Joe Bennett Is New President Of Community Club

Joe Bennett was elected to lead the Community Club for the year of 1965 at a meeting at the Brown Jug Cafe on Monday. Speedy Clark was elected vice-president and Joe Collins secretary-treasurof the "All Sports Banquet" which will be held after basketball season, probably in early March. W. The Eastland County Farmers C. Browning was appointed to secure a speaker for the occasion.

> A committee of W. C. Browning, Speedy Clark and Joe Collins was appointed to meet with the Frank A. Gray Park and Swimming Pool. The club has decided that it is too much of an operation for a small club to handle alone and wishes to turn it back in the form of entertainment that it would be foolish not to continue the swimming pool and park for summer recreation.

> The club meets every fourth Monday and an extensive membership drive is on. The dues are $5.00 per year and the purpose of the club is to sponsor the athevery business man in town and any men interested in the good of the community will be contacted for dues to help support this worthwhile project. The club needs members and it would be mighty convenient for you to slip Joe Collins your dues for 1965.

Fish-Game Service Supper will be served prior to To Help Rid Area Of Blackbirds

The Fish and Wildlife Service will hold a called meeting at 7:30 p. m. Monday, February 1 at the Gorman Fire Hall.

Mr. J. M. Cooper, Eastland County Agriultural Agent, announced the meeting is being called to see what legal actions and steps can be taken to rid the area of blackbirds, which have become a menace to farmers and ranchers.

A representative of the Wildlife and Game Preserve from the Fort Worth office will be here to give instructions on how and what methods can be used.

Mr. Cooper urges all interested farmers and ranchers to attend

Rock Of

Perhaps the most popular of legends about the writing of "Rock of Ages" has as its theme a wandering poet caught in a storm, and finding refuge under a cleft rock, writes his sentiments while the elements rage. The trouble with the story is that it wasn't invented until after 75 years after the hymn was written. Actually, the song was born of a less inspiring setting . . . an argument between two preachers.

"Arminianism" and "Calvinism" means little to the layman. But those were fighting words to the strict theologian of 200 years ago. "Prizefighter" and "chimney-sweep" are terms hurled by Arminian John Wesley at Calvinist August Toplady after the latter had accused the founder of Methodism of acting like a "lurking, sly assassin." Thus the battle went as both men, sincere in their beliefs, carried on their fight in tracts, sermons and even hymns . . . Wesley contending that man could live without sinning and that Grace was

Rock of Ages, cleft for me, Let me hide myself in Thee; Let the water and the blood, From Thy riven side which flowed, Be of sin the double cure, Save me from its guilt and power.

Not the labor of my hands, Can fulfil Thy law's demands; Could my zeal no respite know, Could my tears forever flow, All for sin could not atone; free to all . . . Toplady arguing that everybody, was born damned and redemption was a matter of God's choice.

Thou must save, and Thou alone.

Moving to London as minister to French Calvinists, Toplady became editor of "The Gospel Magazine." Thus he had a new outlet for his arguments. In March, 1776, he wrote an article on "Spiritual Improvement and the National Debt," in which he sought to prove that man was as helpless to pay his debt of sin as England was to liquidate her national debt. At one sin per second, he figured, a man would have chalked up 1,576,800,000 transgressions at age 50 . . . but such a staggering debt had already been paid by Christ . . . to "pray afresh to God."

Toplady climaxed his article with a poem that is known today as "Rock of Ages," and it is gratifying that "Rock of Ages" has outlived the age of heated arguments on theology in which it

Nothing in my hand I bring, Simply to Thy cross I cling; Naked, come to Thee for dress, Helpless look to Thee for grace! Foul, I to the mountain fly, Wash me, Saviour, or I die.

While I draw this fleeting breath When mine eyes shall close in death, When I soar to worlds unknown, See Thee on Thy judgment throne, Rock of Ages, cleft for me, Let me hide myself in Thee.

This is one of a series presenting the story of the world famous religious hymns sung by the faithful of all creeds.
