duty with the American Air Forces and was discharged with the rating of sergeant. He served in the South Pacific area and was stationed for a time in Tokyo and in San Angelo before his recent completion of service.
The bride, member of a pioneer Mitchell county family and granddaughter of the late Dr. T. A. Martin of Loraine, was graduated from Colorado City high school in May. In addition to her school activities, she has been active in Colorado City music circles; both as a soprano soloist and as a pianist, and is a member of the Sigma Gamma Chi, social club.

Mrs. C. E. Johnson, Sr. of 510 Bell has as her guest, Mrs. T. M. Greenwood of Farmersville and Mrs. B. L. Ross of Texarkana.

Golden Anniversary Observed By Wootens

The J. W. Wootens celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with an open house with all their sons and daughters in attendance. This was the first time the family had been together in 20 years.
The family was honored with a dinner in the H. P. Wooten home. After the dinner, the family returned to the J. W. Wooten home 500 Goliad, where they greeted guests throughout the afternoon. Cards, letters, telegrams and 4 baskets numbered more than 100. Baskets of cut flowers and flowering pot plants decorated the entertaining rooms.
Covered with lace over gold, the table held an arrangement of red roses and was centered with a two-tiered wedding cake which was provided by the Wootens' oldest son, Elmer. The punch bowl was placed at one end of the table. Mrs. H. P. Wooten and Erma Nee Steward served and greeted the guests. Mrs. Walker Bailey presided at the gold register which was given to the Wootens by a blind friend, Jennie Shields of Spur.

Issue Of The Minimum Wage A Long Way From Solution

President Truman won House approval of one of his platform promises when the lower branch, 225 to 181, voted to raise the minimum wage rate from the present 40c. to 75c. an hour.

But not even congressional experts have been able to figure out yet whether it was a real victory or simply a paper one. Even administration Democrats conceded defeat on one major provision of the act, the issue of extended coverage of the wage-hour act.

Southern Democrats were pleased that they had been able to have several of the South's industries exempted from the wage-hour act, but insisted that the 75c. minimum wage would be "disastrous" in their part of the country.

One way of looking at it is that the 75c. minimum might put some Southern firms out of business, since they are unable to pay such a minimum. Advocates of the higher scale, on the other hand, argue that industries which can't pay the minimum haven't any business being in business anyhow. This callous view ignores the fact that forcible shutting down of industries is a poor way to maintain employment and create prosperity.

Southerners, except those interested in keeping wages as low as possible, assert that the South never can hope to develop and prosper as long as the present wage differential between North and South is maintained. What profit is there in attracting Northern industries to move here if the lure is a low wage scale that leaves the standard of living low? The individual industry might profit handsomely, but general business suffers when the wage standard forces a low living standard.

Southern wage earners are entitled to think what they please about their representatives in Congress who insist on a lower wage scale for Southern workers than Northern workers enjoy. What price a day's labor? Are Northern workers entitled to a better living standard than Southern? If so, why?

Obviously, that isn't going to be an easy question to answer.

Former Chum Of Jack London Is Father Of U. S. Employ The Handicapped Week

WASHINGTON—This is a long-deserved public tribute to a man of great courage and great humanity.

He is Paul Strachan, tall, deaf, and impassioned father of National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week.

Strachan conceived this unique humanitarian institution while flat on his back in Johns Hopkins Hospital in September 1940. It took him five years of unrelenting effort to win congressional approval. Now firmly established and warmly supported by leaders of government, industry and labor, NEPHW has made it possible for more than 500,000 handicapped men and women to obtain gainful work and the inexpressible satisfaction of being self-sustaining members of society.

In a few weeks, the 1949 NEPHW drive will be launched at a Washington meeting that will be addressed by President Truman. He has sincerely backed NEPHW from its start. Last year, both the President and then-Secretary of State George Marshall took part in opening the drive.

NEW DREAM

Strachan will be in the forefront of this year's campaign as he was in all the others. Discussing the conception of NEPHW he says:

"I was born of recollections of World War I, when disabled veterans were pushed around and ignored as soon as the parades stopped and the bands no longer played. It was born of vivid and poignant recollections of thousands of other handicapped I had seen who were the discarded of society. It was born of personal experience, as one 85 per cent physically disabled, and who, because of that disability, was cast upon the human scrap pile, despite a fierce and intense desire to live, to work, and to achieve."

But while laboring devotedly for NEPHW, Strachan is passionately battling for a new dream. It is a plan for a great national program of rehabilitation, training and aid for physically handicapped of all kinds. The project would completely revolutionize the handling of this problem in the U. S. More than two-score senators and congressmen are sponsoring the bill drafted by Strachan.

Rep. Gus Kelley, D. Pa., senior member of the House Labor Committee, has already held hearings on the measure. But despite strong support in and out of Congress the proposal is a long way from enactment. It is encountering vigorous bureaucratic resistance.

But that is not daunting Strachan. All his life he has had to fight for his ideals. It took him five years to make NEPHW a reality, and he is prepared to battle the remainder of his days for his new dream.

"It will be worth it," he says. "We can't lose. Even if this program is not adopted in its entirety to start with, it will force advances that would otherwise not be achieved. Time and the cause of humanity are on our side."

FIGHTING SCOT

Strachan inherited his unquenchable spirit from a Scottish father.

His father was a crusading country editor in Michigan, Indiana and Georgia. He battled against political machines and for the underdog without fear or favor. On one occasion, his press was smashed by a mob. The rider Strachan borrowed equipment from a nearby town and issued his paper with a scathing attack on the mob.

Paul Strachan was born in Perry, Mich., in February, 1892. At the age of 14, he had become an expert typist and, quitting school, took a roving job as an "expert demonstrator." In the years that followed, he visited many lands and engaged in many occupations.

He prospected for gold with two sourdoughs in Alaska; was a steamship agent in the Orient; worked at various jobs in the Mediterranean, Australia, England and South America; and produced several movies in the U. S. As Strachan puts it, "there were few places I didn't get to and little that I didn't do."

One of the things he did was to become a boon companion of Jack London, famed novelist. They went on several trips together.

In World War I, because of physical disability, Strachan was barred from military service. So he helped set up the Bureau of War Risk Insurance and was one of its first officials. Later, as a result of this work, he was active in organizing a union of government employees. This in turn led to interest in vocational training and he authored and put through Congress the Federal Vocational Training Act.

An auto accident severely disabled Strachan and sent him to Johns Hopkins Hospital where he conceived national employ the physically handicapped week. In 1942, to wage the long fight for congressional enactment of this project, he organized the American Federation of the Physically Handicapped.

Strachan still heads this organization, which has local chapters throughout the country. AFPH is sponsoring his new program and from a modest office in the National Press Building he is determinedly masterminding the campaign.

His right-hand assistant is also a handicapped Miss Mildred Scott doesn't thump desk or thunder as Strachan does, but she is an indefatigable and devoted to their cause. As one admiring AFPH official expressed it, "Paul storms the barricades and Mildred organizes the storming."

Paul Strachan and Mildred Scott are not headline names. But they are the kind of selfless idealists who have made America great and are its real heart and soul and strength.

It is the privilege of the Washington Merry-Go-Round to acclaim them and to bestow upon each the brass ring for devoted service to their fellow men.

NO REASON FOR AWE

There is nothing backward about 36-year-old freshman Rep. John R. Walsh of Indiana, but he admits a little stage fright when he hustled down to the White House on business for his district.

"Reckon I may be a trifle scared, or maybe I should say awed," grinned the tall, curly-topped Hoosier after he shook hands with the President. "It isn't every day a fellow gets to talk to the President of the United States."

"I know how you feel," Truman smiled. "I felt the same way when I used to come down here to see F. D. R. and sit in the same seat you're in. But now that I'm here in this chair, I can't understand how anyone can feel that way about me."

Every Film Is Hit In Movie Trailer World

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 13 (AP)—Don't you love movie trailers?

You know what trailers are—the "previews of coming attractions" that try to lure you back to the theater next week. I have long admired them and the men that make them.

These lucky men live in a world where every picture is a hit. It is a land of many gods—Lusty Ladd, Luscious Lana, Screwball Skelton, Fearless Flynn, etc. All are "never better" in every picture they appear in.

Let us analyze the nature of the trailer. I'll pick three main types at random:

1. The prestige picture. A symphony orchestra plays loudly and words begin to appear at the bottom of the screen. The lines roll upwards slowly, giving even 10-year-olds plenty of time to read them all. It says: "Miracle Pictures (Fantasy) Proudly Presents A Great Achievement of the American Screen. The stars are referred to as 'Mr.' and 'Miss.' There is a scene from the picture showing the hero slapping the heroine.

Some feminine athletes are built like telephone booths. This isn't true of Gale. Her muscles are well disposed. They never bulge. They ripple. Her physical charm as well as her physical strength have won her several offers to become a professional wrestler.

"I turned them down," she said. "It is too undignified."

During the war Gale was a member of a judo team that toured Army camps and demonstrated deadly tricks to the troops. I saw her in Manila in 1945, and her 225-pound partner was wearing a broken wrist.

"I guess I put on a little too much pressure," said Gale, "but he should have told me I was hurting him."

Miss Vance at present is teaching Jujitsu to vacationers at Ma Hoider's Youngs Gap Hotel, a resort in the Catskills.

"Many wives are eager to learn the holds," she said. "They want to be able to throw their husbands over their heads. But I teach them to throw a person over their hips instead. It's much easier."

JUJITSU, INCIDENTALLY HAS A number of advantages for the forlorn female living in a man's world.

"It is a wonderful way to reduce," said Gale, "and a girl needs to learn only a few holds to be able to deal with masochists and muggers."

What is the best way for a lady to cope with an annoying subway wolf?

"If you want to discourage him quietly without making a scene," said Gale, "one way is to put your heel on his shinbone and press down—hard."

An elbow is a very handy article. You just give him the sharp end of it in his face. If he's a tall guy and you can't reach his face, jab the elbow fast into his solar plexus or his ribs. You'd be surprised how easy a rib breaks. Of course the knee is always good, too, but you have to be in the right position to use it.

"Generally I try to teach the girls how to get away from a man—rather than to kill the guy."

SHE WAS WALKING ALONE AT night to her home in the Bronx when a scrawny sprang out and grabbed at her purse.

"I clamped on a wrist lock, kicked his feet out from under him and walked on," she said. "I felt like kicking him while he was down, but I didn't want to take an unfair advantage. I didn't bother to see if he was hurt. He didn't deserve to be looked at."

She gets some unusual pupils. Recently a gentle old white-haired lady came to her.

"My son won't do what I tell him anymore," she said. "I want to learn some kind of a trick so I can hold him still while I give him a good spanking."

"How old is your boy?" asked Gale.

"He's 45," said the old lady, "but he still needs spanking."

Grow Beards For Centennial? It's Been Going On For Years

Well, an itchy decision has been made. The menfolks around town are supposed to salute the big spring's Centennial occasion with fine facial adornment. Grow a beard, that is.

I suppose every male who never had a try at whiskers knows pretty well that he will look silly in this attempt. I know I will. But it seems to be pretty generally acknowledged that the Centennial deserves some whoop-te-do, and that if we're going to make a real old-time celebration out of it, we might as well go whole hog. So, if whiskers help create the 1849 spirit, let's go.

At first glance, the women folks might not like this idea. But they, too, ought to enter into the spirit of the times, and encourage the spouse to at least try a goatee or some mutton chops. Naturally, this beard attempt has to be fairly universal or it won't achieve its purpose. There may be some "shaver's permits," which would permit a guy to keep on using a razor every day, for a fee. But too many shouldn't take out such a license.

After all, the military men of 100 years ago and most of the emigrants of the time were well covered with brush, either from vanity or from necessity. And it seems typical of frontier times that the males should demonstrate their manhood with beards.

It seems only fair to report that the growing of beards and whiskers is not as unimportant as one might think. The Encyclopedia Britannica, I found, devotes no less than a page and a half to beards, exploring the historical aspects of the custom in considerable detail. The Britannica says that Adam was, by tradition, created with a beard. And all the Greek gods, to say nothing of Abraham and Mohammed, King Arthur and Charlemagne must be portrayed with well-covered faces.

This research also contains reference to the fact that beards were considered something to take oath by. You know, somebody swears "by his chin," or by the "beards of the prophets."

Not to let the Britannica go it alone, a fellow has even published a very recent book, titled "Beards" and published by Doubleday. The author is Reginald Reynolds, who happens to be clean-shaven.

But you should see some of the illustrations in his book! There are such flourishing growths as the Belgrave, the Boulanger, the St. James, the Uncle Sam, the goatee, the mutton chops, the Parthian bush, the Etruscan curl, the Van Dyke and the Persian.

Randolph B. Marcy, the Army officer who recorded the finding of our spring, himself sported a fine growth of whiskers. One picture made when he was a captain shows the crop a rich black; another, made when he was a general, gives him a becoming set of white whiskers. If Marcy, could do it, what's wrong with the present generation?

My barber friend tells me that it takes anywhere from two weeks to a month to get an honest-to-goodness crop of whiskers beyond the tramp stage, so it is time to get started, if we are to be brush-covered by the first of October—BOB WHIPKEY.

U. S. Policy Makers Seek To Salvage What's Left In China

By JAMES D. WHITE (For DeWitt MacKenzie)

WHAT IS THERE LEFT IN CHINA, BY way of unconquered areas and leaders, to combat communism?

American planners reportedly are looking into this question as they form a new policy toward China. The picture is roughly like this:

The refugee national government at Canton, rejected as hopeless by the white paper, is breaking up as predicted. Its fragments may keep going for some time.

The real source of central authority, Chiang Kai-shek, is repairing to Formosa. There he will be safe for the time being, as the Communists have no navy or air force. Their influence may grow, however, among restive Formosans who dislike Chiang's rule as much or more than they did the Japanese.

CANTON AND KWANGTUNG PROVINCE appear to be left more or less open to Red conquest. Gen. Pai Chung-hsi, defense commander, is pulling his troops off into his native of Kwangsi. He reportedly had asked Chiang for money and men to defend Canton, and did not get them. Cantonese militarists might get their troops to fight, but Kwangtung province is saturated with well-established guerrilla outfits.

Hainan island, off the Kwangtung coast, might supply resistance in these two provinces, but it has its own growing guerrilla trouble.

The administrative shell of the Canton government, under President Li Taung-ten and Premier Yen Hsi-shan, is headed for the wartime capital at Chungking in Szechwan Province. The folks there do not welcome its return.

Szechwan's northern flank, meanwhile, is directly menaced by a Red field army striking at its northern border — the historic invasion route — from South Shensi Province. Its chief commercial outlets, the Yangtze river ports of Ichang and Shasi, have already fallen to another Red army.

The only other areas of significance are Yunnan province in the southwest, and the Moslem areas in the northwest.

IN THE NORTHWEST THE REDS ARE within 95 miles of Langchow, key to the corridor running through the Moslem country toward Soviet Russia. They appear likely to envelop Ningxia, the right flank province, whose governor Ma Hung-kwei left months ago for Canton and Formosa.

Blond Jujitsu Expert Knows How To Handle Subway Wolves

NEW YORK (AP)—MEN FALL HEAD over heels for hazel-eyed Gale Vance. She really throws them.

One reason they find this attractive blonde so irresistible is that she teaches Jujitsu and judo. Miss Vance is one of the few lady instructors in these bone-bending pastimes.

"Jujitsu is really just a sport," she said. "But judo is the science of dirty fighting — you use it when you're out for the kill. I like to teach dirty fighting. It's the quickest way of disposing of your opponent."

McGrath Leaving Demo Party Well Heeled As He Moves Up

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13. The Republican national committee has recently been acting like Democrats and the Democratic national committee is about to return the compliment with the kind of polished performance on which Republicans once claimed the copyright.

The Democrats are meeting only because it is technically necessary to ratify President Truman's choice of William M. Boyle Jr., a Missouriian naturally, to succeed Senator McGrath as national chairman. Politicians have known for a long time that Boyle, executive director of the committee, had the key to the back door of the White House and have governed themselves accordingly.

A partial exception are the southerners, most of whom and especially the Senators have preferred to entrust themselves to what they conceived as the more tender mercies of the agreeable McGrath, who detests quarreling. In a sense they were right; the greatest intractability toward the anti-Truman southerners is centered at the President's desk and the role of the committee has been to placate both the President and the South.

However, Boyle enjoys a long friendship with the President that permits him to keep the word "no" in his vocabulary. He has tenaciously backed McGrath on many occasions when he could have kept still and the McGrath policy of conciliation toward all but ramping Dixiecrats will be continued at headquarters.

There are still some southern problems. In South Carolina the administration has taken a stand against Governor Thurmond, who was national committeeman when he accepted the Dixiecrat nomination for President. Now Truman Democrats only are official here and help is being given Senator Olin Johnston, who expects to have Thurmond as his opposition in the 1950 senatorial primaries.

Mississippi is being handled gingerly. Even the sweet-tempered McGrath gave up on that state's bitter Dixiecrat senior senator, James Eastland; it is hoped by kind treatment to reclaim Senator John Stennis, an ex-justice in control of his temper. Then there are Truman Democrats in the state who want recognition and patronage.

A diplomatic appointment may put a period to a Texas dispute. Texas deposed national committeeman Wright Morrow after a family row at the convention last year; Morrow then squared himself with the President by handsome help on campaign finances. Efforts are under way to make him Ambassador to Belgium.

But these are minor difficulties; the Democrats will meet with nothing but sociability on the calendar. It is a remarkable farewell for Senator McGrath, who assumed direction of the party when it was at one of its lowest ebbs with a defeatist national convention soon to take place.

The retiring chairman leaves the party victorious, well heeled and speaking civilly to one another. The fact seems to be that McGrath, who will now enter the cabinet as attorney general, always leaves his stepping stones in good order and with good will.

This is a circumstance that induces in his admirers a tremendous faith in his political destiny, even to the point of the White House.

Matter Of Fact—Joseph Alsop

India Asks U. S. Surplus Wheat Free Or At A Nominal Price

Near an Indian village on the outskirts of New Delhi, a little crowd is gathered round an awkward-looking piece of machinery which comes from faraway California. It is a well-driller, capable of hitting down hundreds of feet through earth and solid rock in a few hours. The peasants from the nearby village look at it with curiosity mixed with awe.

It is mercilessly hot. This is before the monsoons have begun to take effect, and as far as the eye can see the earth has a cracked, dusty dryness. The sweating Indian crew does something complicated to the driller. It bites deeper into the earth—down to more than three hundred feet. Then suddenly out of a big nozzle comes a thick, dirty, steady flow of water. It runs down shallow ditches, out and over the parched land.

This scene may have been staged—such scenes have been staged before by governments anxious to impress foreigners. But unless this reporter is very easily duped, there was nothing duped about the reactions of the village peasants when the water poured out over the fields. They made odd little praying gestures with their hands pressed together before their faces, ducking their heads and grinning. They were so obviously happy that they made the onlooker smile in sympathy.

This well would triple or quadruple the yield from their fields, would give them two or three crops a year instead of one. If the monsoons failed, the well would make, quite literally, the difference between life and death.

No American witnessing this scene could help feeling a twinge of pride in the miraculous drill which only the United States can make. And no American could help feeling something more than regret that the drills will not be allowed to do their miraculous work on anything like the scale which India's hunger demands.

The scene could be repeated many times, for throughout vast areas of this huge, sun-baked land there is known to be water not far below the surface. But the scene is not being repeated. These special drills cost a dozen many dollars. There are less than a dozen such drills in the whole country. There are not likely soon to be more, simply because India does not sell enough to the United States to earn the dollars to pay for the drills.

This is the "dollar problem" in a nutshell, as it affects not only India but the whole non-Soviet world. Meanwhile India continues to suffer from precisely the same evil that has been the Communists' greatest single asset in China—there are too many people, and too little food. India's food problem is not essentially insoluble. It is a matter of a ten per cent deficit in the productivity of the Indian land. This deficit must be measured not in terms of percentages, but in terms of half-starved Indians and the kind of bitter political unrest which plays directly into Communist hands.

The Indian government is now preparing to make a strenuous effort to overcome this deficit. The United States can, no doubt, do something to help increase India's productivity under President Truman's "bold, new program." But the kind of really bold and really new program required sharply to raise the Indian standard of living in a short time would run into many hundreds of millions of dollars, and it is hardly likely that the American Congress, in its present mood, would consider such a proposal.

Yet another, and more modest proposal has now been made by the Indian government to the American government through the American Embassy here. This proposal, which is a great deal more interesting than it appears on the surface, is simply that some of America's surplus wheat be turned over to India free or at a nominal price. This wheat would then be used to cover part of India's food deficit in the years to come while India struggles toward self-sufficiency.

It is entirely predictable that wheat, and other agricultural surpluses, will soon begin to pile up in the American graineries. The American farm price support program, which was undertaken wholly for American domestic and economic reasons, and which is approved in principle by both major parties, makes this certain. This program, as British Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin has pointed out, vastly complicates the world-wide dollar problem. If wheat and other American products were allowed to fall to their natural price levels, fewer foreign dollars would buy more food.

The Indian proposal poses a simple but vital question: What is to be done with this wheat, for which the American taxpayers will already in effect have paid? It could be left to rot in American bins. Or it could be used to promote American interests abroad. Surely American interests are better served if American surplus wheat is eaten by undernourished Indians than if it is eaten by rats in warehouses. At any rate, one thing is clear. If the economic dilemma which now threatens the whole non-Soviet world is to be dealt with, it must be attacked with energy and imagination. The Indian proposal, which the State Department is now mulling over, suggests at least one avenue of attack.

Three Lay Readers Combine To Maintain Worship At St. Mary's

THEY CONDUCT WORSHIP — Three lay readers who have conducted services every Sunday for three months at St. Mary's church, Episcopal, while the church has been without a rector. Left to right: C. S. Blomshild, R. L. Tollett, and W. R. Dawes, senior lay reader. (Jack M. Haynes Photo).

Although the little church of St. Mary's Episcopal, has not had a rector since last March, it has not missed a Sunday service. The church lost its rector, the Rev. J. R. Maceo, nearly six months ago, hopes to have a successor in a few more months.

Jane Brookshier Is Given Shower

Jane Brookshier, who will marry Billy Pat Blalack on September 2 in the home of the groom-to-be's grandmother, was honored at a shower. The affair was given in the home of Mrs. F. B. Blalack, 1011 Johnson, by Barbara Ann Douglass, Billie Jean O'Neal and Doris Jean Clay. Approximately 100 guests attended the miscellaneous gift tea held Thursday.

Usually, two of the men handle the Sunday morning prayer services, one conducting the service up to the sermon, the other reading the sermon and officiating for the closing rites. On many occasions, however, one lay reader has conducted the entire service.

Billie Jean O'Neal presided at the bride's book. Peggy Lamb displayed the gifts which were placed on a table covered with a hand-made cloth. Mrs. Frankie Nobles and Mrs. Paul Cash served refreshments. The refreshment table was covered with a white maderia cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink roses and silver fern. Crystal candelabra held white tapers. Crystal and silver appointments were used. Sweetpeas, white roses, mums and carnations formed in floral arrangements.

Although attendance might not be up to the church hopes, general consensus among the communicants is that the St. Mary's group has maintained an outstanding record of faithful worship under a lay leadership program which has continued so long.

Barbara Ann Douglass, Jane Brookshier, her mother, Mrs. Bill Brookshier, Mrs. Pat Blalack, the groom's mother and Mrs. F. B. Blalack received the guests.

New Big Springers Are Welcomed

Mrs. Jimmy Mason, community hostess, officially welcomed ten new families to Big Spring during the past week.

Dr. and Mrs. Ralph S. Clayton of 1006 W. 16th, are from Memphis, Tenn. He is associated with the Malone and Hogan hospital as a radiologist. They have one son, Stuart, six months.

Formerly of Rotan, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Taylor now reside in Apt. 20 Motor Inn Courts. Taylor has purchased the Howard County Implement company, which will be known as the Taylor Implement company in the future. They have one son, John L., a senior student at Texas A&M.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Griffin of 609 1/2 Bell, have two children, Lana, three, and Len, nine months. They are from El Paso and he is an inspector for the T&P railway.

The new residents at the Myers courts are Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Laws of Brownfield. Laws is party chief for Amarada Petroleum company.

Mr. and Mrs. William O. Sherwood, 2004 Johnson, are from Amarillo. Sherwood is a chain representative for the Hartfield Association Indemnity Insurance company. They have one son named Bill, who is six years old. Now residing at 2205 Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. L. Eugene Dudley and children, Norman, 12, and Glenda, 11, are from Snyder. Dudley is a seismograph driller for the Western Geophysical company.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Bice of 504 E. 18th have six children. They are Jamie, 16, Shirley, 14, Bernice Det, 12, Jimmy, ten; Johnny, eight and Tommy, four. The Bice family is from Bakersfield, Calif. and he is a motorman for Rowan Drilling company.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Allen of Brownwood both associated with the Bratcher Insurance Agency, now live at 1005 Bluebonnet. He is an adjuster in the office and Mrs. Allen is a secretary in the same firm.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gibson have made their new home at 1403 Johnson. The Gibsons are from Lubbock. They have one son, Bill, two years old. Gibson is an engineer with the Continental Oil Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Gage and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thompkins are leaving today for New Orleans, La.

Joe Hitt of Odessa is visiting Ted Wegmans and Leta Cowley.

Pink And Blue Shower Is Held Friday Evening

A pink and blue shower was held in honor of Mrs. Ray Harland in the home of Mrs. C. W. Brumley Friday evening.

Co-hostesses for the affair were Mrs. H. E. Atkinson and Mrs. Jerry Cottengame.

Games comprised the inter-entertainment. Refreshments were served.

Attending were Mrs. Eula Lee, Mrs. W. L. Henry and Melba, Mrs. Ruby Vaughn, Mrs. J. H. Fryer, Mrs. Grace Harrison, Mrs. K. E. Neill, Mrs. A. G. Terrace Has Some Feuding, Fussing

What the advance reports call "Feudin', Fussin', and A-Fightin'" which is the feature at the Terrace Drive-In theatre tonight and Monday night.

The versatile young star, Donald O'Connor, enlists the aid of Marjorie Main and Percy Kilbride, who won fame in "The Egg and I," and the trio manage to make merriment aplenty.

Donald starts out as a hair tonic salesman who runs so fast that he's practically kidnapped to represent the town of Rimrock

All Wet, However

KARLSRUHE, Germany. — Kurt Hofer, 21, student of medicine, wears no glasses although he is short-sighted. Recently he went to the stadium swimming pool and jumped into the water. Only when he hit the ground did he realize that there was no water. But he wasn't hurt.

Poland Entertained

LEGNICA, Poland. — Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, Soviet commander in Poland with headquarters here, has an excellent song and dance troupe attached to his headquarters which frequently tours principal Polish towns and cities.

Smuggling Irks Siam

BANGKOK. — The Bangkok mails come through these days choked with smuggled cigarettes. Authorities estimate that the Thailand (Siamese) government loses $50,000 annually through non-payment if imports taxes and duty stamps.

French traders and missionaries first settled in Wisconsin in 1670.

BROADWAY CHARACTERS — Bob Hope, Mary Jane Saunders and Lucille Ball combine talents for a new deft comedy from the pen of Damon Runyan, called "Sorrowful Jones." The picture is at the Ritz today and Monday. It's a new version of the old-timer, "Little Miss Marker," which brought Shirley Temple to fame, puts Hope in the role of a Broadway character who likes the races.

DEEP IN TEXAS—William Holden, William Bendix and Macdonald Carey carry the big roles in the Technicolor drama of wild days in Texas, "Streets of Laredo." The action thriller is the State's feature for today and Monday.

IN THE FAR EAST — Gail Russell shows Sabu how to use a walk-talkie in this scene from "Song of India." This story, contrasting western ways with those of the Far East brings the comely brunette and the one-time "telegenic" boy to the Lyric screen.

Hope Appears In 'Sorrowful Jones'

Broadway, that fabulous street where anything can happen—and usually does—is the scene of Bob Hope's newest Paramount comedy, "Sorrowful Jones," based on a story by Damon Runyan, and the ways guys and gals and the wise guys and gals make their living on it better than anyone in the world, the film is a remake of the oldie, "Little Miss Marker," which catapulted Shirley Temple to fame.

It plays today and Monday at the Ritz theatre with Lucille Ball as Bob's co-star and a supporting cast headed by William Demarest, Bruce Cabot, Thomas Gomez and young Mary Jane Saunders.

Hope, in the title role, portrays a penny-pinching bookmaker who lives for his bankroll, although he occasionally casts an appreciative eye in the direction of Miss Ball. She will be seen as a singer in a nightclub belonging to a big-time Broadway gambler, played by Bruce Cabot and known as Big Steve. Miss Ball covers the soft spot in her heart for Bob with contempt for his miser-liness. Then one day Bob steps out of character (or into it) by accepting as security for a bet a desperate man's little daughter. When the man is bumped off for knowing too much about Big Steve's horse-racing manipulations, Bob finds himself the "father" of a darling child.

Little Mary Jane Saunders will be seen as the child, and word is that her scenes with Hope are as heart-warming as any that have ever been seen on the screen.

The story concerns the changes Mary Jane works in the life of bookie Bob and the effect of those changes on his romantic, as well as his business life. From all accounts Hope has never been more hilariously funny nor has he ever had a story as strong and appealing as "Sorrowful Jones."

-STATE- TODAY and MONDAY
Western Drama Of Texas Plays At The State
Something for the devotees of outdoor action drama is promised in the Technicolor western adventure, "Streets of Laredo," at the State theatre today and Monday.
Stared are William Holden, William Bendix, Macdonald Carey and Mona Freeman, and the story provides for plenty of outdoor excitement plus dramatic impact.
Set in the days when the great state of Texas stood at the crossroads between law and disaster, "Streets of Laredo" concerns the musketeers of the West, banded together in outlaws. Eventually two of them—Holden and Bendix—by force of circumstances, join the Texas Rangers. The third—Carey—continues his highway robberies alone, but all three expect to be reunited in short order.
However, things happen that make good and permanent Rangers of Holden and Bendix and they back out of their agreement to work with Carey. Then he goes on such a rampage of lawlessness that a showdown is inevitable. Added fuel to the enmity between the erstwhile friends is the romantic rivalry between Holden and Carey for fiery Mona Freeman. It is she who finally resolves the conflict in a sensationally dramatic climax.

TRUMAN'S SISTER IS VERSATILE

'Miss Mary' Has Penchant For Taking Up Where HST Quit

GRANDVIEW, Mo.—If President Truman were looking for a personal goodwill ambassador he wouldn't have to go outside his own family to find one. His sister, Miss Mary Jane Truman, has a good record of taking up where her famous brother left off.

When Harry volunteered for service in World War I, his sister took over the operation of the family's 500-acre farm near Grandview. She was quite successful, relinquishing the duties only after the return of her brother in May, 1919.

One of Miss Truman's many farm duties was assisting her mother in the preparation of meals for harvesters. She recalled that when a cook failed to show up at the farm on Harry's wedding day, she helped feed farmers before attending the late afternoon ceremony.

The President served as postmaster of Grandview in 1914. His sister was assistant postmaster of Grandview from 1938 to 1942.

Next year Miss Truman will be installed as the Worthy Grand Matron of the Order of the Eastern Star in Missouri, the Order's highest office in the state, after 30 years of service in various chapter positions. Harry was Grand Master of the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge, A. F. and A. M., of Missouri, the highest Masonic office in the state, in 1940.

But unlike the President, who has been beaten for a political office only once, she was defeated twice before she was elected to a line office of the Grand Chapter of Missouri. She never was defeated for a local office, however.

Miss Truman is quick to emphasize the defeats, explaining that she always has been elected on her own and doesn't want her position as the Chief Executive's sister to influence her record.

Although she was born in 1899, Miss Truman looks much younger than her years. She resembles Harry and has the infectious Truman smile, plus a pair of dashing, hazel eyes that reflect her vitality. She walks erectly and gingerly. She chooses trim, simply tailored clothes in size 12.

While she modestly avoids the limelight, she has resumed a strenuous schedule of activities, suppressed during the illness of her mother who died at the age of 96 on July 26, 1947.

It is not unusual for "Miss Mary" to write 30 business and personal letters in longhand in one day. She does her own housework, drives her own car and travels frequently. Her lodge interests have taken her into eight states in recent months.

She likes to visit Washington. She says her most fascinating Washington experiences, next to witnessing the President's inauguration, have been watching several of the President's news conferences.

"I loved them," she commented. "They were lots of fun."

"Miss Mary" receives a heavy volume of daily mail. Most of the "outside" correspondence is from persons trying to reach President Truman through her.

Mary Jane and Harry studied piano together as children and played duets at community affairs. She shares her brother's fondness for "The Missouri Waltz."

"Harry always liked music and never had to be made to practice," she recalled.

A Secret Service man is stationed at all times at the Grandview cottage where Mary has lived alone since the death of her mother. A wire fence with padlocked gates surrounds the house. Admittance is gained only through a buzzer operated inside the house or by the Secret Service man.

Miss Truman explained that these means to assure privacy were inaugurated after her aged mother, with characteristic hospitality, invited the curious into her home. Mary cared for her mother throughout the declining years of her life.

Recently a nephew, Gilbert Truman, gave Mary Jane and a friend of hers pet dogs. Miss Truman named her dog "Bark," short for Barkley, after her friend named her dog "True," an abbreviation for Truman.

Mary Jane moves about nearby Kansas City without apparent recognition by strangers. Her autograph, however, often is sought after she has been identified at public gatherings. Because of her refusal to capitalize on her relationship to the President, she often takes a "back seat."

Miss Big Spring To Represent City

Joan Atkins, one of the winners in the July 4 Miss Big Spring contest, will be the Big Spring representative to the Sweetwater "Crossroads Stampede" Aug. 18-20. J. H. Greene, chamber of commerce manager, has announced.

Officials of the Sweetwater event had contacted Greene early in the week. Miss Atkins was chosen sponsor when Vegavene Apple, Miss Big Spring, indicated she would be unable to attend the Stampede.

She will appear with similar representatives from cities in the Sweetwater area in the Court of Honor for the Queen of the "Crossroads Stampede" who will be chosen from Sweetwater. Sponsors will be present for all activities of the three-day celebration.

Dr. John Gorrie of Apalachicola, Fla., is credited by the industry with having manufactured the first ice in this country in 1851.

Polygamy Hit By Woman Of Thai

BANGKOK (AP)—How can Thai (Siamese) women be considered as having equality with men when the males are permitted to have more than one wife? So asked Nang Nantaka Suprabhatand, former chairman of the Women's Law Association, amid the cheers of the Thai Women's Association.

The woman attorney said Thai women legally have equal rights but nature and tradition militate against attainment of this equality. She said it probably would be impossible to pass a law to change the marital situation, but it was fortunate that the cost of living these days abstracts most men from having more than one wife.

The law recognizes three types of Thai wives: legally registered, semi-wife and servant wife. Women have the right of divorce, she commented, but she did not favor use of this legal weapon except in extreme cases. Nang Nantaka also criticized the law that gives the husband power to handle his wife's property. She said women who had their own careers outside the home should be allowed to manage their own property.
