"No Pictures Yet" Check Told At Dealers Meeting

Check Smith, Chevrolet dealer of Gorman and Baird was among approximately 7,000 Chevrolet dealers and dealership executives in Detroit recently to attend the largest convention of its kind ever held in the auto industry.

While in the Motor City, dealers previewed the spectacular new lines of 1964 Chevrolet cars and trucks to be introduced early this fall.

Arriving in Detroit at the rate of about 1400 a day, the dealer guests were welcomed by top Chevrolet officials including Semon E. Knudsen, a General Motors vice president and general manager of the division, and Lar-Averill, general sales manager.

Citing Chevrolet's all-time high rate of sales thus far this year, the two executives told dealers that the division expects to surpass in 1963 its record performance in 1962 when Chevrolet set new industry sales marks.

As a highlight of the convention programs, dealers were treated to an advance look at the new car and truck models in a gala stage revue the equal of a Broadway musical comedy production.

A further feature was a display of the new vehicles and other specially designed engineering and auto show exhibits which filled the mammoth two acre area of Detroit's Cobo Hall exposition center. An evening banquet with General Motors executives followed.

In addition to being the largest and most elaborate of its kind in industry history, the convention marked the first time since 1936 that dealers had been invited to Detroit for such an event by Chevrolet.

Progress Library Receives Copy Of Kelly Blue

Kelly Blue by William Weber Johnson was presented to the Gorman Progress Library this week by the Dallas Art Association on behalf of the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts.

Kelly Blue is the biography of H. O. Kelly, a great natural painter of a great natural history.

H. O. Kelly came to the world's attention late in life and in a few years that remained enjoyed some fame as a natural painter of both skill and charm. This was not the way he had planned it. He spent most of his life as a hired man, teamster in Arizona, ranch hand in Texas, muleskinner in Oklahoma sheep herder in New Mexico, range rider in Wyoming, logger and bullwhacker in Arkansas, debt ridden farmer in the Dust Bowl. By most standards his career had been one of failure. He was improvident, gallant and adventurous in an age that set greater store by stability. He was a fine horseman, and his hope, always, was to be a breeder and trainer, a stud horse and jack man - in an age that had as little use for horses and mules as it did for nineteenth century notions. In his sixties, penniless and ill, he turned to painting. With a bright, cheerful spirit he looked back on the wide sweep of America he had known and loved, the shifting seas of grass, the river running clear, the people robust and joyful, the skies a color they should have been - but seldom were.

This is his story: a portrait of a man and of a disappearing America.

However, of the four types used the Starr peanut produced more kernels per acre.

TRUMAN E. BOSWELL, Assistant Plant Pathologist, Plant Investigation Laboratory, Yoakum, Texas, used color slides to show methods of planting and application of chemicals. He stated that weeds and grasses could be controlled by mechanical means, cultivation, chemicals and hand hoes. The type of control depends on many factors including type of soil, moisture, temperature, and the amount and time of rainfall before and after emergence. An ideal herbicide is one that can be applied to the plant.

TOM AARON, Texas Agricultural Extension economist, predicted the 1963 peanut crop in the United States will be up about two percent; Texas will show a two percent decline and acreage in the nation will decline 11 percent compared to a six percent drop in Texas. He forecast a national average peanut yield increase of 30 pounds per acre and a Texas yield near the 1962 figure.

Price of peanuts will be approximately the same as last year or at the low level. This year's minimum support price has been announced at $224 per ton on a national average. This compares to $221.40 for the 1962 crop.

The Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service expects no change in the peanut program or price support for at least another year or until after the 1964 harvest, stated Mr. Aaron.

Speaking of the disease, aspergillus niger (black mold) and its treatment, Dr. Ashworth, assistant professor of plant sciences at Texas A&M, recommended treatment of the peanut seed with a fungicide, thiran. He suggested 75 percent active material at three ounces per 100 pounds of seed. Dr. Ashworth said experience showed mercury compounds have offered inadequate protection from the disease.

He also cautioned growers about depth of planting and seed injury.

"Do not plant to a needless depth—the deeper the plant the more infection. Seed injury greatly enhances chance of infection, and is just as important as depth of planting."

At the conclusion of one treatment experiment conducted recently, 95 percent of the plants left were free of fungus. Without treatment Dr. Ashworth said the disease can be transmitted.

Robert B. Duffin

Review of Work on Peanut Irrigation

A four-year irrigation experiment in West Central Oklahoma in the 1950's revealed that peanut yield per acre-inch of water depended on rainfall conditions, according to Robert B. Duffin, Oklahoma Ag. Extension Service Irrigation specialist. He recommended 'intermediate water treatment' in most instances.

"Rainfall cannot be controlled irrigation can; if there is no rainfall peanut irrigation could control results," Duffin stated.

Oklahoma irrigation wells produce an average of 250-400 gallons a minute on sandy, rolling soils. There is some surface irrigation but sprinkling systems are used most, none of which are of the high-pressure, large gun type.

Duffin said that irrigation costs vary but estimated the cost at from $30-$50 per acre per year.

In Oklahoma peanuts require about 25 inches of rainfall during the growing season.

Dr. Lee J. Ashworth, Jr.

Aaron also remarked that Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico are the only states to receive increased acreage allotments in the last three years, indicating some movement of peanut production to the Southwest.

the Labor Day weekend," J. O. Musick, TSA General Mgr., said.

The safety director said drivers should put all their driving skills to work for them to stay out of trouble in traffic and should be prepared for the unexpected actions of other drivers. He also urged drivers to start out with a proper driving attitude.

"Your attitude about your own driving and that of other drivers has a profound effect on the possibilities of your being involved in an accident. Treat other drivers the way you want to be treated - with courtesy."

Musick reminded drivers they have a moral as well as a legal responsibility when driving.

The TSA is cooperating with the Texas Dept. of Public Safety the Texas Highway Dept. and other groups in promoting traffic accident prevention during the Labor Day holiday period.

In addition to traffic safety activities, the Association is promoting accident prevention programs for holiday safety at home and in public places.

"Non-transport accidents at home and in public places also take their toll during the holidays," Musick noted.

He said an unusual number of drownings this summer has given cause for special concern in the area of water safety.

If you are going to a lake, river or some body of water, make sure you know the hazards of that particular place before you go in swimming or take your boat out. Be sure you have approved life-preservers for every passenger in your boat and that everyone knows and observes safety rules.

Don't forget about the small children and elderly persons. Special attention should be given to removing environment hazards that might cause falls. These two groups are frequently the victims of accidental falls.

BROWNING REUNION HELD AUGUST 11 AT LAKE LEON

The descendants of the late Lanie Ellison Browning and John Story Browning met at the Raymond Anderson lake house on Lake Leon August 11 for their 25th annual reunion. Previously the reunions were held at Ellison Springs, near Gorman, at the original homesite of the pioneer Ellison family.

Several of the family came early and spent the night at the Anderson and Alton Wilhite lake houses.

Sunday was spent visiting, reminiscing and enjoying swimming and other water sports. One of the highlights of the reunion was viewing old family letters and documents of special interest, letters written by Francis Marion Browning, a Confederate soldier

SIXTY TONS AND WHAT DO YOU GET? With a unique display of technical skill and ingenuity, engineers have placed sixty tons of overhead air conditioning at the Six Flags 40,000 square foot open air Amphitheatre. The delightful show as well as the benefits of this cool innovation are reflected in the faces of the theatre goers.

SIX FLAGS PLAYING IT COOL

If you hear someone saying it's as cool as all outdoors, don't be too sure he's referring to the winter season. He may be talking about Six Flags in the summer.

The reasoning behind this statement is that engineers at the 115-acre Park, located midway between Dallas and Fort Worth, are attempting to set up enough air conditioning units to cool off a large portion of the big tourist attraction.

Nearly 700 tons of air conditioning are already in operation - enough to cool a 16-story building, according to management.

The latest project involves air conditioning the Six Flags Amphitheatre. This 1200 seat open-air theatre, where the popular Campus Revue musical variety show takes place, encompasses approximately 40,000 square feet of space. Completion of this unique innovation is expected this week and theatre goers can watch the entertaining shows in cool comfort, thanks to sixty tons of overhead air conditioning.

At Six Flags all of the queue lines as well as buildings are completely air conditioned.

Engineers and technicians still have a long way to go and right now "Old Sol" is in the lead over the Park's cool air output. But work is continuing to add new units for better visitor comfort.

The price of trying to air condition much of the entertainment area at Six Flags would stagger the imagination. However, management feels it's well worth it, when the comfort of its guests is concerned.

It would seem to be somewhat of an impossibility to have the coolness of one's own living room throughout Six Flags. Yet one park technician smilingly summed up the situation by quoting a famous phrase. "The difficult we do today, the impossible takes a little longer."

Dr. Newton K. Wesley

Approximately 500,000 Americans are slowly losing their vision because of glaucoma... and a great number of these people are unaware of the disease.

The average American has his eyes examined only once in five years—time enough for a serious eye affliction to develop.

One of the main reasons we neglect our eyes is because usually there is no pain associated with eye disorders and, because eyes do not ache like teeth, we assume there is no trouble present.

Yet if we were to have our eyes examined twice a year, most eye afflictions could be discovered and corrected. The high rate of blindness could be cut in half.

Vanity plays a major part in our neglect of our eyes. We feel that we may have to wear old fashioned glasses that will make us look older. For those who can adapt themselves to them, contact lenses have solved this problem to a large extent. However, reluctance to visit an eye doctor still exists to an alarming degree.

The National Eye Research Foundation estimates that there are 50 million people in this country in need of eye care. Most of these people will neglect their condition either through ignorance of the consequences or an unwillingness to have their vision checked.

Don't take chances with your most precious possession—your vision. Make an appointment for an eye examination soon.

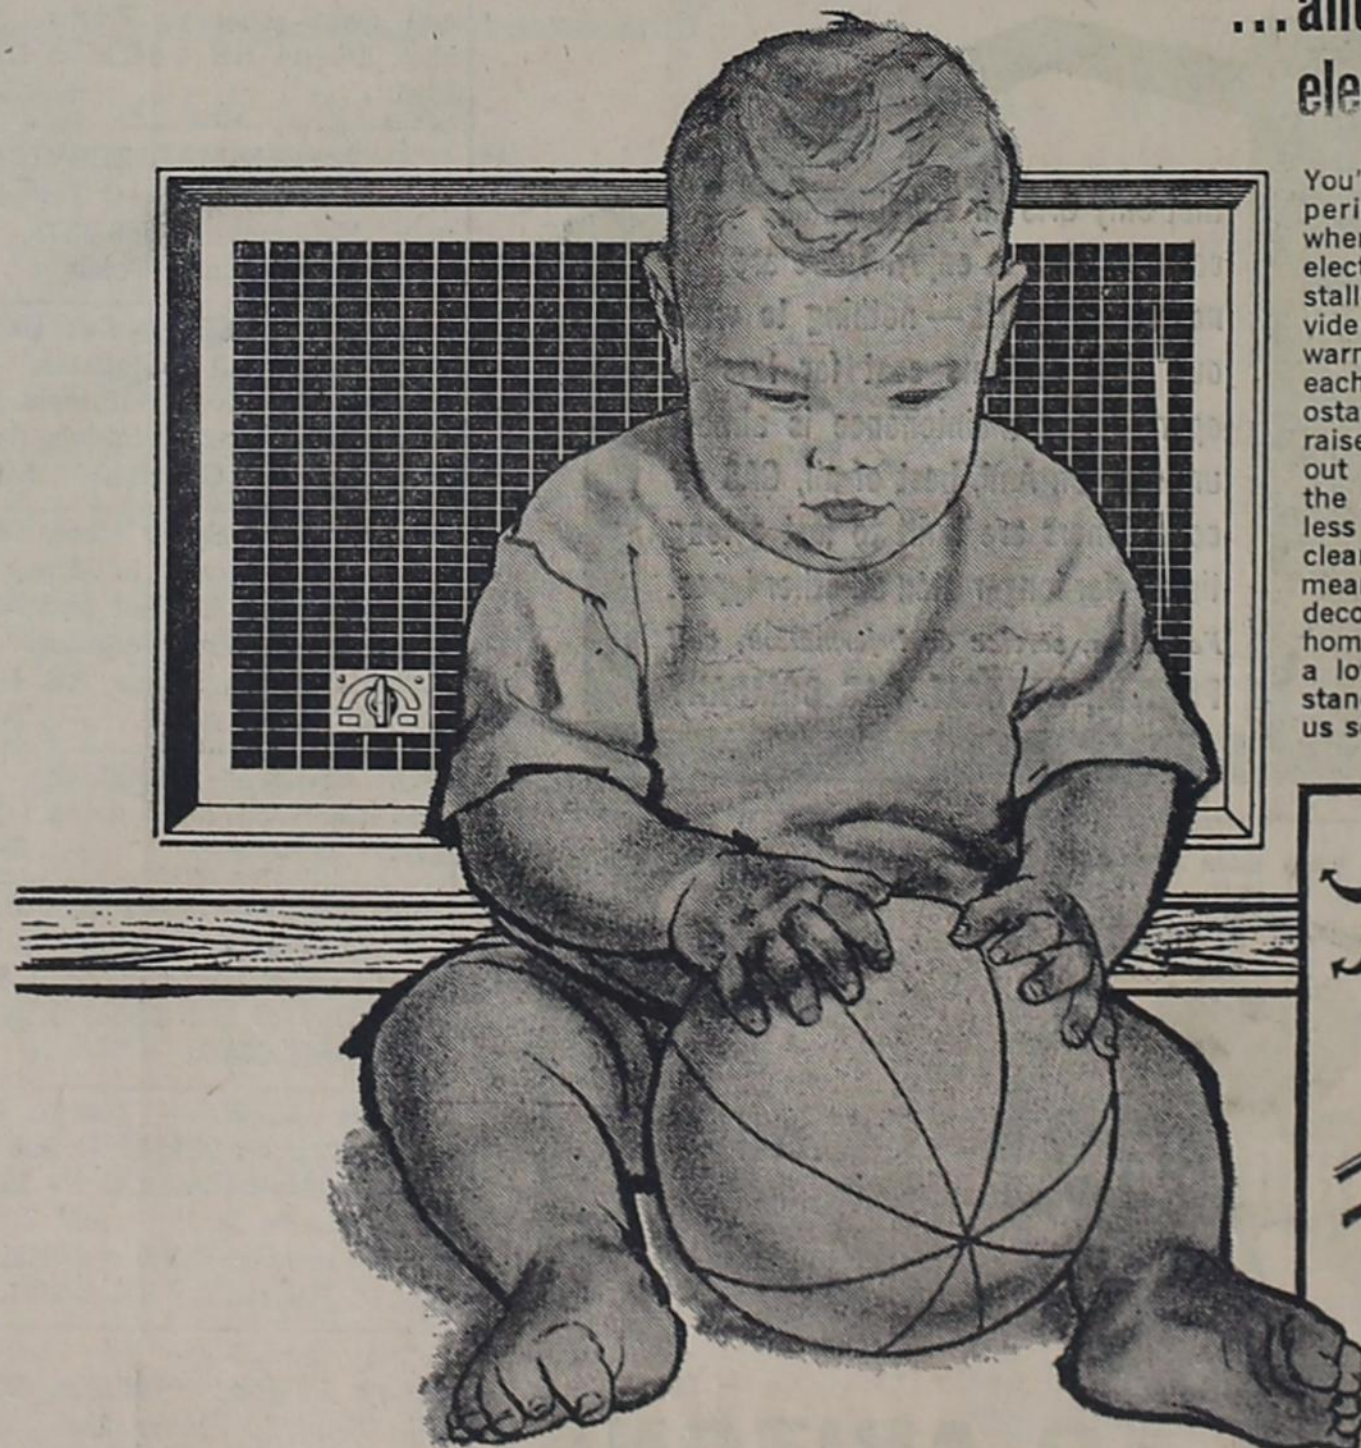

Wesley

Nike-Hercules To Be On Display At Pnt. Bowl Festival

The Army's Nike-Hercules surface-to-air guided missile is coming to Eastland County and will be on display at the Fourth Annual Peanut Bowl Festival in Eastland, Saturday, September 14, it has been announced. The missile, a duplicate of those on guard now at sites near Abilene and Denton in this area, will be trailer-mounted and will be exhibited both in the giant Peanut Bowl Parade, set for 2:30 p. m., and for special exhibit on the parking lot at Maverick Stadium. The stadium will be the site for the climaxing clash of the day's activities when the grid teams of Cisco and Ranger Junior Colleges meet for the fourth time. Game time will be 8 p. m. and there will be special pre-game events, as well as half-time performances of particular note.

Eastland County lies within the scope of protection of the Abilene-based missiles because their "kill-range" is listed as being in "excess of 75 miles."

Peanut Bowl visitors will be given a free, closeup look at the gigantic weapon system, and there will be specialist on hand to answer questions. There are several Eastland County young men assigned to the Army's Abilene Nike station, so the missile and its mission is not all-together unknown to this area.

Emphasizing the theme of this year's Festival, the club has made arrangements for the Nike and other "space-age" displays for the benefit of the Festival visitors. Glynn Gilliam, president of the sponsoring Eastland Jaycees, said, "We are happy to announce the appearance of this important national defense weapon, and hope that all in this area will take advantage of the opportunity to see it."

Selections are now being made for entries in this year's annual Peanut Bowl Queen Contest, to be held at the Majestic Theatre on Tuesday, September 10, just prior to the "Big Day." The queen will be recognized at the Bowl Game.

Other special attractions are now being arranged for and announcements of their appearance will be made soon.

Nike-Hercules is the first combat-ready missile with an atomic capability to enter the active air defenses of the U. S. Its altitude capability ranges from less than 1,000 feet (for low-level attack) to more than 150,000 feet (over 28 miles). With its booster, the "Herc." weighs approximately 5 tons and has an overall length of 39 feet. The missile alone is 27 feet long and has a diameter of 32 inches. Its cluster of four boosters is 14½ feet long. Nike-Hercules is a two-stage missile using a solid-fueled propellant rocket booster and a solid-fueled propellant rocket motor to sustain it in flight. Solid fuels are superior to liquid fuels in the ease of handling, safety, and speed of preparing missiles for firing.

The Hercules has demonstrated effectiveness against targets traveling faster than Mach 3.0 (2,100 miles per hour). Full altitude capabilities of Nike-Hercules have never been tested because of lack of suitable targets. Naturally the Nike-Hercules missile that will be displayed in Eastland will be completely safe.
