LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Joe:

In the March 30, 1978 issue of the Gorman Progress you carried an article by Edgar Higginbotham, part of which are untrue.

First, the article stated that the South Eastland County Hospital District, of which he is President, had spent $200,000.00 to maintain the Hospital and the Blackwell Clinic. This is not true, as the Hospital District has not spent any money to maintain the Blackwell Clinic. The South Eastland County Hospital District has never spent any money to subsidize the Blackwell Clinic or to subsidize or maintain either Dr. A.E. Pino or Dr. J.R. Canut. Since the new Hospital was built these Doctors have paid in to the District rent on the Clinic each month. At the present time they are only paying $250.00 per month rent.

Second, the statement by Edgar Higginbotham that the South Eastland County Hospital District had spent a small sum to subsidize Dr. Flores is not true. As of April 1, 1978, the Hospital District has spent $30,000.00 to subsidize Dr. Flores. This includes $4,000. per month salary, plus free office rent plus a receptionist and a nurse. The District is continuing to pay the insurance for Dr. Flores. Thirty thousand dollars is not a small sum. At the first meeting with Dr. Flores, Richard Arnold told the Board that it would cost between $12,000.00 and $15,000.00, to get him to come to Gorman.

I do not think that the Tax Payers of this District will or can continue to support this type of operation. The above expenses do not include administrative charges.

Respectfully,
signed, Keith Whitt

C. L. GARRETT ATTENDS DEFENSIVE DRIVING SEMINAR

Mr. and Mrs. Garrett were in San Antonio three days last week where Charlie attended a Defensive Driving Seminar for Area VII. Area VII is composed of Texas, New Mexico, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Arkansas. Mr. Garrett is one of twenty Instructor-Trainers in the five state area. Charlie completed his training on this work in September, 1977 and has officially been appointed as a teacher of teachers for 1978.

Charlie has been assigned all towns in zip codes 764, 768 and 795-796 which covers all or part of thirty one counties. He is responsible for training and retraining Defensive Driving Teachers in this area. After the training of instructors, he must monitor them as they teach their first two classes and then recommend that they be accepted or rejected as instructors. This program is designed to assure good instructors in the DDC.

At the seminar, all phases of administration of the program were covered and plans set up to try to recruit more instructors. The DDC is one of the fastest growing safety movements in the U.S. today. In the near future, Mr. Garrett will be conducting workshops and seminars for instructors in his area. If any of you have had any experience in teaching or working with people and are interested in Defensive Driving, Mrs. Garrett would be happy to talk to you about becoming an instructor.

Plans are under way to try to get a regular DDC in Gorman in the near future. If any one is interested in taking the course, leave your name at the City Office, The Gorman Progress, or call 734-2573.

PAT INGRAM MAKES STATEMENT TO PCT. 5 VOTERS

As your candidate in the Democratic Primary for this office I feel that it is my duty to inform you of my feelings about this office. First, I would like to explain some of my reasons for asking for your vote and trust in electing me to this office. It has been said that the people of Pct. 5 do not have enough interest in having a Justice of the Peace, and that this office should be done away with. I say that the people do need and deserve a Justice of the Peace. As you know our former Justice of the Peace did not file for re-election. I would like to let the citizens know that I have enough interest in this office that I paid the $200.00 filing fee to have my name place on the ballot.

I have had the privilege and opportunity to be associated with Law Enforcement in Eastland County through my husband who was a former Justice of the Peace. I am familiar with the duties of this office. I feel that I know the problems in Law Enforcement and would appreciate your trust in letting me help solve them.

I would like for the people to know that I do not consider this office as a source of income for the county or state, but is strictly to administer Justice. Each case warrants a separate and individual disposition whether severe or light according to offense and circumstance. I feel that I can be fair and honest in all dispositions of cases.

When elected I will have the office in town and will have a police radio installed in my car so I will be easily accessible to the public and Law Enforcement officers at all times.

I would like to thank you and will appreciate your vote in the May Democratic Primary.

Patsy J. Ingram
Candidate for Justice of the Peace Pct. 5
Eastland County

ON THE PASSING OF MABEL

During my three years at Lawdale there has been much time to consider both life and death. There were days when in pain, and the hours when I was confused that I cried, I prayed, "Oh Lord God, take me now." And yet, there were good times when an aid, a nurse, a friend, the laundress, the house keeper, the cook, a minister, a boy came by to brighten my day with a cheery "Hello Mabel."

Having lived and loved in good health for more than eight decades I found it most difficult to bend my pride and accept the necessary help from others. But the aides had way of joshing me out of my bad humor.

And now I am old, ninety years. I can not read, my vision is blurred. My memory serves me no more. The dear ones have come, some in body and some in spirit. My doctor knows my time here is short. The nurses are aware. They are letting me wait in peace. The girls are caring for me so tenderly. And they are young, do they keep hoping I will again awaken to life — that I will answer their sweet calls of "Mabel, Mabel."

But I am passing so easily and I can see the way ahead — even better than looking back. You see I know lots of folks over there.

In this fleeting moment I open my eyes for you.

by for now,
Love, Mabel

SCHOOL HILL NEWS
 BY MRS. BILL RIDELL

Patsy Moon and Valera Brown did a lot of visiting on Wednesday. Some of whom were Odessa Outlaw of Lingleville and Tay Brown of Stephenville.

Sunday visitors with us were Tommy and Jane Musick and Ruby Stokes of Lingleville, Gene, Jeane, Niki Grimshaw, and Jack Blackwell of Ranger, Chuck Botik and Brooks Symark of Dublin.

Ray and Tommy Henshee of Lingleville visited recently with Woody and Lurene Kiker.

Rodger, Joan, Slena and follows:

MONDAY: Orange juice, scrambled eggs, bacon, hot biscuits and milk.

TUESDAY: Orange juice, toast, honey, milk.

WEDNESDAY: Orange juice, rice, sausage patties and milk.

THURSDAY: Orange juice, muffins, honey, milk.

FRIDAY: Orange juice, creamed turkey on hot biscuit and milk.

Stacy Elston of Lingleville visited on Sunday with Ralph and Aline Elston.

Don't know if some of the mothers in our community will live long enough to get the kids grown up and in long pants or not. Ann Straude, Patsy Moon, Valera Brown and I are taking turns taking the kids to Dublin to attend drivers education. You can talk about something that nerve-racking and this is it. When you get eight kids in the car with you, all yelling and talking at the same time, you've got a problem. After the first day, they are telling you how to drive. I can't even run the windshield wipers correctly any more. You aren't supposed to cut corners, never go twenty-six and a half miles per hour in a twenty-six zone. You're supposed to make your signal to turn exactly HERE. No you went two feet too far. All this comes at six-thirty every morning. I haven't got but one eye open at that time of day.

I felt much better though when I saw the teacher that first day of driving, when he screeched to a stop, back at school - All safe and - well no, I guess not so sound. He was down on his knees in the front seat, praying and crying at the same time. And my big son crawled out from under the wheel. A grin on his face from ear to ear. My! I was proud that was worth it all, and I'm sure the teacher is just as proud as I am. Where ever he may be).

I have heard that he just retired early, but I'm afraid its sickness. He looked terribly pale the last we saw of him.

Jim Jamison's military career switched from horseback to air

By MIKE REDDELL

It took thousands of years for soldiers to switch from using the horse during wartime to the airplane. Jim Jamison did it in 18 months.

At the onset of World War II, Jamison found himself horseback, commanding a U.S. Army Cavalry unit patrolling the U.S.-Mexico border.

"Eighteen months from the time I got off my horse, I was flying a bombing mission over Romania," Jamison recalls.

"I always wanted to fly," the present owner of Jamison Motor Company said. He got his wish—by logging 32 missions at the controls of a B-24 "Liberator" bomber.

Like so many others who served in war, Jamison's pre-war and wartime duties differed greatly.

A 1939 Texas A&M graduate, Jamison came to Seguin that year to open the vocational education department at Seguin High School.

During that time, Jamison held a reserve commission in the Army and commanded a National Guard Cavalry unit in Seguin. Comprised entirely of local members, the troop numbered about 100.

Once the war began, he was transferred to Fort Ringo (about 90 miles south of Laredo) to head the cavalry unit with the intent of controlling traffic along the border—"A security measure."

The army eventually disbanded the cavalry. "I don't think they were ever used," Jamison reflects. But by the time the cavalry was broken up, Jamison was jockeying the newest form of warfare.

Jamison doesn't like to talk much about his combat experiences. Rather, he directs the conversation to places like Brazil, North Africa and Italy.

"Most of us," in the bomber group, Jamison says, "had never been out of the U.S. It was a brand new experience."

Although the places were a prelude to his missions, Jamison reflects on eating fruit in Brazil, crossing the dunes of the Sahara Desert and "freezing" in Marrakesh.

Jamison, with the rank of major, eventually flew missions out of Italy.

He's impressed with the careful coordination of U.S. Army Air Corps (now the U.S. Air Force) operations and the precision planning that went into the various missions.

One of the key missions Jamison flew was the bombing of oil refineries, desperately needed to fuel the German war machine, in southern Europe.

The refineries weren't easy targets, Jamison points out, noting the facilities often were buried in subterranean concrete compartments.

"They seemed to always know we were coming," Jamison said, suggesting the Germans may have had a proficient spy system. When the U.S. bombers came, he added, there always were smoke screens to disguise the refinery sites. Didn't matter though, since the bombers used radar.

Ironically, Jamison later met the petroleum engineer, an in-law, who rebuilt the refineries after the war, that Jamison helped destroy.

Of all those missions, Jamison never was downed or even lost an engine.

"Lots of holes, but no one was ever injured," he said.

When the war ended, Jamison helped

JOE GRAY SAYS

As we were growing up my parents saw to it that we were well trained in the basic fundamentals of Christianity. Mother used to read to Rex and me from the Bible long before we could read for ourselves and she even had us to learn the names of the books of the Bible in order by heart. Rex can still recite all books of both the old and New Testament without a bobble.

Dad also taught from the very earliest that one of the most precious things a man could have was a good name. I took a lifetime to build a good name, he said, but one could be destroyed in an instant.

I can well remember Dad telling from time to time about the old fundamentals. Always pay your debts and be sure to remember than any time you signed a note for another that you were just as liable for the payment of that note as the individual who actually received the money. Dad explained that the lender in this instance was making the loan on the credit of another and he could look for payment to the one who guaranteed payment.

As Dad taught us about honesty and virtue he also talked about responsibility and doing a good job at whatever we attempted to do.

Dad was strong believer in using the best tools possible and said that a good workman always kept his tools in good repair. Sometimes it became necessary, he said, for us to spend money for a good tool although it might, it might be used for the good of an employer. He said a good bookkeeper could do a better job with a good fountain pen that he could with a cheap pen. In that case it was to the employee's benefit to buy a good fountain pen for himself, he said.

In actual life, I noticed that one of the best typists I ever saw, a man who could beat out about 100 words per minute on a manual typewriter always furnished his own typewriter no matter where he worked or for whom he worked.

I think it is a fact, that most good court reporters use their own typewriters and use them for courtroom work. With this in mind I have never been adverse to equip my self and my office with the best of tools.

There were some things that the district clerks office of this county needed when I took over as the district clerk. I therefore used one of my own personal typewriters in that office. A Smith Carona, a Victor 10 key adding machine and the most overworked machine of them all, a copying machine.

The county's copying machine furnished to the districts clerks office is a wet-water copier that takes minutes to dry, and thus is very slow. I saw the need for a fast dry copy machine when I took office. But I didn't sit around a beamon the fact that the commissioner's court didn't see fit to do something about the copy machine.

I bought a 3M 209 Automatic copier and paid for it out of my own pocket, but it is my machine not the county's. I have also spent over $800 in my own money for paper for that machine before the county starting paying for it, but that is just part of the game of doing the best job with the best tools available.

The using of an instant copy machine has made another advancement in the modernization of the office. Before I took office the minutes had been typed into the minute books of the court. This is a costly process and all copy work on a typewriter has to be proof-read to check any error's that might have been made in copying.

A copy machine, however, eliminates the need for proofreading and frees a worker to do something else more important.

The minutes of the court are basically all orders of

SENIOR CITIZENS

Well, I sure believe Spring has sprung. Jessie Lee, Purnia Fae and I were in Spur over the weekend and it was 96 degrees there Saturday evening and over 90 degrees at 2 p.m. when we left there this evening. No rain out that way. So it is very dry there now.

I saw a tractor pulling a — I don't know what it was, unless it was a "Galley Whacker." It was taking a strip under 100 feet wide and was? You name it. It was the widest strip taken that I have ever seen since my old days in the middle of the 60's. I saw a cat (not Lukes kind) in the western part of Kansas or Nebraska pulling five, sixteen foot grain drills, sowing wheat. They would take a swath wider than my garden.

The gardens are going just fine. Fats and Murel sure have a nice garden. And that Poke Salad. Rosa holder ought to always use oney that material and equipment furnished by the Commissioners Court. That, however, is the difference between an office holder and a public servant.

I had rather be a public servant any day than just an office holder.

I'll see you again next week.

I notice where Mr. Carter wants to limit the wage rise to 5 percent. I wonder why? Just last year he raised all his officials 25 percent then 7.1 percent last fall. All members of Congress and of the Federal Courts were raised more than 30 percent. Why the miners this month 12 percent raise each year for three years. (This includes fringe benefits). The steel workers received a raise last year. In Foreign aid about 60 percent and most of it goes to Countries that are against America. He wants to give Panama over one Billion dollars to take the Panama Canal. Is that inflation. Congress has appropriated 25 billion dollars for jobs. One Billion has been wasted or stolen. Not bad they say. Tho any kind of "Farm Program" is a waste of money, so he says.

Carter said when running for office he was going to deregulate oil and gas. has he forgotten his promise or was that just political Bull?

You know that is like they claim the Jews Crucified Christ. The Romans Cast lots for Christ's clothes. The Romans are the ones that put the spear in his side while he was on the cross. Herod, The Roman Ruler was the one that turned Christ over to the mob. The Romans ordered another to help Christ carry the cross together. So it could be that when the Romans arrested Christ in the "The Garden" they were the ones that helped to perpetuate many countries before this. So I believe and always have believed the Romans were as quilty as anyone.

My that rain last Sunday night was so wonderful. We are so thankful for it. Tho it has been dry so long that we need a lot of rain. We need rain to fill tanks, lakes and a lot of water under ground for the people that are irrigating. We sure do not need any of that stuff called hail or cyclones. Just a lot of refreshing rain.

Remember in some twenty days we have an election. Study the one you want in this important office.

You can do it!

Weatherstripping and caulking around doors and windows stop energy leaks.

In time, even tiny air cracks can add up to large heating and cooling losses. But sealing those energy-robbing cracks isn't all that hard. You can do it yourself with Texas Electric's free booklets on caulking and weatherstripping. They're part of a series we're offering to energy-conscious homeowners who want to make their homes energy efficient. Using basic tools and readily available materials, even unhandy people can caulk and weatherstrip their own homes to keep energy costs down.

Other booklets in the series cover insulation, storm windows, ductwork, and general maintenance. Just call us, or ask for the booklets on the comments section of your electric bill. See how easy it is to make your home energy efficient.
