OUR 63RD. YEAR OF SERVICE — 5c Per Copy

THE GORMAN PROGRESS, Eastland Co., TEXAS, JAN. 9, 1964

NUMBER FORTY-SIX

HULLS

By KERNEL GENE, aPe

Baird, Texas
12-28-63

Dear Mr. Baker:

You did a great service to your town when you published the tribute to our late President written by Mr. J. E. Walker. It is worthy of a place in one's Historic Files. How fortunate Gorman is to have such a citizen as Mr. Walker. Would that more of us were like him.

Sincerely,
Mrs. M. L. Stubblefield

Thank you, Mrs. Stubblefield. My apologies for not acknowledging your letter sooner but the Christmas and New Year's papers are always published early so my assistants can have a week's vacation. I, too, hold Mr. Walker in high esteem. I would also appreciate more of our citizens expressing their opinions in the Progress.

Thanks to the folks in Oliver Springs, I enjoyed two hours of real gospel singing New Year's Eve. Folks who have never attended one of these singings which are held weekly in a community or town all over this area, are missing (that is, if they like to sing) some of the finest singing in the world. You'll get a chance to sing songs that your parents and grandparents sang; songs that will continue to live down through the centuries.

Unless something unexpected happens, this will be Herman Bennett's last week with the Progress. Herman has been with the Progress four years and has done an excellent job, starting in the back shop and of late taking over the Advertising Dept., along with his other chores. I'll miss Herman, but the overhead is getting too close to the gross income, so I'm having to cut down.

If some of my fellow publishers happen to read this and are looking for an industrious young man with a wife and two children, they need look no further.

WSCS To Begin Mid-Winter Study Monday Morning

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church will meet in the homes of members at 9:30 a. m. Mondays during the next four weeks for a spiritual life study, "Teachings Toward Christian Perfection."

Quoting Mrs. Dona Moorman, director of Spiritual Life, "The text is one of the most inspiring ever written for the W.S.C.S."

Members and friends desiring transportation may call Mrs. G. C. Acrea.

THANK YOU

I wish to take this means of expressing thanks to my friends who had a part in the nice electric blanket that was given me Christmas.

It is impossible to send personal notes as there were no names attached to the surprise gift. A special thanks to the young man that delivered the gift to my home.

May God bless each of you.
Miss Pearl Underwood

Aviation is Popular With Local Citizens

Mr. Norman Gail Short of Purmela is giving private airplane flying lessons to five Gorman citizens, Mr. and Mrs. James Miears, Joe Collins, Mrs. Doyle Lee Jobe, and Durwood Burgess.

There are several people in Gorman that have been interested in aviation for a long number of years. Check Smith, who holds a commercial license, has been flying planes for over thirty years. The first landing strip in the Gorman area was on the Smith farm east of town. The local airport was built in the 1940's when the government forced the city to designate an airport. Check Smith was instrumental in getting the Gorman airport built.

Check now owns a four place Stinson which he uses for business and pleasure.

His brother, George L. (Bud) Smith, also holds a commercial license.

F. R. Haile is also an air enthusiast, learning to fly in 1926 and owned and operated the Haile Air Port in Austin for 20 years. He was one of the early owners of a commercial license, his number being 339, and means that was the number of pilots with commercial license at that time.

Frank Kirk and Erich Arnold have private license and Jerry Mehaffey is a Reserve Jet Pilot. Doyle Lee Jobe holds a student license and owns his own plane, a J-3 Cub, and is co-owner of a Tri-Pacer with Hershel Cagle of Sidney, who is also taking lessons here from Mr. Short.

Ruck Foster and Clyde Capers also hold student licenses.

Mrs. Check Smith, who accompanies her husband on many trips, has a student permit and almost enough hours for her license.

Jobe has a landing strip on his farm west of town where he keeps his plane and Smith has a hangar at the Gorman Airport where he keeps his plane stored.

Tiny Pecan Pies are a Four-Flavor Hit

A great way to make an impressive dessert is with this recipe for miniature pecan pies. You can stick to the basic pecan mixture, but more fun is to add a bit of this or that for a variety of pies, such as Pineapple Pecan Pies, Fruit Pecan Pies and Chocolate Pecan Pies, then let guests choose one of each or the one that appeals most.

Miniature Pecan Pies

Pastry for 2 crust pie 1/4 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs, slightly beaten 1/4 cup sugar
2/3 cup dark corn syrup 1/2 cup finely chopped pecans
1/2 teaspoon salt

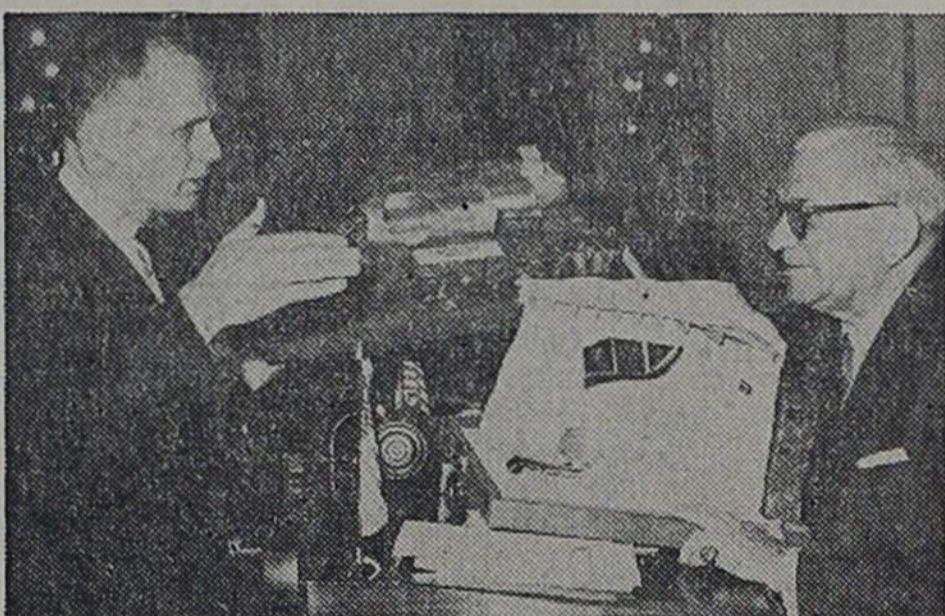

Mix pastry; roll to 1/4 inch thickness on lightly floured board. Cut into 3 1/2 inch circles and use to line 24 individual tart shells or muffin pans (2 inches x 1 inch). Flute edges as desired.

Mix eggs, corn syrup, salt, vanilla and sugar together. Stir in pecans. Spoon about 1 tablespoonful into each unbaked shell. Bake in 400 degree F. (hot) oven 25 to 30 minutes. Remove from pans and cool on rack. Makes 24.

Pineapple Pecan Pies: Follow recipe for Pecan Pies, lining 32 shells with pastry, placing a scant teaspoon drained crushed pineapple in each and then covering pineapple with 2 teaspoons pecan filling. Makes 32.

Fruit Pecan Pies: Follow recipe for Pecan Pies, lining 32 shells with pastry, placing a scant teaspoon chopped candied fruit in each and then covering fruit with 2 teaspoons pecan filling. Makes 32.

Chocolate Pecan Pies: Follow recipe for Pecan Pies, lining 32 shells with pastry and adding 1/4 cup fortified chocolate flavored syrup to pecan filling. Makes 32.

FALLOUT SHELTERS are explained by Steuart L. Pittman (left), Assistant Secretary of Defense for Civil Defense, during eight weeks of hearings on civil defense conducted this summer by Rep. F. Edward Hebert (right), and his Subcommittee No. 3 of the House Armed Services Committee. Following testimony by 108 witnesses, the subcommittee, and later the full House Armed Services Committee, strongly endorsed the proposed nationwide $190.6 million fallout shelter program. The program has been authorized by the House of Representatives, and is awaiting Senate action now that committee hearings there have ended.

U.S. Establishes New Emergency Broadcast Net

An imminent or actual attack on the United States would find the Nation better prepared than ever to get official information and survival instructions to the people through the Emergency Broadcast System (EBS) established by the Federal Communications Commission.

EBS allows selected AM radio stations to continue broadcasting on their normal frequencies and with regular power even after an attack emergency is declared in order to get vital warning and survival information to the public. It would carry essential news and official information from the President and officials of Federal, State, and local governments.

EBS SUCCEEDED the old CONELRAD system on August 5 after the Department of Defense determined that the continued operation of the Nation's broadcasting stations no longer constituted a significant navigation aid to enemy bombers and missiles. The new EBS system permits stations to begin broadcasting emergency information almost instantly after an attack warning is received.

Stations not affiliated with EBS, and all FM and television stations, would go off the air. Some of these facilities will be incorporated into future refinements and extensions of EBS.

To assure that vital emergency broadcasting is not interrupted by fallout sufficient to force evacuation of the stations, the Office of Civil Defense, Department of Defense, is providing fallout protection, emergency generators, and emergency radio program links to selected emergency broadcast stations.

In an Emergency...

If there is a nuclear attack on the United States, or the imminent threat of one, tune your standard AM radio to your local stations at their normal places on the dial until you hear the one that is part of the Emergency Broadcast System. That station, which will identify itself by location but not by call letters, will be on the air with official information, news and instructions on things you and your family can do to survive. Be sure you are prepared for an emergency by getting a battery-operated radio and spare batteries.

CRYSTALIZED PEANUTS

2 cups shelled raw peanuts
1 cup sugar
1 cup water

Put all ingredients together in heavy sauce pan and boil over medium heat until all liquid is evaporated. Some stirring will be required when liquid becomes low to prevent peanuts from scorching and to make sugar crystallize. When all liquid is gone and peanuts have a good coat of sugar on them, pour upon a large platter or cookie sheet and stir through with spoon once or twice to break peanuts apart.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Any attempt in this column to discuss military strategy would be most fallacious. Yet, there does appear to be a point on which it might be well for the Congress to study.

It seems that every time there is talk of bringing home the bulk of the American troops garrisoned in West Germany, the German government officially expresses great alarm. The C. W. Harder Russians, they infer, just over the line, may invade.

There is a question whether all the combined NATO forces in Europe could prevent the Russian armed hordes from moving across Germany in a few days. This can only be answered by the military men competent to assay fire power, defensive strength and all of these technical matters.

And recently there was quite a dramatic test performance in flying thousands of troops into Germany from American bases in a few hours. Whether this is practical in the event hostilities should break out is again a technical question.

However, there does seem quite a question as to whether or not U.S. forces are in Germany primarily to protect the German soil, or the German economy. Big military payrolls and supply purchases are a boost to any economy. In addition, the report of the committee on non-essential governmental expenditures headed by Senator Harry Byrd points out that the armed forces overseas are employing currently 160,000 foreign nationals. A little over 50,000 are employed in Japan, 21 thousand in France, 77,619 are employed in West Germany.

Actually, they are indirectly employed. The actual job handing out is by the German government, with the U.S. meeting the payroll.

Now in a nation of 56 million people, almost 78,000 jobs are an important item. The impact on the German economy is equal to what would result if in the United States 271,666 additional jobs came into being.

To give a better gauge, this hypothetical 271 thousand plus jobs is almost equal to the employment by the nation's third largest corporation, Ford Motor Co. It is almost twice the number of jobs supplied by the six biggest meat packers.

Thus, there is no question this causes alarm in Bonn.

But it would seem the big question is whether alarm is caused by considerations of economic power, or firepower.

Hence, this is a question that Congress could well investigate. As is well known, there are currently attempts to use the armed forces for sociological experiments, and a variety of other projects totally unrelated to the chief business of a military force.

It would be interesting to see what a Congressional study of the situation, provided the nations top military men are not muzzled, would find out about the situation.

March of Dimes Lends a Hand, To Silence Child's Tormentors

When Lori Nelson blew out the candles on her fourth birthday cake recently, it seemed that every youngster her age in Rosalie, Neb., turned out for her party.

Only a few months before, the remarkably pretty child had been the butt of taunts and giggles from these same children. Lori was born with a rare birthmark—a thick, unsightly covering of hair extending from her right shoulder to mid-forearm. Instead of finding playmates among the other boys and girls, all she ever encountered were finger-pointers and name-callers.

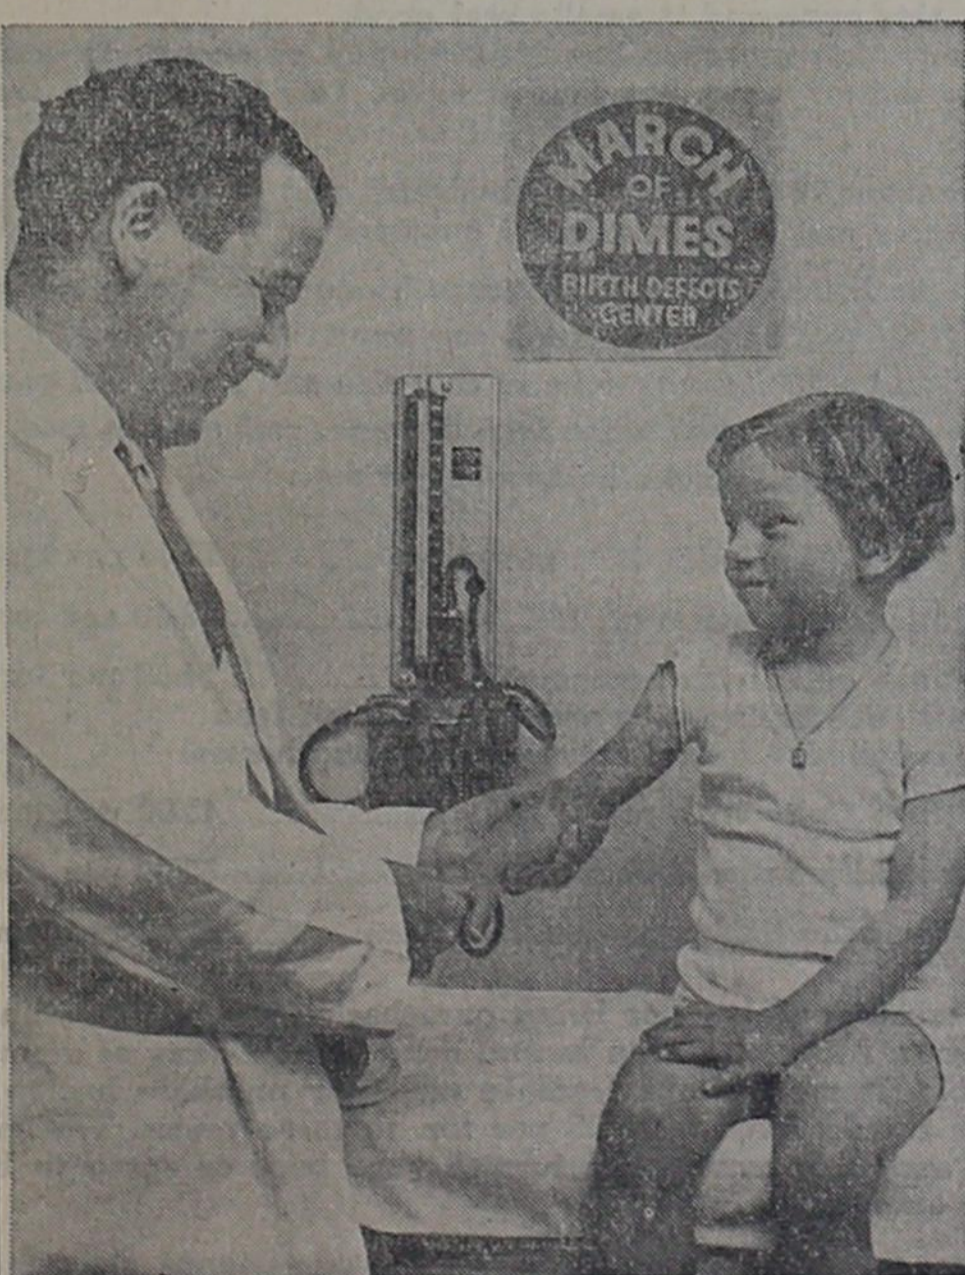

Lori found these gibes, when scarcely out of infancy and the crib, more than any sensitive child could endure. So did her parents, Marlene and Chester Nelson, an attractive farming couple, who for almost three years searched unsuccessfully for a medical answer to the problem.

Brother Also Heartsick

Also heartsick was David, 6, Lori's brother, who more than once came home with a black eye because he fought all the heartless kids in town who poked fun at his "hairy" sister. "Chester and I were almost out of our minds with this terrible affliction," the mother explained. "Lori, a frightened and confused little girl, withdrew into a shell. The present picture was painful enough, but my husband and I looked with dread into the future when our pretty child, like any young woman, would want to go to dances and have dates and fun and, in time, a husband and family.

"No one gave us any reason for hope. Then I read someplace that the March of Dimes was planning a birth defects center in Omaha. When we were waiting at the door when it opened a year and a half ago."

The center, supported by March of Dimes contributions from chapters throughout Nebraska, is at Children's Memorial Hospital and is directed by Dr. Theodore R. Pfundt, chairman of the pediatrics department of Creighton University School of Medicine. It is one of 48 such centers across the nation. Dr. Pfundt consulted with Dr.

Albert S. Black, a noted Omaha cosmetic surgeon, who is a "team member" of the March of Dimes-supported center and an associate professor of surgery at the University of Nebraska Medical School. He saw no reason for despair.

Lori underwent four surgical procedures by Dr. Black. He removed the hairy surface of the right arm which was then replaced by grafts of skin from her right thigh.

Lori Now Carefree

"Essentially what we did," Dr. Black explains, "was to excise the cause of Lori's fears and tormentors, and restore a whole little girl to the carefree world of children. The arm is still rather scarred, inevitably. But later on by high-speed planing and tattooing, the arm will be normal in appearance—and by the time she is in high school Lori will have difficulty remembering which arm exhibited this perverse gift of nature."

Mrs. Nelson was selected as the Nebraska March of Dimes Mother for 1963. She and her husband have forgotten their fears about persuading their daughter to go to kindergarten. They confide that next summer, as a reward for her pluck, Lori may be riding around the farm aboard a Shetland pony.

'64 Jet-smooth Luxury Chevrolet

What does it take to make a car a great highway performer?

If the car happens to be a '64 Chevrolet, one thing only. A highway.

You'll find everything else already neatly packaged for you—on the car exactly as you pick it off the showroom floor.

There's a choice of seven engines—all the way up to a twin-carb high-compression 425-hp V8*—and four transmissions, including a finely honed 4-speed stick shift.*

And underlying it all—a bump-skimming Jet-smooth ride that helps keep the performance great even when the highways aren't so great.

What about special performance equipment? Professional driving skills? Forget them.

Nobody has to doctor or coax or soup up these Chevrolets to get the best out of them.

And that's really the test of a great highway performer: Just about anyone can get a kick out of driving one, just about anywhere, just as it comes out of the showroom.

Next time you're out your dealer's way, allow a few extra minutes to sample one of these highway performers on your own. A few are really all you'll need. That's enough time to do a lot of driving in a Chevrolet.

Although much information has been released recently for homemakers about effective laundry disinfectants, here's some research findings in capsule form which may supplement that from other sources. Agricultural bacteriologists began looking for better laundry disinfectants after they found that normal home laundry methods did not kill all disease-causing bacteria, especially when there was sickness in the family.

The bacteriologists found these suggestions can help make the family wash safe:

1. Pine oil is an effective laundry disinfectant. Select one which contains at least 80 percent pine oil. The pine oil, which does not affect the action of the detergent may be added to the wash or rinse water.

2. Liquid chlorine bleach may be used in the first wash water so that the chlorine will be removed in rinsing. Chlorine bleaches are harmful to wool, silk and fabrics which have been treated with resins, so use other disinfectants for these fabrics.

Phenolic and quaternary disinfectants are both good, but in most instances must be purchased from stores that have industrial supplies. The phenolic disinfectant may be added in either the wash or rinse water, but the quaternary disinfectant should be added to the rinse, as it is likely to inactivate the detergents when added to wash water.

Butter not intended for immediate use should be kept in the freezer compartment of the refrigerator.

Get chewing gum off shoe soles by rubbing with absorbent cotton soaked in hot water. Then saturate another wad of cotton with turpentine to get off the remainder of the gum.

Range Cubes

Sweet Feed

Dry peanut hulls

A new feed mill, a new pellet mill and we can now offer you our hi-roughage range cubes good enough to feed on the ground and soft enough that livestock will eat readily. With our new pellet mill, we are able to put 15% molasses in this cube and it smells real good. Did you know that molasses has 298,398 units of energy to each 100 lbs. of digestible matter. Corn has 136,333 units. This information from USDA bulletin 125.

Molasses contains 70 per cent carbohydrates and is 100% digestible. It is a milk producer and high in mineral substances.

This is why we believe our high molasses hi-roughage range cubes are your best buy. When you need more feed, try some. We have a 12% medicated cube, a 15% and a 20% range cube in cow size and sheep and goat 3/8 inch size. We also stock Waynes horse feed Alcomo, calf starter feed, dog feed, Kimbells 38% protein blocks at bargain prices.

Sweet Feed (80% hulls, 20% molasses)	28.00 per ton (ton lots)
70-20-10 (a sweet feed with 10% conc)	38.00 per ton
12% Range cube with aureomycin	54.00 per ton
(this cube has no urea and is a good calf feed or range feed for all livestock including horses)
15% Range Cube with urea	48.00 per ton
20% Economy Range Cubes with urea	52.00 per ton
20% Comanche Best range cube	67.00 per ton

You must bring your bags or bring ours back. We add nothing to our prices for bags. All feeds are in second hand burlap - any of your bags will be acceptable. If we put our feeds in paper or purchase burlap bags, we would have to add $4.00 to $5.00 per ton to these prices. We believe you had rather save this money and furnish your bags or agree to bring ours back when emptied.

At this time, we have a limited amount of our peanut stem meal which is really a good product, a high milk producing feed. Contains around 15% protein and 6 to 7% fat. This is a bargain at $45.00 per ton ground. Our new feed mill is on the highway to Goldthwaite just south of the Santa Fe railroad and east of the highway. CORN STALK BORER PERSISTENT

J. M. Cooper, Agric. Agent, Eastland County

Several Eastland County farmers reported peanut damage in July and August from the ravages of the lesser cornstalk borer according to County Agricultural Agent J. M. Cooper.
The agent said that they showed up in both irrigated as well as dry land peanuts in widely separated parts of the county.
Experimental research findings indicate the borer does more damage in dry years than in years with a normal amount of moisture. Apparently the adult moths are attracted to the green foliage of the peanuts when other host plants become mature and begin to dry up.
Nearly fifty other plants, both domesticated, as well as wild, are also hosts to this insect.
The moths of this insect appear to be very active at dusk and in the early evening, more so than at any other time of the day. They are not attracted to ultra-violet light traps. They stay under the leaves of the peanut or other host plant during the day. Upon being disturbed they fly from ten to twenty feet and again alight under the peanut leaves.
Studies made of caged moths show that the females deposit 124 greenish-white eggs that change to a deep red color prior to hatching in three days time. The larvae pass through six different stages of growth before becoming full grown.
Although feeding upon the roots, stems and pegs the larvae have a distinct preference for young pods. They tunnel into the pod and feed upon the developing nut. Several larvae may feed upon a single plant at the same time.
Peanut growers who use DDT, Parathion or any insecticide for the control of the lesser corn stalk borer should first know the rules and the tolerances of the insecticide for the crop as indicated by the Federal Food and Drug Administration, before application.

TOMMY STEINER-HOSS INMAN AND ASSOCIATES TO PRODUCE FT WORTH RODEO

Fort Worth (Spl) — W. R. Watt, president-manager of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, is continuing with the successful combined producer arrangement pioneered with the 1963 Fort Worth Stock Show Rodeo.

Tommy Steiner-Hoss Inman and Associates will produce the 1964 Fort Worth Rodeo. The four producers represented in Steiner-Inman and Associates had a total of 51 animals selected for the National Finals Rodeo at Los Angeles in November. Contestants at the National Finals, the World Series of professional rodeo, select all the bucking stock to be used in the rodeo.

Headlining the 1964 rodeo stock at Fort Worth will be six Canadian bucking horses recently purchased by Steiner. The horses, now located at Steiner's X-S Bucking Stock Ranch near Austin, will make their first United States arena appearance at the Fort Worth Rodeo.

Canadian Gus Godfriedson, previous owner of the sextet, says the horses made quite a reputation for throwing respected Canadian cowboys not just once, but as much as three or four times a day.

MEETING AND RECOGNITION DINNER OF COMANCHE TRAIL SCOUTS SET FOR JANUARY 16

Plans for the annual business meeting and recognition dinner of the Comanche Trail Council, Boy Scouts of America, have been completed, and they will be held in the Hotel Brownwood, Brownwood, on Thursday, January 16.

The annual business meeting program will include reports of 1963 accomplishments, and 1964 objectives, presented by each of the council's operating committees; the election of 1964 council officers, members-at-large, executive board, and trustees; and the adoption of a revised constitution and by-laws. The meeting will be held in the Embassy Room of Hotel Brownwood, starting at 5:30 p. m., and council officials have urged that all institutional representatives and council members be present to cast their ballots. Voting by proxy is not permitted.

During the business meeting, a ladies program will be presented in the French Room of the hotel under the leadership of Mrs. Warren P. Duren of Goldthwaite.

Highlights of the annual recognition banquet, to be held in the roof garden of Hotel Brownwood at 7:00 p. m., include recognition of the sixteen boys who earned the Eagle Scout Award in 1963, many special awards, presentation of Silver Beaver Awards "for outstanding service to boyhood", and an address by Dr. W. R. White, President-Emeritus of Baylor University.

Dr. White is a long-time Scouter, having started his Scouting career in 1917 as a Scoutmaster, during his first pastorate, at First Baptist Church, Goldthwaite. Dr. White was awarded the Silver Beaver Award by the Heart O' Texas Council, Waco, in 1953; and the Silver Antelope Award by Region Nine, Boy Scouts of America, in 1957.

Tickets for the recognition dinner must be ordered by Tuesday, January 14, from the council office in Brownwood, and are priced at $2.00 per plate.

HOW TO INSURE A CHURCH ORGAN

"Is the new, expensive organ we have installed in our church covered by the regular fire insurance policy or must it be insured separately?" the church organist asks.

Your organ is covered by your regular fire policy since, for insurance purposes, a church building includes among other things a pipe organ, its motor and attachments.

You may, however, want to obtain broader protection than that afforded by the regular fire policy. In that case you should insure the organ separately and also remove the words "pipe organ" from the regular fire insurance form so that its cost will not be included in determining the value of the church building.

Insurance for organs is not the only special insurance available for churches. Valuable paintings, stained glass windows, pictures, statuary or objects of artistic or historic value may be covered separately under an all-risk fine arts policy.

Motion picture projectors, tape recorders and similar equipment owned by the church may be insured against loss or damage while in or away from the church and in transit.

Silver or gold chalices and similar items that are kept in vaults or places of safekeeping outside the church property may be insured while used in church services, transported to and from the church and while stored off the premises. If these items and the projectors are separately covered, be sure they are not included in the contents value under a fire insurance policy.

Your local insurance agent can advise you on the best kind of insurance coverage for the valuable objects owned by your church.

This column will be glad to answer questions you may have about property and casualty insurance. Send them to Gorman Progress, marked to the attention of GORMAN INSURANCE AGENCY or Call RE 4-5312
