Gorman Vs. Baird District 12A Opener

By A.D. Coby Tyson

The Gorman Panther football team will open up district play this Friday in Baird at 7:30 p.m. Gorman enters district with an 0-4 record while Baird is 2-3. Baird has been plagued by injuries this year, but have benefitted from move-ins which have helped pick-up the slack. Two players from Gorman and 3 players from Clyde have moved into Baird this season and 4 of the 5 are two-way starters.

Baird runs the offset I on offense and base out of a 4-3 on defense. The Bears have a formidable running attack with QB Todd Vestal #9 leading the way. Harmon #3, Keller #32, and Bowen #21 contribute solidly to the ground game as well. Roundtree #2 and Mendez #12 are the Bears' threat through the air. Defensively the Bears have been injured on the defensive line, but might have one of their better ones back this week. Austin #53 leads a solid linebacking corps. Vestal #9

Proclaiming October 2001 Breast Cancer Awareness Month

An estimated 12,300 Texas women will be diagnosed with breast cancer in 2001, and about 2,600 women will die of the disease. Nationally, breast cancer is the most common form of cancer in women.

Research shows that breast cancer mortality could be reduced by at least 30 percent if women followed recommended breast cancer screening guidelines.

All women have a chance of developing breast cancer. Women 50 or older are the most likely to develop breast cancer. African American women are the most likely to die of breast cancer than any other group of women. Getting a mammogram and breast exam only once is not enough. The American Cancer Society recommends that women get a mammogram and clinical breast examination every year beginning at age 40.

A woman has the greatest chance of successful treatment if breast cancer is found at an early stage. Early detection practices are part of a good breast health routine. A good breast health routine includes a yearly mammogram, clinical breast examination and monthly breast self-examination.

Further, Medicare helps pay the cost of a yearly mammogram for women age 40 or older with Medicare Part B.

In recognition of the important lifesaving early detection practices available for breast cancer, I, Brad Stephenson, County Judge of East-

Panthers Travel To Baird Following Open Date

The Gorman Panthers will travel to Baird this Friday night at 7:30 p.m. to take on the Baird Bears in their first District 12-A action of the season.

The Panthers are short on experience but have really been hustling in games so far this season and are gaining a lot of experience with each game. Many of the squad are freshmen or inexperienced players, but their desire and determination have kept fans turning out for the games. Also the number of players have increased some and the squad has more players with some injured players returning and a few more coming out for the team.

Let's all follow our Panthers to Baird on Friday night and give them all of our support and encouragement. Go Get 'Em Big Red!!!

Lady Panthers Volleyball District Opener

The Lady Panthers made their appearance in their 1st district ball game. The girls opened the game in an explosive fashion by gaining an early lead. At one point, Gorman had a 6 to 4 lead over the Lady Bulldogs. However, an overruling by the official caused the ball to be turned over to Moran. The Lady Panthers looked beaten down but still put up a fight.

Moran took game one 15 to 6. The Lady Panthers fought back in game two and pulled a 15 to 5 win. Game three was definitely the deciding factor in the match. The Lady Panthers scored 3 quick serves as well as did the lady Bulldogs. The game went back and forth, scoring from both sides. In the end the Lady Panthers fell to Moran 13 to 15.

Stats are as follows for the Lady Panthers:
Mandy Warren--16 digs, 6 assists, 3 floors, 9 serves, 4 service points; Jamie Maupin--2 blocks, 3 kills, 16 digs, 2 floors, 10 serves, 5 service points; Rachel Thomas--2 blocks, 12 digs, 2 floors, 12 serves, 15 service points; Shari Marlow--10 digs, 6 serves, 3 service points; Lydia Royster--2 blocks, 1 kill, 12 digs, 2 floors, 5 serves, 2 service points; Kalyn Porter--3 kills, 10 digs, 1 assist; 6 serves, 4 service points; Andrea Files--1 kill, 8 digs.

DESDEMONA NEWS

BY VONNIE GUPHERY

First Baptist Church of Desdemona had average attendance last Sunday for the morning service. Special music was presented by Helen Collum, Patty Brawner and Wayne Eaves. Evening services were dismissed so the group could attend a revival at the St. John's Church in Stephenville. Bro. Dewayne Brawner, pastor, and the members would like to invite you to attend each service.

Stedman Strickland passed away this past week. Burial was in San Angelo. Survivors include his wife, Estelle Strickland and one son, both of San Angelo. Estelle is a former resident of Desdemona where her father, the late Bro. H.N. Baldaree served as pastor of the First Baptist Church during the late 30's. Several will remember Estelle's brother, the late Hank, Jr. with his mischievous ways in church and school. Our sincere sympathy goes out to this family.

Dorothy Roberts was in Fort Worth last Friday to have surgery on her foot. She is slowly recovering.

Sorry there wasn't any Desdemona News this past week--as this reporter was sick.

Roy Lemaster of DeLeon had knee surgery last Tuesday in the Stephenville Hospital.

Freda Riggs is doing much better since her recent surgery.

Wilma Faye Iley is recovering nicely from her recent shoulder injury.

Remember these and others in our area who are on the sick list with your cards and prayers.

Desdemona Thanksgiving Supper will be on Saturday, November 10 at the Community Center (school gym). A meeting will be held on Tuesday night, October 16, 7:00 p.m. at the Community Center to plan this annual event. It takes each and everyone in the community to do their part to keep our little town going strong. All proceeds go to the Community Center Fund. Your help will be appreciated.

June Jacobs recently moved from Bedford back to her home in Desdemona. She graduated with the Class of 1951 from Desdemona.

Have a nice day, Vonnie.

House Passes Farm Bill

The big agriculture news in Washington this week has been consideration of the 2001 Farm Bill in the House of Representatives.

On Friday, October 5, the House passed "The Farm Security Act," legislation reauthorizing federal farm programs through the year 2011.

The vote was 291 to 190 and was very bipartisan. 151 Republicans voted for the bill; 58 were against it. On the Democratic side, the vote was 139 for and 61 against. There was an independent vote on each side.

With this action, the House has completed an important step in the long process of writing a farm bill.

Unlike previous five-year farm bills, "The Farm Security Act" covers a ten-year period and would add $73.5 billion to the baseline that is currently available in the federal budget for agricultural spending.

I worked with House Agriculture Committee Chairman Larry Combest in writing a comprehensive bill that covers subsidies to producers, conservation, food safety, nutrition and trade.

This legislation continues the Freedom to Farm Act's direct payment program and marketing loans, however it adds a counter-cyclical program that makes payments when farm prices are low. In addition, it creates a new peanut program to replace the old quota system.

Chairman Combest and I worked on this legislation for more than a year and a half and held hearings all over the U.S. and in Washington.

During this process, there was considerable input from producers, soil and water conservation districts, and all other sectors of the agricultural economy.

One of our goals in writing this legislation was to bring some predictability back to the federal government's farm support programs, and I think we succeeded in doing so.

This legislation gives producers the voluntary choice to update their base acres and add counter-cyclical support based on target prices to the already-established 2002 level of transition payments.

"The Farm Security Act" provides both the flexibility and predictability that most producers, commodity and farm groups have called for in the next farm bill.

And by enlarging participation for soil and water conservation programs, the House's 2001 Farm Bill provides producers with more options to implement progressive conservation practices on their land.

This is made possible with the backing of increased technical assistance to producers who use government or private contractors.

Despite the fact that "The Farm Security Act" increases conservation spending by 78 percent, an effort was made by some of my colleagues to shift money from commodity support payments to conservation programs. This amendment was defeated, however.

Anyone who doubts the need for a new farm bill should stop and consider the current state of the nation's farm economy.

The agriculture recession is now in its fourth year and ranks among the deepest in history for our nation's farms and ranches.

Recent crop prices are the lowest in 27 years for soybeans, the lowest in 25 years for cotton, and the lowest in 14 years for wheat and corn.

In each of the past four years, rescuing the farm economy has required an average of $8 billion in federal farm aid.

Some have criticized Congress for providing this assistance, however it would have been unthinkable to see the agriculture recession degenerate into another "dust bowl depression."

Agriculture makes up one-fifth of our nation's economy, and a healthy agricultural sector and the ability to produce our own food and fiber are national security concerns.

This is particularly true at a time when we as a nation are under attack by international terrorists.

Once again, let me emphasize that this is just the first step in a long process of developing a farm bill.

While the Senate Agriculture Committee has started to hold hearings on a new farm bill, they are a long way from bringing a bill before the full Senate.

And we had some bad news this week from the White House's Office of Management and Budget indicating that the administration would not support the House farm bill. Nevertheless, the House moved forward.

I will be further discussing the farm bill process in the months ahead.

and Harmon #3 star in the Bears secondary.

"We expect Baird to be hitting on all cylinders by Friday. A solid program like that usually gets things together by district. The off week helped us work on some things and get regrouped before district. We are ready for the chance to compete in District 12-A. Every team starts district this Friday with an 0-0 record. Three teams will be 1-0 and three will be 0-1 after Friday. We hope to be one of the 1-0 teams."

Either way, the Panthers are excited and ready to play hard and give their best effort on Friday. "We ended the Throckmorton game on a positive note and that was great for our young men's confidence. Most of the players are starting to realize their potential, now if we can realize our potential as a TEAM we can start accomplishing greater things."

Everyone, young or elderly, please travel to Baird Friday night to support our young men, our school, and our community. Let's show everyone what REAL PANTHER PRIDE is all about!

Texas Midwest Conference Set

The 8th Annual Texas Midwest Conference is set for October 17 at the Abilene Civic Center.

Community leaders from throughout the region will gather to learn how to enhance chamber of commerce and economic development programs in their respective communities.

The conference offers information to chamber of commerce leaders on how to define and communicate chamber value to members, how to gain and sustain community-wide support and how to develop and market the community as a "product". Economic development professionals and volunteers will receive information on workforce training grants, how to respond to business leads and prospects, and current programs offered through the Texas Department of Agriculture for rural economic development.

Also featured at the conference will be motivational speakers, information expo, silent auction, live entertainment and theme luncheon.

"Regionalism - A Rising Tide" is the conference theme. It is symbolic of "a rising tide lifts all ships." As the region grows stronger so do the communities within the region. Texas Midwest Community Network is a regional organization that provides a means for communities to work together to accomplish what one cannot do along. TMCN activities and programs include marketing for economic development and tourism, legislative awareness, education for volunteers and networking opportunities.

Pre-registration for the conference is $30, which covers all activities and the conference luncheon. Walk-in registration is $35. For information call 915-676-0329.

When Job Hunting, Don't Rule Out Companies That Are Laying Off Employees, Says Workplace Expert

If you are searching for a new job, don't rule out companies that are laying off employees, says Mary Foley, author of the book Bodacious, An AOL Insider Cracks the Code to Outrageous Success for Women (AMACOM, 2001) and Woman In Charge of Bodacious Ventures, a Reston, VA-based consulting firm.

Even companies that are laying off thousands of employees from one division may be in a major hiring mode for another division," says Foley. "If your skills and interests fit with the requirements of this growth segment of the company, you could be in line for a well-paid position full of career potential."

Searching for work in today's economy requires some creative thinking and keen discernment, says Foley. Smart job seekers carefully study the entire corporate picture — not just the stories that make the negative headlines — and they look for other enticements beyond the outmoded, obsolete "promise" of job security.

We all know there's no such thing as job security," says Foley. "So, in addition to a decent salary, you have to decide what other aspects are important to you. The chance to work in a well-known company in your field? The chance to work with — and learn from — fellow professionals who are equally passionate about their work as you? A great health care package that covers your child's special needs? The opportunity to work abroad?"

Now is your chance to custom design your career path that could position you for huge leaps forward in your profession," says Foley. Even if your destiny includes a certain amount of job hopping over the next several years, drive that destiny by continually moving up in your profession with each change. And some of the best opportunities for change come with companies that are undergoing rapid change themselves."

And that spells companies that have announced layoffs, Foley says. True, that's churn, Foley says, but choose your churn strategically, and you will actually benefit from this upheaval and accelerate your own professional progress
