

'Moderation' Approach Hit By Williams

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 26 (AP)—Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, frequently mentioned as a possible favorite son candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, today attacked Adlai Stevenson's recent statement that this "is a time for moderation."

Accident-Free Driving Is Goal For Thursday

Thursday is Safe-Driving Day in Howard County and throughout the nation, President Eisenhower proclaimed Dec. 1 as S-D Day in an effort to have a 24-hour period free of traffic accidents.

In order to compare the accidents on S-D Day, each chairman has been asked to keep a record of the number of accidents occurring in the county for 10 days before and after the target day.

S-D Day last year was not too successful in the county, according to George Oldham, executive secretary of the Citizen's Traffic Commission.

Throughout the nation, there were 45 deaths due to automobile accidents on S-D Day in 1954 and 60 on the same date in 1953.

In 1951, after 59 years of automobile history, the millionth person died as a result of traffic accidents.

By breaking a bad driving habit for one day, motorists can prove that the habit can be broken every day, Oldham pointed out.

Living Off The Fat—That Came Off Folks

MIAMI, Nov. 26 (AP)—Larry Mack is a man who lives off the fat of the land—by removing it from the figures of the inhabitants thereof. The female inhabitants, anyway.

Last year three million overweight women walked through the doors of his 91 slenderizing salons across the length and—no pun intended—breadth of the nation.

It caused something of a bustle, if you'll pardon the expression. Men never visit these salons.

"Let's try you on the table first," she said. The table, developed by researchers at Ohio State University, mechanically reproduces the combined efforts of Swedish masseur, a talented chiropractor, and a losing football coach trying to make a quarterback out of an end.

It succeeds. Motor driven pads in the table vibrate alternately against your hips, shoulders and spine and the entire table shakes you gently like a blob of jelly spilled on the tray of a nervous waitress.

The resulting mechanical massage is very relaxing—so much so that after a 15-minute demonstration I very nearly fell asleep.

It also qualifies an exercise, according to Miss Hill. Just one of the positions on the table provides the energy expenditure equivalent to a 10-mile horseback ride. This son by name, but referred to him indirectly as he lashed "the spirit of Chicago."

Speaking before a Democratic rally in Chicago last Saturday night, Stevenson, who earlier formally announced his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination, said "moderation is the spirit of the times."

Harriman told a news conference the next day "There is no such word as 'moderate' in the Democratic party."

Williams, in his Denver text, said Democrats would be "guilty of the most craven cowardice" if they allowed the 1956 presidential campaign to "degenerate into a spineless and self-defeating formality."

"I would remind you," Williams said, "that the temporizers, those who look backward, those who are satisfied with the status quo, those who today grudgingly yield to the necessities of yesterday and hence never progress but always and inexorably slide back, are traditionally on the other side, not ours."

"Democrats, traditionally and, God willing, forever, in spite of all odds, push doggedly ahead on the broad high road to a greater and still greater tomorrow."

"It is upsetting now to hear from our side counsels for a pause or breath—taking and moderation—counsels which I find difficult to believe can be seriously considered as Democratic party policy."

"In candor," he added, "I must say that I was acutely disappointed by the spirit of Chicago, the spirit of temporizing with present problems . . ."

'Flash Fire' Burns Tractor Operator

Ed Plegans, St. Lawrence, was treated for minor flash burns on his face at Copper Hospital Friday evening.

An attendant said the butane tank on his tractor exploded causing the burns. He was released from the hospital Saturday.

Transports Bring More Troops Home

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26 (AP)—Two troop transports are due here next week from the west Pacific.

The Gen. Walker arrives Monday from Incheon and Yokohama with 2,359 troops on rotation, and 1,088 members of the Air Force.

The Gen. Sultan, from Guam and Honolulu, will dock Saturday with 341 Air Force, 153 Navy and 53 Army men.

Home For Aged Acquires Tract

DALLAS, Nov. 26 (AP)—Acquisition of 45 acres in northeast Dallas for a new C. C. Young Memorial Home for the Aged was announced today.

The home is Methodist owned but will be operated as non-sectarian. Construction of the million dollar brick and masonry home likely will begin in early 1957.

Space Satellite Plans Snarled In Red Tape

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP)—Aero Digest magazine said today the U.S. space satellite program has "degenerated into a celestial bon-doggle" which can be corrected through a costly speed-up.

Contracts for some basic components and for instruments have been delayed, and others are unsigned," the aviation engineering magazine said.

"All indications are that Project Vanguard will have to be a highly accelerated crash program, with parallel rocketing in costs, or miss its much-heralded deadline."

President Eisenhower announced last July that the U.S. would launch a small satellite during the International Geophysical Year—July 1, 1957-Dec. 31, 1958—to orbit around the earth, 200 to 800 miles out in space.

Scientists throughout the world will coordinate their studies of the earth during the 1957-58 survey period.

Dr. Fritz Zwicky, California Institute of Technology astronomist and physicist, recently told the American Rocket Society here that "all kinds of jealousies, bureaucracies and buck-passing" are hindering the U.S. satellite program and helping Soviet Russia to achieve an earlier launching.

Aero Digest said that many rocket engineers are unconvinced that the job can be tackled successfully.

"Apparently the whole project is up in the air and the magnitude of the task is far greater than anticipated," the magazine said.

"On the other hand, far less co-operation and effort has been put in on it than was originally planned."

The magazine added: "The aviation industry is still wondering why Army ordinance, which has more experience in launching large rocket missiles than the Navy . . . has been neglected or has not been called on to participate in the program."

Held For Bail In Death Case

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26 (AP)—Mrs. Gertrude Silver waived a hearing today and was held in $1,500 bail by Magistrate Elias Myers for grand jury action on charges of conspiracy and being an accessory in the abortion death of her food chain heiress daughter, Mrs. Doris Ostreicher.

Dist. Atty. Samuel Dash agreed to permit Mrs. Silver to waive today's hearing in Philadelphia's Central Police Court.

Dr. Abraham Ornstein, Mrs. Silver's physician, told the magistrate that Mrs. Silver now is able to comprehend the charges against her. Mrs. Silver, following her daughter's death, was hospitalized for extreme shock and Dr. Ornstein said she was unable then to appear for arraignment.

Mrs. Ostreicher, 22-year-old bride of a Miami Fla., policeman, collapsed and died last Aug. 24 in the North Philadelphia apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schwartz, now awaiting trial on charges of performing an illegal abortion.

County Steers On Exhibit In Chicago Show

One steer was shown Saturday afternoon and two will be exhibited Monday by Big Spring 4-H'ers at the International Livestock Show now in progress in Chicago.

Showing a Hereford in the Junior Class Saturday was Robert Lomax, and Monday, Joyce Robinson will be showing her two entries in the Open Division. Lomax and Lloyd Robinson left here with the stock last Monday, while Miss Robinson and James Taylor, county agent, went Thursday.

The stock was taken in the Howard County 4-H livestock van.

Taylor said prior to leaving the group would stay until their part of the show was over. Should they place with any entries, they will be staying through the livestock sale next Friday. Otherwise they will return following the judging.

A group of eight steers and a like number of lambs will be shown in Odessa at the Sand Hills show starting Thursday by Howard County 4-H'ers. Entries in the Hereford division include Patricia Iden, Melvin Fryar, Wanda Boatler, Lomax, and Miss Robinson.

Showing lambs at Odessa are Johnny King, Merle Bailey, H. K. Elrod, Donald Gooch, and Lanell Overton, all of Forsan.

Misses Robinson, Boatler, and Iden also have steers entered in the Arizona National Livestock show in Phoenix, beginning Friday.

Texas Youth Victim Of Hunting Mishap

CARRIZO SPRINGS, Nov. 26 (AP)—Johnny Wilson, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Wilson, was shot and killed in a deer hunting accident near here today.

The youth was hunting with a companion, Jackie Smith, 18, on the Red Ranch, 20 miles from Carrizo Springs.

State police said Smith got out of a car and drew a bead on a deer from the top of the car. Wilson got out on the opposite side of the car and stepped in front of the rifle as Smith pulled the trigger.

Law Against Keys

FORT WORTH, Nov. 6 (AP)—Police Chief Cato Hightower said today he will ask the city council next week for an ordinance making it illegal for motorists to leave ignition keys in unattended cars. That tempts car thieves, he said.

Iran Gets Strong Warning From Reds On Baghdad Pact

MOSCOW, Nov. 26 (AP)—The Soviet Union warned Iran today its membership in the Baghdad Pact creates a threat to Russia and it will have to answer for "possible consequences."

Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov handed Iranian Charge D'Affaires Ette Sami a note brusquely rejecting the Iranian contention that the pact is an instrument of peace and security.

The Soviet note climaxed a bitter Soviet press campaign against the pact, which links Iran with Britain, Iraq, Turkey and Pakistan in a mutual defense alliance along Russia's southern frontiers.

The prime ministers of the five nations held their initial meeting in Baghdad this week and they completed a permanent organization with headquarters in Baghdad. United States observers were present.

Soviet press chief Leonid Ilychev announced delivery of the note at a news conference in the Soviet Foreign Ministry. He said Iran was not living up to its agreement with the Soviet Union. A 1921 treaty between the two countries permits Russia to move troops into Iran if she feels her frontier is threatened.

Russia first protested the Baghdad Pact in an official note Oct. 12. An Iranian reply Oct. 17 rejected the Soviet assertion that the pact was aggressive in intent. Today's note was a reply to the Iranian memo.

It said Iran's membership in the Baghdad Pact has created a situation "fraught with danger to Soviet frontiers, and the Soviet government cannot be indifferent..."

It said Iran has inflicted "serious damage to Soviet-Iranian relations" and her membership in the pact is "incompatible with the interests of consolidation of peace and security in the Near and Middle East, and to the treaty obligations of Iran."

The note accused Iran of joining "certain aggressive circles" interested in fostering a continuation of colonialism. Recent articles in the Soviet press have accused the Western Powers of attempting to form aggressive military blocs in the Middle East. One article accused the United States of "political blackmail" to win Iran's membership in the pact.

Services Held For Lamesa Resident

LAMESA — Mrs. Nannie Claiborne, 70, long-time resident of Lamesa, was laid to rest in the Quah Cemetery Saturday morning after rites at the Quah Church of Christ.

Mrs. Claiborne died here Wednesday evening after an illness of more than a year. Hoyt Bailey, minister of the Church of Christ where services were held, was in charge of the rites.

Mrs. Claiborne is survived by her husband, B. F. Claiborne; two daughters, Mrs. Karie Henderson and Mrs. Ina Griffith, both of Madison, Wis.; four sons, J. B. Claiborne, Hobbs, N. M., Ben Claiborne, Wink; two brothers, Ed Taylor Snyder, and Roy Taylor, Andrews; six sisters, Mrs. Alice Elland, Snyder, Mrs. Nora Nash, Denton, Mrs. Claudia Bliven, Fort Worth, Mrs. Ollie McCauley, Ontario, Calif., Mrs. Faye Taylor, Pomona, Calif., and Mrs. Evelyn Bragg, San Francisco, Calif.

Great Crowds Greet Russ Leaders On Indian Tour

BANGALORE, India, Nov. 26 (AP)—The state visit of Russia's two top men rolled into Bangalore today. Although its impact on the people of India was undiminished, many political leaders insisted the "selling tour" of Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev will not move this country out of its neutrality role.

Everywhere since they arrived Nov. 18, Bulganin and Khrushchev have attracted huge crowds and unprecedented praise from Indian officials. A half million persons greeted them here.

State governors and municipal mayors on their tour competed in praising Russia's people and government—taking their pattern from the reception India's Prime Minister Nehru himself gave the Russian visitors.

It is obvious that people running into millions are receiving their first political education on Soviet communism under circumstances heavily slanted in favor of the Russians.

But leaders of Nehru's Congress party, when pressed for an answer to what the likely effects of such unrestrained support for the Russians would be, are inclined generally to laugh off the question with the reply that "in India everyone likes a show and forgets it quickly."

"We would do the same thing for President Eisenhower if he visited India," they said. "Indians may have praised Russians as a great people but the memory won't last."

Congress leaders apparently have no fears that the new found friendship with the Soviet Union will make a great segment of India's voters "communism conscious" under circumstances most favorable to India's own Communist party.

Whatever the eventual result, the Russian visit has been a great circus, mostly playing one-day stands to constantly changing audiences.

Bulganin and Khrushchev obviously are attempting to woo India into their camps with cultural and political appeals, while members of their party are left behind in New Delhi working hard to make a greater impression on the economic side.

The question of Russian material aid to India—which needs desperately nearly a billion and a half dollars of foreign funds for its second five year plan—has been one which neither the Soviet prime minister nor the Communist chief have answered thus far.

Accuses GM Of Adding Fuel To Inflation Fire

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP)—Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) said today that "General Motors and the other big automobile manufacturers" are reversing efforts of the Federal Reserve Board to curb inflation.

Major car makers are doing this by putting pressure on dealers to sell more and more cars, he said. "This course of action will inevitably permit inflation unless it is stopped," he asserted.

O'Mahoney, as acting chairman of a Senate Judiciary antitrust and monopoly subcommittee, has been conducting public hearings in what he terms a study of "General Motors."

Staff aides said O'Mahoney had received "hundreds of letters" of approval. They said letters had been running about 3-1 in favor.

He said the Federal Reserve Board had taken several actions this year to discourage over-extended credit and thus curb inflation. He noted that the board has taken steps to increase interest rates on bank borrowing and has twice boosted margin requirements, or down payments, for stock market transactions.

Pressure on auto dealers for more sales is "just the reverse of this," the senator said. He said the dealers are required to risk their capital by extending the payment period on cars, accepting small down payments and allowing "exaggerated trade-in values for old cars."

Thrifty Dog Saves His Beer Bottles

DALLAS (AP)—In the past three weeks, Boots, a 4-year-old bulldog-terrier, has lugged a couple of cases of empty beer bottles home to his back yard.

"He isn't going to the dogs," says his master Jerry Waldrop, 16. "He was raised in a nondrinking home and he doesn't drink the stuff. He just comes home in the evenings with a beer bottle in his mouth."

The Waldrops say Boots has good business sense—he passes up empty beer cans which bring no refund for the bottles, which should earn him a tidy income.

Lamesa C-C Committee To Draft Work Program

LAMESA—The planning committee of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, under the chairmanship of Fred Barbee, will tackle the problem of a program of work on Monday.

One of the chores facing the committee will be the analysis of returns from a recent survey to obtain reaction of the membership in priority for Chamber projects.

In order of popularity, the 10 ranking items were an airport, new industry, hospital facilities, widening of U.S. Highway 190, swimming pool, aid to local industry, continuation of the Citizens Traffic Commission, city planning and zoning, a park for north Lamesa, and a new library building.

Committees for the year have been announced by Clyde Brant, Chamber president. Chairmen are: J. P. White, Round Up Club (membership); Fred Barbee, program of work; Bill David, advertising and publicity; W. B. Osborne, clean up; Stansell Clement, education; Hal Boyd, recreation and sports; Carl Rountree, highways and roads; Jodie Vaughn, aviation; Leonard Scott, industrial; Herbert Green, club boys; Jim Moody, rural-urban; R. B. Snell, legislative affairs; B. P. Middleton, utilities; E. E. Wright, merchants' activities.

Kettles Of Christmas Cheer

Marcella Osburn, left, and Beverly McNew set up one of the Salvation Army kettles in front of the Big Spring Post Office. Residents are being asked to "keep the kettles boiling" until Christmas Eve by contributing to the Salvation Army fund for providing toys and food for needy families on Christmas.

Pots Start Boiling For Yuletide Needy

The Salvation Army Christmas Kettles were put up Saturday with an appeal to "keep the pot boiling" so that Santa Claus will be able to visit every home in Big Spring on Christmas Day.

Almost as much a part of the Christmas scene as holly and lights, the kettles will be kept up through Christmas eve, said Capt. Dexter Brazeale. The traditional Salvation Army baskets for the needy are provided out of funds which warm-hearted people drop into the kettles during the next month.

In auxiliary service is the opening of a toy shop at the old Safeway store in the 200 block of Runnels. Firemen, the Marine Auxiliary and Shell Oil Company are joining in collection and repairing toys for Yuletide distribution. Parents who will not be able to buy Christmas toys for their children may make application at the Salvation Army office at 4th and Aylford streets. They also may apply for the baskets, which will contain food and the goodies which go to make up a good Christmas dinner.

Capt. Brazeale explained that parents who apply for this assistance will be given tickets to the toy shop so that they may go to the shop and make a personal selection of toys. Then they can take the toys home, wrap them and place them under their own Christmas tree. Distribution of food will be from the basement of the Dora Roberts Citadel.

Not all of the Salvation Army Christmas activity is confined to these two projects, for a dinner with turkey, dressing and all the trimmings will be served at the Salvation Army Lodge to all lonely and needy men who will be away from home that day.

Kettles will be located downtown and the Kettle house at the corner of Second and Main in front of the McCrory Store. Capt. Brazeale urged needy families to make application at the Salvation Army office for food and toys before Dec. 15. He also said that if any individual, organization or Sunday School class wishes to adopt a family for Christmas, names may be secured by calling the Salvation Army office. Similarly, if people know of families in need, the Salvation Army would like to have the names, he said.

Final AFL-CIO Merger Pact Due To Be Signed This Week

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP)—Those labor unions still objecting to AFL-CIO merger terms appeared today to stand little chance of having their views incorporated in the final merger pact.

The consolidation is due to be ratified finally at separate AFL and CIO conventions in New York City next week. The top leaders, after working out arrangements for two years, are in no mood at this late date for changes.

The present merger plan is expected to be offered on a take-it-or-leave-it basis with assurances that a continuing study will be made to find flaws in the plan that could be corrected at an AFL-CIO convention two years later.

Draftsmen of the merger plan apparently have no serious qualms that any of the protesting unions will go so far as to refuse to go along with the plan because their objections are not accommodated.

Separate AFL and CIO conventions are to be held beginning Thursday in New York to ratify the amalgamation of the two labor organizations into a single 16-million-member union federation.

AFL and CIO leaders say no detailed amending of the present merger plan will be possible, with a joint AFL-CIO convention due to start in New York Dec. 5.

Perhaps the most serious objections to the present plan have come from President Woodruff Randolph of the AFL International Typographical Union. His complaint has been that the proposed AFL-CIO constitution contains too much "centralized control" over jurisdictions of member unions, a charge denied by AFL and CIO leaders.

A. Philip Randolph, president of the AFL Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, has complained the AFL-CIO will have too little power to enforce a declared policy against racial discrimination within labor unions.

However, the AFL-CIO reportedly has decided to name an active civil rights committee, with President James B. Carey of the CIO Electrical Workers as chairman. Carey long has been a leading foe of racial discrimination.

Another objector to present merger terms is President Mike Quill of the CIO Transport Workers Union. He protests that the AFL-CIO is a merger of unequal partners, particularly the CIO's smaller unions are likely to be "gobbled up" by the larger AFL after the merger.

Other CIO leaders have denied there is any basis for Quill's fears.

Quill as a CIO vice president was due to have a similar office under the AFL-CIO set-up but this may be denied him because of the position he has taken.

Record Turnout Expected For Council Scout Banquet

Leaders of the Lone Star District of the Buffalo Trail Council are anticipating a record turnout for the district banquet Thursday at 7 p. m. in the Settles ballroom.

Roy Carter, Kermit, president of the council, is to be the speaker, and the meeting will be the occasion for installation of A. C. LaCroix as district chairman, succeeding Charles Weeg. The new district committee also will be installed.

Ben Johnson is in charge of the program, and early returns for registrations pointed to a large turnout. All leaders registered in any capacity with Cub, Scout or Explorer units or the district committee are invited to participate.

Troop No. 9, sponsored by the Wesley Methodist Church, will dramatize the "Symbol of Scouting," and Den No. 3 of Pack No. 10, sponsored by the First Baptist Church is to present a skit, Mrs. Robert Sage and Mrs. C. T. Clay are den mothers.

Response to the welcome by District Chairman Weeg will come from Bonnie Puckett, a leader in the Gay Hill unit.

Forrest Gamble will lead group singing and Allen Orr, district chairman, will recognize the unit leaders. Outgoing officers will be recognized and the new officers installed.

The dinner will be buffet style and the plate charge is $1.25.

Mason Surgeon Joins VA Staff

E. O. Breckenridge is the most recent addition to the Veterans Administration hospital's surgical staff.

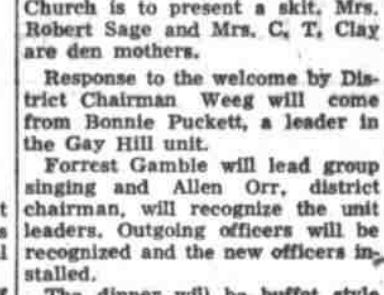

Dr. Breckenridge joined the staff here last week, according to I. G. Sims, manager of the hospital. The surgeon left private practice at Mason to come here.

The hospital is still short of doctors and surgeons, however, Sims said. On July 1, there were 181 beds in service. Since that time, the hospital has increased the facilities to 250 beds in spite of losing three members of the staff.

In October, the average daily patient load was 219, Sims explained. So far this month, the daily load has been 223. The hospital needs three more staff members to be adequately manned, the manager said.

J. C. Pickle On Nalley's Staff

The association of James C. Pickle as a member of the staff of Nalley Funeral Home was announced here Saturday by C. O. Nalley.

Pickle, who has made his home here much of the time since 1926, had been with Nalley Funeral Home from 1946-51. For the past four years he has been with the Robert Massie Funeral Chapel in San Angelo. He is a graduate of the Southwest College of Mortuary Services in Dallas.

In 1928 Pickle came here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pickle, from Fulton, Ky., and was graduated from Big Spring High School in 1931. He gained his first experience in the mortuary field two years later.

He is a member of the Masonic chapter and council, having entered the work here, and is a member of the Baptist Church. Both he and Mrs. Pickle, who will join him in January after completing the first semester's work as a teacher in San Angelo, are members of the Order of Eastern Star. They will be at home at 904 Gregg Street.

Girl Admits Taking Money From Aunt

A niece returned $26.80 to her aunt Saturday after having taken the amount from the aunt's home recently.

The girl, 14, told A. E. Long, juvenile officer, she took the money from her aunt on two occasions, the second noticed last Thursday by the aunt.

The money was part of some $58 the aunt was saving.

When the money was taken the second time it was missed, and the girl's mother realized her daughter had more money than she could account for. The girl confessed to Long Friday and the money was returned Saturday.

Shooting Suspect Posts $1,500 Bond

Francisco Hernandez, charged with assaulting Tommy Pool with intent to murder, was released Saturday under $1,500 bond.

The bond was posted in Midland, Hernandez's home, and was approved by the sheriff of Midland County, Howard Sheriff Jess Slaughter reported. Hernandez had been in jail here since Wednesday, when he was brought here from Midland.

Pool was shot three times near the Jumbo No. 2 Cafe in northwest Big Spring on Nov. 19. The shooting followed the arrest of two Midland youths on charges that they took tools, paint and other items from Pool's car which parked at the cafe.

The shooting victim was taken off the critical list at Big Spring Hospital Friday.

Driving's Exciting Again!

Greatest "Go" On Wheels
 No other car performs like a Pontiac because Pontiac alone has the Strato-Streak V-8—most modern and efficient power plant in the industry. And for 1956 this great engine delivers 227 blazing horsepower with an ease and smoothness that must be experienced to be believed. For the "go" of the year, go Pontiac.

Let's say you have just logged an extra-long day's mileage in your '56 Pontiac. Your clock tells you it's time to stop for the night.

Then it comes to you. You don't want to stop! You just want to keep on and on, piloting this sweet, singing beauty wherever fancy points.

Sound like a wonderful dream? It happens time and again to owners of this fabulous new car. And the lure that leads them on and on is the exciting performance of Pontiac's great new Strato-Streak V-8 engine . . . the most thrilling performance on the American highway.

Traffic's a delight in this agile car. Power flows smooth as oil when you leave a light, and with the sharp authority of 227 blazing "horses". Brakes respond with crisp, new certainty. The wheel answers fast as pointing your finger. You're driving with a confidence you've never felt before!

And highway touring is pure pleasure! You swing the curves with new sure-footed certainty . . . clear a high hill or sweep safely past a loiterer on the road with the happy assurance that you command the greatest "go" on wheels.

And when you settle down to cruising speed on an open highway—that's the real payoff on your good judgment! This is living in a wonderful new way. Driving's exciting again!

Come in and try it—you can prove it in 10 minutes as easily as in 10 hours. And you'll prove something else . . . Pontiac's glamour matches its "go"—it's the greatest on the road!

Harry Blasts GOP Policies, Raps Nixon

SEATTLE, Nov. 26 (AP)—Former President Harry Truman made it clear today he doesn't like 1) Republican foreign policy and 2) Vice President Richard Nixon.

In Seattle to speak at a $25-a-plate dinner to raise funds for the library to house his presidential papers, the peppery Truman told a news conference he couldn't see any reason why he shouldn't discuss politics—and so he did.

The summit conference at Geneva, from which came the so-called Geneva spirit, he said in answer to a question, "didn't amount to a damn."

The Republicans, Truman said, "put foreign policy into the political arena after Mr. Roosevelt and I had kept it out for years. Now the Democrats are in a position to make the most of it and I am sure they will. The present administration's mistakes must be made an issue of the next campaign."

Questioned whether he thought the recent illness of President Eisenhower hadn't called attention to "the American habit of naming any old Tom, Dick or Harry to the vice presidency," Truman said he didn't feel that way.

"If you will pardon a seeming egotism," said the Missourian who rose from the vice presidency to the White House, with a broad smile, "I don't think the American people are in the habit of making mistakes in choosing their vice presidents."

"Would you say, then, that Mr. Nixon was not a mistake?" he was asked.

"I don't want to discuss Nixon," Truman said with no trace of a smile. "I don't like Nixon and I never will. I don't want to even discuss him. He called me a traitor and if I'm a traitor the United States is in a helluva shape."

Wants Foreign Policy Issue Kept On Constructive Plane

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (AP)—Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) said today foreign policy is bound to become an issue in next year's presidential campaign but he hopes Democrats will keep debate on a "constructive" plane.

Hollywood Men Use Cosmetics?

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—A facial make-up consultant to many movie stars today disclosed that she does a brisk business in cosmetics for men.

"It's not what you think," said French-born Aida Grey. "These are virile men, some of them husbands of famous movie stars. Others are famous stars themselves."

She disclosed no names but told how she got started on the unusual sideline in her salon.

Miss Grey said face powders in such bizarre shades as green, orchid and blue are now on the market to revitalize Cinderellas under night lights.

"Blue powder will give brunettes a pink look while green will give a creamy cast to redheads and brownettes. The orchid cast is right for silver blondes. All the shades will bring Cinderella back to life at midnight."

Little Girl To Get Artificial Legs

SHERMAN, Nov. 26 (AP)—For her second birthday Dec. 7, Cindy Inman gets a pair of artificial legs.

Born without arms or legs, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Inman will be fitted at the Kessler Institute for rehabilitation in Orange, N. J.

vice presidential nominee, said in an interview he doesn't believe the Democrats will stoop to "personalities" as he said the Republicans had in attacks on former Secretary of State Dean Acheson three years ago.

"We are not going to accuse the Republicans of playing footsie with the Communists as they accused us in 1952 and 1954," Sparkman declared.

Democratic leaders have made it clear in recent speeches they intend to attack administration international actions, particularly with reference to what some of them have called the "failure" of the foreign ministers conference at Geneva.

Sen. Clifford Case (R-NJ) in turn charged the Democrats were engaging in "destructive" criticism, without offering any alternatives.

Sparkman said he thinks specific alternatives will be offered by Adlai E. Stevenson, thus far the only announced candidate for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination, in forthcoming speeches on international and domestic problems.

As a supporter of Stevenson, Sparkman said he sees no reason why the former Illinois governor can't go along with most of the proposed 13-point Democratic legislative program laid down by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Senate majority leader.

Sparkman served notice he will oppose Senate action on a bill to exempt natural gas producers from federal regulation. The House has passed such legislation. Johnson has said he will bring up gas legislation in the Senate though he has not been specific about its terms.

Stevenson has not taken any position on the House bill but it is under fire from Democrats like Senators Douglas of Illinois and Humphrey of Minnesota, who also are supporting Stevenson.

Backed for the gas bill comes largely from legislators of oil and gas producing states, where Stevenson's opposition to a measure establishing state title to oil-rich offshore lands was believed to have hurt him when he ran against President Eisenhower in 1952.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), who may get in the race next month for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination, has opposed the gas bill in the past. However, he gave a general endorsement to Johnson's program earlier in the week without raising any specific question about the inclusion of gas legislation in it.

Douglas served notice there will be a stiff fight and possibly extensive debate when the measure is brought up.

He said new support from a group of gas utilities which plan local campaigns against the bill gives its opponents "a very good chance" to defeat it in the Senate.

Stevenson has not taken any position on the House bill but it is under fire from Democrats like Senators Douglas of Illinois and Humphrey of Minnesota, who also are supporting Stevenson.

Several Farmers Start Terraces

This year's more than normal rainfall in some parts of the county has spurred the building of terraces on cultivated land. Several farmers north and east of Big Spring are having lines run by the technicians attached to the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District, according to Marion Everhart.

Lines were recently laid out on the R. T. Schaffer place northwest of Vincent; for Porter Hanks of Vealmoor; Cecil Phillips, north of Big Spring; R. B. Wiggins, east of Ackerly; and for Doc Wilkens on the Pinky Roden farm north of Big Spring.

Also W. S. Cole of Vincent plans to construct a diversion terrace to divert water from a field, then will terrace the field below it. Guy Guffee, who farms north of Vincent, plans to construct a waterway through his field, and H. N. Zant of Vealmoor plans to build terraces on several farms of his in the near future.

This is the time of year for co-operators to inspect their fields and make plans to construct or rebuild terraces where needed, Everhart said. On all terraces being built, the ends should be partially or completely closed in order to hold more water behind the terrace.

Killed In Crash

HOUSTON, Nov. 26 (AP)—A three-car smashup yesterday killed Mrs. J. P. Pate, 50.

Funds Still Needed In Fight On Polio

A battle has been won, but the war against polio isn't over, Rad Ware, chapter chairman, said on his return Saturday from the March of Dimes planning meeting in Dallas.

Future of the continuing fight against polio will depend in a large degree on the success of next January's March of Dimes, he added. Approximately 500 volunteer leaders from Texas, Oklahoma, and South Arkansas attended the meeting with Basil O'Conner, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The Salk polio vaccine marks a great step forward, Ware observed, "but polio isn't licked yet. It won't be until polio crippling is a thing of the past. That can happen only when everybody who is susceptible has been given the protection vaccine affords, and we have rebuilt the lives of tens of thousands for whom the vaccine came too late."

Preparation for the 1956 March of Dimes drive will start immediately in Howard and Glasscock Counties, said Ware.

Reporting on the Dallas meeting, Ware said that the National Foundation's school vaccine program provided a large measure of polio protection for about seven million children this year. However, the disease claimed thousands of new to the future," Ware declared, "we realize our obligations to those whom we still must serve."

Reports indicated that the Salk vaccine in 1954 was 80 to 90 per cent effective, and since then it has been increased in potency. Scientists are seeking ways of improving the vaccine still further. Ware added, and funds must be provided for continuing research.

Jest-Talkin

Rumors are afloat in Martin County that the county ASC committee will try to restrict cotton acreage from being moved from one farm to another.

In the past, farmers have taken their dryland cotton allotment and moved it over to irrigated land. Sometimes this has been just across a turn row, but in other cases the two fields may be separated by many miles.

The county committee was not contacted on this. It is so far a rumor, though several farmers are talking about it. The feeling concerning the justification for it seems pretty well divided.

John Priddy who farms a number of ranches south of Stanton says crops were only fair in his community. His cotton averaged about a third of a bale and the feed was about the same in comparison.

Mrs. Priddy said the sandstorm last Monday was the worst one she could remember at this time of the year. The feed was covered with dust, and the cotton so sand-peppered that the last pulling may not be worth gathering.

Priddy has two sections of grassland and is feeding out 125 head of cattle. Most of the feed being used is maize and hegarl raised on the farmland.

Mitchell County rodeo fans may have seen their last big rodeo at Colorado City. The Frontier Round-up Rodeo Association is thinking of replacing the annual rodeo with a combination fair and livestock show. This seems to be the wishes of many business men of the city, who say the rodeo takes thousands of dollars out of town every year.

Another reason is that the rodeo plant needs extensive repairs, and they think the money which the last rodeo made them could be used more profitably by promoting the farming and livestock interests of Mitchell County.

Steve and James Curry, who operate ranches between Garden City and Sterling City, now have two irrigation wells for their farmland. Last year they irrigated a field of grain sorghum and harvested more than 4,000 pounds to the acre.

This year they drilled another well, getting 1,000 gallons a minute, and watered a cotton crop. The yield is expected to be between two and two and a half bales per acre. They have most of the fields level bordered, and plan to level another 80 acres between now and planting time next spring.

The Hilliger community southwest of Lee's Store used native laborers almost altogether to pick cotton this fall, said D. J. Cotter who has lived there since 1934. Farmers didn't have to provide bedding and other equipment, and they could also let the natives haul off the cotton.

Cotter said the community average was only fair. He got 30 bales on 114 acres and still has a little left in the field. Maize was also about average. Most of the people at Hilliger have a few livestock and get a little more out of their feed crop by putting it into sheep and cattle.

Several ranchers are leasing grain sorghum fields for pasturing livestock. Cecil and Marion Wilkerson of Garden City are moving some cattle to a large grain field which they have leased in the Hilliger community.

They say their ranch south of Garden City is very dry. Most ranchers in that area are beginning to feed cake and some of them have bought threshed maize and other feed. The Wilkersons have sold off some of their cattle and sheep.

At one time they had a small irrigation well and grew alfalfa for their livestock. The project was later abandoned, however, as there wasn't enough water to justify the labor and expense.

One of the driest areas in West Texas seems to be west of Sterling City. Foster Sims Price who has a ranch in that part of the county says he has got an average of four and a half inches of rain during the last five years.

Ranges are almost as dry around Garden City. Bryant Harris, who keeps an official weather gauge at his place just east of town has recorded only 41 inches of rain the last five years. This is slightly over eight inches a year. This year the gauge showed 7.57 inches up till September, .17 inches in October and none in November, for less than an eight-inch total.

Jim Kelly, who is with the Soil Conservation Service in Sterling City, says some parts of the county received 15 inches of rain, but these were the wet spots. Most ranchers have sold off a lot of livestock but still have too many cattle and sheep for the amount of grass.

Kelly says that reducing stock to fit the amount of grass often poses a problem. Ranchers who have spent many years building up a line of breeding stock just can't afford to sell too many of them. The animals have cost too much money, and if they are sold the owner may have a hard time replacing them. For this reason, he said, some stockmen prefer to keep a few extra livestock and feed them, even though there is no immediate profit.

Kelly says the Divide country north and east of Sterling has been hit hard by drought. These people mostly own their homes and practice a farm-livestock program. Most of the units are small, averaging from a half section up to two or three. They don't have enough acreage to show a big profit during the good years, and have had to weather too many lean ones.

These farmers don't grow cotton, but usually sow grain in the fall for winter pasture and raise some maize and hegarl. There is no irrigation water, though the area is very flat and has much deeper soil than the flatland south of Garden City.

Farmers in Martin County will be growing more soil-improving crops the next few years, says Oscar Fanning of the Basin Growers Association. This is partly because Jim Tom, the Stanton banker, thinks the land is in need of soil-building. He controls the purse strings of the county and farmers must come to him for money to make the crops.

The main reason they will be growing more legumes and cover crops, though, is that Jim Tom's judgment is probably respected more than that of any man in the county. When he says a farmer or rancher can make money by doing things a certain way, it usually proves out just that way.

LET'S KEEP JOHN TAYLOR OUT OF JAIL

Here are some potentially dangerous driver actions to watch for:

1. Excessive speed, especially at night, in bad weather, and in heavy traffic.
2. Passing several cars at once, or on hills, curves and intersections where there is not a clear view ahead.
3. Following too closely.
4. Weaving and sudden lane changing.
5. Sudden stops.
6. Turning from the wrong lane.
7. Passing on the right, except on multi-lane highways where it is permitted.
8. Speeding through traffic lights on the yellow.
9. Jackrabbit starts at stop lights and other childish competition with other drivers.
10. Failure to observe stop signs, especially making rolling stops at intersections.

Here are some S-D Day suggestions, based on reports of fatal accidents from more than 20 states:

Check your speed—More than 3 out of 10 drivers in fatal accidents were violating speed laws. Speed law violation was almost twice as high on rural highways than in urban communities.

Check your drinking—In 24 out of 100 fatal accidents a driver or an adult pedestrian had been drinking.

Check your car—Among vehicles involved in fatal accidents for which condition of vehicle was reported, about 6 per cent had unsafe conditions.

Check yourself—About 1 out of 14 drivers involved in fatal accidents had a physical condition that could have been a contributing factor in the accident. In the majority of these cases the condition was fatigue or sleepiness.

Check the weather—The weather was rainy, snowy or foggy in 1 out of 6 fatal accidents. This time of the year road and visibility conditions are at their worst.

Check the time—December is a dark-dreary month and night driving is considerably more hazardous than day driving. So, when possible, plan to travel during the hours of daylight. And double your care, reduce your speed at night.

Check your manners—Failure to yield the right of way, failure to keep to the right of the center line and other examples of poor manners on the highway ranked high among driver violations in fatal accidents. Take your turn—you'll probably get there just as fast.

Will It Be John Taylor Of Big Spring Or Steve Birdwell Of Snyder?

DRIVE CAREFULLY

An Accident-Free Day Will Be An Invitation To The
SNYDER JC PRESIDENT TO SPEND ONE DAY IN OUR LOCAL JAIL

Let's Support Our Citizens' Traffic Commission

SOMEBODY'S FACING JAIL

Big Spring drivers can keep John Taylor out of jail Dec. 1. Or vice versa.
 Taylor, president of Big Spring Jaycees, has accepted a challenge from Steve Birdwell, Snyder Jaycee chief, that will put one of them behind bars for a day. Drivers in the two towns will decide who goes to jail on Safe-Driving Day.
 The Jaycee president from the city having the most accidents per 1,000 population on S-D Day will spend a day in jail as guest of the Jaycee president of the other city, according to Birdwell's proposition.
 Taylor informed Birdwell today that he's accepting the challenge—and calling on all Big Spring motorists to drive safely on S-D Day.

FROM ST. MARY'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH — are Mrs. Marie Carter, Dr. Milton Talbot, Lt. King Egger, Allen McAshan, Mrs. McAshan, Mrs. D. M. Penn and Ione McAlister. They will participate in the city-wide chorus, which will provide some of the music for the Monday evening celebration.

LET'S DO THAT CHORUS, AGAIN — says Mrs. J. E. Settles, accompanist, to the group from St. Thomas Catholic Church, at a practice session set aside for the Monday musical program at 7 p.m. around the Christmas tree. Ready to oblige are, left to right, Earl Krebsbach, Harry Jordan, Bill Sneed and Carol Belton.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Eat Slowly, Relax, And Keep Up The Exercise

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD—When Ann Blyth married she expressed a desire for a large family and after a little more than two years as Mrs. James McNulty, she is well on the way to getting her wish. She has one child already and on the set of "Kismet" at MGM, she told me that she has another date with the stork, but you'd never guess it by looking at her tiny figure.

"Two months after Timmy was born I was fitting costumes for my night club act in Las Vegas," Ann told me as we walked across the lot for lunch. "But I had only gained fourteen pounds so it wasn't too difficult to return to normal."

"Wasn't it difficult to get back that tiny waistline?" I asked.

"I had to work at it," she admitted. "My doctor gave me a series of exercises which are wonderful for toning the muscles. I liked them so much I still do them. I'm only 5'2". Ann continued, "so I like to keep my weight at about 100 or 103. I don't have a weight problem and I think it's due to the fact that I cut down my calories by eating slowly. By doing this I satisfy my appetite with less food."

"I used to rush through breakfast and lunch because I was pressed for time, then at dinner time I found I ate fast from habit."

"I love the way eating leisurely makes me feel," she said. "Now that I don't rush I digest my food much better. It was difficult learning to do this but I found that just as rushing is a chain reaction, eating at a relaxed tempo helps me to slow down for the rest of the day," she explained.

"At least once a day I set aside sixty seconds for doing absolutely nothing. If you can relieve muscular tension for even a minute or two—if you can close your eyes and erase everything from your mind just for an instant, you'll find you finish the day feeling much more refreshed."

"One of my favorite ways of relaxing is lying on a board tilted at an angle to allow my feet to be higher than my head. This speeds up the release of tension better than anything I know. You know, lying down is the only way your body can be completely relaxed."

"We chatted about clothes."

"Some women are born with fashion sense," Ann said. "They know instinctively what is best for them. But this is something that can be developed. I am interested in fashion but I don't follow it slavishly. I try to choose what suits me best. For example, I have to avoid anything which will cut my height, like a two-tone dress or a jacket that's the wrong length. And I choose things that will accent my small waist."

"I think individuality is extremely important," Ann reflected. "When I first came into pictures, the vogue in eyebrows was a thin line and the studio plucked most of mine. They've never grown back," she lamented.

"You'd never know it," I commented, scrutinizing her brows closely.

"I've learned to pencil them with tiny strokes. The trick is in sharpening your eyebrow pencil to a flat point—like the point of a thin screw-driver. And I'm careful to use a natural shade of brown," she told me.

Ann's complexion is exceptionally clear and fine grained and I asked her what she did to keep her skin in such excellent condition.

"My cleansing routine takes a little time but it pays off," she replied. "First I use a liquid cleanser to remove most of my make-up. Then I wash my face with a superfatted soap and rinse it several times in warm water."

"As a final check I apply a thin layer of lubricating cream and steam it into the pores with a cloth wrung out in hot water," she said. "I asked her what kind of make-up she preferred."

"I use a cake make-up and I apply it by wetting a sponge with skin tonic and running it lightly over the make-up. To look natural I have to have just the right color. This isn't easy," Ann laughed. "I blush to think of all the different shades I've bought and haven't been able to use."

FOR NEW MOTHERS
 It's important to a woman's morale to regain her figure after childbirth. If you are a new mother, or if you are about to be, these two Hollywood Beauty leaflets are designed especially for you:

M-8 Esther Williams' post-natal Exercises and Diet
 M-21 Maureen O'Sullivan's Daily Routine to Regain the Figure after Childbirth.

To get your copies, send 5 cents for EACH leaflet desired and one self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, in care of The Big Spring Herald.

100 Pounds Is The Limit

MGM Actress Ann Blyth is justly proud of her tiny waist, even after the birth of one child and with another on the way. She tells Lydia Lane how she exercises to keep her figure to a petite 100 pounds. You'll be seeing Ann next in "Kismet."

Good Sense Tips For The Sneezy Time

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Your child will catch six colds this winter, predicts Dr. H. J. Bannon, scientific director of Grove Laboratories here, who says:

"Cold outbreaks in the United States traditionally come in three waves, with the first occurring usually sometime in October, the second between mid-January and mid-February and the third in late March or early April."

Women get more colds than men, says Dr. Bannon—almost twice as many. And children have twice as many colds as adults.

Mothers can help prevent some of these colds by observing certain precautions. Here are some of his suggestions:

1. Keep children properly dressed—not too warm and not too cold.
2. Don't keep rooms overly hot and dry. Many doctors believe sudden change in temperature and humidity can trigger a lurking cold.
3. Help maintain high body resistance in the child through proper diet and vitamins which your doctor prescribes.
4. In bad weather, if your child seems run down don't hesitate to keep him home from school.
5. By all means keep him home if he gets a cold. It is thoughtless to let him infect the rest of the children in his class.
6. When the sniffles start, put your child to bed, give him plenty of fruit juices and see that he gets lots of rest.

Mrs. Aston Feted With Baby Shower

Mrs. Doug Aston was honored recently with a pink and blue shower in the home of Mrs. W. D. Rowland, 107 W. 21st.

Other hostesses were Mrs. Bob Eisler, Mrs. Garland Conway and Mrs. Derrill Flynn.

Mrs. Eisler and Mrs. Conway served spiced tea and cookies to the 25 guests.

Gifts were displayed by Mrs. Flynn.

New Sewing Discs

The home seamstress can now achieve innumerable designs on her sewing machine. One company has made available 16 new decorative stitch discs that may be used easily to the machine.

Randall Pickles Are Now On Wedding Trip

LUBBOCK — Mr. and Mrs. Don Randall Pickle are on their wedding trip following marriage rites solemnized Wednesday evening in the Lubbock View Christian Church by the Rev. Ed Bridwell.

Mrs. Pickle is the former Patsy Jean Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Jackson, Vandalla, Mo., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Pickle, 3301 30th Street, Lubbock.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a dress of Chantilly-type lace and tulle over satin. The fitted bodice featured unpressed tulle pleats and was accented with short scalloped sleeves. The skirt was composed of horizontal tulle bands gathered to lace streamers, ending in small nosegays. A veil of French illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a crescent arrangement of white Fuji mums and a white orchid.

Maid of honor was Miss Deanie Robinson, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Bob R. Reynolds and Mrs. J. C. Holmes, Jr., sister of the bridegroom. They wore dresses fashioned similarly to the bride's and made of bronze taffeta covered with net.

Best man was Bob R. Reynolds, and Robert Caldwell and Doyle Champion ushered. Tommy Pickle, Big Spring, and Lewis B. Rix Jr. lighted candles. Little Miss Cheri Ann Jackson, Miami, was flower girl, while Paul David Pickle, Big Spring, was ringbearer.

The couple will make a home at 1611 10th Street after their return from a wedding trip to Santa Fe, N. M. The bride is a graduate of Vandalla High School, and the bridegroom is a graduate of Lubbock High School and presently a student at Texas Tech.

Music for the ceremony was played by Mrs. Ruth Fossett, organist, who also accompanied Dorothy Coanougher who sang traditional wedding songs and the "Wedding Prayer."

Among those attending from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Pickle, grandparents of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Pickle, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Moody and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pickle and family of Big Spring, Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Rix and daughter, Connie, of Odessa, and Leon Pickle and his daughter, Mrs. Bob Reynolds, and granddaughter, Becky Reynolds, from Henderson, Ky.

What Would Cartoonists Do, Though?

The ancient and honorable subject of dishwashing seems to cause more family dissension and inspire more cartoons than practically any other topic except, possibly, women drivers.

A tip to husbands from the paper plate manufacturers is to this effect: if you use paper plates you won't be asked to wipe the dishes.

Since the disappearance of the hired girl from many households, some housewives have a special shelf or cabinet these days for storage of paper plates and cups, for which they have found new and labor-saving uses. Here are a few suggestions:

Keep your stove clean by putting drippy stirring spoons on a paper plate. When sifting flour, keep the work table clean by putting a paper plate under the sifter, and use two plates to sift flour back and forth several times, as so many recipes require.

A paper plate usually just fits the bottom of the garbage pail, and you can dispense with messy cat and dog dishes by using disposable paper ones. Use paper plates under flower pots to avoid mess.

You'll find paper plates handy, also, for all kinds of drips, from paint can and brush to nailpolish—or just a wet glass.

And an adequate supply takes up very little room if the plates are stored sideways in the cupboard.

Fragrance Garden Planned For Blind

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—A Garden of Fragrance, to bring some of the beauty of flowers to the blind, is being developed in Leeper Park on the near north side of the city.

About an acre of the park was planted this year with fragrant flowers such as roses, lilies, begonias, carnations, fragrant geraniums.

When completed, the garden will include an area where the blind may plant flowers themselves, using special tools.

Crushed stone was used on walks, so the blind can hear others walking in the garden. There are stone benches as resting places.

The South Bend Garden Club promoted the idea of the garden on suggestion of Mrs. Granville W. Ziegler. Other organizations helped contribute plants and money to develop the garden, with cooperation of the city park board.

Plans June Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Row, 1502 Stadium, announces the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Anne, to Lt. William F. Johnston, son of Mrs. Mary B. Johnston of Muncie, Indiana. The wedding has been set for June. (Photo by Barr.)

Hollandsworth-Webb Vows Said Thursday

In the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hollandsworth, on Star Route at Stanton, Shirley Hollandsworth and Elmer Lawerance Webb were married Thanksgiving Day.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. George Wimley, Estill Springs, Tenn., and Ed Hollandsworth of Big Spring. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Webb of Ackerly.

James Eubanks, minister of the Ackerly Church of Christ, read the semi-formal double ring vows. The front of the fireplace was decorated with mums, gladioli and greenery, flanked by lighted candles on each side.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina length white lace gown over taffeta. The strapless bodice was topped with a lace bolero. Her white satin hat was trimmed with rhinestones and had a net veil. Her jewelry was rhinestones.

She carried a white Bible and red roses. She wore a penny in her shoe.

Sister of the bride, Mary Virginia Hollandsworth of Big Spring, was maid of honor. Her dress was ballerina length blue nylon, and her corsage was pink carnations. Billy Joe Webb of Ackerly, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Billy Joe Bailey lighted the candles.

At the reception following the ceremony, the refreshment table was laid with a white lace cloth over green. The three-tiered wedding cake and punch were served by Mrs. Bobby Airhart, Mrs. Claude Hollandsworth and Mrs. John Bailey. Barbara Davidson was in charge of the register.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to Lubbock, the bride was wearing a navy suit and black accessories. They will make their home in Monahan, where he is employed with the Gulf Oil Company.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Dunlap, Seminole; Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Airhart and daughter of Muleshoe; Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hollandsworth and daughter and Pat Patterson of Monahan; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Landreth of Midland; Mrs. and Mrs. John Bailey and daughters of Big Spring.

Stop A Fire On A Stove Immediately

Fat spluttering out of the frying pan and into the fire was responsible for property loss of more than $5 million dollars in the last decade, statisticians say. The fires were small at the start—a little grease from frying pan, broiler or griddle—but lives and money were lost in the end.

Every home should be equipped with a conventional fire extinguisher and every member of the family should know how to use it.

A box of common household baking soda within easy reach of the stove will help quell flames. Just dump the baking soda on the flames. It will create carbon dioxide or carbonic acid gas cutting off the air and smothering the fire.

Water on a fat fire will make the fire spread and the hot grease splatter, increasing your chances of getting burned. If baking soda is used for fighting frying pan fires, it shouldn't harm food. Simply rinse the soda off steak chops or whatever was cooking.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

Biggest thing in town Thanksgiving night was the homecoming activities at the High School. Most classes had a number of exes registering with them and all the exes and their families had a good time seeing their friends.

A few of the out-of-town friends we saw were LUTHER GLOVER of Wink with his wife and son; BILL GORDON from Baytown, HOWARD KYLE and MARY GILMOUR, both of whom live in Lubbock. Mary is doing graduate work at Tech. Also registered were BURAN EDWARDS of Hobbs, N. M.; DR. CHARLES PRATHER who is a veterinarian in Temple, Okla.; MR. AND MRS. J. R. SIMMONS, who make their home in Midland, and RICHARD DEATS, who is living in Dallas.

QUEPHA PRESTON LEWIS signed in from Lubbock as did TOMMY PORTER and his sister, LYNN, who is from Roswell. JOYCE CHOATE PHILLIPS lives in Stanton and FLOYD MARTIN in Denton. FLOYCE BROWN VERMILLION registered from Seminole and JOHN WAYNE BROWN listed his home as Albuquerque. HUDSON AND BONNIE HENLEY are living in Garland and FRED FIELDS makes his home in Crane. DR. CHARLES KOBERG was having a fine time visiting with his friends while also making a holiday visit with his mother, Mrs. Charles Koerber, Sr. He lives in San Angelo.

Also here from San Angelo was

CAMPUS CHATTER

By Margaret Pierce

After a short week of studies, most of the Jayhawkers made their ways homeward for the Thanksgiving holidays.

Some of the destinations were: Levelland, Mary Forehand and Sue Neal; Denver City, Billy Moore, Doyle Scott; Lamesa, Kenneth Homeycutt, Dee Phillips, Barbara Burleson, Dennis Phillips and Bob Smith; New Mexico, Jimmy Joe Robinson, Tommy Black and Don Isham; Klondike, Jimmy Airhart and Neldon Milstead.

Billy McIvain is hunting for Pecos. Pat Porter is visiting in Weatherford and Silas Flournoy in Wichita Falls.

Some of the Hawks who remained at home in Big Spring include Laura Holland, Lynn Laws, Alice Ann Martin, Wiley Brown, Phillip Stovall, Sharon Lewis, Joan McKinney, Peggy Bradford and Jimmie King.

Two new clubs have recently been organized on the campus. A Geology Club, better known as the "Rocka-Rocka-Hammer" Club, will meet the first and third Wednesday nights of each month. Officers are Richard Read, president; L. A. Roberts, vice president; Betty Richardson, secretary-treasurer. Bruce Frazier is the sponsor.

The Sigma Delta Phi Society was approved by the student council last Monday. The officers are Robert Robertson, president; H. O. Lucas, vice president; Ray Waters, secretary-treasurer; Bob Patterson, reporter; Junior Suter, sergeant at arms. Sponsor is George McAllister. The colors are navy and white.

A second vice president, Sue Neal, was elected at the meeting of the Women's Recreational Association meeting Tuesday night. Other officers are Louise Burchett, president; Mary Forehand, first vice president; Willella Hanks, secretary; Maxine Stocks, treasurer; Alice Ann Martin, reporter. Mrs. Betty Walker is the sponsor. The group discussed a ski trip and games to be played with Ackerly

High School and Odessa Junior College.

A balancing team, Leo and Josephine Gasca, presented an assembly program in the auditorium Tuesday. Five students were called from the audience to make the program even "more interesting." They were Donna Smith, Margaret Pierce, James Skeen, Bennie Blais Bissard and Max McCulloch.

A tired, but happy group of journalists from HCJC returned Tuesday from the press conference at A&M College. Students representing our college were Lela Fletcher, Claudine Butler, Pat Dunn, Betsy Wise, Pat Duncan. Elizabeth Daniel sponsored the trip.

The coming week will be a full one for the Hawks. Aside from their regular work-outs, two ball games are scheduled. Monday night, they will be hosts to the Decatur Junior College basketball players. Friday night, the Hawks will journey to Lubbock to meet the Texas Tech freshmen.

The Choir will sing in Alpine at Sul Ross College Friday. The program they are to present will include such selections as "Let Us Break Bread Together," "Say Ye To the Righteous," "Ya Viene la Vieja," "Twas the Night Before Christmas" and selections from "Oklahoma."

We want to take this opportunity to congratulate one of the students of HCJC, Betty Caughey, who wrote a poem that has been published by the National Poetry Association. The poem, "To a Cancer Victim,"

Modern Candles Take Unique Shapes, Sizes

By ANNE LAFEVER
Burning the candle at both ends! What a lot of fun, but, in the literal sense, how impractical! Candles for the coming Christmas season are much too pretty to use so fast, but they "give a lovely light" when used alone or in combination with other decorations.

One of the most unusual candles shown in a local shop is the Madonna candle. It is about twelve inches in height with a small taper to be placed at the back, so arranged that it lights up the face of the Virgin Mary as it burns. The tiny taper is replaceable so that the candle may be used year after year.

Another arrangement that can be used through the years is the large "snowball" with an inset painted in a Christmas design. In this also, a small candle is used for the inside glow.

You will find a candle made in the shape of the old stagecoach lantern, with a scene on each of its four sides. It is hollow, and as the wick burns lower and lower, the pictures show more distinctly.

Are you departing from the traditional red and green decor always associated with Christmas? You'll be pleased to find candles in pink and also those that appear white but change to various shades as they burn.

"Snowflaked candles" are available in taper lengths, looking for all the world as if they have spent several hours in a snow storm. These are also found in square shapes.

And speaking of shapes—of candles, that is—you'll find short chunky ones as well as the tall fat ones in red and green. There are white ones in a star shape, and twisted tall tapers in those two colors as well as white.

Some are marked with tiny Christmas trees formed of glitter, while others have holly and sequins as decoration.

Impish looking angels will add a gay touch, as will the little candles in the form of choir boys and girls. There are Santas, too, in various shapes, carrying gifts, entering chimneys and sitting on sleighs.

Many interesting houses for candles can be found in the shops or even among your possessions. Do you have an apothecary jar or a brandy snifter? Or glass cylinders in wire frames make a good holder, and, of course there are always the regular candelabra and the wall sconces.

SUBTLE FLATTERY
 Yoke, Skirt, Neckline Add To Frock's Beauty

Ceil Chapman creates some of the best-selling designs in America because she is constantly creating dresses that do something for a woman. Whatever that "something" is, this Chapman model with its yoked bodice, beautiful skirt, and one of the most flattering necklines in the world is sure to do it. Intricately designed but easy to handle, it consists of a bias fold that frames the neck and shoulders, crosses in front to end in nothingness on the bias-cut yoke. The princess lines of the body itself hug the midriff area and then are released into deep inverted pleats at the side seams both front and back. Make it in gleaming satin, whispery taffeta, rich brocade for wear right now. Later on, you'll love it in printed silk or taffeta and novelty cottons.

This pattern is cut to Designer Measurements, not Standard Pattern Measurements.

Size 12, bust 35, waist 25, hips 36 inches; size 14, bust 36½, waist 26½, hips 37½ inches; size 16, bust 38, waist 28, hips 39 inches; size 18, bust 40, waist 30, hips 41 inches; size 20, bust 42, waist 32, hips 43 inches.

Size 12 requires 7¼ yards of 39-inch material for dress and ½-yard of 39-inch material for lining.

To order Pattern No. 1240, address Spades Syndicate, Inc., P. O. Box 535, G. P. O. Dept. B-5, New York 1, N. Y. State size. Send $1.00. Airmail handling 25 cents extra. New 144-page Pattern Booklet XII available for 50 cents. If paying by check, make it payable to Spades Syndicate, Inc. and add 4 cents for handling.

HI-TALK

By Mary Sue Hale

EUNICE FREEMAN

This week's limelight belongs to Eunie Freeman, Crowned Homecoming Queen, Eunice served as cheerleader at BSHS during her junior and senior years. Talent is thought of in connection to Eunice, for she has held leading roles in several school plays and has participated in various other school talent productions.

A candidate for school beauty, the results of which will be announced at the Christmas Formal, Eunice is also serving as editor of the Corral, the school newspaper. Eunice occupies a place on the volleyball team and was nominee for Halloween Queen her junior year.

Big Spring High School's second annual Homecoming, which extended through Thursday, was opened Wednesday by an assembly at 2 p.m. in the auditorium. Exes were welcomed by Roy D. Worley, principal, and Tom Guin, student council president, served as MC. Bill Dawes, class of 1926, gave the response. His personal idea of a homecoming was given by Bruce Frazier. Obie Bristow introduced a few members of the 1935 football team.

The "short cuts," composed of Kathy McRee, Sue Boykin, Fudge Gray and Annette Boykin, presented a collection of songs whose popularity ranged from "way back" to favorites of the present times.

Dance reviews of the years 1925, 1945, and 1955 were illustrated by Mrs. Lee Rogers and Mrs. Hayden Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Cook, and Miss Freeman and Bobby Fuller, respectively.

A class review of the year 1925 was then presented by Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Griffith.

The Casey Coffin Crew, which was the Rev. H. W. Bartlett's charge, presented a humorous skit. The 1935 version of "Oh, You Beautiful Doll" was given by Charles Johnson and Miss Freeman.

The school song, led by three cheerleaders of former years, Mrs. Bob Satterwhite, Mrs. George Thomas, and Mrs. Zollie Boykin, with the 1935 cheerleaders, closed the assembly.

Shouts of "Line up here for the procession!" and "Hey, You! Move up a little!" were uttered a few hours later during the final few minutes before the Homecoming parade Wednesday afternoon at 4:30. Various cars, floats, and bands were included in the procession.

Judges R. R. McEwen, Jr., R. H. Weaver, and Jim Zack chose the float entered by Central W. and D. Grade School, "Old Central Ward." It featured students and teachers of former years.

The Junior class float, "Orchids to Exes" placed second in the judging. This float was decorated in orchid shades and last year's Homecoming Queen, Sue Barnes, was the lone occupant supposedly enclosed in an orchid transparent box.

The sophomore class float, "Hello Exes" was composed of a group of sophomore girls with telephones. Awards of $10 for first place; $7.50 for second place, and $5.00 for third place were given by the student council, sponsoring body of the parade and other Homecoming activity.

The first day's swirl of activity was wound up with a pep rally and bonfire behind the gym. Former and present students alike chanted lyrics before the blazing fire. A few Steer fans gathered around the blaze were Adrienne Smith, Willy Wise; Ginger Hatch, Norman Dudley; Robert Morehead, Kirk Faulkner, Anna Belle Lane, Nita Hedleston, Sue Barnes, Robert Angel, Patty Gregory and Ernie Kennedy.

The Thanksgiving football game was the only Homecoming activity occurring out of town. Jacqueline Cox, Joan Derrington, Billy Gilbert, Bruce Moore, Susan Landers,

Events Scheduled For Country Club

The Sunday afternoon bridge tournament scheduled for members of the Big Spring Country Club and their out-of-town guests this afternoon, will have as hostess, Mrs. E. L. Powell. Players are to arrange for their partners in the games, for which the admission is 50 cents per person. Play will begin at 2 p.m. Slated for Tuesday is Ladies

Golf Day, which will begin at 9 a.m. Friday, the Ladies Golf Association will give a Copper Coffee for all women of the club. The affair will begin at 9:30 a.m. and end at 11 a.m.

Slumber Party Given

Sandra Cross was hostess recently for a slumber party in honor of her sister, Shirley. Nine girls attended a midnight show and returned to the Cross home to play games and have a late supper.

McRees Have Guests

Visiting in the William McRee home, 108 Canyon, during the Thanksgiving holidays are Mrs. McRee's mother, Mrs. William Frowe of Lawrence, Kan., and nephew, Wesley Moore, of Kansas City. Also here are their two daughters, Nancy, who is teaching the third grade in Albuquerque, N. M., and Sharon, who is a freshman at Eastern New Mexico College in Portales, N. M.

50 EXTRA PAGES

New City Directory Is Out With 2,000 Additional Names

The new city directory — the 1955 edition — has been issued. It is larger by some 50 pages and has something like 2,000 more names than the 1953 counterpart. This year's biennial copy is the product of H. D. Speith Directory Company, as have been all of its counterparts since the first book was issued somewhere around 1920. Besides the names and occupations of individuals (and of wives), the book contains a listing as to addresses on the various streets. It also contains a numerical telephone directory. Like a telephone directory, it has its yellow page section with a classification of all types of businesses. Finally, the volume contains a list of Howard County taxpayers.

The preface has some general information about the community, but the state postal guide, information about state and county officials, legislative and judicial districts, etc., is missing in the current issue. Editing is not nearly so closely done as in the 1953 issue. The advent of a new directory is invariably the signal for comment on the name content — something with no more basis than perhaps New Year prophecies. At a rate, here goes:

The Smiths naturally lead the list with 166. The Joneses rank next with 81, the Browns follow with 85, and trailed by the Johnsons with 80 (there are 11 Johnsons besides), and 79 Williamses.

Other more popular names, judging by frequency of appearance in the directory, are the Rogers (33), Roberts (31), Robinsons (31), Thomases (44), Thompsons (39), Millers (43), Harrises (39), Walkers (46), Longs (30), Moores (44), Allens (35), Andersons (33), Bakers (32), Clarks (31), Davises (45), Hernandezes (32), and Wilsons (38).

If the taste runs to the edibles, you can find Apple, Bean, Berry, Pickle, Rice, Peach, Salama.

There are Plants, and some of them are Vines and Trees, and for each Thorne there is a Rose.

Occupationally, you may find a Baker, Barber, Barker, Brewer, Peaster, Fielder, Fisher, Forrester, Fryer, Gardner, Glasser, Hatcher, Inkman, Jester, Limer, Mealer, Miller, Parson, Priest, Porter, Potter, Roper, Sergeant, Shepherd, Taylor and Weaver, to mention a few.

For the piscatorial clan, you have the Fish — the Herring, Pike, Bass and Sturgeon. For the feathery friends, the Bird, Crow, Crane, Peacock, Starling and Stark. The animal fold embraces the Doe, Fox, Lamb, Wolf.

Internationally, you can find French, English, and the Roman. You will find Rich and Poore; the Ache and Payne; Ryce and Shine, Race and Pace, Sweet and Sauer. The weather may be Raney or it may have some Snow.

In the Carr field are such familiar names as Nash, Ford, Hudson and Dodge.

Anatomically, you can find an Eye, Hair, Hahn (if that isn't broadening the "a" in hand), and Hart.

Colorwise, the listing includes Black, Brown, Green, White, Gray. As for the calendar, you can take a Day or Weeks.

If the fancy runs to objects, then choice ranges from Dial to Cloud, Cupp, Cobb, Bell, Ball, Doll, Box, Gates, Horn, House, Kitchen, Hill, Moon, Key, Land, Spears and many others.

There is a hit for the conjugationally inclined — Mi and Mah, or Res, Ras, and Rowe.

And for the romantically inclined, it might be punny to say that Huggins lead to Love.

Merry Christmas In The Making

J. W. Trantham, Big Spring fireman, is putting a new coat of paint on a tricycle fireman have just repaired. The tricycle, looking and running like new, is among the collection of toys the fire department personnel are renovating for Christmas distribution. Big Spring children and their parents are being urged to turn in no-longer-used toys to the fire stations or to one of the Shell service stations for repair and distribution to underprivileged youngsters.

Knife-Fork Club Reservations Due Monday

Members of the Knife and Fork Club are being reminded that reservations must be in Monday for the organization's dinner sessions at the Settles Hotel Tuesday evening at 7:30.

Speaker will be Robert "Bob" George, a rancher who has had a hand in many other types of activities, but who is carrying a message across the country concerning the U.S. farm program. His theme Tuesday night will be on the question of whether the present farm program can be changed to give more assistance to those engaged in the business of farming without putting undue strain on the budget of the household.

With a huge acreage in the FLIN Hills, the country's best grazing land, George devotes most of his time to personally managing his cattle operations. But he has found time, too, for engaging in such various activities as managing a minor league baseball team (he doesn't say how it finished); managing a fellow citizen's campaign for governor (the record shows he got it); acting as a special assistant to the U. S. Secretary of Agriculture and moving distressed persons from the dust bowls of Kansas and the Dakotas; chasing down properties for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

But George admits he is a catfisherman at heart, and his farm operations plus an active interest in the country's present farm program are the things that count.

Glasscock Stock Show Date Is Set

GARDEN CITY—The Glasscock County Livestock Show has been scheduled for January 30, according to Gerald Oakes, high school agriculture instructor.

Two important changes have been made from last year's show. One is that the date will be on Monday instead of Saturday, and the other is that three new classes of breeding sheep have been added. The new classes are being made in order to create interest in registered sheep, Oakes said. There will be only three or four animals entered in each of these classes.

The show is a joint undertaking by the county agent's office and the agriculture department of the high school. Animals will be entered by both FFA members and 4-H Club boys and girls. Some of the better lambs will be taken to the Odessa show on Jan. 3.

Most of the projects in the country are comprised of lambs, Oakes said. A few capons are raised and a very few calves.

Oakes and County Agent Oliver West have received word that they can secure hybrid sorghum planting seed for trial projects next year. Several boys in the farming areas of the county will probably use this as a crop project and compare the results with those of regular sorghum varieties.

Stanton Alters 'Trades Day'

STANTON—The Saturday Trade's Day has been changed slightly at the request of ticket holders who come to town every Saturday to participate in the lucky ticket drawing.

Instead of giving away $25 at 2 and 5 p.m., merchants will now give away $40 each week, and the drawing will be held at 4 p.m. The drawings which started last summer have been attended by large crowds each Saturday, according to Ed Davis, manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

Davis said that business this fall had been slightly less than anticipated. The cotton crop suffered from an early freeze, and laborers had a much shorter stay in the county than usual.

Ex-Texans Make Big Mark In S. America

By TEX EASLEY
RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 26 (U.S.)—Through the southern half of South America there's a sprinkling of Texans whose careers read like fiction. Take Samuel Wagner. He has lived in Argentina's remote Patagonia so long he speaks English with a Latin accent. Sam was born and reared around Waco, but was brought down to Argentina when 9. His father got a contract with the Argentine government to help improve livestock. That was about 1902. He's lived there ever since except for 1911 and 1912 when he went to Dallas to study auto mechanics.

Now a guide to Americans and others who want to go fishing or hunting in the mountains of extreme southern Argentina and Chile, the wiry and tanned man makes his home in Bariloche. Long ago he married a girl of German descent and they have children and grandchildren living there.

When a U.S. House Agriculture subcommittee headed by Rep. Bob Poage of Waco recently visited Bariloche, Wagner heard the group was in town and looked them up. "My heart is still in Texas," declared Wagner. "When I die I hope they burn my body and send the ashes back to be strewn over the state."

He told Poage that near Bariloche is another old time Texan who owns "a ranch 20 leagues square," or about 60 miles in each direction. He is Jarred Jones, 94, who came to Patagonia more than 60 years ago shortly after the last of the Indians in the area had been driven away or killed.

"Mr. Jones came into town one night a few years back," commented Wagner. "His ranch is about 25 miles away. He wanted to see a movie about some Texas cowboys who got in a jam and fled to Argentina to start their lives over."

The old timer, Wagner stated, had grown up southwest of San Angelo.

Returning to the United States in December after two years in Paraguay in technical assistance work is Tom Darrow of Sonora, a 1939 A&M graduate.

His wife is the former Helen Sublett of Fort Worth. A son, Raymond, is a Texas A&M freshman. Darrow's work has been in ranch management, teaching Paraguayans such things as stock tank construction for use in seasons when natural ponds dry up. He has made three expeditions into Chao Indian areas seldom visited by white men.

Darrow was born at Plainview. He attended Allen Military Academy in Bryan, then A&M.

Carpenters' Wages To Go Up Dec. 12

A 12½-cent pay increase for Big Spring carpenters is effective Monday, Dec. 12, according to terms of an agreement signed by local contractors and Carpenters Local No. 1634. The raise will boost carpenters' wages from $2.25 to $2.37½ per hour. The contract covers a period of one year.

CRITIQUE

By Glenn Coates

YOU MAKE TAKE THE WITNESS

By Clinton Giddings Brown

This is one of the most interesting books I have read all year and I think you will think so too. At first glance, it might seem like just another dull book by a retired lawyer who needs the money. It is subtitled "Memories of A Texas Law Practice."

One way to describe it is to quote the notice appearing in the first few pages. It is taken from Huckleberry Finn by Mark Twain. "Persons attempting to find a motive in this narrative will be prosecuted; persons attempting to find a moral in it will be banished; persons attempting to find a plot in it will be shot."

You might not think that a law practice would be exciting or amusing. But the practice of Brown is made to appear so in this book. It is semi-autobiographical and the author has graciously saved his readers the miseries of his early life. We are not told how many brothers or sisters he had when young or any of the other sob stories usually included in a work of this type. Instead, the reader is treated to about as human a book as I have read. The writing is excellent. It is wonderful if Brown wrote it or had a ghost. I'm inclined to think he did it.

He has brought realism and life into the courtroom, making that usually dull and lifeless place, as adventurous and exciting as any detective story yarn and much more readable. Brown takes us through several of his more unusual cases, leaving out the irrelevancies and pointing out the pathos and greatness of the judicial system.

During his long years as a San Antonio lawyer, Brown represented large companies in damage suits most of the time. But he was once district attorney and worked with several criminal cases. Once he represented a Negro friend who had been accused of murdering a white man. He won the case too. All the anecdotes are not of his victories either. There are many he uses to show why he lost a case. The book would probably be an excellent primer for a beginning lawyer. He ends the book with a letter he wrote his son in 1925, giving advice on entering the profession.

One thing I particularly liked about the volume is Brown's attitude toward the judicial system. He states that he would not exchange the "trial by jury" for anything else in the whole Constitution. A reading of his book will show why he thinks that way. (Unlike many lawyers, Brown has a very high regard for jurors. He says that if a jury has all the facts, there is no need for a lawyer to browbeat or cajole them.)

The 12 men will reach a Just verdict.

His tales of the many cases which he fought are interesting and purposeful, whether you agree with his point of view concerning the law or not. After reading the book, and noting the style, I wish Brown had spent more time writing.

But Texas law is probably all the better for his participation in the courtroom. (University of Texas Press, $3.95, as Press, $3.95, 223 pps.)

It seems we have another play director in the city in Allen Adams, assistant pastor at the Methodist Church, Dec. 18. Adams tells me, he will direct "The Captains and the Kings" as a Christmas program.

The play was written by Channing Pollock and is an allegorical type production. You might remember that "Oats and Bound" the recent high school play directed by Del Metomb was similar in nature. The church production will have 13 characters. Adams said, "I suspect that you can look forward to seeing this play as Allen Adams works hard at anything he undertakes, and this vehicle should offer excellent entertainment. Rehearsals have been under way about a week. I hope you will start making plans now to see the play. We need to encourage this type of entertainment."

Race Car Story Is State Offering

"Fast and Furious" was filmed at Pebble Beach and is the story of a hunted killer who attempts to escape across the border as a race car driver. Starred in the picture are Dorothy Malone and John Ireland. It is the Terrace attraction Friday and Saturday. The picture was filmed on the site of the annual International Road Race.

Federal Aid Issue To Be Debated At Natl. Conference On Education

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 (U.S.)—The nation's first White House conference on education will open here Monday. Four days of turbulent debate face the 2,000 delegates from all over the country.

President Eisenhower will welcome the delegates Monday night by sound film made at Gettysburg. Vice President Nixon will deliver the main address the same night.

Of all the hot issues before the delegates, none is likely to cause more trouble than the question: Should there be federal aid for education?

But there are other controversial questions up for study and in advance of the session, there was no way of knowing which way the delegates would go on any of the six principal issues:

1. "What should our schools accomplish?"
2. "In what ways can we organize our school systems more efficiently and economically?"
3. "What are our school building needs?"
4. "How can we get enough good teachers—and keep them?"
5. "How can we finance our schools—build and operate them?"
6. "How can we obtain a continuing public interest in education?"

You couldn't even get any unanimity of opinion about the motives behind the conference.

As early as last August, Selma M. Borhardt, Washington representative of the American Federation of Teachers, said:

"It looks very much as though the conference is going to be stacked. As things stand now, it is obvious that classroom teachers and labor leaders will not be plentiful interests that are more interested in business than labor are doing the stacking."

But Rep. Gwinn (R-NY) said: "Recommendations which will be made at the White House conference apparently come from groups closely allied with the public school systems."

Attending the conference will be delegates from all 48 states and five territories. Both public and nonpublic schools will be represented.

An Associated Press survey which drew replies from various communities in 46 states showed 495 delegates identified with education, including teachers, school administrators or local school board members. Laymen total 713.

The conference was proposed nearly two years ago by President Eisenhower, who suggested that it discuss "significant and pressing problems in the field of education" and come up with solutions.

Eisenhower set up, under a congressional mandate, a 34-member committee for the White House conference. This committee is to study the reports made at the conference and then sum up the problems and solutions for the President next January.

On the face, it would appear that a complete meeting of minds is impossible, even on the question of what courses of study should be included in the school curriculum.

Some want greater emphasis on the humanities: History, science, languages, literature. Others want to continue emphasis on teaching youngsters how to get along in the complex world about them.

No problem is more vexing than the question of federal aid. There are those who oppose it altogether, arguing it conflicts with a function rightly in the province of the states. The other side says there is an urgent need for more teachers and classrooms and places responsibility for easing these needs on the federal government.

This issue is not due for discussion until late in the program. It's No. 3 on the agenda, but the are those who feel it will figure in all the discussions.

There is a religious overtone to the federal aid question. Should, for instance, federal aid be given to parochial schools? This issue has confounded previous efforts for congressional legislation that would set up a federal aid program.

No Shortage Of Pennies Here; Big Spring Has Coins To Spare

The nation may be short, but Big Spring is loaded—with pennies. Elsewhere, the call is going out for the one-cent pieces because of a shortage, but here the coins are in abundance—in fact, one of the local banks averages sending out some $500 to $1,000 worth per week.

The national shortage has reached the point where the mint in Denver is working on a 11-hour per-day schedule to make up the deficit. This 11-hour schedule is producing 3.5 million pennies a day. And the shortage is still in effect.

But evidently not in the Southwest. The State National Bank here noted it sends out almost $1,000 per week in pennies, and the First National said it has had no appeal from the Federal Reserve Bank in Dallas for the one-centers. Each bank maintains about $700 or $800 worth of pennies on reserve.

About the only call coming to Big Spring bankers is for pewter pennies. The First National reported that quite some time back, a call came to collect and turn in all pewter pennies. These pennies were coined during the war when copper was scarce and pennies were needed.

The last pewter pennies were coined in 1943.

According to the banks, the possible reason Big Spring is not affected by the penny shortage could be vending machines. Vendors with headquarters in Big Spring cover a wide area servicing the machines. Thus, they come back to Big Spring loaded with the copper coins. Also the out-of-town trade fills the parking meters here with the coins, the banks noted.

Very few worn out pennies are redeemed here, either, bank officials report. About the only time a one-center is turned in is when it has a hole punched through it or a side sliced off. Everything considered, very few coins are turned in from wear.

As to the reason for the national shortage, the local banks have no idea. Usually when some shortage occurs, they receive bulletins from the Federal Reserve in Dallas. But there have been no notices about the penny shortage.

If the nation is bad enough off, all anyone needs to do is call Big Spring for assistance.

Thousands Of Dolls To Be Exhibited In Abilene Show

ABILENE, Nov. 26 (AP)—The West Texas Doll Show, first of its kind in the Southwest, will open Sunday afternoon.

It's a free show, sponsored by the Abilene Reporter-News in cooperation with the Abilene Parks and Recreation Department.

The first of the shows was open for three days last year. The turnout was so great thousands missed seeing it because they didn't want to stand in line the two hours it took to get in. This year, the show is being kept open eight days, Sunday through Sunday, Dec. 4.

More than 6,000 pieces, dolls and their accessories, have been entered.

They are arranged in fairyland settings created in the woman's building at Abilene Fair Park.

The settings are built specifically by Scott Fikes, Abilene parks director. They depict Storybook Land, from the "Crooked House" to Cinderella's golden carriage. Dolls have been brought to the show from the area bounded by Dallas, Lubbock, Seminole and Ballinger.

Some are valuable collections of antique bisque, porcelain and wax dolls. Others have as their only claim to glory the fact they are loved by some child. Some dolls are elegantly gowned, one is fashioned of firewood. One group of "first lady" dolls are models of the figures of presidents' wives in Smithsonian Institute.

Collections of foreign dolls represent every part of the world, from Lapland to Indochina.

The Nativity scene—made with a manger, miniature figurines, and a greenery background—is best located on a table in front of a bay window. Miniature candles and electric lights add sparkle that may be appreciated inside or out.

The Law Says A Child Must Go To School

By DON HENRY

Mother might pamper the child by saying, "you don't have to go to school today if you don't want to."

But she is very wrong if the youngster is in need of valuable points to pass.

Also, some people have the idea that school is just for those who like it, and the student can drop out of school at any age or grade he or his parents desire. But again the thought is wrong if the youth is under 14.

Because the state law is definite in both cases.

Under the present Texas school laws, all youths must have completed the ninth grade and be at least 14 before they can legally be dropped from the school rolls.

Other than that, the student must attend at least two-thirds of his school work each six weeks to be eligible for a grade. Above and beyond that requirement, the student is required to attend every day unless excused by school officials or his grade will be docked—either by the school or by the student himself.

If a student is forced to miss a day of school because of illness, he is allowed to make the work up. And if he is out of school with his parents' permission—a shopping trip, for example—but not exactly with the sanction of school officials, his grade is not cut, but he is not allowed to make up the work missed.

In an effort to stem the tide of students skipping school, one person, the assistant principal, spends the larger part of his time contacting parents about absences. But if the parents would cooperate with the school, the principal's job would be much simpler and would erase many of the difficulties arising between the two groups.

As the system is set up by the high school, the parents are asked to call every time their child is absent. If the student has a legitimate reason for missing, the reason is noted, but if the excuse is not okay, that is noted too.

If they (the parents) would comply, it would cause less work for the school and also create less bother for themselves, officials point out. For, the school is going to call the child's home if he is absent, if no word is received from the parent.

Thus, the mom and dad are bothered, and the school has its hands full making calls, when if the parents would contact the school that "Johnny" is out because of illness, everyone would be satisfied and not as bothered.

School officials report that very few parents consider it necessary to call the school when their child is out. But if they would take the initiative, they would have better cooperation from the school when their youngster is out of school.

Sailors To Have Girls At Dance

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—About 1,600 sailors are planning to hold a big "South Seas Ball" Tuesday night, but until today there was some doubt that any girls would be there. However, officials of the Navy's destroyer force at Newport have taken care of that situation. They sent notices to 25 hospitals and industries employing large groups of girls, inviting the girls to be guests at the ball.

Action Aplenty In New Books

You can do almost anything with new children's books—except read them.

You can listen to them. You can paint them. You can launder them. But you cannot read them.

Psychologists explain that this year's books ignore the printed word and still introduce the child to literature. They help the child develop interest in books as well as good reading habits.

The "Magic Talking Book" stands as the most revolutionary development in the world of children's books. This book tells a standard fairy tale within its jackets.

The covers, washable with safety corners, feature real phonograph records. A new dimension is added to the story through the use of music and a series of sound effects.

Members of the high-chair set are also being catered to by a new line of picture books made of muslin and color-fast dyes.

Here, the emphasis is on education. One page, complete with lace, teaches a child how to tie his shoes. Another page provides a balloon which the toddler learns to blow up. There is a chapter demonstrating the proper technique for the brushing of teeth and the blowing of noses.

Any child can feel socially secure after a day spent with a Peggy Cloth Book. These books have an added attraction: they can be washed or chewed with abandon if the child has no teeth.

Other books without words—crayon models or scary pop-ups—still rank high on the childhood best-seller lists. Sound effects play a prominent part in these books which are largely keyed to well-known television characters.

An Ancient Custom

This mistletoe business all began with the ancient Druids. Then, the small sprig was thought to have magical powers. Many young men of today might agree with the Druids—after finding favorite gal pucker up 'neath the mistletoe.

FOR APARTMENT DWELLERS and folks with limited space are table-sized Christmas trees. Usually of spruce, they come from northern Minnesota forests and are processed to make them fire resistant. Available in various hues.

SIMPLICITY IS ONE OF THE BEST decors for Christmas settings. On the buffet table, holiday colors are traditionally red, green and white. This hostess has added the stately grace of hurricane lamps to add height and candle-lit.

Luggage Gifts Need Planning

Diplomats en route to international conferences might justifiably shun a "shocking pink" overnight bag. Similarly, today's teen-ager might not like to cart a wardrobe steamer trunk on weekend trips.

When buying luggage, as in buying any Christmas gift, the needs of the user should be considered. Accessories for travel will be considered. Accessories for travel will be double appreciated if the buyer keeps these tips in mind:

1. Attempt to match the case to an already existing set. Or, try to correlate colors. For example, a plaid duffle should match the predominant shade of solid-color luggage.
2. Consider the travel habits of the user before choosing the case. A college student, spending her free time flitting from one male school to another, might well appreciate a hat box. An air traveler will like a light-weight model and a motorist might prefer a hanging garment carrier.

3. Some designs are strictly masculine. This is true of the "suits" bag, companion case and club bag. The hatbox, train case and overnight fitted bag are feminine accessories.
4. If the luggage will receive hard use, check for a durable covering. Also make sure that the handles are comfortable and securely anchored, the hardware and locks are sturdy, and the linings are securely fitted.

For Decorations In The Home, Let Your Fancy Go Unleashed

The whole idea behind Christmas decor is a matter of taste. And while there are many symbols for Christmas, you can follow your own heart and come up with a beautiful home.

There is everything from the simple red tablecloth with an evergreen centerpiece to the front lawn that depicts a range of scenes from a Christmas pageant to Snow White and the seven dwarfs.

The place to start your decor is the tree. Usually the trimmings are the familiar and happy lights, balls and tinsel. Today, however, you can add glints of silver or snow. An outfit called Krylon has come up with a spray that does the job.

For under the tree: there are materials made especially to keep the pine needles from getting into the rug. Chase Bag, for example, has a decorative material that will fit under any tree and add its own colors.

If you live in an apartment with little room for a big tree, you'll find small, table-sized trees available. Halvorson—one tree firm—puts out the miniature spruces that have been processed to make them fire resistant and truly evergreen.

One famous decorating and wrapping outfit, Tie-Tie, has done a mantel with strings of paper chain. The motif is carried over from the mantel to hanging fixtures, over windows and doors. The chain also fits well as a string for the tree and links can be used to decorate packages.

The Spice Trade Council has come up with a nice idea you may want to try. It's the usual evergreen and holly wreath, but this time fresh fruit and pungent spices are added. It sparks what could easily be just another wreath in the house.

Candy is more than edible and more than simple tree decoration. Fanny Farmer has designed a candy mobile—a fixture of candy canes and sticks and fruit that hangs balanced delicately from wires and moves ever so slowly with the home air currents.

One place you'll be sure to decorate will be your table. Your best silver will be out. So will your best napery and china. You'll find that buffet tables tend to look flat with all the appointments lying down.

The Onelda silver people have come up with an idea to replace the usual candlesticks. They've used hurricane lamps on the table to give the verticle lines you need.

"We take pride in announcing the association of Mr. James C. Pickle.

"To most people, he will require no introduction, for he has been a resident of Big Spring for much of the three decades since he came here originally with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pickle. He is a graduate of Big Spring High School and of the Dallas Institute of Mortuary Science.

"In various capacities, for most of 20 years he has been experienced as a funeral home staff member. Since 1948 he has been a licensed embalmer and funeral director.

"For the past four years Mr. Pickle has been with the Robert Massie Funeral Chapel in San Angelo. In a measure, this is a homecoming, for he had been on the staff of Nalley Funeral Home from 1946-'51. During that time many came to appreciate his understanding and thoughtful help.

'The Desperate Hours'

Humphrey Bogart, Fredric March, Mary Murphy, Arthur Kennedy, Dewey Martin, Gig Young and Martha Scott are starred in "The Desperate Hours" starting at the Ritz today. The VistaVision picture will play through Wednesday. It is the story of a normal average family that finds its home invaded by three mad killers just escaped from a penitentiary.

'The Desperate Hours' Is Ritz Film In VistaVision

Dan Hilliard (Fredric March) returns home from work one afternoon with his daughter Cindy (Mary Murphy) to find his wife (Martha Scott) held captive by three mad killers. The men have just escaped from a penitentiary and plan to use the Hilliard home as a refuge. The convicts are Glenn Griffin (Humphrey Bogart), Kobish (Robert Middleton), and Hal Griffin (Dewey Martin).

"The Desperate Hours" starting today at the Ritz and playing through Wednesday. Filmed in VistaVision, the picture was adapted from the novel and play by Joseph Hayes. William Wyler produced and directed the film.

Glenn is the leader of the trio and the other two follow his orders, to a point. His younger brother leaves the house, however when he suspects that the police have found out that the group holds the family in captivity. Glenn chose the Hilliard home because he believed that it would be the best hideout to have until he receives money from friends, which the escapees need to get away.

The Hilliard family, including school age Ralphie (Richard Eyer), are allowed to go about their routine affairs without interruption, but one of them is always held in the house under the threat of death if any of the family tells the police that the convicts are in the house. Cindy's boyfriend Chuck (Gig Young) finds it hard to understand why she has changed so drastically, however, and begins to snoop around. He finally discovers the secret the family is trying to keep. But the law enforcement officers, headed by deputy sheriff Jesse Bard (Arthur Kennedy), also discover the subterfuge and set out to protect the family.

One reason Glenn and his cohorts are waiting in the city is to pay off other hoodlums to kill Jesse, who was instrumental in sending Glenn to the penitentiary. Dramatic acting is the keynote of the picture. Bogart is returned to the type of role that made him famous in Hollywood. March, sometimes called the best actor in the film capital, is in the type of role that he plays best.

The book was a best seller and the play won wide-spread acclaim. The movie should do as well as either of them.

Twin Bill Set For Drive-In

"Saratoga Trunk" is one of the Hollywood "greats." The film stars Gary Cooper as a Texas gun fighter and Ingrid Bergman as a fortune hunter. Although Cooper does everything possible to get her married off to a Texas millionaire, she falls in love with him. The picture plays on the twin bill with "Unchained" at the Jet Drive-In Thursday and Friday. This latter picture is a story of prison life and stars Elroy Hirsch. Hirsch is the All American football player who had the nickname of "Crazylegs."

Payne And Reagan

John Payne and Ronald Reagan play the leads in "Tennessee's Partner" starting at the State today. Coleen Gray and Rhonda Fleming provide the love interest. The western picture is filmed in color and SuperScope.

'Tennessee's Partner' Stars Ronald Reagan

The friendship of a western gunslinger and a gambler is the subject of "Tennessee's Partner" at the State today. The color and SuperScope film will play through Tuesday.

This picture was taken from the memorable story of the same name by Bret Harte. Like other of the author's works, this one has many peculiar twists and is exciting right down to the last gun shot. John Payne plays Tennessee the gambler and Ronald Reagan plays Cowpoke, his friend.

The love interest is played by Coleen Gray and Rhonda Fleming. The story begins in a California gold-rush town where The Duchess (Rhonda Fleming) runs a night life establishment. Tennessee gambles in the place and splits his winnings with the Duchess. One night Cowpoke arrives in town and saves Tennessee from being shot in the back. So the two become friends and room mates. Cowpoke plans to meet and marry a girl named Goldie (Coleen Gray). When she arrives in town, Tennessee discovers that she is an old flame of his.

Tennessee doesn't like to see a man get it in the back and he sets out to save his friend from the girl's clutches. He learns that Goldie plans to skip town with Cowpoke's $5,000 grubstake. So Tennessee talks her into eloping with him to San Francisco. He leaves her at Sacramento, however, and returns with Cowpoke's money.

Cowpoke, meanwhile is after Tennessee's hide for the affair. The two finally mend their differences after a fight, but the troubles are not over yet. A posse is after Tennessee for a murder.

'Texas Lady'

Claudette Colbert and Barry Sullivan are starred with Newcomer Greg Walcott in this Ritz feature. The Technicolor and SuperScope picture will play Thursday through Saturday. Claudette Colbert plays a spunky newspaperwoman who is campaigning for law and order. In spite of her beliefs, she falls into a romantic tangle with a gambler and a gun-slinger.

Ginger Rogers Starred

'Tight Spot' Stars Ginger Rogers

Ginger Rogers, Edward G. Robinson, and Brian Keith are starred in "Tight Spot" at the State Wednesday and Thursday. The film offers suspense and comedy in a different type of gangster picture. Sherry (Ginger Rogers) plays a wise-cracking inmate of a woman's penitentiary who is moved to a swank hotel suite by detectives in order to question her about gangland activities. The detectives are Brian Keith and Edward G. Robinson.

She refuses to testify against the gang, but changes her mind when the prison matron guarding her is killed by gangland bullets intended for her. One of the detectives falls in love with her and he is shot by the bomber who makes a last attempt at silencing Sherry. Sherry really turns to the police side then and agrees to go into court and tell everything she knows.

The comedy aspects of the picture are provided by the dialogue of a tough cop and a wise-talking woman convict. It is heralded as a gay tale of a cop and a gangster who fall in love.

Friday and Saturday, the State screen will have "Jail Busters" with the Bowers Boys. Leo Gorcey and Hunts Hall are the star performers and they are up to their usual antics.

This time the boys get themselves arrested and thrown in prison so they can help plan an expose of prison conditions. Inside prison they are tricked into sentences of six years each. But they get a prison map showing an underground tunnel which is supposed to lead to escape.

Many humorous scenes later, they find the prison cleaned up of corruption and the Bowers Boys out on the streets again.

CINEMA COMMENT

By Glenn Coates

Today is the last day that you can record your choices in the Audience Awards poll at the Ritz. The results of the national poll will be announced at a dinner in Los Angeles Dec. 7. The winners in each of the categories will receive a gold statuette.

The Audience Awards poll is not to be confused with the annual Academy Awards. Filmgoers have no choice in the Academy presentation of "oscar's."

Ballots are still available at the Ritz if you care to vote in the poll. They are free. You are asked to select your favorite in five categories: the best picture, the best actor, the best actress, and most promising actor and actress.

Speaking of double features and drive-ins, there is a new theatre scheduled to open on West Highway 50. The theatre is a "twin-screen" type. This kind of drive-in ordinarily runs double features all the time and the moviegoer can see either one of them without sitting through the other, if he chooses.

The films play alternately on each screen. Thus, you can sit in one spot and see both pictures, or see just the film you want to by choosing the appropriate screen and then leaving. This type drive-in is a good idea, in my opinion, but there is still another question to be answered.

What kind of pictures will the twin bill have? If the pictures are no good, then it is immaterial how convenient they are to see.

Christmas-land of the poinsettia pixies

This year, Santa's very special decorators have chosen to elaborate on the traditional . . . the majestic Poinsettia that blossoms only during the Christmas season . . . and throughout the store you'll see these colorful Poinsettias . . . simple and dramatic in all their crimson glory, to delight your eyes and warm your heart . . . and more than that, our Poinsettias have come to life in the form of gay little "Pixies," darting and flitting about the store . . . their elfin elusiveness adding to the magic spell of the season.

"I'm a 'Pixie' . . . a 'Poinsettia Pixie' to be exact . . . and just as the Poinsettia is a very special kind of Christmas blossom, so am I, a very special kind of Christmas Pixie . . . you'll see lots of us dancing about among the beautiful crimson blossoms at Hemphill's this Christmas . . . so look closely when you notice a poinsettia, and see if you can spot us . . . Our aim is to lift your spirits and make the beauty of Christmas a living thing to you, too."

Prince Valiant
IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR
By Harold R. Foster

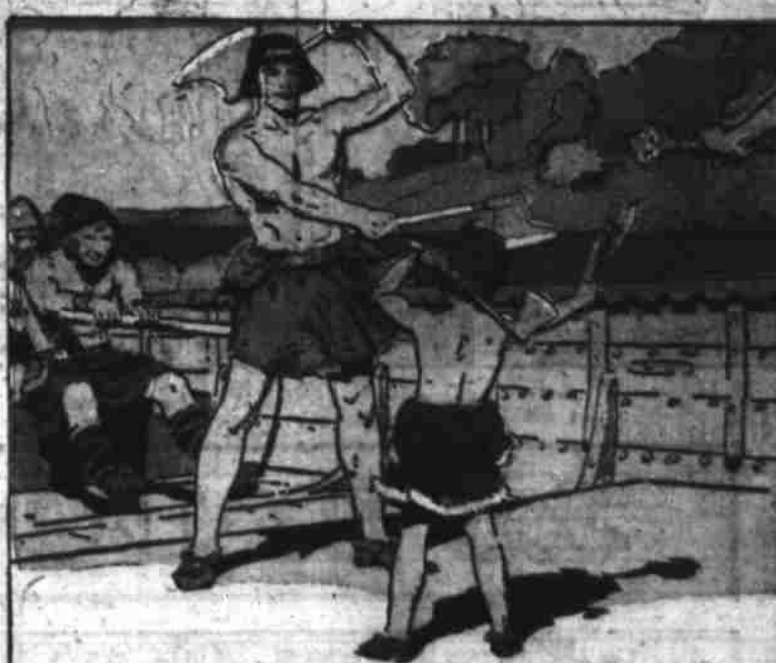

Our Story: THERE COMES A DAY WHEN PRINCE VALIANT EMERGES FROM THE TENT AND DRAWS A DEEP BREATH AND FAINTLY ON THE CLEAR MORNING AIR COMES THE UNMISTAKABLE TANG OF THE SEA!

ALREADY THE MOORINGS HAVE BEEN CAST OFF, THE OARS SHIPPED, AND THE BOATS ARE MOVING. VAL FLEXES HIS MUSCLES...

...AND TAKES SOME LIGHT EXERCISE!

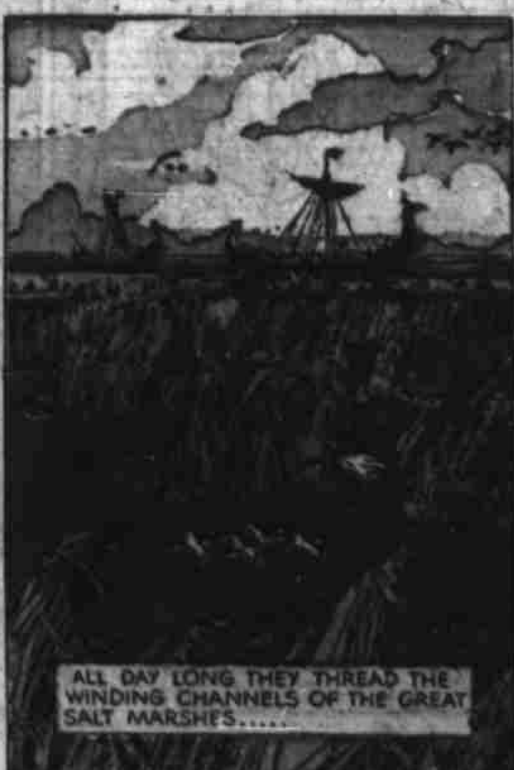

ON THIS VOYAGE VAL HAS TWICE BEEN INJURED, AND EACH TIME BECAUSE OF POOR PHYSICAL CONDITION. PRINCE ARN ALSO BEGINS TRAINING FOR HIS FUTURE.

A WARRIOR MUST LEARN TO HANDLE HIS TOOLS WITH SKILL, SO SHARPENED WEAPONS ARE USED IN THE EXERCISES. ARN LEARNS THE HARD AND ONLY WAY.

"CLAY IS SKILLED AT TREATING CUTS, AND IT IS BEST THAT ARN BE AMONG VETERAN WARRIORS WITH HIS FIRST WOUND. HE DARE NOT CRY!"

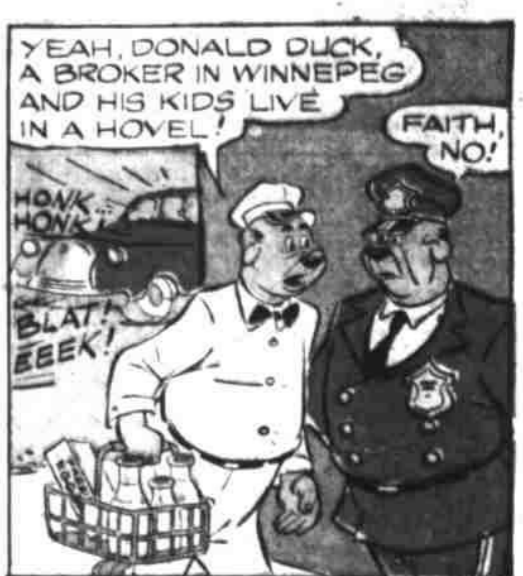

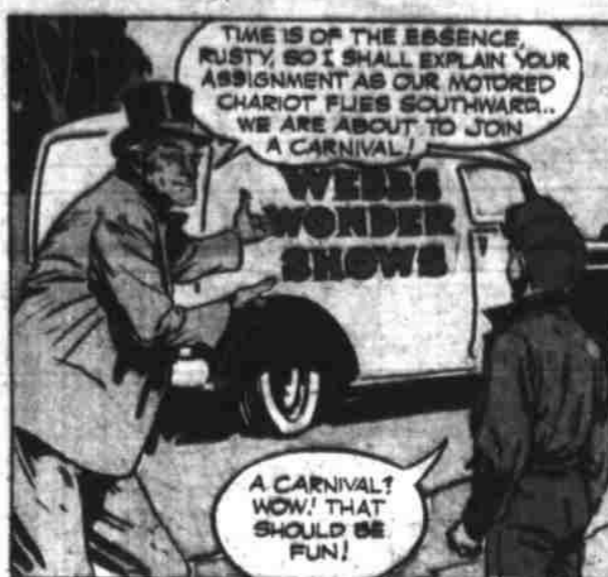

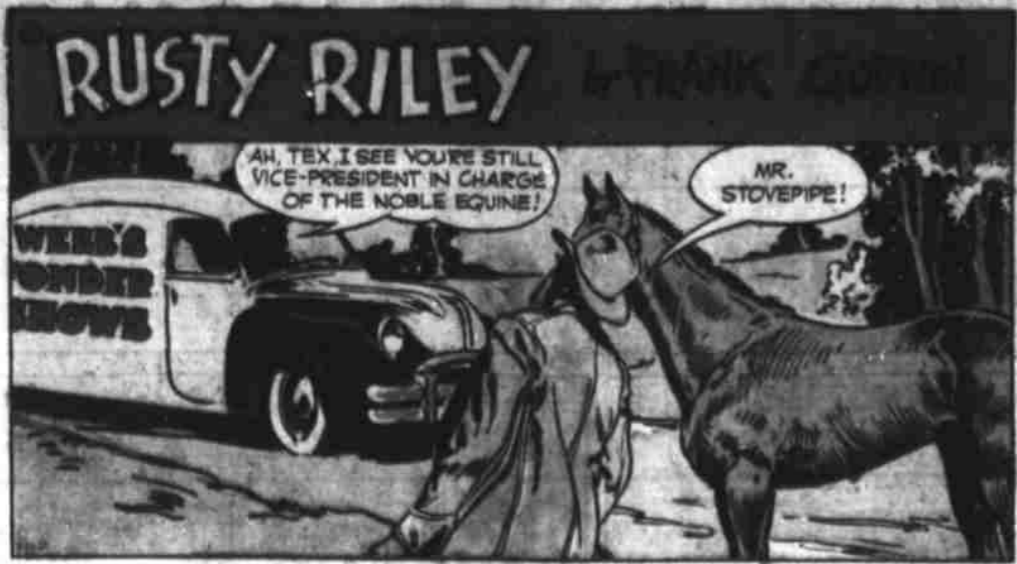

ALL DAY LONG THEY THREAD THE WINDING CHANNELS OF THE GREAT SALT MARSHES.....

..... THEN THE SHIPS BECOME ALIVE... WITH SHOUTS AND SONG THE NORTH-MEN SET THE GREAT LEATHERN SAILS, FOR ONCE AGAIN THEY FEEL THE HEAVE OF THE OPEN SEA UNDER THEIR KEELS!

Music Makes Friends for Us Overseas

WHILE OUR diplomats make treaties and smooth over differences in government policy, there is another "ambassador" working night and day at the job of winning friends in Japan. I'm speaking of our own jazz and popular music. As well-known in Japan as President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles are popular American singers like Frank Sinatra and Doris Day. American songs are almost as numerous on the radio as Japanese songs. Familiar tunes like "Blue Moon" and "Let Me Go Lover" come drifting over Radio Tokyo, often with Japanese lyrics or in broken English. Tokyo night clubs and coffee shops offer everything from Dixieland jazz to mambo to Gershwin.

Perhaps if we really want to win friends and influence people abroad, we should export more music.—Pot. Dwight A. Keener, Tokyo, Japan.

Philosophy from a Worker

Ruby, the maid, was absent yesterday because of illness. This morning, as the opening door revealed her smiling face, the children greeted her with a welcome only children can give to a devoted friend. She spoke to each one, as she quickly hung jackets where they belonged. Three of the little ones followed her as she went to get the broom, dust cloth, and mop. She hummed quietly as she brought order and cleanliness out of chaos.

When complimented on the shining woodwork, gleaming floors, her cheerful attitude, and so much accomplished in so short a time, she replied, "I find if I take care of the corners and brighten them, the middle of the room kind of takes care of itself."

We have found that Ruby's philosophy of taking care of the corners works equally well when applied to other areas of life.—Mrs. A. J., Houston, Tex.

True Love Comes with Growing Together

Once I heard the remark, "I don't believe in love; I just think that people grow towards each other." In that apparently contradictory statement lies the true definition of love.

If young newlyweds only realized that the attraction which draws them together is just a prelude to love! Love is something which must grow from shared laughter and tears and the heart-warming experiences of doing things together. The most "in love" couple I ever knew were married for 50 years, and their eyes still shone with the love they shared.—Mrs. Marie Kendall, Endwell, N. Y.

The Wages of Anger

I truly believe temper tantrums in children often lead to fits of uncontrollable anger in adults.

Just recently, a Dixon, Ill., judge sentenced two brothers to one year in prison in connection with the fatal beating of another young man.

"You are not criminals," the judge said, "in the sense that the word is ordinarily understood. I do not believe, nor does anyone, that you intended to destroy human life—but you did. A young man is dead. He has not gone away for a year—he has gone permanently.

"There is nothing you can do now, or ever will do, that can bring this man back to his family. No matter the length of your term—be it long, be it short—he will never again walk the streets of his home town, nor will his family ever see him again.

"You will, however, have to live with the terrifying memory of the fact that this youth is dead. This is something that you must—and will—remember as long as you live."

These words should be read by all parents. They lay bare, in all their dreadful meaning, the consequences of sudden, unthinking anger on the part of young people. The temper tantrum on the part of a little child may develop into a tendency toward ungovernable anger in a young person that can bring lifelong tragedy.—Mrs. A. J. E., Dubuque, Ia.

I was just thinking...

... I CAME home from the office and there were many problems on my mind.

I had errands to run, papers to sort, and the next day's decisions to make in advance.

But it was quiet by the window and I sat down to rest.

I think it must have been an hour before I returned to the room from the Winter sky. I didn't realize I had been away so long.

But how can anyone feel guilty because of the Winter sky?

It's not the same in a city. You can find the strange, weak blue of it between the black buildings and beyond the sootflakes of smoke. But you have never lived with a Winter sky unless you live where Winter slides across the plains on paths of ice and blows its virile breath into sheets of snow.

And at sunset the Winter sky comes in folds of crushed velvet and lays itself in a garish splendor across the horizon.

I watched it when it was gold behind the house across the road and behind the tracery of telephone wires and road signs, which deepened into a kind of unholy beauty they own no other time.

I watched it as it melted into rose and crimson and the clouds were tinted cotton. And the wires were like harp strings drawn in ink.

I watched the sky turn burgundy and blue and I saw the shivering moon come alive above it and the lights of the house across the road come on in electrical flatness against the improbability.

I knew it would be useless to walk in here and sit down to describe it. If I were a painter, it would be useless, too. No critic could approve a canvas splashed with so gaudy a reality. Nor can a writer find words to make this Winter night come true for city eyes or Summer eyes or eyes which never look to see.

All my errands are undone and all my papers unsorted, but tomorrow's decisions no longer matter very much.

The sky and I have shared an hour together and I have found the calm of the quiet night.

G-E Automatic Skillet with thermostat makes cooking easier, tastier

Only G.E. offers a choice of beautiful turquoise or polished cast aluminum. $19⁹⁵

High-domed lid, $3.00* extra

*Manufacturer's recommended retail or fair trade price.

Here's a new idea in cooking—now you set the temperature when you fry and cook just as you do when you bake! Like a modern oven, the General Electric Automatic Skillet has a thermostat. You dial the heat, put the food in when the light signals, and after that the temperature never varies.

The secret to digestible fried foods: it is only when fat gets too hot—begins to smoke—that it becomes indigestible. The G-E Skillet prevents this.

Food tastes better, too! For now we know that—like cakes and roasts—every food has a "just-right" temperature. And the skillet not only fries, but makes stews, pot roasts, upside-down cakes, casseroles. (Use a standard 12" cover, or get G. E.'s.)

So convenient—cook at the table, keep food warm between servings. Just put the skillet on the table-cloth. General Electric Company, Small Appliance Division, Bridgeport 2, Conn.

Saves constant watching, because you can dial the correct temperature. Much easier than cooking on a stove burner where heat builds up and up unless you keep adjusting.

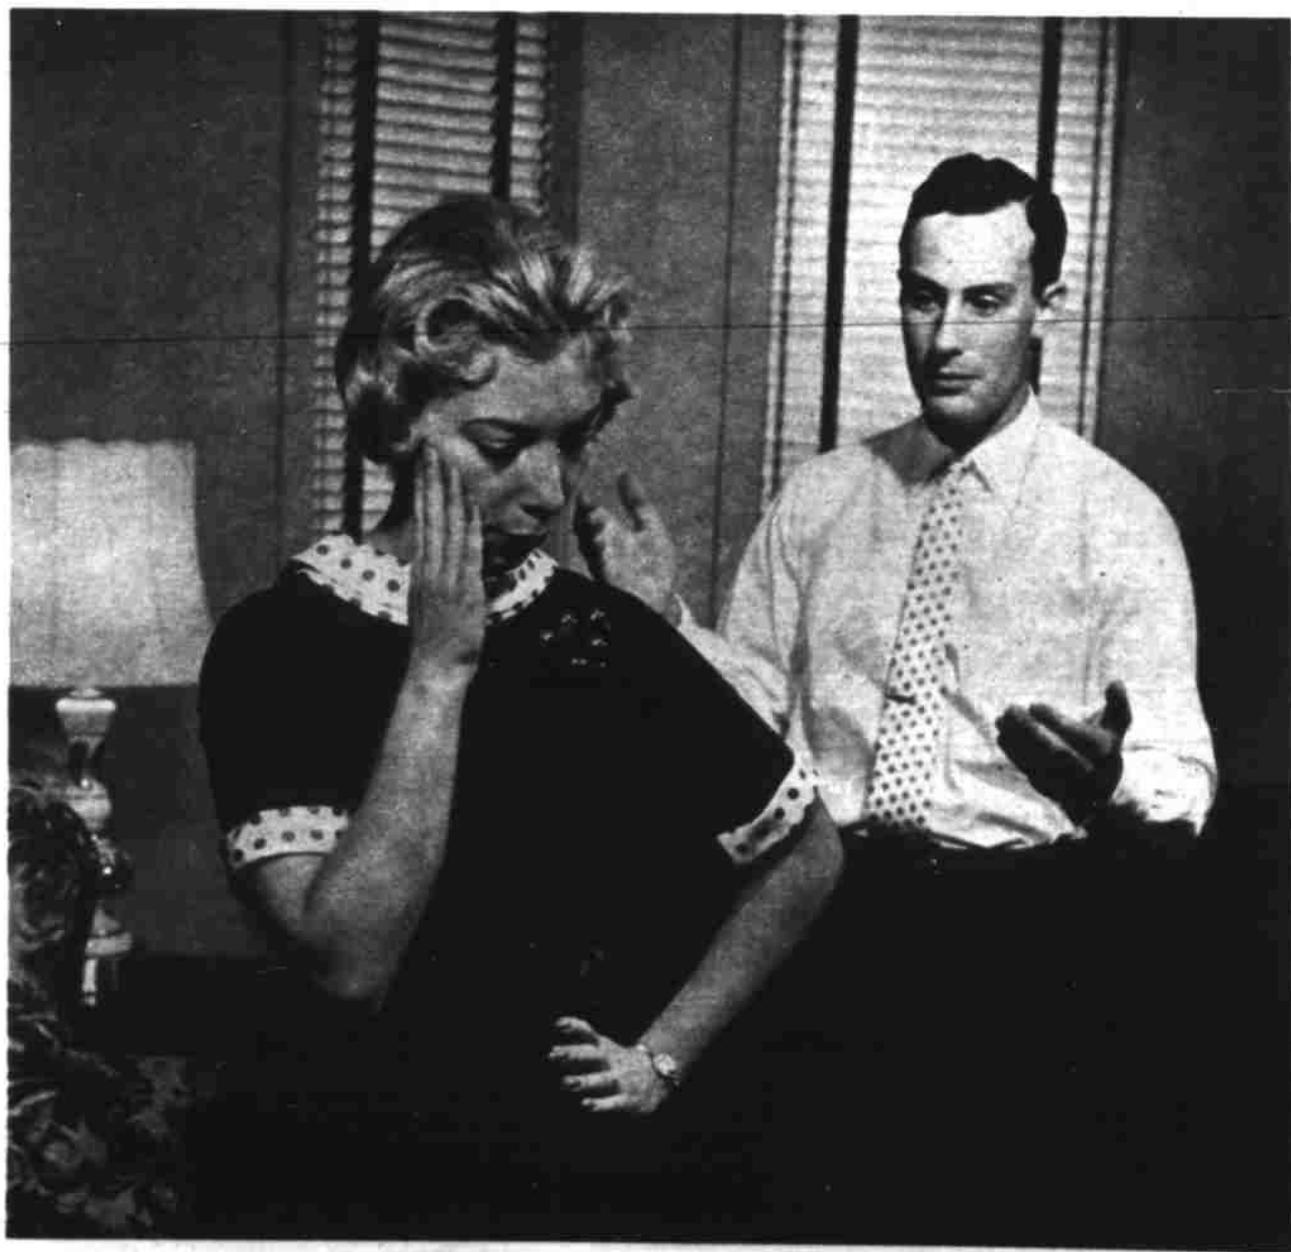

A cinch to wash—immerse it in water to the end of the temperature chart. Special finish keeps food from sticking, round shape makes it easier to clean. Visit your G-E dealer soon.

Quarrels May Help Your Marriage!

Getting differences out into the open is healthy, if love and devotion form the keystone of your married life.

Pursue your point fairly in a quarrel, without creating situations that deliberately put your spouse in the wrong.

IF YOU ARE a normal husband and wife, you are almost sure to have some disagreements. In the early years of marriage, before you have learned each other's preferences and peculiarities, even discussions about trivialities can grow heated and flare into quarrels.

But how much quarreling can a marriage stand and still offer both partners the companionship, affection, and intimacy that make for satisfaction? Are quarrels a sign that your marriage is headed for serious trouble? Is there such a thing as a constructive quarrel? To what lengths should you go to avoid an argument? Are there worse perils to marriage than an open disagreement?

The Ferrises, like other young couples, have many rough edges to smooth out in their relationship. Their most serious difference is how disagreements should be handled.

Amy Ferris says: "If there's one thing I can't stand, it's a scene. Civilized people should be able to live together without brawling. We've been married a year and I haven't raised my voice once.

"It isn't because Will hasn't given me provocation, either. For one thing, he's terribly careless about coming home on time. Will could be home every night at six, and I always have a good dinner ready on the dot. But several times a week it's 6:30 or even 7:30 before he shows up. He always tries to make excuses, but I won't listen. I just put his dinner on the table, go into the bedroom, and shut the door. By that time I need to be alone anyway because I usually have a splitting headache all evening.

"This is the sort of thing Mother warned me would happen if I married a man like Will, with no decent back-by Edith G. Neisser author of "Brothers and Sisters" ground. I'm too much of a lady to get involved in a quarrel, so last week when Will came home at 7:30, I just said, 'What else could anyone expect from trash like you?' and then walked out of the room.

Set dinnertime up an hour if the man of the house can't make it on time.

"Nobody can say I don't make my share of sacrifices. Whenever Will and I make plans for going out or entertaining, I either ask him first what he wants to do, or I pretend that what I want is what I think he wants. That way there's no argument over whether we go to the movies, to a ball game, or ask neighbors in for a snack.

"But in spite of my unselfishness, Will doesn't seem satisfied and our plans often fall flat. What more can a wife do than put her husband's wishes first? If our marriage isn't happy, I'm not the one who's at fault.

"The first rule for happy marriage has always seemed to me to be 'don't quarrel.' My mother and father never had a cross word. Will loses his temper over the least little thing—like my forgetting to wash his favorite sport shirt or not having things in the house for sandwiches when his poker club meets here.

"How can anyone get so excited and say such dreadful things as he does and then ten minutes later be as sweet as pie and expect me to act as if nothing happened? Fighting actually makes me sick. I'm not going to let Will pull me into a quarrel—no matter how much he'd enjoy that."

Here's the other viewpoint

There is another side to the Ferris story. Here is Will's version:

"Amy is a tough one to figure out. She never gives a straight-from-the-shoulder answer. Maybe it's unrefined to show your real feelings. Being just an ordinary guy, I wouldn't know.

But I always thought it was more honest to say what you mean and mean what you say. If the other fellow doesn't like it, let him put in his two cents' worth, and then you can take it from there and have it out.

"I'm not afraid of a verbal battle. All right, maybe I enjoy it! But I fight fair, even when it's just with words. That's what gets me most sore at Amy. She's afraid to argue the merits of the case, like my getting home late. She knows I have to stay on the job once in a while until the night shift takes over, and I can't get to a phone. So I'm half an hour late. Is that a terrible crime?

"If Amy called me six kinds of a scoundrel because her good supper was ruined, I could give her an answer. Even if we wrangled for a few minutes, we'd find some way to keep it from going on and on. Maybe even deciding we'd eat at seven, to give me more time to get home, would work. Amy insists on having dinner at six just so she can put me in the wrong if I get there any later.

"My wife acts too high and mighty to risk a quarrel, but she'll hit below the belt with a crack like my coming from 'trash,' and then refuse to talk to me. My mother died before I can remember and Dad couldn't raise six kids singlehanded, so he had to let us go to an orphan home. Does that have anything to do with my getting home late for dinner?

"Amy manages to create situations you can't end without eating crow. I don't mind admitting I'm wrong once in a while, but she'll never admit she isn't perfect. Sure, I get mad, but I get over it. At least I know when to end a fight, and I'm ready to kiss and make up. It clears the air to get your feelings out into the open, but "Sorry—you'll have to wait—today is the day of the week I put Drano in all the drains."

A sink's best friend is Drano—when it comes to getting rid of dangerous sewer germs that lurk in every drain. Those germs breed in muck that liquid disinfectants can't budge. But Drano's churning, boiling action dissolves the muck, keeps drains germ-free and free-running.

Make one day a week Drano day. Put Drano in every drain for about a penny a drain. Won't harm septic tanks. Makes 'em work even better. Get Drano now at any grocery, drug or hardware store, here or in Canada.

There's nothing like Drano... to keep drains free-running and sanitary.

Some husbands and wives count a quarrel as a definite gain if it resolves their differences and helps to keep the same disagreement from happening again.

when Amy refuses to talk, all her anger and mine, too, just keep on boiling inside.

"Last month Amy wouldn't go to the company party with me. I couldn't figure out why and felt foolish going without her. A week later she told me I was selfish and inconsiderate. How could I expect her to go to the party in the same dress she'd worn every time we'd gone out since we were first engaged? Now, couldn't she have told me she needed a new dress? I don't think she kept quiet because she was afraid I'd get mad. She just likes to make me feel like a heel.

"Take this baseball business. I'd much rather have her come right out and say she's tired of ball games, instead of having her suffer through the game like a martyr.

"Maybe I'm not the easiest man in the world to live with. But in the last year I've had to do a quick change from lone wolf to house dog, and the house dog still howls. But howling is better than snarling and sulking, isn't it?"

They see it differently

The Ferrises' problem lies more in the way they handle their difficulties than in the difficulties themselves. One of their major troubles is that angry words have such different meanings for them.

They could come close to resolving their conflict by discussing, at a peaceful time, their attitudes toward arguing. Both the Ferrises need to recognize that while Will's quick temper is a hindrance to constructive solutions, Amy's silent sulking is even more of a stumbling block.

Facing their shortcomings honestly together would help this couple settle their angry differences. Will could help Amy see why her withdrawn behavior doesn't honestly help things, and perhaps he could see why his anger so alarms her. Like many other young couples today, they may find help in discussing their problems with a qualified marriage counselor if their own efforts don't improve matters.

Will's violent outbursts are not the answer to differences of opinion, but they may be less costly to his emotions and his marriage than Amy's tight rein on her feelings. And Amy's headaches, her forgetfulness of small chores that would increase her husband's comfort, are a subconscious expression of the anger she fears to vent in words.

Of course, the amount of quarreling a marriage can stand varies from couple to couple. Some marital relationships seem none the worse for frequent spats, while others are endangered. Luckily, many spouses accommodate themselves to the needs or desires of their partners when interests clash.

Be honest in your quarrels

When a quarrel is inevitable, at least try to make it a fair one. Be honest about the point you are trying to make. It's not justifiable to put your spouse in the wrong just to humiliate him. (When Amy Ferris refuses to be frank about her own wishes, or insists on a six o'clock dinner, she is doing just that.)

If you must quarrel, stick to the point and don't bring up accumulated grievances, your spouse's background, or previous mistakes. Some couples consider quarrels a gain if through them they resolve their conflict and can plan to avoid similar trouble in the future.

That old advice about never letting the sun set on a quarrel has much to recommend it. You can resume your usual friendly relationship if you don't let pride stand in the way of your making the first advance.

A good marriage isn't built merely by avoiding quarrels. A general atmosphere of companionship, devotion, and love can stand occasional strain. If you truly care for your marriage partner, you will try to help him be his best self, and you will have courage to be yourself and face disagreements honestly.

Then you will not be afraid of occasional conflicts, for you'll know that there are worse things in marriage than quarrels. Your union will be able to rise above them.

If you pay more attention to strengthening your marriage than to proving yourself right, your quarrels will be less frequent, less sharp, and less important. And even when they are unavoidable, you can turn them to good account in smoothing your future course together along life's highway.

OF CANNED-MEAT COOKERY

Plan enjoyable menus with these delicious canned-meat dishes—they're budget-wise treasures.

Pear-Topped Special

Butter a shallow 1½-qt. baking dish. Wash, pare, and cook, covered, in boiling salted water to cover

4 medium-size (about 1½ lbs.) potatoes

Cook about 20 min., or until potatoes are tender when pierced with a fork. Drain. To dry potatoes, shake pan gently over low heat. Cool potatoes slightly.

While potatoes are cooking, grate and set aside in a large bowl

1 12-oz. can luncheon meat (about 2 cups, grated)

Set aside to drain contents of

1 No. 2 can pear halves (about 8 halves, drained)

(Pear sirup may be reserved for use in other food preparation.)

Prepare and set aside

1 cup quick meat broth (prepared by dissolving 1 beef bouillon cube or ½ teaspoon concentrated meat extract in 1 cup hot water)

Cut off root ends and a thin slice from stem ends of

2 medium-size onions

Peel, rinse, chop, and put into the bowl with the grated meat. Mix thoroughly.

Dice enough celery to yield
½ cup diced celery

Cut into slivers enough green pepper to yield

½ cup sliced green pepper

Put celery and green pepper into bowl.

When potatoes are cooled slightly, cut into medium-size cubes. Put potato cubes into bowl; add the broth and

1 teaspoon Accent

½ teaspoon salt

Few grains pepper

Toss ingredients lightly to mix thoroughly. Turn mixture into baking dish.

Bake at 400° F 30 min.

Meanwhile, set out

Softened butter (enough to brush pear halves)

¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar

When mixture has baked 30 min., remove from oven and arrange pear halves over top as in photo. Brush pears lightly with the softened butter and sprinkle generously with the brown sugar. Return to oven and bake 15 min. longer.

About 6 servings

Individual Pastry-Topped Chicken Pies

Set out 4 individual casseroles.

For Pastry Topping—Sift together

1 cup sifted flour

½ teaspoon salt

½ teaspoon curry powder

Cut in with pastry blender or two knives until pieces are size of small peas

½ cup lard, hydrogenated vegetable shortening, or all-purpose shortening

Sprinkle gradually over mixture, a teaspoon at a time, about

2½ tablespoons cold water

Mix lightly with fork after each addition. Add only enough water to hold pastry together. Work quickly; do not over-handle. Shape into a ball and flatten on a lightly floured surface. Roll pastry into a rectangle about ½ in. thick. With a knife or spatula, loosen pastry slightly and sprinkle flour underneath. Cut pastry into strips about ½ in. wide. Set aside while preparing the filling.

For Chicken Filling—Set aside to drain contents of

1 8-oz. can mushrooms (about 1 cup, drained)

Cut into medium-size pieces enough canned chicken to yield

3 cups chicken pieces

Prepare and set aside

1 cup quick chicken broth (1 chicken bouillon cube dissolved in 1 cup hot water)

Cut into crosswise slices enough stalks of celery to yield

½ cup sliced celery

Cut the drained mushrooms into slices. Heat in a large saucepan

6 tablespoons butter or margarine. Add the mushrooms and celery; cook over medium heat, frequently moving and turning with a spoon until mushrooms are lightly browned and tender. Using a slotted spoon, remove vegetables to a bowl and set aside.

Blend into remaining butter in saucepan

¼ cup sifted flour

½ teaspoon onion salt

½ teaspoon Accent

½ teaspoon salt

½ teaspoon white pepper

Heat until mixture bubbles. Remove from heat. Add gradually, while stirring constantly, the broth and

1 cup milk

Cook rapidly, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Cook 1 to 2 min. longer.

Blend into the sauce chicken pieces, vegetables, and

2 tablespoons minced parsley

1 teaspoon lemon juice

Spoon the hot chicken mixture into the casseroles; moisten casserole rims with water.

To Complete Pies—To make the lattice top, cross two strips over pie at the center. Working out from center to edge, add the remaining strips, one at a time, weaving them under and over each other in crisscross fashion; leave about ½ in. between strips (see photo). Trim strips so ends extend about ¼ in. beyond edge; carefully press to rims to seal.

Bake at 425° F 25 to 30 min., or until pastry is lightly browned.

Serve with

Canned whole cranberry sauce

4 servings

Baked Beans with Kabobs

BASE RECIPE

Cut into 24 cubes contents of
1 12-oz. can luncheon meat
Cover the cubes with French dressing (about 1 cup)
Cover and set in refrigerator overnight;
turn meat several times.

For Baked Beans—Lightly grease 4 individual casseroles.

Empty into a bowl
2 1-lb. cans (about 4 cups)
baked beans
Add to beans and mix in thoroughly
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup molasses
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup ketchup
2 tablespoons brown sugar
 $1\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoons prepared horse-radish
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon dry mustard
Set bean mixture aside.

For Kabobs—Set out 12 8-in. skewers.

Cut off root end and a thin slice from stem end of 24 small onions

Peel and rinse. Put onions into a saucepan and add a large amount of boiling water. Cook, loosely covered, about 5 min. Drain thoroughly and set aside.

Wash, core, and cut into eighths

3 medium-size (about 1 lb.) red apples

Remove meat cubes from the French dressing.

Thread onto each skewer in the following order: apple, onion, meat. Repeat on each skewer. (Do not crowd pieces.)

To Complete—Spoon the bean mixture into the greased casseroles. Using a pastry brush, brush kabobs with some of the bean liquid. Place one kabob on top of each casserole (as in photo). Put the remaining kabobs into a shallow pan.

Set in 375° F oven 20 min., or until kabobs are browned. Turn kabobs one or two times while baking, and brush with the bean liquid.

Keep extra kabobs hot for "seconds."

4 servings

Note: Pineapple chunks or orange wedges may be substituted for the apple pieces.

Luncheon meat doubles with baked beans in two delicious and satisfying dishes: casserole and kabobs. Both are so easy to prepare they'll be your favorites for those busy days.

Luncheon Meat with Baked-Bean Casserole

Lightly grease a $1\frac{1}{2}$ -qt. casserole. Follow Base Recipe for Baked Beans. Turn the bean mixture into the casserole. Cut contents of 1 12-oz. can luncheon meat into eight crosswise slices. Arrange the slices on top of bean mixture and top with ketchup or tomato sauce as in the color photo. Set in a 375° F oven 20 min., or until beans and meat slices are thoroughly heated.

If desired, meat slices may be glazed. Brush meat slices with some of bean liquid and sprinkle with a small amount of brown sugar.

Noodle-Frankfurter Casserole

Lightly butter a shallow 2-qt. casserole or baking dish.

Drain contents of

2 10-oz. cans frankfurters

For Noodles—Heat to boiling in a large saucepan

3 qts. water

1 tablespoon salt

Add gradually, so boiling will not stop

3 cups (8-oz. pkg.) noodles

Boil rapidly, uncovered, 6 to 10 min., or until noodles are tender. Test tenderness by pressing a piece against side of pan with fork or spoon. Drain noodles by turning into colander or sieve; rinse with hot water to remove loose starch. Return noodles to saucepan.

Using fork, thoroughly blend into the drained noodles

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup melted butter or margarine

$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt

Cover noodles with clean towel; set aside to keep warm.

For Frankfurter Mixture—Cut 5 of the frankfurters into halves lengthwise and reserve for top of casserole. Cut the remaining frankfurters into $\frac{3}{4}$ -in. pieces.

Finely chop enough onion to yield

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup finely chopped onion

Cut into slices enough pitted ripe olives to yield

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup sliced, pitted ripe olives
Set aside.

Heat in a large skillet

3 tablespoons butter or margarine

Add the chopped onion and frankfurter pieces; cook over medium heat, frequently moving and turning with a spoon until onion is transparent.

Stir in

1 $\frac{1}{4}$ cups (10 $\frac{1}{2}$ - to 11-oz. can) condensed tomato soup

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup hot water

1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon Accent

$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt

Few grains pepper

Cover and simmer about 10 min.

To Complete—Grate and set aside

$\frac{1}{2}$ lb. sharp Cheddar cheese (about

2 cups, grated)

Remove frankfurter mixture from heat. Mix in the olives and turn the hot mixture into the casserole. Cover the frankfurter mixture with an even layer of the grated cheese. Arrange the buttered noodles on top of the cheese layer. Top the noodles with the reserved frankfurters (as in photo).

Put casserole into a 350° F oven for about 15 min., or until thoroughly heated. Remove from oven and garnish with parsley.

6 servings

An interesting medley of flavorful foods makes a colorful frankfurter-noodle dish.

Sausage and Spaghetti with Cheese Sauce

Lightly butter a 2-qt. casserole or baking dish.

Drain, reserving liquid, contents of

2 10-oz. cans pork sausages

Cut one half of the sausages into $\frac{3}{4}$ -in. pieces; reserve remaining sausages for top of casserole.

For Tomato-Mushroom Sauce—Drain, reserving liquid, contents of

1 4-oz. can sliced mushrooms

(about $\frac{1}{2}$ cup, drained)

Finely chop enough onion to yield

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup finely chopped onion

Heat in a large skillet

2 $\frac{1}{2}$ tablespoons butter

Add the drained mushrooms and onion; cook over medium heat, frequently moving and turning with a spoon until onion is transparent.

Stir in the mushroom liquid, the sausage liquid, and

3 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups (No. 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ can) tomatoes

1 cup (8-oz. can) tomato sauce

and a mixture of

2 tablespoons finely chopped

parsley

$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt

$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon Accent

$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon garlic powder

$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon tarragon, crumbled

$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon rosemary, crumbled

$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon pepper

Cover and simmer about 40 min., stirring occasionally.

For Spaghetti—Follow procedure for cooking noodles; omit butter (see recipe for Noodle-Frankfurter Casserole). Boil rapidly, uncovered, 10 to 15 min.

2 cups (8-oz. pkg.) spaghetti, broken into 2- or 3-in. pieces

For Cheese Sauce—Shred and set aside

4 oz. Cheddar cheese (about 1 cup, shredded)

Set out

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Melt in a saucepan over low heat

2 tablespoons butter

Blend in

1 $\frac{1}{2}$ tablespoons flour

$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon Accent

$\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt

Few grains pepper

Heat until mixture bubbles. Remove from heat. Add gradually, while stirring constantly

1 cup undiluted evaporated milk

Cook rapidly, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Cook 1 to 2 min. longer.

Cool sauce lightly. Blend the Cheddar and Parmesan cheese into the sauce; heat slowly, stirring constantly, until cheese is melted.

To Complete Casserole—Turn the spaghetti into the casserole. Add the sausage pieces and pour in the Tomato-Mushroom Sauce; mix lightly but thoroughly. Spoon the Cheese Sauce over the top.

Arrange the remaining sausages in a decorative pattern on top (as in photo).

Bake at 375° F 25 min., or until bubbly and Cheese Sauce is lightly browned. Remove from oven and serve immediately.

6 servings

A creamy golden cheese sauce tops this fine-flavored sausage-spaghetti casserole.

"My feet were killing me! Then I tried Ben-Gay!"

Mr. Wesley Craig of Chicago, Ill., praises Ben-Gay for relieving the pain of sore, aching feet. "I'm the manager of a restaurant," says Mr. Craig, "and it's sure a 'standing' job! As a result, I'd been having a lot of trouble with my feet and my leg muscles. Finally, I tried Ben-Gay. I rubbed my legs, feet and ankles with it and what relief! Believe it or not, the next day I played 18 holes of golf without an ache or a pain! Ben-Gay's my stand-by from now on!"

Mr. Craig is right. Ben-Gay is amazingly effective in relieving the throbbing and burning of tired, sore feet. Ben-Gay acts fast... really fast to bring soothing relief. Its world-famous formula contains up to two and a half times more of two famous pain-relieving agents than any of five other widely offered rub-ins. It works two ways. First it stimulates the blood supply to the painful area. Then its pain-deadening action goes to work to bring welcome relief. Your feet feel better... you feel better all over. Try it! Rub in Ben-Gay... rub pain away!

Do You Act Your Age?

by Charles and Jean Komaiko

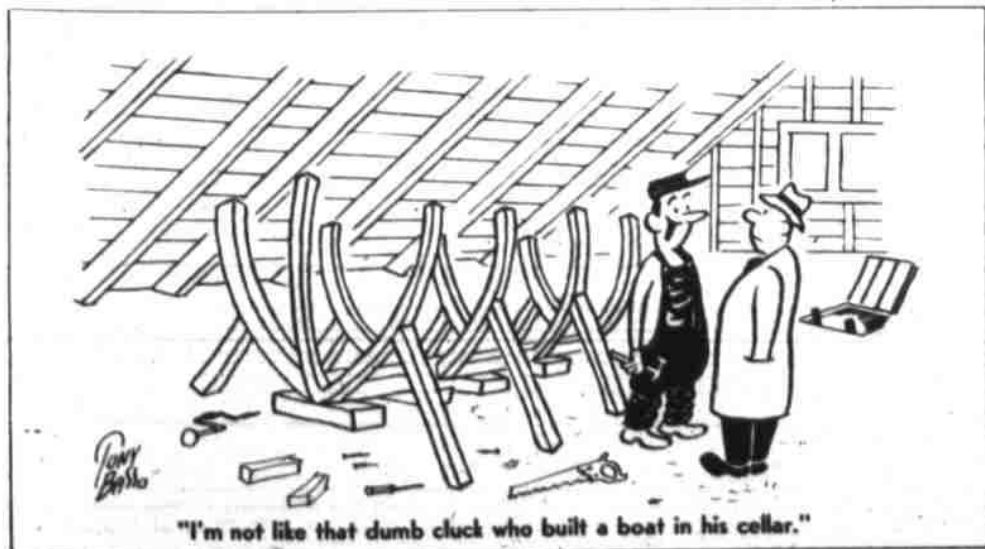

SHAKESPEARE divided man's life into acts, the acts being seven ages. But what he didn't say—and what most of us forget—is that acting one's age, at whatever stage, is part of the art of graceful living. To determine if you are really acting your age, try this quiz, then check your answers with the correct ones, printed upside-down, below. You should answer correctly eight out of the nine questions in your column.

JUNIOR TREASURE CHEST

Edited by MARJORIE BARROWS, Editor of The Children's Hour

WHO CAUGHT THE FISH? Frances W. Keene

Six friends went fishing one fine day. Only one of them had any luck. To find which one caught the fish, start with a fish pole and trace around the lines until the hook is reached.

String Whing-Ding

Here is a hilarious party game! Before your guests arrive, hide several dozen assorted lengths of string all over your house. When everyone is assembled, divide into two teams, each with a captain. Station the captains on two chairs in the kitchen, then at a signal everyone else scatters to hunt for string. Take each piece you find back to your captain, who must tie it on to the one before. After 15 minutes, the team whose captain has the longest knotted string wins.

Pot Luck Dinner

The names of at least 13 different food items you might find on your table can be spelled from the letters in the square shown. Find the first letter of a food and then move in any direction to spell it—up, down, crosswise, or cornerwise—but do not skip any letters. Every letter is used at least once and some are used several times. For example, start with the "S" in the second row and spell "salad." One letter may be used twice in succession if needed to spell any words.

Junior Journalists

Dear Miss Barrows:

I enjoy your Junior Treasure Chest. Keep up the good work. Here's my story:

Lusty, a Collie

Lusty, the Collie, pricked up her tulip ears. Shoving open her private swinging door, she trotted out to the chicken coop.

An old skunk scratched at the wire enclosing the coop. The chickens fluttered nervously. The dog stopped. Instinct told her, "Stay away!" But she must protect the master's property. She pounced! The striped tail shot up, a horrid odor filled the air. The skunk tried to run, but the dog was too fast. With a snap she broke the creature's neck. The odor clung to her coat as she stunk into the house.

Later the door banged and Lusty ran to greet the family, but she stopped when Mrs. Morgan cried, "Out, Lusty!"

Lusty went out wondering why she was being punished for saving the chicks.

An hour later, Mr. Morgan called her. He had found the dead skunk, the broken wire, and the marks of a fight.

"We're sorry," he said, and led her to a tub of hot, soapy water for a bath.

Lusty offered a wet, soapy paw and cocked her head as if to say, "You're forgiven."

Sincerely,
Wendy Burrill
Moorhead, Minn.

Age 12

Dear Miss Barrows:

On my trip to the lake I saw a robin redbreast sitting on a bush. There were several ducks swimming close to the shore. At the edge of the bank was a beautiful weeping willow tree.

I saw spotted bullfrogs stretch out their legs and jump. I caught a baby Goggle-eye fish. It did not have spots yet, for it was a newborn fish. I also saw a snapping turtle.

I took a ride in a slow boat. It got faster and faster until it was a speed boat.

I caught a fish with a tiny frog on my hook. I saw a monster lizard with red and green stripes. It certainly was a good trip.

Love,

Dear Miss Barrows:

We have some baby turkeys. They are all tan and black. They don't know how to eat when they are first hatched, so we put marbles in their water and feed because they pick at shiny things. We have to keep them warm or else they will die. They are bigger now and eat from my hand.

IF IRREGULARITY IS YOUR PROBLEM

A formula for fitness and regularity

Eat one ounce (half a cup) of Kellogg's All-Bran with milk every day. It's a safe, sensible, delicious food combination for fitness and regularity.

Try Nature's Great Food Combination

ALL-BRAN AND MILK FOR FITNESS AND RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Improves Your "Intestinal Tone"

Adds Important Food Essentials to Diet

You know what milk is. It is generally considered nature's most nearly perfect food.

But do you know about bran . . . All-Bran? If you're interested in a natural aid to regularity and fitness, you'll be interested in these facts.

W. K. Kellogg pioneered Kellogg's All-Bran almost 40 years ago. He set out to make it three great cereals in one: 1) a good-to-eat cereal; 2) a cereal which in combination with milk would provide very solid nutritional benefits; and 3) a natural remedy for one of mankind's most common ailments, constipation due to insufficient bulk.

This he achieved. For Kellogg's All-Bran, the original whole bran cereal, has become the most widely accepted and used of all bran cereals. It has literally helped millions.

Now as to Kellogg's All-Bran itself and why it is such a great food—the answer is simple. All-Bran is made from the vitamin and mineral rich outer layers of the whole wheat grain. And not only does All-Bran supply vitamins, minerals and protein—it is scientifically milled to bring you the natural food bulk you need in its most effective and appetizing form. All-Bran stays crisp in milk and is easy to eat.

Yes, All-Bran does things no drug-type laxative can even begin to accomplish—it actually improves your "Intestinal Tone" which may be below par due to insufficient bulk.

And Kellogg's All-Bran, served with milk, contributes nine body-builders you need daily for fitness.

So why not get the safe, gentle, natural laxative cereal you know you can depend on. Kellogg's All-Bran, the original. Eat a half cup of Kellogg's All-Bran every morning for 10 days. If it doesn't bring you satisfying, effective relief from constipation, you get double your money back. That's a promise from Kellogg's of Battle Creek, Mich.

News for folks who eat their All-Bran at restaurants—new foil-wrapped package makes sure your All-Bran is extra fresh.

"We wouldn't be without Ben-Gay in our house," says Mrs. Ralph McGory of Prattsburg, New York. "Through the years, Ben-Gay has relieved an awful lot of aches and pains for our family—from strained muscles to tired, aching feet. It's comforting to know that such a marvelous pain-reliever is right there in the cabinet when it's needed."

Millions of people agree with Mrs. McGory. They rely on BEN-GAY for fast, welcome relief from sore, aching muscles. You may have tried other pain-relieving products, but here's how BEN-GAY is different... why it's so amazingly effective! It contains up to two and one half times more of two famous pain-relieving agents than any of five other widely offered rub-ins. Here's how Ben-Gay's two-way, pain-relieving action works: First, extra blood is brought coursing up through the affected area. Second, a pain-deadening action starts at once. Yes, for fast, blessed relief, get BEN-GAY! Rub in BEN-GAY... rub pain away!

Audrey Hepburn:

OLD-WORLD STAR WITH

She's not a great beauty by Hollywood standards, but she has that special quality that spells "SUCCESS" in capital letters.

AFTER SHE had starred in only one picture, "Roman Holiday," Audrey Hepburn found herself on top of the Hollywood heap. And she has managed to stay there.

Just why is something of a puzzle. Her face is pixyish and pretty, but not beautiful in the classical sense. While her figure might have pleased Dior two seasons ago, she isn't exactly whistle bait. Her acting has won her an Academy award, but in the past this has been more of a jinx than an asset.

Then what's the secret of her success?

According to the combined opinions of her producers, directors, and co-stars, it's the "old-fashioned quality with a European flavor" that makes Audrey so desirable to both male and female audiences. This puzzling but enchanting combination of shyness and self-assurance shows in her manners, movements, and eyes.

Much of it is due to her own cosmopolitan background. She was born in Brussels, Belgium, some 26 years ago, of an Irish father and a Dutch mother. She spent her early years in Brussels, attended an English boarding school, and has lived or traveled through just about every country in Europe.

While a lot of Audrey's charm is due to a type of helplessness which men associate with femininity, Audrey is by no means as dependent as she appears. When I asked Bill Holden, Audrey's co-star in "Sabrina," what he thought of the rumors that her husband, Mel Ferrer, runs her life and makes her decisions, Bill smiled.

"I think Audrey allows Mel to think he influences her," he replied.

That remark may be a strong key to her personality. That Audrey has a mind of her own has been obvious to several producers whose films she turned down because "they weren't quite right for me."

Audrey is a tremendously ambitious person, which has also helped her get ahead. William Wyler described it as "the right kind of ambition," referring to her "sincere and honest drive to get ahead without stepping on anyone's toes in the process." When she is in a picture, whether in Hollywood or Italy, where she recently completed the role of Natasha Rostov in Tolstoy's "War and Peace," her work comes first, to the exclusion of her social life.

One gay Italian family, who gave a party in Audrey's honor, were surprised when the Ferrers left before the party really got going.

NEW-WORLD APPEAL

The $350,000 for her role in "War and Peace" made Audrey history's highest-paid film actress.

"I have a difficult day tomorrow," Audrey explained—and left the startled hostess to pacify her other guests.

Because of shyness, her intense interest in her work, and her fear that many people seek her out because of who she is, Audrey's circle of acquaintances is not large. But those close to her have a friend for life. Take Joyce Vanderveer, who attended ballet school with Audrey in Amsterdam during the German occupation. Audrey spotted Joyce in the audience in a New York theater during the run of "Ondine." She invited her backstage and took her home to dinner. When she discovered that Joyce was considering staying in the U.S., Audrey introduced her to the head of Paramount's New York office, who gave her a part.

"Audrey hasn't changed in these ten years," Joyce commented later. "She's grown up, certainly; but in her basic qualities she's still the same wonderful girl I knew in Amsterdam. I felt then she'd be a big star some day. Why not? She's got that quality all of us wish we had."

And that quality is the "old worldliness" which Hollywood claims is the key to Audrey Hepburn's phenomenal success.

by Peer J. Oppenheimer

Experts say Audrey's appeal lies in her piquant face and elfin manner.

WHAT HAPPENS AFTER DEATH?

In a few score years, all who read these lines will have vanished from the earth.

Every day, almost a hundred thousand human beings finish their earthly span and pass off into the vast beyond. Our turn will come we all know, but when, where and how we cannot be sure.

No merely human being ever has been able to look into eternity and tell us what it is like. No scientific knowledge or instruments can pierce the curtain that divides this world from that into which all of us must eventually journey.

All we know about God's eternal plans for us... all we know about what lies beyond the grave... comes from the God Who made us and to the extent He has seen fit to reveal it to us.

But we can face eternity without fear. For we have a definite answer to the mystery of death. With the facts God has put at our disposal through the inspired books of the Old and the New Testaments, the Catholic Church always has given, and gives today, a definite answer to the important questions raised by the fact of death.

Man's life in this world, the Church tells us, is a preparation for the world to come... a testing-time which ends with our death. What happens after that depends on whether death finds us loyal to God, or opposed to Him and the way He expects us to live. "... it is appointed unto men once to die and after this the judgment" (Heb. 9:27).

Christ gave us (Matt. 25:31-46) a description of God's judgment which leaves no room for doubt that our worthiness of everlasting reward will be judged solely according to the way we have lived our lives on this earth.

Death does not bring merely a long, unconscious slumber, but rather a quick awakening to the irrevocable judgment of our Creator. Nor does it bring us a second chance to prove ourselves or to amend our erring ways. In our own hands rests the opportunity... and upon our own heads the responsibility... to determine if death shall be the threshold to everlasting life among the blessed, or among the lost.

Men blessed by youth and good health often feel that death for them is far away—to be worried about only in the twilight years. If you would like more information on Heaven, Hell, Purgatory, the end of the world and the resurrection and judgment of all men, write for Pamphlet No. FM-14. Before the modernization, Thalhimers was a collection of several buildings in this block in Richmond, Va.; the owners decided to cover buildings with aluminum rather than rebuild.

OLD BUILDING WITH A NEW FACE

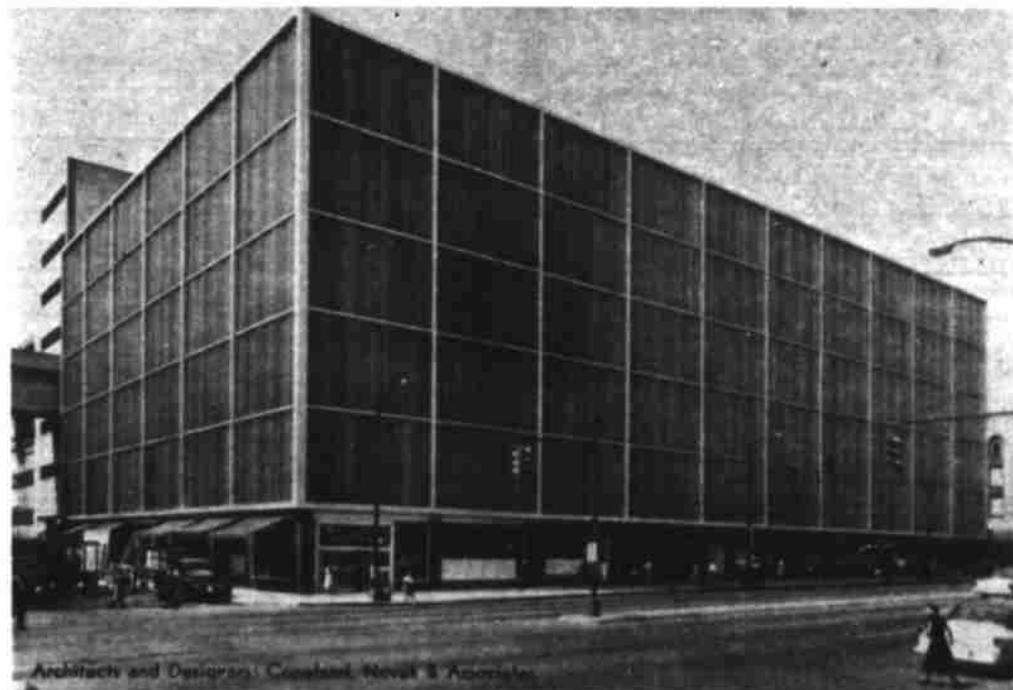

Plans show how aluminum face was designed to cover the exterior of the different stores.

ONE OF THE South's leading department stores—Thalhimers of Richmond, Va.—is the first store in the U.S. to be "wrapped in aluminum." During a recent modernization program, it decided to cover its several adjoining buildings with aluminum to make them look like one structure of uniform height. The lightweight covering reduced the cost of heavy structural framing and made possible a complete external modernization without adding floors or any rebuilding.

A unique feature of the modernization was the world's largest curtain, which hung over the entire front of the store until the "unveiling." The cotton fabric for the curtain—large enough to cover an entire football field—was specially woven by the Dan River Mills of Danville, Va., in a combination of solid and plaid Autumn tones. After the unveiling, the curtain was donated to several orphanages in Virginia for use in making bedspreads and draperies.

After the modernization, the aluminum jacket makes the various stores in the block look like one continuous building; the interior of Thalhimers was also remodeled and enlarged.

the case of the TELLTALE TOMBSTONE

by William T. Brannon

Author of "Yellow Kid Weil: America's Master Swindler"

WHEN SHERIFF Clarke Studebaker arrived at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ullrich near Kelso, Wash., the odor of dynamite still hung in the air. The explosion had occurred in a building behind the house, killing Mrs. Sybil Otto, the Ullrichs' young, attractive daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Ullrich told the sheriff that the dynamite exploded shortly after Sybil entered the building. Her husband, Rudolph, a wounded war veteran, was in bed at the time. He had recently spent eight months in the Veterans hospital at Portland, Ore., and was still confined most of the time.

The Ullrichs never used dynamite, and nobody could explain how it got there. Sheriff Studebaker knew it wasn't an accident; he found evidence of wires leading into the building. But how the wires had set off the charge was a puzzle: there was no electricity on the farm to provide the impulse to detonate the explosive from a distance.

The sheriff examined the premises, but the wires were broken off just outside the building, and there was no indication where they led. Obviously, some person concealed nearby had set off the charge, but neither Rudolph nor the Ullrichs had seen any strangers around. The sheriff then questioned the two Ullrich children, but they hadn't seen anybody, though they had been playing in the yard.

Baffled as to the motive for the slaying, Sheriff Studebaker ordered a check of dynamite sales in the vicinity. The nearest had been made in Clackamas, Ore. The purchaser had given his name as Webster Brill, but when officers checked the address, they discovered that it was fictitious.

Deputies, meanwhile, quietly inquired into the background of the girl. They soon learned that she had been going around with other men while her husband was away at the Veterans Hospital. Names of several men emerged from the rumors; each was carefully checked and eliminated.

With the case at a standstill, Sheriff Studebaker recalled something he had noticed at the Ullrich home and went back to talk to the children. They told him about the strange manner in which their pet owl, Pete, had died.

The sheriff dug up the owl's remains, and his suspicions were confirmed: Pete, too, had been killed by a dynamite explosion.

While the family was away, the sheriff made a thorough search of the house. In one of the bedrooms, he found a flashlight without batteries. Had the missing batteries provided the electrical impulse to set off the dynamite?

Sheriff Studebaker peered into every cranny in the room and was about to give up when he lifted a pillow from the bed. One end seemed heavy; he held it up and shook it.

Two flashlight batteries and a coil of fine copper wire fell out on the bed.

The picture was almost complete now: while lying in bed, someone had set off the charge, then yanked the wires in through the window. But who?

Before he revealed his discoveries to anyone, Sheriff Studebaker checked with the Veterans Hospital in Portland. Rudolph Otto, he was told, had served as a mine layer in the Navy. During his stay in the hospital, he had experimented with explosives in the hospital laboratory.

Armed with this information, the sheriff arrested Rudolph, who soon confessed. He said he had heard stories about his wife running around with other men while he was hospitalized. He checked up, found the stories were true, and decided to destroy her.

When Sheriff Studebaker was congratulated on solving the case, he admitted he almost muffed it. "When I saw that the pet owl had been blown up, I knew somebody was experimenting. Since the kids hadn't seen any strangers around, it had to be someone whose presence wouldn't draw any extra attention—someone in the family. That led me to search the house."

"But why did you question the children in the first place?" he was asked.

"You know how kids are. They were very fond of their pet owl, and when he died they made a grave. It was the headstone that attracted my attention. I recalled it later and went back to talk to the kids."

The inscription on the headstone was crudely lettered with crayon and read:

Before trying to solve Puzzles 1, 2 and 3 above, let's solve this Sample Puzzle: Note the various letters and objects, and the plus and minus signs. C plus OWL plus EYE plus YANK... gives us COWLEYETANK. Next, minus TOWEL minus CAN means that from COWLEYETANK we take away the letters TOWELCAN, leaving YEK. Now, in the list of names under the puzzle, we see the last name of Francis Scott KEY, and by re-arranging the letters YEK to KEY, we have KEY as the correct solution to this puzzle.
