Mexican Girl Is Shot Down In Churchyard

HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy
Vote for all the amendments.
Vote the Democratic ticket, straight.

Write the name of your choice for district clerk in on the ballot in tomorrow's general election.

San Angelo has something real to celebrate and is doing so by running a special train, bearing 175 persons from the home town straight into Chihuahua, Mexico, via the new line of the Santa Fe (old Orient) to Presidio, where it connects with the Mexican Orient.

When the Texas & Pacific North ern is built and somebody comes along and builds rails from here to Sterling City or San Angelo, there'll be another long, valuable connection from the interior of Mexico up into the Panhandle of Texas via Big Spring.

Whether it is air mail, freight, or passenger traffic by rail, air, or bus, thousands of tons and millions of passengers must stop here.

The big idea is to get more of them to stop. Opening of another fine hotel here has helped considerably along this line. Personal or hotel registries in Big Spring would surprise you—they stop here en masse from everywhere to anywhere.

Public school officials here have had their share of worries this year. The school safe gets robbed, the boiler at high school blows up, and then North Ward building burns before the new one is completed.

Not to speak of losing to Brownwood.

We know those boys who became ineligible for Friday's game felt badly about it. So did the team. But, after all, a boy is supposed to go to school to study, a little more of that and no regulars will be left on the sidelines. In a case like that a fellow just has to take the medicine he made for himself. That's all. And like a man, place the blame where it belongs on him self.

Those boys will snap out of it all right. We're for 'em.

Representative Metcalfe urged voters to go to the polls throughout Texas Tuesday to give 17 counties a square deal on the university's 2,500,000 acres of tax exempted lands.

Decrease In G.O.P. Margin Is Expected

Nation To Elect Every House Member On Tuesday

By BYRON PRICE
Associated Press Staff Writer

The political campaign of 1930 came to its final pre-election pause today with party alignments in a tangle, and the result warmly in dispute.

Tomorrow, as the nation begins one vast polling-place, the voters will write the answer, electing full membership of the house of representatives, one-third of the senate, governors in 32 states, and hundreds of lesser officials in county, ward and township.

One Agreement

In one respect alone did today's last-minute prophesies agree. They all foresaw a recession of the republican tide which rose so high in 1928—a scaling down of the present over-grown republican majorities in congress and perhaps, too, an accompanying turn toward the democrats in some of the elections to minor offices.

100 Debatable

While every state but Maine, which voted for members of the house, the districts listed as really debatable number something less than 100 out of the total of 435.

ANOTHER GUSHER MENACES OKLAHOMA CITY

Oklahoma City, menaced by the encroachment of oil wells, was showered with black clouds of oil when the No. 1-C. L. Stout was brought in. The gusher shown here spouting oil and gas, roared defiance at experts trying to control it. Only a few months ago the "Wild Mary" Sudik well caused a similar fire menace.

NIPPLE STOPS WILD GUSHER IN OKLAHOMA

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 3. (AP)—The Stout outflow gusher its volcanic fury, curbed by a giant iron nipple, the device which conquered the famous "Wild Mary" Sudik, surged in vain against restraining connections today while Oklahoma City breathed relief.

Described as the greatest peril in the history of this oil-belaguered municipality, the number 1-C. E. Stout gusher of the Morgan Petroleum Company shot 300 feet into the air its amazing volume of gas and oil, estimated at 100,000,000 cubic feet and 75,000 barrels daily, for nearly four days.

As a spectacular climax, waste oil on the North Canadian River on the south bank of which the Stout well is located became ignited about seven miles downstream from the well in an unknown number just a few minutes before the army of workmen succeeded in harnessing the gusher yesterday afternoon.

The vast clouds of billowing black smoke, spreading the legend of "Sun day motorists" to an ear the scene far as 80 miles away and bringing excited inquiries by long distance telephone.

Man, Believed Jealous, Flees From Scene

Pecos Girl Dies From Effect of Two Pistol Wounds

Jealousy was given as the cause of the death of Lella Guachicoa, 24, Pecos, who was shot and almost instantly killed in front of the Mexican Catholic church, Sunday night.

The woman was fatally wounded soon after she came out of the church, following services. She died at the Big Spring Hospital about 15 minutes after an Eberly ambulance had crushed her there.

Two Wounds

According to witnesses to the slaying, the woman and Alberto Carrasco met outside the white frame church. They walked away from the building several yards when the woman turned and started back. Two bullets from a 38 caliber pistol penetrated her head and body.

Carrasco fled after the shooting, crossing a field. Sheriff Jess Slaughter, Deputy Andrew J. Merrick, Constable Williams, and other county officers, spent Sunday night and Monday morning hunting for Carrasco. They were unable to find any trace of him.

The slain girl lived at Pecos, and had come to Big Spring to attend the Sunday night church service. She was the daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. David G. Guachicoa of Pecos. Her father is a merchant.

Lee Jackson, younger brother of A. B. Jackson and Otis Hall, a neighbor, were wounded. The shooting occurred after an argument over ownership of a quantity of hay, the sheriff's office said.

Bridge Opened Over Rio Grande Near Presidio

PRESIDIO, TEXAS, Nov. 3.—Spanning the international boundary line drawn by the Rio Grande, a new bridge here today was the gateway for Santa Fe railway trains connecting Texas with Chihuahua, Mexico.

Luis L. Leon, former secretary of commerce and labor of Mexico, as official representative of President Ortiz Rubio, closed a ribbon barrier yesterday, formally opening the bridge at ceremonies attended by several thousand nationals of both countries. The Mexican town of Ojinaga, across the river, joined in the celebration.

The first train to cross the bridge was a "good will special" originating in San Angelo, bearing several hundred business and trade representatives en route to Chihuahua City. There they will be greeted by Mexican officials in celebration of completion of new steel bridge joining Mexico and the United States.

The last link in the $1,000,000 venture into the broadest areas of undeveloped territory in the south-west recently was completed from Alpine to Presidio bringing realization to the original project of the late Arthur Stilwell, who dreamed of a direct rail connection between Mexico City and the Pacific coast of Mexico.

For that purpose he organized and built a portion of the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient railroad but that line lay almost dormant for years until its recent purchase by the Santa Fe. The route of the remaining uncompleted stretch lies between Chihuahua City and the Pacific coast, with many difficult engineering problems to be solved before rails are laid across the Mexican Sierras.

Presidio has awakened from a 300-year sleep and as one long street and adobe buildings are losing their identity as new blocks are being planned.

Mary Garden, With Concert Tonight, to Have Last Word

AMARILLO, Texas, Nov. 3.—The last word in an argument for a new opera house in Amarillo was a part of Mary Garden's performance for her supporters tonight.

The singer, who was described last year by Gene Howe, Amarillo editor, as being "an adobe test case," announced she would face her career with a brief discussion tonight of Howe and his "knowledge" of opera.

Miss Garden and Howe had talked together yesterday and as an occasion for passing the calumnet the event was a success. But, Miss Garden said afterward Howe was "the queerest person I have ever encountered."

Howe, however, capitulated completely and declared he was her devoted admirer for life.

Tea was served at the Howe home to 50 invited guests, while several hundred uninvited guests surged outside the house.

"I think I was the only one here who really had tea," Miss Garden said afterward. "I learned that a Texas tea party is really a coffee party."

The traditional Texas vaquero costume of boots, chaps, six-shooter and longhorn lancers, were left at home for the occasion and Howe wore a frock coat while Mayor Ernest O. Thompson appeared in a dinner jacket.

In a speech of appreciation, Howe told the singer he was "proud and embarrassed" on her behalf. "I do not question me as to my knowledge of music. I do not spend three months in Europe studying grand opera when I can see it here."

At the suggestion of Mayor Thompson, Miss Garden, who is the wife of Mayor Thompson, sang an opera concert.

Longshoremen Return To Work Along Gulf

GALVESTON, Texas, Nov. 3.—A description of work on the Gulf coast by longshoremen in Galveston, Houston, Dallas, San Antonio and Corpus Christi was authorized when strike officials announced that they would return to work.

Frank Melton, president of the Gulf coast longshoremen's union, said that the men would return to work on the Gulf coast, including Galveston, Houston, Dallas, San Antonio and Corpus Christi.

The new labor agreement, covering all other ships in the first year, and raises for payment of wages an hour for standing work, with overtime of $1.25 an hour, while a rate of 45 cents per bale of cotton was agreed upon, with a reduction of 15 men to complete a loading gang.

A. F. L. Head Says No Work on Hoover Dam

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, today advised workers to stay away from Hoover Dam, asserting there was no immediate prospect of employment there in the immediate future.

After receiving what he termed a detailed report on the project, the labor leader said "It will be nearly a year before a contract can be let for construction." The report, from an unnamed source, said bids for construction of the division tunnel and dam proper probably would not be called before next July.

Decrease

Similarly, the democratic expectations in the senate rest principally on less than a dozen contests out of the 35. They have made especially determined attacks in Massachusetts, Oklahoma, Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, Illinois and Rhode Island, and during the closing days of the campaign have turned particular attention also to Minnesota and South Dakota.

For the most part, the machinery of party management came to a stop, as is customary, with the activities of pre-election Saturday. Today candidates and managers were turning from the formulation of policies and the use of persuasion to the more prosaic task of getting out the vote.

Final Bow

In a few localities, however, active campaigning continued, and both of the great parties planned to make a final bow to the national electorate in radio speeches tonight. The republicans will present James Francis Burke, counsel for the national committee. The democrats' victorians will be J. J. Shouse, who as chairman of his party's executive committee captured its Washington headquarters, and Senator Robinson of Arkansas, democratic leader of the senate.

By tonight, at the latest, most of the colorful figures in the campaign will be in their home precincts, ready to take their places in line when the polls open tomorrow morning. Governor Roosevelt of New York, and his republican opponent, Charles H. Tuttle, will close their campaigns tonight. Clifford Pinchot was holding a final round of conferences in his effort to stem objections from his republican challenger, Dr. J. R. Brinkley, independent candidate for governor, has added, without forecasting the outcome, that his workers have pledged 300,000 votes for him.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 3.—The greatest change ever proposed in the Arkansas constitution at one time is to be voted upon tomorrow.

Nine proposed constitutional amendments, with a referred income tax law and an initiated act to require the daily reading of portions of the Bible in state supported schools are on the ballot.

These have absorbed most of the interest in the election as Republicans are contesting for only two state offices—governor and lieutenant governor. Although the Republican candidates, J. O. Livezey of Foreman for governor and C. H. Harding of Fort Smith for lieutenant governor, have waged an active campaign the election of the Democratic nominees, Governor Harvey Parnell and Lawrence Wilson of Camden is regarded as a certainty.

The proposed amendments have to do largely with curbing the power of the state legislature and with taxation.

Senator Joe T. Robinson and the seven Democratic nominees for congress including Mrs. Effie Jeanne Wingo, widow of Congressman Otto Wingo of the fourth district, are unopposed.

TOPEKA, Nov. 3.—One of the most unusual Kansas political campaigns in which a wide range of conflicting issues were raised and the regular party nominees for governor opposed by an independent comes to an end today.

The state's voters in giving their answer tomorrow will elect two United States senators, eight representatives to congress, nine state officers, three supreme court justices, 125 state representatives, a number of district judges and county and other local officers.

The Republicans, possessors of all the state offices and all except one of the state's 10 positions in congress, have predicted success for their entire state and congressional tickets. Making somewhat less optimistic claims, the Democrats, through Guy T. Helvering, their state chairman, have forecast election of Harry Woodring, Democratic candidate for governor.

A prediction by John Hamilton, Republican state chairman, that Frank Hauke, Republican candidate for governor, would be elected by a minimum plurality of 110,000 votes brought from Helvering a forecast that Woodring would win by a plurality ranging from 30,000 to 50,000 votes.

To these claims Dr. J. R. Brinkley, independent candidate for governor, has added, without forecasting the outcome, that his workers have pledged 300,000 votes for him.

Cardinal Club Loses Tax Plea

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The St. Louis Cardinals fared as badly in the supreme court today in a tax dispute with the government as in the World's Series with the Philadelphia Athletics.

The court refused to decide whether the St. Louis club, filing federal tax returns for 1922 and 1923, was entitled to make a consolidated report with the Syracuse

New York, which it owns, thus reducing the amount of taxes it would have to pay.

The Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals sustained the commissioner of internal revenue in ruling against the Cardinals' tax returns, increasing the Cardinals' taxes approximately $4,700.

Hints For Homemakers

ROAST lamb can be given a delightfully exotic flavor by basting every fifteen minutes with the following mixture: one teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon sugar, one teaspoon mustard, one and a half tablespoons garlic vinegar, and six tablespoons salad oil.

Sour cream has many culinary uses. Pork tenderloin prepared with sour cream will delight the most exacting epicure. Place the tenderloin in a frying pan with a liberal amount of butter and chopped onion. Add salt and pepper. Baste with one-half cup sour cream and cook until tender.

BRECKENRIDGE FATTENS LEAD IN OIL BELT

Feature Game Scheduled Sat.

"Brownwood high school fans made merry last night and far be it from us to blame them one bit. But speaking of unexpected things, dope upsets, etc., the Lions' victory over Big Spring at Big Spring was a sweet upset and we don't mean maybe. It was almost as sweet as Brownwood's victory over Ranger last year. Not only have the Lions scored a touchdown in the Oil Belt competition, but they have won for themselves a hall game. Big Spring has been doing things in a football way this season, having won two, lost three and tied one before yesterday's upset. Only last week, Big Spring played San Angelo to a 6-6 tie on the Bobcats cemetery gridiron and in so doing played on even basis in every department with the Tom Green outfit." Just a breeze from the typewriter of Bruce M. Francis, the Brownwood Bulletin sports editor. We too cannot blame the Brownwood fans for "making merry." The Lions beat a superior—much superior—team and turned the trick away from home when none of the homefolks expected them to.

The thing is, the Steers weren't playing Friday afternoon. That is the majority were loafing and didn't especially care whether they won or lost. Some say some of those on the field were rather heated because Hanshaw, Rogers and Mims had been booted off the team for the game of account of grades, and didn't care about playing. Their contention was that the trio wouldn't have been out of there if the Steers were going up against a team that rated. They contend further that the three were ousted because it was thought their absence wouldn't hurt the Longhorns materially in the Brownwood game. They declare that the game been with San Angelo or Sweetwater or some of the other teams that stood a good chance to bowl the Hoivines over. Some say would have been found to make up the work and drain the football raiment over their shoulders. Believing this, some of the boys just naturally didn't play football. It is not our business whether certain players are eligible or ineligible. All we do know is that it is rare for a player in this district to be suddenly cut off on account of grades. Only in rare instances do you hear of it. The 6 to 0 tally that has been written is evidence enough that something was radically wrong Friday afternoon. Radically.

Of course such an attitude is wrong, and absurd. If there exists a ruling that students must make certain requirements to play football it should be enforced. It isn't in the majority of schools. The player's benefit from football, not the school. In fact it costs the school plenty of shekels, especially this school, to keep athletics going. If the team lays down like it is said they did Friday afternoon because a rule is enforced, the effort isn't worth it. We don't know whether the three ineligible will be back in harness by Nov. 11 or not. If they are not, Sweetwater should find easy pickings over here, and cater through the Steers with little effort. What started out to be a fairly successful year is slowly taking a turn for the worse. When a weak team like Brownwood is playing with only one real second string man on the roster, anything can happen.

Any day a team composed of Pattee, the big husky center, Eddie Maxwell and Red Ceburn, huge tackles; Glover and Orr or Heblson, guards; Hopper, Phillips or Coats, ends; Flowers, Neel, Kellwell and either Richbourg, "Stamfit" or Schwartzbach, goes down like the bunch above did Friday, there is something wrong somewhere. For some reason.

The thing Mental Attitude is the greatest thing in football. Without the correct mental state, the best team in the world isn't going places to see things. Ciseo's Mental Attitude was at a low ebb when time for the Buckaroos clash, and the Bucs took advantage of it. Without the correct feeling, any team is lost. High school football players are just boys when you get down to it. Anything can effect them. Unless there is perfect cooperation between the players and the coaches, the players and the school officials, the players and the school, and the players and the citizens of the town they live in, that team is likely to be punctured before a season is up.

The Buckaroos seem well on their way to a district championship. Ranger and perhaps Abilene, seem to be the only barriers to hurdle. The Steers can get some satisfaction out of knowing they gave the Green Wave the best tussle of the Little Six division.

The district committee is to gather tonight at Abilene for another parley. It is generally understood the case of Johnny Conell will be perused again. In all probability he will be declared ineligible tonight when it comes too late to add the Lobos materially. A dozen Conells now wouldn't grab the laurels for the Pupils. But Council back in the ranks of the Lobos, however, and Ranger will have their hands full Armistice Day when one of the greatest games of the year will be played. They are clinging to a straw. A defeat by the Lobos would ruin them. A win over the Lobos would aid things materially for their clash with the Buckaroos Thanksgiving Day.

SIERRA BLANCA—Great plant of Hazel Mine now in operation.

Buckaroos Take On Eagles In Annual Conflict

The Green Wave of Breckenridge high school continued its destructive wash last week, lashed more accurately the lead in district two of the Intercholastic League.

Crushing the Sweetwater Mustangs 52 to 7, while the Abilene Eagles were getting unexpectedly tied by the Eastland Mavericks, the Buckaroos of Prince Shotwell's mill kept right on keeping on. As a result of the upset in the town of Mayhewmen, the Eagles were deadlocked with the Cisco Lobos for third place in the standings, while Ranger, with only a tie to mar a perfect record, is close on the heels of the league leading Breckenridge aggregation. Probably the greatest upset of the week was the 6-0 spanking handed the Big Spring Steers by the Brownwood Lions, custodians of the cellar department. The Lions, up to Friday afternoon, had not scored on an Oil Belt aggregation, much less defeated one. That upset, however, is rivaled closely by the tie which the Mavericks slipped the Eagles, and left them wounded and stunned.

The San Angelo Bobcats, used to great heights to hold the Lobos to a 13 to 7 victory. Mineral Wells was crushed unmercifully 33 to 12 by the Bulldogs, with Dangerous Dan McCarty and Chuck Luck Bird doing most of the crushing.

This week sees two ancient enemies clash in the only fray of the week-end. Shotwell will invade big old home town of Abilene with a great collection of football players to clash with the Eagles. The fact that these Eagles were held to a draw by the Mavericks last week should have little bearing upon the game. Dope has seemingly been booted around considerably this season. The Bucs have every reason in the world to expect a hard battle, and they know it.

They are favored to win. Their 25 to 7 defeat of the Cisco aggregation and the string of top-heavy scores they have run up during the season, is plenty of evidence that Boone Maxson et al are ready to tackle another of the Big Four.

Following the Breckenridge-Abilene battle, the Ranger Bulldogs and the Cisco Lobos will go together in their annual set to Armistice Day. This, too, is rated one of the season's greatest drawing cards. At least 10,000 will see the two machines mix it and mingle it at Chesley field. It doesn't make any great difference whether one has a great team, and the other a foul-up. Although neither of the aggregations are slouches, it wouldn't create a very wide gap if one of them were. There would still be a close, hard fought, gruelling affair on Chesley Field Nov. 11.

The final game within this ten days' play is the Big Spring-Sweetwater affair Armistice Day. The game will be played here and will be a dedicatory one for the new athletic field.

The Steers' chances to cop the title and make a satisfactory dedication of the new field, divided materially the past week when the Lions slipped into camp and whammed the Longhorns in the pantaloons. The rest of the teams are idle until Nov. 15.

Short Review Of Nation's Teams

By The Associated Press

East-Fordham remains ahead of the few unbeaten teams with six straight victories. Army and Dartmouth have not been defeated but have been tied. Fordham meets Detroit this week, Army plays Illinois and Dartmouth meets another unbeaten team, Allegheny. Elimination of Cornell from eastern championship contenders by Columbia led the week's upsets.

Big Ten—Northwestern is tied with Michigan for the lead after a 27-6 victory over Minnesota. Egan has no three, and has two conference games left. Northwestern meets Indiana this week, Michigan plays Harvard.

Southern Conference—Alabama is far ahead in the race with four victories. Tulane, Florida and Georgia also are unbeaten in the conference but last two tied Saturday. Alabama-Florida heads the week's schedule. Tulane plays Auburn.

Big Six—Oklahoma elude with three victories after beating Iowa State, 19-13, but Kansas has a chance to make up ground this week and tie by beating Nebraska.

Pacific Coast—Washington State has strengthened its championship prospects by beating Oregon State 14-7. It has a letup this week against Idaho. Oregon, idle Saturday is the only other unbeaten team. Southern California-California and Stanford-Washington games head the schedule this week.

Rocky Mountain—Utah, which has averaged 51 points a game in four conference games, meets Colorado College Saturday. Colorado University, considered as best prospect to stop Utah, had a close call last Saturday, beating Colorado College 14-13.

Southwest Conference—Southern Methodist has been eliminated from the race by a 25-7 defeat from Texas. The strong but untied Texas Christian team swamped Abilene and set the stage for this week's big tests. Texas against Baylor, and Texas Christian against Rice.

Christians To Clash With Owls

—By Pap

Hard Road Stretches Before Great White Machine

BY GAYLE TALBOT JR.

DALLAS, Nov. 3. (AP)—Texas Christian University, with seven victories and a tie to show for its efforts so far, will get down to business this week in defense of its Southwest Conference football crown.

Although they have two conference wins, scored over Arkansas and the Texas Aggies, the Frogs will face what promises to be their first serious test when they engage Rice Institute Saturday at Houston. The Owls, fresh from victories over the Texas Longhorns and Sewanee Tigers on successive weekends, are calculated to prove conclusively whether the Frogs, Cy LeLand and all, are the team they were last year, when they were undefeated.

As a warm-up for Saturday's conflict, the Schmidtmann walloped Abilene Christian college, 62 to 0, LeLand leading the way with an 81-yard romp for one of his two touchdowns with a slashing running attack to down Sewanee, 12 to 0.

Vieng with the Frogs-Owl melee in popular interest will be another conference bout at Waco, between the Longhorns and Baylor Bears. The Longhorns boosted themselves into the thick of the title fight Saturday by trouncing a favored Southern Methodist eleven, 25 to 7. Baylor enjoyed a "breather" in gaining the Oklahoma Baptists, 31 to 0, at Shawnee. The meeting of the Bear and the Longhorn promises to have an important bearing on the title, with the winner automatically claiming a favorite's position.

A third conference tilt will be played at Dallas, with nothing in particular at stake. Southern Methodist, out of the running after Saturday's loss to Texas and a previous tie with Baylor, will entertain the rejuvinated Texas Aggies, who came back to nose out Centenary college, 7 to 6, at College Station.

The Aggies tickled their supporters by their improved showing against the gentlemen and may be fired to give the Mustangs a real run for their money unless the Methodists display more punch than they did against the Mustangs.

Arkansas will be the "odd" team of the conference group for the week, meeting the Oklahoma Aggies in a non-championship affair at Fayetteville. The Razorbacks helped the conference's inter-sectional record for the season not at all by losing to Louisiana State, 27 to 12, at Shreveport.

Exactly the most significant event of the past weekend was the powerful showing of the Longhorns in their one-sided contest with Southern Methodist touched to lose by from one to three touchdowns, the Steers completely outclassed Coach Day Morrison's aerial specialists, scoring in every period except the last.

'Thin Spots' In Constitution Would Be Patched With Group Of Proposed Amendments

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 3.—Patches for spots in the state constitution which have been worn thin by the passing years will be offered voters of the state tomorrow in five amendments, dealing with four subjects, submitted to a referendum by the 41st legislature. The legislature, by large majorities in virtually every case, agreed that these patches were essential to the most efficient conduct of business. Whether the electorate has been convinced is problematical, inasmuch as past votes on constitutional amendments have indicated a reluctance to change the state's basic law.

When the constitution was formed some fifty years ago, its writers did not see that oil would be found on parts of two million acres of ground in West Texas which was ceded to the University of Texas. They did not foresee the enormous revenues which would accrue to the state university as a result, the problems which would arise in investing that money, the hardships of the counties forced to support the land without tax moneys in return.

Neither did the basic lawmakers foresee a day when more than fifty days would be required to attempt to two years legislative work, or more than nine months required to dispose of legal questions presented to the court of last resort in the state. But these changes were so apparent to the 41st legislature that it was fit to embody what it considered its needs of today into the constitutional proposals.

Probably given the widest publicity was that proposing a drastic revision of legislative procedure. It would double the length of the legislative session, hoping by that means to obviate the need for special sessions which in recent years have been necessary in order that legislation might be disposed of. Likewise, the pay of members of the legislature would be doubled. Another proposal was that $5 a day be set for a proper salary for a man who must pass judgment on proposals involving millions of dollars.

By abolishing special sessions and by giving the members a longer vacation, the legislature would now as it was fifty years ago. The sponsors of the change hope to lessen expenses sufficiently to offset the increase in salary, and offer the people of Texas a more efficient and a less expensive law-making body.

The lengthy session would be divided into periods to give a space to introduction of bills, a space to committee consideration of bills; and finally, a term as long as the old session to the sole business of discussing the merits of legislative proposals in the two legislative branches. These changes were covered in two proposed amendments. Less attention probably has been given the amendment affecting the courts of higher appeal than to any other of the five. Simply stated, it would do away with the constitutional provision requiring the supreme court to take a three-month vacation every year by the same token eliminating a three-month period in which no cases may be considered.

Justices of the court have declined to comment on the proposal. Already overburdened with appeal cases, they were denied aid when a previous proposed amendment was defeated at the polls, which would have allowed the court to be enlarged to six members.

are entitled to one delegate. Mrs. Lee Upton has been named chairman of the credentials and registration committee and will provide the delegates with the necessary paraphernalia. Mrs. A. F. "Dad" Athens will be in charge of the resolutions.

The essentials of sound program making and the application and demonstration of the necessary steps will also be discussed."

Guaranty Fund Dividend Paid

AUSTIN, Nov. 3. (AP)—Payment of a 30 per cent dividend, totaling $22,161, to creditors of the depositors guaranty fund has been started. State Treasurer Gregory Hatcher announced today.

Payment has been held up by litigation since repeal of the guaranty bank fund law, Hatcher said. In 1927, he was ordered by the banking board to pay out $739,232, he said, but that before payments were started, he was restrained by a court order. This sum did not provide any payments to depositors in failed banks and the higher courts later held that no preference should be made against depositors, according to Hatcher's statement.

The payments announced today were to member banks and depositors. Hatcher stated it was his opinion that another dividend equal in amount if not greater to that now being paid, could be made within 30 days.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. (AP)—Authority of the federal trade commission to stop alleged misrepresentation in advertising when no injury to competing firms is involved will be given a limited review by the supreme court.

The question arose from an order of the commission that the Haladom company refrain from advertising Marmite, a patent anti-fur remedy as a safe, harmless and scientific method of treating obesity.

It charged the medicine sold under this name contained a powerful drug which should be used only at a physician's direction.

The sixth circuit court of appeals reversed the order of the commission, holding it had no authority since it had failed to show evidence of injury to honest competitors.

The commission in its appeal to the supreme court said in effect its authority would be sharply limited if the circuit court's decision were upheld.

Flames Which Broke Out on the Oily Surface of the North Canadian River, both east of Harrah and west of Spencer, destroyed a small bridge this morning, spread upstream and threatened the Grand Horse Shoe lake generating plant of the Oklahoma Gas and Electric Company which furnishes most of the power for Oklahoma City.

The two towns are several miles apart and the fire broke out at two points, near each town. The river passes through the northwest section of Spencer, about 10 miles northeast of Oklahoma City, where residents watched the flames encroach at noon, less than two miles away.

Citizens of Harrah, attracted by the second blaze, east of their town, saw the bridge burn. Little fear was felt, however, until the flames began to spread up stream and approach the power plant.

The oil film on the river resulted from the wind flow of the Grand Horse Shoe lake which was shut yesterday afternoon after three days of relentless gushing.

Company officials put a crew of men at work this afternoon to fight the flames should they get closer to the power plant. The flames have about three miles to travel, following the winding course of the river, to reach Spencer.

Should the blaze reach Spencer, a serious conflagration threatens. Bob Hendricks, garage owner of that town, said in a telephone message to The Associated Press, the abandoned Canadian river mill stands on the river, with a line of adjoining wooden structures extending to the heart of the town.

Hendricks said the town would have no water with which to fight as it depends upon the river for its supply.

The river blaze started Sunday, attracting thousands of motorists to view the spectacle. Farmers taking occasion to capitalize on the scene charged spectators with sums for crossing their lands for a closer view.

Reports that the river had been fired purposely to get rid of the oil film were denied by operators. Officials of the state fire marshal's office and city firemen said they did not know how it started.

Another oil fire on the North Canadian river broke out today at a point a mile and a half west of Spencer and 12 miles from Oklahoma City. Great billows of smoke curled skyward and attracted the attention of towns in the whole section.

The fire was fed by the thick coat of oil that has covered the river surface since last Friday as a result of the spill from the C. E. Stout gusher, which was brought under control yesterday afternoon.

As the river makes a bend and traverses the country side on both sides of Spencer, residents of that town were perturbed by the outbreak as there is a large abandoned mill not far from the blaze. A report came that fire had broken out in the river east of Spencer also, adding to the anxiety.

A fire which broke out on the river a few miles closer to the capitol yesterday afternoon burned itself out late last night. It was confined to a small area of the water's surface and the swift current flow prevented it from spreading back toward the wild gusher. As the eddies of oil reached the conflagration, the crude was consumed, thus preventing spread of the blaze downstream, observers said today.
