4-H Record Book Workshop Held In Eastland On June 1

The 4-H Record Book Workshop held June 1, 1966, in the Reddy Room of Texas Electric Service Company in Eastland was a big success. The workshop conducted by Miss Wanda Watson, Assistant County Home Demonstration Agent, and Mr. Bill McCutchen, Assistant County Agricultural Agent, presented information and ideas for completing a 4-H Record Book. This record book is a requirement for the completion of a 4-H project.

These records are used in many ways — to select county winners for county medals; to select representatives for various district contests and events; they help the 4-Hers and their leaders to recognize progress and improvements. These points and many others were presented to the six adult leaders and nine junior leaders who attended, by the agents.

Those attending were Mrs. Jimmie Lee, Caddy and Carney, Mrs. Major Farnsworth, Bill and Larry; Mrs. Alfred Green and Kay; and Mrs. Irwin Pippen, all of Cisco; Mrs. Ray Williams, Bobby and Barbara of Gorman; Mrs. Rabb Steddum and Sharon Harbin of Eastland; and Kathy Kincaid of Morton Valley; and Larry Williamson of Ranger.

Make your plans to attend and bring a friend to enjoy an evening of fellowship and worship in song.

A large selection of sheet music and gospel albums will be on display at the concert. The new release of the Gloryland Quartet will be among the gospel albums for your selection.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — THE GROWING PROBLEM OF WATER and air pollution is recognized and efforts are being made to deal with it. Just as conditions brought about by water pollution and unclean air did not occur suddenly, it will take a long time to find all the answers and to arrest the processes.

ANOTHER PROBLEM TO RECEIVE ATTENTION IS NOISE ABATEMENT. In discussing living conditions and the general welfare of people, the term "environmental quality" is being used, and anti-noise is a factor in it.

THE COST TO INDUSTRY OF CONTROLLING NOISE LEVELS will be higher and will likely affect more kinds of industry and business than has been the case of water and air pollution. For instance, aircraft engine and truck manufacturers, having already spent millions to "bottle" up noise, will doubtless have to spend a great deal more. Machinery which operates at a lower noise level will have a selling point. Obviously two purposes are primarily involved — devices to prevent noise in the first place and materials to protect from noise in the second place.

LEGISLATION HAS ALREADY BEEN INTRODUCED to start a study on the effects of noise and how to eliminate it. Some day there will probably be a Federal "Office of Noise Control" and will likely provide Federal grants for research in control and prevention.

IT IS REASONABLE TO BELIEVE THAT BUILDING CODES would require greater sound insulation in interior and exterior walls. Heating and cooling machinery and component parts would have to be designed to create and transmit a minimum of noise. Cooling equipment could probably no longer be located on tops of buildings where it would transmit noise to surrounding buildings.

CONSTRUCTION EQUIPMENT USED IN GROWING CITIES would have to operate below an approved noise level. This would likely include air hammers, generators, compressors, pumps, cranes and pile-drivers. In manufacturing, employers might find themselves required to reduce noise in the machine shops and give free ear examinations and medical treatment to their employees.

ALTHOUGH NOISE IS NOISE ANYWHERE IT IS NOISY, there still must be ears to receive it (otherwise it isn't noisy at all). Noise of the kind to be dealt with must, of course, be man-made, and if it is to be a profitable operation such as manufacturing, there must be a lot of ears around to receive the noise. The point here is that the problem of noise could be considerably alleviated by encouraging industry to move into rural areas. In fact, but not for this reason, there are plans to help businesses locate or relocate in small towns. This is the latest added objective to the War on Poverty.

THE ADMINISTRATION HAS INDICATED THAT since earlier efforts at warring on poverty have been mostly directed towards the cities, attention should be given to small towns and rural areas, but that such areas must be made attractive by offering services competitive with the cities.

THE GENERAL PLAN SEEMS TO BE THAT INDUSTRY will decide on just what is needed in areas in which it would like to locate. This would include available labor, water and sewer facilities, hospital and health facilities, adequate schools, roads and a source of power.

Are you planning to sew with the sheer fabrics, such as voiles and dotted swiss?

They are popular this season, but their transparency calls for special treatment of the seams. There are three different ways to make seams in sheer fabrics. The first method is to stitch a plain 5/8 inch seam with the right sides of the fabric together. Make another row of stitching within the seam allowance, 1/8 inch from the first seam. Then trim the seam close to the second stitching line.

Another method is to make a French seam by placing the wrong sides of the fabric together. Stitch a plain 3/8 inch seam, and trim the seam allowance to 1/8 inch. Then turn the garment with the right sides together and press the garment flat along the seam line. Baste and stitch along the regular 5/8 inch seam line so that the finished seam will be 1/4 inch wide.

A third method of seaming sheer fabrics is a mock French seam. Stitch the right sides of the fabric together along the 5/8 inch seam line. Next turn the raw edges in 1/4 inch toward the seamline and sew together by hand or machine to make a 3/8 inch seam.

Best results are usually obtained by using the French seam on straight seams and the mock French seam on curved seams where fitting is necessary.

When you are choosing a pattern for a sheer fabric, check to see that sheers are recommended. The garment will look better if few seams are in evidence.

THE THEORY BEHIND ALL THIS SOUNDS PERFECTLY GOOD. There is no question that our small towns and rural areas are in need of additional sources of economic reliability. It is one way to stop the one-way street of people leaving the smaller communities and going into the cities to further compound problems already severe. Some enterprising communities, having long recognized the need, have done something about this situation without the Government's help. There is no substitute for local initiative.

When you are choosing a pattern for a sheer fabric, check to see that sheers are recommended. The garment will look better if few seams are in evidence.
