The clerk read a Psalm. Everybody sang. That is, everybody except young Isaac Watts. After church that Sunday in 1692 when his Puritan father called him to the carpet Isaac said flatly that there was no music in the Psalms. Whereupon the outraged deacon suggested that the young upstart write something better. The result of that challenge was a revolution in church singing. Staid, old Enoch Watts must not have been thinking when he hurled that remark at his teenage son. For at his boarding school in Southampton the deacon himself had taught Isaac five languages before the boy was 14. That is, the deacon taught when he wasn't in jail for acts against the Established Church. And for 12 years Mrs. Watts had tutored her oldest son in the writing of verse. At 7 he had won a medal for writing rhymes. He waxed so poetical that when Enoch threatened to thrash him for rhyming even in his everyday conversation he cried out, "O father do some pity take, and I will no more verses make!"

O God, our help in ages past, Our hope for years to come, Our shelter from the stormy blast. And our eternal home!

Under the shadow of Thy throne, Still may we dwell secure; Sufficient in Thine arms alone, And our defense is sure.

O God, Our Help in Ages Past

A rebellious youth revolutionizes church singing

Accepting his father's challenge, 18-year-old Isaac set about "Christianizing and modernizing the Psalms. It had been tried before but not by a mind like that of Watts.

The following Sunday the clerk read a new kind of hymn. It began: "Behold the glories of the Lamb . . . Amidst His Father's throne; Prepare new honors for His name, and songs before unknown." The congregation went wild. They made young Watts bring in one of his "modern. ized" Psalms every Sunday for two years!

Isaac Watts had successfully broken a tradition. Before he was 30 he wrote "Joy to the World," "When I Can Read My Title Clear," "Am I a Soldier of the Cross" and 650 other notable hymns and paved the way for Wesley, Newton, Cowper and many others. Isaac Watts lived in troubled times but he could have written no more appropriately for the present era than when he paraphrased the 19th Psalm more than two centuries ago and wrote:

Before the hills in order stood. Or earth received her frame, From everlasting Thou art God,

To endless years the same.

O God, our help in ages past, Our hope for years to come; Be thou my guide while life shall last, And our eternal home.

This is one of a series presenting the story of the world famous religious hymns sung by the faithful of all creeds.
