Buick's Golden Anniversary Line

Buick introduces for 1953 a Golden Anniversary line of cars with outstanding engineering developments which include the world's newest V-8 engine and advanced Dynaflow transmission. Pictured above is the two-door, six-passenger Riviera in the Super Series. Its new engine turns up 170 hp, and the new Twin Turbine Dynaflow gives it greatly improved performance and greater economy. Marked improvements in styling are to be noted in the 1953 Buick line, on display locally at McEwen Motor Company,

Open Your Heart And Purse To The March Of Dimes Challenge

Facing us is the March of Dimes campaign for raising funds to combat the effects of infantile paralysis through research, treatment and aid.

Life seems to be just one drive after another, but few if any posses more merit or more humanitarian appeal than the March of Dimes. Perhaps poliomyelitis is no more a threat to public health in the aggregate than some other allments, but because it seems to weigh more heavily against children, it touches hearts of all but the hardest. Who can sit idly by with hands rammed tightly into pockets when a few dimes or dollars might help win the fight against a erippling and killing scourge?

The Big Spring area has had a number of polio cases in the past, but it has been many years since we had anything that approached even epidemic stages. We hope and pray that such may never be the case. Should it come, however, we have the assurance that the national foundation would come in to help promptly and unstintingly.

For several years, the national group has advanced far, far more to Texas chapters to meet extraordinary outbreaks than Texas has contributed. Certainly, we have no power over the incidence of except as certain precautionary measures might have bearing-but we do have power over the degree of support given in beating back this malady.

As the March of Dimes comes to you this season, we hope it will find you with more than passive generosity. We trust that it will command an open heart and an open purse.

Attack On Filibuster Could Well Generate Filibuster Of Its Own

Senator Robert A. 3 aft gets his first big test as majority leader in the move forced by Northern senators of both parties to modify Senate rules on cloture to

Taft notified his GOP cohorts to stand by for action, on the eve of the expected showdown. He is interested primarily in preventing a filibuster against rule changes that could tie the Senate into knots for weeks, thus holding up vital legislation.

There is no doubt about the threatened filibuster, if the Northern senators go through with their plan to force modification of the rules. Nobody doubts Southern senators would stage the filibuster, all right. Taft's problem is to work out a solution that would postpone action on the rules indefinitely, thereby avoid a

Advocates of easier cloture to shut off debate are greatly concerned over the rights of minorities, ignoring the right of Senate minorities to fight off legislation in which they do not believe.

The three sore points with the South are: A federal anti-lynching bill, an FEPC, and abolition of the poll tax. All these matters, in the belief of the South, are purely state affairs and no concern of the federal government. Last there was not a single lynching in the South, reflecting militancy among the states against this nefarious practice. The federal forces have taken action in some cases in the past, a fact which indicates the issue was a phony vote-getter in the first place. More people have died in Northern race riots in recent decades than in Southern lynchings. The race rio is aimed indiscriminately against a group; a lynching is aimed at an individual for an alleged offense. Both are uncivilized and indefensible The proposed FEPC act would subject employers to surveillance harassment, and punishment by edict without resort to the courts. It is no more popular with Northern leaders than with Southern Democrats. Hence, it is not likely that there will be an early invasion of these states' definitions. Yet when one says the word, child, he does not mean a man of 50 with a beard. However, in the fields of politics or economics the tendency is to foul thought by fighting over private definitions, each thinker coming up with his

In the hope that there may be a way of stating some ideas with some clarity, I offer a few definitions which seem to be

Capitalism: "...eapitalism is an economic order based on the profit motive: Therefore its leading characteristics are the private ownership of the means of production, their operation for pecuniary gain, trol by private enterprisers, and the use of credit and the wage system ("The Triumph of American Capitalism," by Louis M. Hacker.)

Fundamentally, this system requires human freedom because inherent in it is the right of the individual to use his earnings according to his choice and conscience.

Socialism: While the basic concept of Socialism is government ownership of the means of production, distribution and exchange, the varieties are many, ranging from the mild reformist measures of the left-wing new dealers to the present state of society in Soviet Russia, In effect, Socialists differ as to whether their aims are to be achieved by "Democratic" means or by revolution, depending upon their theory of the speed of change.

Although numerous Utopian Socialist concepts existed prior to Karl Marx, he and Frederick Engels founded what has come to be known as "scientific" Socialism, the basis of which is the biologic assumption of the struggle for existence which Marx accepted from the writings of Charles Darwin and Thomas Huxley. Applying these ideas to politics, economics and sociology, they evolved the class

The history of all hitherto existing soclety is the history of class struggles. 'Freeman and slave, patrician and ple beian, lord and serf, guildmaster and journeyman, in a word, oppressor and op-pressed, stood in constant opposition to one another, carried on an uninterrupted, now hidden, now open fight, a fight that each time ended, either in a revolution-classes." ("Communist Manifesto.") There have always been deviations from ary reconstitution of society at large, or the common ruin of the contending

Fabian Socialism: This is strictly a British form of Socialism represented by the Labor Party. The word Pabian repre-sents "go slow." It is go-slow Socialism by strictly constitutional means. Even when the Labour Party was in power, it limited it socialization program (in Great Brit-ain, called a nationalization program) to 20 per cent of the nation's economy. The founders of Fabian Socialism were Bea-trice and Sidney Webb, George Bernard Shaw, H. G. Wells and other intellectuals.

Marxism: The economic doctrine of Karl Marx is based on the "theory of surplus value." which, in effect, means that the increased value arises only from the labor-time added in its production. Harold Laski describes this extremely complicated

heory as follows:

"...it is therefore evident that in the cancers of the laryn reduction of any given commodity all treated with moders to do not contribute labour-power thereto logical techniques.

It is so easy to pick an argument about do not produce values. All, therefore, who receive part of the product without this contribution are parasites robbing labour. Marx accordingly denies that profit results from the capitalist who lends money or the trader who conducts the process of exchange. ..

> All this theorizing would have meant nothing had not a faction of the Russian Social Democratic Party, the Bolsheviks, succeeded by violence in crpturing Russia in 1917.

Communism: Generally the current Russian system is called Communism, which is an error. Russian Marxism is now in what they term a socialist stage; to be followed by Communism; which will produce a state of society in which government withers away. The Russians faced the problem of making their ideas work in an antagonistic world. This was accomplished by neither Lenin nor Trotzky nor any of the early Bolsheviks, but by a comparatively obscure adventurer, J. V.

In April 1924, he delivered a series of lectures at Sverdlov University under the general title of "Foundations of Leninism." which has become the accepted doctrine of Soviet Russia, Soviet China and the satellite states. It is the doctrine of every Communist country in the world. It is a practical and flexible concept of Marxism in the epoch of imperialism and of the proletarian revolution...."

Born on this day in 1804 in Nashville, Tennessee was George Camp-bell Childress, author of the Texas

Declaration of Independence.

A lawyer by profession, Childress came to Texas in 1832 at the urging of his uncle, Empresario Sterling G. Robertson. In the absence of courts he found little legal practice, but did act as counselor for set-tiers in clearing up titles to the lands they had acquired under the

Childress also introduced the very last motion adopted by the convention — that "a single star of five points, either of gold or silver, be adopted as the peculiar emblem of this Republic."

Immediately after the convention President Burnet sent Childress to Washington to work for recognition of the independence of Texas. In this effort, however, Childress found himself blocked at every turn by his lack of proper creden-

Don't Worry About Losing Fat; You Are Also Shedding Lean!

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are sololy those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

Laying all calories aside, here's something you can't get around.

Diet or enjoy life, you're going to be fatter. That's according to the Gerontological Society, Inc., an organization which, according to the dictionary, must be devoted to the scientific study of the phenomena of old age.

Your lean tissue is constantly turning to the fatty variety, so the only way to keep from getting fatter is to run out of lean. Nobody wants to do that.

There's some comfort in the fattening situation, however. The rule, says the gerontologists, doesn't mean that you're going to weigh more at fifty than you do at thirty-five or any other adult age.

For every pound of fat you gain, you may lose a pound of lean and remain at a constant weight. Of course the fat will be a little fluffler and possibly will form some rolls and bulges in the wrong places, but there are all kinds of mechanical gimmicks to compensate for the cushionsoutside of the bathroom and swimming

There may be something for us akinny subjects to look forw rd to in the tendency to turn to blubber as we age. Maybe some of our hipbones, double joints and shoulder blades will gain some protective padding that also will help to fill out baggy pants and saggy shirts. Amount of fat on a person's person more between twenty-one and fifty, say the gerontologists. At twenty-one, the average body will consist of fat to the extent of about 9.8 per cent. At age fifty, fatty substance will make up about 21 per cent of the same body. You can't avoid the fat, but it's still possible to control it to a certain extent Exercise may not reduce the quantity, but it'll help keep the weight in the right places-maybe even give you a trim figure or an Atlas physique.

Washington Calling-Marguis Childs

Dissension Very Noticeable In Republican Party Below Surface

ous factions of the victorious Republican passes for harmony. But beneath that surface the dissatisfaction of many returning Republican members of Senate and House is barely concealed.

They are dissatisfied with the pattern of appointments made by President-elect Eisenhower. It is not so much a concern with patronage in the cruder sense as it is a difference in political outlook.

The Eisenhower appointments have been preponderantly from what might be called the managerial class-the skilled executives of big business, publicists and advertising specialists and corporation lawyers. Many of the top men in this field have been enlisted with Eisenhower's conviction that they have the capacity to manage big government with the same skill that they have brought to big private enterprise.

But for veteran Republicans in Congress the pattern seems to ignore the kind of political skill they believe to be equally essential to government. Some of the grumblers have a much more immediate cause for complaint. It is the fact that friends and veteran workers in the Republican vineyard are not getting the lobs. The demands on senators, particularthose from the populous states, are staggering both in volume and in the degree of insistence.

the pressures are fearful and the suspicion and resentment multiply accordingly. Otherwise quite rational Republicans talk about a deliberate scheme secretly fostered by Governor 'homas E. Dewey to build up a machine of federal office holders looking to 1956. Eisenhower, so this suspicion runs, will be content with one term and his heir will be Dewey, who had so much to do with the Eisenhower nomi-

Many Republican senators have read and duly noted a newspaper column written by Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Martin Durkin to be secretary of Labor. In it the independent Mrs. Smith reports that rumor has it that Attorney-Generaldesignate Herbert Brownell is deciding who gets the federal jobs. All patronage will be withheld from Republican senators, ac cording to Senator Smith, "unless they surrender completely to Ike."

She said in her column she learned that Senator Everett Dirksen of Illinois had not been consulted on the Durkin appointment. Each senator, Mrs. Smith points out, has the final say about appointments in his state-by merely rising on the floor of the Senate and objecting

WASHINGTON-On the surface the vari- to any person nominated on the grounds that the nomination is "personally obnoxious" to the senator. Then she concludes: "Senate tradition and history show that this simple, individu: I move kills a nomination. The Durkin appointment and the reports about the so-called Brownell committee on patron, ze have some senators seriously thinking about their weapon of the 'personally obnoxious' objection. This is especially surprising coming from Senator Smith, who has had no reason to be grateful to the Taft wing of the party. It reflects the dissatisfaction of some who were from the start "Eisenhower Republicans."

In the opinion of this reporter, Eisenhower and his chief advisors have been earnestly trying to find the ablest men for the top jobs. One may not always agree with the choices made. But the motivation seems to be a sincere desire for effective government. In view of the political claims, the rivalries and resentments, it is not easy to put such a government together. Two or three appointments already decided on but still to be announced will further strain the Republican family tie.

One of the lame-duck Republicans, former Senator Owen Brewster of Maine. wanted to be an assistant secretary of State. Brewster has repeatedly demonstrated his concern for powerful interests-Pan American Airways and Nationalist China among others-that might have welcomed that appoin ment. A "no" to such an appointment from Senator Smith of Maine, who had little or nothing in common with her former colleague, would have saved the Eisenhower forces embarrassment. Since that "no" was not forthcoming from the lady from Maine, Brewster had to be given the refusal without benefit of a polite regret.

The new President deserves a chance to show that he can put together an administration that will be able to handle the hazardous assignment ahead. He won his victory with the votes of many independents and dissident Democrats, including those in the South and the border states. One reason they voted for him was because he promised to bring into government the best brains available.

Evans Operated First U.S. Car

No record exists, it seems, about "a mighty throng" watching a kind of wagon go, by steam power, through Philadelphia 149 years ago, but the event was worthy of a big crowd and ringing cheers. Here, in action, was the first automobile to appear on an American road. It was the invention of Oliver Evans, a 49-year-old en-Evans, we are told, "put wheels on his boat, and ran it by steam through the eity from Center Square to the Schuylkill River at Market Street." That has been called "a boat on wheels," but it also was a power-driven truck. In-side it was a steam-engine which brought motion on the road. The man who dared to make something new and different was a native of Dela-ware. Years before he had built the "first high-pressure steam engine in America."

The first American automobile was an accident, in a sense of the word. Evans had set out to build a scow for use in dredging. The scow was to be moved by steam power. It so happened that Evans' shop was about a mile and a half from the water. He might have hired a team of oxen 'o haul it, but the idea came to him that he could make it go to the river by steam power. That is why he put on the wheels, and connected the steam engine so that it would make the wheels turn.

After the scow was launched, the paddle wheel was put in place and joined to the engine. The little steamboat now steamed fown the Schuylkill River and into the Delaware. Then it was set to work dredging in the Philadelphia area.

"The time will come," said Evans, "when people will travel in stages moved by steam engines...15 to 20 miles an

On Saturday night here, the Schreiner College Mountaineers of Kerrville meet the locals.

Schreiner has won eight of 11 starts this year. Two of the three losses have been at the hands of San Antonio JC and each contest was dropped by the narrow mar-gin of one field goal. The other Mountaineer loss was to the University of Texas Freshmen.

Schreiner is the only other junior college outfit, besides HCJC, to defeat the defending national champion, Wharton, this year. Other Schreiner wins have come at the expense of Lutheran Concordia, San Antonio, Del Mar, Edinburg and San Marcus College Frosh.

COLORADO CITY, Jan 6
Colorado City — one time West Texas Cowtown — was seeking a man, living at 943 Cedar. Other, similar petitions were being circulated this week, with the probability that they too, would be handed to the council before Monday night.

Signers argued that domestic animals kept by neighbors presented a nuisance and a health hazard and asked a ban on almost everything but children in an area of 120 blocks, with the limits set at Oak and Austin, and 2nd and 17th. It appeared the council was being squeezed between opposing petitions. In December dog lovers, horse and cow owners and those interested in 4-H and FFA feeding, rallied to the cause of the animals. They said club programs would suffer and that even if a dog were a nuisance, his master still loved him. Pat Neff, trucker, and L. E. Mayor Leonard Henders on

Mayor Leonard Henderson thought that the matter might be tabled on Monday and the hot potato tossed on the April ballot as a referendum. Councilman Walter Grubbs said he favored banning livestock but said he would be happy for the matter to be put to referendum.

Term For Hot Checks

G. L. Burnett pleaded guilty in County Court Wednesday to two charges of passing hot checks. County Judge R. H. Weaver fined him 3150 and gave him 30 days in jail.

Burnett was arrested by Deputy Sheriff C. H. Forgus. He actually received a 375 fine and 15 days in jail on each of the two charges. The sheriff's department also obtained payment of 5977 for A. L. Cooper yesterday, Cooper had received a check from Allen Reynolds for that amount after a cattle suction. The check was bad and Reynolds was charged with passing it.
