HOME TOWN TALK

By BEDDY Fellow said yesterday there are too many people trying to hatch up new ways to get a fellow's money.

Which reminds us of one of the griefs of the newspaper man's life—these 'freak' attractions that travel over the country continually.

Looks like every time a three-legged calf or a smart dog or an eight-foot man is found some fellow takes the animal or man in tow, puts him on a truck with big signs and starts out with 'the most astounding attraction of the country' or something like that.

You'd be surprised how many of these promoters seek free advertising from newspapers. Often there is some news in the 'freak.' But never so much as the guy who collects the easy public's money wants you to believe there is.

The other day there was a fellow in town selling cards at ten cents each because he said he was the only man who ever got a complete pardon while in a death cell awaiting execution for murder.

The latest thing in 'freak' and fly-by-night trash attractions is to hook yourself up, or at least claim to, with some well-known organization. Many a worthy organization is victimized by such promoters because the organization is led to believe there is a chance for some money that too often dwindles to nothing before 'expenses are paid.'

Which brings to mind the oftentimes amusing applications conscientious people put upon the things they personally are interested in.

You'd be surprised how many hundreds of things happen 'for the good of the community'; things that people by some far-fetched process of reasoning lead themselves or others or both to believe 'are good things for the town.'

The bug under the bush usually is that somebody has hatched what to him is a new and clever plan for getting some good advertising free—but, if they only knew, that 'original' idea is old as the hills.

Barnum was right.

Man Injured While Working On Hotel Files Damage Suit

R. C. Comer, injured May 20, 1930 when struck by a falling timber while working as a plumber when the Settles Hotel was under construction, has filed a damage suit against the Indemnity Insurance company of North America, seeking $22,700.

The company, said to have been insurer for E. V. McRight, Construction Co. of Dallas, contractors for the building, is named defendant on the charge that a man in the employ of McRight was responsible for the timber falling. Six per cent interest and attorney fees also are asked.

15,000 Corporations Affected In Measure Reported Favorably

AUSTIN, April 9 (INS)—Between fourteen and fifteen thousand corporations would be affected by an intangible assets tax bill which has been favorably reported out by the house committee on revenue and taxation. The bill, a committee substitute for one by Reps. Barron and Gilbert, applies to both domestic and foreign companies doing business in Texas.

Under existing statutes, only railroads, ferries, privately owned bridges and toll roads are taxed on intangible values. Exceptions under the bill would be companies such as those now taxed on gross receipts, production or gasoline sales.

Special exceptions are telephone and telegraph companies; express companies; oil or sulphur companies, but factories, wholesale and retail stores, commission houses, real estate agencies; oil and gas pipe lines, newspapers and various other enterprises would be affected.

As amended by the committee, the bill provides for amendments to five articles relating to taxation in the revised civil statutes. It calls for a state tax board aided by the attorney general's department; provides for a secretary for the board; defines the method of applying the tax and includes provisions designed to "carry out the principle of intangible taxation for state purposes only."

Valuations of intangible assets would be fixed by the state board at Austin as at present and could not be altered by local boards of equalization.

Legislation Controlling Cotton Acreage Imperative Says State Commissioner Of Agriculture

FLORESVILLE, April 9 (INS).—Predicting the possibility of a cotton crop surplus by the end of next year equal to the annual demand for American cotton, J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture, declared here today that enactment of legislation regulating cotton acreage was "imperative."

He addressed a joint meeting of the chamber of commerce and farmers of this vicinity and asserted that in his opinion, enactment of the Olsen bill for farm conservation and regulation of production, by the Texas legislature would prove "the nation's greatest benefactor."

"I want every man, woman and child in Texas to know that I favor passage of the Olsen bill," he said. "I may be wrong in my conviction, but I am honest and sincere, and willing to risk any reputation I may possess on it."

"No one cares for a pessimist, but we must NOT close our eyes to facts. Last year we produced 14,000,000 bales of cotton, and this year's consumption is running on a basis of 11,467,000 bales. We have suffered a decline of a million and a quarter bales in consumption annually for the past three years."

"Assuming that consumption continues at the present rate, we will need only ten and a quarter million bales for next year. It is evident our carry-over on September 1, 1931, will be 8,300,000 bales, so if the 1931 crop be no more than 12,500,000 bales we will have 12 months' present, a carry-over in excess of the present supply. You can draw your own conclusions of what this means to every industry in the nation."

"To bring about an adjustment, we must have positive and definite means of regulating production. Educational campaigns have failed. Legislation remains. The Olsen bill is the solution."

Special Session Already Discussed By State Solons

AUSTIN, April 9. (INS)—Alder Gov. Sterling has indicated he will not call a special session of the legislature, there is much speculation among legislators to the effect that one will be absolutely necessary between now and next September.

There now remains less than a month of working days in which to pass the major appropriation bills. These must be passed before the beginning of the next fiscal year September 1.

Not only must they be passed, but the state must find some additional revenue to prevent a huge deficit in the treasury. So far, not a single revenue measure of importance has been finally acted on. Several of them are still in the committee stage.

Neither has there been any action on such important legislative subjects as public utility regulation, restricting of the state constitutionally, legislatively and judicially there has been no final action on the truck regulation bills not on the state highway financing and refunding to counties, to say nothing of hundreds of other less important measures on the calendar of each house.

Lieut. Gov. Witt gave out a statement recently in which he expressed the belief the main subjects of legislation could be considered before the end of the 120 day session on May 12. Many legislators, however, are beginning to express doubt that such is the case.

Should the extra session become necessary, it is not likely that it will immediately follow this longest one that ever has been held. Special sessions that immediately follow the regular ones are not usually very successful.

This session, the first under the constitutional amendment extending the length from 60 to 120 days, has brought out, in the minds of many, the mistake in modifying the rules so as to allow general introduction of bills longer than the first 30 days. If their introduction had been limited to that period, there would likely be less than half the number on won the calendar.

On the other hand, it has appeared wise to those who sponsored a change in the rules that committee action and final action on bills were allowed from the first session. Otherwise, the house calendar would be in a worse jam than it is.

A sine die adjournment resolution already has been introduced in the house. It was laid on the table subject to call. It calls for adjournment on May 12, the end of the 120 day session.

Plants Damaged By Late Freeze May Be Saved, Says W. S. Ross

Plants which were frozen during the recent late freeze, need not be dug up and discarded, W. S. Ross, local nurseryman, declared today.

According to Mr. Ross many plants were badly damaged by the freeze. The warm growing season gave growth to the plants. Soft, sappy wood and leaves are easily killed by cold weather, Mr. Ross pointed out.

He advises that plants be left in the ground until new buds are visible on the body and limbs. He then suggests that all damaged wood be cut away, to the ground, if it is necessary. In most cases, he said, the plants were only killed a portion of the way back.

It is his belief that in no case were the roots killed where a well established root system existed. He warned against digging away the plant until it is certain that the root succumbed to the freeze.

"A live plant root," he said "is better than an unestablished plant. He advised that established plants not be watered until after April 20, to be insured against another late freeze."

It Is Guaranteed

Thousands of well meaning people are taking the chance of being crippled for life with rheumatism. When a rheumatic attack occurs they seek to deaden the pain with handy relievers—a method that usually ends with disastrous results. Every rheumatic sufferer knows that painful, swollen, inflamed joints and muscles are caused by an excess of uric acid in the blood. When you drive this troublesome uric acid from the blood you are getting rid of the cause of rheumatism—relievers won't do this.

While you are taking the nerve deadening relievers the uric acid continues to penetrate further and further into the joints and tendons

CAMELS are wrapped Only in MOISTURE-PROOF Cellophane

THE whole country is talking about the throat-easy mildness and the factory freshness of Camel Cigarettes in the new Humidor Pack.

The above chart prepared by the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory tells you why. Please examine it carefully. It is an un-failing guide to cigarette selection and enjoyment.

As you can quickly see by the three upper curves on this interesting chart, cigarettes that lack the protection of the Humidor Pack lose their moisture rapidly from the day they are manufactured.

And day by day as this moisture disappears, the smoke from these cigarettes becomes harsher, hotter, more unkind to the smoker's throat.

Not so with Camels! Factory-fresh Camels are air-sealed in the new Sanitary Package which keeps the dust and germs out and keeps the flavor in.

Make these tests yourself. It is so easy to tell the difference between parched dry cigarettes and fresh prime Camels that it is no wonder everybody is reaching for a fresh cigarette today.

Your fingers identify stale, dried-out tobaccos at once. While a Camel is flexible and pliant.

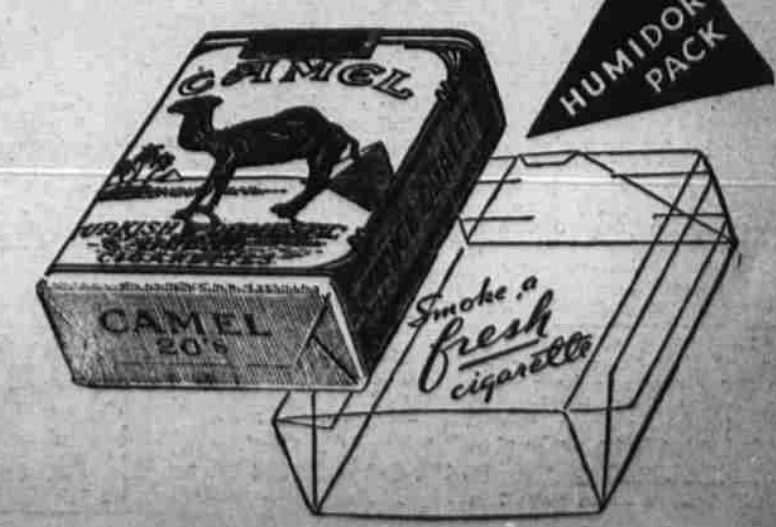

Your ears can tell the difference too. For a dust-dry cigarette crackles under pressure.

But the real test is taste and there is simply no comparison between the rich mildness of a Camel and the hot, brackish smoke from a stale, dry cigarette.

Switch to Camels just for today then leave them tomorrow if you can.

CAMELS

Artificial heat in houses and apartments soon dries the moisture out of cigarettes wrapped the old fashioned way. It is the mark of a considerate hostess, by means of the Humidor Pack, to "Serve a fresh cigarette." Buy Camels by the carton—this cigarette will remain fresh in your home and office.

DIET IN TUBERCULOSIS—II
In view of the waning away of the bodies of the tuberculous, it is but natural that food and feeding should have played a prominent part in the history of the treatment of tuberculosis.

Today, while food is regarded as an aid in treatment rather than a specific, the tuberculous individual must watch his diet and his feeding habits.

Whereas formerly the special diets proposed for the tuberculous were urged either because of their richness in food content, or on the basis of some unexplainable virtue,

The mineral content of these diets, the chemical reaction of the residues, and their vitamins, are thought by the proponents of these diets to hasten healing and to help circumscribe the disease.

Reception Honors Officials of Conference and Visiting Delegates; Is the Only Social Event of Convention

Members of the Methodist Birdie Bailey and Women's Missionary Societies were hostesses to women of the city Wednesday afternoon at a tea at the Settles Hotel honoring the officials of the conference and the local societies.

Mrs. L. W. Croft was chairman of the tea committee, assisted by Mrs. V. R. Smitham and Mrs. Fred Miller. Although there was no formal receiving line the guests were received by Mrs. W. G. Bailey, wife of the pastor.

The banquet hall was arranged for a seated tea with the tea table at one end and the platform, draped in blue velvet at the other.

Mrs. Charles Morris gave several piano selections. Mrs. T. B. Reeves, accompanied by Mrs. Herbert Keaton sang a solo; Mrs. Charles Morris and Miss Roberta Gay gave a piano duet.

Mrs. Rollins Gives Main Address To Methodists

The main address of the Northwest Texas Conference of the Methodist W.M.S. was given last evening at the church by Mrs. Nat G. Rollins, president of the Conference, who gave her well-known speech, "A Summer's Sundays," an account of her trip abroad.

Mrs. Rollins talked particularly of the part which the churches played in the history of the people of Europe. She spent her first Sunday abroad in Scotland and was awakened by the kirk bells.

Arno Art Club Invites Visitors To Session

Lecture on Art and the Essentials of Design Given

The Arno Art Club held a special meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. O. L. Thomas to which they invited friends of the members to hear James Schmidly, who studied art in Switzerland and the University of Texas, give a lecture on "Essentials of Design."

Mr. Schmidly spoke of the importance of design from early days to the present; the part it played in the life of primitive man, unspoiled by tradition. He pointed out the influence of the geometrical designs of Egyptian culture spread by merchants all over the world and recently revived by the excavations of archaeologists; also of the part played by Greece, Rome, Italy and especially the Chinese and Japanese who are considered masters of design.

Interest and understanding, Mr. Schmidly said, were the only requirements for understanding a picture. Design was, he said, orderly arrangement in space.

The lecture was illustrated with paintings of the ancient and the new schools illustrating rhythm, unity, balance, harmony of color, line, pattern and perspective, which were, said the lecturer, the essentials of design.

The guests present were Meses V. Van Gleason, Bernard Fisher, Joyce Fisher, Ira H. Rockhold, Robert Henry, H. S. Faw, Ellen Gould, E. H. Happel, A. B. Wade and Seth H. Parsons.

Mrs. E. O. Ellington and Mrs. J. L. Woods left Wednesday for El Paso, for several days' visit.

Loucile Allgood's Weekly Letter Will Be Ready For Cottage Cheese Demonstrations Soon

Dear Club Women: This is a rambling letter, as it partakes of my nature for the past week. First of all I will say I hope all of you spent a pleasant Easter. My little trip was very successful. I am bringing back information on cheese making, and plan to give one or more demonstrations in making American cheese soon. I helped make some while away. I ate some which could not be distinguished from the commercial product. Five gallons of milk will make about five pounds of cheese. Whole, fresh milk is used. Some of you have been wanting to see this demonstration for some time now I can promise to give it soon.

Mrs. Dave Leatherwood brought me some socks she had dyed the following colors, brown, orange and golden brown, using a package of Putnam's dye to two socks. The colors are beautiful, but there is very little contrast between the orange and golden brown. The color of the socks prevents an intense orange. If any of you get orange, let me know how you do it.

From Feb. 21 to March 28 Mrs. W. C. Rogers sold 26 angel cakes for $26. The ingredients excepting the eggs, cost $1.90. She used nearly 22 dozen eggs, and by means of her skilled labor, and finding a market for her cakes, she received $1.09 per dozen for eggs marketed in these cakes. This money is being used to improve her living room.

Mrs. J. W. Wooten of Fairview traded hatching eggs for 500 baby chicks, trap-nested white leghorns. The birds are three weeks old, and she has lost only five. When they are six weeks old she plans to separate the cockerels and pullets and fatten the cockerels for the market. She will save the best ones for breeding. Mrs. Wooten is in the living room contest, but is finding it necessary to use most of her money now on her chickens.

Mrs. E. O. Ellington and Mrs. J. L. Woods left Wednesday for El Paso, for several days' visit.

Mrs. Zinn Is Given Basket Of Flowers As Oldest Living Member Attending Conference

Methodist W.M.S. Convention Comes To Close With Many Expressions of Thanks to Hostess Societies

The twenty-first annual conference of the Northwest Texas Methodist W. M. S. closed today at 12 o'clock following many tributes of praise for the hostess city and the two local organizations who had entertained the visitors and delegates.

The meeting was opened with a devotional service led by Mrs. D. P. Yoder of Snyder, with Mrs. Herbert Keaton at the piano. The time was then given over the completion of business details left over from Wednesday.

Resolutions and reports from the committees on Bible Study, young peoples' work, social service work and children's work were read. Mrs. W. P. Garvin, of Amarillo, was appointed delegate to the council meeting.

District secretaries were appointed, and were presented to the delegates as a whole. Mrs. E. B. Zinn was presented with a basket of flowers as the oldest living worker present at the W. M. S. conference, and as one of the charter members of the local Methodist church. Mrs. J. A. Brittain made the presentation, giving to Mrs. Zinn, the basket of flowers used in the memorial service. Many local officials also spoke in behalf of Mrs. Zinn's activity throughout the years.

The Big Spring women expressed their appreciation of the compliments paid to them by the visitors.

INVEST IN AN ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR

Save Food!

Big Spring women who own electric refrigerators realize fully the savings that they have made through the use of correct refrigeration. They have saved food, saved money, saved time and effort. In addition, they have safeguarded the health of their families by keeping the temperature of perishable food below 50 degrees, the "danger line."

No wonder that these women unanimously agree that their electric refrigerator was a splendid investment.

It is easy to own an electric refrigerator. A small cash payment and convenient monthly terms allow you to have all the advantages of electric refrigeration while you are paying for it.

No New Faces in Managerial Family Of Texas League When Curtain Call Sounds April 15 for 1931 Baseball

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Texas, April 10 (AP)—When the curtain goes up April 15 on the twenty-fifth edition of the Texas league pennant drama, there will be no new faces in the managerial family. At Dallas, Fort Worth, Shreveport and San Antonio, new pilots have been installed, but their faces are old ones to Texas league fans. For the first time in modern history of the league, no managerial changes were made during the 1930 schedule, but when winter arrived, the moguls had to keep warm, so they switched a few managers. Only two of the 1930 skippers are out of the circuit—Frank Snyder and George Burns. Snyder sent the Fort Worth Cats to the league pennant and Dixie series crown, but this season is doing regular make duty as St. Paul of the American Association. Burns had no luck at San Antonio last year—thus he traveled on.

Baker Back
Beaumont fans will welcome Del Baker at the helm. Del steered the Exporters to fourth place last year in the first half, but the second half caught him in seventh place. Joe Schultz returns to Houston after shoving his Buffaloes into second place last year in both the first and second halves. Claude Robertson, who has been in the Texas league as player and manager for years, is San Antonio's new manager. Art Phelan, after years of trying to win a flag at Shreveport, moves into Fort Worth as chief of the Cats this season. Jake Atz who tried out 100 ball players for Dallas last year and never threatened the leaders, is to manage Shreveport. Hap Morse, Dallas' most popular professional athlete, after five years of fine work at second base for the Steers, will manage the club this year. Carl Williams is back at Wichita Falls, and Del Pratt has moved his Waco aggregation to Galveston and will start with practically the same club he finished with in 1930. So there is no new blood this year among the bosses, just a few switches of veterans who have come to regard the Texas league as their permanent baseball home.

Not Needed
This doesn't mean, however, that new managers are needed. In fact, the eight clubs who will start places April 15, regardless of whether they get there or not, have excellent managers—men who know baseball smart—men who know the Texas league a real race this season. Whether the eight managers are going to enjoy the same luck as 1930 pilots did is another one of baseball's most puzzling questions. To start as a manager is an ambition finishing in the same capacity is another chapter in the book. No manager can win without material, but that's something "cellar fans" fail to consider. Of the eight, Del Baker, Joe Schultz, Claude Robertson, Hap Morse and Del Baker will probably play a few games. Art Phelan, Carl Williams and Jake Atz are due to prop one foot up in their respective dugouts and watch the pennant parade without taking a playing part.

Hap Morse is the only man in the league without previous managerial experience. Two years ago, Hap managed the Steers for about two weeks at the rag end of the season, but he and the players were simply playing out the schedule. Morse seems to be getting away good. He has won most of his exhibition games.

Each manager who has a club at the post position on April 15, knows through experience, the strength of the Texas league—who will be the result—who will finish as managers? It is something the boys would like to know, for always uneasy is the head that wears the skipper's crown.

To the sporting literature of the times soon may be added a few thousand words, with many of them of the six syllable variety, from the trenchant typewriter of James Joseph (Gene) Tunney.

I understand that before embarking on his latest trip abroad the former heavyweight champion was persuaded to begin work on a series of articles for magazine publication.

At any rate he took a portable machine along with him, having decided against a ghost-writer. Now the cables report Gene in search of material on the origin of ancient boxing. In Egypt he asked archaeologists, all five syllables of them, to give him any records that may be turned up on the subject.

Tunney has discoursed on the title activities of the ancient Greeks. He has studied the old records. No doubt he can be depended upon to embellish what literary effort he makes with much material antedating the days of Figg, let alone Sullivan.

TOP STILL AHEAD

Duke university's rise to a place among America's richest endowed institutions has been rapid enough, but the big North Carolina college still is some distance from the top. This column is reminded by a check-up of its recent assertion that Duke ranked next to Harvard.

Although Duke now claims an endowment "in excess" of $40,000,000, World Almanac figures for 1930 list it at $21,017,966, in twelfth place. At the rate the endowment is growing, however, Duke may be expected to go rapidly up the scale.

Here's the ranking list of the Almanac:

Harvard	$108,687,473
Yale	87,918,017
Columbia	57,513,532
Chicago U.	59,015,297
Mass. Tech.	31,000,000
Stanford	30,000,000
Texas U.	27,175,405
Johns Hopkins	29,828,975
Princeton	25,000,000
Rochester U.	24,000,000
Cornell	24,000,000

MORE MOORES

The major league training camps are all cluttered with members of the Moore family this spring, making it very confusing for the experts. The Moore boys are outfielders with the Reds, Athletics and Cubs; pitchers with the Cardinals, Robins and White Sox.

EAST SLIPS FURTHER
Just how far the eastern Old Guard of football has gone from the days when the "Big Four" dominated the gridirons may be judged from the spring situation, with Pennsylvania going "Warner" under its new regime and Yale turning to the "Rockne system."

STEER NETTERS WILL ENTER MEET FRIDAY

-The- Water Bucket
BY BOBBY CAMPBELL

Officials of the newly designated football district, composed of Big Spring, Midland, San Angelo, Brownwood and Sweetwater, will gather at San Angelo Saturday to map out the 1931 football schedule. We rather predict it will be a lively session. For a number of reasons it should be so. In the first part, the games with Brownwood are going to cause a great amount of discussion. There will be some argument as to holiday affairs. It is human nature to want to get the best games possible for the two holiday events—Armistice Day and Thanksgiving Day. George Gentry, the son of the local high school, declares no games within the district have been arranged yet.

Colorado, incidentally, is still maintaining a determined fight to be removed from the Class B ranks and injected into the Class A circle. Colorado maintains, and rightly so, that that town should have been included in this newly carved Class A sector, rather than Brownwood. Which is a logical contention, and one worthy of thought. Had it been thus—had Brownwood been left with her old neighbors in the Oilbelt, and Colorado been raised a notch to this Class A circle—all things would have been serene in that home state. Such an arrangement would not only have proved beneficial to Colorado, but to Brownwood as well, and to all other towns in this district. As matters stand now, Midland, located on the fringe of desert wastes, figuratively speaking, must trek across plenty of miles to meet the Lions at Brownwood. We believe elevation of Colorado into the district, even though Brownwood was aghast at the prospect, would prove beneficial financially to every team in the loop. And, although they say the financial end of the game is always secondary, we've never believed it to any great extent.

Grover C. 'Ox' Emerson, captain of the University of Texas gridsters, has written the final chapter to his sensational novel. He has given up his battle for eligibility. Whether he did or didn't probably never will be known. Regardless, he has stepped down. His statement, issued in regard to the case, is worth reading.

"In the final analysis it seems to be that there would be no good gained regardless of what decision the conference reaches on my eligibility.

"First, if I were declared ineligible it would probably be detrimental to me and work a hardship on my future.

"Second, if I were declared eligible, I feel sure that throughout the country, and especially in this conference there would be a tendency to place a stigma on the University of Texas which would be hard to erase in a short length of time.

"In conclusion I will say that after a great deal of deliberation I have decided to withdraw my claim for eligibility and it will not be necessary for the case to go further."

And in this manner, Ox Emerson passed from under the spotlight of Texas football.

Big Spring and Snyder are expected by Prexy Anderson of the Abilene Morning News, to give Abilene a nice race for district track and field honors in the meet to be held there next week. He says, "Both Snyder and Big Spring are expected to give the Abilene Eagles a close call in the district track and field meet next week without being bothered, but the Scurry and Howard county contestants will make some excellent showings. Howell, McClinton and Greenfield are the Snyder accolytes due to win one first place each, but will lack the points to finish on top of the 'heap. Bill Stevens' Steers are greater in number, but are not thought to possess the class of the Snyder trio. Reid, mile runner; Bill Flowers; hurdler; Rockhold, sprinter; W. Orr, all around field star; Richbourg, broad jumper are some of Big Spring's best."

He forgot Lloyd Forrester, high stepping jumper. Forrester, if the wind is blowing right, may place in the high jump. He was credited with six feet here in an invitation to meet last week, although he didn't clear the bar at that height. The cane had suffered a fracture from the spring situation, with Regis Lebey, fine young pitching prospect, to the big leagues this year. Lebey is with the Braves and Bill McCreary predicts important things for the Pittsburgh youngsters.

These Cups Await Relayers

Above is seen a display of awards to be given winners in the Texas Tech relays to be held at the college April 11, for high school teams.

Texas Tech Relays for High School Athletes Attracting Many Dash Men

Start At 10

All players will gather at Simmons University courts before the first round is begun at 10 a. m. The matches then will get underway with the Abilene Christian College and the Orange Street battlers. The annual tennis tournament opens Friday morning. More than 50 contestants for the various divisions of the tournament are expected. Eleven counties have filled full entries for boys singles and doubles and girls' singles and doubles, it has been announced at Abilene.

In addition to the general county court battle, Sweetwater, Abilene and Big Spring will vie with full squads for independent district titles.

His Students Strike

LUBBOCK, Texas, April 9.—The biggest track event ever held in West Texas is the prediction for the first annual Texas Tech High School relays to be held at the college April 11, beginning promptly at 10 a. m.

"We are going to run these relays," Dutchy Smith, assistant coach at the Tech who is in charge of the event said in stressing the fact that the relays would be run off just like clock work with something doing all the time.

A large number of loving cups and other special prizes are being awarded by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce. The largest trophy of the entire meet is being awarded by the Avianche Journal and the high point man and the second high point man are to receive a gold watch, to be awarded by the Lubbock Hotel and Andersons Jewelry Store.

Events in the contest include 50 yard dash, 100 yard dash, 220 low hurdles, javelin throw, high jump and 5 relays.

The relays include 440 yards (each man running 110 yards); 880 yards (each man running 220 yards); 1 mile (each man running 440 yards); Medley (first man, 440 yards; 2nd 220, 3rd 220, and the 4th 800); Special first 120 low hurdles, 2nd 220 yards, 3rd 110 yards, 4th 440 yards.

There will be no charges of any kind, no fees for schools entering. Elimination for the 50 and 100 yard dashes, 220 hurdles, javelin throw and high jump will be held in the morning of April 11.

No elimination will be held in the relays. There will be eight lanes for the runners and all entries in the relays will be checked by them.

The contest is open to any high school track team in Texas and Eastern New Mexico.

John P. Nicholson, coach of the Notre Dame track team, was a holder of world's hurdle records when he was at the University of Missouri.

Obie Bristow, Doctor Wofford B. Hardy, the new president of the City League, Marcos J. Williamson and this department, held an informal conference on the 1931 grid season in Dr. Hardy's conference room, Wednesday. Bristow was asked as to how things are shaping up in spring training, and replied with a snort of the nose, a shrug of the shoulders, and a little twist of the bemoaned neck. We took it that things were just fine, thank you. The case of Mike Hicks was aired with much gusto. It was found that Hicks insists on learning at Roscoe, and leaping at Sweetwater. A nice arrangement. Bristow informed that spring training probably would be brought to an abrupt ending in about a week, thus writing finis to the initial workouts.

It is true that the Snyder trackers are probably superior to the Big Spring representatives. Snyder is the present abode of Buford McClinton, that dashing young fellow that streaks down the path in beautiful form. He tries the short dashes and the hurdles.

When it was either repaired or substituted, it sagged in the middle, where Forrester cleared it. He is a good high jumper, however, and it would surprise this department if one whit if he didn't do something in the district affair.

Events in the contest include 50 yard dash, 100 yard dash, 220 low hurdles, javelin throw, high jump and 5 relays.

The contest is open to any high school track team in Texas and Eastern New Mexico.

Golfers Clash With Lamesa Sunday

The Sand Belt Golf Association's schedule will get underway Sunday, with the six clubs matched for initial play.

Big Spring golfers will trek to Lamesa for the opening encounter. The eight linkmen to represent the local county club, in the manner in which they qualified, are: J. S. Robbins, M. E. Whiteside, J. E. Kuykendall, L. Coffee, Doc Alken, Lake Brewer, G. R. Porter and W. E. Bonham.

Midland plays at Texon in the opener, and Snyder moves in on Colorado.

The league was organized in March.

Hutto Expects Battle With Brady

Pairs With Davis in Doubles; Girls Bidding Fair

Big Spring high school net stars, will invade Abilene Friday to launch their 1931 attack on district honors.

Tommy Hutto, crack forward of this year's basketball team, will pick up his racquet and make a determined fight for the singles title. He will pair with Joe Davis in the doubles.

In the girls' division, Ruth Smith will bear the singles burden. Dorothy Driver and Zillah Mae Ford will compete in the doubles.

The annual tennis tournament opens Friday morning. More than 50 contestants for the various divisions of the tournament are expected. Eleven counties have filled full entries for boys singles and doubles and girls' singles and doubles, it has been announced at Abilene.

In addition to the general county court battle, Sweetwater, Abilene and Big Spring will vie with full squads for independent district titles.

Whether Hutto can stop the Brady barrier is problematical. It is only known that Brady is a clever net proponent, and that Hutto is credited with playing a hard-driving, rushing game.

In Hutto and Davis, the district netters will find a formidable bid for the doubles honors. Although Davis is a first year man, he plays a neat brand of tennis and should work well with the lanky Tommy Hutto. With Brady out of the picture as far as the doubles are concerned, the Steers are credited with at least the inside track.

In the girls' division, Ruby Smith is given a nice chance to sweep through to a victory. Ford and Driver are veterans in the doubles combination, and it would not be considered any kind of an upset if their racquets welded their way to the top of the heap.

We, Who Vision The Opportunities For Old Big Spring

Must realize that the weak have always ridden and will continue the route of least resistance, and that the strong will map out the route, pave the way and furnish the power to carry the load.

"Those of us who have hung up a sign, proclaiming to the world that we are representing some life of business endeavor, have at the same time assumed obligations of leadership for the community we would serve. We are forced to look ahead plan and work for the things that will prove for the best of all.

It calls for no deep thinking to figure the advantage accruing to all through the growth and prosperity of our manufacturing industries, since today they are furnishing the source of our principal income. These industries prosper exactly in proportion to the bulk of sales of the commodities they manufacture. Your patronage of these commodities is a constructive contribution to your community's obligated program.

"There is, we say, a legitimate way for Dick Brown to carry out his desire of plugging the structure and moving on, and that is to pay $500 a month in lieu of drilling, but, naturally, Dick Brown (the major oil company) prefers not to be out any money. Therefore, under the guise of preventing waste and conservation (conservation), so to speak, the proration idea is to get the Railroad Commission of Texas to order him, Dick Brown not to drill or produce at capacity, and the railroad commission's order would be Dick Brown's defense at law in any suit filed by John Doe, the land owner.

"It goes without saying that were all these various and sundry structures plugged and no oil produced therefrom for a period of years that the various towns and communities would suffer since the amounts of money to which they were entitled to have spent in them would have been diminished in most instances over 1,000 per cent. Therefore, the foregoing would constitute reason No. 1 why so many of us are against proration, and we will here name five of the many reasons substantiating our stand:

Price Fixing Charged "First, that only the landowner or ranchman, and the oil lessee are interested and the lessee only has to drill when the land owner makes him or he can keep from drilling any time he wants to by paying the land owner advance royalty.

"Second, because under the guise of estimating that there are heavy potentials of oil in a certain given field, they force proration upon the field and thereby it has a tendency to fix the price of oil by artificial stabilization, all of which is clearly in violation of the anti-trust laws of this state and does away with competition. Furthermore, it is not right to the consuming public to fix the price of oil, and in the long run Dan Moody and his East Texans will win their fight, since we people in America always have believed that when a man stands for justice and right he cannot lose.

"Third, because the independents have tested the good faith of the major companies by asking for a tariff or embargo upon foreign oil, which the majors are shipping into this country every day and forcing the ranchman to keep his oil under the ground. In addition they have forced us to try proration for better than two years and we have nothing but chaos and strife from one end of the state to the other, and a change certainly would be good for Texas, to say the least.

Proration Cannot Be Enforced "Fourth, there are certain oil producing states in the union and the habits, manners and customs and mode of doing business vary in all the militia of the United States government to enforce proration fairly and equitably with reference to each oil producing field and state, and then the producers of each state would be suspicious of one another as to which one was withdrawing the most oil etc. In other words, they want to go in partners with us and tell us what to do to save ourselves but they resent our suggestions as to what they should do in fairness to all.

"Fifth, Those independents living in West Texas who are against proration do sincerely hope that all landowners and business men will study this question and help us to do away with all of these demoralizing conditions which we think have been brought about largely by the continuous appointment of commissions to run other people's business in all lines.

"History will show that men have died in order that each of us might have the right of freedom of contract. This is a precious right and the desire for this right among others caused the founding of America. Why should we delegate this precious right to the railroad commission or to any other set of Mr. Hoover's 'big men' of industry. We think that the true meaning of big men is in 'business of heart' and not 'business from the standpoint of publicity, or simply because they have made a fortune in the stock market; and business of heart, fundamentally, a desire for the general welfare of mankind and to apply the acid test of whether a proposed scheme is good or not is to ask if it is right to one's fellow citizens?"

Consented Action Needed The independent oil men are almost powerless by themselves without the aid of the voters of this state at large. Therefore, if you are interested—and you should be—and understand the issue, please write to your senator or your representative stating this fact, and I am sure all independent oil men will appreciate your support and efforts upon their behalf, and you will be doing a real service to mankind in all businesses."

Montgomery Ward Announced Annual 'Ward Week' Here

Announcement was made Thursday by L. A. Hirsch, manager of the local retail store of Montgomery Ward & Company that its annual "Ward Week" would be launched Saturday and that record-smashing merchandise values would be offered the public.

Preparation for the 1931 "Ward Week" has been going on for months, until the management now feels this year's record will surpass even that of last year, when sales and attendance records were shattered all over the country, said Mr. Hirsch.

Producers of thousands of articles of merchandise have been working for a long time to provide additional merchandise to meet the contemplated "Ward Week" demands, he declared.

"The management of Montgomery Ward & Company believed that special inducements such as have been authorized for the coming "Ward Week" not only will be of direct benefit to buyers, but will serve to create that buying activity necessary to the restoration of normal business conditions," Mr. Hirsch said.

ECONOMIC VS. LIQUOR DALLAS, April 9 (UP)—Economic maladjustment was given precedence over prohibition as a political question by J. C. Adams, Texas member of the national anti-democratic executive committee here yesterday. He stated that the prohibition question is but a "pimple on the body politic compared with the cancers of economic maladjustment."

"I believe we democrats should operate to remove the cancers rather than to devote all our attention to the pimple," Adams said.

Large Living Room Adds To Home Appeal

Among its other good points, this house features a large living room, increasingly popular the world over.

In the arrangement here the living room is to the right of the spacious entrance hall. On the left is the dining room, and directly ahead is the stairway.

Adding attractiveness to the exterior is the tall bay, which enlarges the dining room and bedroom above it. Adjacent to the living room is a convenient lavatory.

The very large fireplace claims much interest in the living room. Other notable features here are the space for books and the fernery bay window beside the chimney.

Upstairs there are four bedrooms and a bath. All rooms have good sunlight and cross-ventilation.

Exterior walls are of buff, coral cream stucco. The half-timbered and wide clapboards are rough-sawn, and other marks showing through the weathered gray finish.

The roof is given colorful touches and there by the judicious mingling of shingles and eaves with the prevailing dark gray slats.

Echoing the color note from above, the slanting sides of the large stucco chimney are covered with shingle tile in the colors of the roof slats.

The entrance should face east, providing east, west and south exposures for the living room. Some owners might prefer to let the end housing the dining room and kitchen face the street, thus throwing the long way of the living room upon the garden.

The 1 of should be at least 60 by 125 feet, while one 75 by 125 feet would be even more suitable. Trees and landscaping will add greatly to the charm of this spacious residence.

Crop production for Idaho in 1929 was 9.4 per cent above the last 10 year average, with beans and potatoes the highest on record.

One of the birds, a champion, was valued at $500 by its owner and the others at $100 each.

A reward of $25, no questions asked, is being offered.
