

Britain Intervenes In Syrian Crisis

Churchill Calls On French To Recall Troops

LONDON, May 31 (AP)—Britain ordered her commander in the Middle East to intervene in the fighting between French and Syrians today. Prime Minister Churchill called upon Gen. De Gaulle to withdraw French troops to their barracks to prevent further bloodshed in the strategic Levant.

"In order to avoid a collision between British and French forces we request you immediately to order French troops to cease fire and to withdraw from their barracks," Churchill told De Gaulle.

British forces have been in Syria since 1941 when they and the Free French knocked out German control.

The actions were announced in common by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden following the third emergency session of the British cabinet in 24 hours.

"Once firing has ceased and order has been restored we shall be prepared to begin tripartite discussions here in London," the message to De Gaulle continued.

Eden said the British minister in Damascus had reported a further grave deterioration of the situation in which 300 or more persons already have lost their lives in fighting between the French and Syrians, and that large fires were burning in the capital.

"We have not acted until our over-all responsibility was so serious that we simply had to act or stand by and see a situation develop which would have shamed us all," Eden told congress.

Eden spoke after a French spokesman in Paris had asserted that a direct collision between France and Britain was possible, and the Syrian minister in Paris had insisted that outside intervention alone could resolve the crisis.

The Syrian minister made his statement just after talking to Jefferson Caffery, U. S. Ambassador in Paris.

Churchill told De Gaulle that Britain's order to Gen. Sir Bernard Paget, British commander in the middle east, to intervene had been issued with "profound regret."

The note said Britain's communications in the war with Japan and the security of the whole middle east were involved in Britain's course of action.

Eden's statement was repeated by Lord Woolton in the house of Lords and was cheered by that body.

Eden said Britain was in close touch with all the governments concerned, including the United States, but declined details on the ground that nothing should be said "which would make the diplomatic initiative more difficult."

In his Paris statement the Syrian Minister, Adnan Bey Atassi, declared the Syrian position was that the presence of French troops in the country was unnecessary for strategic purposes as Syria was

Workers Return At Port Arthur

PORT ARTHUR, May 31 (AP)—Workers at the Gulf Oil Corporation's Refinery reported for work today, breaking a five-day work stoppage of 5,000 employes which had completely paralyzed production at the plant.

At a meeting last night the employes voted to return to their jobs.

Schedules were set up for today's shifts, but resumption of full production at the high octane gasoline plant will require several days.

Refinery employes walked out last Saturday following suspension of a pipefitter. Last night the men agreed to return to their jobs and await settlement of their dispute through regular channels.

The vote to return to work was taken at a four-hour meeting of members of local 23 of the Oil Workers International Union. Army, navy and union officials spoke during the meeting, and urged the men to end the stoppage.

CALLS MOTHER—FROM HERE

Shuri Flank Attack Is Pressed

Jap Garrison Fanatically Holds To City

By HAMILTON W. FARON
GUAM, May 31 (AP)—First Division Marines, who yesterday raised the American flag in victory over Shuri castle, pressed a flank attack today against the Nipponese Shuri town garrison fanatically holding out against two divisions north and east of the ruined city.

The advance patrols of the Fifth regiment met slight opposition as they shoved ahead toward the western flank of the almost encircled enemy.

The already knee-deep mud which has slowed the whole Okinawa campaign for weeks was made more soupy by fresh downpours.

All available Tenth army men not in the front line were set to carrying munitions, water and rations foot to the fighting fronts.

Company A of the Fifth regiment under Capt. Julius D. Dusenberry of Charlotte, S. C., first occupied Shuri castle, medieval fortress which was the home of 16th century Ryukyuu kings and in recent months the headquarters of the Japanese command on Okinawa.

The invading Leathernecks found only 50 Japanese troops, which they killed, and two women and a baby. The garrison had withdrawn with most of its equipment before the attack into the pile of shattered masonry.

One of the first acts of the occupying company was to raise the stars and bars of the American Civil War Confederacy, which was the company's victory flag at bloody Peleliu. The American standard was officially raised approximately 25 hours later.

Marines of Maj. Gen. Pedro A. Del Valle's First division hoisted the colors at 1:45 p. m. yesterday.

Advance units of Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd Jr.'s Sixth Marine division on the west flank and Maj. Archibald V. Arnold's Seventh infantry division on the east were, at last reports, less than two miles apart. Their expected juncture about a mile south of Shuri will ring that second city of Okinawa and halt apparent Japanese efforts to withdraw troops.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' communique today said Marine reinforcements reached the castle.

Naha, the Okinawa capital on the west coast, was wholly in American hands except for isolated groups of Japanese.

Casualties Pass One Million Mark

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—American combat casualties in World War 2 passed the million mark today.

The army has lost 890,019 men and the navy 112,868, a total of 1,002,887.

These casualties, suffered in three years and five months of fighting, represent an increase of 6,798 over last week's report.

The breakdown on army casualties as reported today by Undersecretary of War Patterson, and corresponding figures for the preceding week:

Killed	183,563	and	181,729
wounded	553,088	and	550,506
missing	52,746	and	57,802
prisoners	100,622	and	96,478

Of the wounded, 309,646 have returned to duty.

Similar figures for the navy:
Killed 45,534 and 42,807; wounded 54,380 and 52,005; missing 10,708 and 10,505; prisoners 4,245 and 4,247.

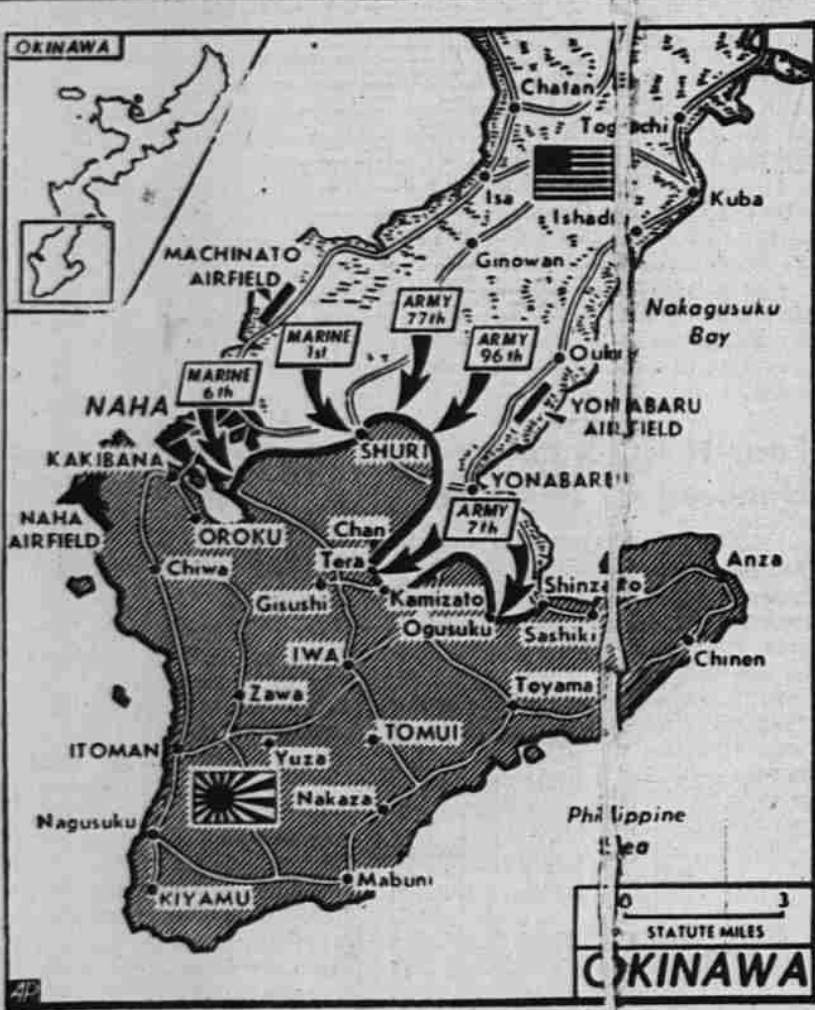

Vehicle Stamps Go On Sale Friday

Motor vehicle stamps for 1945 go on sale at the local postoffice Friday, and deadline for purchasing stickers will be July 1.

Nat. Shick, postmaster, said Thursday that the new stamps, some slightly different in appearance from the current stickers.

Stamps will sell at 65 each and Shick has asked motorists to avoid confusion by not waiting until the last day to make purchases.

WATER USE NEAR 4 MILLION
Water consumption continued to climb to the 4,000,000 mark when Big Spring used 3,700,000 gallons Wednesday. The consumption high spot until that time was 3,500,000 gallons used Friday.

Committee Gives Anderson Approval

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—The senate agriculture committee unanimously approved today the nomination of Rep. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM) to be secretary of agriculture.

It ordered hearings June 11 on the nomination of Claude R. Wickard, present secretary of agriculture, to be rural electrification administrator.

Chairman Thomas (D-Okla.) said all the members had been getting numerous letters and telegrams from rural electric cooperatives opposing confirmation of Wickard "so decide to let them come in and make their statements."

Both Anderson and Wickard appeared before the committee in a closed session.

Thomas said there was great similarity in the wording of all the telegrams protesting against Wickard's nomination.

"Apparently somebody has been telling them what to say," he said, adding that he understood Earl Murley, manager of a Vincennes, Ind., cooperative had been communicating with other cooperatives.

The judiciary committee called Assistant Attorney General Tom C. Clark of Texas to a hearing on his nomination to succeed Attorney General Francis Biddle.

Senator Shipstead (R-Minn.) has served notice he will fight the Wickard appointment, but other agriculture committee members said Wickard, as well as Anderson, will be approved and confirmed.

A favorable labor committee report on the nomination of Federal Judge Lewis B. Schwelbensch of Washington to become secretary of labor succeeding Frances Perkins was filed with the senate Monday. He may win final confirmation today.

Gillette Quits Job As Surplus Director
WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Guy M. Gillette, former Iowa senator, tendered his resignation as chairman of the surplus Property Board during a call on President Truman today.

He said the president did not act on it immediately.

Gillette told reporters he took the job several months ago as the first board chairman against his will and with the understanding the assignment would be only temporary.

STORY TOLD OFF HOW WOMAN AND FIVE CHILDREN KILLED BY BOMB

LAKE VIEW, Ore., May 31 (AP)—A woman and five children were killed near here May 5 by a Japanese balloon-carried bomb.

Lifting of a war department secrecy ban permitted disclosure of details of the explosion, reported May 5 without explanation of the cause.

It was the first recorded fatality of World War II within the United States mainland caused by enemy attacks.

Killed were Mrs. Elsie Mitchell, wife of a Christian Alliance church pastor, and five children she and her husband took on a fishing trip: Jay Gifford, 12, Eddie Engen, 13, Jean Patzke, 11, Dick Patzke, 13, and Sherman Shoemaker, 12. A dog, were of Bly, Ore.

The Rev. Archie Mitchell, only survivor of the tragedy, told officials here that a ban was climbing through the mountains a little distance away from the rest of the party.

"Joan came over and told us that there was a white object nearby," he said. "We went to investigate. It blew up, and killed them all."

Mitchell, who had not reached the fallen balloon as soon as the others, escaped the full violence of the blast. He was not injured.

Chiang Resigns His Premiership

By SPENCER MOOSA
CHUNGKING, May 31 (AP)—Chiang Kai-shek resigned today as premier and turned the post over to Acting Premier T. V. Soong in a move viewed as a step toward solidifying China at a time when the Allied Nations are applying tremendous pressure on Japan from all quarters.

Chiang retained his post as president of China and head of the state. He also remains China's generalissimo, and now will be able to concentrate fully on military tasks in this critical period of the war on the continent of Asia.

When Soong, Chiang's brother-in-law, became acting premier last December, the shift was regarded as a popular one, possibly paving the way for a working agreement between the Central government and the communists of North China. Soong's attitude toward the communists is known to be moderate.

Soong's popularity throughout the country is expected to strengthen the Central government's hand in the military situation. There have been some unconfirmed reports that an agreement already has been reached in principle between the Central government and the communists of the north to wage a single war against the Japanese invader.

Chiang announced his resignation from the premiership at a meeting of the newly elected central executive committee of the Kuomintang, or government party.

Soong actually became Chiang's "right hand man" last December on his appointment as acting premier. As such, he had attended to most of the generalissimo's premiership duties.

The generalissimo's 50-year-old aide, member of a distinguished family, and brother of Chiang's wife, is recognized in China and abroad as possibly the country's most brilliant statesman.

It was generally believed that Soong, besides taking over the premiership, might also take the portfolio of the finance ministry from O. K. Yui, who possibly might be made the scapegoat for the recent gold scandal and the failure to arrest inflation. In such an event Soong probably would relinquish the foreign affairs ministry, possibly in favor of V. K. Wellington Koo, Chinese ambassador to Britain.

Ocean Going Tugs Ease Ship Repair
WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Ocean-going tugboats are helping the navy ease its ship repair job in the Pacific.

The War Shipping Administration reported today that the tugs frequently tow huge dry docks far into the Pacific. This makes it possible to repair war-damaged ships without bringing them back to the United States, WSA said.

The tugs, 195 feet long and powered by two 2,500 horsepower diesel engines, were built at six cities, including Beaumont, Tex.

Japs Ballyhoo Suicide Planes
SAN FRANCISCO, May 31 (AP)—Japanese Domei news agency claimed today that Mikado's kamikaze (suicide) air force is inflicting "appalling" losses on the United States fleet off Okinawa island, 325 miles south of Japan, and that the island's land "battle situation" was "stalemated."

The broadcast, recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, admitted, however, that the "devastating blows" of kamikaze pilots against the fleet appear not effective enough to sever completely enemy supply lines to his ground forces.

As a result the Okinawa battle situation is "serious," the broadcast said, adding:

"Indications are that enemy pressure on our garrison force will be further increased unless our air operations succeed in completely cutting off the enemy ground forces from supplies from the sea."

Servicemen's Home To Be At Bonham
WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—A 350-bed old soldiers home to be operated by the Veterans Administration will be located at Bonham, home town of Speaker Sam Rayburn.

The administration announced construction of the home Tuesday, and yesterday Rayburn explained the institution would not be a hospital, but a home for aging ex-servicemen.

Detective Sentenced For False Arrest
FORT WORTH, May 31 (AP)—Max Moore, Dallas city detective, was sentenced to 90 days in jail yesterday following his conviction on a charge of false imprisonment.

Moore is one of four officers charged with the detention of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Holt of Fort Worth during the recovery of a diamond allegedly stolen at Temple.

Motion for a new trial was filed by Maury Hughes of Dallas, defense attorney.

The Holts contended the four officers came to their home, took them to Dallas and forced them to surrender a diamond ring without a receipt.

House Squares Off On Quitting Move

AUSTIN, May 31 (AP)—The house of representatives today postponed further consideration of a resolution to adjourn the 143-day old general session June 2, until 4 o'clock this afternoon.

AUSTIN, May 31 (AP)—The house of representatives today squared off for a fight on a resolution adjourning the 153-day-old general session of the legislature at noon, June 2.

The adjournment resolution which also needs senate approval had the signature of 72 house members. Ruled out on a point of order that it was not germane to the resolution was a substitute proposal to recess from tomorrow until Jan. 8, 1946.

Before it reached the sine die adjournment discussion the house reversed an action of yesterday and passed a joint resolution which would permit issuance of bonds for construction of buildings at all state supported colleges, the bonds to be amortized by income from the permanent university fund.

The resolution which submits a constitutional amendment on the question, was changed radically from the form in which it has been before the house previously.

As it passed the senate it permitted issuance of $9,000,000 in bonds for construction at the University of Texas and Texas A.&M. college. The house attached an amendment permitting Prairie View Normal college for negroes to share in the university fund.

This was before today's alteration which brought all state supported colleges within its purview.

Other important legislation was in free conference committees or heading toward them. The senate granted a house request for a new committee to discuss further a secret ballot bill.

All but one major appropriation bill of the session, the judiciary appropriation, had been considered by the house which yesterday refused to accept a free conference report on a $28,000,000 rural school aid appropriation which the senate previously had accepted.

Guilty Plea Entered By Big Spring Man
DENVER, Colo., May 31 (AP)—George T. Firth, Big Spring, Tex., pleaded guilty yesterday before U. S. Commissioner Harold S. Oakes to a federal charge of impersonating a U. S. navy officer with intent to defraud.

Oakes ordered him sent to Junction City, Kas., for trial.

Firth was arrested in Kansas Sept. 4, 1943, while allegedly posing as an ensign. He has served 20 months in a federal correctional institute at Englewood, Colo., for conviction on a similar offense in Nebraska. He had been released yesterday.

AUTOS RECOVERED

Two automobiles were recovered by Big Spring police Wednesday night. One was a truck belonging to the Kimbell and Burks Grocery company, and the other, a 1940 gray Oldsmobile, was owned by Lt. Ernest Morrison.

A 60mm MORTAR is put into action as a part of the "Here's Your Infantry" show at the football stadium June 8. Admission is by E bond.

Interest Shapes In Infantry Show

A chance to see the infantry in action is in store for all Howard countians on June 8th at 8:30 p. m. at the Steer football stadium when the army presents "Here's Your Infantry" in a mock battle that has all the reality of combat with the exception of casualties.

Interest in the show has been steadily mounting with bond buyers who purchased bonds before the actual start of the drive, coming into bond headquarters to pick up their tickets. Anyone who purchased an E bond since April 1 is entitled to a free ticket.

The hope of headquarters is that the county will have reached its bond quota of $585,000 by the time of the show. Audiences will find the show an awesome and thrilling spectacle but to members of the 40-soldier company it is pretty tame stuff.

They have all been in the real thing when bullets flying over-meant death instead of excitement for the crowds. Forty-two Texas cities in all will be given the opportunity to see the show. The soldiers trained at Fort Benning, Ga., will show a jungle assault team attack a Japanese pillbox. Machine guns, bazookas, flame throwers, hand grenades and demolition charges will be utilized. An infantry rifle squad will also be assembled and equipped for battle. Before the show, spectators may view an exhibit of infantry weapons and equipment from 3 p. m. to 6:30 p. m. on the lawn east of the courthouse.

After the show "C" rations will be given to each woman visitor. The gigantic undertaking in battle showmanship was made possible by the cooperation of General Joseph W. Stilwell, commanding general of the army ground forces,

Trumans Have Made Themselves At Home In The White House

By EDITH GAYLORD
WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—The Trumans have made themselves at home in the White House.
In the executive mansion less than a month, Mrs. Harry S. Truman gave newspaperwomen a chance yesterday to see that from pianos to potted plants the upstairs quarters have been transformed to suit the Trumans.
There are fewer pictures and fresh paint—pale green except in Mrs. Truman's dove gray bedroom and daughter Margaret's suite of Madonna blue sitting room and shell pink bedroom. They've culled out lots of the great array of furniture and re-

Instruction In Cold Welding To Be Given

Instructions in cold welding will be offered free of charge to all automotive repair and maintenance men of the Big Spring area at the Big Spring high school, Tuesday, June 5th from 8 to 10 p. m.
The course is being sponsored by the Office of Defense Transportation, in an effort to make possible use of the process in repair shops. Through cold welding, automotive cylinder heads and blocks, which otherwise would be junked, may be salvaged for continued use.
Demonstrations will be conducted by Miles A. Pryor, service engineer from Kerkling & Company. No advance registration is necessary. The course is free to anyone in the automotive and trucking industry.

Historical Seizure Of Bridge Had Funny Side

By DON WHITEHEAD

PARIS, May 31 (AP)—Events which thrill the world and change the course of history sometimes are as comical as they are dramatic when the full story becomes known. Such was the case when the U.S. First Army's Ninth armored division seized the Remagen bridge and established an unexpected bridgehead across the Rhine. All the story of that spectacular development in the last drive to defeat the German army was not told at the time, simply because it was not known until days after the gallant capture led by Sgt. Alexander A. Drabik of Holland, Ohio, which captured the span.

Plans. Nobody expected it and Maj. John W. Leonard, commander of the Ninth armored division, found himself standing right in the middle of a history-making military operation which grew up like topsy. But Drabik's charge threw the army into turmoil, all the way up to supreme headquarters. And the army would have been in even greater turmoil had it known that, for the first 12 hours, the First Army was holding the bridgehead with one company of infantry. Luckily the Germans were more confused than the Americans. The situation began to sort itself out the next day and troops and armor flowed across despite the fact that columns were snarled in one of the biggest traffic jams of the invasion. The situation reminded one of signs on the road near Maj. Gen. Terry Allen's 104th division: "Front line 500 yards ahead. Dismount and begin fighting." A few weeks after the Remagen bridgehead was seized, this correspondent sat with Gen. Leonard in his command post hearing him discuss the progress of the campaign and the fine work done by his Ninth armored division. He recalled the capture of the bridge and gave this version:

"That morning I sent out my combat teams toward the river, which was our objective. Late in the afternoon, one of my commanders called and said, 'General, we've got that bridge.' 'I said, 'what bridge?' 'He said, 'why that big Ludendorff railroad bridge. We've got men across and we're holding a bridgehead across the Rhine.' 'And I said, 'gosh, why did you do that! Now we'll all get in trouble.' One will always like the general for that story because his was such a normal reaction. But after that first uncertainty and when the high command gave the green light to exploit the bridgehead, Leonard's Ninth armored division distinguished itself many more times in daring exploits.

NAVIGATOR IN ATC—Vernon Heard, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Heard, is serving as a navigator in the Air Transport Command and is with the American Airlines. He has been in the ATC since March, 1943, having been based in South America for several months before transferring to India. There he made 60 crossings of the "Hump" carrying supplies to China, and he has 76 Atlantic crossings to his credit. On his return to the United States he has been stationed in New York City.

Spread Sugar For Your Sweet Spreads

By RHEBA MERLE BOYLES

County Home Dem. Agent. Foresighted home canners who intend to make sweet spreads this year are checking favorite recipes and planning ahead how best to spread out the 5-pound-per-person ration allowed for sweet spreads and relishes. Fruit sweets make appetizing spreads for bread, especially when table fats are scarce, and pickles and relishes add zest to meals needing a flavor lift. To conserve the most fruit, families may choose to forego sweet spreads and use the sugar for canning. Five pounds of sugar is enough to sweeten 20 quarts of canned fruit. If the entire 5-pound allowance is used for sweet spreads, it should be possible to make from 20 to 40 average-sized jelly glasses—that is, one-third pint. Yields vary with type of spread, method of cooking, and whether or not sugar stretchers are used. Fruit butters are the most sugar economical of the sweet spreads, requiring only half as much sugar as fruit pulp used. A pound of sugar will make about 3 pints of a butter. In jam and preserve recipes that ordinarily call for equal parts by weight of sugar and fruit, the proportion can satisfactorily be cut to 3-4 as much sugar. With this proportion, 1 pound of sugar will make around 1 1/2 to 2 pints, or 4 to 6 jelly glasses of jam. For jellies, a pound of sugar made up with a pint of fruit juice yields on the average 1 1/2 pints, which would fill about 4 glasses. When jelly recipes call for 3-4 to 1 part of sugar for every part by measure of fruit juice, use the smaller proportion of sugar. Jelly-making is a delicate art, and tinkering with jelly recipes by any but experienced jelly makers is unwise. Failure may mean loss of precious sugar.

Don't Crowd Your Chicks Too Fast

Let's give our baby chicks plenty of room in which to grow. Chickens this year are going to be more important to our meat supply than ever before. Plenty of room means one half a square foot of floor space for each baby chick until it is five weeks old, and one square foot when they pass that age. It's merely a matter of figuring out the number of square feet in the floor of the chicken house and putting in just that many chicks. Most poultrymen have no trouble with cannibalism except when houses are overcrowded. . . And over-crowding increased the danger of coccidiosis spreading among chicks. One of the best ways to prevent disease among growing chicks is to give them plenty of room. . . And it has been found that it also pays to give them as much shady space as possible during hot weather. Comfortable surroundings for little chicks means healthier fowls when they grow up. Paul Jablockhov, a Russian officer, invented the arc lamp in 1876. It consisted of two rods of carbon placed parallel and separated by an insulating material.

Operation Called Off Back In States When Patient Skips

CHICAGO, May 31 (AP)—Seven year old Joseph Le Joy, clad in pajamas and shoes, boarded a street car late last night, told Conductor Chester Lenz: "I've just left the hospital and I'm going home." Lenz called police and they turned him over to his mother, Mrs. Eleanor Graham. She explained Joseph's reason for leaving the hospital—he climbed down the outer walls from a second floor ward. He didn't want to undergo a tonsillectomy scheduled for today. Mrs. Graham said the operation would be postponed.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS... MARY: "Jim, didn't you say you wanted to ask the Judge something about grain, the next time you saw him?" JIM: "That's right, I did, Mary. Is it true, Judge, that distillers recover part of the grain they use in making war-alcohol?" OLD JUDGE: "That's absolutely true, Jim. Wherever the government has permitted distillers to purchase the equipment necessary to reprocess the used grain, at least 50% of the feed value (25% by weight) of the whole grain is recovered. It comes back to farms like yours in the form of premium-quality livestock feed... rich in vitamins B1 and B2." JIM: "Is the same thing true when distillers are permitted to make whiskey, Judge?" OLD JUDGE: "Yes, every bit as true, Jim."

Attendance Record Set As Major Teams Battle

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Wide open pennant scrambles in both major leagues appeared likely today as the majors passed the first quarter pole with fan interest and turnstile totals soaring toward new wartime highs.

A total of 220,294 paid customers, the largest single day crowd in years, yesterday saw six of the eight double headers end up in splits, with the league leading New York Giants retaining their five and a half game advantage over the second place Pittsburgh Pirates in the National league and the first place New York Yankees keeping their two game margin over the runner-up Detroit Tigers.

The Giants, who threatened to run away with the National league race a week ago when they enjoyed an eight-game lead over their nearest rivals, have dropped four of their last five and now are within hailing distance of the rest of the loop.

The largest crowd of the season and the largest in the Yankee stadium since the third game of the 1943 world series, 67,816 paid, saw the Yankees and Tigers divide a twin-bill by identical scores 3-2.

Skeeter Webb's squeeze bunt scored the winning run in the ninth inning of the opener to give Detroit and Stubby Overmire a victory over the Bronxites and Walter Dubiel. Jim Turner turned in a superlative relief job to save the game for the Yankees in the nightcap. He relieved Allen Gettel in the ninth, with men on second and third and none out and retired the side scoreless.

Chicago and Philadelphia divided their two games. The White Sox behind Thornton Lee took the opener 5-2 and the A's won the last game 4-2. The White Sox held third place because Washington twice dumped the Browns. Victory came in the first 3-2, in 13 innings with the help of Mike Guerra's game-winning single and the second, 5-0, behind the five-hit chucking of Marino Pieretti.

Pittsburgh's nine-game victory streak went down the drain when the Brooklyn Dodgers bounced back from a 13-5 pasting engineered by Rip Sewell, to outslug the Buccos, 14-10 in a wild nightcap.

Bill Voiselle got his bumps for the third time in a row after the New York Giants had trimmed Chicago, 8-6, in the opener. The Giants' righthanded ace was belted out early by the Bruins who then breezed home, 11-2, on Bob Chipman's three-hit effort. The largest Wrigley Field turnout since 1939, a crowd of 42,565, saw Mel Ott bang out a double and single for a lifetime total of 4,890 bases, two more than the former National league mark held by Honus Wagner of Pittsburgh.

Ray Sanders' two-run homer in the 12th game of the Cardinals a 4-2 shade over the Boston Braves in the first game, but Jim Tobin pushed the world champs back into the second division by scattering 11 blows for a 9-2 score in the second game.

Cincinnati was the only National league entry to take both ends as Ed Heusser blanked the Phillies, 3-0, on four blows and the Reds blasted four Phil throwers for 13 safeties and a 9-3 margin in the finale, despite homers by Vince DiMaggio, Jimmy Fox, Coaker Triplett and Jimmy Wasdell.

Cleveland and the Boston Red Sox divided in the other American league contests, with rookie Jim Steiner playing both villain and hero roles. The Sox's second sacker muffed an easy pop fly to set up the Tribe's winning run, 4-3, but his double started Boston on a six-run spree that pulled the second out of the fire, 7-6. Frankie Hayes, traded yesterday by the A's, socked two homers for the Indians.

Pearl Divers Bringing Up Touchy Treasure

By SPENCER DAVIS
TAWI TAWI, Sula Archipelago, — American minesweepers have done an intrepid job in the Pacific in ridding anchorages such as this of Japanese mines, but navy caps are off to a staunch little band of Moro pearl divers who have operated with them in the Sula archipelago.

The guerrilla navy in native sail craft called cumpts towed hemp lines over areas they had watched the Japanese mine before the Americans came.

Once a mine was located, husky Moro pearl divers working under Captain Abubakar Jacaria of the Sula area command plunged down to secure it with a buoy. Then they were sacked free of their line and hauled aboard the native boats for disarming.

It was touchy work but the seagoing guerrillas handled the big black chemical horn mines like they were filled with candy. They not only removed its detonators but dumped out 108 kilos of explosive from each mine. And this was where the profit lay for them —Moro fishermen will barter anything they have to obtain precious explosive. They prefer to fish with dynamite to any other means. It appeals to their sense of virility.

Diving for mines has not been without danger. Reporting the loss of nine men, Zacaria shrugged and said: "We lose some men but we get a lot of mines."

Lee Mapes Sticks His Neck Out

We had a meeting at the Town Hall Friday night, and when Homer Bentley spoke up for a new roof for the schoolhouse, Lee Mapes interrupts him.

"How long you been in this town?" Lee demands.

"Fourteen years," says Homer proudly.

"Then you keep quiet!" says Lee. "We can't have transients running things in our town."

I'm glad to report that all of us voted Lee down and let Homer have his say. I'm glad not just because the school did need a new roof, but because it doesn't do to let intolerance and prejudice creep into a community.

Navy Worried Over Repairs

WASHINGTON, May 30 (AP) — The navy let it be known today that it is frankly and openly worried over the problem of repairing ships damaged in the Pacific.

At an unusual news conference attended by the department's three civilian heads as well as uniformed leaders, reporters were told that any relaxation in the repair yards "means more and more people killed on the beaches."

The navy men, emphasizing the seriousness of west coast repair workers quitting their jobs, indicated broadly that only the necessity of keeping valuable information from the enemy prevented "telling the whole story."

Pointing up the problem Secretary Forrestal said it was estimated the aircraft Franklin now under repairs at the Brooklyn navy yard would require nine months to get back into action. Some cruisers will require six months and a number of destroyers three months.

The secretary said naval casualties in the battle for Okinawa, dating from March 15, totaled 4,270 through May 23 including killed and missing in action, compared with ground force totals for the same period of 5,332.

Garner Declines To Return to Capital

AMARILLO, May 30 (AP) — The Amarillo Globe says in a dispatch from Uvalde, Tex., that former Vice President John Garner has declined a request from President Truman that he return to Washington for responsible work with the government, probably a cabinet post.

John McCarty, a member of the newspaper's staff, who visited with Garner in Uvalde, reported that Garner declined an "urgent request" of the president because of the illness of Mrs. Garner.

McCarty said he asked for a statement on what the president wanted him to do and Garner said "anything I wanted to do."

Tampala, A New Vegetable, Suggests Inviting Salads And Other Dishes

TAMPALA SOUFFLE... A delicious new dish

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

Last summer we raised tampala, a newly introduced vegetable. Though it is new to America the Chinese and people of India have known and eaten it for years. Once you have tasted it you will know why—young and old will enjoy it.

Tampala is something like spinach — only it has more flavor and is more tender.

If you cut tampala when the plants are six inches or less in height you can cook leaves and stems together. If the plants are higher than that, cook stems separately, as they take longer than the leaves.

Tampala is delicious in a salad, mixed with lettuce and some sliced cucumbers and radishes and served with the following dressing:

Herb Dressing For Tampala Salad
4 tablespoons salad oil
1 cut clove garlic
1-4 teaspoon curry powder
1-2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon wine vinegar
Freshly ground pepper
1-2 teaspoon basil
1-4 teaspoon rosemary

Place oil in salad bowl and soak garlic clove in it for 30 minutes. Remove garlic. Add curry powder, salt, basil and rosemary and stir well. Slowly beat in vinegar. Add a good grind of fresh pepper. Put in greens and toss lightly to coat them well.

Of course the simplest way to serve tampala is just boiled and buttered. It should be cooked not longer than five minutes in the water which clings to its leaves after thorough washing. If you cook it longer the leaves are mushy and you lose the attractive crispness which is one of tampala's charms. Here are some other ways to use tampala:

Tampala Souffle
1 cup chopped cooked tampala
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-2 teaspoon rosemary
3 egg yolks
3 egg whites

Melt butter or margarine. Remove from stove and blend in flour smoothly. Return to stove; add milk and seasoning and stir constantly until thick. Beat egg yolks and combine with first mixture. Stir in tampala. Cool. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold in to mixture. Pour into greased baking dish. Place in pan of hot water and bake in 375 degree oven until firm—about forty minutes.

Tampala Timbales
1 cup cooked tampala
1-2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon onion juice
2 eggs, well beaten
1 1-4 cups milk
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Dash of pepper.

Chop tampala or force it through a coarse sieve. Add seasonings, onion juice, eggs, milk and butter or margarine, melted. Stir just enough to blend. Turn into greased molds or custard cups, set in a pan of hot water and bake at 350 degrees thirty minutes, or until a knife inserted into the timbale comes out clean. Unmold and serve with mushroom sauce.

Tampala Ring
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon flour
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 cups cooked tampala, chopped
3 eggs
1-4 cup brown stock
Salt and pepper

Melt butter or margarine. Remove from stove and blend in flour smoothly. Add milk and salt and pepper to taste. Return to fire and stir constantly until thickened. Add tampala, the eggs well beaten and brown stock. Pour into greased ring mold. Set mold in pan of hot water and bake at 350 degrees for forty to forty-five minutes. Unmold, fill center of ring with creamed fish, sprinkled with paprika, and serve at once.

AWARDED BRONZE STAR—Eleven-year-old Gloria Ann Friedman has been notified that her father, Captain Joseph W. Friedman, U. S. Marine Corps Reserve, has been awarded the Bronze Star. The citation which accompanied the medal stated that it was awarded for "heroic achievement in action against the enemy while serving with a Marine infantry battalion on Saipan, Marianas Islands, on June 17, 1944." The Marine officer assumed the command of his company when the command was wounded during a tank attack and continued to serve in that capacity for the next 18 days of the attack. Capt. Friedman received the Purple Heart for wounds received on Tarawa and holds a Presidential unit citation. He also served on Guadalcanal. Now Provost Marshal at the Naval Convalescent Hospital at Glenwood Springs, Colo., Capt. Friedman returned from 23 months service overseas service in August, 1944.

Colorado City Youth Given Silver Star Bravery Decoration

COLORADO CITY, May 31—Already holder of the Bronze Star medal, earned in a battle in the vicinity of Belle Hale last Christmas Eve, and of the combat infantryman's badge, Sgt. Malcolm M. Gross, 19-year-old Colorado Cityan, was on May 11, 1945, formally cited again and decorated with the Silver Star medal, according to a copy of a citation forwarded from headquarters of the 75th infantry to his parents here, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gross.

The Silver Star was awarded Sgt. Gross for "gallantry in action in connection with military operations against the enemy on March 28, 1945, in Germany... on a road running across the crest of a hill near Kirchhellen... (when) the enemy raked the column with intense artillery, mortar, automatic weapons and small arms."

Must Face Firing Squad For Murder

VERNAL, Utah, May 31 (AP) — James Joseph Roedel, 27-year-old Oklahoma City man, must face a firing squad Friday, July 13, for the hammer killing of a California school teacher nearly three years ago.

Asked if he had any comment, Roedel told the judge that witnesses failed to tell the truth when he was convicted of slaying Mrs. Abigail Agnes Williams of San Leandro, Calif., in eastern Utah, in October, 1942.

Stubblefield -- The Man History Overheard And Also Overlooked

By JACK LEWYN
AP Newsfeatures

MURRAY, Ky. — History may have overlooked Nathan B. Stubblefield; maybe the name doesn't sound familiar. But old-timers in this town of 5,000 will tell you he's the true inventor of radio.

With commercial broadcasting now in its 25th year in the United States, few people remember this Kentuckian who died, alone and embittered, a hermit of these hills.

Radio as we know it was inaugurated in 1920 with a broadcast of Harding-Cox election bulletins from KDKA in Pittsburgh, but Stubblefield has been credited with inventing radio as early as 1892, three years before Marconi sent and received his first wireless signals across his father's Italian estate.

Later a few close friends watched Stubblefield demonstrate his invention in a "queer-looking box," so the story goes, and in 1902 he broadcast successfully from a steamship to the banks of the Potomac after public demonstrations in Washington, New York and Philadelphia.

Apparently he never revealed the secret of his "voice broadcaster," as he himself described it in 1902. He said only: "These vibrations reproduce sounds in receivers turned to convey them to the listening ear. What this apparatus consists of or how it does its work, I will not tell you."

Recognition slipped from his grasp, but nobody seems able to say just what happened. Stubblefield retired and died in poverty.

But he has not been entirely forgotten. Citizens of Murray, on March 28, 1930, erected a monument to his memory on the campus of Murray State College near the site of his home and "broadcasting" station. A wreath is laid at the foot of the monument every year.

In 1944 the Kentucky General Assembly adopted a resolution, which reads:

"The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky hereby publicly recognizes Nathan B. Stubblefield, who was a native of the city of Murray, Calloway county, Kentucky, as the true inventor of the radio, and it is the sentiment of the General Assembly that said Nathan B. Stubblefield is entitled to the highest honor and respect at the hands of the people of this commonwealth and of this nation for his outstanding scientific achievement and public service."

Stubblefield's invention never was found after his death.

SHAEF Modifies Its Censorship

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Paris, May 30 (AP)—All censorship restrictions except those dealing with the movement of troops to active theaters and any matters of such importance as to be referred to Gen. Eisenhower were lifted today from all correspondents in this theater.

The supreme headquarters statement said: "In order to clarify the position of his headquarters, all correspondents are informed that censorship in this theater is hereby discontinued except for major troop movements and details connected therewith, and such other matters of high military importance as may require reference to the supreme commander."

The order surprised the censors as much as the correspondents.

Both had been told that the SHAEF censorship branch could be expected to maintain a measure of control of all news from the theater for some time.

Forward-Looking Move

The War Today

By Dewitt Mackenzie
AF Foreign News Analyst

The increasingly bloody clash in Syria between natives and French troops is based on a fundamental which should cause peace-makers the world over to pause for reflection, and it's this:

The Syrians have the Atlantic Charter in the melting-pot and they're applying the heat to discover what its promises of sovereignty mean to them.

The matter isn't confined to Syria. We see it in another significant development in the Middle East. This is the demand by Iran (Persia) that British, Russian and American troops be withdrawn from the country. There the Atlantic Charter crops up again.

The British and Russians are self-invited guests at the Persian board. They invaded the country in 1941 when the Teheran government failed to oust thousands of Germans who were using Persia as a base for activities against the Allies.

There was fighting and the Persians changed their minds. A British-Russian-Persian alliance was signed — and it was based on the Atlantic Charter.

American troops were sent to Persia to run one of the world's greatest transport jobs—movement of war supplies to Russia from the head of the Persian Gulf by rail and desert highways. The Yanks appeared to be welcome, though it wasn't quite clear whether this was because the Persians loved us the more or our Allies the less. Anyway, I was told in the Persian capital that the people frankly Decision of city and county to cooperate financially in providing funds for erection of a permanent depot for migratory farm laborers is sound and timely we believe.

The only thing, the move is that the step should have been taken a few seasons back — but then that's water under the bridge. The program outlined now will correct many of the deficiencies under which we have attempted to attract cotton choppers and cotton pickers into this territory.

There is no denying that the creation of the permanent camp facilities is being undertaken for the primary purpose of improving the lot of the migratory farm laborer to the extent that he will prefer to stop in Big Spring. In years past we have seen crews pause here but momentarily and then roam in on a quest of something better because there was, in reality, nothing to hold him here.

There is nothing wrong with this as a motivating influence, yet the human side of it seems commendable to us, too. We think the creation of this camp along modern lines is wise because it is the decent thing to do. Moreover, it is a step toward sanitary improvements, one vitally needed so far as the health of the community is concerned.

City and county officials are to be commended for their decision to construct the buildings along permanent fire-proof lines. In this manner, the project is conceived not as a wartime necessity, but as a forward-looking social step. In other words, the migratory laborer will be made to realize that this is not just an operation for this year, but one for many, many years.

hoped America would act as a buffer between them and the Anglo-Russian pair.

The point is that the Persians have feared their country would fall again under the domination of a foreign power or powers as the result of post-war rivalries among the Allies.

Today And Tomorrow—

Mr. Truman's Foreign Policy

By WALTER LIPPMANN

of Chapultepec with Dumbarton Oaks.

In preparing for an international meeting of the highest officials, there is no use imagining that an American President and an American Secretary of State can have the same kind of intimate and detailed knowledge of specific situations in Europe and the Middle East as their British and Soviet colleagues. There are no experts capable of providing that kind of knowledge; the experts do not agree, and so the maker of a foreign policy has to listen to experts and then decide among them.

In the case of the British and the Russians there are long established objectives and lines of policy which their experts are trained to support. Thus the area of conflict between the British empire and the Russian empire extends from the Adriatic through the Middle East to the Persian Gulf. When both Britain and Russia are in mortal danger, as they were from Napoleon's France and in our century from Pan-Germany, they lay aside their imperial conflict. When the mortal danger disappears, the conflict reappears, no matter whether Russia is Czarist or Communist, whether Britain is Tory or Liberal. The security of the two empires is believed to be at stake on whether Britain, which is an island, controls the sea and land passage from Europe to Asia, or Russia, which is landlocked, controls her own exits to the oceans. Balkan politics, Middle Eastern politics, and the ideologies, which change in the course of time but are always opposed, are the pawns, not the Kings and Queens, in this conflict.

President Truman's problem is to shape an American policy which will compose and, if possible, resolve constructively and permanently this ancient conflict.

Hollywood—
An unprepared meeting of very high officials can easily produce confusion rather than clarification. Messrs. Molotov, Eden, and Stettinius in San Francisco are a case in point. The fact that the foreign ministers came raised high hopes. But the fact that their meeting was virtually impromptu, that there was no efficient preparation in advance about what they were to discuss and to decide, resulted in their spending most of their time on secondary matters. We have now had to send Mr. Hopkins to Moscow and Mr. Davies to London to take up the questions that were pushed aside while Messrs. Molotov, Eden, and Stettinius in San Francisco were discussing the Argentine and how to find a formula to reconcile the act

This cannot be done in one meeting. He can only make a beginning by making it clear to our Allies and to our own people that he knows the difference between the kings and the pawns, between the real issues on the one hand, the local incidents and the ideologies on the other. He can make it clear that the American interest, which is our own peace and security, is not to become entangled in it. As a demonstration of his own purpose, Mr. Truman could not have made a better beginning than with his first independent moves, done on his own authority as President. He has put himself in direct relations with Moscow through Mr. Hopkins, with London through Mr. Davies, with Paris through his reception of M. Bidault, and by his handsome gesture in calling for Mr. Hoover, he has emphasized his understanding that if Europe is to settle down, it must eat and must recover.

'Concentrate Effort'

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—

A war bond statement from Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, deputy supreme Allied commander, Mediterranean theater:

"Investment of wages in war bonds concentrates our national effort on winning the war. In addition, it will help the payroll-saver carry out all those postwar plans and dreams. War bonds will help to purchase for our armies superior weapons and equipment, and provide the medical supplies and facilities to save lives."

Motors first came into use about 1884.

Grass Grows Under Laurel (Stan)

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — With a glass of tomato juice, Stan Laurel was drinking a farewell toast to Fort Laurel, his hacienda in the San Fernando Valley.

"Yep, I sold it," he said. "I'm moving into the city. Don't know where yet, but I've got a couple of possibilities." He took another drink of tomato juice.

Stan is not selling the place because of money matters. He and Oliver are working for two companies, 20th Century - Fox and MGM, and are still making very nice moola after all these years. "I had to sell the place because I just couldn't get the help to keep it up," Laurel explained. "I had a man here for three days last week, but unfortunately I paid him in advance. I haven't seen him since."

Stan was seated in the playroom of Fort Laurel. It is a large room with a bar and many pictures of show business people on the walls. "I'll show you something," he said, and turned a switch.

Outside the window water began to drip from the roof. Stan assured me the rain effect was very helpful in keeping the place cool in the summertime. It has also been good for laughs.

"When we had parties I would turn it on and people would think it was raining. They would run all the way out to the street to roll up their car windows before they realized they weren't getting wet." Stan emitted that high, horse-like laugh of his.

The comic showed me around the rest of Fort Laurel. The entire rancho is surrounded by a high wall which he said contained 100,000 bricks. There are several bungalows.

In the rear of the place is the inevitable California barbecue pit. Atop the wall near it is a medieval figure blowing a horn. It is titled Knight Laurel. Stan pushed a button and the horn, which is hooked up to a radio, started to broadcast a morning soap opera.

The Fort was visibly run down from lack of help. The greenhouse was almost empty. The rabbit, chicken and duck enclosures were desolate, their former inhabitants being carefully tucked away in cold storage. Weeds overran the place.

A change of home is not the only alteration in Stan Laurel's life. He and Babe Hardy plan to do a Broadway show in the fall.

"It won't exactly be a new experience," said Stan. "I've done shows before. Let's see — I guess the last one was in 1908."

And Nothing Can Be Done About It

With The AEF: Four Stars, Harrowing Experiences, but He's Young

By GEORGE TUCKER
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

PARIS, (AP)—For a man who has traveled across oceans in submarines on secret diplomatic missions, captured Italy and lived on goat stew for 20 months, Mark Wayne Clark is perhaps the healthiest and youngest looking combat general in the United States army.

He wore out his aides and most of his staff officers in three days in Paris.

"It's the first time I've seen it in 27 years," he said as he paused here briefly on his way to the United States.

The four stars on his shoulder have added neither weight nor cares although there have been many moments in the last 20 months that would have made most men grow gray with anxiety.

One of those moments was the fourth day at Salerno when the Germans drove between the American and British corps and almost reached the beaches.

"They got so close there was no liaison between the Americans and the British except by water," he said.

Another time was the Germans' second great attempt to liquidate Anzio. At the time there were many official denials that the beachhead was jeopardized, but the situation was so tense that even cooks and drivers were fed into the lines in an effort to stop the German steamroller. Those were the days when the Americans paid a bitter price in blood for the tooth-hold south of Rome.

Clark almost lost his life while making a run to the beachhead in a torpedo boat when an American destroyer mistook it for a German boat and opened fire. The destroyer scored a near miss and two of Clark's boat crew were wounded. Shell fragments missed the general by inches.

Like Gen. Patton and Marshal Montgomery, Clark has a tremendous pride in achievement. Like them he has some natural vanity and appreciation for recognition.

His Fifth army, when it was racing side by side with the Eighth army up through Italy was his pride. There actually was a tremendous race for Rome and Clark won.

Clark said the greatest thrill was the final drive in Italy with the Italians, Indians, Poles, New Zealanders, Palestine brigades, South Africans, Americans, Brazilians and British all hitting stride simultaneously.

"Every outfit carried its own weight at the same time," Clark said. "Each division had something to brag about. It was beautiful."

Washington— Congressional Overhaul Ideas Abound

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — In a little more than four years, there have been several million words written and spoken about what is wrong with Congress.

The Joint Committee on the Organization of Congress compiled more than 10,000 words of testimony in seven days of hearings lasting rarely more than a couple of hours a day.

Roland Young, in "This Is Congress," considers the matter on almost every one of his 275 pages. The Committee on Congress of the American Political Science Association, whose chairman is expert George B. Galloway, also staff director of the LaFollette-Monroe committee, has made an exhaustive study of the question for four years, Robert Heller, Cleveland, O., business management expert, has made a similar though less extensive survey for the National Planning Association.

resolved by making Improvement No. 5 an accomplished fact, and adding a protective clause in Improvement No. 2.

If all this could be accomplished overnight, Congress still might not be perfection as the legislative branch of democracy, but more than a score of persons who have written and testified on the subject are in pretty thorough agreement that if all or some of these things could be accomplished it would be a big step toward that desired goal.

Certain it is that many of the objectives suggested would bring about an end to the flow of power away from Capitol Hill and a return of Congress to its constitutional duties of making the laws rather than rubber-stamping the policies of the Chief Executive and his departments; or endlessly

Washington Merry-Go-Round—

International Hope, Faith, Charity

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Few people outside the White House know it, but President Truman detailed to Secretary Steve Early the embarrassing job of requesting the resignation of Francis Biddle as attorney general.

Apparently not wanting to see Biddle face to face, Truman asked Early to handle the matter. Early called the attorney general on the phone, abruptly broke the news. Biddle, however, did not appreciate this second-hand method of doing business. He promptly called the White House, said he wanted to see the president.

Going to the White House, Biddle told Truman that his resignation had been submitted immediately after President Roosevelt died, and that he quite appreciated the fact that a new president would want to have his own personal friends in his cabinet.

"But," he added, "the relation between the president and his cabinet is such that if you want to accept my resignation, it seems to me you should tell me so yourself, not detail it to a secretary."

Embarrassed, President Truman agreed.

Note—On big problems, President Truman has shown himself to be broad-gauged and far-sighted. But, like some of his predecessors, on little things he is not. A lot of political irritants, most of them involving political patronage, apparently stuck in Truman's craw regarding Biddle. The attorney general long held out against appointing Truman's old sergeant in World War I, Fred Canfield, as U. S. marshal in Kansas City. He also held out against the appointment of ex-Congressman Dick Duncan of St. Joseph to be a U. S. judge in Missouri. Biddle also had refused to parole Truman's political godfather, Tom Pendergast.

Embarrassed, President Truman agreed.

Like Gen. Patton and Marshal Montgomery, Clark has a tremendous pride in achievement. Like them he has some natural vanity and appreciation for recognition.

His Fifth army, when it was racing side by side with the Eighth army up through Italy was his pride. There actually was a tremendous race for Rome and Clark won.

San Francisco Storm
The French-Syrian problem has been like a shower of cold water on diplomats engaged in hammering out the United Nations peace machinery — especially when it comes to the veto power.

Suddenly they have come smack up, face-to-face with the fact that under the Yalta veto formula, their new peace machinery (1) could not prevent the French from shooting Arabs; (2) could not investigate the quarrel between the French and the Arabs; and (3) could not effectively tell the French to stop shooting Arabs — unless the French wanted to be prevented, wanted to be investigated, or wanted to be scolded.

Being a member of the Big Five, the French could exercise their right of veto and stop any real outside interference.

The absurd paradox in the whole situation is that the U. S. state department has been sending notes and oral protests to the French urging them to stop. But once the San Francisco peace machinery is set up, the state department will have little right or power to lodge these protests.

All this has been the subject of the stiffest secret debates in San Francisco. They were held behind closed doors, where the protests of little nations nearly blew the roof off.

What especially burned up the delegates was the contention that any of the Big Five could even veto discussions and verbal proposals for settling a dispute.

"We don't mind a veto on a shooting match, because the Big Five have to carry the burden on shooting," summed up Australia's external minister Evatt at one closed-door meeting. "What we do object to is a veto on a talking match."

All the small nations looked to France to carry the ball for them. But the French delegation ducked. The Syrian-Lebanon dispute was too hot and they wanted the right to veto any interference in it.

Result was that Australia's Evatt, who has turned out to be the most effective small nations operator at San Francisco, picked up the ball, gave the Big Five a real run for their money. Evatt, a devoted disciple of President Roosevelt, told friends he was convinced the late president would have agreed with him if alive. Evatt rallied a number of smaller nations, started things off quietly at one of the committee meetings at which he had asked that British Under Secretary of Foreign Affairs Alexander Cadogan be present to explain the Yalta voting formula. Lord Cadogan came.

First shot out of the box, New Zealand's able Prime Minister Fraser stood up, poured a list of tart questions on Cadogan.

"Now," concluded Fraser, "we want specific answers to our specific questions." Cadogan hemmed and hawed, finally gave some answers.

"Would you publish those answers so that we can all examine them closely?" Fraser asked. Cadogan finally agreed.

Then up sprang Evatt again and in blistering language tore into the big powers' right to veto even discussion of an incident. Lord Cadogan squirmed. Evatt was supported by the Netherlands, opposed by the Czechoslovaks.

Next day Evatt did some quiet lobbying, came to the evening session with new support. For the first time one of the Latin Americans sided with the Australian-New Zealand-Netherlands group. Stately Chilean Foreign Minister Joaquin Fernandez arose and said: "Doctor Evatt's attitude as to the veto is magnificent. All I can do is say that Chile agrees 100 per cent. Anything I could add would only confuse the issue."

But the interpreter watered down the Chilean's words. Provoked, Fernandez refused the translation, wrote out his speech for the record in English.

Soviet Ambassador Gromyko then rose to say the smaller nations would have to trust the Big Five. "If the Big Five can't work together," argued Gromyko, "there will be no peace anyway."

Despite this, the opposition slowly gathered steam. Canada, Belgium, Peru, Mexico, Cuba, Colombia, Ecuador, El Salvador, Greece and Norway swung behind the representatives of Australia and New Zealand. Only South Africa supported the Big Five along with the Czechs, Yugoslavs and the two Russian republics.

Lord Cadogan followed Gromyko's words with an appeal for faith and hope. He was seconded by Senator "Long Tom" Connally of Texas.

In the end, Australia's Evatt proposed that the sub-committee have the right to submit their objections and questions to a conference sub-committee composed of four big powers and five small powers. This was all agreed to when suddenly the Texas senator proposed that the sub-committee include France, making a total membership of ten and thus definitely eliminating any chance of the Big Five being outvoted. Delegates from the small nations sighed, reluctantly yielded.

Said one smaller nation delegate afterwards: "The British talked about faith, the Russians about hope, but Connally talks only about charity—for his own views."

Machine Keeps Track Of Men In The Pacific

ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Pacific Operations Area, Fort Shafter, T. H., May 31 (AP)—Here in a single room, 50 by 130 feet, the army keeps track of thousands of men scattered over 20,000,000 square miles, from Hawaii to Okinawa.

It's all done by an electro-mechanical brain, known as the machine records unit, which can read, write, add, subtract and do an amazing number of calculations and turn up the right answer in practically no time at all.

If, in the morning the commanding general wants the number of men in the Tenth army, less those on detached service, wounded or sick, he gets the answer by noon, as of the present day. Or, perhaps he is curious about the number of second lieutenants of Indian ancestry in a certain regiment. MRU can tell him that and file the names alphabetically, by age or army serial number.

Col. Norman A. Donges of Uvalde, Tex., is in charge of MRU for the entire Pacific ocean area and another Texan, Capt. Walter O. Anderson of Weslaco operates the headquarters record room.

One Mess Better Than Twenty Small Messes

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff

Lillian Parish of San Angelo has spent the past two years in Alaska. She returned recently, took one confused look at the rationing situation and threw up her hands. "None was never like this," she said.

However, the Alaskan diet wasn't much better. She ate at army camps often, said there was plenty of dehydrated and powdered food ample in quantity and vitamins but lacking in taste.

Speaking of food, the housewives of Pharr, San Juan and Alamo have things pretty well under control.

They have opened a cannery. They call it the Tri-City Community Cannery. They have $5,000 worth of equipment, some bought and some made in the high school shops. Two canning experts help them.

The cannery has such things as metal tables, a line of gas stoves with huge pots, cooking vats, steam tables, two power-driven sealers, a large pressure cooker, cooling vats, a double citrus juicer, a pea sheller, a power meat grinder that has cutter blades for use in processing tomatoes, and other items.

It started as a part-time project, now operates six days a week. So far, they have produced for themselves 17,000 cans of peas, beans, corn and tomatoes. The vegetables were valley-grown. They canned 3,000 cans of Arkansas apples for the school lunch program.

Recently they've imported pineapples from the interior of Mexico, are canning them now.

One housewife jokingly said they had discovered it was not only cheaper but better for 20 or more women to make one big mess in one place than to make 20 individual messes in 20 separate kitchens.

Juvenile Docket Continues Active

An active juvenile delinquency docket continued Thursday when Jesse Lee Clark, 15, was confined to the juvenile detention home. He was taken after a 1935 Pontiac, belonging to Lee Hanson, had been missed.

Clark was released from the Gatesville state school for boys approximately two months ago after serving around seven months in the school, and J. B. Bruton, juvenile delinquent officer, said Thursday the boy's parole would be revoked. Another 15-year-old youth is being held in the local home for taking a truck from the Crawford parking lot May 29.

Bruton, in discussing the evident rise in delinquency, attributed it partly to warmer weather when boys can stay out later at night. Cooperating with the county law official in the recent pickups was Pete Green of the local police force.

remote from the Japanese war and the German war was ended.

During the past two years, he said, the autonomy of the Syrian government was respected by Britain, the United States and France, and "now France has ignored Syrian authority."

Eden said Damascus had been bombed from the air and subjected to heavy, concentrated shellfire after British and U. S. civilians were evacuated.

The British minister in Damascus reported the situation had deteriorated further in the Syrian capital, Eden said with heavy firing and shelling during the night. Two large fires were reported spreading and 300 were dead.

Eden said an armistice was arranged with French military authorities yesterday afternoon and British and United States civilian colonies were evacuated from Damascus.

"After that," he added, "the center of the city was subjected to the heaviest and most concentrated shellfire yet directed upon it."

As he reported the ancient city had also been bombed from the air, cries of "shame" echoed through commons.

No Brucellosis, But Mama Pigs Have Vitamin Troubles

The swine committee of the American Veterinary Medical association recently warned farmers that America is losing millions of pounds of pork production because of a swine disease, brucellosis, which is now killing tens of thousands of baby pigs before they are born, and although Howard county is not faced with this particular disease, indications are that vitamin deficiency is playing havoc with pigs in the county.

Durward Lewter, Howard county agent, explains that because a sow has a vitamin deficiency due to improper feed, her entire litter will show signs of weakness.

An experiment conducted at A. & M. college recently was made to determine just how the lack of vitamins affects a sow during the period of gestation and the effects on her litter of pigs. For the four months she was given no vitamins in her feed, and all of her young were either blind or showed signs of weakness brought about through the deficiency of vitamin A, found in pasture and ground alfalfa hay. The pigs were given injections of the vitamin and in three weeks they were improved.

Country, Honor, Duty Watchwords Says Speaker

Lt. Norval A. Rovzar, guest speaker at graduation exercises held at the post theatre Thursday at 9 a. m. for Cadet Class 45-15, told members of the class that as officers, they faced challenging words of duty, honor and country, and that if one lost, all was lost.

In all his service he asserted that he had seen some who had performed jobs better than others, but that he had never seen Americans disregard their duty.

Born in Mexico City, Mexico, Lt. Rovzar attended high school in Wisconsin, and Denver University at Denver Colo. His overseas service was at Bengasi, Libya and he made combat missions over Italy, Greece, Austria, Hungary, Rumania, and later over Germany.

The graduation program included the oath of office which was administered by First Lt. James P. Ward, assistant school secretary, and in the absence of Colonel Ralph P. Rockwood, Lt. Colonel Albert W. Satterwhite, acting commanding officer, presented bombardier wings.

Response speech for graduates was given by Lt. W. W. Dixon, Evansville, Indiana, wing commander, and a double award went to 2nd Lt. Alfonso V. Jablonski, Cleveland, Ohio, best student and best bombardier, and F.O. Gilbert G. McKinley, San Francisco, Calif., best athlete. Lt. Jablonski was the second man to win the double award.

Among the graduating class, which included eight Texans, was F.O. Alton B. LaVelle, son of Mrs. Edith La Velle of Big Spring.

WAVE And Cadet Unit In Dallas In June, Says Recruiter

L. M. Brashears, here on week-day duty at the navy recruiting office Thursday, announced that a WAVE and aviation cadet examining board will be in Dallas June 12-14, with applications being made through the San Angelo office.

The recruiter also expressed the urgent need for WAVES in naval hospital corps and pointed out that qualified women are also being taken into 50 other rates.

Seventeen-year old boys who wish to try for flight training must be high school graduates and be in perfect physical condition. It was also revealed that 17-year olds are being taken into the navy for general service.

Jimmy Tolbert, Eddie Mann and Tippy Anderson, Jr., all of Big Spring, were sworn into the navy for general service Monday. The youths are now awaiting call for navy training.

Brashears stated that there will be no navy recruiter in Big Spring next week, although trips to Big Spring will be resumed the following week. Interested applicants are asked to contact the San Angelo recruiting office in the San Angelo post office building.

Trio Booked In Morphine Theft

Two men and one woman were held in city jail after being booked on charges of felony theft in connection with the theft of narcotics, police disclosed Thursday.

The suspects were held in connection with theft of 500 grains of morphine from the Cunningham and Phillips drug store Wednesday at 10:30 p. m., police said. The drugs were discovered in a room allegedly occupied by one of the men held.

The trio was detained pending transfer to higher court.

Howard Not Included In Road Program, Rep. Barnes Says

Howard was not included in the list of counties sharing in the state-assumed lateral road program announced by the state highway department, Rep. C. H. Barnes advised The Herald Wednesday evening.

He was checking to see if the department could have omitted the county from the list since it was the only county in his district which was not included.

Glascok was set up for 14.5 miles from Garden City on state 158 to the Reagan county line; Reagan county 32 miles from the Glascok county line to Big Lake; Sterling county for 12 miles northeast from Sterling City; and Tom Green for 18.4 miles from San Angelo to the Concho county line.

Rep. Barnes told The Herald he expected the legislature to adjourn by the weekend.

US Urges France To Review Matter

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—The United States has sent a note to France urging it to review its policy toward Syria and Lebanon to facilitate a solution of the controversy there.

Acting Secretary of State Joseph C. Grew said today that the note was delivered in Paris last Monday by Ambassador Jefferson Caffery to the French Provisional government.

The text of the note as released by the State department said that an impression had been created in this country and elsewhere that the French were using the threat of force to obtain concessions from Syria and Lebanon.

The note continued: "It is understood that at a time when the French delegate to the Levant states was presenting to the governments of Syria and Lebanon proposals which if accepted would give France a special position in those countries, a French warship was landing fresh armed forces at Beirut."

French Surprised By British Action

PARIS, May 31 (AP)—The London announcement that Britain is intervening in Syria surprised the French government today and official quarters refused all comment for the time being.

Prime Minister Churchill's message was delivered directly to Gen. DeGaulle, who immediately summoned a number of key ministers for consultation.
