TAAS and TEAMS Test To Be Taken July 13 - 15

The TAAS and TEAMS tests will be offered this summer at Gorman High School. By state law, students must pass all sections of this test in order to receive a high school diploma. Students who are currently enrolled in Gorman High School do not need to register for this test.

However, anyone in the community who has completed all graduation requirements except for passing the TEAMS or TAAS may take these tests to try to earn their high school diploma. A person only has to take that portion of the test that he or she did not pass in high school. Individuals who are no longer enrolled in a Texas public school and wish to retake a portion of the TAAS or TEAMS may pick up a registration packet at any high school campus. In Gorman, the contact person is Linda Glover.

Forms must be competed and are to be received by Iowa City, Iowa, no later than June 11, 1993.

Quilt Dedicated To G. W. Maxfield

assembly program at the high school last week by Gorman ISD Superintendent, G. W. Maxfield.

The UIL Award signifies that Rowena's students have qualified for the state level contests during 25 years of her teaching career. The participants, all from Gorman High School, have participated in the state finals in typing, shorthand, and in recent years in accounting.

Most of Wilson's students have earned high placings in the state meet. There were state winners in both typing and shorthand as well as numerous second place finishes by top students.

Mrs. Wilson has taught only accounting in recent years and the accounting contest in the U. I. L. was initiated only a few years ago. However, she has had a state qualifier several years since the accounting competition was made a part of the interscholastic league activity.

Her achievement in reaching the 25-year winner circle places her in a very elite group of high school instructors and coaches.

Rowena has a diary with the names of all of her state qualifiers and winners. She can provide the names of all of them, but says that they were all great students and all were winners in the true sense. Further, she said she has a warm place in her heart for all of her students past and present whether or not they participated in the UIL contests.

The Plaque reads - "To Rowena Wilson In Appreciation For All the Time and Effort Put Forth to Achieve 25 Years of State U.I.L. Academic Participation - 1993"

THE GORMAN PROGRESS

What a wonderful blessing we received on Sunday evening as members from the New Hope Baptist Church, First Baptist Church, First United Methodist Church and The Family Life Bible Church of Gorman, and other visitors met with the members of the Kokomo Baptist Church for the fifth Sunday singing to sing the beautiful gospel songs. An added blessing was the rendition of several songs by the Methodist Quartet of Bro. Rawlyn Richter of Stephenville, Bob Green of Goldthwaite, Carroll and Leta Hogan of Gorman, with Juanita Fuller at the piano. Bro. Richter also blessed us with a sols, and each visiting church choir rendered special music and there was good congregation singing. How wonderful it was to have so many young people from New Hope and Gorman sing for us.

Woodrow Browning, music director at the Kokomo Baptist Church, was in charge of the service.

Following the service all gathered in the fellowship hall for homemade

BIBLE BONDAGE

For many religious people Bible study is a lifeless duty that is a struggle to maintain on a consistent basis. This is because many unconsciously treat Bible study as a work to be accomplished in their striving to please God. How many times have earnest Christians heard themselves say something like, "I know I ought to read my Bible more. If I were a better Christian I suppose I would"? Sadly, what God intended to give life has become unproductive (2 Cor. 3:6). Many religious people believe the Bible is the most important book in the world, yet they seldom read it for more than 2 or 3 minutes at a time and find it to be unhelpful even then. Honest Bible readers will admit that this has often been true. Why is this frequently our experience with God's Word?

Jesus plainly addressed this problem in John 5:37-40. Speaking of the Father, Jesus said to the Bible teachers of his day, "...You have never heard his voice no seen his form, nor does his word dwell in you, for you do not believe the one he sent (Jesus). You diligently study the Scriptures because you think that by them you possess eternal life. These are the Scriptures that testify about me, yet you refuse to come to me to have life"

Jesus reveals a startling fact that is true in every generation: it is possible to make an idol out of the Scriptures and in doing so to be totally blind to presence of Christ in your day. They had unconsciously learned from their fathers how to use the Scriptures to manipulate, control, and alienate people. The worst bondage in the world is not outward immorality but inward hypocrisy. Most prostitutes know that what they are doing is immoral. However, religious hypocrites are blind to their vain worship and empty hearts. Religious chains are often the hardest to break because they are so hard for the one in bondage to recognize.!

I believe the Scriptures are the inspired, written word of God. However, I must assure you that it is possible to know a lot about the "Book of the Lord" without knowing the "Lord of the Book"! Let me use an example. I could memorize every book written about Abraham Lincoln and pattern my lifestyle after his philosophy of life and principles--but it still wouldn't change the fact that I never knew the man. Many people who have read the Bible for years, attended Church, were baptized, yes and even preached the Gospel will in the end hear the Lord say, "Depart from me for I never knew you." (Matt. 7:23)

Do you know how exciting it is to read a newspaper article about one of your close loved-ones? This is because you have a personal, living relationship with them. If you are living in an "abiding" fellowship with the King of Kings, Jesus Christ, the Bible is your joy and source of spiritual food. But, if you are living behind the mask of religion like the Pharisees, you have either largely given up on the Bible because you find it hard to understand or boring, or you use it to serve selfish ends (i. e. excuse your sin, prove your points, justify your religious sectarianism). God never intended for the Bible to be used for controlling others, but rather to point us to the Source of True Life, Jesus Christ. The Old and New Testaments alike do just that -- if you have personally met the Savior!

When you study the Bible, come with a hungry heart and an open mind. Those who are already satisfied and prejudiced in their views will not receive fresh illumination from the Word. Ask the Holy Spirit to reveal God's Son to you (John 14:26). He will do it if you are willing to obediently respond to what He shows you, even if it means confessing your sin and hypocrisy and turning from it. There is not one of us who is not guilty of pride and hypocrisy. May God grant unto you the Spirit of wisdom and revelation so that you may know Christ better and that you may be refreshed by His manifest presence! That was the message an individual requested to be placed as a paid advertisement in The Tulia Herald recently. This is a message to be heeded, but it likely will not be taken to heart by a number of individuals.

A teacher in this town, which has two restaurants specializing in pizza, drove to Plainview to buy pizza for a school function. The following week, students who participated in this function paid visits to both local pizza restaurants...seeking donations! The city manager asked to be placed on the agenda at the next school trustee meeting to make his point on the subject. That board adopted an informal policy that school-related groups are not compelled to trade in their home town; but they shall not seek contributions from firms they do not patronize!

While examining the policy, that school board learned that the junior class was sending someone to Lubbock twice weekly to purchase items from a large discount store for the class-operated concession stand. In the meantime, they were soliciting donations from the town's food store!

A local non-profit organization in the same town was catering a meal for a major town activity. They went to Lubbock for the food, then asked the local food store manager for major discounts on last minute odds and ends to complete and serve the meal.

to save a $1, but that practice is "killing the goose that laid the golden egg." Termed differently, who will fund all types of local endeavors everything from school yearbook sponsorship, to providing gifts for senior citizen's events, to offering livestock show premiums, to youth baseball team sponsorship, to bowling team sponsorship to picnic celebration financing and numerous others? The vast majority of funding comes from local businesses.

Sheer and simple, small town merchants can't stay in business and support worthwhile local activities if potential customers spend all their

This article was written for the The Tulia Herald and for the town of Tulia, we of the Gorman Chamber of Commerce believe it applies here also. If you will simply change the names of Amarillo, Plainview and Lubbock to Eastland, Stephenville and Abilene.

Comanche County Long Distance Reports Early Statistics

The area's aspiring long-distance telephone company has just announced what to some may be an amazing return of its first week's early sign-up campaign with more than 14 percent of the area's residents signing up for the service within the first week.

"We weren't sure what the first impression would be," said Toney Prather, general manager of Comanche County Long Distance, a wholly-owned subsidiary of the 41-year-old Comanche County Telephone Company. "The one thing that seems to really be in our favor is that people generally don't like change and keeping all telephone service at home is the reason for this kind of subscriber initiative."

Aside from the influx of sign-ups, the company has received several inquiries from potential subscribers. Long distance company officials say the question subscribers ask most centers around whether or not Comanche County Long Distance can offer the same kind of service as the larger longdistance carriers. Other questions include the cost of service, which officials say will be the lowest of all other major longdistance carriers.

"Comanche County Long Distance will offer customers long-distance access throughout the world with the guaranteed lowest rates of all the other major carriers at that time," Prather acknowledges.

Area residents were mailed early sign-up forms guaranteeing them world-wide access through Comanche County Long Distance by simply returning a signed reply card. Within the first five business days, the company gained a strong 14 percent showing.

All customers of Comanche County Telephone Company are eligible to subscribe to Comanche County Long Distance as their carrier of choice. The new, locally-owned longdistance network will begin providing service on October 1, 1993. Any customer needing a sign-up form or more information can call Comanche County Long Distance at 893-7000 or 1-800-627-2253.

Darla Files, daughter of Nathan and Sandy Files, received her Bachelor of Science Degree in Nursing from Texas Woman's University at Dallas. After graduating from De Leon High School in 1989, she attended Tarleton State University where she was inducted into the Phi Eta Sigma Freshman Honor Society and was named on the Dean's List. In the summer of 1991 she transferred to Texas Woman's University to complete her degree in nursing and undergraduate clinical nursing at Parkland Memorial Hospital. Her clinical experiences at Parkland included the coronary care unit, burn intensive care unit, telemetry and labor and delivery. During the two years at TWU she was inducted into the Alpha Chi, Phi Kappa Phi, The Golden Key National Honor Society, and Sigma Theta Tau; chosen for Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges; named on the National Dean's List and the University Honor Roll; voted Senior Class Secretary; and did volunteer work for the American Red Cross. Darla received the Texas Woman's University Outstanding Senior Award and was the recipient of the faculty nominated Academic and Leadership Award. She graduated May 15, 1993, Magna Cuem Laude with a GPA of 3.84. Currently she is working at Parkland Memorial Hospital in Dallas as a registered nurse in the critical care and trauma unit. In the fall she will begin her intership at Parkland. After completing the internship her plans are to attend The University of Texas at Arlington to begin Masters Degree in Nursing as an Advanced Nurse Practitioner.

Martha Harrington To Attend NASA NSTA Workshop

Martha Harrington has been selected to be a member of the contingent of 100 secondary teachers nationwide, who will attend a twoweek workshop this summer at one of four NASA centers to personally experience NASA's aerospace activities. The National Aernoautics and Space Association - Space, Science and Technology Division (NSTA -SST) are pleased to announce the selection of Mrs. Harrington of Gorman Elementary School, as a recipient of the 1993 Teacher Workshop Award. The award includes a two-week, all expense-paid, workshop at Johnson Space Center, Houston, for 25 teachers. The teachers will participate in hands-on science activities, learn about latest aerospace projects, interact with educators, nationally acclaimed scientists and engineers and take back a wealth of classroom materials. The mission of this unique type of workshop is especially designed to help develop new teaching strategies and enrich classroom activities across the curriculum.

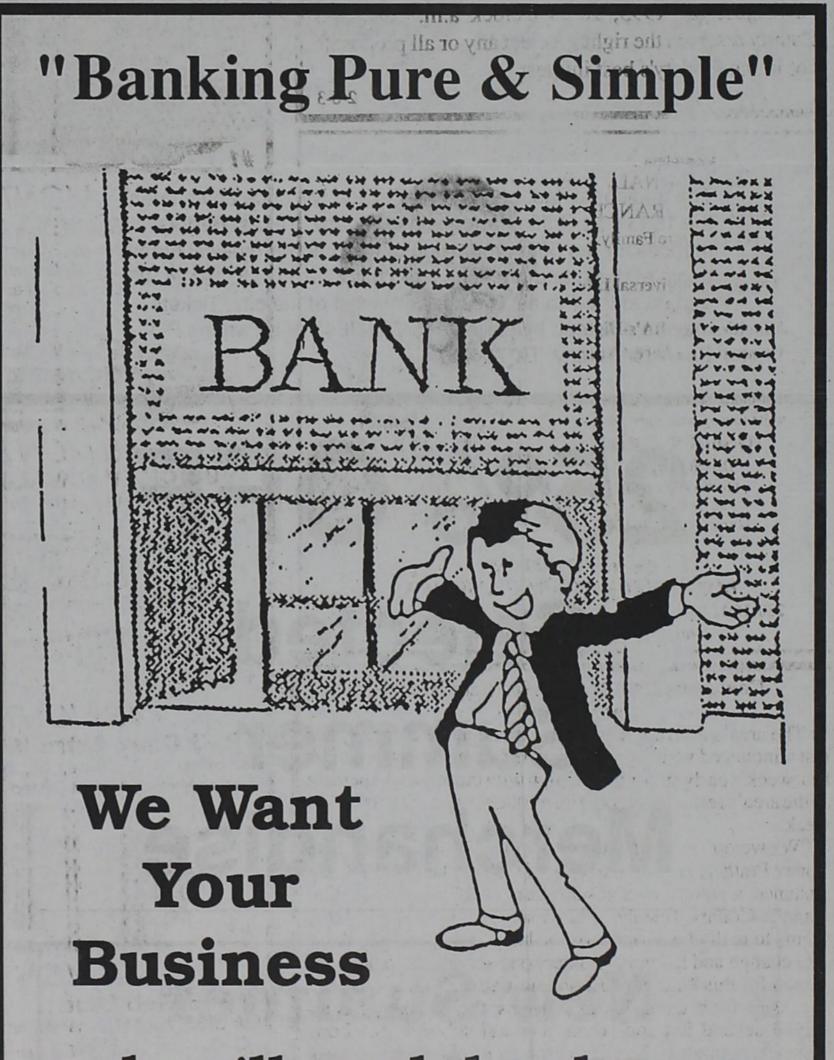

NSTA, a world leader in the improvement of science education at all levels, is co-sponsor of this national program with NASA, an aerospace research giant and world leader in the development of space/ scientific explorations as well as interdiisciplinary space-related educational programs. NASA/NSTA are joined in this effort by the cooperation of the National Council of Mathematics Teachers (NCMT) and the International Technology Education Association (ITEA).

OPTIONS FOR HEALTH Borderline Personality Disorder: What is it?

SCOTT & WHITE

William Meek, M.D.

Department of Psychiatry at Scott & White Hospital and Clinic and Assistant Professor of Psychiatry and Bebavioral Science, Texas A&M Health Science Center University College of Medicine

• My daughter has been diagnosed with borderline personality disorder. Can this disorder be treated with medication?

A Borderline personality disorder is one of twelve types of personality disorders. It is diagnosed in early adulthood and may involve a variety of symptomatic behaviors including: intense and unstable interpersonal relationships, mood swings, depression, instability, and irritability or anxiety usually lasting a few hours or a few days. People who have borderline personality disorder tend to be impulsive and may engage in activities that are potentially self-damaging such as shopping sprees, reckless driving or shoplifting. Recurrent suicidal threats, gestures or self-mutilating behavior is common in the more severe forms.

There is no specific medication for a borderline personality disorder. Medication is prescribed for specific symptoms of the disorder. If the borderline patient is intensely anxious, a medication for anxiety may be useful. If a borderline patient is significantly depressed, then an antidepressant may be beneficial

In addition to medication for symptoms, psychotherapy is often helpful. This may be individual or group psychotherapy.

Because of the numerous different symptoms that a borderline personality disorder patient may have, their loved ones are frequently at a loss as to what to do. It may be helpful for family members to obtain some brief counseling to help them understand the ramifications of the diagnosis of a borderline personality disorder and to help them deal with it.
