

W. LEE WORKS ON PLAN TO AVOID PENSION CUT

Confers With Advisers In Dallas

Says Situation Pensioners Find Themselves In Is Critic

DALLAS, Oct. 6 (AP)—Stressing his grave fears of the "catastrophe" which will overtake the old age pensioners of Texas if they are forced to accept reduced pension checks October 15, Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel arrived here today for an all day conference with advisers in an effort to work out some plan under which the cut may be avoided.

He told the Times Herald in an interview he did not believe it would be wise to reveal, at present, the names of the men with whom he planned to confer, nor to give out details of such plans as he might have in mind at this stage.

"All I care to say at present is that we are going to discuss the matter of working out some legal plan whereby funds may be raised to prevent the October 15 cut, and to prevent any further cuts in pension checks until the legislature meets in regular session," said Gov. O'Daniel.

O'Daniel made it plain he had not definitely rejected special sessions of the legislature as a means of alleviating the pension crisis.

No Need For Session "I have never said I would not call a special session," he said. "I have said that I saw no need for such a session, nor do I see any need for one at the present time."

"But I have not said I would not call one under any circumstances. I believe it to be the duty of the governor to call special sessions when the need for them arises."

Branding the situation which some 120,000 pensioners find themselves in the face of the cut as "very critical," and stressing that "the principal objective of my life right now" is to help them out of the present situation, Governor O'Daniel said "I don't want to leave any avenue unexplored" in his search for a solution of the problem.

The governor said he had not considered polling the legislature to see if a tax bill for pension payments could be passed in special sessions.

Asked if his contemplated plan might include asking Dallas banks for a moratorium on the repayment of pension loans it made some time ago, the governor pointed out that this could not be done legally, since the legislature, in setting machinery in motion for repayment of this money, had directed that money appropriated should be set aside for this purpose and no other.

Governor O'Daniel said he would return to Austin tonight.

Ship To Have Naval Convoy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Navy and coast guard craft sped today toward a mid-Atlantic rendezvous with the American liner Iroquois, after the White House disclosed receipts of startling information that the refugee-laden steamship was to be sunk.

The tip came from the head of the German navy, but it left unanswered the questions of how and why and by whom the sinking was to be done. Likewise, it offered no explanation of how the Reich acquired the information.

The White House disclaimed any belief in the report. Nevertheless, several naval ships and a coast guard cutter were rushed to accompany the Iroquois to New York, where she is due next Wednesday. The captain was ordered to search the ship for explosives and to double his lookouts and patrol watchmen.

The vessel was chartered by the United States Lines to bring home Americans caught in Europe by the outbreak of war. Formerly, it was in the coastwise trade between New York, Florida and Texas.

The White House statement issued yesterday said: "Yesterday the head of the German navy, Grand Admiral Raeder, officially informed the American government, through the United States naval attaché (Commander A. E. Schroeder) in Berlin, that according to information on which he relied, an American ship, the Iroquois, is to be sunk when it nears our American east coast."

"The sinking of the Iroquois, Admiral Raeder said, would be accomplished through a repetition of circumstances which marked the loss of the Athenis.

Mention of the Athenis in Admiral Raeder's dispatch conveyed to many persons here the impression that Germany was, in effect, saying that Britain or France intended to sink the Iroquois, and then blame a German submarine.

LAST TO SEE HALLIBURTON SHIP

The battered Chinese junk, Taiping, 105 days from land, is shown as it was sighted off Northern Vancouver Island by the coast survey ship, Discoverer. Five men and a woman were aboard with food and water running low. The captain, John Anderson, said Richard Halliburton, adventurer and writer, was lost when his ship sailing near the Taiping, ran into a typhoon.

Borah And Aids Refuse To Yield In Arms Debate

Would Ask Cash On The Other Commodities

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—A dozen senate opponents offered today to accept revised neutrality legislation which would retain the arms embargo now in effect and set up a requirement for cash payments on belligerents' purchases.

Senator Borah (R-Idaho) said the group concurred in the following formal statement:

"We are still willing, as has been our position from the first, to accept the administration bill if the administration will leave in the law the embargo on arms, ammunition and implements of war and provide for cash instead of credit on other commodities.

"But we will not yield to the repeal of the arms embargo and it is not necessary if neutrality is the sole objective."

Headed Borah those agreeing to the statement were Senators Johnson (R-Calif.), Downey (D-Calif.), Danaher (R-Conn.), Overton (D-La.), Bulow (D-SD), LaFollette (Prog-Wis.), Vandenberg (R-Mich.), McCarran (D-Nev.), Nye (R-ND), Shipstead (FL-Minn.) and Holt (D-WVa.).

Borah said the statement was issued "simply for the purpose of trying to make it plain that our fight is against repeal of the arms embargo."

Senator Thomas D-Utah (declared no nation could complain against repeal of the arms embargo, because the administration neutrality bill would prevent American aid to the belligerents.)

LATVIA PACT COMPLETE, REDS SEEK TO FORCE LITHUANIA INTO A NEW AGREEMENT

MOSCOW, Oct. 6 (AP)—Lithuania has been summoned as next to sign on the dotted line as Soviet Russia today continued her march toward domination of eastern Europe.

By concluding a 10-year non-aggression accord with little Latvia yesterday—a treaty closely paralleling the one a week ago with Estonia—the soviet union added to her set-up for control of the Baltic.

The treaty gave Russia the right to establish several air fields, naval bases at her western neighbor's ports of Lepaja (Hibau) and Ventpils (Windau) and a coast artillery base to "protect Riga bay."

Similar concessions from Estonia have given Russia the right to establish naval bases in one mainland port and on two islands, along with air bases and garrisons for 25,000 soldiers in that country.

Observers speculated whether the soviet, flushed with its diplomatic successes while Europe's other major powers were at war, would summon Finland, Rumania or Afghanistan after Lithuania. All lie along the line of Russia's pro-

Hatch To Give His Support To Administration

Says U. S. Will Go To War Only If People Make Such A Move

By WILLIAM T. RIVES HOUSTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Senator Carl A. Hatch of New Mexico plugged for the administration's neutrality bill before the Texas oil men today and asserted the feeling in Washington, "from President through the congress," was that there is no occasion for the United States to go to war.

The senator said he would vote for the cash and carry plan suggested by the administration because that was the "more effective way to keep us out of war."

However, he told the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, "If we forget where the interest of America lies; if we favor one side, then America will get into it."

"If the people will war, they will have war; if they will peace, they will have peace."

Senator Hatch spoke shortly after the convention had elected E. L. Smith of Dallas, an independent oil operator, president, and presented distinguished service awards to E. L. DeGolyer, Dallas independent operator, and T. J. Donoghue, retired former vice-president of The Texas Company.

Need Not Go "For 2,000 years they have had wars in Europe, almost without interruption. We can face the issue and not go to war."

"Even if the situation should become ten times worse, we should not despair. Defeatism will get us no where."

To vigorous applause the senator said "we want this country to show the totalitarian states abroad that while democracy may be cumbersome, democracy yet will work."

He warned, however, "this free government can't last if we don't find jobs for millions of our people. I don't mean immediate danger, but we must be on guard."

Hatch warmly praised Vice President Garner.

"During the progress of the Hatch bill fight (to take politics out of relief) some said Mr. Garner had a selfish interest in supporting the measure, that he was looking toward 1940. I know they are stating that which is untrue."

He said that as early as 1935 Mr. Garner had introduced similar legislation; and that the vice president had called such legislation "the thing our party has pledged and been fighting for 30 years."

These officers of the association were re-elected today: George C. Gibbons, Dallas, executive vice president; Eugene McElvany, Dallas, treasurer, and the following vice presidents: Al Buchanan, San Antonio; H. R. Cullen, Houston; Lynn Boyd, Pampa; John F. O'Donoghue, Wichita Falls; J. L. Collins, Corsicana; Harry Adams, Midland; A. J. Frazier, Abilene; and Bryan W. Payne, Tyler.

The present directorate was re-elected with the addition of the following: D. W. Hovey, Houston; W. C. Windsor, Tyler; R. B. Anderson, Vernon; Harry Mosser, Alice; Wallace Hawkins, Dallas; J. H. Snowden, Fort Worth; J. B. McDermott, Beaumont; Clarence Schaubert, Midland, and Sam Ross, Kilgore.

Anderson-KBST Suit Sent Back To State Court

Case of V. T. Anderson, et al, vs. The Big Spring Herald Broadcasting company, suit for damages on contract, will be tried in the state court, it was learned Friday from Abilene, where Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson granted a plaintiff's motion to remand the hearing.

The plaintiffs had argued before Judge Davidson that the matter was a breach of contract, and should be heard in the state courts. The defense contention was that the case involves an interpretation of the Federal Communications act. Originally filed in the 70th district court here, the case was removed to federal court on a defense motion. It presumably will be sent back to the court here.

Anderson is asking $25,000 damages for injury to his reputation as a stockholder in the station because officials of the station allegedly discriminated between speakers in an election issue.

PLEADS GUILTY PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6 (AP)—Mrs. Providence Micchicci, called the "witch" in Philadelphia's murder-for-insurance ring, halted her trial today by pleading guilty to indictments charging her with the poison murder of Mrs. Hennie Cassa, 37-year-old mother of six children.

HITLER OFFERS PEACE PLAN; WARNS WORLD OF 'HORROR' WAR

English Frown Upon Fuhrer's Proposals

Claim Statements Vague, Held No Hint Of Righting Wrongs

LONDON, Oct. 6 (AP)—The British government said tonight that Adolf Hitler's peace proposals would be "subjected to careful examination in consultation with the governments of the dominions and the French republics."

"But," the statement added, "it is necessary to remember two things: "First, no peace proposal is likely to be accepted which does not effectively free Europe from the menace of aggression."

"Second, that something more than words would be required to establish confidence" in any peace proposals Germany might make.

The government statement, read by a foreign office spokesman, said Hitler's proposals "in their present form x x x are in many respects vague and obscure. But it is noted that they contain no suggestion for reparations for the wrongs done by Germany to other peoples."

Meanwhile, a bold-faced, single word "NO" captioning the main editorial of Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard sounded the keynote of British public reaction to Hitler's proposal.

"Hitler's speech changes nothing," the Standard said. "If he has made his last peace offer, he also has made his last war... the power of democracy in Britain and France has taken the decision from his hands."

"They have decided to finish with Hitler. He has spoken his own funeral oration."

There was no immediate official reaction to the Hitler speech.

Prime Minister Chamberlain, who never has said he would give unhurried, careful consideration to any German peace plan, is to deliver his weekly war review before parliament Tuesday.

It was considered possible he would then make his first public reference to Hitler's proposals, consulting with the French government before making an official reply.

Little Chance Observers in London gave the Hitler proposal an extremely remote chance of acceptance. They

PROGRAMS PLANNED TO RAISE MONEY FOR BAND UNIFORMS

Continuing efforts to secure funds for uniforms for the high school band, members of the Band Parents club will stage an affair at 7:30 o'clock Thursday, October 12, at the high school gymnasium, to be given in the form of a country store party.

High school students will provide the program and prizes will be awarded.

Other plans for funds include a Christmas card sale and cards may be obtained by contacting Mrs. J. A. Myers. A Halloween dance is also to be given Tuesday, October 31, for band members and the club.

Membership cards to the club will be issued soon and those interested in donating to the fund may do so by getting in touch with Mrs. L. L. Guley or Dan Conley.

YOUTHFUL BANK ROBBER SLAIN

TULSA, Oct. 6 (AP)—A young desperado who robbed a Ficher, Okla., bank of $1,195 with a bottle of fake "nitroglycerine" was shot and killed by a Tulsa detective only 24 hours later.

Detective W. E. Woolley spotted Al Rice, 23, in a taxicab late yesterday. He ordered "come along." Rice reached for a pistol.

Woolley fired three times. Rice fell dead.

Raymond Quirk (above), Tulsa salesman, identified Rice as one of three youths who kidnaped him Monday night and held him captive until after the robbery.

Two Claremore boys, George and Leon Marshall, were jailed on federal charges of robbing the bank. In a signed statement, George, 17, confessed the robbery and kidnaping.

Final arrangements were being completed Friday, as local members of Odd Fellowship prepared to welcome early arrivals for a state convention of the 86th annual session of the I. O. O. F. Grand encampment of Texas, the 43rd annual session of the department council, Patriarch Millant, and the annual state party of the L. A. F. M. (auxiliary).

Many reservations already have been made at the local hotels. Visitors are due here Sunday morning for registration, and the opening affair on the program will be a memorial service at the city auditorium Sunday evening. Business and ceremonial sessions are slated for the following two days, with several entertainment events also on the calendar.

STATES DIVIDED ON THANKSGIVING

By The Associated Press In 22 states Thanksgiving day will be celebrated on November 23 this year in accordance with President Roosevelt's wish to move the day up a week, while 23 others will observe Turkey day on the traditional last Thursday in November.

A double holiday will be observed in Colorado and Texas, which decided to celebrate both dates. Mississippi remains undecided although it has indicated it would follow the president's plan.

ENGLISH ASSERT GERMAN TIP ON THREAT TO U. S. SHIP "TOO ABSURD TO DENY"

LONDON, Oct. 6 (AP)—The British admiralty commenting on the German statement that the United States liner Iroquois might be sunk said "it was surprising that an officer of the former imperial German navy like Admiral Raeder should betray his uniform by lending himself to such 'baseness.'"

The suggestion, made to Washington through the United States naval attaché at Berlin by the commander of the German navy, Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, the admiralty asserted, "enables us once more to realize and measure the criminal mentality of the Nazi party leaders."

The Iroquois sailed Tuesday from Cobh Harbor, Ireland. She carried 584 passengers and a crew of 212. The passengers were Americans fleeing European hostilities.

The text of the admiralty's communique follows: "The attention of the admiralty has been drawn to the suggestion emanating from Berlin that the United States ship 'Iroquois' is to be sunk 'through a repetition of the circumstances which marked the loss of the steamship 'Athenis.' The Athenis was of course sunk by a German U-boat which was plainly seen by responsible survivors, no British submarine being within several hundred miles. The fact that such suggestions should be made by the German government enables us once again to realize and measure the criminal mentality of the Nazi party leaders."

French Prepare For Nazi Invasion

PARIS, Oct. 6 (AP)—French troops dug in on the muddy Saarland front today in preparation against any large-scale German offensive, while French police rounded up communist leaders behind the lines.

Last night was calm, however. The war ministry communique said only patrols were active in the sector southwest of Saarbrücken.

The strengthening of French vanguards was ascribed in political quarters to belief that the Nazi "peace offensive" had become a dead issue even before Fuhrer Hitler's address to the reichstag today.

Police in Paris and in other cities tore pictures of Lenin and Stalin from walls in communist centers and searched for Arthur Rametie who, with Florinond Bonte, wrote to Edouard Herriot, president of the chamber of deputies, demanding a parliamentary session to consider peace.

Orders were issued for the arrest of Rametie and Bonte, both communist members of the chamber of deputies, but Rametie was freed. Rametie was president and Bonte secretary general of the Workers' and Farmers' Party, organized when the communist party was banned.

Police said searches of both men's homes had disclosed evidence to justify charges of "being in communication with a foreign power."

Of 43 deputies who formed the workers' and peasants' party, five have responded to military summonses for questioning about the letter to Herriot and about their political connections.

The ousting of communist mayors and municipal councillors continued with 47 removed in the Paris region and a total of 317 soon to be replaced elsewhere by appointees named by district police prefects.

SAYS SOVIETS AND NAZIS WOULD WORK FOR PEACE ZONE

Would Abandon Other Territorial Claims Save For Old Colonial Demands; "Interests Economic"

BERLIN, Oct. 6 (AP)—Adolf Hitler today proposed a European peace settlement "on a comprehensive basis," but added that if the allies rejected his "outstretched hand," this "statement will have been my last."

"Then we shall fight," he went on, and pictured the new war as one sure to bring unprecedented horror to the world.

"May those peoples and their leaders who are of the same mind (as himself) now make their reply," he said in his hour and 20 minute speech to the reichstag and the world.

"And let those who consider war to be the better solution reject my outstretched hand."

He challenged the allies to "interpret these opinions of mine as cowardice if they like."

"I need not occupy myself with what they think; I make these statements simply because it goes without saying that I wish to spare my own people this suffering."

Collaborators said Hitler regarded his proposals as "formal" and that he would not wait for Britain and France to act on them.

The fuhrer was time and again conciliatory in tone—specifically to both Britain and France.

The world's history, he said, showed that in war "there have never been two victors, but very often only losers."

"Neither force of arms nor lapse of time will conquer Germany," he declared. "It is infantile to hope for the disintegration of our people."

These were among the other most material phases of his speech: 1. A renunciation of further territorial claims, save for his old colonial demands.

2. A declaration that Germany and Soviet Russia together would "relieve one of the acute danger spots of Europe" by working for a peace zone in eastern Europe.

3. A specific assurance to the world that he had no designs on Rumania, the Ukraine, the Urals or Bessarabia and an expression of his desire for friendly relations with all nations.

4. A declaration that one of Germany's tasks in dealing with fallen Poland was the establishment of a "new order of ethnographic conditions, that is to say resettlement of nationalities"—and a further declaration that it was a problem not restricted "to this particular sphere but a task with far wider implications, for the east and south of Europe is to a large extent filled with splinters of German nationality, whose existence cannot be maintained."

Saying that if the present war was allowed to go on the "vigor of every nation will be sapped on the battlefields," Hitler added it would be a struggle in which "there are no longer any islands"—an obvious reference to Britain's vulnerability to air attack.

Such a war carried to the end, he added, would leave a frontier of "ruin and endless graves" between Germany and France.

Germany, he said, had no demand to make on England or France, and thus there was no reason for carrying on the struggle.

Prerequisites Clarification of the foreign policies and aims of European states; reorganization of the internal economic systems of individual states—along with organization of markets and currency regulation—to revive international trade; establishment of an unconditionally guaranteed peace; and a sense of security on the part of individual nations by sanctioning Europe as a remade and by reducing armaments.

"Why should this war in the west be fought?" he asked. "For the restoration of Poland? The Poland of the Versailles treaty will never rise again. This is guaranteed by two of the largest states in the world (Russia and Germany)."

He thus ended his speech: "As fuhrer and chancellor of the reich, I can only thank God at this moment that he has so wonderfully blessed us in our hard struggle for what is our right, and beg Him that we and all other nations may find the right way, so that not only the German people but all Europe may once more be granted the blessing of peace."

As to Germany's currently close relations with Russia, he acknowledged that in the past he had declared that the U. S. S. R. was "organized on principles which differ from those held in Germany."

But, he added: "Since it became clear that (Joseph) Stalin saw nothing in these Russian-Soviet principles which should prevent him from cultivating friendly relations with states of different political creeds, National Socialist Germany sees no reason why it should adopt another criterion."

The New German-Russian pact, he said, was not only one "of peace, but also of constant, satisfactory cooperation for both states."

He put great stress on what he declared had been his efforts to "re-our relation with France of all trace of ill-will and to render them tolerable for both nations."

In an address lasting an hour and 20 minutes which some Nazis called the greatest speech for peace since Hitler, Page 7, Col. 3

Gregg Owners' Claims Heard

A board of appraisers appointed to make a recommendation of settlement of condemnation suits involving property in the Gregg street-highway widening project heard claims from property owners Friday morning, then recessed until Saturday without making a report.

Condemnation proceedings were filed in county court last week against five property owners on Gregg street, the federal bureau of public roads having required the move before approving a contract for the highway improvement.

The appraisers—W. W. Inkman, Fox Stripling and C. E. Reed—conferred with property owners during the morning, hearing claims that ranged from $300 up to $1200. Property has been required along the street by the state highway department for widening the street.

The appraisers will make a recommended settlement price in each case to the county court, then the owners have ten days in which to file exceptions. If these are filed, the cases will go before the county court.

Those whose property is involved are Clyde E. Thomas, W. V. Crunk, T. A. Slaughter, J. H. Johnson and W. D. Cornelison. Agreement was reached for required right-of-way with all other property owners on the street.

The Sports Parade

By HANK HART

All signs point to a tough engagement in the Odessa sector this evening where the Big Spring Steers stage a major invasion and where a half thousand or more Big Spring fans have moved to sit in on the skirmish.

The Bovines are in a good frame of mind, apparent that they are the underdogs but willing to "do or die" against the eleven reputed to be one of the toughest in state circles. The Broncos, despite all rumors, are not as tough as the Lubbock Westerners who came to Big Spring last week and who corralled the Herd by three touchdowns. Too, Mentor Pat Murphy certainly wasn't worrying about that engagement as much as his first conference game.

His charges are prepared to shoot the works this evening and will resort to any means in an effort to clout the Odessans.

Joe Coleman's first string crew is tough but his reserves are weak. If he can keep his eleven starters in there most of the time the Odessans should be able to realize a one touchdown victory with both teams scoring. If not, then look for an upset.

Elsewhere in the district: SAN ANGELO may have trouble with Paschal (Fort Worth) but should win by a touchdown. The Bobcats have yet to prove themselves.

SWEETWATER can measure Abilene if the Mustangs set themselves for the task.

And at the college front: TEXAS CHRISTIAN is too versatile for Arkansas, handicapped by the injuries.

WISCONSIN should throttle Texas by a brace of touchdowns. BAYLOR will have no trouble with Oklahoma A&M.

RICE should score at least twice in stopping Centenary. SOUTHERN METHODIST will have some trouble with Denton Teachers. The Mustangs are still weak on pass defense.

TEXAS A&M, if the surroundings don't scare Norton's crew, can handle Santa Clara's best in tonight's game. ALABAMA can surprise by beating Fordham.

YALE, boasting a better passing game, is capable of edging Columbia.

Louisiana State, weaker than in recent years, has little hope in beating HOLY CROSS.

NORTHWESTERN can humble Oklahoma if they succeed in scoring once.

MINNESOTA looks far better than Nebraska. IOWA should add to Bo McMillan's worries at Indiana.

TULANE looks only slightly tougher than Auburn. MISSOURI may surprise in sweating Ohio State.

Colgate has little chance with DUKE. ST. MARY'S looks to be a better ball club than California.

SOUTHERN CALS Trojans should find themselves in their tussle with Washington State. WASHINGTON may win a close one with UCLA.

This weekend's Paramount news reel at the Bits theatre presents the sandlot college grid favorites for the 1939 season and possesses some good shots of Ole Cordill, the Big Spring youth now attending Rice Institute and his running mate, Ernie Lala, along with a host of other individual stars.

Cincy Gloomy Over Outlook For Series

CINCINNATI, Oct. 6 (AP)—To the blaring of bands, the cheers of thousands and the raucous blasts of whistles tied down, the champion Reds and their arch-rivals the New York Yanks, invaded Cincinnati today.

Reds' Manager Bill McKechnie was confident after two defeats. "We'll beat 'em yet," he said.

The gloom that pervaded Mudville the day the mighty Casey struck out was a bright and shining light compared to the pall that hung over this Ohio river metropolis as fans surveyed the task the Redlegs had before them.

"We had a chance to beat 'em in four out of seven," was the consensus of the boys in the taverns, hotel corners and on the street corners, "but can we beat 'em in four of the next five?"

Standing room only sales for the Saturday and Sunday games took a decided drop, and some of the ticket "brokers" were rumored trying to get back a part of the license fees they've already paid.

BRONCHOS ARE BIDDING FOR LOOP TITLE

By HANK HART

Seeking to give the battered old dope bucket another lusty boot, Pat Murphy's Big Spring Steers invade the lair of the Odessa Bronchos this evening for a tussle that officially opens the season's play for District 3-AA football teams.

Decided underdog will be the Bovines who in three starts this year have been able to rack up but one victory and that a rather unimpressive 7-0 win over Class A Colorado City.

But tonight they start playing for keeps anything can happen. The Odessans have scored three victories over some of the most powerful opposition in this sector and intend to use this evening's fracas to give them a shove toward the district laurels.

The Broncos participated in the Border conference last fall and were shelled into submission, 59-0, by Austin High El Paso) in a scrap for the district title but they retaliated with an 18-6 triumph over Austin in a practice game the past week and from all indications are far stronger than in 1938.

Formidable Secondary Coach Coleman boasts a formidable secondary and a uniform forward wall that should give all foes plenty of trouble. The Broncos tossed a nifty aerial game at Austin last week as well as exhibiting a fine finish drugging game. If one division of their game proves unsuccessful in breaking through the opposition's guard, they have shown ability to maneuver into another field of operation with decided success.

The Caudle boys, Alvin and Fred, Billy Hogan, Paul Wyson and Bill McCracken combine their talents in supplying the Odessans' offense. Against all that the Steers on the surface have very little to offer but the chips are down and the Bovines may dedicate the opportunity toward doing something about it.

They have Lefty Bethell, one of the best climax runners in the state at high school football. They possess a decidedly improved aerial game that may give the Odessans fits of anxiety. And they can gamble on the finish with every weapon.

They've every thing to gain and nothing to lose in this one and they're expected to go in swinging with eyes only to the fore.

Save Wizarly Murphy has saved all his grid trickery for this tall tale skirmish and his charges may open up with a bewildering set of plays that even local fans never knew them to possess.

The local footballers pulled out of town aboard a special bus early in the afternoon and were to be followed by a host of reporters aboard a special train, scheduled to leave here at 5 p. m. and to arrive in Odessa around 6:45.

The Odessa band and pep squad were to meet the local party at the railway station and begin a march parade before moving to the grid field for the 8 o'clock game. The special was scheduled to depart for Big Spring at 11 p. m.

Invade Coast One of the most potent ambassadors of the conference could send field—Texas A. & M. tries to bring back some of the lost international glory tonight at San Francisco against Santa Clara. However, its most vital spark, Walemon (Cotton) Price, signa caller and passer, is not scheduled to start. He hurt his knee in last week's Centenary game.

Far from home also will be University of Texas' green hands, up at Madison, Wis., to contest the Wisconsin powerhouse. Sophomores—our little—tries to make Texas' position a little unpredictable. Wildhorse Mayes, Jack Crain, Jimmy Grubbs and R. B. Patrick will open in the backfield, all good boys but a trifle inexperienced. It will be their second college game.

Southern Methodist and Baylor figure to have breezes. The Methodists showed the Oklahoma folk a potentially strong football team last week in outplaying O. U. in a 7-7 tie and tomorrow it goes on inspection for the Texas Teachers at Dallas. Baylor, easy 34-0 winner over Southwestern last week, rightfully rates a good edge over Oklahoma Aggies in their Stillwater, Okla., game.

The shocked Owls of Rice Institute, still a little hazy about that Vanderbilt matter, are due to come out of it against Centenary in a Saturday night game. Halfback Ole Cordill, hurt last week, will be replaced by bready Moore and Capt. Ed Singletary won't be in as starting guard, but the Owls still figure two touchdowns better than a stubborn Centenary crew.

ARKANSAS SEEKS 'RECOVERY' WIN

Victor To Get Jump In SW Flag Chase

By F. L. McKNIGHT DALLAS, Oct. 6 (AP)—Over in Arkansas' Ozarks tomorrow Texas Christian and Arkansas start the Southwest conference on another campaign that probably will have the distinction of being the dirtiest to date.

Form isn't to be trusted in the wildest of the nation's football sectors, where a couple of passes change 50 minutes of defeat into a winning game.

The coaches of the conference chose Rice Institute, Texas A. & M., Arkansas, Southern Methodist and Texas Christian as their top-notchers. Three of the five have been licked and one has been tied.

The Aggies maintain the only unblemished record. It is the harbinger of a "smooth" season.

The Christian, groped by U. C. L. A. in their opener, still looked good to Coach Leo Meyer. "The same lineup that started against the Pacific Coast team will go against Arkansas."

Not so bright, however, is the situation at Arkansas. Two of the huge ends Coach Fred Thomson had counted on to carry out his all-raids—Britt and Kreiberg—have been ailing and Kreiberg's definition of injured is against T. C. U.

Such was the situation when the mighty Porkers, picked by some as one team to beat, went down sprawling before Mississippi State, 14-0.

FORAN FAVORED OVER BILLIES

McDonald May Not Get To Play, However

The high school football teams of Foran and Garner return their athletic relationship in the Highland park stadium Saturday night, 8 o'clock, in a highly important District 12 six-man game.

Brady Nix's Foran charges will be heavily favored to decision the Hill Billies, playing under a new coach this year, but the Billies always appear at their best against the Bisons.

T. J. Turner, who succeeded Floyd Burnett as head mentor at Garner, had but two letters around which to build his team but the Billies have already beaten Coahoma in a decisive battle.

Tommy McDonald, star Foran back, is still ailing and may not play unless he is needed. He is expected to suit out, however.

Admission prices have been set at 10 and 25 cents. Other league games will pit Coahoma against Westbrook in Colorado Saturday afternoon, Sterling City against Garden City in Garden City this afternoon and Courtney against Water Valley in Water Valley today.

Ten Pin Tales

By JAKE DOUGLASS I noticed when reading another sports page in a neighboring town paper that all of the scores over 100 hundred rated mention. Last week the high score was 24 with the nearest possible thing to that some twenty pins back. I also noted that the highest single team game rolled this week in the league competition was 844 pins.

After reading this, I suppose that we can justly be proud of ourselves in Big Spring for the following reasons: If we were permitted to mention all of the two hundred games rolled locally, the officials would probably have to put in another sheet in the paper to handle them. Where they had fifteen over, he coveted mark, we have had a few more than 150 over. Our high score by J. C. Loper is already up to 254 and chances are good that it will be changed several times before the weekend is complete.

We have had some twelve games between 230 and 250. We only had five single team games under 844 this week, and our lowest team game of 777 was above some five of their lines. We are not bragging or popping off, but we are proud of our superior marks, and it does show that even though our town be inferior in numbers to our senior neighbor, we can hold our own on the hardwood.

In glancing through the A.B.C. Bulletin we find that we are entitled to prize fund insurance by the Congress free of charge. Let's get it, its really worth it and then too, it's free.

In 1905, the American Bowling Congress was formed at Beethoven Hall in New York City with only twelve members. Today, it is a rapidly growing organization of approximately 750,000 bowlers. Then, it was the same level as a saloon; today it is on a much higher plane, and in the words of E. H. Baumgarten, secretary of the A. B. C. "It seems to me the question of cleanliness in all sports meets its final proof when women are permitted to not only frequent the places where the sports are conducted, but to participate in them."

ROPE FACES BARLUND HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 6 (AP)—A turn-away crowd of 6,000 fight fans was expected at Hollywood stadium tonight when Gunnar Barlund of Finland and Jack Roper, California's veteran heavyweight, go into the ring for a bout scheduled at 10 rounds.

YEARLINGS COME FROM BEHIND TWICE TO TIE WOLVES, 19-19 Crazy legged Junior Moore sprouted as the finest young football player in these parts in pouncing toward Schwarzenbach's Junior High school Yearlings to a 19-19 deadlock with the Colorado City junior team Thursday evening in Highland Park stadium.

The hard driving Moore showed amazing ability in keeping his feet in scoring all three touchdowns as the locals twice came from behind to stymie the larger and more experienced invaders.

Moore scored his opening six-pointer soon after the game began after a sustained drive down the field. He loped some five yards for the tally, then added the extra point on the plunge.

The Coloradans waited until the second to strike, then scored twice to take the lead, Sadler going over for both scores on line amazee. A few seconds before the half ended Sadler intercepted a pass thrown by Jimmy Bowden and raced 45 yards to the Yearling 3-yard line where he was tossed to earth in a great tackle by Bowden.

The Yearlings stormed back after the rest period to again take the lead as Moore went over on a short plunge only to have the foot start a drive that paid off early in the fourth. Sadler again went across and Ratliff plunged over for the point that apparently sewed up the game.

But the Yearlings were not through. They took the ball around their own 30-yard line and ripped off first down after first down in maneuvering into Colorado City territory. Fighting for time they left it squarely up to Moore and the gallant little back again responded, setting up the final tally in a terrific off tackle plunge that found him prone on the Wolf 2-yard line. From there he took a pass from Bowden for the score. The try for point, a pass from Bowden to Moore, failed.

Dean Curley's blocking was a standout in the locals' battle. Score by quarters: Colorado City ..... 0 12 7 0-19 Big Spring ..... 7 0 6 0-19

Starting lineups: COLORADO CITY—Chesney, lb; Montgomery, lb; Stewart, lb; Sellers, c; Gregory, rg; Doss, rt; Williams, re; Sadler, qb; Ratliff, hb; Shertief, hb, and Wood, fb

Aggies, Frogs And Bruins Favored

By HERBERT W. BARKER Associated Press Sports Editor NEW YORK, Oct. 6—Applying an old golf axiom to football, this guesser will proceed to "miss 'em quick."

Holy Cross-Louisiana State: The tales that come out of Worcester about Holy Cross' strength absolutely curl your hair. Even allowing for a sharp discount, it is obvious the Crusaders have power and speed and a great passer and kicker in Ronnie Cahill. L. S. U. will be no push-over but we'll take Holy Cross.

Northwestern-Oklahoma: Northwestern may take the wraps off Bill De Corvolet in this one. Northwestern gets the nod.

Notre Dame-Georgia Tech: The Ramblers weren't exactly a ball of fire against Purdue but the talent, and the man-power is there, Notre Dame.

Fordham-Alabama: One of the toughest of them all. Neither showed much last week but that was really batting practice. This one counts and only by the toss of a coin is Fordham the choice.

Tulane-Auburn: The Green Wave barely washed past Clemson and this one looks just as tough. Still, Tulane.

California-St. Mary's: The grapevine says Slip Madigan has a good ball club at St. Mary's this year. St. Mary's.

Cornell-Syracuse: Two upstate New York powerhouses collide, this corner takes a flier on Cornell Duke-Colgate: Duke.

Yale-Columbia: Taking Columbia but not with any particular degree of comfort.

Temple-Carnegie Tech: No reason yet to believe that Carnegie isn't one of the east's really strong teams. Tech.

Army-Centre: Army, handsly. Navy-Virginia: This may be awful close but we'll go down (it absolutely necessary) with the Navy.

Iowa-Indiana: A sheer guess. Nebraska-Minnesota: The Huskers don't seem to have much of an attack against Indiana and the choice is Minnesota.

MISS LANCENOTES

By Mary Whaley

Even in the face of being dated and post-war, there's one thing that is a never failing wonder to us and that is the youngest generation. Not the 16-year-olds but the 8- to 10-year-old variety.

We can remember when little girls wore their hair in Dutch bobs with the unrightly bangs that grew too long and usually hung in the eyes.

We came along in the high button shoe era and black cotton stockings. Boys were scorned as a race merely to be tolerated at times and ignored the rest of the day. We played "house" and boys just wouldn't fit in. At that age, it was tantamount to an insult to be accused of having a "boy friend."

Those were fighting words! Now the youngest ones, with their permanents and weekly shampoo look sleek and chic with their waves and curls, and perky ribbons and bows adorn their tops.

Long stockings probably aren't manufactured these days and the eight-year-olds gambol about with ankle socks or three-thread silk hose that makes you wonder if they can still play hop scotch. Or is that game out of style too?

This latest generation with the poise and sedateness of grownups have their boy friends that accompany them to the movies and parties. But while we may harbor an opinion about how these newer models perform, we like the way they look. Others may question the way these newest editions run but you've got to admit they look good. They're streamlined.

Thousands Are Helped

Clothing and shoes distributed to more than 2,300 persons—
 Groceries distributed to more than 100—
 Relief provided for more than 2,000 wayfarers—
 A report detailing aid and sustenance to thousands of other folks could be expanded into a lengthy piece. For the above figures are included in a summary of the Salvation Army's activities in Big Spring for the past year; and the Army turned no one down. The hungry, the suffering, the diseased—all were helped.

We ought to remember these things, remember that the Salvation Army helped distressed people that nobo / else helped, as the organization continues this week its appeal for financial aid. The Army operated on a limited budget last year; indeed will have only a modest sum—compared to work done—this year, even if the immediate goal of $3,000 is obtained. For the Army carries on myriad activities, providing spiritual haven and instruction to those who need it, as well as ministering to physical needs.

Let us remember these thousands of weary and indigent and sick people; let us remember the little children in destitute homes, the burdened mothers who have an all but unbearable load to carry; the disease and poverty ridden households that are denied aid except when a great humanitarian organization acts. It is not the Salvation Army, but these people, that we help, as we respond to the current appeal. Let us remember that every dollar contributed is spent at home, under guidance of local men, and with a finance system checked by auditors. Through the Salvation Army, you are directing your charity in a systematic way, placing it where it will always do good.

Remember these things, as you are approached for a contribution; and give as generously as your means will allow, with the assurance that the good of your donation spreads a thousand-fold.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—Impossible events sometimes come to pass along Broadway. Every girl who thinks she can dance on siff or act often dreams of walking cold into the office of a producer or bandleader and boldly asking for a job—and getting it.

Four years ago a girl who thought she could sing walked into a room where Louis Prima was rehearsing a swing band, and asked for a chance to show him how well she would fit into his organization. Prima asked her to sing several numbers. "You have a nice voice," he told her, "but you lack style."

Without charging her anything Louis began teaching her. After awhile she would drop into his place in 52nd street and sing a number or two each evening, with the band. She got the "feel" of swing band crooning. This was a lot of fun, and it was good practice. One night while she was "practicing" a film scout called her over and offered her a tiny part in one of Bing Crosby's pictures. She came out of this "bit" with a name of her own, and you'll recognize it as Martha Raye.

A few nights ago a quite pretty, demure little girl whose age is 17 and whose name is Patricia Miller, left her mushroom sandwich high eaten and advanced to the bandstand. This was Hickory House, and Louis Prima (he does get around) was again on hand. She wondered, please: if Mr. Prima would let her sing a song, just one, just one little song. Most band leaders are pestered unmercifully with people in public places, and ordinarily Prima would have said he was sorry but not now. In this instance he surprised himself by saying, okay.

Do not leap to conclusions. She is not a strange glamorous unknown who leaped from obscurity to the big time. She hasn't done anything yet. But she sang that night. "It's like this," Prima mumbled, "you have a nice voice, but you lack style."

So he is teaching her style. But not in public places, where film scouts can drift by and take his discoveries away to Hollywood. If this girl is another Martha Raye, Prima wants to make the discovery himself—and not by going to the movies.

In Chambers street is a window with a most peculiar sign: "The Rest Social Club." But in this window is a machine gun, a trench helmet, a hand grenade, and a bayonet. I can't figure it out.

The fight in the Stork club the other night between Sidney Solomon, who used to run the Central Park Casino, and George White, producer of the "Scandals," adds two more names to the long list of notables who have settled their differences with fists in public places. Everybody remembers the fight between Max Eastman, who wrote "Enjoyment of Laughter," and Ernest Hemingway, who is famous for "Death in the Afternoon" in the office of their publisher a couple of years back. Rudy Vallee has been in half a dozen squabbles; Sinclair Lewis, the author, exchanged blows with a fellow author at a banquet in New York.

Sherman Billingsley, owner of the Stork, was so angered that both contestants, and indeed all people who ever have indulged in public brawls, have been forbidden his door. Which, if you ask me, is rashness of a most amazing character. ... considering how many customers of the night spots are on that blacklist.

The secretary of the Union of French Intellectuals for Justice, Freedom and Peace arrived recently in Big Spring. Her efforts seem to be more toward in Big Spring—Harrison City Star.

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—The president's message to congress made clearer than ever the special situation of Canada in our relations to the new war.

Under the neutrality act as it was up to May 1, Canada—at war—could have bought nothing from this country that she did not buy with cash and carry away in her own ships or trains.

On May 1 the cash-and-carry section of the neutrality act died. That left it legal, even after war started, for American ships to carry supplies to belligerent nations so long as the supplies were not actually arms or implements of war.

In his message the president proposed a substitute for cash-and-carry. It was the same substitute proposed last session:

To have congress authorize the president to designate certain "combat zones" on the ocean into which American ships might not travel.

Presumably, such combat zones would be the waters around England, Germany and France. Those are the active submarine and naval areas. But would shipping areas around Canadian ports, either on the Pacific or Atlantic, be included?

It can be readily drawn from the president's message that he intends to leave the way open to avoid imposing such restrictions on our trade with Canada, at least for the time being. He said that, upon repeal of the arms embargo, "this government clearly and definitely will insist that American citizens and American ships keep away from the immediate perils of the actual zones of conflict."

Canada is not an "actual zone of conflict." No pitched battles on Canadian soil or in the air above the dominion are in prospect. The possibility is that Germany will send enough submarine raiders to Canadian waters to compel the president to designate at least the Atlantic route to Canada as a "combat zone."

Even that, however, would leave rail lines open as well as lanes from U. S. west coast ports to Canadian ports on the Pacific.

UNIQUE RELATIONSHIP

More than once the president has recognized our special relationship to Canada. It is a relationship unlike any other we know of. The president has said that, under the Monroe Doctrine, the United States would prevent any "other empire" (than the British) from holding sway over Canada.

Germany caught the point at once. The Nazi press railed at a situation under which Canada would be permitted to fight Germany but Germany would not be permitted to fight Canada without also taking on the U. S.

Presently, if the neutrality act is revised, we may find American ships forbidden to take goods to England, France or Germany. And yet the American flag may protect shipments of goods to Canada, taking them safely on the first 1,000 miles of the hazardous trip to the front lines.

We are just "that way" about Canada.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

"Espionage Agent." Screenplay by Warren Duff, Michael Fessler, Frank Donoghue from story by Robert Henry Buckner. Directed by Lloyd Bacon. Cast: Joel McCrea, Brenda Marshall, Jeffrey Lynn, George Bancroft, Stanley Ridges, James Stephenson, Howard Hickman, Martin Kosleck, Nana Bryant.

HOLLYWOOD—Here is up-to-the-minute spy melodrama that must have been conceived by seers. It is a plea for an American counter-espionage system, and it was ready for release with the headlines concerning President Roosevelt's turning the matter over to an increased Federal Bureau of Investigation.

So topical is it that at times during its unreeling it seems to have been rushed from the city room rather than from a sound stage. It pounds (through foreign correspondent Bancroft) the message of American neutrality; it harps more insistently on the dangers of foreign agents within American borders, stealing plans for national defense, planning sabotage and terrorism; it recalls the havoc wrought in American industry prior to America's entry into the first World War. And it does it all, aided by its timeliness, of course, with surprising effectiveness.

McCrea is the young diplomat who rescues and later marries a terror-ridden girl from the Spanish Civil war zone. Returned to Washington for further training and assignment, he hears her confession: she is an unwilling tool of an international spy ring which sells national secrets to the highest foreign bidder. He sets out with her help to trap the head of the ring, get a list of its operatives. There's good spy stuff here, exciting stuff, even though their ultimate escape from You Guess Where is rather precipitously handled.

Brenda Marshall is the girl—a new Warner find, pretty without that look of having been freshly baked in the Hollywood mold, and a capable, sincere actress. Lynn is excellent as McCrea's career man pal but Martin Kosleck (the propagandist minister of "Nazi Spy") steals every scene in which he appears as the insolent, sneering foreign agent who hates democracy but enjoys its privileges.

"Dancing Coed." Screenplay by Albert Mannheimer and Albert Treyner. Directed by S. Sylvan Simon. Cast: Lana Turner, Richard Carlson, Artie Shaw, Ann Rutherford, Lee Bowman, Thurston Hall, Leon Errol, Roscoe Karns.

Another collegiate yarn, but hold on!—this one is fresh, entertaining, brightly made.

It's a dancing contest—the prize a movie contract—that starts the story. Because of it a professional dancer (Turner) goes to college, where she meets the college paper's editor (Carlson) and—

But why go on? "Dancing Coed" is what the doctor ordered for fans who want light entertainment, and it's worth seeing if for no other reason than to watch a new star—Lana Turner—on the rise.

"Rio." Directed by John Brahm, with Basil Rathbone, Victor McLaglen, Sigrid Gurie, Robert Cummings, Leo Carillo, Billy Gilbert.

In the final scene, Cummings holds Gurie in his arms after her husband (Rathbone) has been shot, thus removing him as a bar to their happiness. Says Cummings: "It's out of your hands now, darling. It's out of everyone's hands."

Thus Cummings, after giving the best performance in a number of good ones, also gives the best criticism of "Rio." There is too much story, too many people, and too much skipping around.

Good, however, if you like 'em that way—and the Gurie girl looks nice by the minute.

After A Man's Heart

by JEAN RANDALL

Chapter 28
THE MISSING MAID

"You'll have a devil of a time finding Buff," her father told Tim over the telephone. "If she's made up her mind to leave you out on a limb. If you'll take my advice you'll stay in Denver overnight, at least. Tell me your hotel and I'll call you around ten. There may be some word of her then."

There was no alternative. Tim gave the name of an unpretentious hotel which he and George made use of when business kept them overnight in the city. He spent a long afternoon in his room, trying desperately to remember any reference Buff had made to the places she liked to stay. Gramercy Park, in New York, had appealed to her. Should he try her there? But she couldn't have reached Chicago by now, he alone New York.

In the middle of the afternoon he telephoned George in a forlorn hope that some scrap of news had reached him. It had; a rather surprising scrap, too.

"Iris has checked out at the Boulderado," Weeks said excitedly. "And what's more it looks as if Buff had taken her in her car. Latahaw was in the office today. He's pretty hot under the collar as you might expect. First we busted up his deal with that Detroit buyer, and now we've kidnapped his girl—so he says."

Tim was dumfounded. Buff and Iris together! He didn't know which seemed the more incredible: that Iris would go willingly with the girl who had exposed her deceit, or that Buff would want to take Iris. He replaced the receiver dazedly. But protracted thought—and he had plenty of time for thought, protracted or otherwise, before the call came through from Tucson at ten—showed him that providing for Iris was exactly the sort of thing Buff might be expected to do.

"Taking care of the office today, complex with her. And I thought she was going out of her way to look after me! All that talk of marriage was simply her idea of the best way to protect me from"—he winced—"the Irises of the world. She'd have done it as readily for George—for that fool VanLander. She selected me because mine seemed to her a more desperate case." He thought of his brotherly admonitions to her, of his stubborn resistance to her attempts to help him, and reddened. Buff seemed to stand before him, her blue eyes gentle, her small slim figure at once protective and appealing.

Somewhere the hours dragged along until ten o'clock. Tim leaped toward the telephone when Lance Carroll's call came through.

"I've heard from her," announced the artist. "You can stop your worrying. She's safe."

"But where is she?" Tim shouted.

"Where she prefers to be for a time, at least; without an address."

"Do you mean that I—"

"I'm afraid so. She said particularly that no one in Boulder was to know her destination. Sorry, but Buff always has a pretty good reason for what she does."

"But—but it's absolutely necessary that I—that I see her," stammered Tim. "Look here, Mr. Carroll—I—there are things I must say to her. A lot has happened since you were here. It's vital that I see Buff—communicate with her, any way."

"Write her in care of my address," advised the older man. "But don't come down here. She isn't here—won't be here. No use to hunt her either. It's a fairly large country to hide in, you know, and Buff's a seasoned traveler. Put your troubles on paper and send the letter here. I'll see that it's forwarded."

With that Tim had to be content. He wrote and rewrote his letter; used up all the stationery in the hotel bedroom and rang for more. At one o'clock or thereabouts he came to the conclusion that the first letter was about as good as the last; neither represented adequately what he wanted to say. He sealed the envelope, tore his other efforts into shreds, and went wearily to bed. The next day he returned to Boulder to await Buff's answer.

Tim's Turn To Worry

It was Tim's turn to speculate, to analyze, to worry. He turned over and over in his mind the events of the last few months. He tried to convince himself that Buff had betrayed a personal interest in his welfare instead of the characteristic helplessness he really believed she had shown toward him. He thought of the soap sculptor, and Buff's motherly care of him. He thought of the dozen or more University students who dropped in for tea and sandwiches, for small loans, for advice and help with their work.

Above all, he thought of Iris. Buff's action in retaining the girl who had been the cause of so much trouble to everyone was proof positive to Tim of Buff's intrinsic kindness. Iris was in a tight place. Latahaw had turned snarling upon her in the real estate office, and accused her of betraying his plans to Tim.

The story of that hasty trip to Denver was sure to leak out, Tim mused. George's exultation was too great to expect complete silence on his part.

"And Buff was quick to realize all that. While I was stunned with anxiety to see Buff, she quietly picked up Iris and took her away. And I flattered myself that she was interested in me, as a man, rather than as a person who needed her friendship and encouragement!"

He was right about the story being friend known to Boulder. True, it was a garbled story, involving a summons of the police, Iris's flight from legal accounting, Buff's charge at discovering her friend to be an adventuress.

Tim learned that Mrs. Webb was returning to the ranch. He went into the kitchen of Buff's apartment to say goodby. She had been good to him, and she had watched faithfully over Buff. Tim shook her hand cordially.

"No word I suppose, from Miss Buff?" He did not pause for an answer but hurried on: "Webby, I want you to promise me something. You have my telephone number, both at the laboratory and the boardinghouse. I don't like the idea of your being alone at the ranch. You might fall ill. Will you call me if you need help of any kind? I'll come right out."

Her broad face, rigid at first with some emotion he did not understand, showed a wavering smile.

"I'll call you, Mr. Tim. You—I

Lee Vs. Lee In Chicago Today

CHICAGO, Oct. 6 (AP)—It was Lee vs. Lee today as Chicago's Cubs and White Sox shifted the scene of their city series to Wrigley field all square after two games at Comiskey park.

Lee was on the firing line for the National League Cubs and Thornton Lee carried on for the American League Sox, who won yesterday, 9 to 2.

The Cubs called on three pitchers yesterday, including Dixie Dean, but the Sox settled the issue in the first two innings and then coasted in behind Ted Lyons' five hit performance.

The Sox routed Charley Root with three runs in the second inning after Joe Kuhel had homered in the opener.

Kerrville Is Upset Victim

By the Associated Press

All but three of the sixteen Class AA districts will have opened the conference campaign after this weekend in Texas schoolboy football.

Four of the week's 52 games were played last night, three of them conference tilts.

Arlington Heights defeated Poly 14-12 in the Fort Worth district. Sam Houston won over Jeff Davis 14-6 in the Houston district and San Antonio Tech downed Harlan 27-6 in the San Antonio district.

Charlie Rice's field goal in the last 32 seconds of play gave Brownwood a 3-0 victory over hitherto unbeaten Kerrville in an interdistrict game.

Gehrig's Stadium Appearance May Be Last One

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—A broad-shouldered fellow in a Yankee uniform, with a familiar No. 4 on its back, slowly climbed the three steps out of the Yankee dugout before the second game of the world series.

From a distance, he looked like a young man—robust and strong. But he had to grasp a railing to climb those steps, and it was with the gait of an old man that he shuffled the few feet to the box of Mrs. Joe McCarthy, the Yankee manager's wife.

She looked at him a moment. Then, with a truly motherly gesture, she took his head in both hands and kissed him full on the mouth.

Lon Gehrig shuffled back to the dugout to sit beside his doctor as Monte Pearson pitched the Yankees to a second victory over Cincinnati.

It was the only time, in these past two days, that Gehrig appeared on the stadium field in uniform. Perhaps it was the last time he ever will. Lou's contract is up this year and, unless the Reds win two games in Cincinnati, this series won't return to the stadium.

The Golden Text is: "Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits: who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thine diseases" (Psalms 103:2,3).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul; the testimony of the Lord is sure, making wise the simple. The statutes of the Lord are right, rejoicing the heart: the command-

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The belief in sin and death is destroyed by the law of God, which is the law of life instead of death, of harmony instead of discord, of spirit instead of flesh" (page 253).

FOUR INDICTMENTS ARE RETURNED BY MIDLAND JURY

Four indictments had been returned by the Midland county grand jury this week, District Attorney Martelle McDonald reported Friday on his return here after work with the investigating body. Fourteen cases were passed for future consideration, he said, the jury having been called to reconvene on October 23.
Two of the indictments charged forgery, and two were for assault with intent to murder.
Criminal cases will be called by Judge Cecil Collings at Midland Monday. Non-jury civil matters have been before the court this week.

LIQUOR COMPLAINTS ARE FILED HERE

Three complaints alleging violation of the state liquor statutes were on file in the county court Friday, agents for the Texas Liquor Control board filing the cases.
Two complaints named Andres Garcia, alias Chuta Garcia, one charging sale of whisky without a license and the other possession of whisky for the purpose of sale. Mose Saraha was charged with sale of liquor without a permit.
A complaint alleging aggravated assault was filed against Oliver Basden.

NEWCOMERS IN THE SPOTLIGHT

Two newcomers in the film firmament have proved so popular with theatre customers that they get major roles in a new film. They are Richard Greene, who has advanced rapidly since "Kentucky," and Brenda Joyce, the young sensation of "The Rains Came." They are pictured here with Roland Young in a scene from "Here I Am A Stranger," which gives them featured roles and which plays today and Saturday at the Elms theatre.

"I believe, however, that a sense of national security will not return to Europe until clear and binding international agreements have provided a comprehensive definition of the legitimate and illegitimate use of armaments."

the criminal mentality of Nazi party leaders, but it is surprising that an officer of the former Imperial German navy like Admiral Raeder should behave himself in such baseness.

Germany has made repeated charges that the British liner Athenia was sunk by the British themselves. The British press has called these charges a "stupid Nazi invention."

The British press prominently displayed the announcement of the tip to Washington and captioned it "amazing" but preferred to let the White House comment stand as its own.

The worried America embassy staff feared Raeder's warning would complicate the problem of repatriating some 4,000 Americans who are still in the United Kingdom.

Some Americans delaying their homeward departures expressed the opinion that they would just as soon risk air raids here as torpedoing in the Atlantic.

'Iron Lung' Mother Is Death Victim

CHICAGO, Oct. 6 (AP)—Mrs. Gertrude Epstein, 22, who gave birth to a baby girl yesterday during a brief time she was removed from an "iron lung" respirator, died today at Mt. Sinai hospital.

She succumbed to what Dr. A. I. Doktorsky described as a "heart paralysis." Hospital attendants said the 6 1/2 pound baby was "doing well."

Mrs. Epstein, an infantile paralysis victim, was removed from a full length respirator and taken to the delivery room while fire department rescue squad men administered artificial respiration, aided by a light, portable respirator borrowed from Fred B. Smith, Jr. The young man who has lived in an "iron lung" 1 1/2 years.

Medical records showed only 11 known cases of an infantile paralysis complication in pregnancy and no other case where a respirator was used at delivery.

If Buff chooses to disappear from your life, I can do nothing. Winter which had withheld its violence until now swept down on the little town. The snowflakes were busy every day clearing the roads. The winds came straight from the peaks and were knife-edged.

There was little work for either of the young men. Tim had time on his hands; time to miss a straight little figure with blue eyes which looked directly into his, not drooping like Iris's dark ones; time to recall a dozen little gestures, a hundred inflections of the boyish voice, Buff's own contagious chuckle.

He missed her sorely, and as the winter wore on his longing to see her grew almost hourly. Iris faded completely from his mind; or if he remembered her at all it was with the instinctive recoil of a healthy mind from recollections of pain. Next after night he lay in his bed, his eyes fixed on the ceiling but his inward vision busy with Buff; loyal little Buff, friendly and kind little Buff, Buff whose courage was great enough to offer herself in marriage to a man in trouble, since it seemed to her there was no other way to help him.

His infatuation over Iris DeMuth had given him a facility in terms of endurance. He had called her "darling" and "dearest."

"Well," George sighed, "if you're dead set on going, I suppose I may as well go along."

"No, you stay here." There was a brusk note in Tim's voice which surprised the other man. "At the worst, I may get held up out there a couple of days or more. One of us had better be here."

So Tim set off soon after nine, in a storm which rapidly assumed the proportions of a blizzard.

Censors Hinder, But Fail To Halt Flow Of War News To U. S. Press

By JOHN EVANS AP General Foreign Editor Europe's censors hinder but fail to halt the essentially truthful telling of the war news.

Censors delay dispatches, delete phrases and suppress some dispatches but much of the important news originates where there is no real censorship. The American reporter usually gets his story and sends it.

Friday, September 1, when Adolf Hitler went into Poland, the British censor marched into cable, wireless, telegraph and telephone offices.

He created such confusion that Prime Minister Chamberlain changed the mechanism last Monday. He replaced one set of censors with two and the British newspapers voiced their unhappiness at the change.

London is the only important capital where United States reporters submit all their copy to official censors who suppress or delete what they do not approve.

Germany alone of the belligerents gives the United States reporter practically normal peace-time facilities.

In Paris, Rome and Moscow, the American reporter telephones his uncensored news abroad but written dispatches theoretically pass through a censorship which seems to do little more than delay them while they are being read.

Budapest, central point for transmitting news from Hungary, Rumania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria, is without censorship except for the Hungarian press. The other countries, like many others, have strict control of local newspapers but give full freedom to foreign correspondents.

Occasionally all communications are cut temporarily in some countries. This happened in Rumania September 21 when Premier Calinescu was assassinated but not in time to prevent the news from going out promptly.

Taking issue with Senator Borah (R-Idaho), Thomas contended repeal of the embargo would be contrary to international law.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Senator Downey (D-Calif.) forecast in the senate today that repeal of the arms embargo would lead ultimately to "inflation and a boom of catastrophic consequences."

"As for me," Downey asserted, "I am firmly set against any further intervention in Europe by the sale of war materials there in peace-time or war."

Fossil Remains Of Huge Elephant Uncovered East Of Coahoma By Workers On University Project

The photographer shows some of the elephant fossil remains uncovered two miles east of Coahoma by excavators on a WPA-University of Texas project. In the top view is the seven-foot tusk of a massive elephant. Grayson Meade, in charge of the project, and Eugene Moore are in the background. How the remains are preserved is demonstrated in the lower photo, which shows them in plaster casts.

Discovery of fossil remains established to those of an elephant has added interest to excavation work which has been carried on since early in September in Howard county as a unit of a University of Texas-WPA survey.

A story of the discovery has been given by Grayson E. Meade, who was in charge of the excavation. The end of one tusk and a partial jaw were discovered two years ago, he relates, when a "dead man" hole was dug on the Noble Ranch north two miles east of Coahoma. Further excavation was started last month with a crew of Howard county WPA workers. The project is part of a statewide paleontological-mineralogical survey the University has sponsored.

Although parts of the elephant skeleton are missing, enough of the huge bones have been recovered, Meade said, to show that the tusk, one of the group known as Mammoths, was considerably larger than the modern elephant.

Over Large Area

Said Meade: "Buried beneath three and one-half feet of earth, the bones of the big elephant were scattered from end to end of an area fifty feet long and twenty-seven feet wide. They were imbedded in a fine sand just under the white, limey layer popularly known as the caliche. This ancient Jumbo lived in the Pleistocene, or Ice Age, probably between 50,000 and 100,000 years ago. It is not impossible that he met his death by becoming mired down in a small, sluggish stream.

"The great size of his limb bones indicates that he probably stood twelve feet tall at the shoulder. It is recorded that the famous circus elephant, Jumbo, largest ever held in captivity, was only eleven feet four inches at the shoulder.

"Excavation on the Noble ranch uncovered both tusks, one seven feet long, and the other eleven feet. Both are incomplete, but in a satisfactory state of preservation. In addition, both of the femurs (thigh bones) have been found. They measure four and one-half feet in length. One tibia (the lower leg bone), one radius and ulna (fore arm bones) and one scapula (shoulder blade) have been found, as well as several vertebrae. Mr. Graham, who owns the partial jaw found in the site two years ago, has offered to donate it."

In Plaster Casts

The bones, when first exposed to the air, show a tendency to crumble. This is avoided, Meade pointed out, by a liberal use of shellac, which is allowed to soak in and dry thoroughly, making the bones much harder. When sufficiently toughened, the bones are covered with wet tissue paper, over which a plaster cast is applied and firmly cinched in place. The wet tissue serves to keep the cast from sticking to the bones. In making the cast, strips of burlap are dipped in wet plaster of paris, and pressed snugly against the bone.

When this has dried, the specimen is turned over, and a cast is applied to the other side. Very large bones, or tusks, must be braced with two-by-fours, since they lack the strength to support their own weight. Before shipment the casts will be crated, as a further protection.

Work has been completed on the Noble ranch. The elephant remains are now in storage, awaiting shipment to Austin, where they will be added to the collections of the University of Texas. With the shipment is a four-foot tusk of another elephant, a Mastodon, which was found in B. Reagan's gravel pit southeast of Big Spring. Meade expressed appreciation of the cooperation of Mrs. Reagan and Mr. Reagan, and others who gave permission to work on their land. Future work will be conducted south of Big Spring, he said.

STATE'S DEFICIT IS NEAR ALL-TIME HIGH

AUSTIN, Oct. 6 (AP)—The deficit in the state's general revenue fund today approached record-breaking proportions with the announcement of Treasurer Charley Lockhart it stood at $21,316,425, only $170,169 under the all-time peak of Dec. 17, 1938.

The current deficit's growth was attributed to increasing costs of government and no additional income.

SHIP STOPPED BY SUB DOCKS AT GALVESTON

GALVESTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Twelve women and a four-month old child, "refugees" from the European war, arrived last night from Manchester on the Lykes Brothers freighter Eglantine.

The vessel sailed Sept. 15. On Sept. 18 a German submarine flashed a message to stop.

The submarine commander inspected the ship's papers, then permitted the vessel to proceed.

The passengers included: Mrs. Diana P. Quarles, Atlanta, and Miss Mabel Fletcher, of Sardis, Miss.

AGED WOMAN WANTS TO GIVE WEALTH TO CHARITIES

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 6 (AP)—Miss Emma Marburg, 79, isn't worried about rainy days and she insisted today, in a case carried to the state court of appeals, she should be allowed to give away a $50,000 trust fund.

Her appeal asserted she lives in a $400-a-month hotel suite, has an income of about $31,000 a year, cares for eight elderly people, subscribes to numerous charities and "lacks all desire to leave any estate at her death."

She wants to convert the $50,000 fund to income to aid her charities. A trust company holding the fund contends it should be maintained as a reserve against illness or reverses.

To Carry Campaign To Border Towns

He plans to visit Nuevo Laredo, Reynosa and Matamoros. He is scheduled to speak Sunday at Nuevo Laredo.

WTCC's Program With Max Bentley Starts Tonight

A new radio program, starting this evening, is the "Swing Around West Texas," a sustaining presentation by the West Texas chamber of commerce. The series is set for every Friday evening, 7:15 to 7:30, 1939.

Tonight's premiere will originate on KRBC, Abilene—headquarters city of the WTCC—and be fed to KGKL, San Angelo, and KBST, Big Spring. Later the program will be expanded to KFFO, Lubbock, KPDA, Amarillo, and perhaps to radio stations in Fort Worth, Wichita Falls and Vernon.

Master of ceremonies and commentator on the "Swing Around West Texas" will be Max Bentley, activities director of the West Texas chamber, who is returning to the air after an absence of several months. The broadcast will be patterned on Bentley's "Swing Around the World," a newcast and commentary originally aired over KRBC in Abilene and later over the entire Texas State Network.

The WTCC presentation will be confined to West Texas happenings and personalities and will not be a spot news broadcast. Its format will be a roundup of the week's top events in the territory served by the WTCC, with analysis and discussion of West Texas problems and opportunities.

Another Drug For Fighting Pneumonia Is Discovered

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 6 (AP)—Hospital tests have convinced Mellon Institute scientists they have a third powerful new "miracle" drug for combating pneumonia.

Nationwide distribution in clinical quantities was announced by the Pennsylvania Medical Society coincident with disclosure that the chemical had halved the pneumonia mortality rate at Pittsburgh's Mercy Hospital.

Before releasing the drug to the medical profession, however, further tests of its efficiency will be made.

Known as hydroxyethylapocrene, the chemical was described by Dr. Mark M. Bracken, fellow in pneumonia research, as equal in effectiveness but without toxic effects of sulfaquinolone and sulfanilamide, two anti-pneumonia drugs recently placed in use.

A derivative of quinine, the drug is administered either through injection into the blood stream or by the mouth. In its ordinary form it is a white powder.
