

T. & P. N. Witnesses Heard At Lubbock

HOMETOWN TALK

By Betty

TWENTY dollars in subscriptions to the Cemetery Association were reported today by John Wolcott, treasurer.

They were from Mrs. J. I. McDowell, Austin and Mrs. D. D. Crawford, ten dollars each.

A sincere appeal for additional cash subscriptions was made by Mr. Wolcott, who asked "who will be the next loyal person to give something?"

A community can be judged pretty well by the sort of care it gives its cemeteries.

WHO is going to drive through to Hobbs, New Mexico, in the next day or two that will take with him three deserving passengers with a small amount of baggage?

Carl Blomfield, Community Chest chairman, asked your columnist to pass this request along. He said the Chest drive had not been sufficiently completed and the records opened to allow for inauguration of charity work from it. The Chest is being raised for the calendar year 1931, primarily.

These passengers are a man, his wife and daughter, who have been here while one of them was in a hospital. They are without funds to return to Hobbs, where they have a small business.

THE other day a friend of our's called to ask the editor to enter a defense for those persons who do a lot of reading in books.

His request arose from an editorial which more-or-less branded these habitual readers as lazy—at least while they are reading. He said some of his friends were applying the thing to him—an habitual reader.

It was pointed out in the editorial that no physical exertion is needed to read a book. One needs only to be able to see, to have a book, a comfortable chair and a table or something upon which to rest his or her feet.

He is enriched mentally if the book be of that type. He is benefited. But, at the same time, such reading is relaxation, else much reading that is done wouldn't be.

"The Leisure Arts" is a term applied by the learned Outlook to leisure arts, yes. But, arts nevertheless.

It is our observation that a certain type of laziness is needed to properly appreciate reading and to be ambitious to read. Ambition and laziness seldom join hands, but in a woman they do when it comes to reading.

One must have a desire to learn before he will read a book. A higher type of ambition is displayed when, after reading an instructive volume, he attempts to use his new-found information for purposes calculated to help himself or others in a real way.

Many an A-plus scholar, book-worm and all that, has left college or without college has read much and, in so doing, has become acquainted with thousands and thousands of facts.

Many of these fellows have, upon leaving the bookstore, as it were, found themselves unable to grow in any old atmosphere or climate.

Conversely, many a man whose mental powers are gigantic has had his life's realm of thought and action dwarfed because his imagination had not the enrichment books afford or the facts he might have translated into action through proper mental perspective.

Personally we grab some sort of magazine or book at every chance if but for a few moments.

Crash Injures One Seriously

W. A. Henderson Hurt In Collision Near Refinery

W. A. Henderson, 35, was injured seriously this morning when struck by an automobile as he was crossing the Bankhead Highway near Couden Refinery.

Both bones in the right leg were crushed, the collar bone broken, and numerous bruises and lacerations inflicted, in the accident.

According to witnesses, Henderson was watching a car approach from the west when the other machine, going west, swung around a curve and struck him. It was said the car was driven by a woman, who stopped and rendered aid.

The man was taken to Evington and Barcus Hospital, where he is reported in a serious condition.

Clues Followed In Kidnaping Of Redwater Banker

TENARKANA, Texas, Dec. 9 (AP)—Two numbers on a bit of bloody paper occupied attention today of officers investigating the kidnaping and shooting of R. W. Hanks, 55-year-old banker of Redwater, Texas.

The numbers were on a piece of envelope found in the pocket of a coat which was given Hanks to wear by the man who forced him to leave his home Saturday night and walk several miles into the country. Officers believed they were part of an address where the kidnapers had lived.

Houses in the vicinity of the banker's home and the abandoned mill where Hanks was shot three times and seriously wounded were checked. No arrests had been made, but officers continued to hold two men for questioning.

Officers also investigated discrepancies in evidence gathered from Hanks and others. The banker said he was forced to walk 10 miles with his captor. Persons who found the wounded man said his clothing was not wet and his shoes were not muddy, despite the fact rain had been falling and the fields were muddy.

Hanks received three bullet wounds in the head, but showed improvement at a hospital.

Woman Given Life Sentence

Mrs. O'Loughlin Found Guilty in Death of Stepchild

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 9 (AP)—Convicted of murdering her 13-year-old stepdaughter, Mrs. Pearl O'Loughlin today faced life imprisonment at hard labor in the Colorado state penitentiary.

The jury which heard the case of the titian-haired, 31-year-old step-mother deliberated an hour and 6 minutes last night.

With Mrs. O'Loughlin's alleged confession to police barred as evidence, the verdict carried with it an automatic penalty. Under Colorado law capital punishment can be imposed only where there is an eye-witness to the crime or a confession by the accused.

Laughing and joking with her attorney a moment before the jury filed into the box, Mrs. O'Loughlin listened intently but with no display of emotion as Judge Henry A. Calvert read the verdict.

Will Appeal
The defense was granted thirty days in which to file a motion for a new trial. Should the motion be denied, John M. Keating, her counsel, said he will appeal to the state supreme court.

The formalities over, Mrs. O'Loughlin stood erect and walked down a narrow passageway to the prisoners' dock.

In the front row of the spectators' section sat the woman's husband, Leo, a city detective whose life the state alleged she also sought. The husband flinched as the verdict was read.

In the closing argument, Earl Wetengel, district attorney, and Ralph J. Cummings, the prosecutors, endeavored to show Mrs. O'Loughlin could not account for her movements the night of October 14, when her step-daughter, Leona, was apparently hit on the head with a tire iron and her body thrown into the icy waters of Berkeley Lake.

Another Charged
The opportunity for the crime, Wetengel argued, rested between Mrs. O'Loughlin, her husband and his brother, Frank, who also is charged with the murder. His trial is set for December 18. The husband was at work on a robbery investigation.

Frank, on the witness stand, testified he spent the night in bed, and his statements were not refuted.

The prosecution emphasized the alleged finding of glass in the stomachs of Leona and her father.

As a motive for murder the state sought to show Mrs. O'Loughlin attempted to kill her husband's 73-year-old father, Dennis, by putting glass in a sugar bowl at his home in Fort Collins; to end the lives of her husband and step-daughter by placing glass particles in their food, and then to inherit the elder man's estate of approximately $35,000 and $2,500 in insurance carried by her husband.

Kansas City-Will Extend Air Mail Chicago To Fort Worth, Dallas

CHICAGO, Dec. 9 (AP)—Air passenger service between Chicago and Kansas City will be started by National Air Transport Jan. 2, and within a few weeks will be extended to Tulsa, Fort Worth and Dallas.

N.A.T. began operating mail and express planes over the Chicago-Dallas route May 12, 1926, and its ships have flown more than 9,000,000 miles over the Southwestern and Chicago-New York lines.

14 Chicago Women Called It Bridge But Police Said Gambling

CHICAGO, Dec. 9 (AP)—Just what was said by the 14 husbands who went without their dinners the other night, because their wives were detained for six hours at a police station was not brought out, but Judge William E. Hoffman ruled it was sufficient punishment of the women so he dismissed the case against them. The women said they were playing bridge, but the arresting policeman called it gambling.

Railroad Train Called Safest Place in U. S.

CHICAGO, Dec. 9 (AP)—A railway train, in the opinion of Charles E. Hill, general safety agent of the New York Central railroad, is the safest place a person can be in the United States.

Speaking before the safety section of the American Railway Association yesterday, Hill said the number of deaths to passengers had decreased from 250 in 1913 to 114 in 1929, and that 78 of last year carried that the railroads last year carried "nearly nine hundred million passengers, or seven and a half times the population of the country."

DISCUSS SHORTER DAY FOR RAILROAD WORKERS

Robertson, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen; Alexander F. Whitney, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen; Alvanley Johnston, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; T. C. 86-Year-Old Confederate Veteran Found Dead With Bullet Wound Through Head

W. E. Gillean, 86-year-old Confederate Veteran, was found dead at 5:45 p. m. Monday in his little home in the yard of the home of his daughter, Mrs. G. E. Fleeman, 900 Lancaster St., with a pistol wound in his head.

A bullet from a 32 caliber pistol entered the roof of Mr. Gillean's mouth, coming out at the top of his head. The slug landed in the ceiling.

The Civil War veteran was sitting in his rocking chair, facing a north window, when his body was discovered by Mr. Fleeman, who had gone to the house to summon him for supper.

According to Mr. Fleeman, Mr. Gillean had failed to eat any lunch, but had informed the family he was in a fight, was "drinking" the day of the occurrence. Three also testified that Rubin's reputation was that of a violent and dangerous man, and that Faulkner's reputation was good.

Flies To Stand
N. S. York, Breckenridge, who flew from California to Big Spring, on an airplane to testify, declared he had known both of the men, and that Rubin's reputation was bad while Faulkner's was good.

He testified Rubin was drinking the morning of the day the fight occurred. He said he went to Midland during the afternoon and knew nothing of the fight.

On cross examination he declared Rubin was an ex-soldier and had been gassed in the World War. He said he was a friend of both men.

Ed Moody, Wichita Falls, formerly operator of the second hand automobile lot where the fight is alleged to have occurred, testified as to the reputation of the two men, declaring Rubin was "dangerous when angry." He said Rubin was drinking the day of the fight.

Arch Ellington, Breckenridge, school teacher, declared he had known Faulkner for eight years, having roomed with him here at the Crawford Hotel. His testimony as to the reputation of the two was repetition of others. On the afternoon of the fight, he declared, Faulkner came to the room with a gun and sat on his face and head, and wanted him (Ellington) to go with him to the car lot and get his coat and hat. He declared he said he had "been beat up."

7-Day Fight
He was in the seven-day fight around Richmond, participated in both battles of Fredericksburg and the battle of Chancellorsville, and was in the march to the Potomac. This march carried him through the diabolical gray of the Southern Confederacy, lies in state at the funeral home today, the Southern Cross of Honor pinned over the heart.

Mr. Gillean was prominent in the battle waged for "the lost cause," having "gone to war" when 18 years old. He enlisted in a Georgia company Feb. 1, 1862, at Lafayette.

His army duties carried him to Savannah, Ga., and to Stanton, Virginia. His regiment was first in the Loughton brigade, the Ewell division of the Stonewall Jackson corps.

Business Healthy But Atmosphere Unhealthy, Says Rotary Speaker

A healthy subject in an unhealthy atmosphere was the term applied by Max Jacobs to business at the present time in a talk before the Rotary Club at its luncheon today. J. B. Collins, also a member of the program committee for the day—spoke on "Collections" as they are influencing business.

Mr. Jacobs outlined his ideas of the cause of business depressions. He stressed the agricultural problems, including the variance in the prices of commodities, as being a basic cause of business disturbance. Speculation and over-expansion in times of prosperity were emphasized as having a large part in unsound business conditions. Faith and confidence in the return of good business conditions were declared to be America's salvation in time of depression.

Mr. Collins said his survey work had shown that collections by Big Spring firms were more favorable than in many other cities. In particular, Mr. Collins declared, people were paying for their homes in a very satisfactory manner at

Employe Held Up, Filling Station Robbed of Cash

LUBBOCK, Texas, Dec. 9 (AP)—The second day's session of the interstate commerce commission hearing on the application of the Texas and Pacific Northern railroad to build 333 miles of line in West Texas started slowly with W. T. Long, Dallas, superintendent of transportation of the Texas and Pacific, on the stand most of the morning.

The opening session was delayed by information of the death in Cr. Weston, Va., of the father of John A. Donnelly, who was here to represent the towns along the route of the proposed line in support of the application. Donnelly planned to return to the east by plane.

James was closing the place for the night when the man, described as roughly dressed in a pair of overalls, a dingy sweater and a cap entered the cafe with a pistol in his hand.

He forced James to place the cash register on the counter. After finding it contained only a small amount of cash, he threatened to kill the man unless he showed him a hiding place of money. Most of the cash had just been paid to the driver of a wholesale gasoline truck.

The bandit, according to James, appeared nervous, and cursed him when he put his hands over his head instead of on the counter.

In addition to the money, the robber took a carton of cigarettes and a pocket full of chewing gum. He warned James not to report the robbery or leave the building.

"If you stick your head out of that door," he told the man, "I'll blow it off."

James later notified Clyde Miller, owner of the establishment, of the robbery. Deputies D. D. Dunn and Andrew Merrick, went to the scene of the robbery 20 minutes after it occurred.

One suspect was arrested, but failed to identify him, when James failed to identify him.

According to James the man was about five feet tall and dark complexioned, with a stubble beard and moustache. He was between 30 and 35 years of age, James said.

Clue To Identity Of Man Killed Near Here Traced

Officials of a Stanton undertaking company were working on a new clue today in an effort to establish the identity of a 50-year-old man, instantly killed on the Bankhead highway over a week ago when struck by an automobile.

Mrs. J. A. Smith of Galveston asked for a complete description of the man and information was forwarded here Monday night.

She declared her husband was last heard of in Colorado, Texas, November 26, 1929, and the description of the man tallied with that of her husband. The body is still being held at Sigaton pending investigation.

According to Stanton officials, Fort Worth officers were unable to find relatives of a J. A. Smith who was a deputy on construction work near Arlington before leaving for West Texas.

A slip of paper bearing the signature of an Arlington officer, now dead, appointing J. A. Smith as deputy, was found in clothes said to have belonged to the dead man.

Every employee of the Rix Furniture & Hardware company and every teacher in the public schools has contributed to the Community Chest.

Some solicitation remains to be done, especially among certain large business concerns and corporations operating here. The response from a few of these has not been satisfactory, it was indicated.

The injured were Mrs. Webb's two children, Felton, 8, and Betty, 7. Mr. Webb and his brother, L. H. Webb and his brother, were not seriously injured. He is a ranchman of Gray, Roberts and Wheeler counties. Mrs. Webb's neck was broken and she died instantly.

The two automobiles collided in front of Arnett's store, at the intersection of Highway No. 20 and the Miami road, both machines turning over several times.

Recluse Slayer Caught By Posses

PAWNEE, Okla., Dec. 8 (AP)—Jess Powell, recluse, sought for the slaying of a youth and a deputy sheriff last night, was captured early today at Balston, near here, after he had seriously wounded Louis Raba, a posseman.

Sheriff Allen Jones of Pawnee county said Powell admitted slaying Floyd Dell, 18, and Ed. Hartwick, Pawnee county deputy, from ambush. Bell's companion, Marion Kendall, 20, was wounded by the 35-year-old farmer.

Court Delivers Charge To Jury O'Loughlin Trial

DENVER, Dec. 8 (AP)—The jury trying Mrs. Pearl O'Loughlin on a charge of slaying her ten-year-old stepdaughter, Leona, was instructed today it must find the defendant guilty of murder in the first degree or acquit her.

The instructions were given by Judge Henry A. Calvert after he had overruled a third motion by the defense for a directed verdict of acquittal.

Three instructions proposed by the defense were rejected by the court.

O'Loughlin sought a ruling the defendant should not be "prejudiced by her own or by the prosecution's inability to point out any other criminal agent."

The others referred to "unbroken chains" of circumstantial evidence, and to the mere possible presence of the defendant "at or near the scene of the crime."

The defense asked the court to instruct the jurors such evidence was insufficient to support a verdict of guilty.

'Padre of the Rains' Dies at Age of 80

SAN JOSE, Cal., Dec. 9 (AP)—The Rev. Jerome Sixtus Ricard, 'Padre of the Rains' died at the University of Santa Clara infirmary here last night. He had been confined to bed most of the time since he suffered a heart attack in April, 1928.

11-Year-Old Writ Causes Arrest

MACON, Mo., Dec. 9 (AP)—An indictment yellowed with age today brought to trial Albert Layman, Blackwell, Okla., who is accused of striking Thomas J. Billings with an axe handle 41 years ago. He is charged with assault with intent to kill.

Billings was attacked March 7, 1889, while in a store at Sue City, a hamlet in the eastern part of Macon county. The man who dealt the blow escaped and the following April the grand jury returned an indictment against Layman. Arrested in Blackwell last September he denied being the assailant but came to Macon to face trial without requisition formalities.

Billings, now 64 years old, said the defendant is the man who struck the blow from which he was a long time recovering. Two of the principal witnesses, who will be asked to tell the jury of the attack, are G. H. Fulmer, Sherman, Texas, and R. B. Turner, La Plante, Mo., owners of the store in which the assault was committed. Both are 80 years old.

Layman denies that he ever was in Macon county until after his arrest. His relatives say they have witnesses and depositions to prove received while working on a well. He declared the hand was incapacitated at the time, and a little finger was practically severed, and is useless today.

Mrs. E. L. Jacobs, San Antonio, the first witness the state put on the stand at the morning session, identified Faulkner as the man who struck Rubin. She was the only one of the state's witnesses to definitely identify him. She witnessed the fight while sitting in her automobile.

Allen Testifies
Albert Allen, 26, 313 1/2 Rannels street, was the first state witness to be placed on the stand Monday afternoon immediately after the twelfth juror had been obtained. Allen testified he saw a crowd standing on the corner of Rannels and East Third the afternoon of March 3, 1928. He declared the crowd was watching two men, and that he saw one of them turn south, the other going east.

"One of the men," Allen said, "went behind a small building and I saw him pick up a pipe. He described the pipe as being four feet long and 'looked like iron.' He testified he saw 'him' hit downward two or three times with the pipe." He added he didn't see who the man was hitting, and did not hear anything. Two hands were used, he declared.

"I saw the man pitch the pipe aside and walk up the street. I saw the other man on the ground and some men picked him up and took him off."

E. L. Jacobs, contractor, San Antonio, who lived here at the time, testified he went to the scene of the fight to see about a "car deal." A new Paige automobile, he declared, was parked in front of the office and he walked up to it. He declared that Faulkner "looked like the man" that was sitting in the car.

Two-In-Car
"There were two men in the car," he testified, "and I was talking to them when another man, slender and tall, started across the street. The man that looked like Faulkner warned the tall man

"don't come any closer to this car." He testified the man kept coming, and the man alleged to have been Faulkner, said "I said don't come any closer to this car."

"Red, I haven't done you no harm and don't want no trouble," the tall man, who is alleged to have been Rubin, was said to have told Faulkner.

Jacobs described the man as being six feet tall, "delicate looking" and wearing a blue serge suit. He declared he would consider him "weak."

According to Jacobs the two men started fighting, but were separated and the man alleged to have been Faulkner got in the car and started off.

and passenger schedules twice as fast as those now in effect over other roads was the promise of Texas & Pacific officials if granted permission to build the Texas Pacific Northern from Big Spring north to Vega with branches to Lubbock and Amarillo.

At an interstate commerce commission, beginning yesterday, W. T. Long, superintendent of transportation for the Texas & Pacific testified much faster schedules would be practical and effective because of coordination. He sought to show that freight could be delivered much more rapidly between Dallas and Fort Worth and points on the proposed new line such as Brownfield, Levelland, Littlefield, Lubbock, Amarillo and Hereford.

Attorneys for the Santa Fe Railway and the Rock Island and the Fort Worth & Denver, who have announced opposition to entry of the Texas & Pacific into territory which they hold themselves to have developed, contended that the proposed fast schedules could not be maintained.

J. L. Lancaster, president of the Texas & Pacific testified he believed the country into which the new road would run was productive enough to support a new railroad, especially after the development of the new building would create. Despite implications from opposing counsel that Mexican labor would be used in the construction, Lancaster said native rural labor would be employed wherever practicable.

Other witnesses were E. F. Mitchell of Dallas, chief engineer for the Texas & Pacific, who gave population figures of towns through which the Texas & Pacific Northern would run, and a representative of Otton county west of Lamb county who sought to have Allen included on the route of the new railway.

Denver to Build
AMARILLO, Dec. 9 (AP)—A plan for construction of the 11-mile Fort Worth and Denver rail line from Childrens to Pampa will be started within the next three weeks.

This announcement was made by Lubbock today by F. E. Williamson, of Chicago, president of the Burlington Lines, in an exclusive interview with an Amarillo Globe-Newspaper.

Williamson is in Lubbock attending the Texas and Pacific hearing.

Permission to build the line was given recently by the interstate commerce commission, contingent upon the agreement with the Rock Island for a joint track arrangement between Wellington and Shamrock. Williamson said that construction will start at the Childrens end and that Burlington officials are confident that by the time that Wellington is reached a track agreement will have been made.

The Rock Island proposes to build from Shamrock southeast through Wellington to a point south of Quanah, and the Shamrock and Wellington section of the two lines will parallel each other.

The survey has been completed and material already shipped to Childrens. Mr. Williamson said.

The line, which will cost about $4,000,000 will be completed early next fall.

through a cut and with considerable grade. It would not be practical to route the highway that way. Plans of the highway department are understood to be to have the highway meet the railroad at a refracting plant in a downtown Cleveland store building. Many of the victims were women.

As To Sand
Another man in the audience said he believed the route proposed would be in one section through such deep sand that the paving would continually be covered. He compared the conditions he expected here to those on the bankhead highway near Monahan's.

Albert Landers declared that if the good roads that do exist in the county were taken away "we wouldn't have anything left."

Judge Morrison said that highway department had not fully decided the exact material to be used in paving but had promised the type its engineers consider the best will be used.

He said the county road from Big Spring toward Galt and north from Coahoma would not be built of as expensive material as the two state-federal highways because traffic on them would not be so heavy.

"As to the route all the way from Big Spring to Lamesa, I don't know," said Mr. Morrison. "I do know that it will not follow the railroad from the city limits and if it intersects the railroad near here it will likely cross somebody's farm. If it were a local and not a link in the state and federal highway systems following section lines might be practical. But the state and federal departments will not consent to the added mileage following section lines would create."

Wanted Road
"We were proud when we obtained designation of highway through Howard county," he don't believe there is a man who would want to lose it. It is our responsibility to build this road or tender the designation back to the state.

"Some will vote against the bonds because he is afraid the road won't pass his farm and others will oppose it because it does come by him," Mr. Morrison continued. We must remember that a road has got to lead somewhere and not

60 Million Drouth Relief Approved

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9 (AP)—The senate today passed the bill authorizing $60,000,000 for relief to drought-stricken farmers.

The measure was approved with out a record vote after democratic had bitterly assailed the content of the administration that funds should not be loaned to farmers for purchase of personal food.

Republicans made no effort to cut down the $60,000,000 to the $25,000,000 recommended by President Hoover. Senator McNary of Oregon, assistant republican leader, sponsored the bill with its $60,000,000 sum.

The bill authorizes the secretary of agriculture to make advances or loans to farmers to the drought-stricken areas "for the purchase of food, seed of suitable crops for plow, feed for livestock and fuel and oil for tractors."

The measure now goes to the house, where the agriculture committee has reported a bill for $90,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9 (AP)—The $100,000,000 public works construction bill was passed today by the house and sent to the senate.

Butter Permits Must Be Obtained

Producers of butter sold in Big Spring must obtain permits from the city by January 1, January 20, Illinois city inspector, said Tuesday.

Mr. Williams said no butter producer had met requirements for a permit. Among those are tuberculin testing of cows, health certificates for employees who handle the product and proper labeling of the package with the word "butter" in the weight, the producer's name and permit number.

"We would like very much to have all these producers obtain permits by January 1," said Mr. Williams.

Christmas Kettles Of Salvation Army To Be Put on Streets

The Salvation Army's familiar Christmas kettles will be on Big Spring streets beginning Wednesday. Captain F. C. Scott announced.

The funds dropped into the kettles will be used for the special purpose of filling Christmas dinner baskets for needy families and this work, which is performed each year wherever the Salvation Army has representatives, is not connected with that of the Community Chest, Captain Scott explained. The relief thus given the worthy poor is not in the regular routine of relief work of the army.

'Princess Alice' Turned Corsets Into Cruisers During the World War

By BESS FURMAN WASHINGTON, Dec. 9 (AP)—Others may boast of beating swords into plowshares, but only Alice Roosevelt Longworth can lay claim to turning corsets into cruisers.

A story first told to acquaintances by J. Leonard Repliege, director of steel supply of the war industries board, during the world war, only today was admitted as accurate by Mrs. Longworth to an inquisitive friend.

Asident admirers of the "Princess Alice" quote it as apt illustration of her sometimes challenged power in both the masculine world of governmental officials, the feminine world of fashionable dress.

Repliege related that during the world war corset manufacturers came to him with an appeal for steel, investigating the said he learned that manufacturers had been making a $12,000,000 profit per annum using 25,000 tons of steel.

Was this essential industry? He telephoned Alice Roosevelt. It was not replied the Princess of the "Princess Alice" figure. The corset men did not want steel.

Strikingly contemporaneous in fashion, the arrival of the Princess Alice figure, which flourished for a full decade during which nation and maid alike discarded steel stays, bobbed their hair and made it a "flapper" era.

Not knowing the steel story, the psychologists analyzed in the change a new freedom, feminine in import. If Alice Roosevelt Longworth was indeed the moving factor of the emancipation, she was far removed as possible from the crusader type of leadership.

Only during the past two social seasons has the corset reentered the fashionable scene to a marked degree—and the new one is far less of the cruiser type.
