

TEXAS BRANDS HIGH RU

By JOHN M. HEWDRIX
Still another man who utilized his entire name as a brand and then threw in a few more letters was W. A. High, who gave HIGH on the left side and RU on the left lip. In the early '30s he gave his postoffice as Jankshoro and his ranch location as six miles north of there.

U.S. Highway Deaths Near Million Mark

CHICAGO, Oct. 31. (AP)—Traffic deaths on the nation's highways are mounting as expected, toward the million mark, the National Safety Council said today.
The council announced the total number of deaths for the first nine months of this year — 26,630 — which pushed the grand total since the advent of the automobile "well past 500,000."
That leaves less than 10,000 to go before the millionth traffic death is recorded. The council said its earlier estimate that the millionth fatality would occur during the third week of December was unchanged.
The nine-month total of 26,630 was eight per cent higher than for the same period in 1950.
The millionth death is approaching right on schedule," Ned H. Dearborn, Safety Council president, said. "Despite the most intensive educational campaign by the National Safety Council and others ever conducted."
"All that remains is the shame of a civilized nation which can accept this terrible blight of death, injury and suffering without any widespread effort to prevent it."
Last year's toll on the highways was 25,000. That was the highest total since 1941 — the all-time record year for traffic deaths — 25,928.

Night Watchman Admits Shooting

SAN BABA, Oct. 31. (AP)—Night Watchman Frank Russell testified Tuesday that Charles Sullivan, charged with murder, admitted, "Yes, I killed him. I don't know why I did it. I loved him."
Sullivan is charged with the rifle slaying of his cousin, Joseph Franklin Comer, May 27.
Russell said Sullivan admitted the killing as Russell was taking him to jail.

Witnesses Fail To Agree Over White's Debts

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 31. (AP)—The campaign expenses suit against State Agricultural Commissioner John White reached the argument stage today after witnesses directly contradicted each other.
Mrs. H. W. Weir is suing White for $2,512.22 she claims she spent on White's campaign and which, she says, White promised to repay.
Testimony was concluded Tuesday.

Mrs. Weir testified she spent "twice the amount" on White's campaign that she is asking. She said she wanted only the money the commissioner agreed to repay her.
The youthful former Midwestern University teacher testified that "at no time did Mrs. Weir actually give me any of her personal money."
Mrs. Weir listed numerous sums she said she gave White.
Mrs. Weir said White had told her before the state Democratic primary of 1950 that he had been told to "drop her or lose the backing of other valuable supporters."
"I told him there were no strings, and all I wanted was for him to win and of course I wanted repayment of money I had loaned him," she testified.
A contribution of $750, which Mrs. Weir said she received before the Democratic convention at Mineral Wells, was not placed in the bank to cover $500 worth of checks in White's overdrawn account, she said.
Mrs. Weir testified, "White told me to apply it to what he owed me."
White denied this.

New Texas Weather Zones

Texas will be divided into four parts Nov. 1 by the U. S. Weather Bureau in making weather forecasts. The new divisions, East, North Central, South Central and West Texas will replace present divisions of East and West Texas. West Texas will be further divided when weather conditions require. (AP Photo Map).

Weather Bureau Recognizes That Texas Is A Big State

By The Associated Press
The Weather Bureau finally has recognized that Texas is a big state.
Beginning Nov. 1 the bureau will start giving forecasts for four divisions of the state — East Texas, North Central Texas, South Central Texas and West Texas.
This comes as welcome news to folk in Abilene and Wichita Falls, who've been in East Texas according to the Weather Bureau for years.
Weather Bureau records do not show that a forecast was ever made for Texas as a whole.
Oldtimers know positively that dividing the state into East and West Texas has been done for at least 30 years.
West Texas is the largest zone, but the Weather Bureau says it already known how to break it down into seven subdivisions when the weather situation requires it.
The new East Texas zone extends from the 96th meridian east. The between is Central Texas, divided along the 31st parallel into North Central and South Central Texas.
Under the old two-zone plan, the Hillsboro, Tex., Oct. 31. (AP)—Charles Gariand Cooper, 4, a Negro, burned to death Tuesday in a flash fire at his home.

BEFORE TAXES GO UP

Texans Are Stocking Up On Snake Bite Remedy—Whiskey

By The Associated Press
A person who hadn't been watching Congress might figure there was an epidemic of snake bite. A good many Texans were stocking up heavily today on that snake bite remedy — whiskey.
But if he'd been reading the papers, he'd know it was just thirsty citizens trying to lay in their winter stock before Thursday's boost of liquor taxes.
The levy goes up $1.50 a gallon. Also to be increased are taxes on other items, including automobiles and cigarettes. People didn't start a buying rush on those items.
One happy liquor dealer said "It's almost like Christmas time." At Corpus Christi, liquor sales were about 50 per cent higher than on the corresponding day a year ago. Many bought liquor in case lots.
Bryan reported heavy traffic on roads from dry Brazos County to wet Burleson County.
Dallas liquor dealers reported skyrocketing sales.
A spokesman for Dallas automobile dealers said the impending tax increase had stimulated sales but that previous scare buying had just about exhausted the rush market.
Dealers said the tax will raise new car prices $30 in the lowest price group to $135 for luxury vehicles.
One Dallas cigarette dealer said he expected a rush business today because of the cent-a-pack tax boost due tomorrow.
The Marshall News Messenger found buying apathy. A furniture dealer in the city which boasts a housewives tax strike against social security taxes said: "People have had so many taxes put on them lately, they just don't pay attention to them anymore."

The blast was several times larger than the previous test on Oct. 28, being plainly visible to residents of Las Vegas, 65 miles away, well after daylight. (AP Wirephoto).

Government Doesn't Bet, So Books Lose

By FRANK O'BRIEN WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. — Times were never so taught in the house Lady Luck operates just beyond the law. All her chance sons have a rendezvous Thursday to keep with their Uncle Sam's tax collector. The very thought of it was hurting, bad.

They had built their lives on a plush two-tone proposition of the two great certainties, death and taxes, only one bothered gamblers. The government has added taxes starting Thursday. It almost looked like a plain tax law could do what the law of averages never did — turn the odds against the gamblers.

A bookie in New Orleans declared: "This is going to put me under. The government don't bet. It back." Like many another furtive gent who said paying taxes would drive him out of business, the New Orleans horse parlor host did not say whether he was really quitting, or going underground.

A few numbers vendors in New Orleans applied for unemployment relief. The gambler's tax is part of the new revenue bill going into effect Thursday with total annual returns estimated at $3.7 billions. House of Representatives tax technicians guessed, after consulting with the Treasury, that gamblers might be stuck for about $400 millions of this. No enforcement plans have been disclosed.

The tax does not apply to legal pari-mutual operations, "social" or "friendly" games of chance, church bingo games or office football pools. The law makes these calls on all professional gamblers. They must register and buy a $50 occupation stamp, which must be posted prominently in their place of business. Gamblers whose hat is their office can carry their stamp there.

They must pay a ten per cent tax on their gross take. That means ten per cent, win or lose, of all money bet with them. Penalties range up to a year in prison, plus a $10,000 fine. A Washington lawyer said he had clients who want to test the first requirements against the Constitution.

Attorney Myron Ehrlich said he would contend that the Constitution does not permit a law that would require a taxpayer to disclose information which might incriminate him.

Dixiecrats To Devise Strategy

SELMA, Ala., Oct. 31. — Anti-Truman Southern Democrats will devise strategy here Thursday in a caucus similar to the one at which the 1948 States Rights ticket was nominated. No indication was apparent today that an outright attempt would be made to draw up an opposition slate in the event Mr. Truman is renominated.

A sponsor said the meeting is to "consider a proposed plan of action on the part of those interested in constitutional government." This sponsor, former State Sen. Bruce Henderson, said a resolution outlining the anti-Truman campaign has been drafted and will be presented at the meeting. The strategy conference originally was pegged directly on the appearance here of Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), a leading administration critic. The Virginian will address a meeting of the Dallas (Selma) County Farm Bureau at 11 a.m. (CST) Thursday.

Byrd notified sponsors of the meeting he would not be able to stay over for the conference. This sponsor, former State Sen. Bet Billy Likes This Essay Assignment!

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 31. — Following the spirit of Halloween, young Billy Harrison thought it was a heckuva trick when his teacher announced an essay assignment. But for Billy, it turned out to be a pit of a treat.

Like the rest of his classmates in the eighth grade at Vandalla, Ill., 13-year-old Billy was told to write a five-part booklet describing his choice as a profession. Billy thought it over.

Then he saw a picture of the one-man, rocket-type helicopter being developed for the Navy and Marine Corps. That did it. Billy decided to be a Marine.

To get background, Billy penned a letter to the Marine Air Corps Recruiting Station here. It read: "Dear Sir: In Mrs. Blower's room we have been studying about planning your future. I have had a desire to join the Marine Air Corps. I would like to fly a single man fighter. Could you please send me information concerning this, thank you?"

Billy got more than he bargained for. Col. C. J. O'Donnell, officer in charge of the midwestern division of the Marines, wrote a reply. O'Donnell's letter to Billy's first-hand look at Marine facilities here. Billy's tour is set for Thursday with the push-off slated for his class room at Vandalla.

Billy will be presented the gold wings of a Marine fighter pilot. He will also receive an official drawing of the helicopter. After that it's back to Vandalla to get started on that five-part booklet.

Amon Carter Is Honored

BOWIE, Oct. 31. — Amon G. Carter, who once sold chicken to train passengers passing through here, was honored Tuesday night at the Chamber of Commerce banquet. Carter, publisher of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, was in New York on business. He was represented by Mrs. Carter.

She thanked the 200 guests and told them the people of Bowie always meant a lot to her husband. Webb Maddox, former president of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, told of Carter's first business venture in Bowie, while working for his room and board. Carter purchased a one-eyed red rooster for 15 cents. He had it cooked and sold it at a profit of 35 cents.

Rita May Show, But State Won't

RENO, Oct. 31. — Rita Hayworth's lawyers rather expect her to show up today, looking for a divorce. But it won't do her any immediate good. This is Nevada's 87th birthday. With Nevadans, that takes precedence over almost everything — including processes trying to get rid of such titles. Most businesses, including the state's, close to enjoy the revelry. Tomorrow's another day. Rita can have her divorce then if she asks it.

Texas Gridder Beaten Up By Teen-Agers

AUSTIN, Oct. 31. — Glib Dawson, star University of Texas half-back, suffered a cut lip that required four stitches after a run-in Tuesday night with five teen-age youths.

Police said Dawson was treated for a cut lip, body bruises and minor lacerations. He did not attend classes today. The fleet, 170-pounder said he was riding in his car with Jane Bradner of Galveston, a co-ed, when five youths in a hot-rod car threw an orange against his windshield.

He pursued them. They stepped. As he approached their car, one picked up a rock and hit him in the mouth, Dawson said. He told his companion to call the police, and she ran to a nearby house. Dawson said the youths, 17 to 20 years old, worked him over for several minutes and then fled.

He was unable to get their license number but said he thought he could identify the boys if he saw them again. "I was just going to chew them out for throwing that orange. I didn't know they were going to start all that trouble," Dawson said.

DEMOS

Continued from Page 13 and went immediately to party headquarters for a private conference with Boyle. He would not discuss any personnel changes in the committee staff. He said he wanted to be elected first. He added a belief that the party's chances in 1952 were excellent.

Except for his presidency of the Fidelity Trust Co. of Indianapolis, and his radio interests, McKinney is giving up his other business connections to avoid any possible charge that he might influence any relations these concerns might have with the government. One is the U. S. Pipeline Co., which has an application pending for 100,000 tons of steel to build a pipeline from Texas to the East.

The company issued a statement saying that all transportation opportunities must have government approval for such projects, and it added: "The pipeline company is asking the government for no loans or financial help and is not asking the government, or any of its agencies, for any business."

Most businesses, including the state's, close to enjoy the revelry. Tomorrow's another day. Rita can have her divorce then if she asks it. The suburn-haired film star finished her required six-week residency last spring. She and Prince Aly Khan failed to agree on money matters.

Mr. One Million Is A Happy Man Today

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY
FRANKFURT, Germany, Oct. 31. (AP)—Mr. One Million sat down and gathered his wife and two daughters around him.

He smiled, straightened his tie and waited for the questions. Press conferences aren't new to Mr. One Million these days. He used to be plain Alexander Ranezy, farmer and hotel manager in a Czech town. Then he and his wife, Julia, and daughters Lydia and Erika, fled the tramp of Russian boots in 1945.

Since then he and his family have been part of that great, migratory population known as displaced persons.

Eventually, the International Refugee Organization got into the Ranezy future. Now they are going to Texas to start a new life. Ranezy became displaced person No. 1,000,000 to be re-settled by the IRO.

Ranezy seemed pleasantly bewildered by all the publicity simply because of a resettlement number, but he's getting used to it.

He and his family are going to Midland, where he will work as a gardener and handyman for William Penn. Mrs. Ranezy, a dressmaker, will work, and Lydia, 21, wants to go to school. Little Erika, 10, will enter school, too.

How does it feel to be going to America?
To a man who has managed his family through Europe's darkest days the answer would take a long time, especially in a tongue still new.

So Alexander Ranezy summed it up in one word: "Fine."

Mama Ranezy grinned and so did Lydia and Erika. They are to sail Friday aboard a U. S. transport.

Plans for services are pending but the body will be at the Nalley Funeral home. Slept With Men, But Don't Seem To Know Names

FORT WORTH, Oct. 31. (AP)—Two girls who ran away from the Corsicans Orphan and spent several nights in hotels and tourist courts with men can remember all the details — except the names. The girls, 14 and 15, grew so vague on names that officers, who questioned them for hours Tuesday, gave up. Unless their memory improves, no charges can be brought against the men with whom they slept.

Larry O. Cox, executive director of the Board for Hospitals and Special Schools, said prosecution of the men would be sought.

The girls were brought here by the Corsicana Home Supt. Robert Ira Boyd Jr., for questioning. Boyd said he will seek to place the girls with relatives. Falling in that, he said, he would have no choice except to place them in the Gainesville State School for Girls. "I can't have them on the campus with the other children," he said.

Humble To Appeal $10,000 Fine In Hot Oil Act Case

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 31. (AP)—An appeal of a $10,000 fine against the Humble Oil and Refining Co. was planned today after the firm was convicted on nine counts of failing to keep accurate records of oil it took from New Mexico wells.

The case was based on the Connally hot oil act. In another action, Federal Judge Carl Hatch fined Roy Mosley of Hobbs, an employee of the firm, $2,000 on a like charge.

A federal jury in Santa Fe last month found another employee, Jack S. Little of Hobbs, guilty on eight counts. Hatch upheld a defense motion Tuesday to acquit Little for lack of evidence.

Hatch also ruled that evidence failed to support eight counts against Humble Pipeline Co. and acquitted the firm.

Robertson of Hobbs, a Humble gauger later discharged, pleaded guilty to conspiracy to defraud the government in interstate shipment of oil. He testified for the government.

Robertson was fined $2,000 Tuesday but a prison sentence was waived.

The charges involved oil taken from Lea County wells between 1948 and 1950.

FAR-REACHING IDEA

CIO Leaders Propose Plan For Jurisdictional Disputes

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. (AP)—CIO leaders proposed today a far-reaching plan for settling their own jurisdictional quarrels, calling for appointment of an "organizational disputes arbitrator."

The CIO's executive board, consisting of 40 union presidents and the top leadership of the CIO, was handed the plan for ratification today. The vice presidents approved it Tuesday.

An elaborate progression of steps was proposed, ending with the organizational disputes arbitrator, if necessary. He is to be named by the executive board. The peace proposal is to be signed by heads of the various unions and, if approved today, will be reported to the CIO convention next week.

The unions would commit themselves not to make "derogatory statements" about each other, and to respect certification of one union as the bargaining agent by the National Labor Relations Board.

If disputes arise between unions, they would be dumped in the lap of the regional director of organization. If he cannot settle the problem promptly, then National Director of Organization Allan S. Haywood will take over. Haywood is about to become executive vice president of the CIO with broad executive authority. Haywood is a former coal miner. So is President Phillip Murray. Both men were hospitalized during the last six months for serious ailments.

But Haywood has taken on more and more of Murray's duties while the president remained at home in Pittsburgh. Murray is 65, Haywood 63.

The new job, which insiders say will be confirmed at the CIO convention beginning here Monday. Reportedly it was approved by the nine vice presidents at their meeting Tuesday and will be submitted to the executive board here today.

Murray said early in September his associates soon would have to think about picking a successor. The selection of Haywood for the administrative post does not necessarily mean that he has the nod for the presidency. Walter P. Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, appears in the forefront for that post. Murray is likely to continue as president of the 13-year-old CIO for at least another year.

Talk of merger with the American Federation of Labor — inspired by action of the recent AFL convention in San Francisco — was soft-pedaled. Murray seemed to discourage it when he said the AFL could "go to Hell" if it expected the junior organization to bow to the AFL's merger terms.

IT'S HALLOWEEN

Elves And Goblins Slate Their "Day"

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. (AP)—This is the night elves and goblins (junior grade, that is) are abroad in the land. A handful of candy, paid in tribute to the masked small fry of the neighborhood, will save you from the fearful depredations of "trick or treat" night.

Failure to come across may result in soap smeared on your screen door, front steps or car windows. The Halloween goblins of 1951 hang few fence gates on church steeples as their fathers did in an earlier, simpler era. To cut down on the Halloween urge to smear, break, overturn and confuse things in general, many communities stage ragamuffin parades, parties and dances.

On the theory that if you know where they are, you know where they ain't, teenagers are lured to these affairs and even encouraged to soap store windows (with merchants' permission). They are given prizes for the best hobgoblin design.

Halloween began in the dim past before Christianity, and was marked by the lighting of bonfires and the established belief that this was the night ghosts and witches rose from the netherworld to harass mankind.

In the Christian world it is the eve of All Saints Day.

California Feed Lots Crowded With Cattle

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31. (AP)—California feed lots are crowded with 400,000 to 500,000 cattle, a new peak. Last January there were 248,000.

Feed lots are so full, government market reports say today, that cattle are being moved to other states. The industry has favorable conditions — large supplies of feed and grain, the fifth largest-corn crop in the nation's history being harvested, and almost guaranteed prices for beef under the ceilings established by the Office of Price Stabilization.

Jealousy caused the first murder we have any record of. It is a miserable fault to begrudge the success of a fellow mortal. We should be decent enough to be glad for others' advancement and try to earn similar reward ourselves. "And he said, I know not, am I my brother's keeper?" — Gen. 4:9.

Effective UMT Set-Up Unlikely What With Election Year Coming

Last week we received a letter from Robert Bostic, who once was a member of the Big Spring high school team, complaining of a "lack of fan reaction." Commenting on the first game he saw after returning from service, he said that "one might have been sitting in a morgue for all the cheers that came forth. There is the 'city of our party' even complained that we were making too much noise when we cheered."

One point: "A team without support is like an engine without fuel. It may run a while on vapors, but it soon dies. The best support that can be given is the crowd that cheers progress of its team." Accordingly, we trust that a good sized crowd will follow the Steers to Lamesa this Friday evening. A week ago everyone would have figured that Lamesa had it in a walk; after last Friday's showing here, the Steers are talking about a win. There ought to be plenty of people on hand to encourage them. An "oh, they come back home a week hence, attendance ought to be" and with it the cheers of admiration for a fighting spirit.

Plucky Efforts On Field Should Merit More Reaction From Stands

The 1951 draft extension law, contained a provision which approved a universal military training law "in principle." It set up a National Security Training Commission empowered to study universal training and make recommendations. Sunday night this commission submitted its report to Congress. The commission urged that its recommendations be approved by Congress "without delay" when it reconvenes in January. It pointed out that uncertain world conditions, with emphasis on Korea, make it impossible to forecast when the training program can be started, but a start at the earliest practicable time is imperative because "the clear prospect is that the present generation must live in danger for many years."

about eight months active training, then be subject for 7.5 years to inactive service in varying degrees. The theory behind UMT is that a nation cannot indefinitely maintain a huge military establishment involving millions of men in constant service and that the only alternative thereto is to build up and maintain huge reservoirs of trained, young manpower in reserve. It is still up to Congress to vote UMT up or down, since the bill passed last June was merely exploratory—or, as friends of UMT might say with some justification, merely dilatory. Odds against any effective UMT set-up are heavy, since 1952 is an election year and congressmen are afraid of their shadows in an election year. Nevertheless, UMT offers the only practicable approach to the long problem of national defense, and should be enacted as soon as possible after Congress reconvenes. There is scant hope that, however, and UMT probably will continue to be a political football for a long time to come. Mace's the pity.

Vivid Winston Churchill Will Be More Difficult Than Drab Attlee

WASHINGTON.— Even while Princess Elizabeth and her consort are in Washington, U.S. diplomats are appraising the cold realities of the British elections. And they wonder whether the dynamic, dramatic Mr. Churchill isn't going to be a lot more difficult to work with than drab, pedestrian Clement Attlee. Three weeks before the election, the State Department got an inkling of this in the form of a confidential cable from the American embassy in London that Churchill planned a grandstanding meeting between himself, Stalin and Truman. Since Truman will not go to Europe and Stalin will not come to Washington, such a move would play right into the hands of the Moscow propaganda machine which claims we are the warmongers and won't even discuss peace.

decisions were British, that a British general superseded Gen. Mark Clark in Italy. It also meant—after the war—that the U.S.A. supplied the tanks, the lend-lease, the UNRRA supplies in Greece, while Churchill fixed policy. CHURCHILL ON GREECE—Shortsighted Churchillian policy in Greece can best be summarized in his own words, a telegram Churchill sent to Gen. Ronald M. Scobie, British commander in Athens: "Do not hesitate to act as if you were in a conquered city. You should not hesitate to open fire on any armed male in the Greek capital who assails the authority of the British. Keep and dominate Athens." British highhandedness in Greece, taken without consulting the U.S.A. finally forced London to dump the entire problem in our lap. We have been both paying the bill and fixing policy since. Before we merely paid the bill. BRITISH IN EGYPT—The one-sided results of the Churchill-FDR political deal for the Mediterranean were inadvertently summarized by U.S. Near Eastern commander, Gen. Benny Giles, at a press conference in Cairo. "Gentlemen," he said, "I have noticed that you have been writing political news. You are war correspondents. You are part of the U.S. Army and you will write nothing critical of British policy in the Middle East."

Today, American policies have largely become British policies—in Greece, Turkey, Western Europe, Japan and China. But in those days, British policies usually became American policies, thanks to the tireless, persuasive, masterful man in the red and gold kimono, who would not sleep until he had persuaded U.S. leaders to yield. A lot of memories come crowding back to the diplomats who attended those meetings, vivid memories of a vivid personality who dominated whatever meeting he attended and usually shaped the world the way he wanted it. Here are some of them: CHURCHILL AT CASABLANCA—Here Winston put across two things: The Italian campaign through the "soft underbelly of the Axis," which did not prove to be soft and which many U.S. strategists felt was a mistake; second, a pledge from FDR that the Mediterranean theatre would be British-dominated. This meant American communications even between our own personnel had to be sent over British radio; that all transportation was okayed by the British, that all political CHURCHILL ON CHINA—Meeting with Chiang Kai-shek and FDR in Cairo in 1943, Churchill flatly opposed an Allied campaign over the Burma Road. This was what Chiang wanted most. But Churchill, vetoing it, argued for a campaign to retake Britain's old possessions—Singapore and the Malays. At this Chiang started to pack up, threatened to go home. To assuage him, FDR proposed the British give up Hong Kong, making it an international port under the United Nations. Churchill's reply: "I did not become prime minister to liquidate the British Empire." Chiang returned to China empty-handed, and it was this failure to get political support—not pro-Communist advice, by George Marshall—which really started the downfall of the Nationalists. CHURCHILL AT OTTAWA—One of the constant battles between the U.S. military and Churchill all during the war was the Far East. General Marshall, then chief of staff, wanted real support for Chiang, not make-believe a warfarmer. At Ottawa he was so impatient that there was almost an open break with British Chief of Staff Sir Alan Brooke. It was after this row that Churchill proposed Marshall take over the European Allied command. This would get him out of Washington where he had the power to allocate troops to either theatre; put him in Europe where he would become absorbed with European problems. At Ottawa, Churchill put likable, handsome Lord Mountbatten, a cousin of King George, in command in Burma-India. But the British remained in control and no serious large-scale campaign ever got started. The critics who now damn Marshall for Communism in China forget his consistent urging of aid to Chiang. The British, who refused even the political aid of Henry Stimson, thus encouraging Communism, later have wanted to recognize Communist China, and have used Hong Kong to ship supplies to the Communists.

Congress May Have Blunted A Direct New Frontal Assault On T-H Measure

By HAROLD W. WARD (For James Marlow) WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. (AP)—Congress, by the simple expedient of opening up one provision of the Taft-Hartley labor act, may have blunted a direct new frontal assault on the law. Ever since the law became effective August 22, 1947, officials of the AFL and CIO have been demanding its outright repeal. But they got nowhere, and appeals from President Truman fell on deaf congressional ears. Now that Congress has shown a willingness to make any changes, the clamor for outright repeal may give way to increasing calls from organized labor for revision. For awhile, it seemed that labor unions were in a predicament similar to that which confronted industry and management after the passage of the Wagner Labor Relations Act in 1935. That law remained intact for 12 years in the face of repeated efforts by industrial organizations to amend it at least. Then came the 1946 Republican congressional victory. The Taft-Hartley law was enacted by President Truman's veto of June 23, 1947. That was the beginning of the sniping between management and unions over the legislation. The 1948 elections returned Mr. Truman and once more gave the Democrats a majority in Con-

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP Born on this day in 1939 was the short-lived town of White City. Born with a rush and doomed to die the same way. The town was fifteen miles northwest of Lamesa, on the northeast side of Cedar Lake. Oil was found by the Stanolind Oil and Gas Company at 8,830 feet (plugged back to 4,770). The discovery well produced a daily 1,278 barrels of crude oil through a one-inch choke. Bill and Gus White built the town, erecting a hotel, theater, stores et cetera. As Texas already had a town named Cedar Lake, the name of "White City" was selected. Over a thousand people flocked to the new town almost immediately as the derricks rose quickly above nearby sand dunes and the field promised major production. White City was not to last, however. Exploratory drilling shortly showed that the field was only a minor producer, and the citizens and wildcatters drifted on to new horizons. Most other ghost towns faded slowly, lingering up the map for a decade or more. While retaining a postoffice, the population of White City had dwindled to 40 people by 1948, according to the Texas Almanac. The shell of the town is located in Gaines County.

Pop Exposes Daughter, Has A Few Nightmares By SAUL PETT (For Hal Boyle) RIVER EDGE, N. J., Oct. 31. (AP)—It isn't easy for a man to expose his own daughter, but I must, before she starts another great depression all by herself. How many big corporations have been misled by Amy Pett, aged eight? I have nightmares about promotion managers reporting increased consumer interest. I see directors ordering new factories built to supply a demand that doesn't exist. I see staggering bond issues being floated for tremendous expansion programs. And finally, I shudder about acres of new, gleaming factories going dark, prices collapsing overnight, thousands of workers shuffling toward soup kitchens. Before it's too late, let this be a warning to General Electric, General Motors, U. S. Steel, Pillsbury Mills and the other big corporations which have recently been contacted by Amy Pett. Gentlemen, relax. She does not actually plan to buy a new car or install a remote-control wiring system, or buy an 11-cubic-foot refrigerator or equip a stainless steel kitchen or even buy a box of cake flour. She just likes to get free catalogues. Anything free excites her. The mere word "free!" will make her

Lana Plans A Heavy Dose Of Work For Her Troubles

By BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 31. (AP)—Lana Turner, whose marriage to Bob Topping recently blew up, plans a heavy dose of work and travel to forget her troubles. The former sweater girl seemed unusually gay on the set of her current film, "The Merry Widow." I remarked I hadn't seen her so happy for a long time. "No wonder, with the last few pictures I've had," she replied. She remarked that one was the most uncomfortable picture she had ever experienced. She had nothing but raves for her current chore and for the director, Curtis Bernhardt. "He's so understanding," she gloved. "From now on, it's nothing but work and travel for me," Lana said. "I don't ask if I can't the exclusion of men, such a situation being difficult to imagine. She has seldom been known to be breathless about working in pictures, but she said she is eager now. "I'd like to make a really smart comedy," she remarked. Lana takes off for Europe immediately after the finish of her picture. She'll see all the sights and send for her daughter if conditions are favorable over there. She hopes to take off before Christmas, although her movie may not be finished before then. Lana is sporting a trim chignon these days, but she said it's work and not diet that has taken off the pounds. She claimed her weight is no big problem with her. "I'm lucky in that I don't like desserts," she said.

"Our Town's" Latin Americans Need A Break From The People

His delapidated hat was crumpled over his brow; his clothes, tattered and dirty, hung limply; and he shuffled along, carrying his sack with him. The yes of this Latin-American showed no bitterness. Rather they had a sort of dull eagerness—a eagerness to see what the next garbage can would contain. He was—and for all I know may still be— foraging in the alleys among the swill for food to feed his family. Repulsive? No, realistic. He is not the only one obliged, through sorry circumstances, to dig among the refuse of our bounty for sustenance. I've seen aged senors, their black shawls spread over their shoulders, making discerning selections among the garbage. This was their way of holding body and soul and the family circle together. Over the years, I've had some occasion to go into houses of some of the lowest income groups among these people. While the spread between their squalor and the most prosperous is small, these most humble hovels compare miserably with the average house in the northwest quarter. And the average house unfortunately is sub-standard. One place I remember was made of pieces of scrap lumber to form the frame and old metal signs for the cover. There was no floor for the single room, no light except what came in a crude doorway. Crowded into this miserable place were several people—eating, sleeping, doing primitive cooking in the same darkened hole. There were no sanitary facilities about, and one may only surmise whether this room served that purpose, too. Recently, a young hoodlum, product of these circumstances, was one of a group of young marauders who shot up several pieces—luckily hitting no one. He also was part of, if not the leader, of a group which all but gutted the Kate Morrison school. Why bring these up? They happen to be stand-out examples, but they are not altogether isolated cases. Unhappily, they point an immovable finger at a social sore in our community. Hundreds of our people of Latin-American extraction have established and are establishing themselves as good citizens. It has not and is not an easy road, for most have to be content with sub-standard pay and menial positions. There are hundreds of others for whom the struggle is a constant and uncertain one with reasons of meagre prosperity and seasons of want and despair. For hundreds of others there is little more than desperation—and worse, resignation. Maybe you think what you don't see won't hurt you. You're wrong—dead wrong. You don't get rid of a sore by ignoring it. Check the crime records and find the reprobates of names from the northwest ghetto—drunkenness, gambling, prostitution, stealing, marijuana peddling, stabbing, shooting. Check death certificates and note the disproportionately high percentage of fatalities among these people—and some for malnutrition. Check health records and see where highest incidences of certain infectious diseases occur. Check school attendance records and see where the greatest problem lies. These people do not need condemnation. They need understanding of their problems. They need encouragement. They need help. They need housing. They need compassion. And most of all, they need a break. Maybe someday the scales will fall from our eyes. —JOE PICKLE.

Large Minority Approve Truman Appointment Of Vatican Envoy

President Truman's appointment of General Mark Clark as Ambassador to the Vatican—now shelved for consideration by Congress at its next session—is approved by a large minority of editors. But to a slightly smaller minority formal recognition of the Vatican as a sovereign state by appointment of an Ambassador rather than a personal representative of the President, involves a potential threat to the American principle of church and state separation. A plurality of editors sees no danger in this American principle in the President's action, but opposes it as inimical to necessary national unity, especially at this time. CHARLOTTE (N.C.) NEWS (Ind.-Dem.): "The United States had ministers and consuls at the Vatican from 1798 to 1868, when Congress denied further funds for the missions. From 1949 until last January Myron Taylor served as the 'personal representative' of President Roosevelt and Truman, but his presence did not constitute formal diplomatic recognition. The appointment of General Clark with full ambassadorial status implies, at least, the recognition of the Vatican as a sovereign state. It is this aspect which is deeply disturbing to millions of Americans." DENVER (Colo.) POST (Ind.): "Can it be successfully argued that sending Myron Taylor to the Vatican as a diplomatic representative broke down in any degree the separation of church and state here? Yet at the time the late F.D.R. made the appointment, the same issue was hotly raised. General Clark will go to a political state, which happens to be at the same time the central seat of a church. The Vatican has been for a long, long time a center of international political activity. Its status in that regard has been recognized by more than thirty governments which maintain diplomatic relations there." NORFOLK (Va.) VIRGINIAN-PILOT (Ind.-Dem.): "It can be argued that although the American Ambassador will make of him a more effective emissary than was Mr. Taylor. Nothing that this country could do would make the Vatican any more opposed to Communism than it is now. Mr. Truman has made a mistake." —Edited by James Galloway would be a step toward relations with that church in domestic affairs. ...But surely it is not asking too much of the wisdom and intelligence of the American people to recognize the difference. . . . ST. LOUIS (Mo.) GLOBE-DEMOCRAT (Ind.): "We cannot believe that even a tiny fraction of the Catholic population of America wants a Catholic America; any more than any Protestant wants America to be arbitrarily denominational. As a side from sentiment, this is written into the Constitution. The question then is whether Mr. Truman has now driven, or attempted to do so, a wedge which could ultimately destroy the separation principle itself. Protestant leaders are alarmed; more alarmed, we believe, than the Catholics are related." LOUISVILLE (Ky.) COURIER-JOURNAL (Ind.-Dem.): "Other nations equally opposed to clerical influence in affairs of state still exchange diplomatic representation with the Vatican without ever compromising their independence. . . . If this country sends an ambassador to the Vatican, it will be joining 57 other countries, many of them equally opposed to union of church and state. It will be, moreover, recognizing not the spiritual ascendancy of the Pope over Catholics but a civil state possessing extraordinary sources of information and unique contacts with countries otherwise lost to Western influence." WASHINGTON (D.C.) STAR (Ind.): "The appointment of an Ambassador to the Vatican is no more likely to affect adversely the separation of church and state as recognized and practiced in this country than our diplomatic recognition of Israel. . . . But it will be very difficult for those opposed in principle to such recognition to understand how Ambassador Clark's new status will make of him a more effective emissary than was Mr. Taylor. Nothing that this country could do would make the Vatican any more opposed to Communism than it is now. Mr. Truman has made a mistake." —Edited by James Galloway

Telegraph Editor Has A Vital Job

For several days I have been writing about newspapers of the past. Now I shall be well to say a little about those of the present time, and how they are operated. On every inhabited continent, there are daily newspapers. They range in circulation from less than a thousand to more than two millions. As examples of those which are of small size, let me mention one in Nevada with 250 copies sold daily and one in Missouri with 250 customers for the evening edition. When any man has enough energy and faith to keep working with a daily paper of such small circulation, it would seem that he should be given credit, if not honor. Men who have built up big daily newspapers also have shown energy and faith in the future. Likewise they have put a great deal of brain power into the task, not to speak of capital. Some persons think of the city editor as the man in charge of a large daily newspaper. The truth is different. The city editor manages the work of local reporters, but there are other editors who are of equal importance, and some editors rank above the city editor. The telegraph editor has work of importance on a daily paper. He goes over news which comes in from other places. There is a machine called a "teletype-writer" or, more commonly, a "Teletype." This machine has been a standby in newspaper offices for many years—it imprints telegraphic news in much the same way as would a typewriter, but does it automatically. A large paper has several of these machines, setting down telegraphic news hour after hour, day and night. Big press associations, such as the Associated Press and the United Press, deliver news to their customers in vast amounts. Too much news comes in for all of it to be printed. Editors go over the incoming news, and choose the parts which they think should appear in the paper. For GENERAL INTEREST section of your scrapbook. Tomorrow's Copy Readers. Magic tricks and games appear in the new Uncle Ray leaflet entitled PUZZLES, TRICKS AND FUN. This is mailed without charge to any reader who sends a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Uncle Ray in care of his newspaper.

DESIGNING WOMAN

Seed Pods And Grasses Good In Winter Bouquets

By ELIZABETH HILLIER. Branches, weathered wood, dried weeds and grasses — they're yours for the finding, along the roadside, in the woods, perhaps in your own yard. Use them to make last-forever winter bouquets, or to add interest to flower arrangements or leafy plantings in pots. A garland and well-aged bit of wood starts an arrangement in a low bowl like that at top right. Set branches of feathery-pine and sprigs of philodendron into a holder beside the wood. Use flowers for the bright center of the composition, perhaps one of the new varieties of chrysanthemums in bronze-red.

Three flowers are enough, and they can be replaced many times in the same arrangement. Variety and contrast are the secrets of the handsomest winter bouquets. There's no end to the kinds and shapes of branches, leaves, seed pods and grasses to use if you've the eye to see them, and they vary in color from nearly white through many shades of cream and pale brown, gray and yellow, to russet, brown, deep brown, and black. Combine unlike shapes and varying sizes, and light colors with the deep ones for the most striking effects.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Second generation Johnsons may help to resurrect Big Spring high school football fortunes.

Something like 22 or 23 years ago Jake and Perry Johnson were making football history here. Jake was a crackback, Perry a great lineman.

Now, Jake's son, Brick, is blossoming as a fine back for the Junior high Yearlings. He's almost sure to be a regular with the Steers in a year or so.

Quarterbacking the Eighth grade team this year is Charles Johnson, Perry's boy and a cousin to Brick. They say he's all football and a corner, if he can get any left on him.

And down on the West Ward team there's still another of the tribe, young Kenny Johnson, who is getting the fundamentals that will stand him in good stead in a few years. He's Charlie's brother.

Few other families have done so well by the Big Spring team.

Six-man football has long been a part of the smaller school's curriculum in these parts. It fills a void in a school program where it is not possible to field 11-man teams.

Now, they're experimenting with eight-man teams in Nebraska, with favorable results. An 11-man field is used for the game but both six-man and 11-man rules are used.

It might be the coming thing.

This quote from Bobby Thompson, the hero of the New York Giants' dramatic win over Brooklyn in that National baseball league playoff series:

"If I'd been a good hitter, I'd never have swung on that pitch (on which he hit the playoff homer). It was outside and would have been called a ball."

LOUIS, MARCIANO HAD FINE RECORDS

Some critics called the Joe Louis-Rocky Marciano fight a battle between a has-been and a never-was.

The truth of the matter was, the gladiators had lost but two fights between them when they entered the ring and Louis was charged with both of those defeats. Max Schmeling whipped him once early in his career and Edward Charles turned the trick recently. Marciano had an unsullied record.

Orange Bowl football fans are going to pay from 12 to 35 cents more for ducts to this season's games than they did last year, and the Miami ducts were already the highest for a New Year's Day attraction in the land.

Cotton Bowl tickets ($4.80 each) will be the same as last year, however.

Orange Bowl officials asked for the increase because cost of production has jumped.

Football Fans Can Order Cotton Bowl Tickets Starting Thursday

Tomorrow is the first of four days during which applications for the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day football game will be received by mail at the offices of the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association, 1243 National City Building, Dallas.

Applications are limited to four tickets per person and will be accepted by mail only between Nov. 1 and 4, Howard Grubbs, secretary-treasurer of the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association, has announced.

Each application must be accompanied by check and self-addressed envelope. Tickets are $4.80 each. A mailing fee of 25 cents is required with each application.

A drawing will be held to determine the order in which ticket applications will be filled, as long as the supply lasts. Last year only one out of ten applicants received tickets.

Association officials appealed to sports fans for contributions to help support the U. S. Olympic team to Helsinki next summer. The U. S. team is supported entirely by public funds. Contributions sent with ticket applications should be in the form of a separate check made payable to the U. S. Olympic Association.

Bulldogs Have Top 5-B Mark

The District 5-B football race is apt to settle into a two-team race after Friday.

On that date, two of the three leaders—Coahoma and Robert Lee—play each other. The third place setter, Hernleigh, will be favored to topple Lorraine in a game at Lorraine.

Coahoma had to go all out last week to topple Hobbs, 12-0. The two teams fought to a scoreless deadlock for 2 1/2 periods but Jimmy Knight and Lynwood Watts turned pass interceptions into touchdowns to swing the issue Coahoma's way.

Coahoma has the best season's record of the eight teams comprising the district, having lost only one decision in seven starts. Hobbs had been beaten but twice in seven assignments but both of those have been within the league.

In other games this week, Bronte played the first game of the season against Trent while Trent takes on Hobbs in Hobbs. The loser in that game faces elimination from the race.

Team	W	L	T
Coahoma	4	1	0
Hernleigh	4	1	0
Robert Lee	3	2	1
Bronte	2	2	1
Trent	2	2	1
Lorraine	2	2	1
Hobbs	1	3	1
Bronte	0	3	1

This week's games: Coahoma at Robert Lee, Hernleigh at Lorraine, Bronte at Trent at Hobbs. Last week's results: Coahoma 13 Hobbs 0, Trent 27 Bronte 0, Bronte 13 Lorraine 13, Hernleigh 13 Robert Lee 0.

Local Fem Keglers Hold Own In Meet

Local women bowlers more than held their own when they competed in the Lester Invitational tournament at Hobbs, N. M., last weekend.

At the present time, Frances Glass of the Texas Club aggregation at Big Spring is holding second place in Class B All-Southern with a score of 1479. Vera Deuser and Maxine Bowler are in a second place tie in Class C Doubles with an aggregate tally of 854.

Other Texas Clubbers who made the trip include Sally Blanton of Lamesa, Thelma Letzkowky, Jinx Deuser, Frit Steis and Janette Long.

The tournament is still in progress.

Joe Louis Will Not Be Allowed Illinois Fight

CHICAGO, Oct. 31. (AP)—If Joe Louis decides to hit another comeback trail he will have to detour Illinois.

The Illinois Athletic Commission will deny him permission to fight in the state, for his own well being.

Chairman Joe Triner said Louis "should not take chances of being hurt. . . he's been a great part of the game, but he should quit before it's too late."

"If Louis continues to fight, and if he ever applies for a license to fight in Illinois, it will be denied for his own good."

Commissioners Lou Radzienda and Ralph Metcalfe agree.

"If Louis does not retire of his own accord, the National Boxing Association should retire him for his own sake," said Radzienda.

The 37-year-old former heavy-weight king, belted through the ropes by Rocky Marciano in Madison Square Garden Friday night, has not announced retirement plans.

His attorney, Truman Gibson, said he did not believe Louis would try another comeback.

"Judging from what Joe has told me, I am reasonably sure he has no plans for future fights," Gibson observed. "I talked with Marshall Miles (Louis' manager) and he said there were no plans for Louis to continue fighting — that Louis was through."

Gibson said he expects Joe to announce his plans when he returns from an exhibition tour of Japan. He is to leave New York Nov. 10.

Louis' income tax indebtedness, reportedly about $100,000, may be ironed out by a compromise: Joe will have to give up fighting to bring this about.

John T. Jarecki, collector of internal revenue for Northern Illinois, said a compromise is possible if Louis intends to quit the ring and proves his inability to pay his full back tax.

"The glamor is worn off Louis now and he's through (as a boxer)," said Jarecki. "You can't get blood out of a turnip."

Kazmaier Named Back Of Week

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. (AP)—Dick Kazmaier, 20, Princeton All-American, had another accolade bestowed on his slender shoulders today when he was named the football back of the week.

Hailed as one of the greatest offensive performers in Princeton's past after leading the Tigers to a 10-0 victory over Cornell for their 18th successive victory.

Here's what Kazmaier did: Completed 15 of 17 passes, three for touchdowns.

Scored two touchdowns. Gained 236 yards through the air.

Carried the ball 18 times for 126 yards.

Nine other players were nominated at least once for top back honors.

The list included: Johnny Karra, Illinois — Scored three touchdowns, one an 88-yard gallop, against Indiana.

Billy Tidwell, Texas Aggies — Carried the ball 10 times for 130 yards. Ran 49 yards for one touchdown. 66 for another, set up a third with a 43-yard run and almost got loose for touchdown on a 58-yard runback of a kickoff in a 21-21 tie with Baylor.

Ray McKown, TCU — passed 74 and five yards for two touchdowns against Southern California, scored one himself, engineered a 83-yard for another, rushed 70 yards in 20 carries and completed 17 out of 25 passes for 270 yards.

Junior Artarburn, Texas Tech — passed and ran for 267 yards, more than all of his team's total, and scored three touchdowns in 41-0 victory over Arizona.

List Of Unbeaten, Untied Clubs Due To Be Trimmed

Breck To Host Stephenville

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF Associated Press Sports Writer

Pieces in the jig-saw that is Texas schoolboy football start falling into place this week.

Favorites in most of the 80 districts of the four divisions playing to state championships will be established.

The campaign thunders into its final month — the last three weeks for Classes AA and A — with a slender list of undefeated, untied teams. This list is due to be trimmed sharply this week.

Only 30 teams have perfect records. It will be no surprise if at least 10 fall this week-end. Only in two instances do unbeaten, untied eleven play each other.

The headline game is in Class AAAA where Pampa plays at Lubbock Friday. Undefeated and untied and ready for the showdown in District 1, the Harvesters and Westerners are due to stage one of the finest duels of the season.

Class AAA features the battle of Stephenville and Breckenridge at Breckenridge Friday night. It is probably the pay-off game of District 2 where Stephenville is the last undefeated, untied team. Stephenville already has licked a strong contender, Brownwood.

In Class AA Anson goes to Stamford in a clash of undefeated, untied teams. The winner of which will become the outstanding favorite for the District 5 championship. Another feature sends Lockhart to Gonzalez in District 24.

Gonzales is undefeated and untied. Lockhart is unbeaten but has been tied. Leadership of nine districts are in the balance among the schedule of 77 games in Class AA.

In Class A where there are 15 undefeated, untied teams, Lockney will be playing at Abernathy in District 3 with Lockney able to win the title if it can knock down its undefeated, untied foe.

There are 223 games in the four classes, virtually every one counting in district championship races.

Among the undefeated, untied teams with toughest foes are Palestine, which plays Bryan; La Vega, which meets West; and Lampasas, which engages Gatesville.

Bobby Bowmer Far Ahead In Passing

By The Associated Press Bobby Bowmer of Schreiner is about the hottest passer in Texas college football this season.

Bowmer leads the Pioneer Junior College Conference with 859 yards on 52 completions in 161 throws. He is more than 200 yards ahead of runner-up Buddy Hamrick of Ranger.

Dougal Cameron of San Angelo tops the ball-carriers with 965 yards on 63 runs for an average of 7.3 yards per carry. Durwood Watkins of Schreiner is second with 881 yards on 70 runs.

The leading scorer is Don Bloom of Arlington State with 82 points.

Schreiner leads in team offense with 2187 yards in six games. Schreiner is the top passing team with 1089 yards and Arlington State tops in rushing with 1593.

Points For Lamesa

Speck Franklin, senior halfback of the Big Spring football team, hopes to turn in his all-time best performance when the Steers invade Lamesa Friday night for a District I-AAA game. Franklin was very sharp against Plainview last week. (Staff Photo)

Over-Emphasis On Victory, Not Football, Says Ed Price Of UT

By BO EYERS AUSTIN, Oct. 31. (AP)—The score board is the reason for over-emphasis on football. Texas Coach Ed Price asserted emphatically.

"I agree. I think it's pretty hard to say just coaches and college overemphasize football when the cards of people come out for games every Saturday all over the country," chimed in North Carolina Coach Carl Snavely.

The two gridiron strategists, heads of the football fortunes of two "big name" schools voiced their views at an informal get-together the night before the North Carolina-Texas game.

"Over-emphasis is not on football but on the victory," expounded Price. "Sure, I want to win, but we don't teach our boys that winning is the most important thing. I firmly believe the effort in striving to win is the thing that counts."

"If victory is all that counts, it boils down to who's got the best boys — or, who's doing the best job of recruiting."

What's the solution to the problem? "As long as everyone is conditioned to a 'victory is the thing' attitude, there's no solution," Price believed.

Snavely thought that was probably true, but he felt some emphasis could be taken off football by abolishing the two-plateau system. Incidentally, he was one of the first exponents of that system.

Use of two plateaus puts more pressure on the coach to develop winners because the system requires bigger squads, and bigger squads require more money for football scholarships, Snavely explained.

Snavely and Price agree that 100 scholarships per year (including freshmen) should be the maximum issued by a school. The cost of a greater number is prohibitive, they said.

Nassau Bengals Better Records Made In 1950

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. (AP)—Caredevil Dick Kazmaier and his pounding Princetons are the big news in the major college offense statistics released today by the NCAA.

Charlie Caldwell's Tigers, who lost ten of their seven offensive starters of the team that last year led the nation's major squads in scoring with 349 points in nine games for an average of 38.8, are up to their old tricks.

This time, though, the rebuilt Nassau outfit is a little ahead of its mark of 1950 with 204 points in five games for an average of 40.8. Tulsa, which led the pack until this week, is second with a 39.0 average on 19 points in five games and Holy Cross is third with a 39.0 compiled on 185 points, also in five games.

Kazmaier made an individual record and set another team mark for the Tigers against Cornell when he completed 15 of 17 passes.

Princeton's passing accuracy, rated fourth last week, now is by far No. 1 — an average of 83.4 on 56 completions in 82 tries. Illinois is No. 2 with 59.5.

In rushing and total offense, the Crusaders of Holy Cross head the list. They have rushed the ball an average of 349.5 yards and their total offense mark is 476.2 per game. They are being hounded by Tulsa which has compiled averages of 347.2 and 461.2 in the two departments.

Legacy of Los Angeles heads the class in total offense in the air — just as it has all season. The Lions average slipped some this week, but its 214.6 still is a comfortable margin over Oklahoma A&M, which has averaged 203 yards per game.

Stanton Plays Midland Bees

Denver City is still leading District 4-A football standings with yards to spare and, from all indications, can coast to the championship.

The Mustangs will be idle this weekend while some of the other teams within the circuit battle it out. Denver City still has games with Stanton and Whiteface remaining on its schedule and will be an overwhelming favorite to sack up decisions in those starts.

Stanton, still winless after seven games, three of them within the conference, takes on Midland's reserves this weekend in Stanton.

In other games, O'Donnell goes to Sundown in the only other contest booked. Other conference clubs will be idle.

District 4-A Season Standings

'DOGS FACE VERNON

Midland Is Still Favorite In District I-AAA Race

As some of the sports gentry would put it, "Big Spring is good as the heat and better than the rest" in the District I-AAA football race at the moment.

The victory over Plainview last week, close though it was, restored the Steers to good standing in the league.

Cincinnati To Seek 7th Win In Row At Abilene

CINCINNATI, Oct. 31. (AP)—Coach Sid Gillman's University of Cincinnati football team will be seeking their seventh straight win of the season at Abilene, Texas Saturday when they engage the Cowboys of Hardin-Simmons.

In debating Texas Western, 33-18, Saturday the Bearcats tied the all-time Cincinnati mark for a winning streak that was set by the 1923 team that won their first six games. That team lost their final two tilts.

The Bearcats are also striving for the first undefeated, untied season in their history. The 1928 team was one, lost none and tied one; the 1918 team won three, lost none and tied two.

Midland is still the overwhelming favorite in the race and Vernon is regarded as the chief threat to the Bulldogs but the Steers will not be taken lightly henceforth.

Vernon entertains Midland this weekend in a contest that could decide the conference champion.

At the same time, Big Spring goes to Lamesa and Sweetwater visits Plainview.

In season's standings, Vernon is setting the pace with a 5-1 won-lost record. Midland has won four and tied another in six starts.

Lamesa boasts the best offensive record in the league, having scored 188 points in six games. However, the Tornados counted 72 of those in one outing.

Defensively, Vernon has been the most impressive, having had only 40 points registered against it all year.

Team	W	L	T	Pts.	Opp.
Vernon	5	1	0	60	40
Midland	4	1	1	60	40
Lamesa	3	2	1	138	117
Big Spring	2	4	0	87	121
Sweetwater	2	4	0	28	13
Plainview	1	5	0	18	10

Team	W	L	T	Pts.	Opp.
Big Spring	4	0	0	21	7
Vernon	4	0	0	21	7
Midland	3	0	0	21	7
Plainview	1	0	0	21	7
Sweetwater	1	0	0	21	7

Last Week's Results—Big Spring 21, Plainview 0; Midland 21, Lamesa 0; Vernon 14, Sweetwater 0.

This Week's Games—Sweetwater at Plainview; Big Spring at Lamesa; Midland at Vernon.

Mrs. Helen Boland Flown For Dallas Polio Treatment

Mrs. Helen Boland, who with her husband, Charlie Boland, operates the concession stand in the portofolobby, was under treatment in Dallas Wednesday for bulbar polio.

Mrs. Boland was flown in a chartered plane, piloted by Herman Taylor, to Dallas at 10:30 p.m. Tuesday following diagnosis of her case.

At Parkland hospital in Dallas, she was put in a respirator. She apparently stood the trip well although Mrs. Boland was tired. Her left arm has been affected and the right one to a great degree.

Ironically, this was the second time that polio had attacked Mrs. Boland. The first, suffered in childhood, affected a leg and left her on crutches.

Mrs. Boland had been active here in the Indoor Sports club, an organization for physically handicapped, and was its treasurer. Boland herself is physically handicapped.

Friends immediately were coming to their aid financially and H. T. (Tiny) Walker and Marjory Thayer were receiving monetary gifts to help defray the unusual expenses.

Points To Prison Record To Prove Clue To Murder
TUCUMCARI, N. M., Oct. 31. (AP)—Sheriff Claude Moncus pointed today to a prison record to prove that a man arrested in Texas a confidant had killed a man in September, 1945.

Robert Watts, arrested at Vernon, on a bad check charge, signed a statement saying he listened to death Horace Rogers of Tucumcari.

Moncus said Watts merely was trying to stay out of the Huntsville, Tex. prison as an habitual criminal.

"I just think he likes New Mexico jails better," the sheriff said. He reported Watts has a perfect alibi for the killing.

Watts was sentenced to life as an habitual criminal from Tucumcari. He was released Sept. 1, 1951. He had served earlier terms in the Texas prison and the New Mexico penitentiary.

Radar Post Revealed At Duncanville

DALLAS, Oct. 31. (AP)—A highly secret Air Force installation at nearby Duncanville was disclosed today to be a radar listening post — one comprising a network throughout the United States to protect key cities and areas.

The commanding officer, Maj. Louis A. Delaney received permission to say so from the command of the 33rd Air Division at Oklahoma City.

It was the first time that the location of such a radar warning station had been told.

It is manned by the 147th AC&W Squadron. This is a Van Nuys, Calif., Air National Guard outfit.

Much information about the base still is secret, Maj. Delaney would not say what "AC&W" meant. No pictures are allowed.

Nancy Sinatra is pictured as she appeared in Santa Monica, Calif., Superior Court where she told a story of mental cruelty which resulted in Judge Orlando M. Rhodes granting her an interlocutory decree of divorce from her crooner-mate. (AP Wire-photo).

Succumbs In Dallas

DALLAS, Oct. 31. (AP)—Mrs. Evelyn Hall Owen, 92, whose grandfather founded the First Presbyterian Church in Texas — at San Augustine — died Tuesday. Services were to be held today in Albany.

Chief exports of the Azores are fruit, grain, cattle, dairy products, canned fish and whale oil.

Frankie Didn't Tell The Truth, Nancy Claims

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Oct. 31. (AP)—Ava Gardner may be surprised to learn this, but Frank Sinatra used to explain those long trips of his by telling his wife: "I was out with the boys."

Mrs. Nancy Sinatra so testified Tuesday in winning a divorce. She charged mental cruelty.

Mrs. Sinatra said Frank had asked her for a divorce several times, but "I waited because I wanted to be sure he knew what he was about."

Sinatra already has filed suit for divorce in Nevada. He and Miss Gardner were constant companions during his six week residence in Nevada prior to the filing of the suit. His international wooing of the actress was headlined for weeks.

Mrs. Sinatra did not mention Miss Gardner in the uncontested trial. She said he told her, after his long absences from home, "I was out with the boys."

A property settlement gives Mrs. Sinatra 33 per cent of the singer's income up to $150,000 a year plus 10 per cent of any income above that figure. Sinatra earned $367,000 from Jan. 1 to Aug. 31 of this year, Mrs. Sinatra gets custody of their three children. They were married in 1939.

921 Delinquents From Draft Are Stated In Texas

AUSTIN, Oct. 31. (AP)—Texas had 921 draft delinquents at the end of September — 75 per cent of them with local boards in five cities. State Selective Service Headquarters said Tuesday.

The figure compared with 941 delinquents at the end of June.

Cities included in the big five were Dallas, Houston, Edinburg, San Antonio and Fort Worth.

More than half the delinquents — 491 — were classified for failure to report for induction, State Director Paul L. Wakefield said.

Dallas County was recorded with 233 delinquents, Harris 145, Hidalgo and Starr 124, Bexar and Banderas 89 and Tarrant with 69.

Local boards with no delinquents included Vernon, Lufkin, Brownwood, Eastland, Longview, Athens, Sulphur Springs, Cleburne, Sweetwater, and Pecos.

Delinquency is punishable by fines ranging up to $10,000 and prison sentences ranging up to five years.

Light Rains Fall At Colorado City

COLORADO CITY, Oct. 31. (AP)—Light rains fell here early today. Precipitation had amounted to .04 of an inch at 7:30 a.m. This was the third time this month that showers had measured this precise amount.

The Eiffel Tower in Paris contains 7,000 tons of iron.

Hearst Corporation Settles With Davies

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. (AP)—Marion Davies, long-time friend of the late William Randolph Hearst, and officials of the Hearst Corporation have issued a statement that all matters between them are settled.

The announcement Tuesday said in part:

"Miss Davies has relinquished all rights she may have to act as voting trustee for the stock of the Hearst Corporation for the reason, among others, that there is a question as to when her right to act as voting trustee thereunder would commence. This question would have to be clarified by long court proceedings which all parties deemed unnecessary and undesirable."

The corporation controls the newspaper and magazine empire built up by the publisher. Hearst died several months ago.

Published reports had said Hearst and Miss Davies, a former actress, had signed an agreement Nov. 5, 1950, that made them the only trustees in a voting trust for the corporation's entire stock.

The Parke-Bernet galleries said a collection of 18th and 17th century paintings, 18th century English furniture, silver and art objects belonging to Miss Davies would be sold at auction Nov. 14 and 17.

Marion Davies Weds Naval Officer In Las Vegas Rite

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Oct. 31. (AP)—Former Actress Marion Davies was married in a surprise ceremony early today to Horace G. Brown, skipper of a military transport ship.

The blonde, blue-eyed ex-star gave her age as 45 and said it was her first marriage. Brown, 46, was divorced from Mrs. Grace M. Brown, former wife of Singer Lawrence Tibbett, in 1947.

The ceremony lasted only three minutes and was witnessed by Brown's son, Horace G. Brown.

At one point Justice James Down halted the ceremony. Miss Davies, in reciting the marriage vows, had gotten ahead of him during the "love, honor and obey" portion.

"Just a minute," said Down. "We don't use the word 'obey' in the Nevada ceremony."

Abdullah Will Seek Divorce Elsewhere

By WILBUR MARTIN
HOUSTON, Oct. 31. (AP)—Sheppard (Abdullah) King III is thinking of going to Mexico or Egypt to get a divorce and pave the way for his marriage to an Egyptian belly dancer.

"There's too much prejudice against me in Houston," he said Tuesday night, adding he didn't think he would get a "fair hearing" in any divorce suit heard in Harris County.

He indicated his hope for quick freedom was squelched Monday when a hearing on his wife's annulment petition was postponed until Dec. 10. The hearing ended with his wife, Gloria, dousing him with a cup of water and storming he was "yapping" too much.

The complicated story of the wealthy young Texan and Samia Gamal broke a little over a month ago. He saw the dancer in a Paris night club, wooed her and proposed in three hours.

From this stemmed stormy and confusing events. Among the latter was Gloria's claim she didn't remember remarrying Sheppard in Dallas June 2. In her annulment petition she said she had consumed "too many fancy drinks" and didn't remember the ceremony.

The annulment hearing was postponed because Houston Attorney Robert L. Sonfield, who had filed a "friend of the court" intervention petition, insisted on Dallas Judge Robert A. Hall appearing.

Sonfield's petition asked the annulment be denied because it mocked the integrity of Texas courts and judges, particularly Hall.

Sheppard said he asked his attorney in Egypt to see if a divorce there would be recognized in the United States. He said if it would be, then he would fly to Cairo and get one.

"If it isn't," he said, "I might end up in Mexico. And I might do it anyway. The flashlights on this Cadillac might be passing that way any day now."

He said his socially prominent mother, Mrs. Bonner King, was not going to disinherit him as she had threatened.

"I don't know why I came back from Egypt," King said. "I guess I came back to get my money and a divorce and I haven't gotten either."

McCarthy Seeks Quick Cash On European Trip

HOUSTON, Oct. 31. (AP)—The Houston Post said today Oilman Glenn McCarthy is going overseas probably to look for some fast financial action that will bring him quick cash.

The Post, saying McCarthy's oil holdings are heavily encumbered, added that the "best guess is that McCarthy is on the trail of a deal he figures will give him some blue chips to operate with."

McCarthy is in New York planning to fly to Europe.

Contacted by the Post, the owner of the swank Shamrock Hotel and widespread oil holdings on the Gulf Coast replied "no comment" to most questions.

Asked if he thought the U. S. government would allow an individual oil man to get "into Iran," McCarthy answered, "I think so."

Iran is in the middle of a fight with Britain over Iran's seizure of the rich Iranian oil industry.

The Post said "the poor, deadpan McCarthy is not a man to sit things out — while his heavily encumbered oil holdings and enterprises pay themselves out in a decade or so, if 'worst comes to worst, peter out and leave him a man in his middle fifties with a comfortable income from annuities and trust funds."

"That would seem to be the explanation of his mysterious junket X X X."

Asked specifically if he had any idea of "getting into Iran" or making oil sales in Britain, McCarthy said "no comment."

Stokowski Expecting
NEW YORK, Oct. 31. (AP)—Conductor Leopold Stokowski, 69, and his 27-year-old wife, the former Gloria Vanderbilt, are expecting their second child in January. They have a son born Aug. 22, 1950.

The first formal school on Pitcairn Island opened in 1949.

All-Music Program Presented Rotary
An all-music program by the Hungry Five, high school novelty musicians, was presented at the Rotary club meeting Tuesday.

It was Ladies Day and wives of members were present along with several other guests. Visiting Rotarians were W. C. Reynolds, Lubbock; Olin W. Wall, Fallbrook; and H. L. MacAllister, Bonaville; Chester O'Brien Jr., son of Chester O'Brien, club secretary, was also a visitor.

The high school quintet played several German and American folk music selections.

REMODELLED INTERIOR OF T&P PASSENGER TERMINAL

Vollmer Lends Personal Touch

Many things have happened since William G. Vollmer assumed the duties of president of the Texas and Pacific Railway company six years ago.

Revenues have reached peak; operational efficiency has increased; vast improvements have been made to the roadbed; and the system has been almost totally Dieselized.

But none have been quite so distinguishing as the human touch.

Vollmer makes no bones about it. He inherited a good railroad when he laid aside his duties as senior vice-president of the Missouri Pacific railroad in May, 1945, to become head of the Texas & Pacific. The organization was well founded and had loyal employees and customers.

He sensed a cold and impersonal feeling among his organization, however, and this was one of the things he wanted most to overcome. Employee and public relations went right at the top of his list.

Through personal contacts; through employee activities and clubs; through publications and communications he set out to get to know the 8,000 members of the T&P family. In the process, he learned personally about hundreds upon hundreds of the road's customers.

Out of this experience developed a new sense of pride among the employees and officials in their line, and in the services it was providing. In spite of an annual volume of $70 million, the road was not too big to have one of its crack trains halt at a remote spot in Louisiana to replace a kitten killed by the train.

When the odd clicking of a train aroused suspicions of the wife of a T&P employee on the Eastern Division and an investigation revealed a broken rail, she was properly recognized. Scores of little incidents along the 1,500 miles demonstrated that the T&P had a heartbeat—a heartbeat that annually included trips and parties for its retired workers, both white and colored.

Vollmer lost no time in getting over the T&P line when he became its president. One of the things he determined to attack steadily was the modernization of terminal facilities. Some of them were inadequate; others were outmoded.

One of those was at Big Spring. It was by no means the most pressing and thus waited its turn. But the T&P president never set it back on the list. He wanted it to be a credit to the company and the community.

In another year, Vollmer will have rounded out half a century in active railroading. He started in 1902 on the Pennsylvania and three years later went to the Missouri Pacific.

A native Ohioan, he moved into his place like a native Texan when he started his administration at Dallas. In tribute for his ability to get things done, he was asked within a year to head the Dallas Community Chest. This he did, successfully, not alone through organization but by hitting the pavement himself to do no small amount of the actual contact. In many other affairs he has been equally active, and he has encouraged his officials and employees to not only make T&P a good citizen wherever it does business, but also to be good, participating citizens themselves.

Before the close of World War II, Vollmer was proceeding boldly on a program of replacing steam power with Diesel-electric locomotives and the conventional passenger rolling stock with bright, airy streamlined equipment. The entire Western division is now fully Dieselized and within a year the entire system will have been converted fully to Diesel power, a transition no less remarkable for its speed than the smoothness with which it was accomplished.

When Big Spring was contemplating the centennial of the discovery of the "big Spring" for which it was named, Shine Phillips talked with T&P officials about a cantata a prisoner in the Tennessee state penitentiary had written. The T&P had the score reproduced and then its male chorus took it on as a project. The premiere here drew a packed house. A year later, when the composer, Frank Grandstaff, was furloughed to hear his music

New T&P Depot To Be Presented To City Thursday

The Texas & Pacific Railway Company presents its "new" passenger station to Big Spring Thursday.

President W. G. Vollmer and a score of officials of the railroad will be here for brief formalities marking completion of a renovation project on the local T&P station. It has been a multi-thousand-dollar program lasting over a period of months, and one which the city and the T&P have been working toward for several years.

Mayor G. W. Dabney, who happens also to be the T&P's ticket agent here, has proclaimed "Texas & Pacific" Day in honor of Vollmer's visit and in recognition of the new facilities.

The program at the station is set for 2:30 Thursday afternoon. The Big Spring high school band will be on hand for music, and then President Vollmer will make a symbolic presentation of the new station to the people it is designed to serve.

Vollmer, with J. C. Porter, vice president in charge of operations, and the other T&P officials will reach here Thursday morning, and spend several hours visiting T&P people here and viewing properties.

At noon at the Settles hotel, the visiting notables will be honored at a luncheon. The Kiwanis club, regularly meeting on Thursday, will be host organization for the affair, to which all citizens have been invited. Reservations may be made through the chamber of commerce.

Members of the Lions club are joining in the Thursday luncheon, and members of other service clubs have been asked to participate.

Vollmer, Porter and Dabney will make brief talks at the luncheon session. The Dabneys are to be introduced by Joe Pickle.

A complete remodeling and rearrangement project has been completed at the station, which is nearly a quarter-century old. Stress has been put on lighter-brighter decor and facilities, with modernized lobby space, ticket office and restrooms.

The public has been invited to attend the 2:30 ceremonies, and the T&P has announced that the station is open for inspection all during the day, for those who cannot attend the program.

In the group coming here with Vollmer and Porter will be the following from the operations office in Dallas:

R. C. Parker, assistant vice president; R. J. Gammie, chief engineer; W. J. Savage, assistant chief engineer; S. G. Urban, architect; A. B. Shaw, superintendent of stations and freight claim prevention; O. E. Ballomy, superintendent of motor transport.

From the traffic department will be: V. B. Gilman, freight traffic manager; W. W. Fair, passenger traffic manager; C. S. McDonald, merchandise traffic manager; C.

E. Pistor, assistant freight traffic manager; M. L. Craig, general freight agent; W. O. Harris, general passenger agent; John Simpson, general livestock agent, Fort Worth; G. W. Crawford, district passenger agent, Fort Worth.

From the public relations department will be J. E. Shores, director of employe-public relations; B. A. Malone, public relations representative; E. C. Higginbotham, assistant director of industrial development will represent the land and industrial department. There also will be representatives from the legal department.

Among T&P officials meeting the visitors will be W. C. Foster, superintendent; G. L. Brooks, general agent; A. C. LaCroix, assistant superintendent; J. G. Tucker, assistant superintendent; R. T. Stanley, road foreman of engines; G. W.

Leghorn Produces

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. (AP)—According to poultry experts, the Leghorn type of chicken, because of their small size but high egg production, comprise "the more efficient converters of feed into eggs."

Thus, it is estimated that a Leghorn will produce a dozen eggs on 5.89 pounds of feed.

Fish do not drink water; they get enough moisture in their food.

MOST MODERN IN SYSTEM

More Working And Waiting Comfort In New T&P Station

More working and waiting comfort, as well as more usable room, has resulted from remodeling work on the Big Spring T&P passenger terminal.

Design throughout the newly-finished depot has been aimed at utility and comfort. In the streamlined ticket booth, new offices, and waiting rooms, that goal has been achieved.

The old-style bleak-looking waiting room has been transformed into one of the most modern on the T&P system. Replacing the old wooden benches in the waiting area are comfortable new aluminum furnishings.

Walls of the waiting rooms have been "pulled in," too, to provide space for additional division offices and filing rooms. Floor was raised some 18 inches, and the ceiling in the structure was lowered a like amount.

The walls are now finished in bright beige tile to a height of some four feet. Remainder is finished with a soft green plaster. Ceiling of the first floor boasts new acoustical tile. Venetian blinds are in a light green to match the walls.

Fluorescent lighting has replaced the old lamps in the interior and decorative aluminum lamps adorn outside walls near entrances to the terminal.

More spacious ticket facilities occupy the center of the passenger area. Ticket agents now work behind waist-high counters under which are fitted new metal cabinets. Cabinets also form a portion of the counter top, with the rest finished in highly polished wood.

Lockers, a trophy case, and telephone booth are built into the walls of the new station. The floor has an asphalt tile covering, white entrances have metal doors and frames.

Rest rooms have been completely remodelled with tile walls and the latest in modern fixtures. They are located convenient to the waiting areas.

New file rooms are located in the west end of the terminal and are connected with second-floor division offices by a spiral stairway. Offices for the general roadmaster and his assistant, the general agent, and the water service department are located in the east end of the building.

Stairway to the second floor has also been remodelled.

Outside of the building has been given a new white trim, along with new entrance steps. Second floor of the station, which houses Western Division offices, was remodelled three years ago, the railway officials now consider the Big Spring terminal one of the finest on the T&P lines.

13 Contractors Had Hand In Remodelling

No fewer than 13 contractors had a hand in remodeling Big Spring's Texas & Pacific Railway depot into one of the most modern terminals on the T&P lines.

Seven of the firms doing the work were from Big Spring. Six were from other cities.

Dallas headed the list of other towns with four contractors from that city taking part in the job. The two other concerns were from San Angelo and Midland.

Suggs Construction company of Big Spring was general contractor for the project which was started last March.

Coleman and Campbell, Big Spring, did lathing and plastering work, while the D&E Electric company, Big Spring, installed wiring and electrical fixtures. Another local concern, Haynie Floor Service, installed asphalt tile.

D. D. Johnston, Big Spring, contracted the paint work on the new terminal. Plumbing was installed by A. P. Kasch & Son, Big Spring.

The other local firm called in on the project was Western Glass and Mirror company, doors and windows.

Millwork was done by the Box Planing Mill and Store Fixture company of San Angelo. Midland's D. J. Callaway Tile company installed tile and other glazed finishing materials.

Streamlined metal counters and office equipment was provided by the Wildlife Equipment company of Dallas. The William Weston Hardware company of Dallas furnished the finish hardware. Stairs and plumbing partitions came from the Metal Products company of Dallas.

Venetian blinds were another Dallas product, coming from the Acme Screen company.

Income Taxes Become Factor In Marketing

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Staff

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. (AP)—Federal income taxes are fast becoming a new and powerful factor in influencing the marketing of crops and livestock.

As the year-end approaches many farmers weigh scales to determine whether it would be better to hold off until the new tax year begins. Often sales late in the year throw the farmer-taxpayer into a higher income tax rate bracket.

This is influencing the sale of beef cattle. Some cattle feeders have figured that more sales before Jan. 1 would push their taxes up to a point where all their profit would be taken to satisfy higher-bracket taxes.

Of course there is considerable gamble in postponing sales until a new tax year. It's always possible that rates will be increased in the new tax year to offset savings resulting from postponement.

There also is the possibility that by carrying over production from one year to another the farmer will be creating a similar situation for himself at the close of the next tax year.

There always is a chance that drought, insects or other factors will cut his production in the new tax year to create a situation under which he would save taxes by having postponed sales.

In recent years, with increases in tax rates, marketings of grain and livestock usually dip noticeably late in December and pick up sharply in January.

The Agriculture Department has taken this tax factor into account in operating its farm commodity price support programs. It is possible to get price-support loans on most crops through January in the year after they are grown.

Screwdriver, Please

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. (AP)—In radio, where a technician may not have all the knowledge required for the proper servicing of receivers, he is known as a "screwdriver" mechanic. The theory is that when he gets beyond the screwdriver stage he is lost.

T&P A Major Employer Of Local People

The Texas and Pacific Railway has been a major employer in Big Spring since the days when the city was composed of a tent village, and it still is one of the most important factors to the entire area's economy.

There have been changes, of course, many of them as recent as the past five years, but the number of T&P people living in Big Spring has remained approximately the same. One might say that the T&P, in keeping abreast of the times, has changed its methods, but has kept its "family" and its objectives virtually intact.

At present there are approximately 350 persons in the Big Spring area who look to the T&P for their respective pay checks.

One of the greatest changes to take place since World War II was suspension of operations in the T&P roundhouse. This came about when the railroad Dieselized its motive power, rapidly replacing the conventional steam locomotives.

A substantial portion of the personnel in the roundhouse found employment in the yards, however, which now have their largest roster in history. At about the same time the steam locomotives and the roundhouse were fading from the picture, the Western Division headquarters was returned here, bringing along supervisory personnel ranging up to a district superintendent.

As for the T&P payroll in Big Spring, it amounts to well over $200,000 a month.

This is for personnel actually living here and working regularly at local T&P installations. There are many others, of course, who come here occasionally for temporary periods.

RECLAMATION PROJECT ON

PAPENBURG, Germany, Oct. 31. (AP)—Steam plows and a free labor force are pushing a reclamation project begun before the war by Nazi concentration camp prisoners.

In 10 years the West German government hopes to turn the marshy wastes of Emaland near the North Sea coast into 500,000 acres of fertile soil.

It is hoped to settle 30,000 farmers in the area when the $119 million project is completed.

Railroad Came After Terminal Building Erected

Big Spring has had a railroad terminal building longer than it has had a railroad.

The first structure, a long wooden structure erected about where the freight depot is now situated, was completed in 1881, before the railroad pushed as far west as Big Spring.

The depot, which looked like a thousand other terminal buildings across the land at that time, served Big Spring until 1912, when construction on the present brick building was completed.

The new building, incorporating all the modern conveniences at the time and the pride and joy of the town, required about two years to build.

It was so constructed to provide for railroad offices on the second floor, a purpose it still serves.

The first station was equipped with what is known in railroad parlance as a "beanery" and a hotel. When the new structure was opened it had a cafe but no hotel. The town was equipped to house its visitors by that time.

A Dallas concern was awarded the contract to build the structure. Among those who worked on the project were Vernon Harwell, still an active carpenter here, and Lee Bradshaw of Midland, father of Mrs. Willard Sullivan.

Harwell recalls that he hired out to the contractor after he had wound up work on the courthouse at Garden City.

VOLLMER

for the first time, the T&P chorus was back to give another great performance.

Talking with people about the problems of the day and thinking about them, Vollmer put his finger on four foundation stones. These were the things upon which the nation had been established and grew.

And so his "four pillars of freedom" were enlarged into a talk and then a booklet. Last May, newspaper readers up and down the T&P saw large attractive ads, each dedicated to one of these pillars, urging them to "Work—Save—Vote—Pray."

Requests began to roll into the T&P headquarters. More than 300,000 copies have been furnished to date, and even now the T&P daily mails out 1,000 to meet demands for the popular piece.

This was the response of people from Boston to Tacoma to the philosophy of a practical rail executive whose underlying idea about running a railroad, a community and a nation is wrapped up in the Golden Rule.

a Salute to the T&P:..

And Greetings To Its Outstanding Leader,

MR. W. G. VOLLMER

For more than 70 years, the history and the economy of Big Spring has been tied closely with the Texas & Pacific Railway Company . . . for it was the coming of the railroad in the Spring of '81 that really brought about a Big Spring.

And through the decades, Big Spring has been a "T&P town," with its interests common to those of the railroad.

And particularly have those interests been closer during the regime of Mr. W. G. Vollmer, president of the T&P for the past six years. Big Spring has recognized Mr. Vollmer not only as a great industrial executive, but as a man who has worked solidly and unceasingly for human rights and for basic decencies that are essential to the preservation of the American - and the Christian - way of life.

It is with an especial warmth of feeling that Big Spring congratulates the T&P upon another step of progress that helps this community. And it is with the same warmth that Big Spring welcomes Mr. Vollmer and his associates here upon the occasion of an event which means much to both the railroad and our community.

Prince Ferdinand, Self-Made Man, Against Being A Kaiser

By HANSJOERG FLACHMEYER, BREMEN, Germany, Oct. 31. (U.P.)—The new head of Germany's ancient house of Hohenzollern has no dreams of becoming a Kaiser. A self-made man in business at 43, Prince Louis Ferdinand avoids any entanglement in German politics.

Sentimental monarchists may argue that Germany was never so prosperous as under the Hohenzollerns, but the prince doesn't meddle with that issue.

"I am a Democrat, a lover of freedom and a hater of all extreme tendencies—right or left," he says. "As a German citizen, I will always try to do my best for my country."

Louis Ferdinand succeeded to the mantle of the Hohenzollerns when his father, Crown Prince Wilhelm, died last July. The event stirred many German editorial tributes to the former royal family. Some pointed to the benefits enjoyed by England and the Scandinavian countries from democratic kings serving under constitutional limitations.

"If the victors of World War had left us Kaiser Wilhelm, there would have been no Hitler and no World War II," was the gist of private comment.

But talk of another monarchy is just an emotional outlet for occupied Germans. There is no "Kaiser's Party."

Louis Ferdinand uses his title of Prince of Prussia in society, but he is no official "pretender" to a throne.

As manager of the Ford sales agency in Bremen since the war, he has carried on a close relationship with the United States begun over 20 years ago when he worked as a Ford mechanic in Detroit.

The tall, dark-haired prince and his wife, the former Russian Grand Duchess Kyrilovna, live near here in a simple country home. Their four sons and three daughters, ranging in age from two to 12—are direct descendants of England's Queen Victoria.

A tree-shaded garden surrounds the house; a quiet, little brook is at the back door. Inside, there are busts and pictures of relatives and ancestors, in most of Europe's royal families.

The children romp in the yard with neighbors, calves and colts. Five attend local schools. The eldest goes to a high school once named for a Hohenzollern kaiser. The Nazis changed it. In 1945, it was renamed in honor of a German Communist.

Like other citizens, Louis Ferdinand must cope with the problems of taxes and the high cost of living. He and his wife adhere to a careful budget.

"Some of the happiest days in my life," he recalls, were his adventures in the United States as a grease-smearing young mechanic.

He mentions frequently the friends he made then in Detroit, including Roy Frank, Otto Fischer, and especially his music instructor, Dr. Frances L. York, now 90, who lives in Royal Oak, Mich.

"Dr. York and my American friends literally kept my family alive after the last war by sending us packages of food."

Another great friend is Poulney Bigelow, who now lives in Malden-on-the-Hudson. He introduced the prince to Franklin D. Roosevelt back in 1930 in New York.

When the prince was on his honeymoon in 1938, President Roosevelt invited the honeymoon couple to visit him. He was "one of the nicest men I ever met."

Romantic Germans like the way Prince Louis Ferdinand spent his youth. They draw a parallel to Czar

Peter the Great of Russia.

The prince was invited this year to Detroit's 250th anniversary celebration, but his father's death prevented him from attending.

There are many family affairs left to straighten out. Afterwards, Louis Ferdinand and his wife want to revisit the United States and also go to Spain for a reunion with her brother, Grand Duke Vladimir, head of the surviving Romanovs.

The grand duke's home is near Madrid.

The prince hopes to get time, eventually, to resume his efforts in musical composition. Several of his works have been broadcast or played in public concerts.

Flying is a favorite sport, but since the war the Allied powers have banned Germans from flying their own craft. Prince is waiting patiently until he can renew his pilot's license.

PLACE TO LOOK IS FRONT YARD

STUTTGART, Ark., Oct. 31 (U.P.)—Verne Tindall and two companions tramped all over a swamp for two and a half hours last spring looking for a historic marker which recently turned up—of all places—on his own front lawn.

He was looking for the marker designating a key point in the survey which measured the land the U. S. got in the Louisiana Purchase in 1803. He had found it the first time while on a hiking trip about 20 years ago.

Recently his companions took pity on him and had a huge 8-foot, 900-pound concrete spike made. When no one was looking they "sneaked" it onto the Tindall front lawn.

Sold By Mistake

MOOSE JAW, Sask., Oct. 31. (U.P.)—A volunteer helper at a rummage sale here laid her chamomile-lined gabardine coat down on a table. Naturally it was sold by mistake.

U.S. Dietary Level Bit Above Average

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. (U.P.)—The U. S. dietary level this year is a little above average, the government says, and next year food stocks will be large enough to allow people to eat still better—but at slightly higher prices.

In a forecast for 1952, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics said Monday night that prospects are good for more poultry products, beef, milk, ice cream, fats and oils except butter, frozen fruits and juices, dried fruits and frozen vegetables.

Continued declines were foreseen for stocks of butter and sweet potatoes.

WHAT SHOULD POLICE DO?

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. (U.P.)—Bum check cases rained on some 450 newcomers to the police force Monday and caught them flatfooted.

The checks were their own, their first paychecks from New York. A mix-up in the city treasurer's office allowed them to be distributed without the necessary signature of the treasurer.

Crocodiles Help Rout Terrorists

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya, Oct. 31. (U.P.)—Bullets and crocodiles put three Red terrorists to flight in the Sungai Paka area of Trengganu.

Fire by a security force patrol forced the trio out of a boat. Crocodiles took after them. Two terrorists disappeared. The third braved crocodiles and bullets and managed to reach a mangrove swamp.

Husband Owns Wife

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya, Oct. 31. (U.P.)—Magistrate ruled here that "a wife is her husband's property and it is her duty to follow wherever he goes." He refused to order a husband to pay maintenance to his wife while she insisted on living with her family.

Use Common Sense to Take Off That Ugly Fat

Overweight can be a menace to health, but common sense should be the watchword to get rid of the extra pounds. A rigid diet over a protracted period of time, can also do harm.

Why not try the Barcontrate way as countless others have done, with remarkable results? Barcontrate contains no harmful drugs. In fact, it contains ingredients to make you feel better. Just go to your drugstore and get 4 ounces of liquid Barcontrate. Pour into a pint bottle and add 12 ounces of strained grapefruit juice. Then take 2 tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the way to take off bulky fat, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

Here is the Proof

"I have taken Barcontrate and gotten wonderful results," writes Mrs. E. L. Perry, 724 E. 41st St., San Angelo, Texas. "I have lost 14 pounds and I feel so much better. I get rid of all my belly and get and stay new and a good night's sleep. I like anything I want."

Lost 13 Pounds

"Barcontrate not only made me lose weight, but it made me feel so much better," says Mrs. Ida C. Johnson, 100 South St., Elkhart, Texas. "I have already lost 13 pounds taking Barcontrate."

10 Pounds Lost

"I am very grateful to Barcontrate," writes Opal McCreary, 204 W. 9th, Pampa, Texas. "I have lost 10 pounds taking this wonderful medicine."

Make-Believe Interviews Are Held With Joe

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. (U.P.)—The State Department radio is broadcasting make-believe interviews with Russian Prime Minister Stalin to support its contention that his words on peace and war "contradict each other."

Officials said today the "Voice of America" programs, based on Stalin's past utterances, are aimed largely at Soviet Bloc listeners.

The first make-believe interview, devoted to what Stalin has said about the inevitability of war, was used over the week end. The next one deals with his utterances on "capitalist encirclement" of Russia.

One broadcast quoted Stalin as telling former Vice President Henry A. Wallace in 1948: "The government of the USSR considers that, despite the differences in the economic systems and ideologies, the co-existence of these systems and the peaceful settlement of differences between the USSR and the United States are not only possible, but also doubtless necessary in the interest of a general peace."

This was contrasted with what Stalin wrote in his book "Problems of Leninism":

"We are living—Lenin writes—not merely in a state, but in a system of states; and it is inconceivable that the Soviet Republic should continue to exist for a long period side by side with imperialist states. Ultimately one or the other must conquer."

BLIND MAN SAVES CHILD

LOUVAIN, Belgium, Oct. 31. (U.P.)—A blind man rescued a drowning child from the River Dyle here.

Karel Timmermans "was walking along the river when he heard a child shouting for help. He jumped into the water, trying vainly to get hold of the child he could not see. Onlookers scooped out Timmermans, who swam and he brought the child to shore."

YOUR SCORE:

Correct answers—Yes to first three; No for last two. Give yourself 20 for each question answered correctly. If your grade is:

100—Lady, you're perfect... a joy to all!

80—You're pretty good... but where's that other 20?

60 or below—Ch-h-h, your shopping manners are showing!

is your face red when you check your shopping habits? "Returns" and exchanges may seem like a simple little service to ask of your favorite store. But to the store and to the people who serve you, "returns" mean a heavy burden of added duties... extra bookkeeping, extra deliveries, extra inspection of returned garments, and extra work for the salesperson who wanted to please you. "Returns" mean inconvenience for other shoppers who might want that same article while it is out of the store.

As in social life, consideration of others is the measure of good manners in shopping. Help your stores give better service by shopping carefully to avoid unnecessary "returns."
