NUMBER FORTY-FOUR

GORMAN IS SHORT-CHANGED AGAIN! That's right folks! The people of Gorman have again been short-changed by the Commissioners Court of Eastland County. With the exception of County Commissioner L. T. Owen, Commissioner of our Precinct 3, the entire County Commission voted 3 to 1 to "realign" Justice of the Peace Precincts 3 and 5 and abolish the Constable positions in both Gorman and Rising Star.

Eventually, the justices of the peace and constables in these two precincts will be eliminated. Those now in office will be "allowed" to serve out their terms before changes take place. Terms in these offices will go through 1994. "Liberty, justice for all, that's what would be taken from people if the precinct constable was abolished," stated Gene Hicks, constable of Rising Star Precinct 3. "Citizens down there don't ask for much, but they do want protection."

The Commissioners hope to make a saving of $60,000 a year by realigning the precincts. The realignment will put Precincts 5 and 1 together. Precincts 3 and 4 will be combined, and Precinct 2 will remain the same.

Representatives from the City of Gorman and Birdsong Peanuts spoke on behalf of Precinct 5 Justice of the Peace V. O. Huff. L. T. Owen, Precinct 3 (gorman and Rising Star), said people in the southern part of the county had been short-changed for too long. He made a motion that no action be taken, but the motion died for the lack of a second. Owen was the only Commissioner to vote against the proposal.

I don't know exactly what the Commissioners intend to do with "our $60,000 in tax money" that should be used in our behalf. I guess they will up the salary of the other justices or just throw it on the pile that is used for "The Most Important Portion" of the County (Eastland, Cisco and Ranger). I think maybe since the commissioners have again given us "The Shaft" that they may as well go ahead and abolish this part of the county and "Just Take Us Off the Tax Rolls". Now that would be a good idea. Then we could form our own county and tell the "Big Shot Commissioners" to collect taxes from their own part of the county and just leave us alone. After all, folks! they think we don't exist anyway!

If the people of the southern part of the county don't deserve any county services, then we don't deserve to be forced to pay county taxes for county services that just don't exist for us. When you think of it - - just what does the County of Eastland really do for our part of the

Jomy Colett Clark and Chad Campbell Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Benjy Clark, of Rising Star, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jomy Colett, to Chad Lee Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Campbell of Gorman.

The bride-elect graduated from Rising Star High School, and Ranger Cosmetology School in Brownwood. She is employed by Shelly's Hair Studio at Rising Star.

The prospective bridegroom graduated from Gorman High School and attended Ranger Junior College. He attends Texas State Technical College in Sweetwater.

county? Nothing that I know of - - and especially after the action they took on Monday. The only way that things can get better for our part of the county is to do our very best to clean out the Commissioners Court and get some people in up there that understands business - - and that's exactly what the commissioners are supposed to do - - operate the county in a "business-like" manner.

So let's all face the north, give a big bow, and a vote of appreciation to the commissioners for again giving us the big shaft.

The weather has been fairly good the past several days for harvesting "what peanut crop there is" and getting it to the buying point. The weather is expected to get bad again for the holiday weekend, so I guess that will really slow down things again. This has been another one of those "crazy years" as far as the peanut crops are concerned. Most of the peanut crop in Eastland and Comanche counties is way, way down this year. Over the entire southwest it is expected to be only about 6 percent down, but in our part of the country, it will probably be only about 6 percent of what it normally is.

If all goes well yours truly will be taking off next week to enjoy a little time off (I work so hard) so I can rest up for the rest of the year. So I will appreciate it if all you folks will get your nesw and advertising in as early as possible, because I just know that Jake and Herman will have a "very difficult" time getting the paper out without me. So try to be nice to them while the "hard worker" is gone.

Guess most folks have noticed the work that is being done on the sewer lines out on the Duster Road. New sewer lines and manholes are being installed and will lead to the sewer plant up the road, which is being expanded and upgraded. At least our City Commissioners are trying to do things for the betterment of Gorman. So let's salute them. After all, they could be like the county commissioners and never do anything for us. Keep up the good work for our city.

And remember to smile - - because God Loves You!

KOKOMO NEWS

By Zelda Jordan

We wish for everyone who reads this column a very Happy Thanksgiving holiday. A day to pause and remember all the blessings that have been bestowed upon us by a loving God, and to pray a prayer of thanks -- not for just one day, but for every day of our lives. Even though there are difficult times, sometimes we can always be assured that the one who cares the most for us, our Lord and Savior, is the one who helps us through the trying times, and for that we can be very thankful.

Bro. Clarence Wilson preached a very good Thanksgiving sermon at the Kokomo Baptist Church on and had lived in Eastland for more than 25 years. He graduated from Cisco Junior College and was a truck driver for Agricultural Transport Corp. He also worked for Lone Star Gas and was active in the National Guard. He was a member of the Church of Christ.

Survivors include his wife, Melva Jordan of Eastland; his mother, Ora Mae Jordan of Eastland; one son, Michael Jordan of Eastland; two daughters, Tammy Collins of Olden and Zandra Jordan of Eastland; one brother, Jim Jordan of Winters; one sister, Nora Black of Clyde; four grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

De Leon Art and Crafts Fair Set November 27th

The Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce of De Leon invited everyone to join them for their annual Arts and Crafts Fair at the City Hall Auditorium in De Leon on Saturday, November 27th from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m.

This year's promises to be the biggest and best yet. Several out-of-town and local people are scheduled to be there, bringing unique ideas.

Booth spaces are still available by contacting LaJoyce Johnson at 893-2634 or Norma Locke at 893-5744.

Door prizes will be given throughout the day. Come and bring that Christmas list!

Sunday morning following the beautiful special music rendered by the choir led by Woodrow Browning with Wynelle Brown at the piano. Sylvia Buchanan of Stephenville was a visitor.

After the service a bountiful Thanksgiving meal was served in the fellowship hall. Joining the members for the good food and fellowship were Brian Bond of College Station, Sylvia Buchanan of Stephenville and Juanita Fuller.

The Community Thanksgiving Service at the First United Methodist Church in Gorman on Sunday night was very meaningful as the members of six churches joined together to

CARBON NEWS

Attendance was down at the First Baptist Church Sunday. Some were ill and some were visiting elsewhere.

Bro. Keith brought a very interesting lesson on "we can choose Jesus, and bring honor and glory to His name." Eshes. 2:1-10 and Rev. 7:9-17. The Thanksgiving supper last Wednesday at the fellowship hall was enjoyed by all. There was plenty of good food and wonderful fellowship.

Melissa and Steve Killen of Mesquite came by Sunday evening for a visit with her grandmother, Elizabeth Sandlin.

Dale and Joshua Jackson of Bryan visited his mother, Dorothy Jackson, from Monday until Wednesday.

Dorothy Jackson left the 9th of November with a tour group from De Leon for Branson, Missouri and returned the 13th. She reported having a great time.

Marvin and Gladys Hancock of Carbon, Ruth Livingston, Joyce Hendricks and Cooky Petree of Cisco visited last week with Coy and Jessie Mangum.

Those going to Heritage Manor at Gorman Tuesday afternoon were Elizabeth Sandlin, R. Lee McDaniel, Myrtle Higgins, Billie Stacy, Hazel Campbell, Dorothy Light, Vadis Phelps and Crickett Walker.

Jay and Siegel Guy and Bill and Vera Newcomb are all on the sick list. We wish them a speedy recovery.

Jenoise Allison and R. Lee McDaniel were in Mertzon last Monday for the funeral of Omer (Spunk) Lovell. He and his wife, Wynta (Lowe) lived in Carbon years ago.

Euell and Jenoise Allison were in Fort Worth Sunday afternoon to watch their grandson, David, pitch for the team. It was a good game, but they lost by one point.

Use Potted Plants To Clean Household Air

Dallas — Plants have a much greater value than just decorative, said P. J. Ellison of Ellison's Greenhouses in Brenham during a presentation at the 1993 State Fair of Texas.

"Plants have a very, very strong value to us because they clean our air of pollutants," Ellison said at her Oct. 16th presentation in the Texas Department of Agriculture's Food and Fiber Pavilion.

Three major problem chemicals in the home are benzene, formaldehyde and trichloroethylene (TCE). Formaldehyde is found in plywood, grocery bags and paper towels. Benzene is present in inks, and TCE is in paints, lacquers and varnishes.

"Everything we have in our homes — the pollutants are there," Ellison said. "Whatever you have in your home, you ought to have plants there because they will clean the environment."

The number of plants needed to effectively cleanse the air varies, but Ellison recommends 15 to 18 medium-sized plants for an 800-square-foot home. Less would be needed if plants are large. Popular plants that are effective at cleaning the air include chrysanthemums, African daisies, azaleas, poinsettias, English ivy, spider or airplane plants, snake plants and corn plants.

Some potential home gardeners are intimidated by keeping so many plants alive and healthy, but Ellison recommended four simple steps to maintaining indoor plants.

Over watering is the most common problem, she said. Wait until the soil is dry and stick your finger down into the pot at a 1- to 1½ inch depth to check for dryness. Plants with brown leaves might have drowned roots.

"It's far better for the plant to be too dry than too wet," Ellison said.

Also don't ever take a plant from indoor light directly to bright outdoor light, because it can get burned if the light changes are not gradual, she said. Third, for best growing conditions, plants must receive correct light. Most plant tags that come with plants will indicate what type of light they require. And finally, if you have a diseased plant, throw it away and get a new one.

"It's cheaper to buy a new plant than to replace all the other plants in the house if a disease spreads, she said.
