Germany gave the signal to march northward less than 24 hours after British warships steamed into Norway's territorial waters to see three mine fields to cut off German iron ore shipments from Sweden through Norwegian coastal lanes. As the troops marched, Germany laid mine fields of her own 'for the protection' of the German operations.

Not Even Italy Given Advance Notice

Germany's occupation of Denmark and Norway was executed with such speed that apparently even the reich's boom friend, Italy, was not advised beforehand. Also, according to authorized sources, in the future Germany's moves will be carried out with lightning rapidity.

Legal Status Of Nations Remains Puzzle

The spokesman added: 'Norway did not declare war on England either after the Altmark incident or after yesterday's mining of Norwegian waters.' In the Altmark affair last Feb. 12 a British destroyer invaded Norwegian waters to raid the German prison ship and free British prisoners. The legal status of Norway and Denmark seemed somewhat of a puzzle. It was carefully explained that they were not protectorates like Bohemia and Moravia nor even like Slovakia, nor were they enemy countries occupied by enemy troops.

Claim Action Justified By British Move

'England tried to prevent our getting the ores,' one commentator observed gleefully, 'and flagrantly broke neutrality in an attempt to prevent us. The laugh now is on England. Her illegal action justified our action today.' This afternoon the German high command announced that 'occupation of the most important objectives in all Norway by German troops is proceeding rapidly.'

Illinois, Nebraska Today's Primary Testing Grounds

By The Associated Press Illinois and Nebraska provided two more firm test beds today of the popularity of the Roosevelt third term movement and of Thomas E. Dewey, campaigning for the Republican presidential nomination. Dewey, who won Wisconsin's 24 republican delegates last week over Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, was matched against the same opponent in the Nebraska primary. He had no party opposition in Illinois. The democratic situation was the reverse. President Roosevelt, who has given no hint as to whether he would accept another nomination, was unopposed in Nebraska. In Illinois, however, the third term forces reached a showdown with supporters of Vice President Garner. Twofold interests centered on the Illinois voting for 50 national convention delegates. (Eight additional ones will be chosen in state conventions.) The Kelly-Nash democratic organization was avowedly out to roll up a big vote for President Roosevelt on the theory an overwhelming victory would lead to his early re-nomination. Garner, on the other hand, planned hopes on a showing formidable enough to curb third-term talk. The results of presidential preference voting are not binding on delegates in either Nebraska or Illinois.

Dizzy Dean Is Impressive In First Start

WICHITA, Kan., April 9 (AP)—Dizzy Dean's 1940 pitching debut, as brilliant as it was, impressed no one as much as the big right-hander himself.

Making his first exhibition game start yesterday at Fort Smith, Ark., Dean gave the St. Louis Browns no runs and two hits in five innings. He struck out three batters and walked four. Dean's form was the big news of the game as his Chicago Cub teammates splurged to an easy 15 to 2 victory.

After his five-inning turn Dean bounced off the mound, gave his wife a hearty hug and told everybody how good he felt.

"I feel better and was faster than at any time since I joined the Cubs," he said, bubbling with jubilation.

The one-time great pitcher came to the Cubs two years ago this month from St. Louis for $188,000 and three players. Since then he has won a total of 13 games for the Cubs, six last season.

Manager Gabby Hartnett was among those who were not completely carried away by Dean's performance.

"I guess it was all right," commented Gabby, and added he didn't know when Dean would pitch again. The hurrier's teammates didn't have much to say one way or the other about his unveiling.

Camp followers of the Cubs, especially sports writers traveling with the team, could see little difference between the Dean of yesterday and the Dean who failed to pitch winning ball in 1938-39.

He had very little speed, sticking almost entirely to his curve and slow ball. It was the first time the Browns had ever faced him and their timing was off on his slow stuff.

Some of the scribes with the team have been predicting that the unpredictable Dean would fail to last out the season with the Cubs. However, his work against the Browns at least gave a glimmer of hope that he might again become a winning moundman although apparently none of his teammates is optimistic enough to think he can ever again approximate the form he showed with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Meet Ben Hogan, Golf's Winter Heat Wave

YOUNG BEN HOGAN, golf's latest scoring sensation, grins as he exhibits the iron he used to win three straight tournaments.

THE TEXAN who plays from White Plains, N. Y., is one of the straightest and longest drivers among the pros, hitting with a low trajectory.

HERE HOGAN SHOWS HOW he bins out of traps and stops the ball near the cup. Ben won his first tournament at Pinehurst in mid-March and then repeated with victories at Greensboro and Asheville, N. C.

PHENOMENAL PUTTING has been a major reason for his recent triumphs. "I just keep the putter face dead upright," he explains.

BEN'S STRONGEST BOOSTER is—you guess it—the Missus. She never lost faith in Hogan's game during the many months he played without winning. Now she can help him spend the $6,500 he won this spring.

Derby Field To Be Small This Year

By EDDIE BRIETZ
NEW YORK, April 9 (AP)—Mayer Hague has sent out word that all his faithful followers should buy at least two pastebards for Galento-Ber in Jersey City. If Wes Ferrell falls to stick with the Dodgers, he'll turn golf pro and make the next swing of the winter circuit. Trainers of derby candidates look for an unusually small starting field this year—bad weather has played the very dickens with training.

GOOD-OLD-DAYS DEPT.
Newsdays' when two major league clubs go barnstorming, the players eat together, play cards together and fraternize generally. But back in 1917 the feud between the touring Giants and Tigers became so bitter they had to put the baggage car between the clubs' sleepers to prevent fights.

London's National Sporting Club, most aristocratic boxing club in the world, is on the financial ropes. One of the Minneapolis papers gave the weather man his orders when it said, "It is absolutely essential the spring football drills be favored by nice weather."

TODAY'S GUEST STAR
L. H. Gregory, Portland Oregonian: "Slip Madigan, the ousted St. Mary's coach, has gained 12 pounds since the blow fell. That is almost one pound per $1,000 of the $14,000 due on his abrogated contract; this $14,000 being the real reason slip-didn't go to Loyola."

When the Cards gave infielder Jack Sturdy a one-way ticket to Columbus he became so infuriated he almost wrecked the clubhouse. Billy Parlow, who half backed at Alabama under Wallace Wade, is running for congress from the sixth Alabama district. Old Grover Cleveland Alexander advertises in "Sporting News": "What have you to offer?"

Smith Sure Big Spring Can Win Trophy For Top Crowd

Virgil Smith, who has done trojan work in clearing the way for the new baseball season, is now beating the drums for the opening day game with Midland here April 23.

"Smith is confident Big Spring can win League President Milton E. Price's giant trophy which goes to the city with the largest opening day crowd, intends to see to it that the village turns out for the game that day if none other.

He has opened a campaign to get all the business houses to cooperate by closing their stores for the two hours during game time. If the merchants will cooperate, then success of the classic is assured.

Too, Smith is planning to get Dan Conley's hand to contribute to the ceremonies, will probably have a down-town parade before game time.

Correll Shows Up Well In First Day Of Practice

Both Harry Elorden and Joe Young, who registered at the local camp Monday, are ex-students of Denver university, Denver, Colo. Elorden is a first sacker and a pitcher, Young a second sacker.

The throng of galleries who flocked to the field to pass judgment on Rego's first batch of youngsters was high in praise of lanky Charles Correll, first sacker of San Francisco, Calif.

Many a fan was quick to say he looked as good as field as did Curde Loyd, the Barons' first sacker last year. That's saying a mouthful.

Pat Patterson, one of Rego's returning pitchers, said he was convinced Correll would hit .300 or better in this league. Pat watched the youth play on the west coast.

Boys of an even dozen states checked in the first day.

Randolph Berndt of Yakima, Wash., third sacker, probably traveled the longest distance. Incidentally, Kandy was impressive with his stick work the first day.

Both Sammy Hale at Midland and Jodie Tate at Lamesa are calling for help. Hale claims he needs pitchers. Only Stud Raines and Lefty Shelton seem assured of jobs on the Waddie hurling corps and Shelton cannot make the Cowhands' road trips.

SCORE OF LADS TAKE DRILLS MONDAY

Incoming buses today were scheduled to bring the bulk of the baseball players who have signed contracts of the Big Spring W-T-NM league club.

More than 20 youths opened training Monday in the Baron ball yard. But two of that number had been signed by Manager Tony Rego. The others are youngsters who are seeking to catch on, most of them without previous professional experience.

Charles Correll, first baseman, who lives in San Francisco, and Pat Patterson, Big Spring pitcher, are the pair who have come to terms. Patterson was with the club last year.

Jimmy Kerr, ace catcher who lives in Baltimore, Md., was slated to arrive today.

A dozen youngsters from the west coast were to be greeted this afternoon.

Rego dedicated most of Monday's three-hour drill toward getting the players' legs in shape and had what pitchers were on hand taking jaunts around the park.

Bill Darnak, who was to leave for the Lamesa camp today, threw a couple of rounds of batting practice, giving Rego an opportunity to look over some of the new material. It developed that there was a shortage of left handed hitters in camp.

The skipper turned out "school" around 2 p. m. and spent the remainder of the afternoon working on the infield.

The boys were to gather back at the park at 11 o'clock this morning.

Rego has scheduled two games for the weekend. He will send his club against the General Crude Oilers in Hamlin Saturday afternoon. The two clubs will tangle here again Sunday. The locals will also play here Monday, meeting the Lamesa Lobos and will return the game in Lamesa Tuesday.

Murphy Opens Steer Grid Practice

A record number of youngsters reported to Coach Pat Murphy for high school spring football drills at the Highland Park stadium Monday afternoon and went west through a long drill despite the heat.

Murphy said Monday morning that he had issued all the 69 suits available and that he had had several calls for more.

The junior high candidates trained side by side with the seniors. Howard Swatsy handled the younger boys while John Daniel was in charge of the linemen and Murphy the backs. Herschel Stockton, another side, was not out.

The mentors did not send the boys through any body contact work but had the backs working on passes and the linemen charging.

Most of the letterman who will return for another year of competition reported. Owen Brummett, fullback, did not show up but was scheduled to suit out today.

Murphy had Pete Pressley, Tabor Rowe, Junior Moore and Horace Postick in punting drills. Pressley was sailing his boots 40 yards or more down field.

Eddie Joost Is Hurt By Pitched Ball

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., April 9 (AP)—Eddie Joost may be lost to the Cincinnati Reds for the rest of their exhibition games as a result of being hit by a ball pitched by Jack Wilson of the Boston Red Sox Sunday. Wage-Hour Changes To Be Taken Up In Ten Days

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP) — House leaders, trying to clear the legislative calendar for adjournment of congress by June 1, tentatively arranged today to take up amendments to the wage-hour law in ten days or two weeks.

Acting Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) said revisions sponsored by Rep. Barden (D-N.C.) were third on a list of bills scheduled to be debated starting next Monday.

The house will consider first the Logan-Walter bill to correlate procedure of federal administrative agencies and then a bill by Rep. Fulmer (D-S.C.) to extend federal crop insurance to cotton.

O'Daniel Blamed By Hines For Failure To Pay Pensions

MIDLAND, April 9 — Harry Hines charged here last night that the entire social security problem "would have been settled at the last session of the legislature, had it not been for the methods employed by the governor himself."

Hines, in a special broadcast, laid the failure to pay old age assistance, blind, dependent children, and teacher benefits at the door of the governor, declaring, "any governor who pursues the policy of attempting to drive rather than lead, who forgets the fundamentals of our government and undertakes to dictate, threat, and coerce your legislature and the other departments of your government is doomed to failure whether his purposes be good or bad."

Condemning any suggestion of a yes-man or puppet legislature, Hines said that was the "first move of every European dictator."

"If you elect me governor, I ask no more than that you send to your legislature, nobly and patriotically, Texas. If with that kind of public servants the leadership of Harry Hines falls after two years, I shall not condemn all save myself, nor expect such failure to be rewarded with reelection."

Campsites At The Lake

With the arrival of warm weather, and the continuation of a hope that some day our new reservoir will be full of water, among the problems to be settled by city authorities in the not too distant future will be that pertaining to the leasing of campsites on the shores of the Moss Springs lake.

We know that officials already have been approached on this matter, and we know, too, that they realize some careful planning must be done before a policy is put into operation.

Details of the leasing arrangement, the method to be followed in awarding sites, and other pertinent matters will require long discussion and some thinking; for obviously it isn't something to be done haphazardly or without a well-formulated plan.

First consideration, of course, should be the maintenance of good sanitary conditions in and around the lake at all times. To make sure of this the city should retain the right to cancel any lease for cause, such as failure to maintain the site in a sanitary condition.

Carefully drawn up and rigidly enforced restrictions should be written into all leases. There should be no profiteering. Everybody should have an even break. Sub-leasing of sites should be forbidden, or severely restricted. The city will have to police the lake to keep down rowdiness and maintain healthful conditions. If a man doesn't keep up his site properly and maintain order there, his lease should be canceled.

The Moss Springs reservoir will be susceptible to development into popular outdoor resort, and the time to insure its development and continuance as such is now, before the campers move in.

It is to be assumed that the city fathers will act with due circumspection in these matters, to the end that the rights of the citizenship may be protected and the lake and its shorelines be maintained at all times as a civic asset, not as the semi-private preserve of those who have money enough to entrench themselves in the more suitable recreation spots. Easy access to all; special privileges to none.

It belongs to all people, and all the people who desire to do so should be free to avail themselves of its recreational advantages. Never should we lose sight of the fact that it is for the use and benefit of the general public, which means everybody regardless.

NEW YORK—Life with father in Clarence Day's time may have been a family album affair with horse-drawn carriages and plenty of red plush upholstery, but they dined with an elegance which hasn't survived the chain restaurant and drugstore lunch counter era that came when prohibition doomed the great cafes of Shanley, Rector, Bustanoby, Reisenweber, Churchill, and perhaps one or two others.

They were dominant institutions on Broadway in a generation in which people's conversational powers were less limited than they are now, and to enter any of those places was a certificate of admittance to the company of Caruso, Blanche Ring, Nora Bayes, Isadora Duncan, Irene Castle, Sigmond Romberg, Richard Harding Davis, Ganna Walska, Charles Dana Gibson, Victor Herbert, Ziegfeld, Diamond Jim Brady, Lillian Russell, and a majority of the others whose names were important in New York then.

Bustanoby's Cafe des Beaux Arts, on 40th street at 4th avenue, introduced dinner dancing in New York, and it was there that Jim Brady's celebrated dinner for Lillian Russell was given, at $100 a plate. At that dinner were Count Von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador; David Warfield, Mary Garden, Otto H. Kahn, and the gorgeous Anna Held, whom Ziegfeld had just brought over from Paris. Miss Held was the first woman to enter Bustanoby's new women's bar, a sensational innovation then.

Bustanoby also was noted for his establishment at 39th street and 6th avenue (this was 1907), and it was there that Romberg, a piano player, collaborated with Bustanoby on the first song he ever wrote, "The Perfumed Waltz." Romberg went on from there to become the composer of The Student Prince, May Time, and scores of operettas that earned him riches and renown.

I think it is important to remember these flash-backs because after an absence of two generations Bustanoby, between chapters of his memories, is returning to the field in which he established himself as one of the great restaurateurs of an older, mellower and perhaps more genteel time. Perhaps by the time this reaches you the Cafe des Gourmets, in 32nd street, will have opened its doors, with Jacques Bustanoby at the door to greet you. There will be no Anna Helds, Richard Hardings Davises, Jim Bradys, or Dana Gibsons to sit around the tables and splash airy brocades of fancy, but the Bustanoby manner will be in evidence, and that is all that ever mattered anyway.

Potatoes too "sleepy" to sprout are given a whiff of ethylene dichloride and they begin to show signs of "awakening" almost immediately, farm experts say.

Before the depression and recent droughts, nearly three acres of crops were harvested per person in the United States against one acre in Germany, a half in China and a fourth in Japan.

Six weather bureaus and two army and two navy radio-sonic stations are widely used in determining weather forecasts in the United States.

Leap Before You Look

Chapter 31
GIRLS AND HORSEWHIPS

Abe continued. "So Allen, he said the best way to discourage Pierre was to show him figures—" "Figures?" interrupted Tom. "Figures?" "Dotty, she'd seen Pierre makin' a wax imprint of your dear keys that day we had the powwow about cuttin' down on expenses, so she went and got herself made one too, and as soon as she got the keys, and you'd gone to bed, she got your books out and took some of the same kind Allen had bought for her. Then she copied them, only she made them different."

"She sat up all night doin' it and her eyes were sure were plumb wore out. But next day, sure enough, you'd no more than started to Los Angeles than Pierre come back and slipped into your office. He read these books, he thought were yours, only they were the ones Dotty had put there when he was drivin' you to the train. And—Abe's breath went out in a long sigh—"when he saw you were sure goin' to lose the farm, he figured he'd go back to Louisiana."

Tom's booted foot tapped the floor in growing anger. Dotty had made the books show such a loss the farm could not possibly reveal a profit at the end of the season. Wait until she got her hands on Dotty. Lucky for her that Gladys had broken a leg.

Then Tom sat up in sudden shock. If the books hadn't shown that decided loss, Pierre would still be here. Pierre had he loved her, had he meant any of the millions of soft, sweet, sane, sure things he had said—wouldn't he have cared a tinker's dam about the farm.

Pierre had not been in love with Tom Toland. Pierre had been in love with French's Frog Farm.

"Abe—Tom's voice was stern—"what was in the letter Dotty found in Pierre's trousers?"

Abe shuffled his feet. His face turned crimson. At last he blurted, "Miss Tom, I can't tell. I promised Allen I wouldn't never let you know."

"Why?" demanded Tom.

Again the shuffling of feet "well, Allen said once he found out a girl pretended to love him because he was handlin' a case she wanted to win. And he said findin' that out didn't never be made right again. And he said you'd had enough heartbreak for one girl and he wasn't goin' to have you feelin' bad over no scum of the earth that wanted to get your inheritance by marryin' you."

Allen Bartell had said that. Allen Bartell had tried to save her from a heartache that he had suffered. And all of the time she had blamed him for Pierre's unceremonious departure.

Tom's face lighted. "Abe," she cried, "you're the only man on God's green earth worth powder to blow him up. No I'm not aimin' to blow you any place. But tell me, how did Pierre know about my inheritance?"

Abe grinned happily, each and every one of Doctor Smith's teeth in full display. "Oh, he read about it in the newspaper. He was already figurin' on comin' out here when he saw that ad you put in the New Orleans paper."

Tom's anger softened a little as she remembered Pierre's insinuation that they were French. Well, the French were like the Scotch and the Irish and the Germans and all of the rest of the races. They had their thrifty people and their bigwigs ones. Only, sometimes thrift was mistaken for something else and Pierre had convinced himself that he was being thrifty when he considered Tom's farm as her dot.

Not Cupid

"Oh, Abe," cried Tom, "don't tell me that. After the way he's acted?"

Her sarcasm passed serenely over Abe's head. "I sure do," he continued. "Pierre's actin' that way made him scared to proposition marriage to you for fear you'd figure he was after the farm instead of you."

Tom shook her head. "No, Abe, you're not built on cupid lines. Aside from that, you're crazy as a loon."

"No, I ain't," countered Abe. "Allen said the only girl he's married was one who needed a good horse-whippin' to make her stand without hitchin', and you're the only girl Allen knows who needs a horse-whip to her."

He didn't come in for lunch. Tom spent the afternoon packing. She supposed she should call Bartell, but decided to let him do the calling this time.

There wasn't much to pack; most everything had been purchased with Toland money. She imagined she could keep the clothes she bought. Unfortunately, most of them were summer clothes.

"I'll find a job," she assured herself, to hide the inward fear. "And I still have the money I saved on the job with A. J. If I live carefully that will see me through until I find something."

The house was in order. The books were in order. The clothes she would wear to town were laid out in her room.

"You've won," she told him. "But you was by a small margin. Somehow, I don't mind so much. I've put up a good fight. That's satisfaction. And I hope you're happy that your golden-haired boy will come into your own. He's done nothing to deserve it."

Uncle Timothy didn't look happy. That might be due to the clouds rolling in from the sea, obscuring the sun, throwing dark shadows over the room.

Tom kindled a little fire on the hearth; a farewell fire. The afternoon paper thudded onto the porch. She heard the carrier's motorcycle roar away again, and went out to pick up the newspaper.

Perhaps she should scan the thing. She might find work in Alameda. She was thumbing through the pages when she stopped suddenly.

Tom's glance jumped quickly to the gossip column. Ah, there it was. Black there in black and white. She would take it and shake it before Abe's nose.

The mystery surrounding the Mankin party tonight is no mystery to Lily's friends. They are expecting an announcement generally accepted by the younger set. Shall we look for orange blossoms in December, Lily?

One little forced laugh escaped Tom as she looked around the big room. "Lily will have to have this done over if she expects to live here," she thought. "With this scarlet, orange, peacock blue and jade, she'll look as faded as last year's lily in a sinia bed."

The thought offered little consolation.

And then the telephone rang. Tom glanced at the instrument with disfavor. Perhaps Great-aunt Hannah had remembered she had a poor relation in the same city. She'd tell Great-aunt Hannah to go jump in the bay. Or perhaps the great Allen Bartell wanted her to turn over her accounts. She would tell the great Allen to jump in after Aunt Hannah.

Maybe she should answer it. Someone might be wanting frogs' legs and she hadn't yet relinquished control of the farm. She'd keep her record clear as long as she remained on the property.

Five minutes later she was running towards the pens as though there were wings on her heels.

"Abe!" she cried. "Hurry! The railroad is running a special for twenty-seven frogs."

"Abe...hurry. Don't you understand? An order for enough frogs to win the farm for me has just come in."

"Whoops!" said Abe, and away he ran.

"Take them last two-year olds," he ordered as he returned still on the run, his hands dangling from both hands. "Start on the last pen. They're bumper size."

"Dod gosh this weather," he rumbled, with a scowl at the sky. "Don't know what's a gettin' in to it. Naw!" he burst out as Tom started to step into a pool. "You start wadin' and them babies will go down sure as shootin'! Not them from the sides."

Moments passed, grew into hours, punctuated with the steady soft swish of nets, the clasp of carrier tops, the creak of pegs, as Abe or Tom carried the baskets to the loading sheds.

Sometimes Tom thought her back would break, her arms would drop off at the shoulder or elbow, then she would look at the lowering sky and work frantically.

"A chance to win," she kept repeating. It was like an seventh hour reprieve. If only the storm would wait. If only darkness would hold up. Of course they could use the flood-lights. Thank Heaven she'd defied Allen and had electricity installed.

From pen to pen they went, scattering choice morsels of food. "Gotta take the main market pen now," Abe advised, "and them babies is fed."

Into the main pen they went to perch on the edge of the pool and stretch their pole nets to the wary frogs.

The game of hockey was once known in Ireland as hurling and in Scotland as shinty.

Washington Daybook

SECOND OF TWO COLUMNS ON THE CENSUS.

WASHINGTON—The census-takers are certain of one thing: They'll find more persons 9 years old in the United States than any other age. In 1930, the greatest number of persons the same age was found in the 8-year-old class, but it's moved up a year since then.

Notes to the Linton Chamber of Commerce, Greene county, Indiana: You may lose the distinction of being the center of population in the United States. Estimates here are the population center will move 5 to 40 miles south and west. That might throw it into Sullivan or Knox counties; or even across the state line into Illinois, say in Crawford or Lawrence counties. If you're good neighbors around there, maybe you can show the folks how to make the most of their "Heart-of-America" publicity campaign.

If Horace Greeley were saying it today, he probably would put it this way: "Go west young woman, if you want to get married." The percentage of men to women is far greater in the western states. Arizona, Nevada, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho all are prime "marriage states," with the surplus males running something like this: In Montana, 127 men to every 100 women; in Nevada, 123 to 100. As for cities, new industrial centers, like Detroit, are good marriage towns. San Francisco is another one. But stay away from Hollywood and Washington if you're out to catch a husband. The odds there are against you.

BAD NEWS FOR WOMEN

While we are on the marriage subject—the 1940 census certainly is going to contain bad news for the ladies. For about 30 years, the surplus of males in the country (once well over 2,000,000) has been steadily declining and this year probably will drop to half a million.

Although in an aging civilization, there are (and don't ask me why) more male babies than female born, the rate of "consumption" is greater for the men. More men die from accidents and disease. Add to this, the declining immigration, which always is predominantly male, and you have the answer. Observers are "viewing with alarm." They say if the trend continues, there'll be more women than men in the country before 1950. Instead of men hunting wives, it will be women hunting husbands. A little think like that can turn the social pattern of a nation upside down.

BAD NEWS FOR—?

What the census-takers' tallies are going to do in some cities and states is going to make big local news, if not national. In Cedar Rapids, Iowa, for instance, if the population goes over a certain point, the major and aldermen get a raise in pay.

A number of states have liquor laws, basing the number of saloons in localities on population. If those localities gain, there'll be pubsters there were no pubbers before. . . and if they lose, the saloon-keepers will have to draw straws to see who goes out of business.

Of course, there's the matter of state representation in the house of representatives, but that's another story—probably the biggest that will come out of the 1940 census. Reapportionment is a political bombshell and when the figures are all in, national and local party machines will start tossing the political T.N.T. about wildly as they angle for the advantages of new representation setups.

One thing more: People who refuse to have their noses counted are just cutting them off to spite somebody. Federal highway funds, relief and a number of other national benefactions are based on the census. Enough dodgers in any locality or state and it's going to be money out of the neighbors' pockets.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

The novel "Rebecca" was distinguished from other mystery melodramas by its haunting projection of a dead woman's influence on the lives of her widower and his new bride. It was a tale of sinister atmosphere and suspense, tense and explosive, rich in potent climaxes and intriguing in its solution.

To make a picture of this material was a job for only one director in this industry, and David O. Selznick must have known it for he picked that man in Hitchcock, the master of screen mystery and of psychological melodrama. "Rebecca" measures up as one of Hitchcock's finest works, and in so doing scatters laurels upon all heads connected with the production.

It is a faithful transcription of the novel, except in one instance which is an improvement, and it weaves a strangely fascinating spell. Opening with the heroine's atmospheric narrative and scenes of the desolated Manderley castle, the story begins immediately to build suspense and mystery. Almost from the first, the character of Rebecca, the "heroine" who never appears, begins building likewise. It is a portrait that is fully rounded out only near the end—but to discuss that would be unfair to mystery lovers who haven't read the book.

Joan Fontaine, who used to be just "Olivia De Havilland's" sister, crashes through with a memorable performance as the bewildered, frightened bride fighting a memory, and there should be no question now of her stellar rating. She overshadows Olivier until he steps out finally in the long, actor-testing "confession scene," but this is not to say his work is ever less than excellent. Miss Anderson's Mrs. Danvers, the housekeeper fanatically devoted to the late Rebecca, is the other acting triumph, but Florence Bates and Reginald Denny—and the others in their less important niches—are perfect casting. The film's major fault, perhaps inevitable, is its length—two hours and seven minutes, which is a bit wearing toward the end.

"It's a Date." Screenplay by Norman Krassna from story by Jane Hall, Frederick Kohner and Ralph Block. Directed by William A. Seiter. Principals: Deanna Durbin, Kay Francis, Walter Pidgeon, Eugene Pallette, Henry Stephenson, Cecilia Loftus, Samuel S. Hinds, Lewis Howard, E. S. Zakal, Fritz Feld, Harry Owens and his Royal Hawaiians.

This is another rave—but can I help it if Hollywood insists on making some good pictures?? Here is Deanna grown up—or almost—and she's as charming and pretty a young woman as she was a child. She's become a sparkling actress besides. She is cast as the aspiring actress-daughter of a stage star (Francis) who wins a choice role and tries to give it up when she learns her mother is counting on her. That part has a heart-tugging quality, but most of the way "It's a Date" is light-hearted, human comedy, studded with amusing situations and bright, often hilarious lines.

Was Told That Work On Red River Dam Would Continue

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 8 (AP)—Governor Leon Phillips received a letter two weeks ago from Secretary of War Woodring stating that work on the Red river dam would continue despite Phillips' warning against it.

The governor, however, did not disclose this until yesterday.

"They are just marking time at the dam now," said Phillips. Woodring wrote, "I assure you the department appreciates your position in this matter. However, as indicated in prior correspondence under the directive of congress enacted in the flood control bill and approved June 28, 1935, and again expressed in the war department civil appropriations act approved June 28, 1939, it is my duty to continue with construction of the project."

Phillips seeks to halt construction of the project pending settlement of Oklahoma's claims for damages to lands to be inundated by its vast reservoir.

Heraldry as an art was first ascribed to Charlemagne about the year 800.

Roundup Dates Likely To Be Changed

A. S. Darby, director of camping activities in the Big Spring district, had summoned scouters to map plans for the Round Up event which draws more than 800 men and boys from a 15-county area to Big Spring each year.

Any change in the Round Up dates, however, is up to the local committee. Since the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention dates were moved back to May 16-18, it was assumed that the scout gathering will be held during that period in order to have a large number of Boy Scouts and leaders here to help develop the WTCC Americanization theme.

Scandinavian Developments Are Studied From Neutrality Angle

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—Secretary Hull said today the administration was studying, with "diligence and accuracy" whether to apply the neutrality act and its restrictions to Scandinavian areas brought into the European war scene.

While President Roosevelt traveled back to Washington on a special train from Hyde Park, N. Y., his secretary of state said, in part: "This government is observing very closely and diligently all of the developments and as nearly as possible ascertaining their nature and significance.

"It is likewise proceeding with the same diligence and accuracy it has exercised since September in applying our neutrality and combat area law and other pertinent policies to the European military situation.

"I would not undertake now to speak conclusively about the extent and nature of any steps that may be called for relating to the extension of the combat area or other provisions of our neutrality law or proclamations declaring certain additional or new areas in a state of war. We are assembling as rapidly as possible all of the facts and circumstances pertaining to these two phases as well as all other aspects of this new military situation."

SEES SHORTAGE OF PAPER PULP AS A RESULT OF WAR

NEW YORK, April 9 (AP)—A shortage in paper pulp and consequent jumps in prices as a result of the war in the Scandinavian peninsula were forecast today by Alexander Calder, president of Union Bag & Paper Corp.

He told stockholders at the annual meeting that only yesterday, on the eve of Germany's invasion of Denmark, the price on one order of 15,000 tons of pulp had been jumped to $55 from $32.

"I wouldn't be surprised to see prices go to $75 within a few months," he said.

MAN ONCE ACCUSED OF SLAYING HEARS ANOTHER CONFESS

ST. PAUL, April 9 (AP)—Official word that George Creighton had confessed in Seattle the slaying 26 years ago of a New Ulm, Minn., dentist, was "swell news" today for Dr. George R. Koch, Minneapolis dentist.

Dr. Koch was tried three times—two juries disagreed—before being acquitted of the slaying of Dr. George Gebhardt in New Ulm, Minn., Nov. 1, 1904. After being acquitted he left New Ulm and established a practice in Minneapolis.

Dr. Gebhardt was clubbed and stabbed.

Eldon Rowe, Minnesota crime bureau chief, said today the "break" which led to Creighton's confession came when a woman who lived in the New Ulm vicinity at the time of the killing told the county attorney there recently of her suspicions regarding Creighton because of his actions after the killing.

MARKETS Wall Street

NEW YORK, April 9 (AP)—"War babies" soared, relapsed and recovered with bewildering shifts in today's stock market, one of the speediest since the boom of last fall.

Spurred by thoughts of heavier purchasing of military materials by the allies, as the European war was intensified with Germany's invasion of Denmark and Norway, issued standing to benefit jumpers, 1 to more than 4 points in the forenoon. Steels, air crafts, coppers and papers led the swing.

The ticker tape was in arrears at the beginning. Then there was a slowdown and around midday, a selling wave hit the list with sufficient intensity again to put the exchange's recording machinery in arrears. Offerings were heavy enough to reduce substantially extreme advances or convert them into losses as much as several points for motors, rails, utilities, oils, rubbers and mail orders.

The proceedings then moped for some time and then, in the final hour, a comeback was engineered for an assortment of favorites. New highs for the year or longer were posted for a number of climbers, with paper stocks well in front. Transfers topped 2,000,000 shares.

WEEK'S OIL OUTPUT SHOWS A DECLINE

TULSA, Okla., April 9 (AP)—Daily crude oil production in the United States declined 100,248 barrels to 3,754,733 for the week ended April 6, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

All Texas production was off 116,206 to 1,394,433, with East Texas down 11 to 306,889. Eastern fields declined 300 to 107,100; Michigan 285 to 92,306, and Kansas 5,050 to 174,250.

Oklahoma's flow was up 7,850 to 430,775; Louisiana, 968 to 252,708; California, 9,500 to 601,750; Illinois, 2,686 to 427,406, and the Rocky Mountain area, 100 to 89,560.

Relief Fund May Wipe Out All Savings

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—Congress has slashed the president's budget estimates by $50,299,851 in debating a 14 appropriation bill, a tabulation showed today, but this saving may be wiped out if it increases the proposed $985,000,000 WPA fund.

The relief bill is the biggest appropriation measure still requiring both house and senate action, although the latter chamber has yet to consider six departmental bills.

A statement by acting Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) that the house appropriations committee had done an "efficient" job this session was challenged in the house yesterday by Rep. Rich (R-Pa.).

Declaring that the committee had approved appropriations for the next fiscal year $1,000,000,000 in excess of the estimated income, Rich shouted:

"You'll never get economy until you chase the money chasers out of the White House."

Texas Loop Looks To Its Best Season

JACKSONVILLE, April 9 (AP)—President C. P. Mosley of the East Texas league today forecast the best season in the seven-year history of the class C circuit.

The league opens the campaign Wednesday of next week with the same eight clubs that finished the 1939 race.

Mosley based his belief on renewed interest in every city and on the bright prospects of each team.

Total attendance last season was around 227,000, not the best the loop has had but considered quite good in view of the fact that at least two of the teams were not figured in the championship running almost from the start.

The eight teams that will start the 140-game grind are: Henderson, Kilgore, Tyler, Longview, Texarkana, Jacksonville, Palestine and Marshall.

The league was organized in 1934 as the West Dixie Circuit, organized baseball coming back to East Texas after an absence of several years.

The loop operated as the West Dixie for two seasons, then changed to the East Texas league. Only three clubs have the same managers as last year with Jake Atz at Henderson, Bobby Goff at Tyler and Jimmy Dalrymple at Kilgore.

New pilots are C. A. Davis at Jacksonville, Elmer Kirchoff at Palestine, Tex Jeanes at Longview, Francis J. Parker at Marshall and Abe Miller at Texarkana.

Two Trustees At Stanton Renamed

STANTON, April 9 (SpI)—Two members of the board of trustees of the Stanton independent school district, J. J. Cook and J. D. Renfro, were reelected in Saturday's election. They were the only candidates whose names appeared on the ballot, although three other names were written in. Cook received 75 votes, Renfro 61. Others were G. B. Bryan, 29; James Jones 48 and Guy Eiland 2.

Others serving on the board, whose terms have not expired are: J. A. Wilson, Wernie Haynie, J. K. Barfield, W. E. Currie and Martin Gibson.

Church Origin Is Recounted

Revivals in a saloon cleared of card tables and another on mountainside without benefit of music were recited by Loy House in a talk before the First Baptist Brotherhood in the church basement Monday evening.

House told of many interesting incidents from the time the church was organized in the Methodist plant on Nov. 13, 1888 with eight charter members and traced the expansion of the church and its program over 54 years to a membership of around 1,000 and church properties valued at near $100,000.

Other historical sidelights in the early days of the church as recounted by the speaker included the baptism of a woman in the face of threats by her husband to horsewhip his wife and shoot the pastor, the late L. R. Hillman.

Early pastors of the church included the Rev. W. C. Freely, later a president of Hardin-Simmons university, and the Rev. G. W. Smith, a co-founder of that institution. In 54 years the church has had 22 pastors, most of them in the earlier part of the church's history, said House.

"We cannot depend on past victories," declared House. "We cannot sit and expect to grow. We must continue to be about the Lord's business if we expect to live up to this heritage of the past."

Music for the occasion was furnished by a trio composed of Joyce Mason, Clara Lou Nummy and Sylvia Foud, accompanied by Mrs. Bruce Frazier. The Rev. E. E. Mason, pastor of the West Side Baptist church, originally sponsored as a mission by the First Baptist church, reported the new West Side plant had been expanded to 40x80 and that $500 was needed to finish the basement. Rev. C. E. Lancaster, pastor, and George Melear also spoke. J. C. Loper presided at the meeting.

Final Tribute Paid Cureton

AUSTIN, April 9 (AP)—The somber, shadowy Texas supreme courtroom today furnished a setting for silent tributes to one in all walks of life at the bier of Chief Justice Calvin M. Cureton.

Funeral arrangements for the scholarly jurist, who died yesterday at the age of 63 after serving longer than any other man as chief justice in the tribunal's century of existence, called for the body to lie in state this morning on the scene of Judge Cureton's labors of nearly two decades.

A guard of honor was selected from among Spanish-American war veterans with whom he served in the Texas volunteer infantry and the family named "his friends everywhere" as honorary pallbearers.

The program included services, conducted by Rev. Edmund Heintz and Rev. C. M. Raby of Austin Methodist churches, at the Cureton residence this afternoon with burial in the state cemetery here, Texas' Arlington. Capital city flags were at half-mast.

Associate Justices John H. Sharp and Richard Critz and members of the court's commission of appeals G. E. Smedley, J. D. Harvey, S. H. German, W. M. Taylor, J. E. Hilkman and C. S. Statton were active pallbearers.

Americans Leave Oslo As German Planes Attack

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—The state department heard from Oslo today that wives and children of American foreign service officers left the Norwegian capital for points inland this morning while German airplanes circled over the city and Norwegian anti-aircraft batteries sought to drive the invaders off.

Raymond E. Cox, first secretary of the legation at Oslo, reported to the state department: "Minister Harriman left 10 a. m. (Norwegian time) for Hamar. Wives and children of American foreign service officers have left Oslo for inland. German airplanes have been circling over the city during the last two hours. The Norwegian anti-aircraft batteries have been active. So far as legation knows, no bombing has occurred."

In a subsequent telegram, Cox informed the department that the royal family was believed to have accompanied the government to Hamar. He said Oslo continued quiet with the streets filled with people leaving the city.

Prior to leaving Oslo, the American minister, Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, called here: "Norwegian government left for Hamar three hours inland from Oslo, at 7 a. m. I am proceeding there by motor with other heads of missions."

A state department official said that as of January 1, there were 1,067 Americans living in Norway and 522 in Denmark.

The official said that in view of the occupation of Denmark by Germany, apparently without any fighting, it might be necessary to evacuate the Americans there.

SOCIALISTS GIRL FOR THE CAMPAIGN

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP)—Socialist party delegates returned home today to start petition-signing campaigns to get their presidential ticket of Norman Thomas and Maynard C. Krueger on at least 30 state ballots.

Their three-day convention ended late yesterday after resolutions were adopted denouncing Dies committee activities as "witch-hunting" and Russian totalitarianism as "ruthless."

FOOK LONG SLEEP

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., April 9 (AP)—Jack Compton went to bed and told his sister not to disturb him. Five days later the 20-year-old railroad worker aroused sufficient ly at a hospital to take nourishment but failed to recognize members of his family. Physicians said the long slumber apparently resulted from an accidental overdose of a sedative.

Gomez Injured In Batting Drill

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 9 (AP)—The New York Yankees probably will consider themselves lucky if they can start the season at all after what the Brooklyn Dodgers did in the first clash of their series. Not only did Brooklyn win the game, 10-8, with the aid of a seven-run rally that started when Spud Chandler failed to field an easy ground ball, but Lefty Gomez was sent back to the hotel with a sore knee before the game even started. He was struck by a liner off Bill Knickerbocker's bat in pregame practice.
