

FORSAN MAN GUNSHOT VICTIM

HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

There's fine town down the way 90 miles or so that has not only built itself a lot of fine buildings and streets and things—but has, within the past two or three years, become quite interested in its football team.

It is similar to Big Spring in the building of new things, and in its growth. The dissimilar factor is its interest in its football team.

At times, it does look like a lot of folks really get more pleasure out of a loss by the Steers than from a victory. Their poor critical hearts yearn for something with which to ven their inherent gripe.

Pardon the gastronomical terms. But nausea sometimes afflicts us momentarily when we listen in, accidentally, on some of the chin chowder as dispensed voluminously by many.

You'd think it was Walla Walla, Wash., or some such out-of-the-way place represented by the Steers instead of the town some of these guys live in.

The idea that they ought to support the home team seems never to have entered their heads.

In fact, sitting in the stand out here at our own home field the past two games you could hardly tell who was from Eastland or Breckenridge and who was listed in the local city directory.

When it gets that low its awful how home folks razing the home team during a conference game.

As we said before, the Steers are due the full support of us all regardless of what the players names may be, who happens to be the coach, the superintendent, the ground keeper or the ticket taker.

They are due our support because it is our team. That's enough.

Big Spring has taken three good hefty kickings. She has meanwhile, won two conference games. She has four more to play—San Angelo, Brownwood, Ranger, Sweetwater.

The next game—Saturday—is at San Angelo. That happens to be the largest city in West Texas, according to Ugle Sam.

The Steers can win from Bissett's boys and there's no doubt about it.

Let's be loyal. In being loyal to the Steers we are loyal to our own town. Its my town and yours'. Nobody else is going to stick up for it.

Reminds us of that old whizzer—if you don't like the band that's feeding you—you remember it.

Pour it on the Bobcats!

One Boy Given Sentence; Three To Fight Cases

One boy was given a two-year suspended sentence in the state training school for boys at Gatesville, and three others were expected to be released on bond today, as a result of arrests made Sunday night and Monday morning of five youths.

1. Texas Camp

The three others, each under a charge of delinquency in juvenile court, are expected to be released on bond today. The bond was set at $250 by Judge Debenport.

The latter three will be tried before a jury Friday morning.

One of the boys was released when it was learned he had not been implicated since he was given a suspended sentence in Mitchell County two weeks ago.

The arrests of the boys were made after Wain, Proctor, Co Cicero Smith Lumber Co., and Co and Parks Lumber Co., had been entered. The charges against the three boys will be contested.

Reynolds, in charge here. The price paid will be based on New York December quotations. The advance to farmers will be paid 90 per cent, with freight charges to Houston deducted.

Howard county farmers, bankers and business men will meet at 8 a. m. Wednesday at the district courtroom for the purpose of discussing operation of a branch office opened here by the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association, it was announced today.

The coop has established a branch office on North Gregg Street, one block north and on the opposite side of the street from the El Paso Company.

Regional officials of the organization announce the appointment of O. E. Reynolds as manager. Reynolds comes here from Robb County. The office here will serve a territory composed of Howard, Martin, and Midland counties. It was announced. Full classing and marketing services will be offered cotton growers in this section.

Officials expect to handle a large amount of cotton here.

The establishment of the cooperative branch office followed conferences between Chamber of Commerce officials, bankers, business men and others, and Clyde Daniels of Abilene, regional field executive of the organization and H. C. Pondrom, Abilene branch office manager.

The two men will be here this week to assist in opening the office.

The services offered by the Texas Cooperative Association, and the branch office of the system, will be explained at the conference Wednesday morning.

Big Spring shops of the Texas and Pacific Railway company will be closed down beginning Wednesday, until November 3, according to an announcement of Tuesday.

This order does not include men necessary for routine operation of the round house, it was understood.

The same order had been issued at Marshall, according to press advices.

In a statement from Dallas, J. A. Somerville, vice-president of the road, in charge of operations, said a policy of closing down shops for several days at a time to meet the slack period has been in force for some time and that there was nothing unusual about a temporary lay-off here and at Marshall.

People Must Spend, Local Man Declares

L. S. McDowell Sees Return To Normal By Loosening Cash

All classes must spend more money if prosperity is to return, declares L. S. McDowell, one of the most successful of pioneer settlers of this section, at Tuesday's regular luncheon of the Rotary club.

"I believe normal conditions will come again soon," he added.

Ladies of Big Spring Rotarians will be entertained next Tuesday evening at the Settles by local club members. Plans for the ladies night function were reported at Tuesday's weekly luncheon at the hotel by Robert T. Piner.

The program was in charge of C. W. Cunningham and the topic was "Relation of Employer to the Employee."

The value of an employe is in direct proportion to the degree of confidence he bears to the employer, it was declared.

Mr. McDowell related experiences in the employment of men he declared he never allowed a man to ask for an increase in wages but that he gave them advancements as he felt they became rightfully due. He said wages had increased greatly and that he expected them to continue to do so as employes and employers grow closer in their relations and understanding of their mutual interests.

"The employer should be able to pay a living wage, plus enough for savings for a rainy day" and realize a profit on his investment," declared Mr. McDowell.

"If we are to have prosperity all classes must spend money. I believe normal conditions will come again soon," said the speaker.

Guests included George Benas of St. Louis; A. L. Legg of Midland; Roy Carter, Big Spring; Malcolm Meek, Midland.

Charles Quereau reported on Rotary meetings he attended while on an extended trip recently.

E. E. Fahrenkamp, postmaster, reminded members of the thirty-day air mail contest now under way.

Sparenberg Plans Moving Self Two Miles East To New Railroad

SPARENBERG, Texas, Oct. 21 (AP)—Having failed in their efforts to bring the proposed Texas and Pacific Northern railway through this community, citizens are planning to "pick up the town, lock, stock and barrel," and move it over to the railroad, provided a permit for construction is granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The approved survey on the new line places it about two miles east of the community. The town, if moved, would be about 16 miles southeast of Lamesa and about 40 miles northwest of Big Spring. At this point a new electric highline and proposed paved highway would be available.

Several general stores, a gin, three churches, and several smaller village appendages, would be in line places it about two miles east of the community.

Cousin of Local Men In One of 3 Fatal Crashes

Ref. Ed. Barcus, Jr., cousin of Wilburn and Dr. J. R. Barcus of Big Spring, was injured Monday night in a collision between an automobile and a wagon near Brenham, in which William H. Walker, 19, Texas City, a freshman at southwestern university, was killed, according to Associated Press dispatches.

Miss Frances Samuels, Houston, another passenger in the automobile, was hurt slightly. Rev. Barcus suffered several fractured ribs (both are students in Southwestern).

The death of young Walker, drum major of the Southwestern university band, Georgetown, was one of three resulting from accidents in Texas Monday.

H. E. Branscum, 55, of Hamlin, was fatally injured when struck by an automobile while talking to state highway patrolmen southeast of Lubbock. Stopped for driving without a tag light, Branscum had just alighted from his truck.

The driver of the automobile, a Sweetwater man, said he was blinded by a light on the truck. He was arrested, but no charge was filed. Two young women with him were released.

Two and one-half miles east of Tascosa, an automobile ran over a high creek bank and landed in five feet of water. Paul Bullard, 19, of Wister, Okla., was pinned beneath the seat of the overturned car and drowned, but the driver, Earl Bullard, escaped. They were not related.

Air Mail Stamps Placed In Stores And Hotels As First Move In City's Drive To Win Thirty-Day Contest

Airmail stamps and envelopes were being placed today in all drug stores and hotels in Big Spring, by representatives of the Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Whiffred Pittman and Mrs. W. A. Ernest were distributing the airmail accessories.

The move was made in an effort to have the name of Big Spring placed on one of the giant Fokker F-10 mail and passenger planes which now operate between Atlanta and Los Angeles on the transcontinental airline.

The city producing the greatest amount of air mail per capita by Nov. 15 will win the award, Southern Air Express officials announced.

Every effort possible will be made to have business houses and individuals use airmail within the next three weeks.

Rail Hearing More Heated

Southern Pacific Seeks To Purchase Stock Of Cotton Belt

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 21 (AP)—Cross examination became longer and more heated today as witnesses for the Southern Pacific tried for the second day to prove the desirability of the Southern Pacific acquiring control of the St. Louis Southwestern.

Greatest argument was on the question of requesting the Southern Pacific to supply records showing the comparative haul between the Southern Pacific and the Cotton Belt on traffic interchanged by those roads. M. G. Roberts, general counsel for the Frisco, said he wanted those figures because he believed they would show the average haul of the Southern Pacific was greater than on the Cotton Belt. He was sustained by Thomas F. Sullivan, examiner for the Interstate Commerce Commission in charge of the hearing, over objection of Southern Pacific counsel, who said such records would be expensive to compile.

Roberts strove to obtain from F. H. Plaisted, Southern Pacific traffic manager, an admission that the Southern Pacific already was earning more than any other railroad in the southwest except the Santa Fe, but Plaisted would not make that admission. The Frisco attorney also called attention to the large amount of mileage already operated by the Southern Pacific.

For the first time a representative of the Missouri Pacific took part in the cross questioning. Attorneys for the Texas and Pacific, Katy and Rock Island had been active in cross examination yesterday.

Plaisted continued to stress the idea that the Southern Pacific wants to control the Cotton Belt in order to assure the continuance of the present friendly relations between the two roads and the existing exchange of traffic. The other southwestern roads had expressed fear that the move would result in the diversion of traffic now interchanged with them to the Cotton Belt route.

Roberts' question about earnings came after Plaisted had said that his road was in a precarious condition until it had a north outlet. Plaisted admitted that the Southern Pacific connected with the north roads other than the Cotton Belt at Paris, Denison and Sherman, Texas, and Shreveport and New Orleans, La., but he said these were competitors in Texas whereas the Southern Pacific needed a "coordinated" north outlet.

Plaisted devoted much of his time to an effort to show that the Cotton Belt should be allied with the Southern Pacific rather than the Illinois Central, in whose group it originally had been placed. He testified that the Illinois Central and Cotton Belt were competitors from St. Louis to Shreveport whereas the Cotton Belt and Southern Pacific were competitors in only a minor degree.

The witness said that with the trucks taking over much of the short haul business it was essential that railroads have long hauls.

Federal planes have been bombarding the enemy wherever opportunity afforded. The aviation force has devoted itself particularly to dispersing rebel bands and preventing the organization of the insurgent columns.

Official reports today said there had been no new activities in the state of Minas Geraes while the president of the state of Santa Catarina informed the government the coast along the state was free of rebels.

The Parana Sao Paulo front was reported quiet, and federal patrols returned to their stations without having come into contact with the enemy.

Supplement Made To Drought Rate Regulations

Due to the fact that advantage for selfish purposes has been taken of the drought relief granted by the carriers, it is found necessary, according to a supplement to regulations concerning railway emergency relief for drought-stricken areas, to cancel that portion of supplement 12 relating to the passing of title of cattle moved for feeding purposes, as follows:

No certificates are to be issued for the shipping of livestock where title passes until the request has been referred to the state committee and by the state committee, with all necessary facts, to the office of the traffic coordinator drought relief committee, U. S. department of agriculture, for decision. Normal movements of livestock to market and to public feed-lots or normal movement under feeder rates are not entitled to the emergency reduced rates.

This supplement to the regulations has been received by the county agent, bankers and others here.

Co-Worker On Lease Is Held Without Bond

LaVelle Gipson Wounded In Abdomen, Transfusion Given

LaVelle (Pete) Gipson, 22, pumper for the American Maricabo Co., near Forsan, is in a dying condition at the Big Spring Hospital, following a shooting on the oil company's lease Monday afternoon. Jim Martin, 56, teamster working on the same lease, is being held by Howard county officials with a charge of attempt to murder against him. No attempt has been made to arrange bond for Martin.

One Shot Fired

Gipson was probably fatally wounded following a short conversation with Martin. A bullet from a .38 caliber Colt revolver entered his abdomen, caused four lacerations, and was removed from his back. A blood transfusion was given Gipson soon after the shooting. A quart of blood was given in an effort to save his life.

Martin was arrested in a tent three miles from the scene of the shooting by Sheriff Jess Slaughter and Deputy Andrew Merrick and Nichols. He was in bed at the time of his arrest. A .38 caliber revolver was taken from him. It is alleged he had been drinking. The arrest was made near the Howard-Glascocock county line.

The two men had known each other for more than a year, both working on the same lease. Friends of the two men declared no apparent trouble had existed between them prior to the shooting.

Several eye witnesses reported the two men had a few words before one shot was fired. It is alleged Martin had threatened others on the lease during the day.

Married

Gipson resides at Midway. He is married and has a seven months old daughter. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Gipson of Breckenridge are at his bedside.

Although his reaction to an operation following the shooting was favorable, little hope is held for his recovery.

Martin has made no statement regarding the shooting, except to say "I'm sorry."

Gipson was rushed to the local hospital immediately after being wounded. The shooting occurred about 3 p. m. Martin was arrested about 5 p. m.

Explosion At Palestine Takes First Victim

PALESTINE, Texas, Oct. 21 (AP)—Claude Hall, 28, died here today of injuries received yesterday when an explosion wrecked two business houses here.

Hall was working on a gas meter connection when the blast occurred. He was severely burned and lacerated. It was believed at first he was not severely injured.

M. A. Moser and his daughter, Miss Marie Moser, 19, who were severely burned and bruised, will recover, doctors said. The explosion occurred to the rear of the Moser Insurance office.

Mayor J. C. Duncan and other city officials were investigating the cause of the explosion but said experts would be called in. All gas cocks were found closed and in a broken gas pipe there was not sufficient gas escaping to have caused the explosion, they said.

In a statement before his death, Hall said he had finished making an installation of a gas meter and that the gas had been temporarily shut off.

Home Robbed Of Valuables

Burglars which entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. W. McCleskey, San Antonio and Matthew streets, Edwards Heights, Monday night obtained clothing and other articles valued at approximately $400. A fur coat belonging to Mrs. McCleskey, and valued at $300, was taken.

A suit of clothes for a boy, a wrist watch and two handbags also were taken.

The robbery occurred between 7 and eight o'clock, while the occupants were away from home. It was discovered about 9 p. m. and reported to county and city officers.

Entrance to the house was gained through a window on the south side of the house. Footprints were found outside the window in soft dirt. Both city and county officers are working on the case.

Report of Death From Hot Iron Was Incorrect

CHICAGO, Oct. 21 (AP)—The Associated Press carried in its report yesterday an item that Edward Paulson died of burns inflicted by a hot iron applied by his wife to relieve a stomach pain. Dr. Luther M. Loran reported today, however, that Paulson himself applied the iron and died from a blood clot on his brain, and not from burns from the iron. The Associated Press is glad to make this correction.

S.A.F.E. Pilots Have 63,000 Hours In Air

DALLAS, Texas, Oct. 21 (AP)—More than 63,000 hours flying have been credited to the twenty-two pilots and co-pilots who fly the trimotored planes over the Southern transcontinental air mail and passenger route between Atlanta and Los Angeles.

Of this group, several are credited with more than 5,000 hours. Joe Glass, veteran pilot who has seen service in two countries, tops the list with more than 7,000. Homer Hader follows with 4,000 as does Ray Fortner, former pilot on Universal Air Lines, flying between Chicago and Cleveland. Charles Pedley is credited with 5,800 while the remainder average around 4,000 hours or better.

Checking through the applications of the pilots, it is learned that they are fitted for practically any undertaking where flying is concerned—ranging from ferrying Uncle Sam's air mail, not to mention the performing of hair raising stunts which only a veteran would attempt.

The demands of commercial aviation, however, have brought havoc with the days of sporting chances and all have become family men of aviation, wedded to their jobs.

Many of the pilots, it is revealed, are graduates of the old school. Some are products of the late war service over the battlefields of France. Others served as instructors behind the lines of battle.

If one is looking for color, he need search no further than Joe Glass. Although only thirty-one years old, Glass might be considered an old man in flying circles. Born in Granite, Oklahoma, he received his schooling there and entered the army in 1918, learning to fly months later.

Upon his discharge in 1921, Glass drifted into Mexico and flew for the La Huerta rebel forces during the revolution at that time. His job for the most part consisted of carrying ammunition and news dispatches.

At the conclusion of one such trip, he counted 11 bullet holes in the fabric of his plane, shot there by the opposing forces over whose lines he had to fly. On another occasion, while flying for a Mexican mining company, he carried 1,000 quarts of nitro-glycerine in thirteen trips on thirteen successive days.

Charles Pedley, who at one time was recognized as the "barnstormingest fool that ever flew a ship," won his spurs in the northern states years ago. For nearly three years, when aviation was first gaining a foothold, Pedley traveled with an aerial circus and one of his difficult stunts was to drive his plane about 2,500 feet to swoop through an arc built up from the ground.

H. J. Kelsey, who comes to Southern Air Fast Express from Western Air Express, has the distinction of having flown the first passenger plane out of El Paso for Los Angeles when Standard Air Lines began service. Late, he flew the first plane over the same route for Western Air Express when Western Air absorbed Standard Air Lines. So it was only right that he be named to pilot the plane bearing the official party out of El Paso for Los Angeles over the new Southern transcontinental air mail and passenger route.

The complete roster of pilots and co-pilots is as follows: Charles Pedley, Embree Hunt, Homer Hader, Dick Page, H. J. Kelsey, C. D. Page, Lee Wallace, E. R. Stotts, Joe Glass, Glen Loomis, Ray Fortner, Russell Arden, Blodsoe Payne, Stencil Gilley, Howard Woodall, C. J. Haire, J. W. Martin, Jr., Paul Carpenter, Ted Howe, W. J. Frye, Russell and Brete Young.

'Secret' Of Hole-In-One Accomplishment Seen

MIDLAND, Texas, Oct. 21 (AP)—A new secret for making holes-in-one was discovered here when Billy Moran purchased a ball from Allen Tolbert, who had one time sunk a tee shot.

"Always buy a ball from one who has done the feat," Tolbert laughingly said as he handed Moran a ball.

And on the seventh hole, a distance of 170 yards, it happened. Using the new ball for the first time, Moran saw the ball go high in the air from a midiron shot and trickle in the hole.

NEW COURTHOUSE

AMARILLO, Texas, Oct. 21 (AP)—Construction contracts for Potters County's new $400,000 eight-story courthouse will probably be let by the middle of November. The architect's drawing has been approved. The bonds were sold at almost two points above par and a premium of $3,200.

Crude Output Up Slightly

West Texas, Rocky Mountain Areas Lead In Movement

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 21 (AP)—Daily average production of crude oil in the United States for the week ended October 18 is estimated by the Oil and Gas Journal at 2,307,561 barrels, an increase of 6,904 over the preceding week's figure.

West Texas and Rocky Mountain fields led in the upward movement. West Texas having an increase of 10,178 barrels to place its production at 282,965 and a gain of 7,093 barrels placing the Rocky Mountain area's output at 106,012.

The total for the midcontinent region, including both light and heavy gravity oils, was 1,265,520 barrels, an increase of 7,093. The West Texas shift accounted largely for the gain. Oklahoma production, estimated at 544,510 was down 4,315 barrels and Kansas' production declined 2,005 to 112,615 barrels.

Eastern production was placed at 113,000 barrels, a drop of 1,900 while California production, including both light and heavy, was down 2,000 barrels, the light oil output being 502,000, a decline of 1,000 barrels, and the heavy oil output 27,000 barrels, likewise a drop of 1,000.

Rescue operations are under way in 18 states to salvage the fish supply hit by the drought.

Manager's Son Caused Start Of Geography Quiz

STAMFORD, Texas, Oct. 21 (AP)—The curious and very active mind of a ten-year old boy, a student in the Stamford public schools, has been cited here as the original cause of the investigation by West Texas Chamber of Commerce officials that led to orders from the state board of education for revision of geography textbooks now being studied in the public schools.

The youth is the son of D. A. Barden, manager of the chamber. In his studies he noticed that his part of the state was not included in a chart of cotton producing territory contained in the textbook. He remarked to his father "We grow lots of cotton, why are we left out?" This launched his father on his investigation that led to formal protest and the order for revision.

A CROSS-SECTION OF GRADUATE CONVERSATIONS IN 'CONOCOLAND'

"LET ME TELL YOU: I CAN NOTICE A REAL DIFFERENCE SINCE I STARTED USING THIS GERM-PROCESSED OIL"

... and so it goes. At home, on the golf course, around the bridge table, people are talking about the new CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil. Their comments are invariably friendly, and should you take a stand on some other lubricant, you will soon find a tinge of evangelism in the arguments that face you. For how can the use of any other oil be justified?

Conoco Germ-Processed oil is the first really new oil of this century. The first oil conceived to overcome the failings of all mineral oils. The first regular stock motor oil, under the supervision of the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association, to prove its superiority in the Pike's Peak Tests against three other nationally known oils. And again, in the Indianapolis and Altona Races first to "place" in the money where no other stock oil had previously placed, at speeds of from 92 to 120 miles per hour... and the only motor lubricant that provides "penetrative lubricity" for your motor.

Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil will serve you better, protect your motor more surely, and save you money withal. So why use a feeble lubricant, when this test-proven, sturdiest of all motor oils awaits you... at the Sign of the Red Triangle?

Following the Pike's Peak Tests, where Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil was tested side by side with three other popular, nationally known oils, the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association issued Certificate of Performance number 2268, comprising 14 points, of which the point below is one.

POINT NO. 6

"That using the subject oil and during each test, greater gasoline mileage for economy was obtained than during the use of the comparables."

The recent Pike's Peak tests disclosed some startling facts about motor oil... Free booklet at all CONOCO stations.

Conroe Excited With Failure of Bank And Removal of Judge

CONROE, Tex., Oct. 21 (AP)—Failure of a bank and temporary removal of a county judge combined to create a situation here today replete with possibilities of developments.

While a state ranger and a state bank examiner transferred all cash and securities of the failed Farmers' and Merchants' State Bank to Houston, other state examiners and a federal auditor checked the institutions accounts. The money was removed as a precautionary step.

County Judge A. W. Morris, removed temporarily by District Judge S. A. McCall, pending investigation of charges of misconduct in office filed by citizens, meanwhile, issued a statement that the charges were an outgrowth of a heated political campaign last June. He conferred with attorneys and indicated he would be a candidate for county judge on an independent ticket next November.

Hearing on the charges has been set for Oct. 27.

Bye Baby Bunting

Daddy's gone a-bunting. Gone to get a rabbit skin— But, it's to wrap your mother in.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Baby Bunting's modern mamma has been edging Young Bunting out of the picture again.

An Oregon woolen mill has turned out something new in mildy's fashions, with scarcely more than a lick and a promise for B. Bunting.

It's a new yarn, said to be the first of its kind produced in the United States, spun from a superior quality of Angora rabbit wool into yarns for hand knitting.

C. M. and R. T. Bishop, woolen mill operators, improved systems employed by France and England to produce the yarn and say that one Angora rabbit will produce about 12 ounces of wool each year.

Cost of the material is high, growers receiving from $3.50 to $7 a pound, depending on grade and condition.

The Bishops say that the new wool is eight times warmer than ordinary wool, with a possibility of providing garments giving the maximum protection against changes in temperature.

Although the yarn is primarily in the luxury class, a few garments, such as berets, blankets, caps, and baby hoods (for young Mr. Bunting) have been produced and displayed.

More will be produced, it is expected, as the supply of wool increases.

The change is a compliment. He invited Mary to the house for an old-fashioned Texas supper. Mary replied: "I will be very happy to accept your invitation to tea at your villa."

Plans For Bridge Tournament Friday At 3 Now Being Made

One of the most interesting of all the social plans for the week is the bridge tournament to be held on Friday afternoon at the City Federation Club house on Scurry Street at three o'clock.

This tournament is the first to be held in Big Spring since early in April or May. It is being sponsored by the members of the Pioneer Bridge Club and the proceeds will be used toward defraying the expenses of the Club House.

Prizes will be given for each table, instead of for the tournament alone. Groups are asked to make reservations for their tables as soon as possible, so that the refreshments may be planned and the prizes obtained.

Mrs. J. D. Biles at 204 and Mrs. W. W. Inkman at 85 have charge of the reservations. The only thing that the table groups will have to provide will be cards. Every thing else will be furnished by the club that is sponsoring the tournament.

There will be no bridge club meetings on this day and only one study club will be in session, so all members of clubs which either do or do not belong to the Federation are urged to cooperate with the Pioneers in making this first tournament of the season a success.

The Cook's Nook

What? No Whipped Cream! When you've a dessert that demands a nice topping of whipped cream, and your ice-box is as empty as old lady Hubbard's pantry, try this simple substitute for "topping":

Fruit Fluff: 1/2 cup corn syrup, 2 egg whites, 1-4 cup orange or pineapple juice, grape or loganberry juice. Beat the egg whites stiff and whip in the corn syrup and fruit juice. Serve at once. This is excellent instead of whipped cream.

When You Get Yourself a Date: When you buy dates, to stuff, to put in the favorite of all tortes, or the children's lunch box, be sure you buy the pasteurized kind. They have been purified with the famous "Pasteur" process, the same which is applied to milk, which makes them as pure as food can be and adds to their delicate texture too. Pasteurized dates are never treated with any kind of preservative, and are as safe as pure milk for your children.

News from Newport: From exclusive Newport come this suggestion for an excellent party dish or for a fancy dessert for home consumption. In the midst of this resort they serve the concoctions on paper doilies—and so may you! Simply bake a recipe of cup cakes, and when cold, cut a piece from the center to resemble an angel-cake pan. Then fill the center with your favorite jelly, frost the top and sides with jelly and roll in shredded fresh-keeping coconut. Top with whipped cream—and sit back for the compliments!

If Your Brown Sugar Candy Has The Curdles: If your brown sugar candy sometimes develops a curdling instinct you can frustrate it by adding a pinch of cornstarch to it when cooking. To keep brown sugar lumps, store it in a tightly covered tin box, with a piece of bread in the box. In fact, you will profit by keeping a package of cornstarch on top of the kitchen range, along with the salt and pepper and flour, for there are numerous new uses for the old favorite.

New You Know That—Well-starched linen will keep

Some people prefer to use a clean wash broom to sprinkle clothes, instead of the bottle sprinkler.

It's bad taste to tell your hostess "I'm on a diet," simply eat the food or stay at home.

The manufacturers who put up sliced fruit peel in the quarter-pound packages experimented for months until they found the exact size and length of each slice of citron, orange peel, etc., which best goes into fruit cakes.

Pimbletoes are now sold two in a glass jar, just enough for the bachelor girl and small-size families.

Food makers are plotting several new products for introduction in the Fall, of things that you—and you—and you have been wanting ready-made for years!

New York show-girls are putting laundry starch in the water in which they bathe—for a smooth finish on that skin it costs to see! It does give one a velvety feeling and takes away the harshness of hard water.

For the Lollipop-Lickers: 2 cups sugar, 2-3 cup light corn syrup, 1-2 teaspoon oil of peppermint, 1 cup water. Vegetable coloring in desired shade.

Put sugar, corn syrup, and water into saucepan and stir over low fire, until sugar is dissolved. Cook, without stirring, until temperature 310 degrees F. is reached. Remove from fire, add coloring and flavoring, stir only enough to mix. Drop from tip of tablespoon on smooth oiled slab or baking sheet. Press one end of toothpick or skewer into edge of each lollipop.

Petticoats Returning To Favor In Paris

PARIS—The petticoat influence is manifesting itself in many of the new evening gowns now coming out for Paris' well-known "little season" which is just beginning.

Of course these 1930 petticoats are not quite like the bustling, rustling affairs of a half century ago, but they are important and voluminous just the same and, make themselves heard and seen in a most pleasant manner.

Paquin puts a full-bottom flounce with jagged edge over a contrasting taffeta petticoat that is edged in similar fashion. Another new frock features a lace petticoat with wide pleated flounce. Petticoats of filmy mousseline of different pastel shades are worn under luscious laces in pale rose and blue tones. It has the pleated ruffles across the front of the skirt and extending upwards to the waist in back.

A red faille with ruffles running up to the skirt has an old-fashioned petticoat peering out beneath. It comes in finest Valenciennes lace and is made up of countless tiny ruffles.

This petticoat influence has brought back the fullness arising at a higher point on many of the evening gowns with fewer of them advocating gilded highlines, although a large majority have their petticoats starting far enough down not to interfere with any close-fitting about the waist and hips.

We Can Use The Money

THE administration plans to make 1932 federal highway aid for Texas and other states immediately available, as a drought relief measure.

The state highway commission, in conjunction with the federal bureau of public roads, has offered to pay $1,204,560 compared with $601,780 by the county toward permanently improving the two state and federal highways within Howard county.

Why Howard county should turn its back on a proposition of that kind we do not know. It may be, perhaps, not deliberately refused the offer but the effect up to now has been the same.

State and federal highway officials both are very anxious that this county join them in a program that would improve both the state and federal and the more important country roads.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

Problems of Empire

Dallas News: TEXAS in area and natural resources often has been called, and rightly, an empire. It is the coming empire state, and within a generation will be admitted a leading commonwealth in the Union.

But this coming leadership demands that those who control the destiny of the state should have vision and foresight sufficient to plan in a large way a program as a guide for action in later years.

Texas has enormous natural wealth, but the wealth from the production of it enriches outsiders; little remains within the state. It has much capital in its financial centers, but comparatively little of it is invested in Texas industries.

The purchasing power of its almost six millions of population is huge in amount, but the goods purchased mostly come from outside the state. Through ignorance, the fertile lands of Texas are declining in fertility because of erosion and a one-crop system; its magnificent forests have been shamelessly wasted and practically no attempts made to reforest cut-down areas suited only to timber.

Texas is an empire of natural wealth, but its economic leaders accumulate wealth for themselves with small thought for the future generations of Texas. The best wealth of Texas consists of the energy and brain capacity of its people. Among these is much dormant talent that should have opportunity for expression in action.

But more than half the population are so poor that their standards of living are necessarily low. In consequence, their children are worked prematurely, and obtaining the rudiments of education, they become stunted in body and mind—the greatest waste of a wasteful state.

What Texas needs is a definite program set for the younger generation to accomplish in the next 25 years. The resources of Texas should enrich Texas and Texans. Its farming population should own their lands, not be tenants in a condition quite like serfdom. Its empty forest lands should be reforested and exempted from taxation for the period of growth. Small industries should be established in every village and towns of the state to supply work and to put on sale Texan-made goods. "Made in Texas" should be a guaranty of excellence. Above all, the younger generation should be free to acquire a generous education, combined with a training for vocations on the farm and in the future industries of Texas.

Texas needs local chambers of commerce, civic improvement societies and city planning. It needs a new constitution, a reorganized government, wise legislators who can think in terms of an empire state. It should place obligations on its professions to give to its people health, good laws, spiritual insight. It should aim to develop that broad intelligence that appreciates the value of the artistic in connection with vigorous applications of the many varieties of science to the problems of the state.

How Is Your HEALTH?

Edited by Dr. Ingo Goldstein for the New York Academy of Medicine

TONICS

In medicine the word "tonic" is most commonly used to indicate tension, rigidity, or spasm. In common language, however, tonic is understood to mean "a something which has the power to invigorate, to build up or to brace."

While medicine knows many useful tonics, few if any of these are in the nature of drugs. The efficient medical tonics are rest and exercise, good food, fresh air, sea or sun bathing, and the like.

Medicinal tonics sometimes are used to help the body overcome abnormal conditions, but drug tonics often are liable to act like a whip applied to a tired horse. The immediate result may be accelerated movement, but in the long run, the overtaxed system is liable to break down.

Renewed vigor secured through so-called tonics, or stimulants, too often mortgage future health. And it is an unwise and unsafe practice to use stimulants, when what the body really needs is rest, a change of work, or a change of environment.

Perhaps the most important factor in the matter of tonics is the erroneous idea involved. One takes a tonic in a sort of blind faith that it has magical qualities to recreate vigor, and to give new strength, to vitalize, as many an advertisement runs, the worn out body.

There is no place in science, medicine included, for such magic. There are no bottled or boxed substitutes for good food, exercise, fresh air, or rest.

In the physiology of the body, neither energy nor matter is created out of nothingness, or in larger amounts than is supplied by raw materials.

THE ROSE IN THE DARK

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—Perhaps the "To-gate" influence will be felt in more of our travel films now, since its sensational ending—made in Hollywood—was principally responsible for its flare to notice.

Anyway, that appears to be the case in a new adventure production recently viewed here very inconspicuously. As a record of a jaunt into wild Australia in search of real originals it is interesting and offers a variety of unusual sights, accompanied by a spoken lecture.

But near the end, as a climax, the exploring party is pictured finding a blond child romping with the dark skinned savage children, and then a mother, dark and unclothed as the natives but with bright gold hair, is discovered.

She is, we are told by the unseen lecturer, a white woman, shipwrecked there years before and mated with a native.

Chapter 5
DETHS OF DESPAIR
"I blame myself," said Dr. Lytton. "I was too sure that there could be no change in Grannock's condition before four o'clock."

"I don't consider that any blame attaches to you whatever, returned Dr. Russell, the eye specialist.

"If I'd been called, I'd have tackled it according to your instructions," said Dr. Lytton. "But I wasn't called. Grannock says that by the time his sedative wore off, the inflammation was acute. He realized he was alone and started out to get upstairs and find me. It was nearly four and I was coming down, anyway. I found him groping his way across the hall. The nurse and I got him back to the study. Nurse Eilesmore appeared out of the drawing-room a quarter of an hour later. Broon was asleep on the floor."

"Has he anything to say?"
"He woke up about midday. I saw him for a few minutes in his room—couldn't make much impression on him. He mentioned that he wasn't going to have the girl buried as he intended to marry her."

"Just go and bring the girl here, will you? Don't send a servant."
"If you've any kind of a defense," Russell said to Hallie when she appeared, "I want to hear it. We're anxious to be fair to you. You were with your patient and you hear Mr. Lester Broon come home?"

"I know quite well, Dr. Russell, that I disobeyed orders with fatal results to Mr. Grannock and that therefore I shall be dismissed from my profession."

"Oh, you know that, do you?"
"Of course. And therefore I appreciate your attitude but—I should prefer to leave the house without this cross-examination."

"You needn't waste that kind of thing on me," Russell told her calmly. "I know that you were kept in this room against your will. The point is—how did you enter it?"

"I didn't want to enter it at all," she admitted. Then her face twitched violently and she flung out her hands. "Oh, don't torture me so," she begged. "Dr. Russell, you must know by now what damage has been done to Mr. Grannock's eyes. It's the only thing that matters to me, to know about Mr. Grannock."

"The treatment failed, owing to your desertion. An aggravation of the original trouble was the immediate result. Mr. Grannock is very nearly blind. He may retain a glimmer of sight. If he does, there is one chance in a thousand that some fresh treatment, yet to be discovered, may cure him. But, personally, I have no hope."

AUSTIN, Oct. 21. (AP)—Hoping to save the state between $8,000 and $10,000, the state board of control today rejected all bids on tires for the state highway department and prepared to advertise for new bids.

The bids rejected today were submitted more than a month ago. Since that date, according to members of the board, the price of rubber and fabric has slumped and it was believed the new prices would be nearly 10 per cent lower than those submitted.

Bids in the rejected list ranged from $122,000 to $129,000, according to Roy I. Tennant, board member. He said the $8,000 to $10,000 saving was a conservative estimate.

Funeral of Man Who Wrote 'Prisoner's Song' is Buried in Dallas

ENNIS, Texas, Oct. 21. (AP)—Funeral services were held at Dallas Monday for Seaborn C. (Dick) Massey, 76, father of the late Guy Massey, composer of "The Prisoner's Song." He died here yesterday at the Odd Fellows' Home.

Massey had lived in Dallas 43 years before moving to live here. He had been ill for six weeks. Guy Massey, his son, was born in Dallas. He enlisted in the United States navy and served during the world war, living for a time in New York, after the war. His song hit, "The Prisoner's Song," was published in October, 1924, but he died not long afterward in a hospital at Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

Pastor Seeks Reasons For Home Troubles Of Those He Married

CHICAGO, Oct. 21. (AP)—The Rev. Clinton C. Cox, Presbyterian pastor, seeking to learn what causes the most trouble in the home sent questionnaires to the 300 couples he has married and received among others these replies:

Steno and not bridge is one of the greatest pitfalls. Telling the wife that the steak is slightly underdone or the pie is soggy doesn't help any.

That the "in-laws" are not much of a problem, one young husband going to far as to say he would rather live with his wife's family than his own.

The Rev. Cox read his answers from the pulpit last night.

Sportsman and Pilot Die In Air Race Crash

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 21. (AP)—George Zinn, 23, wealthy sportsman of Rydal, Pa., and R. W. Kackie, 36, a professional pilot, were killed at the Mercer airport yesterday when their planes collided during the free-for-all race in the eastern states air meet.

A crowd of 25,000 was watching the planes round the home pylon at a speed of more than 100 miles an hour, when Zinn tore into the tail of Kackie's plane in a sport to avoid hitting another machine. Zinn's propeller cut away the tail surface of Kackie's plane.

Kackie attempted to land his plane but it dived nose foremost falling less than 200 feet and buried the pilot under the wreckage. Zinn's plane crashed a moment later, bursting into flames as it struck.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By
Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Radio Minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

Youngstown, Ohio.
Married a few years ago, I am compelled to live away from my wife who lives with her mother. Indeed we both lived there until the mother-in-law made life intolerable for me. She is a divorced woman and is trying to persuade my wife to imitate her. I still love my wife and she loves me. I have furnished a home and asked my wife to join me. If she does, however, her mother threatens to disinherit her.
What would you suggest my doing?

said he was, I for one shall rejoice. Walsh in his "Heroes and Heroines of Fiction" (1914) considers Dickens's defense rather lame.

A woman who has a drunken husband and four small children has resorted to abortion on various occasions. She defends her action on the ground that it is better for her to do that than to bring children into the world who might be weaklings of even imbeciles.

How do you regard her justification of her acts?

Consult a lawyer concerning the legal phases involved in your problem.

But why a divorce? If your present mind did not sympathize with this difficulty you would know, accepting your statement at its face value, that you have done nothing to entitle your wife—even to a separation. Certainly you could not be blamed for quitting the house (it cannot be called a home) in which your mother-in-law rules. Your wife should join you. The decision rests to be on her part, not yours, and the reason given is disadmissible. If she still loves you, you have her appeal to her on that basis for she is the key to the problem. Tell her that your mutual peace and welfare are at her disposal. Partly her affection for you partly her financial expectations. In the last analysis it is a choice between a domineering mother and a faithful husband. My hope is that you will win your wife for your new home and rebuild it in cooperative faith and loyalty.

Who was the person in real life from whom Dickens drew his character of "Harold Skimpole"?

There is some obscurity about the original of Harold Skimpole. In 1924 Mr. A. L. Hayward, in his Dickens Encyclopedia, asserts Leigh Hunt was the character whom Skimpole represents. It cannot be that Mr. Hayward was unaware that Dickens had published a denial of the connection in the periodical "All the Year Round," stating that "in the midst of the sorest temptations Hunt maintained his honesty unbempered by a single stain. He was in all public and private transactions the very soul of truth and honor."

Yet the old theory persists. Are we to think that Dickens handed out a fine testimonial insincerely? And if Leigh Hunt was all that Dickens said of him, how was it possible for anybody to think that the Skimpole characteristics fitted him? Dickens was sympathetic and generous. But he was fit to be the man to write eulogistic sentiments with his tongue in his cheek. Even if he stated that he knew and sincerely believed, there may have been other people whose experience was not quite the same and who have insisted that they recognized Hunt in Skimpole. Alexander Ireland's sketch of Hunt in the Dictionary of National Biography tells us that his household was sometimes without bread, and that he wrote his friends to sell his books. We must appreciate the distress of this situation for literary men who lack business ability and often pursue courses bereft of financial wisdom.

As I see it there must have been certain qualities in Leigh Hunt which led people to identify him with Skimpole. If however, further research clears him of all associations of this nature, and makes him exactly what Dickens

Man's Greatest Gift

An old carpenter around whose bench very few chips and odd pieces of lumber were to be seen, one day was asked how he managed to keep so free from odds and ends. He calmly replied: "Well, I measure twice, and cut once." In other words, he was a thrifty mechanic; he carefully planned first what his hands were to do next. He knew how to use man's greatest gift—the ability to think. —From "Forward"

European Powder Keg Makes Outlook For World None To Bright, Will Rogers Avers

By WILL ROGERS. Well all I know is just what I read in the Papers. There is some pretty big stuff in the papers now, says Will Rogers under cover. Did you ever kinder stop to figure it out, this old World of ours as a whole is not sitting so pretty just at the present time. Did you know that there is an awful lot of parts of Europe that is just sitting on what the old time Orator used to call a Powder Keg? Well it is.

We can't pick up a paper that from one to a hundred don't prophesy that Prosperity is just around the corner. But let me tell you that war is nearer around the corner than prosperity is. I don't mean so much for us right here. But I mean over in Europe. That Russia is kicking up an awful lot of dust, and Germany is harboring a terrible lot of dissatisfaction, that Hitler has got em all stirred up over there. He made a speech last week in which he advocated the breaking of the Versailles Treaty, he said that it was made by a lot of old men, who most of them were about ready to die and now here was a lot of young men grown up and they had to carry all this burden for which they were not directly to blame, and that it was only a matter of time till they just would do it, they would say, "Well come on France, what are you going to do about it? We can't be any worse off if you come in and take over our Country than we are now."

Then those little Balkan Nations they are like a little mess of stray Terriers anyhow, they just as well be fighting as like, they are. This has been about the longest they have ever been between wars. I see the other day where Russia was just on the verge of invading Rumania. They have always had it in for them and figured they ought to take a couple of days rations and go over and take that Country anyhow.

Russia and Poland are always on the verge of war. I remember when I was over in both countries in the summer of '26, why they were growling at each other like a couple of Fat Prima Donnas on the same Opera bill.

Then Italy is ranting around down there trying to pick up some more country and outlet for their population. France is watching them with an eagle eye all the time, and that's just what Mussolini wants, he had rather worry France than anything. France feels that she would have no trouble whipping them, but if she went whipping them, do it, Germany would take that opportunity and get at them and she just don't want to have to take the chance. Then the Checko-Slovaks feel kinda hummed in down their way, and of course the Turks, there is nothing that irks a Turk so much as...

Austria, they just been so bad off since the last war that they know there would be no way that they would have all the rest. Bulgaria has started all the rest down there to lose their reputations, they want to go down in history as having started all the big ones.

All this whole mess has no more love for each other than a litter of Hyenas, they either lost or gained territory during the last war, and that if given a chance to play the same hole over again they could make it par the next time. I try to read all that all those old World Diplomats write over there, and there is not a line of it that is not in regard to another war, they just can't write a prescription without predicting what will happen in the next great war, they're whole mind is on it, and from all that read of them there is no two that seem to give anywhere near the same possible line-up, it's like the National and American League if when time comes to play the World series they would just take all the players from all the Clubs in their League and then choose up and play the other side. No one knows where the thing will start or with who, no one knows how the line-up will be, for they don't know who will be fighting who. Some of them that think Russia like poison will want to join her on account of her strength. They will all want to wait and see who looks like the winner. They did that in the last war, quite a few staid out waiting for the best offer. Lots of pretty smart men think that is one of the biggest

Actor Who Punched Girl's Nose and Got Licking Again Loses

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Oct. 21 (AP)—Rex Lease, motion picture actor who recently was fined $50 for striking Vivian Duncan, actress, and who later received a drubbing at the hands of Miss Duncan's brother, Harold, has lost another decision.

Betty Pierce, an actress to whom Lease has been engaged for almost a year, today announced she no longer intended to wed the film actor. She gave no reason.

"Red is charming and all that," said Miss Pierce, "but I no longer intend to marry him."

Store Window Dummy Causes Joke on Police

CHICAGO, Oct. 21 (AP)—The big sedan that bore a New York state license and which was cruising about on the northwest side looked suspicious to Sergeant George Schupulsky and his detective bureau squad, particularly because of a pinkish something that was wafted from the car's rear window.

The sedan picked up speed. So did the police car until it finally overtook the sedan and drew alongside. Two men were in the sedan. Beside them on the front seat reclined the figure of a woman.

"Unhand that woman," demanded the sergeant. "We're the police; don't be alarmed madam; you're safe now."

Only a blank look from the reclining figure.

Sergeant Schupulsky moved a step nearer, got a better look and then stepped back with the remark:

"Well, I'll be darned. A department store window dummy."

To aid in rescue from burning buildings a German has invented a sled upon which a person can be strapped and slid down a ladder.

Seven Priests And Ten Nuns Are Abducted

SHANGHAI, Oct. 21 (AP)—Abduction of seven Catholic priests and 10 nuns and the murder of two of the priests by outlaws who ransacked Kian, Central Kiangsi province, was reported today to the local headquarters of the Italian Loyalist Catholic mission.

Among those reported captured was Bishop Mignani of the Jesuit mission. The two reported slain were Chinese Catholic priests.

The abducted priests and nuns are Italian, French and Chinese. It was reported the bishop and one priest had been released to arrange ransom, while the others were held by the Reds as hostages.

Kian is approximately 100 miles south of Nanchang, which is being held by a small force of provincial troops against a threatened Communist invasion.

Howard County 4-H Member One Of Calf Winners

DALLAS, Oct. 21 (AP)—Names of 28 farm club boys selected to receive award of choice baby beef calves given by the Texas and Pacific railroad to champion boy feed raisers in 28 of the 42 counties traversed by their lines in Texas were announced by N. T. Payne, state boy club agent in the A. & M. College extension service at the state fair here will be fed out on home farm of the boys this winter under county agent supervision for spring livestock shows.

If you like perfectly insane comedy—and we do—you'll roar and scream, chuckle and shed tears of laughter at the Ritz this evening while viewing "Animal Crackers" featuring the Four Marx Brothers, with Lillian Roth.

The little means nothing. So does most everything else in the picture. But it's the sort you have to keep your ears and eyes devoted to.

Although somewhat similar to the Marx first picture, "The Cocoanuts," it has been quite a while since Ritz-goers saw that picture and "Animal Crackers" is being shown the last time today, having opened its Ritz run Sunday.

Thirty German Miners Killed, Scores Injured

ALSODORF, Germany, Oct. 21 (AP)—At least 30 miners were killed and scores injured today when a dynamite explosion in the Wilhelm shaft of the Anna mine here wrecked the shaft and spread destruction through the 460 and 350 meter levels.

In addition two office workers were killed and surface buildings collapsed. It was at first feared there would be a considerable death toll, but this was discounted by the mine management which said that more than 100 persons out of the 400-man shift were well underground and that chances of escape of these were very good, since ventilation has been destroyed.

Lad Dies Because Blood's Rare Variety Prevents Transfusion

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 21 (AP)—Propriety matched blood—a quart of it—would have saved the life of Leonard Eckdahl, 10, of Craig, Neb. Thirty-four persons including his parents, doctors, and nurses, offered their own life blood to save the lad but none had the needed type. Leonard's blood was of a rare variety not readily matched with the four normal classes for human beings.

The lad complained of a sore throat a week ago and two days later peritonitis developed. He lapsed into unconsciousness last Wednesday. Volunteers for the transfusion operation stood helplessly by as he died yesterday.

Nine Highway Contracts On Day's Docket

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Having tentatively awarded contracts yesterday aggregating $386,574, the Texas highway commission today was scheduled to award nine contracts for road and bridge work in eight counties, estimated to cost approximately $600,000. All of the bids received yesterday were on federal aid projects and the formal award will be withheld until plans are approved by the United States bureau of public roads.

Among the contracts to be awarded today were: 5.2 miles of concrete paving on Highway 12-A in Nueces county; 2.9 miles of grading and drainage on Highway 35 in Harris county; 3.9 miles of grading and drainage on Highway 14 in Navarro county; approaches and paving at Ilunge underpass on Highway 72 in Karnes county; 15.2 miles grading and gravel surfacing on highway 11 in Hopkins county; 9.3 miles of grading and drainage on Highway 137 in Ector county; bridge across Rock Creek on Highway 117 in Hutchinson county; bridges across Salt Branch and Spring Creek on Highway 145 and a bridge approach across the Nueces river on Highway 145 in Live Oak county.

Failure to complete tabulation of bids yesterday on construction of bridges and relief structures across Pecan bayou in Brown county caused the commission to postpone awarding the contract for this job until today. Award of the contract for removal of the old Trinity river bridge on Highway 3 in Liberty county also was postponed until today.

Contracts were awarded yesterday for work in Van Zandt, Liberty, Bee and San Patricio, Madison, Brown and Panola.

"ACHING IN MY JOINTS LEFT ME"

Lady Continued Taking Cardui Until She Was Feeling Strong and Well.

Port Arthur, Texas.—Mrs. Alfred Kingston, of 910 Nineteenth Street, this city, says that several years ago she found herself in a run-down condition of health.

"I got so weak," she says, "I could not keep up. My joints ached and I was so miserable I could hardly do my housework."

"I read about Cardui and how it had helped women suffering in much the same way that I was. I got a bottle of Cardui and took it, and I then felt so much better that I continued the medicine for some time until I was really feeling strong and well."

"The aching in my joints left me entirely, and I was no longer troubled with bad headaches as formerly. My strength returned and I was able to do more than I had in months. Since then I have taken Cardui several times, and I have always improved after I have taken a course of this fine medicine."

Cardui is extracted from medicinal herbs, and contains nothing harmful. Try it in your case.

Texas Company To Send Western Union Messages

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—A contract permitting transmission of telegrams from gasoline service stations in all of the 48 states has been signed between the Texas company and the Western Union Telegraph company, according to a joint announcement from the two companies today.

W. S. S. Rodgers, vice-president of the Texas company, said the arrangement will bring all the service stations of his company into the plan by which the Western Union has been accepting messages by telephone. The Western Union explained that the messages will be sent to the nearest of its 26,000 offices, and from there relayed by wire to their destinations.

Under this arrangement the Texas company makes it possible, Mr. Rodgers said, for the automobilist to be connected directly with the telegraph company from any link in the largest chain of gasoline stations in the world. This direct communication, he pointed out, reduces the time of transmission of telegrams and assures greater accuracy and service. Stations will carry a sign familiarizing the motoring public with the fact that Western Union telegrams may be sent from those points.

Under this plan, which becomes effective immediately, thousands of highway points throughout the country will be linked with the Western Union system. Immediate transmission of messages is now assured from points which previously had no telegraphic contact with other cities.

Girl Helped In Jake Fleagle's Capture Says Cops

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Los Angeles police today disclosed that the girl Jake Fleagle loved, Beatrice Holden, 28, inadvertently played a part in the capture of the notorious bandit. She has lived here for two years under an assumed name.

Fleagle, leader of the desperadoes who two years ago robbed a bank at Lamar, Colo., of more than $200,000 and killed four persons, was fatally wounded at Hanson Mo., last week when California and Missouri officers encountered him.

Details of how the officers had picked up Fleagle's trail leading to his Ozark Mountain hideout were revealed by authorities here following the arrival of Detectives Harry Wilde and Chester Lloyd and Postoffice Inspector E. H. Kline yesterday.

Officers said Beatrice Holden, formerly of Grand Junction, Colo., fled with Fleagle from Colorado to San Francisco, from where they spread a trail of lavishly spent money extending from Seattle to San Diego. Questioned by newspaper reporters, Miss Holden admitted her identity but refused to say much more.

"I have nothing to say of my life with Jake," the black-eyed, black-haired girl said. She told newspapermen she was known at the modest boarding house as Mrs. L. E. White, a milliner looking for work.

Miss Holden moved to the boarding house after she and Fleagle had separated. His ill-gotten gains squandered, the bandit was returned to his Ozark haunts and the girl sought work.

Eventually she attempted to barter with authorities for the surrender of Fleagle in return for promises he would be given a life
