What Do You Want To Know?

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
(By Madame Miriam Lovine)

Q.—Are my husband's business trips in reality secret meetings with the woman he had an affair with some time ago?

A.—Your intuition is correct. There is nothing you can do to prevent this infatuation from continuing.

Q.—Why did L. G. and B. R. marry? L. L.

A.—This couple married because they followed their impulses after a week end party at the home of their mutual friend. The marriage will not be successful.

Q.—My horoscope is really the most interesting life reading I have ever had and the questions were answered entirely to my satisfaction. Enclosed find $1 for my husband's horoscope. His birth date is June 2, 1903. Please answer one more question for me through the Daily Herald. Does my sister-in-law intend to sell her property? L. S. B.

A.—As it appears to me your sister-in-law is very anxious to sell her property and will put the deal through within thirty days. She will pay you the money she owes you.

Q.—Will I make a success of the business I recently started? R. J. P.

A.—Concentration reveals you will be disappointed in the immediate results of your new business, but persistence is the best plan for you and patience will reward you with the profits you desire. Continue to advertise and contact your old customers. Success will be yours.

Q.—Why am I so unlucky? A. E. R.

A.—You have been under the evil influence of Saturn but you also have not been fighting against your bad luck. Substitute courage for despair; your bad luck will become a relic of the past.

Q.—How may I become more popular with the young men? I. S. B.

A.—Try indifference and naturalness. Above all don't try to be popular; be charming and courteous; an interested friend; but choose your companions carefully. A personal horoscope of your life is what you really need to determine your weak points and how to overcome them. This week I am sending personal horoscopes by mail with the answers to three private questions for one dollar. Take advantage of this opportunity to learn what is before you and how to make the most of your life.

Q.—How soon will I get married? J. Y.

A.—Concentration reveals a successful marriage for you in 1935 to S. R. W. Happiness will be yours.

Q.—Enclosed find $1 for my daughter's horoscope. The three questions to be answered privately are in the self addressed stamped envelope. Her birth is Sept. 20, 1908. Please answer one more question for me through the columns of the Daily Herald. I am enclosing $2 for same. When will our estate be divided? E. B. B.

A.—The division of your uncle's estate will be completed in March of 1934. I see a slight disappointment for you in regard to the amount you will receive, but it will bring you financial freedom and independence.

Q.—Will I ever see my true love again? I. O. J.

A.—You should forget your infatuation for this man. He is not worthy of you. He will not return.

S. B. You did not enclose your birth date or self-addressed stamped envelope with your order for your personal life horoscope. I will gladly rush your business to you as soon as I receive your birth date and self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Q.—Will my husband get out of the hospital in 10 days? G. G.

A.—I can only advise you to be patient and strong. Your husband will serve time. I do see that a pension will be granted him in eighteen months.

Q.—Is there a position indicated for me soon? I. P. R.

A.—You are entitled to a position from the first of January 1934. The raise in salary will be slight.

Q.—Will I remain at my present position or be transferred? Please answer in this evening's Herald. H. V.

A.—I see a change for you the first of May of 1934. The move will be to a new position.

Appointment of Houston Harte of San Angelo as new paper publisher will add another to the economy forces. The annual meeting of the 27th Tom Green county board of commissioners with the old relief commission over expense of relief administration.

Harte, appointed by Speaker Coke Stevenson, takes the place on the commission first tendered to Gene Howe, Amarillo publisher.

Much ado was raised over R. I. Westbrook's statement at Dallas that more funds would have to be secured for a special session of the state legislature. It was published, says Westbrook, without consulting him and no session was contemplated before March.

There are professions of harmony but these do not fool those who are watching closely.

A special session of the legislature must come if the present rate of spending continues. Mathematics shows that.

The legislature authorized $5,500,000 bonds. It empowered the relief commission to sell enough bonds at one time to care for a two month's estimated need. The commission would spend half of the issue during November-December. The same expenditures for January-February will leave the bond cashed-off balance until the legislature authorizes additional bond sales.

The constitutional amendment under which bond sales are authorized allows the legislature to issue $14,500,000 more.

Only one member of the three-judge court of Criminal Appeals was present last week when decisions were read. Judge O. S. Lattimore was at the Baptist State Convention and Judge Frank Hawkins was ill. The opinions had previously been approved in conference.

It is certain no lawyer will seize on absence of a quorum as a technicality for a new hearing. The court is itself the last resort in criminal cases.

Members of the House of Representatives questionnaire committee didn't begin to ask as many questions about members as it is now discovered an enterprising utility official did.

His questionnaire sought to elicit the names of banker friends of members, the member's pastimes, and his appetites.

"Does he drink intoxicants?" is one of the questions.

An admission to division representatives, assigned to get the information, directed them to get the data quietly and confidentially and to return all extra blank forms. One apparently escaped. It fell into the hands of a newspaper man.

A House Journal of the 27th Legislature (1931) details reports of such an investigation. According to it, the 40 odd clerks of a department were summoned by the chief clerk to a meeting. They learned the department head was much in debt after his campaign and in danger of losing his home. It was announced several of the clerks had to donate 10 per cent of their salaries for six months to pay off the debt. A witness testified he thought the request coming from the chief clerk and a clerk whose relations with the department head were close.

Looking in the archives of former sessions reveals a report from the same source that a bill for killing a bill that would have punished those who brought anything of value of a game of cards.

Acid Improves Wooten's Test

Unable To Swab Below 1,200 Feet; Well Had Appeared 10-Barreler

H. O. Wooten's No. 2-A W. P. Edwards in Glascock county filled 2,000 feet with oil last week after being treated with 1,000 gallons of acid, heated to a temperature of 150 degrees, and an oil load of 120 barrels, and was unable to swab the column below 1,200 feet. This indicated good production. Before the acid was run the well was estimated good for only 10 barrels of oil daily from pay at 2,150 feet with an increase at 2,185.

Drilling stopped at 2,204 feet and the hole was plugged back to 2,170 before the acid was run under 1,400 pounds pressure. At the end of 1 1/2 hours the acid was pumped down, showing that the acid had eaten its way into the limestone. 2-A Edwards is 621 feet to the southeast corner of section 17, block 33, township 2 S., range 10 E., Co. survey treatment with acid of Continental Oil Co.'s No. 2 Over in Howard county two months ago yielded its yield.

Summa Oil Co.'s 2-A Co. No. 1 in block 33, township 2 S., range 10 E., Co. survey, drilled to 2,070 feet in white limestone. Fribal Oil Co. No. 4-3 in section 16, block 32, township 2 S., range 10 E., Co. survey, reached 1,670 feet in red shale. No. 1 Drilling Co. No. 2 in section 21, block 33, township 2 S., range 10 E., Co. survey, was 1,200 feet up standard tools.

Two Glascock county tests were spudded during the week. Humble Oil & Refining Co. No. 3 Arrington, 10 feet out of the so-called west of section 22, block 33, township 2 S., range 10 E., Co. survey, was spudded on Nov. 9. Fred H. Farmer T. Zuzak's No. 1 F. G. Osheer, 1,650 feet from the pay, is a west line of section 4, block 31, township 2 S., range 10 E., Co. survey, was spudded Nov. 7 and had drilled past 80 feet.

The administration is far from ready for stabilization yet. Very shortly that fact may bring on a merry battle over the general subject of debts, domestic and foreign.

1936—

The latest rumor to get started in the political hot stove league concerns a gentleman named John Winant, governor of New Hampshire. Gov. Winant, Princeton and Dartmouth graduate, is 44, has a fine E. F. record (aviation) founded the future.

Ford— Both friends and enemies of NRA think Henry Ford has overplayed his hand in laying off men and putting the blame on code requirements.

General Johnson's mild rejoinder that an exception should be made to prevent the lay-off seems to have been the right medicine. Long-earred scouts for New York big timers report definite anti-Ford reactions from all over the map for the first time.

Ford is also putting on an act, abating a steel plant of his own so he won't have to pay the stiffer prices resulting from the steel code. Steel interests decline to get excited although they do not expect any more orders from that source before next year.

Steel—

The steel boys are beginning to wish they hadn't put on such a strenuous buy - now campaign among their customers before their code went into effect. The cutovers took it seriously and stocked up so far in advance that new orders have thinned to a whisper. Many orders still to be filled must be executed at a loss. That doesn't stop the industry from beginning to feel that the code will do it some good when readjustments are completed.

The plan to take up the heavy industry slack with public works and stimulated rail buying shows no signs of becoming a howling success. Action has been so long deferred that it will be months before the industry and its workers can benefit. Meanwhile winter is just ahead.

Progress—

Local experts insist that actual progress should not be dimmed by monetary uncertainties. They are especially impressed by the fact that neither electric power production nor carloadings have lost as much of their peak rise as was expected.

Prepare-dness—

Last week all German automobile owners were "coordinated" into the Nazi Motor Corps. American readers were puzzled as to why the Nazis should issue a letter of identification to each automobile "as a safeguard against theft." These identification papers are nothing but a revival of the pre-war German custom to equip each vehicle with a military passport stating in detail just when and where it would be used in case of war.

Hitler's latest method of relieving unemployment in the building industry is to subsidize the erection of an raid shelters in homes and factories to the extent of government grants of 60 per cent of the cost. The subsidies will be paid partly in 6 year bonds, partly in tax reductions. A special fund of more than a billion dollars has been created for this.

Dumping—

Profits made by Germans through the issuance of scrip to American bond creditors will be used to enable German exporters to dump merchandise abroad. The government will sell this scrip to exporters at half price and redeem it at par "if merchandise is scheduled for sale with depreciated currency". This is principally aimed at us.

Oil—

Price-fixing in the oil industry will be accompanied by a marked stiffening in production restrictions. Secretary Ickes has been fairly lenient to violators up to now but local oil men say those days are over and most of them are backing him.

Electrification—

Railway circles here are watching electrification developments abroad. They say that by 1943 the only railway station in Paris to be used by steam locomotives will be the Gare du Nord.

Railroads Of State Launch Bid For Fares

Application Made For Another Reduction In Passenger Rates

AUSTIN (UP)—Texas railroads have launched a determined fight to win back passenger traffic from private automobiles and motor busses.

Close on announcement of installation of stream line speed train service came an application to the State Railroad Commission for authority to reduce passenger rates. The authority was granted immediately, yesterday, to take effect one day after publication by the new rates. This publication will be coincident with announcement of reduced interstate fares, and will not be later than December 1.

Beside cutting the chair car fare from 25 a mile to two cents, the new rates will eliminate pullman surcharges and allow travel in a pullman for a three cent a mile passenger fare plus the normal pullman tariff.

Stopovers for 30 days are to be allowed on one way tickets. Round trip tickets with ten-day limit will be sold for one and a third of the one way rate. Round trip tickets good for six months will be sold for one and two thirds of the one way rate.

Week-end special rates of one fare plus 25 cents for a round trip are to be dropped.

Pres. Roosevelt, Smilingly Facing Volcanic Fires Of Discontent, Seen As Growing Figure In World History

SEETHINGS By Burton Kline For The National Whirligig

Once before this column paid respectful attention to the smiling gentleman who lives at the most important address in the country—500 Pennsylvania Avenue, Washington.

How he managed as Governor of New York was described together with how he got into the Presidency. It also was hinted that his boyish smile might be screening more of a President than is generally imagined—that it might be as well to walk around him and take his real measure.

That is now still more sharply indicated. Daily the smiling gentleman discloses more of his character. Some call it change, some growth. Call it how you will, he begins to be more than the 32nd President of the United States. He takes on the aspects of a figure in history. For under our nose history is being made, and this man is making it.

Leaf over your history books and find any time when the country was more highly charged with all the seethings needed to blow it to bits. Two great explosions have occurred here before—the Revolution and the Civil War. Both were the result of subterranean fires, world-wide that happened to belch forth in this nation.

Again these volcanic fires of discontent are busy and have found their vents, together with the men able to turn them to account—in Italy Mussolini, in Russia Lenin and Trotsky, in Germany Hitler.

The mill begins to be warm with them here. If they break through how will Mr. Roosevelt handle them?

If this has the sound of fall talk, have a look at current events—beater underneath them—and see what they mean.

Here is a people cut off by only four years from a time when they made things hum. They know they live it in them to do it again and these years—mere minutes in historical time but an eternity of agony and loss and personal bitterness—have made them mad to be it.

One year ago they were afraid of sitting helplessly while little things came and that little came wrong. Action was the cry. Anyone not afraid to start it?

Now the country has found its own and has put its own nation with a conscience.

Eight Short Months Into eight short months has been provided more concrete state planning than the last eight decades achieved. Not merely has the action been started, the action is plotted and planned ahead for years to come. You would say the wisest people should be pleased with a smiling face this. But are they? Not by a long way.

It happens that four years ago the American people died and now

More, much more will be heard of (in Whitehead, sophomore half-back at Yale. He demonstrated his ability by ploughing through the Dartmouth Indians for two touchdowns. (Associated Press Photo) have waked up in another world. Some—like the old-school magnate to be mentioned later—are not yet aware of the fact and expect to live on as if still in the old one. For them the action plan is a little too dizzy.

The rest—like labor—are only too wide awake to what has occurred. For them the action plan is too slow altogether.

Between these two underground seethings the program has been facing it not and heavy—and has ahead long enough to view to have done all its weak spots and holes. Mr. Ford finds one or thinks so. So thought the people in it and so.

So you read in your paper "Guides of NRA" "Solid Among the ranks of NRA" "Both sides of the National Whirligig have hinted for weeks of what the handling frontally will be in plan what later will do to banking, and what each will do to the other when the two of them begin to stir and battle between them that is certain to come. But one but two seasons ready to pull down the temple.

"Suppose they succeed? What's to happen? What is there besides NRA that promises piping time-again?"

Still Serious When seethings get in such questions are what the Chinese call "A remark from a wind," and a week ago matters looked serious. They still look serious. The U. S. Labor Department reports 150,000 men on strike in October, and that is a fraction of strikes unreported. In 50 cities skilled silk workers are off the job in sympathy with those on strike in Paterson, N. J. In a single city of the State of New York 10 tenneries are closed.

A week ago, when a strike was on in a certain big plant, dark corners in Washington were rife with rumors that labor, unless that strike were favorably settled, planned a general strike to close every industry in the country.

Fortunately for country Washington sees little but speaks England experienced a general strike some years ago. It was none too pleasant for all concerned. All felt there was something wrong with the bottom dollar, no such thing will happen for two reasons. It won't. The second one you shall have in a minute. The first one is that no practical labor leader thinks of such things. He washed the one in England.

The reason why there will be no general strike on the part of labor is the same reason why there will not be another on the part of management. Here is the reason:

Asked To White House During the strike in the great plant just mentioned the magnate who owned it was asked to the White House. There the following monologue—never published—occurred. The President speaking: "Mr. Blank, you run an important plant. I run the United States Government. We need your plant in operation. Will you run it yourself, or shall the government run it?"

The magnate went home, ended the strike and started the plant. Labor may listen to the same language.

Elsewhere in the world these seethings of popular discontent have had a hash of old civilizations. Here the same subterranean fires flash up. But lose no sleep. There may be a smile on the Roosevelt map—which is all to the good in those dark days. But something else is all to the good.

There's a will in the White House. (Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

Scouters, veterans of several courses will not act as scoutmaster and the class will be organized along the lines of a Boy Scout troop.

Patrol leaders will be selected from a list of scouters who have already completed the elementary course to be offered.

These workers will be given advance credit for having acted as leaders. Others will be given credit for an elements course only.

Dates for the school are Nov. 20, 22 and Nov. 27-29 and meetings will likely be held in the basement of the Methodist church.

Several scout troops are taking advantage of the splendid autumn weather to get in hikes. They are stressing the "out" in "scout."

At least two troops are holding regular patrol leader's meetings to plan program a month ahead. One troop has organized a "patrol" of its leaders, fixing the title of "Jackass Patrol" upon it.

Troop Meetings
Troop No. 1 The troop held its regular meeting with a fair turnout. The program was quite impressive with the Beavers, who were to have had charge, failed to put in their appearance.

Troop No. 4—Meeting at the regular place, the troop followed a brief business session with games. Plans are being laid for a Thanksgiving hike.

Attending were J. L. Andrews, Weldon Higony, Morris Burns, Frank Wentz, Lee Wright, W. B. Wright, Bruce Phillips, Tuman Calm, Ray McCullough. Reported by J. L. Andrews.

Troop No. 5—Twenty-five members of the troop turned out for the meeting Thursday evening.

Featuring the program was a safety drill given by Marvin House, Jr. and Charles Ray Siles.

Charles Siles led in the song "I and My Partner Patrol Leader." Ray, Tracy handled the troop in drill. All patrol leaders were present.

Friday 4 p. m. the troop will discuss a novel hike to be held but, continuing features of training, map making and nature observation.

Freshman Crop Boosts Grid Hopes Of T.C.U.

FOUR WORTH, Tex. (AP)—The next three years of football at Texas Christian University has the prospects of great success if the year's freshman squad remains intact and develops as it indicates it will.

When the youngsters gather under the tutelage of Coach Francis Schmidt next year, they will bring with them a crop of football talent that outstrips the present varsity squad.

The team finished its freshman year without defeat and repeatedly ran rough shod in practice over this year's varsity.

All-star high school players, expert runners, good blockers, plenty of weight and a phenomenal passer in Sammy Baugh of Sweetwater make up the glittering ensemble.

Baugh, an all-state high school player, contributed enormously to the freshman team's success. He is an excellent field manager and a dangerous triple threat star.

In 26-42 McClall, 190-pounder from Maestri Home, Schmidt predicted he will have one of the best ball carriers in the Southwest conference. McClall can easily make team from a "line" by blocking the line.

Other football stars are believed to be Alvin "Cotton" Morrison, full back from Temple, weighs 175 pounds and packs a tremendous punch. He rarely misses a play and is expected to be one of two backs for next year.

Sixty-Three Voices Blend In Rehearsal Of Community Choir

SIXTY-THREE enthusiastic singers turned out last week for the first rehearsal of Thanksgiving community singing and did so well at sight-reading that Mrs. Bruce Frazier, director, says she wants 75 Tuesday evening.

The men will meet half an hour earlier than the women for a special rehearsal of all their own. They will meet in Room No. 1 of the Settles Hotel at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening, and the women at 7:30.

It is not too late for additional voices, announces Mrs. Frazier. She asks that every man and woman in the city who likes to sing attend the meeting this week in order to get off on a good start for the big Thanksgiving chorus.

Farmers To Combat Turkey Thefts With Buckshot Brigade

GOV. WALKER, Tex. (AP)—Turkey thieves have meted farming communities a heralded "buckshot brigade" of vigilante volunteers to patrol their farms and neighborhoods to end south Texas turkey theft.

Within two weeks the scout band, by their own reports, has already secured numerous convictions in some communities.

Chancellor Sheriff Sam Hart believes many turkey stealing incidents are the result of individuals, but for many are organized groups of thieves who are organized into a market and then sell their wares in the market.

Chances have slipped into other, the thousands of which are to pay rewards for the capture of turkey thieves and to hire special posse outside those have often the status.

Other groups of turkey hunters are to be organized in other parts of the state, Hart says in order to reduce the loss of turkey.

He called on for a touchdown in the line, Sandy Decker from Cleburne promises to be good variety material for winter.

Humble To Try To Kill Famous Crater Well In Conroe Field

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Engineering skill has undertaken one of the most formidable jobs in oil history—killing the Conroe field's notorious crater well.

The well in the center of the field, has been flowing uncontrolled and without interruption since June 19, sometimes flowing as high as 12,000 barrels daily and embarrassing proration officials.

Operators and proration officials alike have been able to do nothing about it. Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson dubbed it an "act of God" and said it is beyond the control of man. Its production is not charged against the field, but deducted from the state slowbill.

The Humble Oil and Refining company has bought the crater well from Dan J. Harrison and J. S. Abercrombie for $300,000. Humble's express purpose is to kill the well. Meantime, the former owners will continue to receive all oil produced until the well is killed, if ever.

The well cratered when high-pressure gas, supposedly migrating through shallow sand from earlier nearby blow-outs, blew out around the inside of the casing. The Christmas tree and pipe settled from sight and there was no apparent way to stop its flow.

"Whipstocks" Expert

To do the job of killing the well, Humble has retained John (Lash) Reynolds, famous in the oil world as a "whipstock" expert in the South coast field. He has never worked on the Gulf Coast before.

In California Reynolds is noted for shooting his fish a vertical plane started on dry land to pool of oil under bars.

The crane put a steel whipstock a 10-foot pipe of steel dropped to the bottom of the hole so that the well could be plugged. The pipe was 10 feet long and had a hole in its vertical wall. The "whipstock" was a knuckle on it, allowing the operator of the rigging to control its direction.

Humble's first step will be to drill a "whipstock" well 100 feet from the crater. The team will then enter the crater with the "whipstock."

Humble will pay him $3,000 for diverting the bit from the relief well to within 20 feet of the bottom of the water-filled hole.

Can't Be Done

This done and most gulf coast oil men say it can't be done because of the peculiar geological structure—a plaster of mud will be placed over the sands under the crater, shutting off the flow of oil.

Still another big job will face the engineers once this difficult task is completed. They will attempt to raise the crater well casing and either plug it or raise it to the surface where it can be attached to a Christmas tree, thus making the crater well just another oil well.

Humble has invited all other Conroe operators to help with the task and several of the major companies have agreed to participate in the job.

Accused As Plotter

Ghost Of McDow Watering Hole Still Walks; It Is Shunned As Thing Occurred

STEPHENSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—The ghost of the McDow still walks—and the watering hole by that name in Green's Creek near here is shunned by men as a thing occurred.

A pall of gloom seems to hang over the spot, kept alive by the thrice-told tales of the ranch and farm folk who live near about.

The story goes back 20 years, perhaps coming to the waterhole one day found a woman and her baby murdered on the banks of the McDow. They were buried on the creek bank, near the hole.

The tragedy, in time was almost forgotten, until one evening a man named Percy and his wife stopped at the McDow to get a barrel of water. They saw a woman with a baby in arms walking to the water hole. She stopped at the water's edge, gazed across at the Petty's, then walked back to the grave and disappeared.

The Petty water barrel was not filled that night.

Then a man named Keith built a house on the bank of the creek and according to J. E. Fitzgerald of Stephenville, who knew Keith well, he was a brave man. But even Keith said he was incessantly disturbed at night by a woman's screams. He sold his place.

Dies of Frigit

A bachelor by the name of Hammonds came to live in the house near the grave, but not for long. He, too, said he heard the screams. One morning neighbors found him dead. He died of frigit, they said.

The tragedy prompted two farmers to make an all-night vigil at the hole. They went to the McDow in a buggy, but they came home about 2 o' clock traveling fast.

Since that time numerous watch parties have been held at the spot and there are more than a few of the old-timers living today who will swear they have seen the woman and heard her scream.

Although the woman's body was moved from the McDow grave in 1890 and taken to a cemetery, those who know the story maintain the screams are occasionally heard even in this late day.

Exes Of '06-16 To Be Special Guests When A.C.C. Holds Reunion

ABILENE—Ex-students who were enrolled from 1906 to 1916, the first ten years that the school ran, will be the special guests at the 1933 homecoming to be held at Abilene Christian College on November 24 and 25.

Another feature of the homecoming will be the down town street parade just before the Abilene Christian College-McMurry College football game on the afternoon of the 25th, when students of all years from 1906 to 1933 will march in groups along with the present student body of Abilene Christian College.

Commenting on the homecoming, which officials of the ex-students' association hope to make the biggest of that Abilene Christian College has ever had, President James F. Cox, who was a member of the first faculty when the school was established as Childers Classical Institute in 1906, said, "We want every student who was here from 1906 to 1916 who possibly can to be here for the reunion of exes. We are expecting the largest gathering of ex-students and friends who have ever had, and hope that the exes from 1906 to 1933 will avail themselves of this opportunity to renew old friendships and come back and visit their school."

The program for the homecoming will begin on the evening of Friday, November 24, with a bonfire, rally and program, and will last through the Abilene Christian College-McMurry College game on November 25th. Preparations are being made to barbecue several oxen, sheep and goats for the West Texas 16th barbecue which is to be served by the gathering at noon on Saturday the 25th.

Lodging will be furnished for exes who arrive Friday. The reception committee, of which Clowis Watson, '22, is chairman, is planning for all exes to wear appropriate badges during the reunion. The program for the chapel hour at 10:30 on the 25th is also being prepared. Students from as far back as 1903 are having a part on the program.
