Flags Planted Upon Graves Of Veterans

American Legion, Boy Scouts Cooperate In Program

A tiny American flag waves to-day over each grave of a Howard county soldier who died during the World War.

They were placed there Armistice Day by members of the local American Legion post and Boy Scouts. They will be kept on the graves permanently.

Twenty eight graves were found. It is possible, J. F. Hair declared today, that some were overlooked. He urges relatives of soldiers who died during the war, to inform him of the location of the graves. Flags were placed on graves of the following: John L. Atwood, W. E. McWhorter, Elma Larson, Jessie Alfred, F. L. Alfred, A. L. Echola, G. W. Ames, W. H. Mendel, William F. Martin, Capt. J. B. Dyer, N. A. Crenshaw, James H. Dent, Willie Luke Shumake, W. L. Texans In Line For Big Jobs If Democrats Win

Officials of Unions Decline To Discuss Plan After Meeting

A Democratic victory would end the Lone Star state high in legislative halls than it has since its first election to congress after an intermission of 80 years ago, a survey of seniority lists disclosed.

The choice of John N. Garner, senior member of the Texas delegation, to the speakership of the house. Garner is now minority leader.

Texans' Democrats' habit of returning congressmen to Washington would also result in giving to this state five important committee appointments if Democrats gain control.

Representative Joseph J. Mansfield of the ninth district is in line for the chairmanship of the rivers and harbors committee, now assuming greater importance than ever under the enlarged waterways program.

Texans seeking federal approval of the Trinity River navigation project and other projects and jobs, is especially interested in having an authoritative voice in this branch of federal activity.

Other Texas congressmen, veterans of many years, who would take over the chairmanship of influential committees are: Hutton W. Summers, Dallas, judiciary committee; Sam Rayburn, Bonham, committee on interstate and foreign commerce; Fritz G. Lanham, Fort Worth, committee on public buildings.

Representative James P. Buchanan, of Abilene, will rank second on the powerful appropriations committee.

Jack Quinn Will Keep on Pitching

ROARING CREEK, Pa., Nov. 12.—Jack Quinn, veteran pitcher unconditionally released by Cincinatti Mack, is going to keep right on pitching in the major leagues if he can find a berth.

He is not through pitching, he said, "not by a long shot."

Jack, one of the few spit ball artists still left, was found in a cabin in the river hills where he followed his favorite sport of gunning for small game.

"I still think that I am good for another year," said Jack, as he poked the embers at a log fire. "I believe I can win the quota of games allotted every good major league pitcher, which is about 15. I'm going to look around in the majors and get another year which will give me a record of real service that any player can be proud of."

"I've been kicking about the country since I was twelve years old when I started out with a battered cat and two hands and a stout heart," said the veteran twirler, "and I guess I can keep going. I've been in baseball so long I hate to give up the game. I don't know what I will do if I don't answer the spring training call."

Texas Association Supports Fund Bill

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 12.—Support of the bill introduced in the last congress which would create a $85,000,000 non-interest bearing loan fund for the aid of drainage and levee districts affected by bad business conditions was pledged at a meeting here today called by the Texas Reclamation and Drainage Association.

Money obtained through passage of the bill would be used in refunding outstanding indebtedness of districts, taxpayers of which are unable to pay their assessments.

John T. Fortson of Corsicana is president of the association. Others in attendance included R. F. Williams of Austin, state reclamation engineer, W. A. Hartman of Washington, government engineer and John M. Fouts, general manager of the Trinity River Canal Association.

The group endorsed the proposed canalization of the Trinity river. The association discussed the promotion of crops other than cotton for farmers cultivating land within drainage districts. Conditions of Texas drainage districts were described "as acute" but apparently in no worse condition than those in other sections of the country.

Shorter Day Is Discussed By Trainmen

Officials of Unions Decline To Discuss Plan After Meeting

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—A shorter working day and unemployment relief were discussed today at a meeting of general chairmen of the five principal railway trainmen unions in the United States and Canada.

The five organizations which sent representatives in answer to a general call by David B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, were the order of railroad conductors, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, Switchmen's Union of North America, and the Firemen and Engine-men.

The meeting was closed and officials of the unions declined to discuss the agenda.

Alvaney Johnson of Cleveland, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said before the meeting, "undoubtedly much time would be spent discussing proposed federal legislation for a six-hour day for railroad trainmen."

The same unions now seeking a six-hour day years ago sponsored the movement which resulted in the present eight hour day.

Law Enforcement Group Continues On Prohi Report

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—President Hoover's law enforcement commission convened today to continue work on its prohibition report as Republican wet and dry came to grips on the liquor question as a possible issue in the 1932 presidential race.

As usual, the meeting of the enforcement commissioners was executive, and Chairman Wickersham stood on his announcement of a few days ago that all reports speculating on the commission's findings were "guesses."

With former Senator Wadsworth of New York and Representative of Britain of Illinois Republican anti-prohibitionists, in dispute with Senator Feas, Republican prohibitionist from Ohio, as to the latter's assertion the party would split if it favored repeal. Representative Beedy, Republican, Maine, came out in favor of making prohibition an issue in the 1932 elections.

Voices Opinions—"I believe," the Maine member said, "that the matter of prohibition should be thoroughly discussed in the 1932 campaign and that it would be better if the people of the country would have the right to vote their opinions."

Beedy said he thought it advisable to settle the prohibition question in the next general election and that it would be a "helpful thing for everybody concerned."

Officers Wait For Raid, Two Are Wounded

Oklahoma Institution Scene Of Planned Attack

MARLAND, Okla., Nov. 12.—Two youthful bank robbers ran into a hail of officers' bullets today as they left the Marland State bank today with $2,000. One, Jimmie Jackson, 20 years old, inmate of Pawhuska, was almost instantly killed, and the other, Carter Camp, 18, also of Pawhuska, was wounded and captured.

Six officers, informed in advance of the robbery, lay in wait and opened fire as the youths entered their automobile after emerging from the bank. Jackson was shot through the heart and in the right arm and died almost instantly. Camp was struck by four bullets, but it was believed he would recover.

The money, which was all the bank's available cash, was recovered. Camp told officers he and Jackson, while drunk, had been persuaded by another man to stage the robbery.

The officers had hidden in two stores overlooking the bank and had the robbers covered from two different directions. In the group were A. Redman, Ponca City chief of police; Elmer Cole, Ponca City chief of detectives; Ivan Webb, Ponca City policeman; Clint Miers and Claude Tyler, operatives of the state bureau of criminal identification and Henry Isham, Sheriff of Noble county.

Frank Muskrat, Cherokee Indian, reporter for the Ponca City News, was in the ambushing party and an eye witness.

The robbery was accomplished in a manner that has become routine for Oklahoma bank raids. J. C. Roberts, cashier, was forced to open the vault and then to lie on the floor while the young outlaws collected the money.

The holdup occurred in the heart of the Bartlesville business district between the gas company's office and the Union National bank, less than a block apart.

Of the total taken $2,683.22 was in cash.

Few spectators saw the highwayman draw a revolver and order Rinkie to "stick 'em up." Officials had discovered no clue to the robber's identity this afternoon.

The money taken represented part of the gas company's monthly collections.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By
Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Radio Minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

Moose Jaw, Canada. Can we believe in the teaching that angels minister to us who are left here on earth?

Well, countless hosts have thus believed to their comfort and joy. Read for yourself the Apocryphal books of the Old Testament literature. Compare their allusions to this article of faith with those of the New Testament. In St. Matthew IV, II, we are told that angels ministered to Jesus after his temptation in the wilderness. In Acts XII, 15, a group of praying Christians declare that they saw St. Peter's angel while he was yet in prison. The author of the Epistle to the Hebrews plainly refers to angels as "ministering spirits."

Our Roman Catholic brethren include angels in this category, and many Protestants share their faith that departed ones who have won the good fight of faith succeed us who still wage it. I would not dogmatize about this issue, but those who accept the actual existence of ministering spirits derive assured spiritual gains from their belief.

God Himself is ever working for our good. Why should not those who stand at His right hand do the same? They are the servants of His will. Think of the angels who have gained strength and courage because they remembered their loved ones and how they triumphed by faith and prayer.

Sainted mothers from their sweet place in Paradise have been the sheet anchors of countless orphaned spirits.

Pittsburgh, Pa. Is not the desire to believe the main factor in accepting the theory of the immortality of the soul and does not the fact that unbelievers can offer nothing as a substitute for that theory compel us to cling to it in desperation?

Certainly the craving for continued existence beyond the grave constitutes one ground for believing in that existence. What is immortality, which in the New Testament sense means life plus blessedness, is a laudable objective on which to fix one's hope. It has inspired the best and most serviceable lives here and now. So it cannot be treated as a mere variety of the imagination, nor laughed out of court by skeptics who are frozen at the top of their being.

But we are not to suppose for a moment that the desire to believe is the sole basis of man's faith in immortality. Quite otherwise, reason, experience and revelation combine to give that faith its constructive assurances which command our intellectual respect, moral enthusiasm and spiritual determination.

I have repeatedly stated in this column what are the bases for faith in personal survival beyond the grave. There is no clinging in desperation to it as a drowning man does to a straw. For the majority of Christians, and I venture to add Jews also, the consciousness that righteous characters cannot perish in human personality so long as God lives and reigns is a calm and radiant conviction.

Oakland, Calif. In view of the many scientific casts on religion, would it not be best not to teach it in our public schools? Why should taxpayers who are earnest believers furnish money for skepticism? Because religion rightly understood...

Science is enriched by science, and science, rightly applied, is moralized by religion. Would you, even if you could, go back to the non-scientific ages, when superstition stifled knowledge and ignorance baffled progress? I hardly believe you would. The toy shop of a world in which our ancestors dreamed has given place to a vast universe in which God's power and wisdom are increasingly revealed by science.

Besides, science arouses wonder, cultivates observation, trains the youngster's thinking processes and disciplines his faculties. Surely the main aim of education is to create ideals for him to live by. Properly taught science aids that aim.

The method of approach to all life's problems is determined by one's passion to know what is real in a world of shadows. But the mischief you mention is traceable to lapsing instruction. The psychologist or biologist who flouts the restrictions and instincts of a child's spiritual nature is unfit for his position. What we have to dread in education is the specialist who sees nothing beyond his particular spinning post; not the scholar who takes all knowledge as his realm.

POP DOESN'T BET
AMES, Nov. 12.—Glenn Pop Warner, Stanford football coach, long ago learned the hazards of betting on his team. Back in 1925, Warner, coach of the Iowa State College gridder for six weeks, coming here from Cornell University. His team lost only two games, on one of which Pop made a bet that cost him his season's salary, $50.

Dr. T. L. Rice, a tackle of the team, told the story today. The Cyclones—they earned that name by beating Northwestern 30 to 0 under Warner's tutelage—were scheduled to play the Silver Bow Athletic Club, a semi-professional eleven, at Butte, Mont. Warner was a confident of victory; he wagered his team would win, unimpaired, that the Montanans had developed a "crisis" play. When the game was over the club had two more touchdowns than the Iowans.

Florida led all southeastern states in number of radio sets owned as of July 1, with 124,000 a survey shows.

More battles, large and small, have been fought on South Carolina soil than in any other state.

Ponca City, Okla., claims the highest per capita wealth of any incorporated city in the world.

Man Claiming He Killed Detroit Man Found Dead In Jail

DETROIT, Nov. 12 (AP)—Two hours after William Jones, 49, had walked into police headquarters and asked to be locked up as the slayer of Gerald E. "Jerry" Buckley, radio announcer, he was found dead in his cell, with severe head injuries.

First Officer Of Wrecked Ship Rescued After Drifting 72 Hours At Sea On Piece Of Bulk Head

EUKEKA, Calif., Nov. 12 (AP)—Joseph M. Greve, first officer of the lumber schooner Brooklyn, which sank off Humboldt Bay Saturday with all hands, lived today to tell how he drifted more than 70 hours on a bit of wreckage in a gale-moored sea.

He was rescued yesterday by the crew of the fishing boat, Two Sisters, five miles from shore slightly north of the place where the Brooklyn sank. Greve was clinging grimly to wreckage and life-semp-conscious, bleeding from numerous cuts inflicted by the constant battering of angry seas and with his clothes in tatters.

He was taken to a hospital where physicians said he would live. He is the only known survivor of the crew of 18.

Late night he revived sufficiently to tell a graphic story of the disaster and the agonizing hours that followed. He told of the mountainous waves striking the bow of the little schooner, making it impossible to steer. Something must have happened to the engine then, he said. He related how the cook, a steward, a fireman and the engineer launched the one remaining lifeboat but couldn't move it because of the water shipped.

The pilot house, then the superstructure were torn away as gigantic seas swamped the vessel, he said.

"The next time the Brooklyn turned over, she came keel up, he said. The men climbed the side and caught hold of the keel. I saw the skipper (Captain T. J. Ferguson) a graphic story of the disaster and the agonizing hours that followed. He told of the mountainous waves striking the bow of the little schooner, making it impossible to steer. Something must have happened to the engine then, he said. He related how the cook, a steward, a fireman and the engineer launched the one remaining lifeboat but couldn't move it because of the water shipped.

Woman Leads In Slaying Of Trio Of Men

BOSCOBEL, Wis., Nov. 12 (AP)—A fashionably dressed woman and three young men left behind them today three dead men and the buried treasure, if any, that is hidden on the remote farm of 60-year-old Cornelius Horrigan, 17 miles from here.

Posing as hunters, the three men, accompanied by the woman shot to death Horrigan and his brother-in-law, Patrick Gorman and the latter's son, Paul, 18, and escaped without making any effort to find the money. Horrigan and his brother, Stephen, 27, are reported to have secreted about the farm because of their district of banks. Stephen was wounded.

The would-be robbers invaded the home of the Horrigans as they sat at dinner with his sister, Eileen, 75, and the Gormans, who recently came from their home in Huron, S. D., for a visit.

The holdup woman asked for a drink of water. The aged Mrs. Horrigan went for it. As she left, the men drew pistols with the command: "Hands up." Stephen moved as if for a weapon and the men fired. The Gormans were killed instantly, and the elder Horrigan fell, bullets through his neck and shoulder. He died a few hours later.

His left arm hit by a bullet, Stephen ran into an adjoining room for a pistol which he fired as the introducers fled to their automobile. One shot shattered the windshield of their car. Posses failed to find any trace of them.

Neighbors said the stories of buried treasure on the Horrigan homestead were many. Last summer, neighbors said, three men and a woman were routed from the farm while digging, presumably for the supposed buried treasure.

Texas Reaps Wealth From Land Holdings

AUSTIN, Nov. 12 (AP)—After many years of being little actual land but with very little actual cash in the treasury, the state of Texas now is beginning to reap a golden harvest from its broad acres, according to the biennial report submitted to Gov. Dan Moody by J. H. Walker, commissioner of the general land office.

So rich was the state in land that when decision was made to erect a new capital building in the 1920s of 3,000,000 acres of land for the price of the building. This was actually rather hard for the state to get rid of its land.

Now, no such condition exists as the report of the commissioner shows numerous tempting bids being received whenever the state announces it will take tenders on land.

The answer is all where former Phelps spent his time in the years getting enough forage off the land to sustain life; there now are countless oil wells dotting the horizon, "flowing" millions of dollars yearly into the coffers of the state in the form of royalties and production taxes on oil, gas and gasoline.

Report Commissioner Walker's report shows that during the 1916-18 biennium the state received only $4,781,227.70 from its lands. Of this amount $68,484.24 was returned to the customers of the state due to overpayments. During the first year of the biennium, a total of $6,223,145.51 was collected, while during the second year the collections soared to $8,398,796.17.

The oil royalties for the two years total $6,264,962.48. Of this $524,548.00 was deposited to the credit of the University of Texas from leases on land set aside by the constitution, $2,151,132.97; permanent blind asylem, $287,171 from leases on free public school land and $236,322.63 from leases on river beds and submerged coastal areas.

The remainder of the $13,799,000 was received in the form of bonuses for the lease of land, some of it the most valuable oil areas in the country, and in payments on land that has been under lease for many years.

Since 1916, a total of $60,286,526.49 has been collected in payments on principal interest and lease rentals on acreage owned by the land endowment, institutions of the state. The report shows the gradual rise in the receipts of the land office, from the time when the major portion of the land was used strictly for farming and stock raising purposes, to the present era of unprecedented oil development.

Collections In 1916-1918 totaled $1,734,722.70; in 1918-1920, $7,577,669.39; in 1920-1922, $5,036,191.45; in 1922-1924, $6,541,558.22; in 1924-1926, $10,092,794.12; in 1926-1928, $12,484,356.63; in 1928-1930, $13,799,246.98.

During the two years just passed $2,997,254.21 acres, aggregating $1,739,477.82 in notes, have been paid in full for patenting. The number of acres sold, but which has not been paid, totals 20,273,451.23 with obligations thereon amounting to $32,078,174.80.

Detailed deposits to the credit of the various funds, from Sept. 1, 1928 to Sept. 1, 1929 were $32,707,187.53: permanent school fund, $1,070,223.45; available school fund, $1,176,209.04; first pay permanent school fund, $1,916,126.49; permanent university fund, $324,246; available university fund, $318,778; first pay permanent university fund, $1,781,699.69; first pay available university fund, $24,384.60; permanent deaf and dumb asylum, $2,471.12; available deaf and dumb asylum, $29,967; permanent lunatic asylum, $567; available lunatic asylum, $330.76; permanent blind asylum, $791.26; available blind asylum, $496.30; permanent orphan asylum, $13,395; available orphan asylum, $326.88; general revenue, $177,612.95.

1929-1930 Sept. 1, 1929 to Aug. 31, 1930: Permanent school fund, $2,707,187.53; available school fund, $1,611,463.98; first pay permanent school, $1,682,326.18; first pay available school, $706,617; permanent university, $638.77; available university, $287,668.61; first pay permanent university, $3,912,693.81; first pay available university, $7,750; permanent deaf and dumb asylum, $4,998.63; available deaf and dumb, $68,000; permanent lunatic asylum, $567; available lunatic asylum, $330.76; permanent blind asylum, $791.26; available blind asylum, $496.30; permanent orphan asylum, $13,395; available orphan asylum, $326.88; general revenue, $177,612.95.

The University of Texas permanent fund had $40,682,200 in bonuses as its credit with the state treasury on Feb. 21 and a cash balance of $21,455,327.

The university and the board of trustees are permitted to use only the interest on their permanent funds for improvement purposes, a provision of the constitution prohibiting depletion of the funds for any cause.

Supply And Demand Still Main Factor In Determining Price Of Staple Articles Expert Declares

AUSTIN, Nov. 12 (AP)—The law of supply and demand still is the main factor in determining the price of staple articles openly traded in on the world markets, an expert declared today. He said that a large amount of the cotton cannot be hedged safely in causing it to be sold at ridiculous prices.

He expressed the opinion that as long as the farm board continues to base its operations on the futures market, merchants and spinners will have no faith in this market as a hedge and price making basis.

Mr. Cox said it was impossible for the farm board to have prevented the drastic decline in price and the ineffective action of the board bears out the theory that prices are determined largely by the forces of supply and demand.

He said the efforts of the board to induce farmers to reduce the cotton acreage was "futile." The normal reaction to price declines this year indicated to decrease of one per cent more acreage than actually occurred. The economist said farmers are realizing that their 1934 crop has been secured and that the market being permitted to take its natural course with out outside interference.

Experiences If the past experiences of the farm board have proven useful and enable it to find its real field of service, then the cost to the government and the farmers has been worth while, Mr. Cox said.

He said his survey of the cotton market indicated it was unsafe to buy and hedge underrated cotton that full staple premiums cannot be paid for cotton longer than seven-eighths of an inch and the fact that a large amount of the cotton cannot be hedged safely in causing it to be sold at ridiculous prices.

Court Denies Maple Appeal For Mandamus

Slayer of Houston Officer Sentenced To Die Nov. 18

AUSTIN, Nov. 12 (AP)—Application of attorneys for J. J. Maple, convicted in Harris county of the murder of a Houston motorcycle policeman, for a writ of mandamus to compel the trial court to submit a record of the case to the court of criminal appeals was denied today by the higher court. Maple was sentenced to die on Nov. 13 in the electric chair.

Maple was convicted of the murder of E. D. Fitzgerald on September 29.

The decision also denied the application for a writ of mandamus to prohibit the warden of the penitentiary from carrying out the sentence.

In denying the application, the court held it did not have jurisdiction because the minutes of the trial court contained no notice of appeal.

At the time the motion for a new trial was overruled by Judge W. B. Massey's attorney gave notice of appeal, but Maple, without the authority of his attorney, withdrew the notice of appeal and accepted sentence personally.

The opinion held the withdrawal in its face, ousted the jurisdiction of the appeals court and reinstated the jurisdiction of the trial court and that nothing in the record showed any subsequent effort to give notice of appeal.

Air Mail Pilot Uses Parachute Successfully

SHREVEPORT, N. C., Nov. 12 (AP)—Dick Merrill, air mail pilot, flying northward found the gasoline tanks of his fogbound plane empty when 22 miles from here, early this morning, and "bailed out" with a parachute at 5,000 feet.

He landed safely a half mile from a farm house. His ship, crashing nearby, was wrecked but the mail was not damaged.

Merrill, brought to Shelby today by the farmer who sheltered him until daylight, had only a slightly twisted ankle and a thrilling story of a blind leap for a mist shrouded catch as a result of his experience.

The pilot had been unreported since he left Charlotte shortly after 11 o'clock last night and airport officials had felt concern for his safety because of the "soupy" night.

Merrill said his radio beacon system failed shortly after he left Charlotte and he lost his direction.

After cruising aimlessly for four hours, striving vainly to make out a landmark, his gas tanks ran dry. Then he jumped. He fell nearly 1,500 feet before he could get his hand on the rip cord that released the folds of the parachute. "I thought I was a goner," he said.

Flames Reveal Dual Fatal To Both Parties

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12 (AP)—The glare of flames early today in a Howard county home revealed a fatal duel between Herman Westphal, 70, known to neighbors as a seaman, and Charles Hubble, 40, who had married the young woman who divorced Westphal.

Hubble, a farm laborer, was found dead, with a bullet in his head. Westphal, farmer and caretaker, had a wound in his left side and physicians at a hospital here said they had little hope for his recovery.

Police said the two men have been enemies for several years. About four years ago, they were told, Westphal was married to a 16-year-old girl, Gussie Dressler. They lived together only a short time and then she obtained a divorce and married Hubble.

The tragedy came to light with the discovery of the burning home, known as the Judge L. Thomas Jones mansion, now owned by Francis Cook, a Baltimore & Ohio railroad official.

The house was badly damaged and a number of antiques destroyed.

BURNS FATAL

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 12 (AP)—Two oil workers died today of burns suffered in one of two oil field fires, brought under control after causing losses estimated by company officials at $100,000. Five men were injured.

The victims were William L. Murray, 54, Norwalk, and Steve Fall, 40, Modena.

Murray and Fall were welding an oil tank at the York-Smulling No. 1 in the Inglewood field when it caught fire.

The other casualties were in the new Venice Beach oil field, where fire broke out in an isolated well. The Venice fire, which defied firemen nearly 20 hours, seriously damaged a steel derrick.

Range Prospects In State Are Improved

AUSTIN, Nov. 12 (AP)—General cattle range conditions are reported to be improved in several months, and the monthly report of the United States army reporting service today.

While the condition of ranges are below any recent year, the report says, "prospects are that the ranges will continue to improve through November. Hay and roughage are adequate for local needs in most areas. Cattle and horses are plentiful and prices much below last year. Cattle have maintained a high level and are entering the winter in fair condition."

Wheat pastures are in excellent condition. In the western districts an unusually large acreage of small grains has been sown primarily for grazing purposes, and moisture conditions have been favorable.

Range condition was reported 77 per cent, 10 per cent above the condition on October 1. Condition of cattle improved four points, and on November 1 was 70 compared to 66 a year ago. All districts were said to reflect the improved condition, only a few ranges reporting overstocked conditions.

Sheep and goat ranges were rated 82 per cent of normal, an advance of 17 points during October. Moisture conditions throughout the Edwards plateau region "seem to have been better than at the present time," the report said.

TURNER CASE

AUSTIN, Nov. 12 (AP)—Conviction of William Turner, Jr., North Carolina State college student, for desertion of his wife, a Brownwood girl and student at Southwestern university, was reversed and remanded today by the state court of criminal appeals. Turner had been sentenced to a thirty-day jail sentence and a fine of $25.

The state alleged Mrs. Turner was in "necessitous circumstances" but failed to prove the allegation, the court held as the sole grounds for the reversal.

Mrs. Turner, daughter of a Brownwood furniture dealer, married Turner while he was studying at Texas Tech and Rice Institute. He left for Boston in August, 1929, and was stricken with appendicitis in New York and underwent an operation. After getting out of the hospital he went to Boston, but did not find the courses he wanted and he was arrested for wife desertion a few months after entering the school.

The indictment charged he deserted his wife at the time he left for Boston. Turner declared he left in haste of a bomb going off in a section of deserting her. Both were under twenty years old.

LETTER TOO LATE

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 12 (AP)—If Mrs. M. Anzarette Tash and her 21-year-old daughter Gertrude had waited until the mailman came today, they might have changed their minds about suicide.

Yesterday their lawyer, Hervey S. Moore, wrote them with news of a property settlement of $50,000, which had just arranged for their support.

Today, before the letter had been delivered, the junior found them dead together in their apartment, the rooms filled with gas, and the window sashes stuffed with paper.

A letter to the lawyer, mailed at midnight by Mrs. Davis, said "you will hear of a bomb going off in our apartment today."
