The rain came pouring down in this area on Saturday evening to the tune of 2 1/2 to a little over 3 inches. It washed some of the peanuts rather bad in places, but overall the forms were well pleased with the moisture. The moisture was much needed.

-J-

Thanks for making things easy on Jake and Herman last week while yours truly enjoyed a week entertaining granddaughter Jacquelyn, and her mother Joetta Schuman and Doris Bennett on a trip to Dollywood in Tennessee. We had a really great time and it was great being with the family. I guess Jake and Herman did rather good as so far I haven't gotten any complaints from anyone. We returned home by way of Birmingham Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana, via IH20. Of course it was a tough job entertaining the granddaughter.

-J-

Work is progressing real well at the new restaurant location across the street from us. The building are being renovated to set up the kitchen and dining room areas. Things are progressing well and it is anticipated that the new restaurant should be open in about a month. Folks are really looking forward to the opening.

-J-

Also there is some remodeling going on in the buildings downtown that have been empty in preparation for the opening of Antique, Craft and Gift Shops for folks to shop in when they are in town. Things are beginning to happen in Gorman and it's great!

-J-

The Miss Gorman and Little Miss Gorman contests are in full swing now. Be sure and support your favorites in these contests as all proceeds go to the Chamber of Commerce, which, in turn, is spent on civic improvements, etc, in Gorman. So pitch in and help the young ladies of your choice. The contest ends on Saturday June 24th with the coronations at the high school auditorium.

'95 GHS Prom A Success - Thank You Donators

The 1995 Gorman High School Jr. Class would like to express their appreciation to the following people and businesses who donated prizes and money to the Gorman High School Prom. Because of the prize and cash drawings, the majority of attending students stayed at the prom until it was over. And as a result, the contributions helped the jr. class in reaching goals of providing an exciting and safe atmosphere for students. You who donated deserve a BIG thanks for not only this success but for the extended enthusiasm of the evening!

KOKOMO NEWS

ZELDA JORDAN -- PHONE 639-2289

Another thunderstorm rumbled through our community on Saturday night with high winds and a lot of rain. There was 3.2 inches in my rain gauge, and that seemed to be the general report in this area. The rain fell very fast, and did a lot of washing damage in the fields.

The cool north wind felt good on Sunday and Monday after a very hot day on Saturday.

The Choir of the Kokomo Baptist Church with Glynda Bond at the piano, rendered the special music at the Sunday morning service. Visitors were Shannon Bond of Copperas Cove, Brian Bond of Bryan, Kristal and Billy Bob Brown of Carbon. Sarah Murphy of Garland was a visitor in Sunday School.

Those from the Kokomo Baptist Church going to the Heritage Manor in Gorman for the afternoon church service on Sunday were Bro. Clarence and Leona Wilson, Nancy Hendricks, Johnnie B. Griffith, Jimmy Little, Hope Joiner, and Ima Boles of Clyde. Ollie Halcomb, a resident of the home was pianist for the song service.

TSC Decision Could Hold TU Rates Down

TU Electric officials say a decision today by the Texas Supreme Court could help hold rates down for its customers and enhance Texas' competition with other states for new businesses and jobs.

In a case involving GTE-Southwest, Inc., the court ruled that the Public Utility Commission did not have to consider losses from unregulated affiliate companies when determining the federal tax liability of the utility itself. The court also ruled that the PUC was not required to take away the company's tax benefits resulting from disallowed expenses.

Although the PUC did not take either of those actions in the GTE case, an appeals court later ruled that it should have. The Supreme Court today overturned the appeals court ruling and upheld the PUC's original decision, which was consistent with traditional tax treatment.

"We have felt all along that this is the only fair decision the court could make after studying the facts," said Marc Moseley, TU Electric controller. "This decision by the state's highest civil court is important for several reasons.

"First, it allows utilities to avoid a violation of IRS rules that would cost them and their customers billions of dollars in tax benefits that are currently being used to reduce rates.

"The ruling also reflects fair regulatory treatment by giving federal tax benefits to the party that paid the cost leading to the benefit - whether that party is the customer or the shareholder.

"The decision also ensures that the treatment of taxes in our state will be consistent with the rest of the nation, and it removes a significant amount of uncertainty about utility regulation in Texas."

While some consumer activists claim that giving all tax benefits to customers would lower rates, that would not be the result at all, Moseley said.

If TU Electric were forced to violate federal tax rules by following some recent unorthodox PUC and court decisions, we would have to send $1.3 billion immediately to the IRS. Then, in direct contrast to what some consumer groups claim, TU Electric customers' rates would rise by $150 million annually as the company increased its debt to make up the loss:

"Such a scenario would harm both individual customers and Texas as a whole as it competes with other states in the economic development arena," Moseley said.

These tax issues are being debated during the current session of the Texas Legislature.

For many years, and until recently, the Texas PUC followed the traditional tax procedures upheld today by the Supreme Court. In recent years, however, the PUC and some courts have ruled in favor of different methods that would have forced the state's utilities to violate IRS rules.

Local Lender Earns Top Honor

A local agricultural lending cooperative was one of 13 recognized by the Farm Credit Bank of Texas (FCBT) last week for outstanding performance in 1994.

Production Credit Associations (PCAs) receiving the achievement awards were Agricultural PCA based in Tyler, Texas; Amarillo PCA; Coastal Plains PCA, Robstown, Texas; PCA of Eastern New Mexico, Clovis, N.M.; Heart of Texas PCA, Waco, Texas; Lubbock PCA; Northwest Louisiana PCA, Acadia, La; Plainview PCA; Rolling Plains PCA; Stamford, Texas; PCA of South Texas, Harlingen, Texas; PCA of Southern New Mexico, Las Cruces, N.M.; Stephenville PCA; and Wichita Falls PCA.

PCAs are borrower-owned lending cooperatives that make short-and intermediate-term loans to farmers and ranches.

The award-winning associations were recognized for maintaining financially strong organizations and high-quality loan portfolios. To receive an award, an association had to achieve rigid financial performance standards for credit quality, capital, earnings and liquidity.

The Farm Credit Bank of Texas is affiliated with 18 PCAs in Louisiana, New Mexico and Texas and 48 Federal Land Bank Associations in Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas. With $4.2 billion in assets and nearly $3.7 billion in loans outstanding to 52,000 members, the bank and associations comprise the largest agricultural lending network in the five-state region.
