The Viet Nam question has been argued pro and con without any of us knowing anything about it. I, for one, being ignorant of the main issues, have been opposed to our nation being involved. That is, until I heard Lt. Col. John C. Hughes speak at the Texas Press Convention in El Paso.

Lt. Col. Hughes, a veteran of two wars, and more than 200 air strikes in Viet Nam, stated that the "rules of war used in the past could not be applied in Viet Nam." With all due respect to our men and boys who fought in past wars, the service men in Viet Nam are as great as any I have ever seen. Hughes spoke of the work in the villages and the help being given to the people in rebuilding their homes and the aid to education. The young people especially take great risks in trying to attend classes wherever they are held.

"We are winning the war," stated Lt. Col. Hughes, "and have been for the past 18 months." He speculated the Viet Cong had the potential of launching possibly two more major offensives but doubted their ability to muster a third. Too, we are being ably assisted by other countries, especially Korea.

One hears so much about the gooks and off-beat generation today, they forget this group of mixed-up bits of humanity are really a minor part of our world. The Sourdoughs from Matador, Texas entertained TPA members. These youngsters spoke of their plans for the future with such fervor it made one forget there was such a thing as an off-beat or gook in existence. One of the young men, Richard Campbell, said he had enrolled in Texas Tech and was hoping to play football. If Richard plays football like he played and sang, look out Horns and Frogs.

Speaking of Gooks and beatniks, etc., I have always been proud of the youngsters in this area. I believe statistics would prove that we have always had far above the average in well-mannered cooperative youngsters. They have their fun the same as you and I did but they always seem willing and eager to take part in civic and church activities. As for singing, just between us, I think they sort of topped that group from Matador.

The El Paso Times publishes a prayer on the front page of its paper every day. The prayers are written by readers of the Times. The following is one we could all use everyday.

TODAY'S PRAYER

Thank you, God,
For each lovely day,
For hearing our voices
Whenever we pray.
Thank you for houses,
For clothes and for food.
Thank you for parents
And everything good.

- so everybody get your swim suits and be ready for Splash Day. At a called meeting of the Swimming Pool Committee Monday, various committees were elected.

Charlie Garrett and James Mears were elected to oversee the construction of the sidewalks around the pool and the building of the bath house. W. C. Browning was elected to oversee the lighting system and Berenice Jeffs and Estelle Craddock were elected to plan opening day activities.

Gorman Answers

Youth's Question - -

"What To Do Now?"

In pre-automation days youth and even small fry found work and play on peanut farms in the summer when school was out, and in the fall truancy was not uncommon among those who really liked to "shake peanuts." Also the Senior Class and their sponsor were allowed holidays for this employment which netted them monies for their Senior Trip.

But with those days gone forever, there is the question, "What To Do Now?"

The answer is being given in various opportunities, which include the following:

The Lawndale Home for Senior Citizens employs 12 high school girls on part-time basis training them in the art of nursing. Blackwell Hospital, Inc. follows the same practice, employing a number of girls.

A number of high school and college students are employed by the Gorman Peanut Company in the construction of a cold storage plant.

These three opportunities proceed without federal aid.

In progress and sponsored by the local school are projects connected with the National Youth Program. Under this heading is the Grammar Class being taught by Mrs. Bob Green and the reading of the buildings and grounds for August football training and September school opening in which four boys and three girls are participating under direction of the recently elected coach, Lee Roy Duke; and a driver's training course is being completed with instructor Dave Smith.

At the Homemaking Cottage the Junior Homemaking Class chose a project, the redecorating of a cottage bedroom, which includes painting the walls and the antiquing of a bedroom suite. The Sophomore Homemaking Class have held a play school under the direction of Miss Katherine Ragan for 20 pre-schoolers.

The 4-H and FFA members are continuing work on their projects through the summer. Little Leaguers enjoy night games.

Vacation Bible Schools have been on the programs of three churches and singing may be enjoyed at the Congregational Methodist Church on one or more Sunday afternoons during each month.

Operation Teenagers Programs, presented in Eastland County towns, are attended by local youth.

A hoped-for July event will be the opening of a swimming pool, now under construction.

Miss Marilyn Robinett To Become Bride Of Glen Warren July 23

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Robinett announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Marilyn, to Glen Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Warren of Gorman.

The wedding will take place on July 23 in the home of the bride-elect's parents.

Junior 4-H Leaders Hold Record Book Workshop Saturday

Planned and organized by Bobby Williams, an active 4-H Junior Leader, almost half of the Gorman 4-H Club turned out last Saturday morning at the fire hall to work on their annual record books.

Brenda Browder and Barbara Williams assisted Bobby in helping the group to make their individual record books better. The 4-H record book is quite an accomplishment in itself, but if kept up to date each year it makes it possible for the member to be eligible for greater awards, such as the all-expense paid week's state training lab, which six of the Eastland County 4-Hers will be attending the first week in August. Bobby is included in the group and realizing that others need the encouragement to work up to rewards such as this and many others, he hoped the workshop would help make it a little easier.

I believe all that attended will agree it did. Besides getting a good bit accomplished the group learned about things that had recently changed and are better able to compete in county competition and make their record book eligible for district competition.

We hope Gorman has a good representation at district this year because of these efforts. At least we know the members have learned more about themselves and their projects through this.

Entering record books in the senior division this year are Teddy Jordan in achievement and Bobby Williams in leadership.

In the junior division are Danny Snider in achievement, Christi Fuller, Brenda Browder and Barbara Williams in clothing. Others working on their record books for dress revue were Dorenda Arnold, Tana Eaker and Marilyn Thompson. These girls are just beginning their 4-H projects and dress revue will be their first big event.

Record books are used to help the judges know how the member has progressed in his knowledge, personality, and leadership in an all-out effort to make better future neighbors and citizens out of the 4-H members today.

Mike Collins To Select Delegates To Texas Youth Conference

The Texas Law Enforcement and Youth Development Foundation, sponsors of the Texas Youth Conference, have announced that Mr. Mike Collins of Eastland will serve as the county representative for delegate selection in Eastland County for the 1966 Texas Youth Conference. The Youth Conference will hold its fourth annual meeting on the campus of The University of Texas, August 18-21. As county representative for delegate selection, Mr. Collins will work with local civic clubs, churches and other organizations and individuals interested in youth to send the allotted from Eastland County to this fourth annual meeting.

The Texas Youth Conference in 1966 became a project of the Texas Law Enforcement and Youth Development Foundation in cooperation with the Hogg Foundation for Mental Health and the Sears-Roebuck Foundation as well as a number of other foundations and individuals in Texas. The program had originally begun as a pilot project of the Attorney General's Office but is no longer associated with that office.

Individuals or organizations interested in sponsoring delegates should contact Mr. Collins as soon as possible for further information.

Eight members answered the roll call by giving the name of their favorite song.

Mrs. Joe O'Neal gave a very interesting program on "Famous Women of Texas."

Following the closing prayer by Mrs. J. L. Morrow, a delicious refreshment plate was served to the following: Mmes. Wayne White, Lee Bishop, Glenn Jordan, Albert Hendricks, John Donaldson, J. L. Morrow, Joe O'Neal, the hostess, Mrs. Williamson, and a guest, Mrs. Z. O. Mehaffey.

The next meeting will be on September 12 in the home of Mrs. J. L. Morrow. Visitors are always welcome.

Good Program And Entertainment Mark 87th TPA Convention

It was my privilege again this year to be the guest of Gene and Theresa at the Texas Press Association Annual Convention held June 23-25 in El Paso, with headquarters at Hotel Cortez.

It was like old home week or a family reunion when the newspaper family began arriving early Thursday morning, greeting old friends and meeting new ones. The convention was highly successful, with good programs and excellent entertainment, even though we had one or two anxious incidents happen. Like returning to my room and discovering all my things had been removed. Just when I thought I was going to get to buy a new wardrobe they were found in a storage room of the hotel. They had been removed and placed with other tourists luggage who were making a trip to Chihuahua, Mexico.

On Friday night six Gray Lines Sightseeing buses carrying TPA delegates to the Juarez Race Track were impounded by the Mexican Federal Police for violating federal traffic regulations, and we thought for a while we would have to spend the night in the "Pokie." However, the buses were released to bring us back to El Paso.

A reception was held Thursday evening in the hotel Crystal Ball Room, and an awards breakfast on Friday initiated the regular convention activities. Awards were presented to winners of the 1966 Texas newspaper contests.

Outstanding guest speakers at the convention included James Young, currently business editor of the Anderson, South Carolina Daily Mail and Independent. He is author of a number of books including "The Road to Tokyo," "Behind The Rising Sun" and "Manchurian Express". He explained to TPA'ers how publications have helped to promote industrial and farming projects in the Savannah River Valley area.

Young emphasized there is a need to attract industry to rural areas surrounding the regions central city. "We want industries in the small surrounding towns to generate growth," he told the editors and their wives, and news papers can promote this industrial growth.

Lt. Col. Robert McBrinn, Fort Bliss Information Officer, described the huge army base operation and said the soldier is more important than a piece of machinery. "No soldier in our history has faced this kind of challenge," he explained. "The day of the hired soldier is through," he declared. "He must be a dedicated American - there are no place for knuckleheads in the army. Today's soldier must be a quality product and we have high enlistment standards."

"The soldier is a teacher, humanitarian, linguist, diplomat and in addition, must be able to fight. Of all the glamorous weaponry we have, it is exotic junk without the man."

McBrinn urged the editors and publishers to use "a fair, accurate, balanced portrayal of today's American soldier."

Average Soldier
In defining the average soldier McBrinn explained he is 18 years of age, a high school graduate, is 5 feet, 9 inches, weighs 160 pounds, wears 9 1/2 shoes, a size 7 hat, consumes 6 pounds of food daily, likes steak and receives 17 shots a year, unless he goes overseas and then he receives 20.

Our investment (yours and mine) in dollars cost in a soldier is $457 to outfit a man and $4,000 to make a soldier. McBrinn said the average soldier now is taught 625 skills in the army.

"In every sense of the word, he is a professional soldier," McBrinn declared. He also noted that on July 8 a contingent of West German soldiers will begin a training program at Fort Bliss.

There will be about 1,200 German students annually participating in an Air Force surface to air missile school formerly located at Aachen, Germany. The students will be taught by a faculty of about 280 Germans. The Germans will lease the land from the U. S. Army. This is something that has never been done in the past.

A most impressive speaker was

FEDERAL AID BEING SOUGHT TO AID PROCTOR WATER PROJECT

Mr. Othell "Speedy" Clark, a member of the Upper Leon Municipal Water District Board, has announced that an application for one million and three hundred thousand dollars has been made to the Federal Government for funds for the UPLD Proctor Lake project and it looks favorable that the funds sought will be approved, as the last Congress appropriated 100 million dollars for the 50 states for the development of city water consumption projects.

If the funds being sought are approved work could begin in a matter of weeks on the Proctor Reservoir Project, Clark stated.

Towns included in the Proctor project are De Leon, Comanche, and Gorman.

Dr. W. T. Calhoun of Comanche, president of the Upper Leon Municipal Water District Board, met recently in Fort Worth with the government officials.

Mr. Charles Duran of Gorman is also a board member of the ULMWD.

City Renews Contract Of Twenty Years With Pioneer Natural Gas

An ordinance extending an ordinance dated May 12, 1919, granting to Pioneer Natural Gas Co., a Texas corp., its successors and assigns, the right and franchise for an additional period of twenty (20) years to distribute and sell natural gas within the corporate limits of the City of Gorman.

Ed. Note: The above release brings to mind that "Gasser" Burgess and his "gassy" personnel are a fine group of folk. Of course, "Gasser" grumbles a lot in a good natured way but is always cooperative when his cohorts are called on for civic work.

Lt. Col. John C. Hughes, who has recently returned from Viet Nam. He is a veteran of more than 200 air strikes. A veteran of World War 11, his unique nickname "Corn Cob6" was derived from his constant combat companion, a firmly-planted black stemmed corn cob pipe.

Lt. Col. Hughes implored delegates to "stop looking at Viet Nam through red, white and blue glasses which Americans typically wear when viewing the world situation." When considering the affairs of South Asia he said, Americans "must put on bamboo glasses." He told of his concern for the "inappropriate" questions constantly asked by Americans. Americans were, he said, well versed on what is happening in Viet Nam, but their view of the problems there were not realistic, set in the context of the country's history, geography and peoples.

Hughes described the war in Viet Nam as one in which all the strategy, the rules of classis warfare must be "thrown out the window." The nature of the enemy and of the terrain, he said, require the formulation of a new series of guidelines.

Other speakers included Gerald O'Conner, officer in charge of port of entry activities, U. S. Border Patrol.

Highlight of entertainment was when the convention delegates were guests of the Humble Oil Company for an exciting La Noche del Tigre (the night of the tiger) a reception and dinner at the fabulous Jockey Club and Juarez Race Track in Mexico.

We did not leave any of our money at the track, but Theresa and I did pick a number of winners. Another night across the border was held Saturday night at the famous Camino Real Hotel. This one we missed, because of the long trip home and having to leave early.

A tour of El Paso was on the agenda for Saturday. The "Mr. X" contest winner is always popular event and the "Sourdough Singers" from Matador, Texas provided wonderful entertainment.

Hosts for our dinners and luncheons were Beeman Fisher of Fort Worth and Texas Electric Service Company, The U. S. Brewers Association, Austin, and the Licensed Beverage Distributors, Inc. of Austin.

The 88th. Convention will be held in Galveston on June 22-24, 1967.

We made the trip home by way of Hobbs, N. M. and the scenic view of El Captian Mountain near Carlsbad, N. M., the highest mountain point in Texas, is a must for all tourists.

The convention was a huge success and I returned with a greater sense of dedication of duty to news coverage of our town and surrounding communities.

?Theresa and I are making plans now to attend the Galveston Convention, and we are sure we can get Gene to go along with us.

Traffic Lines are LIFE LINES!

Throw a line to a drowning person and with all his remaining strength he reaches for it—to save his life. Throw one or two solid lines down the length of a highway, and too many drivers ignore it in their hapless hurry to get somewhere fast.

But those, too, are life lines. Road markings at danger points are put there to save lives. Passing on the wrong side of the road, violating right-of-way, cutting in, passing on curves or on the right, failing to signal a turn or intention to pass and other reckless acts are utter disregard for life. Traffic gamblers guilty of these violations cost the lives of 11,000 persons and injured more than half a million others in 1950—and the toll increased last year.

Have you ever been guilty of crossing a traffic line when it wasn't necessary? Have you taken the right-of-way when it wasn't yours to take? How often have you seen a squeeze coming and breathed a sigh of relief when Lady Luck gave you one more chance?

The life line in the palm of your hand doesn't contemplate violent death on the highway. Your future may be written—or written off—in the way you drive. You—and only you—can make your driving life line longer.

Drive As Though Your Life Depends On It -- IT DOES!

If you read the information above, did you notice that it gave statistics for 1950?

50,000 people were killed in auto accidents in 1965!

Will YOU be listed with the 1966 total?

Many people are under the false impression that with some diets you can eat all you want to and still lose weight. This is not true.

Even if your diet is based on some "special foods" or it limits carbohydrates to 60 grams per day, it is still impossible to eat all you want and lose weight at the same time.

The simple principle of dieting is that when — and only when — less calories are taken in than used by a person's body it is possible to lose weight.

A high-fat, low carbohydrate diet may cause quick loss of weight for a short time. However, most of the loss is water that has been drawn out of the body tissues. There's little loss of actual fat. Also, a high-fat, low-carbohydrate diet causes an imbalance of nutrients in the body which can have harmful effects.

Other devices to make dieting easier, such as making spaghetti thinner or, the hole in the doughnut larger, or cutting slices of bread thinner, are also illusions. There is really no easy way to control weight. It simply takes long sustained effort and will-power.

The best reducing diet is a low-calorie, nutritionally balanced diet of varied foods. No one food is fattening unless too much of it is eaten. So, cut out the extras, such as extra sugar, fat and second helpings, and stick with the balanced diet.

Never attempt to lose weight without first having a medical checkup. Your family doctor can prescribe the correct calorie intake for you to help you to lose weight safely.

Washington, D. C. — "TRUTH IN PACKAGING" was a subject of this release in February of this year. Legislation beamed to the proposition that food products should not be labeled to mislead the purchasing public may be up for consideration in the near future.

THE TREND NOWADAYS, both in the administration of Laws already on the books and those proposed, emphasize favor and protection for the "consumer." Actually, of course, we are all consumers, and there are more of us than there are manufacturers, packagers, and so forth.

GENERALLY THE ASSUMPTION SEEMS TO BE that the housewife buys a product and gets cheated. There is already a complete Department set up in Government to see that this is not done, but a majority of the Congress may decide that further Law is needed to provide machinery for greater protection. They say that there are too many items on the market and not enough information about them to permit the consumer to make an independent choice. Some apparently feel that we are unable to read labels and tell the good from the bad. In other words, emphasis is on the assumption that we are being sold the sizzle instead of the steak.

ACTUALLY, A PRODUCT IS WHAT IT DOES. A freezer, for instance, is not the sum of its nuts and bolts but something designed to save food, time and effort. A steak stripped of its sizzle is a bloody piece of meat from the carcass of a steer. Where the usage of a product is self-evident, such as the wood screw, little more need be said.

PROBABLY WE HAVE ALL EXPERIENCED DISAPPOINTMENT and a feeling of being cheated with a number of things we buy and expect to get its maximum benefit. Power sprays and pressurized toothpaste which runs out of power before the can is empty is a favorite gripe of a lot of us. It is real convenient while it works but provoking that we can not get our money's worth by using it all.

BE THIS AS IT MAY, SOMEONE HAS GOT TO decide what is adequate "information." Where does it begin and end? How thorough must it be for those of us who are not too perceiving or patient enough to find out about the product?

THIS PROPOSITION MIGHT BE TAKEN A GREAT DEAL further in some things other than food. Antiques could easily furnish a good example. Depending on one's knowledge, today's trash might be tomorrow's treasure. The person who paid $5 for an 18-inch piece of barbed wire may really have known what he was doing. Over the years there have been several hundred different types of barbed wire and some of it has now become a collector's item under something called "industrial archeology."

INCIDENTALLY, IF WE WANT TO GO IN FOR "GADGETRY" in products, we can buy soap manufactured in Yokohama with a message that remains visible down to the last sliver. It is described as having messages on thin layers which are then pressed together to make the full bar. Not being sure of what the advantages are, one would suppose that youngsters might be able to do their homework while taking a bath.

DRUG LABELING AND BENEFICIAL CLAIMS is a separate legislative issue from that involving food products. Scientific advances have brought so many drugs on the market recently that even the experts are unable to keep up with them. The Food and Drug Administration has grown by leaps and bounds, and Committees of Congress are constantly inquiring into the effects new drugs are having on the consuming public. In some cases it is a serious matter of health by reason of side effects — in some cases worse than the disease it is supposed to cure. All these things have to be policed and the authority for it must be furnished. The fact remains, however, that it is going to be difficult to guarantee by law that the individual is always going to get his money worth in everything he buys. By and large there is a high integrity on the part of businessmen in our various communities and there are few who are not willing to take serious note of their customers' complaints. This may be the best answer to Truth in Packaging and labeling of products. He, too, is a buyer from his source of supplies.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

The cost of waging even a minor war is going up.

For now, in addition to the expenditures required to keep a force opposing the hostiles, there is also the costs brought about by furnishing protection on the home front from those opposing military action.

Leaving aside all the learned and not so learned, discussions on the rights of protest in a democratic form of society, it is perhaps time that C. W. Harder someone gave some serious thought to taxpayer rights.

The example of a couple of peace marches in Berkeley illustrate this situation. It is claimed that extra police forces to keep order during the second "peace" march cost local government $80,000.

This is an interesting case history. The first march was brought to a standstill by a small group of motorcycling "Hell's Angels" intimidating thousands of demonstrators. The conduct and habits of these bully boys is quite open to question, but exceeding considerations of personalities here are the principles involved.

When the second march was planned, city authorities refused to issue a permit for a parade, in order to avoid rioting, and, or, extra expense to prevent such potential rioting.

However, a Federal judge over ruled the local civic authority. © National Federation of Independent Business and, furthermore ordered that the demonstrators be protected on the basis they would only be exercising a constitutional right to protest.

Now of course, there are some who claim that inasmuch as a Federal judge interfered in local civic affairs, Federal troops should have been brought in to preserve order, which incidentally, was perfectly kept by the local police. However, there is a substantial constitutional question involved in employing Federal armed forces in local situations. This could result in some very serious consequences.

Yet, there should be some constitutional guarantees for the local taxpayers, especially tax paying home owners.

It seems beyond all reason that if the Federal government not only takes a course of action that is objected to by some of the people, and then by word, deed and action condones and perhaps even encourages protests against that policy, local taxpayers should not be left holding the bag.

Neither is it sound for local governments to look toward Washington for money to pay these costs.

Thus, perhaps the best solution is a recognition that local safety is a local matter, and if local authorities decide a demonstration can endanger safety, their decision should be final. After all, if people wish to protest, they don't have to jam up city streets. There is plenty of wide open public lands where they can march until their arches fall flat without any costs.

Good News For Weight Watchers Who Enjoy Eating Tasty Peanuts

According to Gwendolyn Clyatt of the Texas A&M Extension Service, there is good news for the weight watchers in the form of a new process developed to remove half the calories from peanuts. The first low-calorie peanuts are being introduced in stores following the adoption of a process that squeezes the peanuts to remove much of the peanut oil and restore them to normal shape and size.

The peanuts retain their original flavor and high protein content, but are lighter in color than conventional peanuts, are slightly less salty and have a distinct crunchy texture.

The peanuts are expected soon to be available in the local stores.

In A Word...
Addict
Physicians and pharmacists, who are familiar with the tight hold that narcotic drugs exert upon the addict, will appreciate the derivation of this word. It is derived from the Latin addicere, a legal word meaning to "deliver by sentence of the court." The addict is so strongly bound to his habit that it often seems that he has been sentenced to a lifetime of addiction.

Be sure and see your doctor.
