Jews Insist Palestine Is Being Invaded

JERUSALEM, May 3. (AP)-Jews insisted today, in the face of denials, that Syrian and Lebanese armies have invaded northern Palestine.

The British rushed soldiers back into the country to deal with what they called a "seriously deteriorated" situation, less than two weeks before the May 15 date they have set to end their rule. They guarded a new 48-hour truce between Jews and

OFFICERS REALLY THREW THE BOOK

LOS ANGELES, May 3. IP-Traffic officers really threw the book at Maurice R. Chasse. They charged him with 31 violations which they say were committed within five minutes yesterday.

When Chasse drove his hot rod into a hotdog stand two officers issued a citation charging him with reckless driving, reckless changing of lanes, four counts; turning from wrong lanes, three counts; cutting corners, three counts; two right-of-way violations; cutting in on other cars, four counts; racing; one crosswalk violation; wrong side, of street, two counts; failure to make hand signals, four counts, and failure to yield to the police traffic car's siren.

The traffic officer's pencil had a very blunt point by this time so he tore out the ticket and gave it to Chasse.

Overlooked Hero Of Naval History

Our history books tend to play down the significance of one Thomas MacDonough (1783-1825) of the United States Navy.

His more liberal supporters insist that, had a victory the young lieutenant scored over the British on Lake Champaign in 1814 been fought under modern conditions, the storied Battle of New Orleans could have been prevented.

On September 11, 1814, MacDonough's ships, 14 in number and carrying 86 guns; trapped the British fleet in Plattsburg bay of Lake Champaign and hurled them back in an engagement that changed the complex of the war and prevented the Redcoats from marching on New York and Vermont.

wild and shy, is the park's biggest MacDonough's foe, Capt. George Downie, commanded a unit of 16 vessels and 92 guns. Among the British ships was the awesome 32-gun "Confiance," destined to be outmaneuvered by the U. S. gun-boat, "Saratoga," which boasted but 26 guns. Carl Burgess, wife of the park su-perintendent. But she is getting to Delaware born, MacDonough was the son of an officer in the Continental army. He gained his early training under Stephen Decatur on the attack on the pirates at Tripoli and later showed great firmness, in resisting the seizure of a seaman as an alleged deserter from the British Navy, his ship at the time lying under the guns of Gibralter. For his efforts in the second war with England, MacDonough was granted estates by both New York and Vermont and a grateful Congress rewarded him with a gold medal but his name somehow never caught fire with the historians, as did those of such early-day hefoes as John Paul Jones, Andrew Jackson and George Washington.

Perhaps he would have had a better chance had his name been more easily spelled and pronounced.-TOMMY HART

Monte was a casualty of sound. He retired from films in 1931, took a world cruise and returned to find his savings wiped out in a bank crash. He took a whirl at the stage, then returned to Hollywood.

"I looked in the mirror and saw I was no little Lord Fauntleroy anymore," he remarked on the set of "Smart Money," his current picture. "I decided to build my new career on rock instead of sand. So I started at the bottom as an extra. I was in that awkward stage, between stardom and character parts."

He rose to bit parts and in 1942 went back to Warners, where he has been ever since. He's very happy with his new status as featured player.

"It's good to be free of the envy and jealousy that plague players in competition for star roles," he signed. "I don't aspire to glory-I've had mine."

In the weeks and months to come we shall find, I venture to think, that we must reconsider and revise not only our strategical doctrine and policy, not only our conception of the Western Hemisphere, but also our relations with the British Commonwealth and Empire. For the events which have compelled this country to underwrite the rehabilitation and to guarantee the security of western Europe are in their magnitude and their consequences as great as any since the formation of modern national states. It may well be indeed it is more probable, that they mark the breakdown of the traditional sysfem of separate national states and first self-appraisal of their work in relation to the inauguration of a new political society in Europe and in the Amer-

> The role of Great Britain in this immense evolution is crucial and extraordinarily difficult. For, as an English friend of mine, who has had much to do with working out the E. R. P., puts it, the "dilemma" of Great Britain is that "she cannot afford to go into a federation of western Europe if that involves breaking up the British Commonwealth; she cannot afford not to co-operate militarily, financially, politically, economically with France, Benelux, and western

The British dilemma is real, and unless it can be resolved, Mr. Hoffman and Mr. Harriman for this country, M. Bidault and M. Spaak for the Europeans will find that British collaboration is ambiguous and uncertain. > The British dilemma and the American dilemma can be resolved only by the construction of a large political community which includes the British Commonwealth, the inter-American system, and a European federation with its African dependencies and colonies. In this larger community it would be unnecessary for the British to choose between Europe and the Commonwealth. In this community Great Britain and France could at long last become united in peace, not merely allied in war. In this community alone is there hope of solving the German problem, which is becoming progressively more snarled up.

In this community the United States would be insured against the necessity or the temptation to create an American empire on the ruins of the British Empire. In this community the Western Hemisphere would no longer be confronted with the insoluble and disruptive problems so sharply posed

Washington Merry-Go-Round-British Pressure Plan For Aid Told

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON-A British rumored plan to hold up Uncle Sam for more Marshall Plan aid by bargaining over Palestine has been reported to President Truman by Senator Harley Kilgore, West Virginia Democrat.

Kilgore criticized the British for arming and training King Abdullah's legions, and warned the President of a report that Britain intended to press for more U. S. aid in return for using its influence to make Abdullah behave. "There's nothing 'shaking

He added that if the British tried to high-pressure us, their action would backfire. The President agreed that the British were in a bad spot for building up Abdullah's army in that." Truman replied.

WAR PRISONERS FOR PEACE Europe's former prisoners of war are organizing an international peace movement which has just spread to the United States. The men who spent years in German or Jap prison camps had plenty of time to think about war, and they are now organizing to try to avert war. Spearhead of the movement in the U. S. A. is Jean Henri Michel, a French artist who spent seven years in a Nazi POW camp. These ex-POW's are publishing their own international magazine. In France, Switzerland, Britain and Canada, the organization is called the Groupe Resurrection. Michel came to Washington recently, set up headquarters in an upstairs room, has paid his way by selling paintings. He has designed a small peace statuette which he hopes to sell as a radiator mount for automobiles.

HORSE-TRADING One of the baldest pieces of international horse-trading on record was concluded at Bogota when the U. S. delegation helped Argentina keep the "Rights of Man" resolution out of the inter-American pact, in return for the latter's agreement to go along with a vaguely worded "anti-subversive" declaration.

Ever since the Chapultepec Conference in 1945, the Pan American Union's juridicial division, following out resolutions adopted at that meeting, had been preparing two vitally important resoluat Bogota. One covered the "Rights and Duties of States," the other the "Rights of Man"-that is, the individual citizen's rights to civil liberty and personal freedom

The governments of all the American republics were consulted on this matter and invited to submit proposed drafts of both resolutions. Fourteen responded, and from them a program was carefully worked out.

The totalitarian regime of Juan D. Peron in Argentina offered no drafts on either subject. But Argentine representatives sat on several advance committees which studied them and drew up the final proposals. At Bogota, however, Peron's men began to object.

During the first days of the conference-before the assassination of Gaitan - Argentine objections were not specific, Argentine Foreign Minister Bramuglia and his aides merely talked in general terms about "nonintervention" and "infringements on national sovereignty." This is the classic Argentine line when its comes to objection.

But when deliberations were resumed after the rioting, the Argentines got more vigorous. Argentina's Bramuglia was flatly opposed to both the "Rights of Man" resolution and safeguarding the "Rights of States." Significantly, could not support any anti-communist resolution which would "compromise traditional Agrentine friendship with all duly constituted governments throughout the world. CHILE'S CRITICISM

An overwhelming majority of the delegations, following the U.S. and Chile's lead, favored such a declaration criticizing Russian communism. But, like the question of breaking relations with the Axis in 1942, unanimity was needed to make it effective. And once again Argentina was the stumbling block. She refused to criticize the Axis in 1942 and now she refused to criticize Russia in 1948.

This was when the amazing horse trade began to be worked out. On April 16, Assistant Secretary of State Norman Armour had a long talk with Foreign Minister Bramuglia. The upshot was an accord between the two governments to support only the "Rights and Duties of States" proposal for inclusion in the pact itself, leaving the "Rights of Man" clause to be tacked on as a lame, ineffectual supplementary declaration.

In return, Argentina agreed to vote for a cautiously phrased resolution condemning "all subersive action against the collective security of the Western Hemisphere or the national integrity of individual American states." Communism was not mentioned at all.

The United States had backed the "Rights of Man" proposal all the way, up until this compromise, It was supposed to be the cornerstone of a new deal for all people of all the Americas. It was also hoped that the United Nations would follow with a similar measproval for a meaningless statement on undefined "subversive activities" was considered more important. So, once more, we bargained away our democratic principles in order to keep the 'good will" of the glib gaucho of the Pampas. SMUGGLING ALIENS

The cloak-and-dagger sleuthing of a Pennsylvania congressman may soon blow the lid off a notorious racket - smuggling aliens into the U.S.A. Congressman John McDowell of Wilkinsburg, Pa., has been making personal investigations in Panama and Mexico tracking down the border-hopping of communist spies, war criminals and other un-He has uncovered organized rings that manage political riff-raff into the United States for a fee, often with political string-pulling. For some time, McDowell has wondered how the dregs of Europe could get into the United States, while deserving refugees were barred. The worst hole in the dike, he found, was Windsor on the Canadian border. A parade of notorious Europeans passed right under official noses, armed with hand-out visitors' permits, good for only six months. Once on the inside, however, it was a simple matter to get the visas extended. Other undesirables took a less legal route, secretly flew across the border without any papers. In one case, a Frenchman brought a load of communists and ex-Nazis across the Atlantic in the same boat.

McDowell predicts that his investigation will shock the country when it becomes public. The State and Jusice Departments have already asked to see the secret tes-

Locals Swarm Over Cowboys

Odessa's rampaging Oilers, currently in the driver's seat in the Longhorn baseball league standings, move into town tonight to cross swords with the Big Spring Broncs, their chief rivals - at the moment-for the lead position.

The Steeds, after a slow start, came alive in the sixth inning with a four-run outburst and went on to slaughter the Del Rio Cowboys? 23-1, before a sizeable turnout here Sunday afternoon. The triumph enabled the locals to sweep the se-

Franny Perez picked up his second win of the season as the Cayuses combed the offerings of Ed Norton and Jim Mills for 26 assorted blows, including five home resident nine until Bobby Fernandez came to bat in the sixth inning. Then Fernandez put one out of the performance against Del Rio Sunday, Manager Pat Stasey of the lot with two men aboard.

That single blow opened the door for the locals. Fernandez sent Hubie Sheppard off without working him an inning. Rolly had another circuit ply in the seventh as did Orlie Echeverria. The whole thing got to be downright embrassassing for Manager Bill Lacy of the visitors, who appeared so dazed he wouldn't even come out of the dugout to argue with the umpires.

The Hosses banged home 11 runs on ten hits in the big seventh. Fernandez collected a single as well as his homer. Fernandez and Echeverria both scored twice in that nightmarish frame, Stasey had a big afternoon with the hickory. He hit a second inning homer and then drove out two singles in addition to his two twobasers. Justo Azpiazu and Fernandez each had four blows and the latter drove home seven tallies.

Meanwhile, Perez was pitching far and away his best game of the year. He rationed out six hits and would have had a shutout had he not pitched a home run ball to Roger Frezze in the second. That one hit kept the Cowhands in the ball game until Fernandez's blast.

GLEANINGS-Fernandez's second home run hit the light pole just outside the fence in deep center and bounced back onto the playfice. The umpires sent in a report on his demeanor Saturday night ing field... The force with which and Craig was to talk with President Howard Green personally about the pellet struck the upright knocked it flat ... Echeverria showed the fans some head's up base running in the seventh when he made two bases on a passed ball...Perez sat so long in the dugout during the big seventh, he appeared stiff when he reported to the hill in the eighth and experienced trouble with his control. As a result, he warmed up in the bullpen throughout the home part of the eighth...Only three men faced him in the ninth.

presented a program in tribute to National Founder's Day Sunday afternoon at a formal seated tea at the Fox Stripling residence.

Combined with a traditional Mother's Day observance, motherer's of ESA members attended as Officers of the club composed the houseparty. Leatrice Ross and Ruth Stripling, received guests. Claire Yates was at the register, while May Ann Goodson presented each guest with a corsage. Edith Gay was mistress of ceremonies.

Leatrice Ross gave the message on Founder's Day from the National president of the ESA after the invocation by Mrs. Hayes Stripling and introduction of mothers by Edith Gay. Miss Gay also gave 'Looking Backward and Forward' which told of the founding of ESA in 1929 and its progress since that time and its future.

Peggy Lamb, who was accompanied by Helen Duley, gave several vocal selections. Miss Duley also accompanied Penny Bowers who read the poem, "Tribute to Leatrice Ross presented Edith Gay, sponsor, who is leaving, with a gift.

Hyperion Clubs Have Federated Tea Saturday

The 1946 Hyperion club hosted members of the 1905 and the 1930 Hyperion clubs to the general Federated meeting and tea in the Episcopal Parish house Saturday aft-

Mrs. H. G. Keaton, guest speaker on the program, discussed 'Should Sex Education be taught in Our high-Schools?" She further told of the subjects that could be taught in our schools and of the, requirements for qualified teacher and supervisors in this field. Mrs. Charles Watson presided at the business session, at which time it was decided that the general club will meet five times a year, instead of three. Mrs. James T. Brooks, a representative for the general club, and Mrs. Steve Baker, a delegate for the 1946 Hyperion club, each gave a report on their trip to the Federated District convention in Pecos during April. Plans were completed for a new Hyperion club to be formed during the summer months and it was announced that each individual club would be responsible for one program a year. Following the business discussion, a tea hour was held, with Mrs. G. E. Peacock, Mrs. H. C. Stipp and Mrs. Robert Currie acting as the social committee hostesses. Mrs. R. E. McKinney presided at the tea service, placed on the tea table covered with a white Madeira cloth. The centerpiece was comprised of a large, natural straw hat, which was partially tipped over and filled with pink roses. Long white streamers hung from the hat, with white china birds were placed at the end of each rib-

Approximately 35 persons attended the meeting.

Mrs. H. H. Squyres has as her uest, Mrs. J. R. Copeland of Dallas. While Mrs. Copeland is here, she will also visit Mrs. Roy Green and other friends.

"Buccaneers" was a term first applied to early-day French cowboys in Haiti who turned pirate when cattle raising proved unprofitable and lent their designation to all pirates.
