publicans had gained practical control of both houses as a result of the general's landslide victory.

The friendliness of Congress — Republican by only one vote in the Senate and thus far by only two votes in the House — lay in warmth of regard for the general shared by Southern Democrats in the coalition with Republicans which has controlled legislation for the last four years. This coalition rode intact through the greatest nation-wide sweep ever made by a presidential can-didate, a 39-state popular vote total rolled up by the five-star general who turned politician only last spring. Although most of the Southerners

Demos Leading In All Undecided Congress Races

By MARION BURSON WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 UM-Eight ongressional contests remained indecided today of the 435 seats at stake in Tuesday's election.

The outcome of two governot ship races - in Michigan and Montana-also was in doubt. Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams was on top in latest re-turns from Michigan's see-sawing vote count. Virtually complete returns gave him a 3,948-vote edge over Republican Fred M. Alger. A recount might be necessary to decide the race definitely.

Republican J. Hugo Aronson ap-peared to have ousted Democrat-le Gov. John W. Bonner from office in Montana. On the basis of returns from all but 42 of 1,137 precincts, Aronson had 129,702 votes, Bonner 124,795.

Republicans cinched control of the U. S. House of Representatives by winning 220 seats, assuring a GOP majority of at least two. Demograts captured 206 seats and an independent one.

A Bible Thought For Today-

The identical underlying philosophy of Baal worship still lives in high places. "They joined themselves also unto Baal Peor." — Psalms 106:28.

A Great Truth Still Exists: In Union There Is Strength

As grave as was the decision that had to be made by the American people on Tuesday, it is no less serious than the attitude the country has to assume hence-

The responsibilities ahead are tremendous. They are most heavy, of course, on Presidential Nominee Eisenhower and the people he selects to serve in his high command. They are heavy, too, on those who were on the other side in the campaign, because these people must put national interest above party and personal interest. It became increasingly apparent in the closing days of the campaign that the Korean issue was uppermost for America. Both candidates acknowledged this in late campaigning, and both specifically recog-nized it in statements issued when the contest was settled.

The graceful, generous statements made by Governor Stevenson and Senator Sparkman are most commendable. The attitude of General Eisenhower toward his late foe is also worthy. We think we can see in these statethe acknowledgment that the achievement of a real world peace must come first, and that all interests must work together toward that end. It must be the determination of Americans everywhere to adopt the same course as have the party leaders, and to close ranks for national unity and global peace. It must be more than determination. It must also be a prayer.

There is a greater need for unity of purpose in this countr ytoday than at any time within the memory of living man. One of the first tasks of the new administration will be to evoke and nurture that national unity. One of the tasks of the new "minority" will be to join in the same effort.

At the very best, that going will not be easy, for our existence as a nation is challenge from an insidious and under powerful aggressor whose concept of life is utterly repugnant to our own. It will take all our energy, devotion and intelligence to ward off this threat. In union there is strength; in division and discord there is disaster.

Thanksgiving, Christmas Ahead; Let's Get Back To Daily Tasks

After the first few sighs of blessed relief over the ending of a turbulent political campaign, the general public can get back to the ordinary problems of living, and to the enjoyment of customary pursuits at work and at play. Except for sundry officeholders and political hangers-on who will become displaced persons as a result of the tremendous battle of the ballots, life for the ordinary person will go on quite as usual. Death and taxes will continue to be the two great inevitabilities. The scurry to make a living will continue. The daily grind of the old job hasn't been repealed. The business of eating and sleeping will remain. Most of us still have to get some anti-freeze in our radiators against the first freeze. The cooling system must be disconnected and drained. One must ponder and decide the exact moment when one lays aside the light cotton sleeping garments of summer and dons the heavier knitted fabrics of the colder months.

Although some of us might have felt that the fate of the universe depended upon the turn of a single vote, it wasn't quite that bad. If some of us have been shying away from our friends because of political differences, to avoid arguments, we can now, after the lapse of a decent interval to let raw nerves renew themselves, start speaking to and back-slapping and kidding each other again. We can contemplate the approach of Thanksgiving with some chance of reaching a decision between a football game for quiet day at home.

We can take time to look over the Christmas goods, and make up our minds whether to mark some relative who voted wrong off our list, or forgive the poor benighted fellow and send him a present as of yore.

They tell us the merchants have put in a good choice of Christmas goods, and are eager to sell. The front page of our news-papers will soon begin to remind all and that it's only so many days to Christmas.

All is not lost, fellow citizens. The world wags on.

Business Outlook - J. A. Livingston Another Whirl In Wall Street? Is That The White Chip Signal?

On March 21, 1949, when Wall Street was in the dumps and America in a recession, Life magazine selected 10 white-chip common stocks to illustrate what it called the "strange state of the market." They weren't the kind of stocks you'd buy to see a new-born baby through college. They were investors' stepchildren. And they still are-which illustrates the "strange slate" of the present bull market.

When Life picked them, these stocks were selling on the New York Stock Ex-of the 30 Dow-Jones stocks dropped, or one out of ten.

The laggard performance of the white chips may well signify that the Wall Street bears are betting on the wrong animal, that sooner or later the market will have its share of speculation and the lesser known stocks will have their custemary bull-market whirl. But it could be that investors are taking on the characteristics of consumers. Consumers want standard products-General Motors, Chrysler, Ford; General Electric or Westinghouse; or Phileo or RCA. It's hard to get away from the big names. Can it be that ine same

This Day In Texas

BY CURTIS BISHOP

On this day in 1822 the first American wagon train lumbered along the southwestern route known to historians as the Santa Fe trail.

One William Becknell brought supplies from Missouri into Santa-Fe, two hundred dollars worth. He sold them for $700, and the move ment of traffic along the westward mute had begun Just after independence this trail directly figured in the Texas story. An expedition under Jacob Snively moved northward to intercept Mexican trades under an agreement with the Republic of Texas as to division of spoils much as this and other governments have dealt with sea-going priva-teers. The United States Army stopped their activities before any wagon trains were seized. In 1849 a stage coach line was ed over almost the same establisi route Becknell had followed from Missouri to Santa Fe, Mexico, which crossed the upper tips of Texas. Then, thirty years later, the Santa Fe Railroad began link-ing the widely-separated trading The railroad also varied little from Becknell's original route. Chlorophyll Boom Is One Reason Price Of Hay Has Gone So High

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

Stockmen can blame the new chlorophyll industry for the high price of hay - at least partially.

Toothpaste makers, deodorant compounders, and dog food packers have reached into the hay market for one of their raw materials — the green gold, cholorphyll, "nature's own deodorizer."

Principal source of the stuff, which makes everything but goats small better, is alfalfa. Patent drug manufactures got to using so much alfalfa that the asking price for the feed went up as much as $40 per ton last summer. just before the govern-ment's drought-disaster hay program got up steam.

Alfalfa, cut at the peak moment of growth had proved to be the most practical source of chlorophyll. The feed is processed into a crystallized green-black compound worth about $85 per pound. The manufacturers of deodorants, mouthwashes, toothpastes, anti-perspirants, candy cigarets, textiles, colognes, shampoos, footpads, dog soap, mothballs, and socks take over from there, ballyhooing merits of the green as a smell killer.

These Days–George Sokolsky

They, as well as the public, ignore the fact that chlorophyll has been known and used for a good many years - as a medicant, a vastly more important role than any purely deodorizing substance can fill, Dr. Benjamin Gruskin of Temple University first found that derivatives of "Nature's green" had the ability to speed healing of wounds, reduce burns and cure such calamities as trench mouth. He used it successfully on just about everything from brain abscesses to varicose veins, back in the nineteen-thirties.

But cholorphyll didn't make much of a splash on either the drug or tolletry front until Lever Brothers started promoting its odor-overpowering qualities, which Dr. Gruskin noted as incidental.

Conditioned for years to fear halitosis and BO, the public wasted no time in latching on to the product. Now cholorphyll is helping push the anti-odor business toward the $100-million-a-year mark. Too bad it won't stop athlete's foot. -WAYLAND YATES

American Elections Too Costly In Time, Money For Public Good

Now that the election campaign is over, it ought to be clear to Americans that the business of electing a President is too expensive, too time-consuming, too hampering of the conduct of the ordinary affairs of the nation.

It is impossible ever to approximate the cost of the election. The various reports made by candidates and by political parties of their receipts and expenditures do not represent a third of the actual cost of these campaigns. Large numbers of national and local committees make independent reports which seem trivial and are not noted. Totalled up, for the entire country, they are enormous. Labor unions do not report their political expenditures as a rule because they are "educational." Much money is passed under the table in cash to avoid identification as well as to evade legal limitations. Everybody denies the giving or receipt of unlisted contributions but they are no secret in the marketplace.

If the conventions- were held around Labor Day and the campaign were limited. by agreement, to one month, from October 1 to November 1, with a few days of silent interval between the last day of oratory and the day of voting, the people would have a chance to think for themselves without the constant din. About two-thirds of the expense would be saved. It would seem as though the only beneficiaries of the endless yak-yak on radio and television are the networks which charge enormously for their facilities.

If the campaign were cut to one month, the candidates would not have to repeat themselves endlessly on the same subject They might even have some time to write their own speeches and do some thinking. One reason that the speeches become increasingly dull as the campaign proceeds is that the ghost-writers weary of endless conferences, endless pounding on typewrit ers, endless editorial meetings with each writer fighting for his gems of thought and expression

Stevenson's ghost-writers were superior both was fairly poor in thought ond or-both was fairly poo in thought and organization. Stevenson used Robert Sherwood of the Roosevelt regime, Professor recreation department after the ball was Arthur Schlesinger Jr., of Harvard and found imbedded in the trunk while a metal the A.D.A. and Leonard Spiegelglass of collar to help support the tree was being MGM, the movie company, among others. These are professional word-slingers. Eis-enhower used the old Dewey team which had lost for him twice. Stanley High of the "Readers Digest" and about anybody who would lend a hand. How much if any of these speeches were written by the candidates themselves will never be known; they were very few. The speech mills turned out hundeds of them. not only for the candidates but for side speakers. A man who delivers 10 or 12 short and long speeches between break-fast and bed time is usually too wordnk to know what he is talking about. It was thought that with the advent of television, the "whistle-stop" could be eliminated. Actually there was more whistlestopping in this campaign than ever before. And everybody got into the game to the delight of the railroads. Maybe it is good politics for the people to have a look at the candidates, their wives, sisters, son and mothers-in-law. But what one gains fro ma few minutes' glance at a president-to-be is difficult to appraise. Actually, the various candidates looked like a lot of very tired men who could do with a night's good sleep.

Usually, as the long campaign proceeds the managers get into a wrangle over who gives the last word. The Democrats in New Yok, for instance, were in a hassle between the regulars and the volunteers that reached a state of high comedy in Madison Square Garden when the volunteers put on their vaudeville, with a band blaring, while the candidate for U. S. Senator, John L. Cashmore, was delivering what was to him the most important addresses of his campaign. Cashmore had to shut up because he could not compete with mummers, most of whom exhibited themselves in Madison Square Garden before, that time for Eisenhower.

Maybe I am all wrong about what a campaign is about. Maybe it is meant be lots of fun. The ever-growing role that is being played in campaigns by actors, movie writers, musical comedy composers, dancers and Hollywood jesters somehow gives the impression that the Presidential election is becoming one big joke, On whom?

The plants and good will were selling at less than nothing in the open market. Since March, 1949, we've had a bull market in Wall Street. But it has been a special kind of bull market. The blue chips have done better than the white chipsso much better, that many investment technicians argue the bull market can't be over: "We haven't had any fireworks in the low-priced shares."

Statistics bear them out. The Standard & Poor's average of 50 industrial common -comprising stocks that investment trusts and pension funds customarily buy-has gone up 65 per cent since Life made its selections. But S & P's much broader stock-market index, comprising 420 industrials, has gone up only about 45 per cent. The white chips pulled the blue chips down.

Assuming that back in March, 1949, a person had invested a thousand dollars in each of Life's white chips, his $10,000 would have grown to $11,476, nearly 15 per cent. In addition, he'd have collected dividends.

The 30 blue-chip industrial stocks in the Dow-Jones average fared much better. If $1,000 had been invested in each of the stocks, the appreciation over the three and one-half year period would have been 46 per cent. Furthermore, it would have been hard to pick a loser. Whereas four of Life's 10 white chips declined, only three

All the students interviewed by Mrs. L. W. Wood, Baylor librarian, claimed to read some of every section of daily newspapers. White Mice Helpful To Science

Not long ago a letter came to me from woman who told of watching a mousejust a common gray mouse-frolic about her home for a few minutes. The little animal seemed "cute" to her, and she asked whether some use could be found for mice, instead of destroying them. I quite agree that a playful mouse has an appeal. That is true of almost all small furry animals, and of the young of many kinds of large animals. This reader seems to differ from most women. So far as I have observed, mice are out of favor with the vast majority of the feminine sex. I have heard of women climbing on chairs, even on tables, when mouse appeared in a room!

Getting back to the question, let me remark that certain mice already have been put to use. Those of which I speak are own as white mice. Some serve as pets in homes, and others are employed in the work of science.

Wild mice, whether they live in fields or houses, commonly are gray, but some among them have white patches of fur, and at least a few are albinos. The present "race" of white, or albino, mice has been brought about by experts in breeding who have worked with wild mice. White mice usually are tame enough.

Like your travel with a JOYOUS THRILL?

WE HAVE NEWS for a lot of folks who want more fun from driving than they get from their present cars.

There's a trim bundle of eager high-powered energy that's just the ticket for you - a spirited automobile that can give you thrill after joyous thrill, for mile after fleeting mile. Why not come in and try the Buick we have in mind?

The excitement starts with your first look at it, your first sitting in it, your first fingering of its slender wheel.

But wait till Dynaflow Drive* begins working its magic-and its constant and complete smoothness fills you with never-ending wonder.

Wait till you feel the bubbling exuberance of taking your first hill with a high-compression Fireball 8 Engine doing the honors. That's when you get a man-sized sampling of the tremendously able and instantly responsive power you command here.

Wait till you feel the serene satisfaction of skimming over rough roads, cobbles or ridged crossings. That's when you know, better than words can tell, what a million dollars' worth of ride engineering can do in the way of magnificent comfort.

Wait till you jockey into a real tight parking space and note the fun and ease that Power Steering brings to a once-tough job.

But-why wait?

There's a Buick that can do all this - and more, far more - all ready for you to try it.

Lane Suggests Group To Study Texas Coalition

DALLAS, Nov. 6 UPpublican Chairman Alvin H. Lane has suggested that Gov. Allan Shivers name a commission to study the future of the Republican-Conservative Democrat coalition in Texas.

Lane, who now is also a member of the national GOP committee, told the Dallas News last night that he proposed such a group to Shivers.

He said he wanted a Republican primary in the state but didn't like the idea of running a candidate against a Conservative Democrat who helped carry Texas for Elsen-hower. Lane said he only wanted qualified Republican nominees of the GOP ticket.

"There ought to be a way for two sides with the same views to co-operate, not to fight each other,' be said.

Lane said the state Republican executive committee would consider the problems faced in strengthening the party in Texas, but was when the group would sure meet next. Earlier yesterday, Shivers, head of the state Democratic party or-ganization who worked vigorously for Eisenhower, predicted Texas would remain a Democratic state. He said he didn't consider the Nov. 4 vote as a "trend." How the GOP Midland Bank To fares in Texas in the future, he said, depends on what the party Be Considered does in the next two years.

SOME STARS LIMPING

Texas, Baylor 11's In Top Condition

By The Associated Press

Southwest Conference foothall squads eased up Thursday on preparations for Saturday's games. but still worried about injuries.

However, with a little good luck the feature game-Texas vs. Baylor-may be run off unhampered by limping stars. Texas, hoping to continue its string of conference wins, has been harrassed by minor injuries but the Longhorns came through their Wednesday workout without any additional hurts. Defensive work took top priority in the drills, particularly from the angle of combatting Baylor's break-away tendencies. Coach Ed Price said he hoped to get more speed for the secondary from Ed Kelley and Bunny Andrews.

Price also gave his offensive platoon sharp practice in blocking assignments.

Baylor also ended its week's contact work with no new injuries and expected to be at full strength for the Waco game. The Bruin defensive unit went through a stiff scrimmage against a team using Texas plays. On the offensive unit Billy Hooper and Francis (Cotton) Davidson alternated at quarterback.

Rice and Arkansas both added more timber to the injury list Wednesday as they prepped for their battle in Fayetteville.

Likely to be missing from the Porkers lineup is their star fullback, Lewis Carpenter, who was injured in the Texas A&M game last week. Carpenter is Arkansas' leading pass receiver and has been a defensive stalwart also. Added to the Rice injured roster were reserve quarterback Leroy Fenstemaker and Leo Rucka, who has been doing double duty at end. Fenstemaker injured an ankle and Rucka bruised a shoulder. Don Kellogg, defensive back, also is sidelined with a shoulder injury. Left Tackle Lou Miler and Right Halfback Don Miller, who have been missing from the Southern Methodist squad because of injurles, suited out Wednesday but did not take part in the workout. They hope to make the Texas A&M game in Dallas Saturday.

Jack Little of the Texas A&M squad nursed a sprained back Wednesday and didn't work out, but he will make the Dallas trip. In the last full scale Aggie workout before leaving for Dallas, Quarterback Ray Graves looked good in dropping passes in the arms of Don Ellis, Charley Hall and Ends Jerry Crossman and Walt Hill.

Five key performers were alling Wednesday as Texas Christian scrimmaged in their last rough work before the tilt with Wake Forest in Fort Worth Saturday. However, Trainer Elmer Brown said all but one, offensive Halfback John Harville, should be ready for at least part time duty.

DALLAS, Nov. 6 UM-There be the usual well-filled Cotton Bowl Jan. 1 when the Southwest Conference football champion plays some team from another area but the demand for tickets isn't what it used to be.

Fourteen thousand applications were received by the Cotion Bowl office during the period in which mail requests could be sent in. That means approximately 50,000 tickets are sought, which is twice as many as are available to the public

But it was about half the number of applications received last year when some 100,000 tickets were asked for.

This time there were more ap-plications for tickets from outside of Dallas than from Dallas, which is a new trend.

Several reasons are attributed for the decline in interest. The major one is that the Southwest Conference won't be able to furnish a team with a good record as host in the Cotton Bowl and the general bad record of the conference in intersectional play is another rea-

Then, too, attendance for football in the Southwest has been off generally this year.

Texas is a heavy favorite to win the conference title and play in the bowl game. The visiting team is expected to come from Alabama, Penn State, Mississippi, Tennessee and Villanova.

What's All The Excitement About

LOS ANGELES (# - Mrs. Lucy Bearer looked up just in time yes-terday to see her 16-month-old daughter, Nancy, disappear feet first into a gutter storm drain. The mother screamed and Vincent de Milita rushed over from his work nearby. He lowered himself into the drain.

Nancy was sitting quite uncon-ternedly on a nearby ledge. De Milita who couldn't get nearer, called to her and the little girl toddled back. She seemed bewildered by all the fuss, but police said if Mrs. Bearer hadn't seen the child when she did they might never had found her. Nancy couldn't have climbed back out of the drain.

East German Work Lesson Could Backfire

By TOM REEDY P"RLIN, Germany, (M-The So-viet Zone of Germany has developed a new set of "heroes." They are Russians sent to East German factories and mines to "teach" the workers how to get more done. The Red government is striving to extract full propaganda value for state socialism out of the visiting "experts." The boomerang is pitiful to watch.

It all started with that "hero of labor in the Soviet Union," Stakhanov, the man who invented ways of multiplying production by the individual.

Since Stakhanov, the Russians have sent a dozen of his type into East Germany. The little German worker has learned to pronounce their names, if only to roundly cuss them. Nina Nasarova, Kovaliov, Pavel Duvanov, Matrosov, are among the "heroes of labor." They tell the traditionally hard-working German he doesn't know ow to work. Kovallov is the chap who "invented" the psychology of a worker who promises himself to create a new personal quota of output. That becomes the standard for the then whole factory. The man who can't match it has his wages reduced acordingly. Nina Nasarova brought to East Germany the curious doctrine that each worker must care for his own machine. The German always did anyhow in private enterprise fac-tories. But now that he is working in a state-owned mill, he often grows careless about the machine. Duvanov showed a brick factory how to turn out more bricks and Sharova-Tsinza did the same for the textile mills. The bricks weren't any good and the textiles were shoddy. The Russians were looking at figures, the Germans had been looking as usual at quality, The 2,300 workers in the Weis-

It has been exactly 14 months since a "good" rain of two inches measured in Wichita been Falls, Local showers have brought relicf in some sections, notably in Wilbarger County, but the area from Wichita Falls to Collingsworth, Hall and Motley Countles is exceptionally dry. Even in Wilbarger County, the situation is not good. County Agent Frank Wendt says fair wheat and alfalfa crops "cost farmers more to produce than any in history." Tanks are drying up and the county has been short on water the past three years. Bud Harvel, district conserva-

Home-Baked Cakes Pamper Appetites

Crisp, bright autumn days are here. It gets dark early, and there's real nip in the air-a nip to sharpen appetites for a hardy, satisfying dessert.

This is the time, too, when the nomemaker likes to pamper her family and make a real production of her dessert-making efforts. And there's no better way to do it than by topping off dinner with a lusclous homemade cake and generous cups of hot coffee. Chocolate Cake

But it's also nice to know that the picturesque dessert can be made in short order. Nobody would guess that a deep, brown chocolate cake topped with contrasting whipped cream has been anywhere near box or a can. Just pick up a package of ready cake mix at the grocer's, and at the same time get can of whipped cream. There's no beating involved. The cream whips itself as it comes from the container.

New-fashioned cake with old-fashioned flavor is walnut cake. and harvest time is the time to make it. Like most nut cakes, this one keeps well. The flavor actually seems to mellow and improve, and the last slice tastes as good as the first. If the family is small, or if there is any left over, the cake adapts itself well to freezing. Fresh-Baked

The cook simply cuts one-half inch slices and packages them for freezing. She puts as many slices into each package as she is likely to serve at a meal. In order to keep them from breaking, she cuts a piece of cardboard a little larger than the slices. Then she folds aluminum foil or freezer paper over the cardboard and lays a slice of cake on the little improvised
